COUNTY SEAT ELECTION CALLED

Danciger Well in Bowers Pool Making 4,000 Barrels

OFFSET TEST AGAIN PROVES TO BE GUSHER

Two Others on Pay to Be Drilled in Soon

GUERNSEY IS CLEANING OUT

Rig at LeFors Town-Site Will Be Skidded

The Danciger Oil and Refining company brought in another gusher in the Bowers pool of the South Pampa field last night about 6 o'clock when the Danciger Oil and Refining company's No. 8 Jackson in the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 88, block B-2, came in for more than 4,000 barrels initial flow at 3,005 feet.

This well was drilled in with a rotary rig and by the Danciger oil method. It is offset by Texas Operators and Gulf company wells.

This is the second well the company had brought in during the last week and two more are nearing completion and will be drilled in soon.

The bridge is being drilled out of the Guernsey Oil company's No. 1 McKinney in section 163, block 3, which was shot Saturday afternoon with 300 quarts. Oil began to flow following the shot, but the hole later bridged.

It is making between 40 and 50 barrels a day from first pay above the bridge, which is about 3,260 feet. The first pay was reached at 3,160 feet and second pay at 3,270 feet.

The LeFors Petroleum company, drilling the LeFors townsite well, plans to skid the derrick west of the present location and drill another well. The present hole is crooked and cuts the cable.

Gas will be let back this afternoon before the derrick is moved. More than 70,000,000 cubic feet of gas was cased off.

Two Countries Greet Aviators on Arrival Today

(By Associated Press) CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 30.—Venezuela today honored an intrepid aviator who after a flight over perilous mountains lost his way in a fog, but despite these obstacles reached his goal.

Arriving at Maracay, 50 miles west of here, ten hours after he started from Bogota, Columbia, Charles A. Lindbergh's first act was to apologize to President Gomez for having kept him waiting at the flying field. An anxious crowd had awaited his arrival for two hours. His flight covered 650 miles airplane.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—Mexico City, which was the first port of call for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on his goodwill tour, today entertained two French fliers who plan to make a non-stop flight from here to New Orleans, enroute to New York.

Djeudonne Costes and Joseph Lebriz flew here from Guatemala City, Guatemala, yesterday, covering the 470 miles in 7 hours and 26 minutes. On arrival at Valbuena field they were greeted by President Calles and his staff, Jean Baptiste Perier, French minister, representatives of various South American countries and Dwight W. Morrow, American Ambassador. A crowd of 10,000 persons acclaimed them.

EARL HAIG, WAR CHIEF, IS DEAD

Great Britisher Dies Suddenly at the Age of 66

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Jan. 30.—Earl Douglas Haig, who as commander in chief of the British armies in France and Belgium contributed in a large share to the Allies' success in 1928, died here shortly after midnight today. He was 66 years old.

The British general, whose name is linked with Marshal Foch of France and General Pershing of the United States in the victory over the Germans, died unexpectedly of heart disease.

Since the war, Earl Haig has devoted much of his time to organizing relief for disabled soldiers and their families.

The Marshal was reserved almost to the point of coldness, but those who were really acquainted with him during the war said that beneath his exterior there beat a warm heart which bled daily as the great soldier was compelled to send his men against instruments of death.

As soon as the war ended he started a campaign to raise funds for the men who had given their all. He organized poppy day, and annual events when millions of cloth flowers made entirely by former service men and representing the crimson poppies that bloom in Flanders are sold throughout Great Britain for the benefit of the disabled soldiers.

Earl Haig was also unceasing in his personal attentions to soldiers in hospitals and other institutions.

His last public utterance Saturday showed him in the light of a staunch defender of his country. He told a troop of Boy Scouts assembled for an enrollment ceremony at Richmond:

"Stand up for England when people speak disrespectfully of her. Try and realize what citizenship and public spirit really mean."

The Marshal's death occurred in the house of his brother-in-law, W. G. Jameson, in prince's gate where he had been staying recently. He was on the point of retiring when he collapsed while sitting on the edge of the bed. He did not lose consciousness immediately, but the end came shortly afterward.

Earl Haig had been ailing slightly of late. He saw a physician a few days ago regarding his physical condition, but was able to fulfill a number of public engagements afterward.

