Aviator Arrested Following Bombing of Mine Properties From Air

WARRANT FOR PILOT ISSUED AT DIXON, KY.

Denies Participation in the Raid of Yesterday

ADMITS HE WAS UP EARLY

Trouble Comes After Mines Shut Down For Strike

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 12. (AP)—Paul Montgomery, local aviator, was arrested here today by Sheriff William Flanagan for investigation in connection with the airplane bombing of mining properties in the vicinity of Providence, Ky., yesterday.

Montgomery's arrest followed receipt of a telephone call from Sheriff Overbee of Dixon, Ky., that a warrant for the aviator in connection with the bombing outrage had been issued there.

Three men who came here from the Kentucky coal field conferred with county authorities, advising they had some evidence of Montgomery. The nature of the evidence was not revealed.

The aviator, who had talked of a home to Dallas non-stop flight this summer, declined to make any statement other than to deny he had flown in the vicinity of Providence yesterday or that he had any connection with the air raid. Immediately after his arrest he asked permission to engage counsel.

Montgomery's orange and black monoplane answers the general description of the ship that dropped nine bombs in the vicinity of Providence yesterday. He admitted having had the plane up early yesterday when he was first questioned last night, but said he merely went up for a brief flight to "sober up" after having been intoxicated Sunday night.

He reported having seen a "strange plane" answering the description of the bombing plane near Pinckneyville while he was flying, but said it was too far away for him to identify.

PROVIDENCE, Ky., Aug. 12. (AP)—Police of several cities today were seeking the owner of an orange monoplane, which yesterday swooped down and dropped nine bombs on mine properties near here. The mines re-opened recently after shut.

Explosion Kills One And Injuries Thirteen Others

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Wreckage of two buildings attested today to the power of an explosive accidentally compounded by a chemist while making an experiment.

One man was killed and 13 persons injured yesterday by the explosion of a mixture which Marcus Cohen was heating in his laboratory on the fifth floor of a building in Prince street.

The blast blew out the side of the laboratory building and tons of brick and other debris dropped through the roof of a two-story building adjoining crashing to the basement.

Erke Nallins, 19, a press feeder, employed in the printing shop of David Leff, which occupied the smaller building, was killed. Mrs. Lillian Leff, wife of the proprietor and others were buried in the wreckage. Among the injured were a pedestrian and two firemen who were hit by falling bricks.

Gohen, who suffered burns, was unable to explain what caused the explosion.

O. E. Lawrence has been transferred to Hobbs, N. M., as assistant manager of the Pickering Lumber company. Mrs. Lawrence will join her husband the latter part of the week in Hobbs, where they will make their home.

OKLAHOMA DEMOCRATS VOTING TODAY ON GRIZZLED WARRIOR AND OIL MAN FOR GOVERNOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11. (AP)—Oklahoma Democrats were acting today as judges of two weeks vitriolic debates between candidates in the gubernatorial and senatorial races for nomination, surviving the July 29 primary in which the starting fields were thinned.

The major Republican contests were settled in the first primary, leaving the spotlight in today's runoff election trained on the joust between William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, stooped and grizzled political warrior, and Frank Buttram, wealthy young oil man, for the party designation for governor, and the duel between T. P. Gore, blind former senator and C. J. Wrightsman, oil operator, for the senatorial nomination.

Political skeletons have been dragged from retirement in profusion during the brief, but hectic campaign between the two elections.

In local interest, the governor's race transcends all others because of the bandying of personalities to the extent of criticizing table manners and dress.

Murray, who led the initial field of nine candidates in the first primary and surpassed Buttram's vote by nearly 65,000, had been the far from passive target of a concentrated attack. The returned Bolivian colonizer, taking cognizance of enemies' threats of impeachment attempts if he is elected, has re-portedly he would resemble the efforts of "rabbits trying to drag a wild cat out of a tree." He has made capital in agricultural districts of his opponents' charges that he saucers his coffee and is not a beau brummel in matters of dress.

Buttram, who conducted the first campaign on an impersonal basis, sprang to the attack when his opposition narrowed to Murray and dragged forth the records of the veterans' career extending back before Oklahoma statehood, comparing his own financially successful career with the financially unfruitful record of Murray, using the comparison to urge his greater fitness for the executive position.

In the Gore-Wrightman contest each candidate argued the intelligibility of the other.

Sen. W. B. Pine won the Republican nomination overwhelmingly in the first primary. Ira A. Hill, state senator, was selected as the Republican candidate for governor in the first election.

Because of past impeachment proclivities of the Oklahoma legislature, resulting in the successive removal of the last two elected governors, the office of lieutenant governor, next in line of succession.

Crack Pilot To Perform Outside Loop At Airport

One of the few aviators in the U. S. who can do an outside loop, John Kieffer, will perform that difficult feat over the local airport this afternoon between 5:30 and 6 o'clock, according to an announcement made this morning by local friends of Mr. Kieffer. The general public is invited to witness the stunt.

Mr. Kieffer is now pilot for the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing company and was former chief pilot for the Spartan Aircraft school. He will use a seven-cylinder Wright motored Spartan bi-plane in doing the outside loop. Most stunt fliers are capable of doing the inside loop but very few, possibly six or eight in the country, have successfully done the outside loop.

The flyer did the difficult stunt before a large crowd at an Amarillo airport Sunday. The loop will be made at an altitude of about 3,500 or 4,000 feet.

Robert Sanford and R. A. Shaw have returned from a trip to Hedley.

Will Speak Here Tomorrow

Ross Sterling, president of the state highway commission during the Moody administration, who has made "Fergusonism" instead of his state bond highway plan the chief issue in the runoff primary is due to speak at the courthouse tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Sterling will make an special appeal to those who supported Senator Small in the first primary.

CHECK RETURNS OF DEMOCRATIC TEXAS PRIMARY

DALLAS, Aug. 12. (AP)—Official canvass by the state Democratic executive committee revealed that 833,442 votes were cast in the July 26 Democratic primary, the greatest number in the history of the state.

Meeting here yesterday, the committee received certified returns from county chairmen, checked them and certified candidates for various run-off primaries.

The canvass showed run-offs necessary for six state offices, governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, treasurer, commissioner of agriculture and railroad commissioner.

The official standing of the candidates for governor was given for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, 242,959; Ross S. Sterling, 170,754; Clint C. Small, 138,934; Thomas B. Love, 87,068; James Young, 73,385; Barry Miller, 54,652; Earle B. Mayfield, 54,459; C. C. Moody, 4,382; Paul Loven, 2,724; Frank Putnam, 2,365; C. E. Walker, 1,760.

The committee called a meeting at Galveston for Sept. 8 in advance of the state convention convening there on Sept. 9.