Yesterday he took a walk in Hyde park and was contemplating a visit to the Riviera if the doctor would permit him to travel.

Kidnaping System Nets Chicago Four $35,000 in Robbery

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The "kidnaping" system of bank robbery, used for the third time within a month in Chicago, today netted its practitioners $35,000.

James Dillon, cashier of the Industrial State bank of Chicago, told police that he was held a prisoner in the bank all night while his four captors waited for the time lock in the bank vault to open at 7 a. m.

The quartet escaped after looting the vault, leaving the cashier bound and gagged in the bank.

COTTON REPORT MADE (By Associated Press) There were 3,922 bales of cotton ginned in Gray county from the crop of 1927 prior to January 15, 1928, as compared with 5,923 bales ginned prior to January 15, 1927, according to B. L. Webb, special agent for Gray county.

'BOMB TRUST' BELIEVED BROKEN TODAY THROUGH RAIDS AND ARRESTS IN CHICAGO

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Eight persons were under arrest today following raids conducted against what Deputy Commissioner O'Connor has termed the "Bomb Trust."

A raid on a near-northside hotel where four men were taken, frustrated, police believe, an attempt to bomb the city-owned Lawndale Isolation hospital. The hospital bombing was planned, said detectives, as another dynamite intimidation of the administration of Mayor Thompson. Homes of two of his closest political associates, City Comptroller Charles Fitzmor-ris and Dr. William H. Reid, were bombed last week.

The Fitzmorris and Reid bombings, the warning that the Lawndale hospital was to be bombed, and the telephone threats of Saturday against the apartment building in which Mayor Thompson lives, have been linked together as part of a "Bomb Trust" plan to intimidate Mayor Thompson for clamping the lid on gangsters and open gambling.

Detective bureau squads with machine guns have been guarding the Lawndale hospital since Saturday, when underground channels carried word of the threatened bombing to police. The same underground tipsters gave the information on which police went to Room 301 of a hotel on North State Street and arrested three men and a woman.

Police said they found nitroglycerin, hammers, drills, percussion caps and short lengths of rope in the room, which was occupied by George Rossi, alias Freeman, and Hazel Freeman, his wife. These two, together with Ernest Neitsch and Allen Monan, were arrested.

Five other arrests were made during the day and night, but all were released under bond.

Our Man Mike Takes Up Duties

"Iron Mike" was up before the sun this morning, and promptly at 7 a. m., he responded to Associated Press signals from Dallas and began pounding out yards of neat copy, taking the world news word for word with the metropolitan dailies.

Mike is producing a heavy surplus for Daily News' present linotype capacity, but a big press and another linotype will be installed in the new News' building to "hold" him.

If you haven't seen Mike, you haven't glimpsed the latest and newest in Pampa. Come down and look him over some time. His motto is "Forward With the Daily News and Pampa."

WORLEY LAND IN HUGE SUIT

Old Will Involved in Efforts to Divide Oil Riches

A suit filed Saturday at LeFors for Burt A. Worley, Mrs. Opal Spillman, and Mrs. Inez Weas, grandchildren of Henry Worley, who died in 1892, seeks a large portion of the latter's estate.

The defendants are Phoebe A. Worley, Albert Combs, E. E. Reynolds, and a score or more oil companies and operators. The property involved includes more than a dozen sections in Gray county—much in the Wilcox oil pool—and a huge ranch in Roberts county.

Burt A. Worley's father, it is alleged, was denied an interest in the elder Worley's will, although it is purported that a contrary promise had been made. The defendants are charged with manipulating probate procedure to obtain much of the property. Mr. Reynolds is made defendant on account of his being the husband of the aunt of the plaintiffs.

The original property had a relatively small value in comparison with the millions of dollars now represented in oil lands. A very lengthy petition filed in connection with the involved suit forecasts a large amount of litigation.

WOUNDED SHERIFF DIES

(By Associated Press) ARDMORE, Okla., Jan. 30.—Sheriff Sam C. Long of Love county, wounded last week in a fight with bandits who were robbing the Love County National bank, at Marietta, died today in a hospital.

MANY KILLED IN BLOODY WAR WITH MEXICAN REBEL TROOPS

(By the Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—El Universal said today that sixteen federal soldiers and a number of rebels were killed in a severe and bloody battle Friday in the mountains of Michoacan. The details were given in a dispatch from the newspaper's correspondent at El Oruga, a military camp in the mountains.

For several days the rebels under different chieftains concentrated at Cerro Verde. They dug a horseshoe-shaped line of trenches to oppose the federal forces advancing under command of Generals Juan Dominguez and Tranquilino Mendoza.

Six hundred rebels under Librado Guillen and Fermin Gutierrez clashed with about twice that number of federal soldiers at noon Friday. The battle lasted several hours along a front of several kilometers. The federal casualties were sixteen killed and twelve wounded.

(By the Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—Dispatches from Orizaba, State of Vera Cruz, say that former General Rodolfo Lozada, who has been heading a large group of rebels operating near the slopes of Orizaba mountain for several months, has surrendered. Other chieftains under his command also surrendered.

Lozada handed over to General Edmundo Duran several pieces of artillery and a large quantity of ammunition.

Jury of Four Women and Eight Men in Hickman Case Accepted

(By the Associated Press.)

HALL OF JUSTICE, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—A jury of four women and eight men was accepted by the defense and the state shortly before noon today for the sanity trial of William Edward Hickman, kidnaper-killer of Marian Parker.

Judge J. J. Trabucco immediately swore the jury, while the defense entered on the trial record its declaration it was "not satisfied with the jury." The acceptance of the twelve jurors had followed quickly upon the use by the defense of its twentieth and last peremptory challenge.

(By the Associated Press.)

HALL OF JUSTICE, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—The jury in the sanity trial of William Edward Hickman was excused for five minutes at the opening of court today while Defense Attorney Jerome Walsh made a motion for the calling in of three scientific experts in the case.

After the state protested the motion as unnecessary, Judge J. J. Trabucco denied the motion, commenting it would only delay the trial. Walsh then was the first one to take the witness stand, where he pleaded for his motion, declaring the defendant to be without funds, and that he himself was at personal expense handling the case.

District Attorney Ann Keyes inquired if a defense fund raised in Kansas City was not paying the expenses.

Train Bearing Irish President Derailed, But He Escaped

(By the Associated Press.)

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—The train bearing William T. Cosgrave, head of the Irish republic, left the tracks 23 miles from Ottawa this afternoon, but the car bearing the president and his party remained upright and no one in it was injured.

The derailment was caused by a switch at Limoges, Ontario. Another train was despatched from Ottawa to complete the presidential party's trip to the Canadian capital.

COTTON RALLIES TODAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 30.—The cotton market opened 5 to 11 points up today in sympathy with favorable Liverpool cables. As New York made a fuller response to the firmness abroad, prices here continued steady on lack of rain in the western belt. March and May traded up to 1741 and July 1730, 17 to 21 points above Saturday's close.

"That is absolutely false," Walsh said from the witness stand.

"I have already used $600 from a personal bank account, and have a $300 bill outstanding, none of which I expect to recover from the defendant or his family."

MARCH 9 SET FOR VOTE ON BIG QUESTION

County-Wide Petition Is Given Judge Wolfe This Morning

THREE TOWNS ARE ELIGIBLE

Poll Tax Meeting to Be Held Here Tonight

Tonight at 7:45 local people are urged to meet at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to plan the last-minute push to put over the "Pay Your Poll Tax" campaign. A report on progress of the last few weeks will be made.

Gray county will have a county seat removal election March 9, which will fall on Friday.

County Judge T. M. Wolfe called the election today on petition of more than 250 Gray county citizens. This petition has signers from the eastern, northern, and southwestern parts of the county.

Under state law any town away from the present county seat, located on a railroad acting as a common carrier is eligible to be designated as the county seat. In Gray county such places are Pampa, Alameda, and McLean, and it is likely that these names will appear on the ballot.

Sentiment in favor of removing the Gray county seat to a more appropriate place for county and district offices has been growing strongly along with the increase in official business due to oil development. The petition for removal asks that the state law providing for county-wide elections be invoked, and the county seat will be placed at the desired point by two-thirds of those voting.

EXTEND SEMINOLE PACT.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 30.—Greater Seminole oil field operators today agreed to extend the present shut-down rulings in that area until April 1. The Little River pool curtailment agreement was expected from this decision and the curtailment program will terminate on March 1.