Believe Doctor Killed And Car Set Fire Later

DUNCAN, Okla., Aug. 12. (AP)—Jim Brown, Stephens county deputy sheriff and former operative of the state bureau of criminal investigation, expressed belief today that Dr. J. Arthur Mullins, Marlow physician whose charred body was found in his burned motorcar yesterday, had been killed before the car was fired. Authorities previously had advanced the theory that the physician had been the victim of an accident. Brown had no theory as to motives for Mullins' death.

The car burned in Grady county, immediately north of Stephens, and official investigation was in the hands of authorities of that county.

PAYNE IS NOW PREPARING HIS 'JURY SPEECH'

Wants to Hold Self Up As Example For Others

GETS BOOKS FOR REFERENCE

Likes the Publicity He Is Getting in Newspapers

AMARILLO, Aug. 12. (AP)—A. D. Payne, self-styled arch fiend and master criminal who described his confessed slaying of his wife as "the most heinous crime in history," is preparing an address he will deliver to the jury that hears his plea of guilty to a charge of murder.

He expects the speech to be as immortal as Lincoln's Gettysburg address but more on the order of the famous oration made by the late Temple Houston in behalf of an out cast woman whom he was appointed to represent.

The accused attorney, consistent with his life's ambition to make history and to be remembered for time immemorial, wants to appear before a jury and make such a speech regarding his own life as Temple Houston made about the woman. He wants to hold himself up an example for others for all time to come.

He would like for that speech to be placed in the archives of history as a classic; to be preserved by bar associations as an example for youthful attorneys, and to be commented upon by newspapers throughout the country as an extraordinary document just as they discussed his 20,000 word confession.

To do all this, Payne is willing—says he is really sincere in his demands—to be electrocuted. He would face the electric chair with a plea of guilty and without a defense for the privilege of making that speech.

Payne did not tell these things in so many words, but he admitted he was working on "an important document," and his visitors say that he has mentioned several times that

BUILDING OF EXTENSIONS TO DEPOT BEGINS THIS MORNING; ENLARGING TO COST $25,000

Construction of the additions to the Santa Fe depot was begun this morning. It was announced last spring that the present station would be enlarged and modernized at a cost of approximately $20,000 or more. Architect's complete plans arrived here last week from company headquarters and as the plan was the only thing that was holding up construction, arrangements were made to begin building the units today.

Workmen are now excavating for the foundations of the extension on the west end of the depot. The station will also be extended on the east. The additional space will provide a ladies' waiting room and a basement which will house a heating plant. The work will be rushed to completion.

During this year, the Santa Fe has spent a great deal of money improving shipping facilities here. The yards were sanded, and the block signal system has been installed. Trains are now being routed over different tracks. The switching facilities have been greatly improved also.

Wealthy Flour Buyer Believed to Be Kidnaped

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12. (AP)—Police began a search today for Charles Kern, wealthy St. Louis flour buyer, and his wife, who left here last night for Toledo, Ohio, with a $70,000 bank treasurer's check, but alighted from the train instead at Defiance, Ohio. Police fear they are in the hands of swindlers and possibly have been kidnaped.

Kern, about 70, had taken the check after being urged by his banker not to follow his original intention of taking $90,000 in cash with him to swing a real estate deal. Word was sent ahead to Toledo to have detectives meet Kern to give him protection.

However, it was learned today that the couple alighted from the train at Defiance, 50 miles west of Toledo and investigation disclosed Kern got two telegrams on the train, one of which urged him to leave the train at Fort Wayne, Ind., and meet a group of persons. Apparently the second telegram suggested he get off at Defiance.

They were as follows: Rev. James Todd, grounds and lights; Olin E. Hinkle, for advertising; Mrs. George Wallace, for seats; Mrs. C. P. Buckler, for piano; Mrs. H. D. Lewis, for reserved seats.

The general committee on arrangements, which is to lend the Chataqua company assistance in any way needed, includes Mrs. W. A. Bratton, chairman; Mrs. R. C. Campbell, and Mrs. John V. Andrews.

Robinson Faces Opposition For Senator Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 11. (AP)—Senator Joe T. Robinson, the senate minority leader and Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1928, today faced primary opposition for the first time in 12 years.

His opponent, Tom W. Campbell, Little Rock lawyer, has stressed farm relief and attacked Robinson as a "friend of the power trust."

The senatorial campaign was marked by vigorous thrusts at Senator Robinson's candidacy by J. A. Comer, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Arkansas, who urged support of Campbell on the ground of Robinson's inclusion on the 1928 presidential ticket with Alfred E. Smith. Comer was barred from the primary.

Also barred from the polls was Dr. A. C. Millar, editor of the Arkansas Methodist, official state organ of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and acknowledged leader of anti-Smith Democrats.

Dr. Millar sounded the battle cry of party defectors by urging them to remain away from the polls in interest of a possible independent candidate who might meet their full approval.

Gov. Harvey Parnell is seeking the Democratic nomination for a second term. Brooks Hays, Little Rock attorney, county Judge John C. Sheffield of Helena and Thornberry Gray of Batesville, are his opponents.

Four of the seven congressmen are unopposed for re-nomination.

Asks $100,000 of Yeast King's Kin

Charging the love of William N. Fleischmann, 57, of the multi-millionaire Cincinnati yeast family, cooled on a pre-honeymoon trip to Honolulu and he sent her back to California alone, Madge Mitchell, above, of Los Angeles, beauty contest winner and former screen actress, has filed a suit $50,000 breach of promise suit. Fleischmann now lives at Beverly Hills, Calif.

Commissioners to Furnish 100-Foot Right of Ways

The county commissioners court in regular session yesterday afternoon voted to furnish a 100-foot right-of-way for all state highways traversing Gray county, on their own or on the state's location.

The court also issued an order to advertise for bids on a crawler-type 60 horse power road engine to be used in Commissioner Lewis Cox' precinct No. 2.

The vote in the two recent road bond elections was canvassed but two boxes in the election held Saturday were missing. The vote on the $3,500,000 issue was 73 for and 609 against. Minus the two missing boxes the vote in the $2,000,000 election was 809 for and 499 against.

Service Cult Loses Alley Fight To Jungle Kings By 110 Pins As Dr. Oden and Diamond Sam Shine

Before a crowded gallery that alternately jeered and cheered, the Lions again demonstrated their athletic superiority over the Rotarians (remember the basketball game last winter) in a three-game bowling match held here last night. The total score gave the Lions 1,847 pins and the Rotarians 1,737 pins. Russ Allen got the most strikes in any one game. His score in the third was 163.

After the official match, noting that the Rotarians felt that they were the victims of unusually bad luck, seven Lions challenged the seven best Service cult bowlers to another game, but high-pressure bowling of the Lions continued and they won this game also. The shrieking roiling sections were awarded the prize instead of the teams, because as the judges said, it was clear that the roters made the most impressive showing.