Houston Man Is Burned When Gas in Room Ignites

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 30.—Although his brother attempted to save his life by carrying him from his home where his clothing had been set afire after he struck a match in a gas-filled room, Ed Harold McCain, 28, barber and former railroad employe, was burned to death here yesterday.

The dead man's brother, Z. R. McCain of Beaumont, was standing in an adjoining room when his brother returned home, he said at an inquest after which a verdict of death due to accidental burning had been returned.

"I heard a terrible explosion," Z. R. McCain said. "A sheet of flame burst through my door, and I jumped up and ran to Ed's room. He was standing there in the middle of the room completely enveloped in flames, and I rushed in and carried him out. His clothing, already burned half off, dropped to the floor as I reached the front door." Funeral services are to be held at Elkhart, Tex.

DAILY NEWS' 1928 PROGRAM FOR PAMPA

- One or more new railroads. New city hall-auditorium. County agricultural agent. Additional street paving. Oil Exchange building. Expedite road paving work. Encourage existing industries. Invite new industries. Complete water, sewer systems. More and better homes. Extend Pampa trade territory. Develop dairying industry. Municipal band. Municipal airport. Pampa Fair. Associated Charities. County home demonstration agent. High school gymnasium.

YOU'RE INVITED - Open house for prospective friends will be announced soon by "Iron Mike," who joined the Pampa Daily News staff yesterday.

The new "man" and his associate, Mr. Anderson, are cluttering up the house with wires, fuses, testers, tools and a lot of other mysteries best known to themselves, but in a day or so Mike will be working along under his nearly sound-proof cover, and a steady stream of neatly typed news will be the evidence of his efficiency.

Mike wants little attention, merely requiring stop and go signals, plenty of paper, and fresh typewriter ribbons. He is an alert fellow, signalling frantically to the editor when something good "breaks" in any part of the world.

Mike wants to meet all the local people, and will extend them an invitation in a few days to look him over. He wants a new building to house the big 8-column press which will be required to print his tremendous volume of news, and this big structure will be started as soon as legal details are completed.

Mike says you can bet on his newspaper as an organization that is going to keep always a good many jumps ahead of the progress of the Pampa it is doing its best to help build.

SCENIC - Amarillo people are talking a great deal about scenic drives along the Palo Duro canyon. The Amarillo News well suggests that it would be much better to make a state park out of the most beautiful part of the canyon, pointing out that the public will not get the greatest benefit possible as long as the land is privately owned.

The Palo Duro was approved for a state park a few years ago when members of the state park board made a tour of the state, but the state has not followed up its opportunity and many of the offers then made for park sites will not be repeated.

The canyon is all the more wonderful because of its setting in the level plains. Visitors marvel at its beauty, and many natives of this section have never seen its greatest depths.

There is much wonderful scenery within a day's automobile drive of the Panhandle. The Carlsbad cavern is becoming one of the best known points of interest, and there are many others.

In the Pampa vicinity, the oil industries, set in prairie and canyon, offer opportunities for many interesting drives. If the reader has not recently driven through the breaks of the South Pampa pools he should do so at once. The Bowers pool, for instance, is developing into one of the show places of this community. Drive through it and come back through the lower Wilcox pool and take a few strangers along. The result will be worth more than the trouble.

There is plenty nearby to see, if you have the energy to look and the eyes to see.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON - Post-ices for sale.

If there were any such, one might suppose that the Post-office Department would be advertising them. But there was nothing in the annual report of the postmaster general to indicate that any postmaster jobs had been sold during the year. Probably the omission was a correct one, because the proceeds from sale of post-masterships go into the pockets of politicians instead of into the department's receipts.

It remained for the Civil Service Commission, a non-partisan governmental establishment, to assert in its annual report that "in certain states appointment to local positions, such as postmasters, have been made by virtual purchase of the office through the guise of political contributions." The commission points out that there is a fine and imprisonment penalty for such offenses.

Certain members of the Republican national committee in the south, some of them negroes, have been accused of participating in the traffic in postmasterships.

Then the commission goes on to talk about women government workers, as follows: "Women in the government services are increasing both in numbers and the importance of their duties. Their advance is especially noticeable in the biological, economic and physical science branches, and in law.