The Lions beat the highly-touted Rotarians after losing the first game by the close margin of 33 points. In the second game the Lions began to find the grooves in the alleys and from then on out it was all over with them except the shouting. The score of the last game gave the Lions 686 pins and the Rotarians 594 pins. The Rotary club's M. D. Oden carried off highest bowling honors with 421 pins. "Diamond" Sam Fenberg easily won second honors. In the last game, M. K. Brown, field marshal of the Rotary forces, shot in a string of crack bowlers including Charlie Cook, Frank Soodhalter and Dick Hughes. As the score shows, M. D. Oden knocked down 156 pins while Mr. Cook outstripped his brethren with a score of 120 pins. Mr. Cook drew deafening applause from the rooting sections and he acknowledged the plaudits of the crowd with the grace of an athlete of Ancient Greece. Oden with a game score of 156 and Fenberg with 153 pins won second and third honors in the (See MATCH, page 6.)

CANDIDATE IS SCHEDULED AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

Local Citizens Will Welcome Him to Pampa

WOODWARD IS ALSO COMING

Speech to Be Either in Courthouse or on Lawn

Ross Sterling, Ma Ferguson's opponent in the run-off race for governor, will speak at the courthouse tomorrow afternoon promptly at 2:30 o'clock, according to Senator Pink Parrish, manager of the Sterling campaign in the Panhandle.

In a telephone conversation with a Daily News representative this morning, Mr. Parrish said that the candidate would positively speak here at that hour, although it was announced in the Amarillo News this morning that Mr. Sterling would speak here at one o'clock. Senator Parrish, talking with Judge Clifford Braly yesterday afternoon, announced that the Houston man would deliver an appeal to the voters at 2:30.

A number of local citizens who supported Senator Clint C. Small in the first primary will welcome Mr. Sterling to the city. Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman will accompany Mr. Sterling and will share the platform with the candidate who is making a tour of the Panhandle. He is scheduled to speak at Amarillo tomorrow night.

The speaking will probably be held in the district courtroom, although it may take place at one of the entrances.

Judge Newton P. Willis, president of the Small-for-governor club, will introduce Mr. Sterling. Both Senator Woodward and Senator Parrish were strong supporters of Mr. Small in the first primary. Mr. Parrish will accompany the Houston candidate to Pampa.

By The Associated Press

Out over the broad plains of the Panhandle the storm center of the campaign for the governor's chair swirled today.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, working for the nomination of his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, moved into Clarendon, while Ross S. Sterling turned toward Memphis.

Scores of adherents of the two candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination either spoke or prepared to speak in many sections of the state.

Predictions made after the first primary that the current race for the governorship would rival any in the history of Texas for forensic pyrotechnics were somewhat borne out in addresses by Ferguson and Sterling last night.

Plane Lands in Tree; Passengers Are Not Injured

POCATELLO, Idaho, Aug. 12. (AP)—Jud Parker, Pocatello pilot, and two passengers struggling into town, told a story of being forced to climb back to earth from an airplane ride. They said a terrific storm forced their plane into the top of a tall pine in the Targhee forest, near Jackson Hole, Wyo. The trio said they descended 50 feet to earth, uninjured.

Parker said he would have to chop the tree down to retrieve his plane, only slightly damaged in the crash.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Possibly you've noticed the increasingly tolerant attitude reflected recently by those persons officially and unofficially connected with the enforcement of prohibition.

The fact that this is an election year may have something to do with it. The belligerency of the wets in recent months, too. Probably the leaders of the dry side feel that some small concessions ought to be made as a matter of strategy.

That various government officials are rather bored with the idea of trying to enforce a law that millions of persons insist on breaking is fairly obvious. Equally obvious is the fact that they won't dare recommend any change until wet voters show enough strength to enable them to do so with comparative safety, which is likely to be a long time. It is hard to tell whether the wet voters are going to make any particular impression in the fall elections, but meanwhile they have the satisfaction of believing that a few little things are being done to appease them.

Take, for instance, the recent declaration of leaders of various dry organizations for the sanctity of the home. Representatives of the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, the W. C. T. U. and the Committee of One Thousand issued a manifesto which drew a distinct line between the business of drinking in one's own kitchen and actually trafficking in hooch. The dries have so often scorned the "personal liberty" argument of the wets that, although they are still very far from accepting that argument, it is no less than surprising to hear them say:

"We specifically repudiate all enforcement policies that do not regard and safeguard every personal right. Personal habits and the conduct of the home are in the field of private morals. These should not be touched by the hand of the law unless they cross their boundaries and then only by due process of law. . . . The primary attack in on the traffic of intoxicating liquors."

At the same time develops what appears to be a tendency on the part of the administration to loosen the ties which have bound it these many years to the Anti-Saloon League. Not that the administration is planning to kick the dry leaders in the pants or even to give them a polite shove. But it has become painfully plain that the Republican party isn't as dry as it thought it was, what with New Jersey, New York and Washington among other states, so the administration is virtually forced to play its own game instead of the league's. At present this game seems to be a balancing act with no immediate hope that the performer will be allowed to take a rest.

President Hoover's boredom with prohibition has been indicated by his desire to keep it off the front pages of the newspapers through avoidance of the spectacular. His desires will be carried out by the Department of Justice. The new policy provides for fewer killings, fewer night club raids, less attention to the small bootlegger with his pints and quarts and elimination of court congestion now caused by many petty prohibition cases. The object will be to "reduce the supply of intoxicating liquors for beverages purposes" by going after the wholesale manufacturers and distributors. This program has the ring of familiarity, but it always sounds sensible and serves to appease the wrath of the wets while promising the dries some constructive achievement. The dries will be restrained from hollering that the administration doesn't mean business because Prohibition Director Amos Woodcock is going to ask Congress for 500 additional agents to put over his program.

OUR STANDARDS GO UP

"Every man in America who works," says Senator C. C. Dill of Washington, "should be able to earn enough to have a good home with electric lights, modern conveniences and a radio. They should be able to educate their children, putting them at least through high school, and this without unnecessary sacrifice."

This remark, made during a speech recently before the Washington State Federation of Labor, is an apt illustration of the way in which standards of living in this country have risen during the present century.

What Senator Dill is saying is that the little luxuries of life ought to be widespread, and should not be confined to a fortunate few. It is a view in which most people will agree; yet it is worth remembering that almost no one held such ideas a generation or so ago.