"There are nearly 80,000 women employes in the executive civil service. Women probably fill more than half the positions for which men and women are equally suitable. Positions of letter carrier, railway postal clerk and mechanic . . . are illustrations of positions not suitable to women.

Since 1883 the commission has disclaimed any discrimination against women.

As if foreseeing the furore that would follow when prohibition officials learned that most of their agents had flunked the written mental examination, the commission presented a full explanation of the test by L. J. O'Rourke, its director of personnel research, in which it appears that experienced agents were actually given credit in ratings over those applicants who hadn't served in the prohibition service.

"All the material used in the written examination was closely related to prohibition work," says O'Rourke. The commission prepared a special examination in which the subject matter dealt entirely with prohibition work, and this test was used in preference to the tests of general adaptability already in use in other examinations. By trial tests, it was also proved that this test actually did measure general adaptability.

"Case items were designed to test the extent of the applicant's judgment in solving problems such as arise in prohibition work. The practicality of a test which measures reasoning ability is apparent when it is realized that a prohibition officer in the field must often rely upon his own judgment in handling important situations.

"Items designed to measure the applicant's ability to interpret orders on rulings were included, because the prohibition officer must base his action on his interpretation of orders and rulings issued by headquarters.

"Vocabulary items were included to test knowledge of the meaning of the words used in rules and regulations. Obviously, rules and regulations can not be correctly interpreted without a knowledge of the meaning of the words in the regulations. Previous studies, moreover, have indicated that vocabulary items have also a high value in selecting individuals of superior general intelligence." Pains were taken to make the examination such "as to make it evident that any person who fails to make a passing score does not possess the qualifications that would justify his being assigned to a position in the prohibition service."

GOOD NEWS OR BAD? WHICH CAN IT BE?

Newspaper Says Dempsey's Physician Forbids Bout

Eyes Declared to Be Injured—Rickard Is Informed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 30—Denying Chicago reports that Jack Dempsey had announced his retirement from the ring on account of eye trouble, Tex Rickard, New York boxing promoter, today told the Associated Press, "It's an old story."

"There's nothing to it," he declared.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 30—The Herald and Examiner in a copy-wrighted article today said that Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, has been forbidden by his physician ever to enter the ring again. The newspapers said the information was contained in a message received from Miami Beach, Fla., Dempsey having notified Tex Rickard, the promoter, who is there, of his decision.

The Dempsey telegram informed Rickard that Dempsey's eyes had gone back on him and that doctor's orders prohibited further fighting, the account added.

*The Herald and Examiner said it had been unable to corroborate the facts from Dempsey, efforts to locate him in California proving unavailing.

The newspaper's Miami Beach informant understood that as a result of the former champion's decision Rickard has finally abandoned hope of rematching Dempsey with Gene Tunney, titleholder, and is looking around for another challenger.

Hughey Jennings Is Now Near Death

(By Associated Press)

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 30—The condition of Hughey Jennings, famous baseball figure and former manager of Detroit, remained unchanged here today, attending physicians said.

Jennings, stricken with meningitis Saturday, lapsed into unconsciousness yesterday and little hope is held for his recovery.

Cotton Belt Wants to Start Buses; Citizens Protesting

(By Associated Press)

ALTO, Jan. 30—The first effort of a railroad in Texas to initiate motor bus service in place of train service came up for hearing here today before the State Railroad Commission, which can consider only the removal of trains without reference to any contracted substitution of buses, under a ruling of the Attorney-general.

Citizens from the various towns affected by the Cotton Belt railroads, application to discontinue passenger service between Tyler and Lufkin, and contract with a motor bus line to handle the business, gathered here, a mid-way point, to protest individually and through counsel. They claim the proposed substitute service would "be inadequate." The railroad wants to take off two daily passenger trains and then guarantee the public by an "interchange contract" with a motor bus line that the latter will take care of the traffic, on which the Cotton Belt claims to be losing money.

McNAMARA AS BUTLER

Ted McNamara starts out as an elegant butler in Fox Films, "The Gay Retreat," but he winds up just as he retreats, but he winds up just as he did in "What Price Glory," a mere private in the rear ranks—when in the ranks at all.

McNamara first attracted pictorial attention with his work in "Shore Leave" with Richard Barthelmess. This led to the part of Corporal Kyper in "What Price Glory" and incidentally to a long term contract with Fox Films.