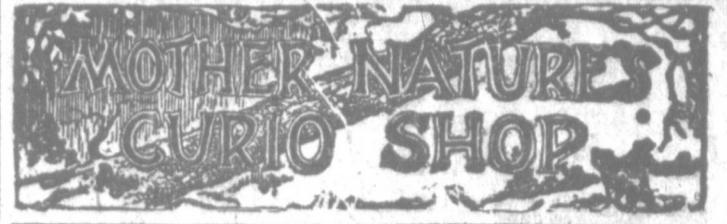

In former times it was taken for granted that the average man, the wage-earner, would be able to keep a roof over his head and get enough to eat—but that was the extent of it. Conveniences, luxuries, refinements—they were definitely for the well-to-do! The ordinary man could not hope to possess them. No one, in picturing an ideal civilization, imagined that it would be advisable to have such things enjoyed by all.

But the last three decades have brought great changes. Henry Ford, probably, is largely responsible. He took the automobile, a luxury among luxuries, and made it available for everyone. Manufacturers of other commodities in the same class followed suit. Modern bathroom fixtures, radios, vacuum cleaners, electric refrigerators—these and many other things began to become the property of the wage earner as well as of the high-salaried white-collar man.

The result has been a definite, substantial rise in the general standard of living. We no longer expect a man to be satisfied with inferior housing facilities and inferior comforts just because he works in a factory or a shop. The barrier between rich and poor is not as high as it used to be.

All of which means that our whole population has taken a long step upward. We still have poverty and want, of course; but our fundamental attitude toward these things have changed. In that fact lies much hope for the future.—NEA.

Home Ceremony Unites Miss Cecelia Atteberry and Sam P. Braswell

Miss Cecelia Atteberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Atteberry, and Mr. Sam Phillips Braswell of Clarendon were joined in marriage at 9 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of the bride's parents on Grace street.

Only members of the immediate families of the bride and the groom were present for the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. H. Braswell of Canyon, grandfather of the bridegroom. The young couple stood beneath an archway which had been made beautiful for the occasion with baskets of pink gladioli, lilies of the valley, roses and fern. There were no attendants.

The bride wore a becoming frock of navy blue crepe to which collar and cuffs of pastel colored embroidery lent a smart touch. Her traveling costume was a attractive black tulle with a blouse of pastel colors and a black felt hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Braswell left immediately after the wedding on a trip to Mineral Wells and South Texas. They will be at home after Aug. 20 at Clarendon, where Mr. Braswell is associated with his father, Mr. Sam M. Braswell, in the publication of the Clarendon News.

State Takes Steps to Recover Casing Head Gasoline Tax

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP)—Immediate steps will be taken by the state to recover more than $2,500,000 taxes on casing head gasoline due the state under a ruling by Attorney General Robert L. Bobbitt. It was announced today by George H. Sheppard, state comptroller.

The comptroller is charged with collection of the tax, including initiation of any litigation incident to its recovery. He said he would confer with Attorney General Bobbitt at an early date regarding the proper procedure.

Possibility of collecting the tax was first surmised by Moore Lynn, state auditor, who requested an opinion from the attorney general as to whether casing head gas should be subject to the gross production tax of two per cent as an oil. Bobbitt ruled that the gasoline should be so classified, and subsequent investigation by the auditor disclosed that besides $2,500,000 or more now due from this tax, the tax was accruing at the rate of more than $350,000 per annum.

Mountain Climber Believed to Have Perished in Cold

MOUNT ROBSON, B. C., Aug. 12. (AP)—Search among the ice crags of Mount Robson for Newman D. Waff head master of Carteret Academy, Orange, N. J., was continued today with little hope that he would be found alive.

He set out at dawn last Tuesday with two day's provisions to scale the western ridges of the 13,000 foot mountain, loftiest peak in the Canadian Rockies. Although several ascents have been made by the southern slope, no one has ever reached the peak by way of the Western approach.

Roy Hargreaves, guide, leading the search and Jose Sandlana, another experienced climber, found footprints believed to be those of Waff leading to the topmost ice field. The guides hesitated to venture up the slope because of the dangerous condition of the ice.

Comrades at the Berg Lake camp from where Waff set out recalled his remark before departing when he said, "I would rather die on a mountain slope than expire in bed."

Whale Gives City Dwellers Thrill on An Arctic Hunt

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Aug. 12. (AP)—A forty-foot whale in Sydney harbor gave city dwellers here today close-up thrills of an anti-Arctic whale hunt.

The visitor leisurely explored Port Jackson, the great harbor's main water-way until this noted shark fisherman, Charlie Messenger, and a newspaper reporter and photographer started out in a small boat to attempt a capture.

While thousands on harbor craft and along the shore looked on, Messenger twice harpooned the whale which dived each time and wrenched itself free.

CUBS LEADING PARADE AGAIN BY ONE POINT

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago Cubs breathed deeply today of the dustless air at the head of the procession—leaders of the National League parade once more.

In second place, crestfallen and perhaps just a bit weary of the frantic struggling that is marking the final drive for the flag, are the Brooklyn Robins, out of first place, with the exception of couple of one day lapses, for the first time since June.

The margin is only a point, but it is a margin, and the worst is yet to come for the falling flock of Uncle Wilbert Robinson, for the Robins must face the battling Cubs themselves in a four-game series that opens today in the back yard of the 1929 champions.

The Cardinals dealt their final blow in the overthrow of Brooklyn yesterday, coming from behind in the ninth to score three runs and whip the Robins for the third straight time, 6 to 6, while young Buddy Teachout, freshman southpaw of the Cubs, was taming the Boston Braves, 4 to 2, the third time McCarty's warriors have turned that trick in two days.

More woeful even than the drop of the Robins is the record of the flock against the Cubs themselves. Brooklyn has beaten Chicago only four times against 11 defeats.

The goal of the Cardinal conquest yesterday was Del Bissonette, lanky Brooklyn first baseman. Hollis Thurston went into the ninth with a 6 to 4 lead, thanks to Babe Herman's 27th homer, another by Johnny Frederick, and other timely clouting against Johnson and Crabowski. Then Hafey and Watkins singled, Bissonette hit Watkins in the back trying for a forecourt on Fisher's grounder, and two runs scored. Del missed Gelber's foul, threw late to catch Fisher at third, and Gelber hit him again, and a pass filled the bases. Babe Phelps replaced Thurston. He got two outs but Frankie Frisch, who would like to play in Brooklyn next season, singled home the winning run.

The Cubs' tussle with the Braves was a simple thing with Teachout allowing but six hits. Wally Berger got his 29th homer but Cantwell was hit freely.

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Giants 8 to 5 and kept them from gaining precious ground. Larry French pitched nice ball to halt a Pirate losing streak that had reached five straight. Bill Terry did most of the Giant hitting with a homer, double and single and French helped his own cause with three hits.

Washington's Senators picked up a game on the pace setting Athletics in the American league but the breach is still very wide. Washington clipped Cleveland 9 to 2 while old Red Faber and his spitball were taming the A's and Lefty Walberg 8 to 3. Goose Goslin hit a pair of homers to lead a St. Louis attack that halted the Yankee winning streak at six games, 10 to 5. O'Rourke and Blue also hit home runs.

Danny MacFayden turned in the best pitching performance of the day, letting Detroit down with three hits, two of them by Easterling, as the Red Sox won 5 to 1. Ray Koip also hurled well for Cincinnati, holding the slugging Phillies to six hits as the Reds won 4 to 2.

Promoter Spent Millions But Died Penniless
CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Paddy Harmon, whose dream of a $7,000,000 sports palace came true, died as he started life—virtually penniless.

This was revealed today when plans were set in motion to stage a benefit boxing show in the Chicago stadium, the building Paddy built, next month with the receipts going to his widow and four-year-old daughter.

When Harmon's car skidded off the road two weeks ago and killed him, he had exactly $2.50 in cash to his name. That was found in his pocket. He had no life insurance, no other bank account, nothing left of his fortune except the money he sunk in building the Chicago stadium, the largest indoor sports arena in America. When he was ousted from the presidency of the stadium, he still retained a great amount of stock, but this may or may not be valuable for several years to come.

Friends of the dead promoter said today his most difficult task was managing his money. He allowed it to slip through his fingers making loans to needy friends, much after the fashion of the late Tex Rickard who allowed his fortune to slip away.

Jack Lander left Sunday for two weeks' vacation in two cities.

Tennis Champion Will Not Defend Title This Year

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Helen Wills Moody has decided she will not defend her national women's tennis title this month at Forest Hills, N. Y.

The champion gave unwillingness to leave her husband, home and relatives so shortly after her long trip to Wimbledon, England, as the reason for the decision.

"I have decided to stay at home with my husband and relatives for a time," the tennis champion said. "It wouldn't be right for me to go away so soon when I have just returned from a long trip.

"I love competitive tennis and have no intention of giving it up, but I am not going to defend my national title this year."

Mrs. Moody returned recently from Wimbledon where she captured the singles title. Her decision not to defend her national championship marks the abdication of a queen who has ruled the courts since 1923.

The only previous break in the series of triumphs which began when she took the national championship from the former Molla Bjurstedt seven years ago, was in 1926, the year she was kept out of competitive play by an operation for appendicitis.

Her career as a tennis champion began when she was 15 years old, with the winning of the girls' national tournament.

NORRIS NOT TO SUFFER AFTER BOLTING PARTY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Bolting the party fold in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith for president did not cost Senator Norris of Nebraska support of the Republican national machine if he is successful today in obtaining his party's renomination.

This edict was given by Senator Fess of Ohio, the new chairman of his party's national committee, following a conference at the White House.

"The national committee can make no discrimination among candidates," Fess said. "It is interested only in the principles involved. It is the duty of the committee to support the nominees chosen in party primaries."

The statement was made in reply to a question on whether Norris would be supported. At the same time, Fess, leaving for a 10 days' vacation on the Great Lakes, said immediately upon his return the national organization would be ready to open a vigorous campaign for the renomination of the party's nominees to senate and house seats.

He outlined as outstanding issues of the general campaign, President Hoover's administration, the tariff and farm relief. He discounted both prohibition and the world court issue as campaign topics, saying both questions cut too deeply into both parties to become a source of conflict between Republicans and Democrats.

FORMER CHIEF OF ARMY AIR CORPS IS DEAD
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Major General Charles T. Menoher, former chief of the army air corps, whose break 10 years ago with Col. William Mitchell precipitated a nation-wide uproar, died late yesterday of pneumonia.

General Menoher had been ill for some time following his retirement in 1926.

During a long and distinguished army career he had served as battle commander of the Rainbow (Forty-Second division) in France, and bore therefrom not only the distinguished service medal, but also the decorations of France, Belgium, and Italy.

GUN-PHILLIPS GAME, RAINED OUT SUNDAY, TO BE PLAYED 5:30 WEDNESDAY, GUN PARK

Disappointed because their game scheduled for last Sunday afternoon was rained out, the Pampa Gulf Guns and the Phillips Sixty-sixes are hoping that showers do not interfere with the game tomorrow at Gun Park, three miles south of Pampa at the Gulf camp. The affair will start promptly at 5:30 o'clock.

The Guns spent a miserable Sunday. They had been counting on giving the fans and persons who sent them to the Amarillo and Denver tournaments without seeing them play in a single game, their money's worth. Manager Kleith Edelen declared today that the Guns more than ever are anxious to play their best game of the season in Pampa tomorrow afternoon.

Phillips men includes stars from Magnolia, and the Amarillo Cats and Tacks. The Guns are not confident of victory by any means. Lefty Coop will hurl for the Guns and Dickey for Phillips.

The Guns players will be the same ones who wrested the baseball championship of the Panhandle from the Amarillo Tacks at the recent tournament.

The line-ups include:
Guns—Joe Marcum cf, Spec Roberts 2b, Cox 1b, Phillips ss, Sullivan c, Morgan rf, Williamson 3b, Weathered lf.
Phillips—Browning c, Chandler 1b, Besson 2b, Baccus 3b, Lawrence ss, Wight lf, Rusty Cahill rf, Reynolds cf.

General Mitchell, assistant air chief, took place shortly after Menoher had assumed command of the army air forces shortly after his return from France.

"Taking issue with actions and statements of Mitchell, Menoher openly demanded his subordinate be relieved from duty, thus initiating a nationally-aired debate which culminated in the court-martial of Mitchell and his eventual resignation from the service. General Menoher resigned as chief of the air corps in 1921 asking a line assignment.

St. Louis Fliers Nearing Hunter Brothers' Record

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12. (AP)—The monoplane Greater St. Louis, piloted by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine today soared nearer and nearer to a new record for endurance refueling flying. As they approached the present record of nearly 554 hours, held by the Hunter brothers, their plane continued to function well—so well, in fact, that John Hunter, a visitor at Lambert-St. Louis field, said "it looks as though they have it in the bag."

At 7:11 a. m. today (CST) Jackson and O'Brine had been circling over the field for 528 hours and had slightly less than 27 hours to go to equal the Hunters' record. Under endurance flying regulations, they must remain up an additional hour to break the record.

Although within sight of the record, which they formerly held, Jackson and O'Brine had no intention of an early landing. They planned to remain in the air at least eight days beyond the present record. Jackson, speaking over the plane's radio transmitter, even talked of staying up three weeks more.

The fliers received the first assurance of a financial return from their flight yesterday when an oil company announced it would give them $100 for each hour they remain aloft over the old record. The offer will continue for 70 hours, or until the fund reaches $7,000.

Butte Is Nominee for Governor of Republican Party

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 12. (AP)—Dr. George C. Butte of Austin was the accredited nominee today of the Republican party for the office of governor of Texas.

The Republican state executive committee announced after a canvass yesterday that Dr. Butte, who made a spectacular campaign against Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in 1924, had received a majority over three opponents in the July primary.