In "The Gay Retreat," which is coming to the Crescent theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, he is cast as Ted McHiggins, who, with his old buddy, Sam Nosenblum, goes to France to keep their master's son from walking through No Man's Land in his sleep. This situation in which they find themselves are ridiculous at times, but exceedingly comical.

Sammy Cohen, who played with McNamara in the big War feature, is his buddy in this picture. Gene Cameron, Holmes Herbert, Judy King, Betty Francisco, Charles Gorman and "Jerry the Giant" are also included in the cast.

Ben Stoeff directed the production.

OLYMPIC TRACK TALENT GETS ADVANCE SHOWING AT MILLROSE CARNIVAL

Track and field stars entered in the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden, February 2, include Fred Alderman (left) intercollegiate quarter-mile champion and former Michigan State Captain; Herman Phillips (center inset), national title holder in the same event and ex-champion at Butler University; Foldwell Scull (upper inset) America's leading middle distance runner.

NEW YORK—The indoor track and field carnival of the Millrose Athletic Association, annually one of the most colorful fixtures of the winter season, will bring together a galaxy of internationally prominent stars on February 2 at Madison Square Garden.

The meet is virtually an advance showing of Olympic talent, for scores of veterans as well as youngsters hopeful of making the trip to Amsterdam in July are among the entrants. National and college champions stud the list of participants, with the West as well as the East well represented.

The unexpected filing of an entry by Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany gave heightened interest in the meet although his participation was conditional upon action of the Am-

Philadelphia Has Ambition to Land Speaker This Year

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30—Tris Speaker, baseball's Gray Eagle, will be a member of the Philadelphia Athletics next season, if—

If, in this instance, represents a sum of money, perhaps $5,000, maybe $10,000, but if Connie Mack, astute manager of the Athletics, and the sparkling center fielder can get together on the salary question local fandom regards it as good as settled that Speaker will roam in the Athletics' outer garden the coming season.

Mack makes no secret of the fact that he wants the veteran badly to round out his outfield now that Ty Cobb and Zach Wheat, members of the club last year, are gone. He tried to get Speaker last year but Tris had made a prior promise to the Washington club.

"I expect to be in touch with Speaker by Tuesday," Mack said today. "I leave for Florida Wednesday and I would like to sign him for the Athletics before I get away."

Speaker has accepted an invitation to attend the annual banquet of Philadelphia sports writers on Feb. 14 and, although Mack is warm on the trail, some of Tris' friends think he may hold off any definite decision until that time.

White Sox Sign Three Amateurs

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 30—Three promising amateur and Semi-pro pitchers were signed by the Chicago White Sox baseball club today.

They are Clifford Nelson, Hammond, Ind; Elmer Bray, University of Washington at Seattle, and Eulgio "Speed" Luque, from the Commercial league, San Francisco. Each is 21.

Further international flavor is given by the entry of two German walkers in the heel and toe feature. Canada's colors will be carried by several stars, among them Wallace Graham, the Canadian intercollegiate two-mile champion.

FRENCHMAN IS LATIN CHAMP

Paolino Scores Knock-out Over Chilean Rival

(By Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30—Paolino Uzudun, Basque woodchopper, today holds the heavyweight championship of Latin America, attained by the knockout route.

A relentless attack near the end of the third round by Uzudun felled his Chilean rival, Quintin Romero-Rojas, in their scheduled 15-round encounter yesterday and the Chilean was counted out.

The Basque had such a slight advantage in the first two rounds that the knockout came with a suddenness which surprised the spectators. Just before the volley of blows which surced the match, Romero put up his hands to guard his face. His body thus was left unprotected. Paolino pounded the Chilean below the heart with a shower of rights and lefts. Romero crumpled and sank, writhing to the canvas.

The Chilean was aggressive during the first two rounds and courageous to the end. The fighting was mostly at close quarters. Although Romero smashed several rights and lefts into Paolino's body, he seemed unable to do any damage.

Varner Has Finger Removed Sunday

Walter Varner, well-known boxer from Roxana, underwent an operation Sunday morning for the removal of a finger, which was badly mangled some months ago.