The committee voted not to hold a run-off primary on August 23, since those who ran second in the first primary agreed to withdraw in favor of the high men.

WACO DROPS LEAD AFTER ROAD TRIPS

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Unless the Waco Cubs throw on the brakes, citizens of the McLennan county metropolis can call of that pennant fund they started raising a few days ago and return the checks on hand.

Leading the Texas league chase when they hit the road four days ago, the Prattmen today were two and one-half games from the top, the result of three straight defeats at Fort Worth and Wichita Falls. Their pitching, as good as any in the league under the home lights, has gone more or less haywire on foreign soil.

Becker blew up in the seventh yesterday and the Spudgers camp from behind to make it two straight over the Cublets, 13 to 8. The first half champs scored three runs in the seventh and six more in the eighth off Brancheau to sew up the verdict. Before going down, however, the Cubs had the satisfaction of clouting Hal Wiltsse from the hill in the third. Jack Kloza drove in four of the winners' runs with a homer and three singles.

The Fort Worth Kittens managed to stay a jump ahead of the Spuds by cooling Beaumont again, 5 to 2. Hugh Buchanan, young righthander obtained by the Cubs in exchange for Bill Kelly, blanked the Exporters until the ninth and would have registered a shutout, but for an error behind him. Evary Cat joined in a 12-hit assault on Denny Burns and Mallett, with Fowler, tavenor and Buchanan each contributing a pair.

Two games were the extent of the day's activities, rain spiking Houston's night engagement at Shreveport, and Dallas and San Antonio resting from their Sunday double-header.

Although they did not play, the Steers figured they were several dollars ahead for the day. President Sol Dreyfus finally talked Vic Fraser into joining the White Sox, and if the obstinate righthander does report to Donie Bush and stay put this time the Mavericks will be able to collect his purchase price. Frasier has been hurling for a semi-pro nine at Mt. Enterprise since jumping the Sox in the spring.

Sherman White of McLean was in Pampa yesterday.

Aged Nashville Publisher Dies

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 12. (AP)—Edward B. Stahlman, 87, publisher of the Nashville Banner, died today after an extended illness.

His illness began in March, 1929, as the result of overwork, and he was forced to take his first vacation. While his life had been despaired of several times, Mr. Stahlman was able to sit in his garden during much of the past year and even to take a few automobile rides. His final relapse occurred a week ago, and up to that time he had kept in close touch with affairs. He was intensely interested in the campaign of his friend, Cordell Hull, who last Thursday was given the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator.

DANCING JUDITH

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN. COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, artist's model, loves ALAN STEYNE, painter who is also loved by CHUMMY MORLEY. Judith's roommate and best friend, Chummy had loved Steyne years ago, and lost her memory when he went away; so although he loves Judith, Judith insists it is his duty to marry Chummy, whose memory comes back when she sees him again. Judith studies dancing under the great GUARVENIUS, and rich BRUCE GIDEON, whom Steyne distrusts, offers to star her in a musical show. Then Guarvenius is killed in a traffic accident, and Chummy breaks her engagement when she learns that Alan loves Judith. A friend of Guarvenius, RICHARD WYON, puts Judith in a show and she makes a sensational hit.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

Judy cried for two days, on and off, because Guarvenius had not been there to see her triumph—or his triumph, as she called it. Had he not taught her everything she knew, and had he not been like a father to her?

Of course, she found herself in a maze of business engagements, which at first confused her very much. For instance, Matthew Tannary, who controlled vast theatrical interests all over America, offered her a three-year contract at what seemed to her an enormous salary. She refused, of course, considering herself tied to Mr. Wyon; but when she told him about it, he urged her to accept the offer.

Even to Judy's ignorance of business methods this seemed a marvelously generous action. She tried to thank him. "But, my dear young lady, I am only too glad to have been of service to you," Wyon repeated. "My advice to you is to accept Matthew Tannary's contract, beginning after Christmas. I wish you every possible success."

He beamed on her with his rather womanish smile. He seemed actually to want her to accept this contract. She was more than touched by his kindness.

Each night her success was repeated. In fact, the enthusiasm of the audience grew greater and greater. The house was packed to overflowing.

To Judy, it was still very unreal. The roar of applause always seemed to come from a very long way off. She hardly realized that the audience was shouting at her; but her friends' praise made her very happy.

Bastien devoured her performance with his ardent eyes every single night. Tony Leigh and Michael Stone and all the other boys thought her wonderful.

Everybody told her so. They drank her health when she went to the cafe one noonday. They made speeches in her honor. Michael Stone recited a poem he had written. They were almost crazy with delight in her triumph. It was the most wonderful thing that had ever happened in the lives of any of them.

Strangely enough, little Judy Grant was an artist in the classic sense. All that Guarvenius had taught her of incessant practice and study and rigid self-discipline and early hours she had grasped and made her own, so that it was now second nature.

Of her emotions Judy was ever a spendthrift, but of the energy necessary for her work, at this time of her life, she was a veritable miser. She showed no inclination to enlarge or improve her style of living. She stayed in her two modest, familiar rooms. She did not launch forth into clothes and hats; she never took a cab unless it was to go to the theater. She ate and drank as sparingly as ever. But for her work, she seemed to be in a state of suspended animation.

Thus passed a whole month, and Judy had refused all Gideon's invitations, as well as those of various people quite unknown to her acquaintance. It rather amused her. They were very smart people, some of them. Ladies deluged her with requests to dance for charity. Men of high rank begged her company at supper; but all to no purpose. Judy had placed herself entirely in Mr. Wyon's hands, and his advice was to keep herself entirely to herself.

On one occasion Mr. Wyon rather astonished her by asking her a personal question. They were in his rooms at the theater, and she had just shown him a copy of her contract with Matthew Tannary. He pronounced it to be most satisfactory.

Then he turned to her with the smile that always made her think of an old lady.

"Miss Grant, is Mr. Bruce Gideon, the well-known financier, a friend of yours? Somebody told me he was."

"Do you know him?" she asked sharply.

"I have met him—yes."

"I shouldn't really call him a friend of mine," Judy said, weighing her words; "but he has been very kind to me. He introduced me to dear Mr. Guarvenius, you know."

"Oh, did he?"

"I'm sure I've told you that before, Mr. Wyon."

"Oh, yes, Miss Grant, I believe you did mention it. I understand Mr. Gideon is a very remarkable man."

"As a matter of fact," she said impulsively, "Mr. Gideon wanted to do just what you've done for me, Mr. Wyon."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, but Mr. Guarvenius offered to bring me out himself."

"When he died, didn't Mr. Gideon renew his offer?"

"He might have done so. I don't know. I didn't give him the chance."

"Why was that, Miss Grant?"

"Well, you see, it was somehow different with him. It wouldn't have been entirely business, like it is with you, Mr. Wyon. I can't explain, but you can do things with some people and not with others. Do you know what I mean?"

"I think I do, Miss Grant. At any rate, as I have often said, I am only too pleased to have been of service to you. Have you seen Mr. Gideon lately?" he added casually.

"No, not for ages—not really since the first night, when he came behind for a few minutes. I've so much to do, and you advised me not to bother about society."

"Quite so, quite so, Miss Grant," he replied. "But of course one must discriminate. Some people may be very useful to your career."

Judy laughed.

"Well, the next time Mr. Gideon asks me to dinner I'll accept," she said. "You must come, too, Mr. Wyon, and meet him again by the way, I think I might give a little dinner party myself one of these days."

When she had gone, and he knew that she was safely in her dressing room, Mr. Wyon rang up Bruce Gideon.

"I have done what you asked me to," he said, when Gideon's soft voice answered. "I brought up your name in conversation with the young lady just now."

"Yes?" asked Gideon eagerly. "Well?"

"She has not the slightest suspicion, I assure you," Mr. Wyon went on. "If she is availing you, it is not because of that. She thoroughly believes in my business dealings with her. She told me about your offer to her, and gave me to understand that she looked on it differently—more personally, I suppose."

"And here's a little hint—she said that the next time you asked her to dine she would accept, and I must come too." Mr. Wyon laughed discreetly. "But I will be conveniently engaged, or indisposed."

He hung up the receiver, with his characteristic smile on his face.

Judy, full of her idea of giving a dinner party to all her friends, sought out Chummy the next day. Clarissa was hard at work on a big canvas for an important exhibition. She still looked well, but very tired, and Judy was alarmed by the way she turned to her and said:

"Judy do you know that Alan has returned. Have you seen him? Do you know if it's true that he's been ill?"

Judy's heart gave a wild leap, and then seemed to stop still. She did not know what her face expressed. She did not give it a thought; she was so smitten by the idea that Alan was back, and ill—perhaps alone—with nobody to look after him.

She did not feel her friend's quiet gaze riveted on her face. She did not know that her secret was written on it plainly for all to see. Perhaps the fact that she had already seen for herself that Chummy knew made her less on her guard.

"Who told you?" she asked, finding her voice.

"Bastien, last night. He had seen Mr. Hylton—you remember him, Judy, at the studio that night? Mr. Hylton told Bastien that Alan had been ill. I thought perhaps you would have heard."

"No—why should I?" asked Judy, in a more truculent tone than she had ever used to Chummy before.

"Why didn't you go and find out?"

"Mr. Hylton told Bastien that Alan was already better, and had gone away."

"Where to?"

"He didn't seem to know."

"I didn't know Mr. Steyne was in America," Judy said with elaborate tactlessness.

"He came back for your first night."

"How do you know?"

"Michael saw him at the stage door."

"I'm sure he didn't!" cried Judy indignantly. "If he was there, I never saw him. Chummy, I think you're rather extraordinary! Once before you seemed to think I might have heard from Mr. Steyne. Why should I, any more than you?"

"I thought you had been good friends."

"But you said you're still friends with him, Chummy."

"I know—only it's a little awkward, you see."

"I don't see!" Judy spoke almost angrily in her misery. "And I think you're awfully silly not to make it up with him," she added, her loyalty coming to her aid and making her voice quite steady and even careless. "You must be out of your mind, Chummy dear, to think that your old painting comes before Mr. Steyne, whom you've loved all these years. In time you'll see I'm right!"

When Judy's dinner party took place, it was the merriest function that was ever held in Gior's upstairs room. All Judy's old friends were bidden, and Vincent Stornaway and Bruce Gideon and Mr. Wyon.

Dan, who was invited as a guest, insisted on helping the waiters; but he sang his Italian songs later on, and they danced and talked and drank champagne until the night had merged into the next day.

Chummy talked a good deal with Bruce Gideon, and naturally all about Judy. She went home and battled with her thoughts. She understood now much that had puzzled her. She understood it since she had found Judy and Alan together, and had discovered that they loved each other.

She remembered how strangely Alan had behaved about Judy and Mr. Gideon—how violent he had been, how he had even asked her to warn her friend against the man. At the time she had thought him a little unreasonable. Now she understood that he had been wildly jealous of Gideon.

But now, of course, everything would come right in time. Alan would come back, and he and Judy would meet. Neither of them dreamed that Chummy had discovered their secret. Time would do the rest, she had only to play her part.

At this point poor Chummy got into bed and cried herself to sleep. (To Be Continued)

ing a speech to the jury. Today he gave instructions to his brother, Sid Payne, to bring him a number of books he said he needed for reference. Neither he nor his brother would release the titles of the books.

To carry out his plans, Payne Monday refused to employ his former law partner and friend, James O. Cade of Amarillo, to defend him when his case goes to trial because Cade asked for authority to present the case his own way. It is understood they disagreed over the defense of insanity.

Payne would rather die in the electric chair, posing as an arch criminal, than have the public believe him insane and be sent to an asylum, he told friends.

It can be gathered from Payne's conversation that he is anxious for his trial and execution for fear if there is too long a delay and he is left in a jail cell to brood over the crime he will become a raving maniac and be adjudged insane.

The publicity the newspapers would give Payne's last address to the jury would please his vanity. He is pleased now with the publicity he is receiving and he reads the newspapers daily to get his story.

Persons who have known Payne for many years say he has much false pride. He confessed he had too much pride to admit to his wife that he did not have any money and that he was a failure in his practice. Students who knew him in West Texas State Teachers' college said he wanted to attract attention with everything he did. If he failed in an undertaking, he wanted it to be an outstanding failure, they said.

It was evident also in his practice. He enjoyed sensational damage suits and participated in many of them. He has been known to refuse a compromise in a suit that would mean $10,000 or more to him in order to get notoriety from the trial and take a chance of having the jury find against him.

There seems to be no doubt now that Payne wants to be a sensation. Whether he planned the crime to which he confesses with notoriety in view is a matter of conjecture, but it is evident now he is making use of the opportunity it affords to make his last stand for fame and a place in history—although his name should find favor only in criminal annals.

NEBRASKA IS CENTERED ON SENATE RACE

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 12. (AP)—Nebraskans decided between conservatism and progressivism today in a primary election that centered around the veteran Senator George W. Norris.

Norris, leader of the independent group in the senate, not only was a candidate for renomination on the Republican ballot. He was also the main issue in one of the hottest primary campaigns this state has ever seen.

Norris' record in 17 years in the senate, his bolt to the Democratic presidential nominee in 1928 and his frequent jousts with administration has taken on added importance. Both Democratic candidates, Robert Burns of Seminole and James T. Berry of Stillwater, have avowed they are seeking the lieutenant governor's office only, and that they would be loyal to their chief, regardless of which candidate is selected for the higher office.

downs because of independent strikes. No one was injured and no damage done. Officials of the coal companies against which the attack apparently was directed, as well as local officers, telegraphed descriptions of the plane to surrounding cities, and a thorough search was started. No headway had been made early today, however, except for a report from Paul Montgomery, a Murphysboro, Ill., aviator, that he had seen a strange plane flying in the vicinity of Pinckneyville, Ill., yesterday. He predicted an overwhelming victory. Bobbitt told a Greenville audience that Allred was a man who entered a "community telling voters he was running on his merits and qualifications" but then launched "a bitter attack against the incumbent."

charged that Sterling as president of a group of banks 15 years ago when Ferguson was governor had subjected himself to possible prosecution through making loans intended for his personal use. He stated that Sterling had asked his help and he prevailed upon the banking commissioner to give him six months in which to pay the money back. During that time, Ferguson said, Sterling's "oil wells came in" and he "luckily" became wealthy and paid off the loans.

In this connection, Charles J. Francis, presiding Mr. Sterling on the platform at Wichita Falls last night, denounced an entirely untrue Ferguson's statement that Sterling had sought Ferguson's aid. Ferguson asserted that Sterling was not a good business man, but he asserted Sterling wouldn't "stand had made his money through "luck," the gaff," but would "blow up like a balloon" in a tight place.

He defended Mrs. Ferguson's pardon record while governor and said that the 2,000 convicts whom his wife would parole should she again be elected were prisoners who should have been freed by Governor Moody under "custom of the last fifty years."

At Wichita Falls, Mr. Sterling declared he had learned early in his life to tell the difference between right and wrong and to distinguish his "money from that of someone else." He reviewed the financial struggles of his early business life, saying he wished to show that he was honest.

He discussed his plans for building a statewide system, saying "you now pay for highways with taxes on your property and when you go out on the highways in your car you pay for them again with a gasoline tax." His plan calls for highway building by a bond issue based on a gasoline tax.

He said the issue in the campaign was whether "we shall have responsible government or irresponsible government." State Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, a supporter of Clint C. Small in the first primary, spoke in favor of Mr. Sterling and denounced Ferguson's record, asserting that if Mrs. Ferguson were elected and kept her promise to liberate 2,000 convicts he would introduce a bill in the legislature to repeal the anti-pistol law "so Texans will be able to protect themselves."

Governor Moody spoke at Bonham last night in favor of the Sterling candidacy. His program called for action all the week.

The race for attorney general between James V. Allred of Wichita Falls and R. L. Bobbitt, incumbent, continued to attract attention. Allred, speaking at Jacksonville, said that before the first primary Bobbitt had "centered his attacks and insinuations" on Cecil Storey of Vernon, but that after Storey had been eliminated Bobbitt had turned the attacks on Allred. He predicted an overwhelming victory.

Bobbitt told a Greenville audience that Allred was a man who entered a "community telling voters he was running on his merits and qualifications" but then launched "a bitter attack against the incumbent."

FAT AND 52, HE'S HELD AS HEART BREAKER DE LUXE MUCH-MARRIED LOTHARIO NOW FACES COURT

By NEA Service.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 12.—A fat and middle-aged Lothario, accused of leaving a dozen cities strewn with broken hearts, faces a hearing in court here on Aug. 20.

He is J. W. Orton, who is alleged by police to have married numerous wealthy widows throughout the country and to have left them after gaining possession of their money or property.

Specifically, Orton is charged with defrauding a Pellston, Mich., widow of more than $2,000 a year ago. Broken hearted over her second venture in matrimony, the widow, Mrs. Addie Grewitt, died last March.

Orton also is alleged by officers to have taken about $20,000 from a widow in Pennsylvania, $7,000 from a Chicago woman and $3,200 from a Nebraska victim. In addition to these cases on which Grand Rapids authorities say they have definite information, Orton is said to be wanted in other cities.

Orton met Mrs. Grewitt through a matrimonial agency. He corresponded with her and finally they went to Sheboygan, Wis., and were married. They came to Grand Rapids on a honeymoon. Mrs. Grewitt is said to have withdrawn $2,276—all the money she possessed—from a bank at Pellston and to have given Orton a draft for that amount. Then he disappeared.

After waiting several days for him to come back, Mrs. Grewitt returned to Pellston, where she died last spring, shortly after presenting her case to prosecutors.

The part states and counties are expected to play in the actual relief work was re-emphasized yesterday by Vice Chairman Stone of the farm board, who pointed out that relief in the form of loans from his or other organizations could be forthcoming only to organized farmers. The board is restricted in its advances to co-operative organizations which, he said, could best be set up by local interests, familiar with the credit of individuals.

The decline in crop prospects was attributed by the department of agriculture in its monthly report, issued yesterday, almost entirely to drought and heat damage to feed crops. Supplies of human food were said to be generally undamaged.

J. W. Orton—a heart breaker police say.

When authorities started the hunt for Orton they found themselves on a long trail.

In 1927 he is alleged to have married Mrs. Addie Saylor at Arphoo, Neb., and to have taken $3,200 from her.

Mrs. Rena Feiger of Chicago charged he married her in Wheaton, Ill., in 1929 and left with $7,000 of her money.

Next he is alleged to have married Mrs. Mary Leogin in Woodlawn, Pa., under the name of Edward L. Sanford, on Jan. 15, 1930.

When arrested Orton told police his name was John Sherwood and his age was 47. Later he said he was 52 and admitted he also was known as Sanford and Stanley. He was jailed in default of $10,000 bail.

Miss Ethel Brown, Cherokee, Okla., and Mrs. R. B. Fisher, with whom she has been visiting the past week, left Sunday for her home in Cherokee. Mrs. Fisher will continue her trip to Kansas City, where she will be joined by Mr. Fisher on his return from New York City, where he has been attending Columbia university.

Plane Wrecked Before Leaving on Long Flight

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 12, (AP)

The wreckage of an airplane rested today on Ladner field here as a forlorn monument to an ambitious flight project and one of the craft's owners, Bob Wark, was reported in a serious condition from injuries received in its latest crash.

Wark was injured and the plane dubbed "The Pacific Era," was smashed yesterday when the flier overshot the landing field in returning to Vancouver from Lulu Island air field, near here, preparatory to resuming a projected four-stop flight from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo.

Eddie Brown, partner of Wark, was not in the plane, having gone to Ladner field by automobile as soon as the ship could be made ready.

Wark's injuries originally were thought to have been slight but he was reported in intense pain and suffering from a fever after being taken to a hospital last night. A physicians examination was said to have revealed possible internal injuries.

Mrs. F. L. Hill returned today from an extended visit to Dallas, Waco, Kerrville, Corpus Christi, Houston and Yokum.