The boxer suffered a mangled hand while at work on an oil well, but physicians thought they could save the hand. In his recent bout with Fred Whittington, he injured the finger, which necessitated amputation.

It is not thought the removal of his finger will in any way interfere with his boxing.

McTigue to Try for Come-Back in His Lomski Fight

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Mike McTigue, veteran stalwart of the ring, starts his climb on "come-back road" against Leo Lomski, rugged Aberdeen, Wash., boxer, in a 10-round headline bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

McTigue is campaigning once more to regain the light heavyweight sceptre, now brandished by Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia. Several months ago, McTigue broke out with a statement that he had put away the leather gloves for keeps after a career of more than a dozen years but the lure of the roped arena has been too great.

The survivor Friday night has been promised a tussle with Jimmy Slatery, Buffalo lad, and the victor in the latter bout will eventually be matched against champion Loughran.

Pampa Five Will Play Sandies at Amarillo Tuesday

The Pampa Harvesters, high school basketball team will play the Amarillo Sandies in Amarillo tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. The local squad has been practicing hard and hopes to win.

Coach Dickey will probably start Maness, Stalls, Kahl, Walstead, and Saulsbury, who made a good showing in Borger Friday and Saturday. The Sandies have heard very little of the Pampa five, and as in the Panhandle gamethey expect a hard battle.

The boys will leave here early tomorrow afternoon by motor and return the same night. The two teams are oldtime rivals and a hot contest is expected. The local boys have been handicapped in their practices by having no inside gym, but nevertheless they have showed up well this season.

Large crowds have been attending the games in Amarillo, but a record crowd is expected tomorrow night to see these rivals clash. A number of Pampa enthusiasts plan to attend the game.

THE 'CANARY' MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE © Charles Scribner's Sons

CHARACTERS

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County.
MARGARET ODELL (The "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about town.
KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer.
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer.
DR. AMBROSE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist.
TONY SKELL, a professional burglar.
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator.
HARRY SPIVELLY, telephone operator.
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Vance's theory is that two unknown persons were in the "Canary's" apartment on that fatal evening: one locked in a clothes closet, the other the man who strangled Margaret Odell. The murder is the most baffling one Vance ever has encountered. In no way can they account for the presence of anyone in the girl's apartment. The door to the alley was bolted on the inside and the man who had gone out with Margaret Odell the night before had been the only one to be seen with her, and circumstances completely eliminated him.

Heath sought consolation in a new line of thought.

"Anyway," he submitted, "We know that the fancy fellow with the patent-leather pumps who called here last night at half past nine was probably Odell's lover, and was grafting on her."

"And in just what recidive way does that obvious fact help to roll the clouds away?" asked Vance. "Nearly every modern Delilah has an avareicious ameroso: It would be rather singular if there wasn't such a chap-in the offing, what?"

"That's all right, too," returned Heath, "But I'll tell you something, Mr. Vance, that maybe you don't know. The men that these girls lose their heads over are generally crook of some kind—professional criminals, you understand. That's why, knowing that this job was the mark of a professional, it don't leave me cold, as you might say, to learn that this fellow who was threatening Odell and grafting on her was the same one who was prowling around here last night. . . . And I'll say this, too: the description of him sounds a whole lot like the kind of high-class burglars that hang out at these swell all-night cafes."

"You're convinced, then," asked Vance mildly, "that this job, as you call it, was done by a professional criminal?"

Heath was almost contemptuous in his reply. "Didn't the guy wear gloves, and use a jimmy? It was a yeggman's job all right."

(Tuesday, Sept. 11: 11:45 a. m.)

Markham went to the window and stood, his hands behind him, looking down into the little paved rear yard. After several minutes he turned slowly.

"The situation, as I see it," he said, "boils down to this:—The Odell girl has an engagement for dinner and the theatre with a man of some distinction. He calls for her a little after seven, and they go out together. At eleven o'clock they return. He goes with her into her apartment and remains half an hour. . . . He leaves at half past eleven and asks the phone operator to call him a taxi. While he is waiting the girl screams and calls for help, and in response to his inquiries she tells him nothing is wrong and bids him go away. The taxi arrives, and he departs in it. Ten minutes later someone telephones her, and a man answers from her apartment. This morning she is found murdered, and the apartment ransacked."

He took a long draw on his cigar.

"Now, it is obvious that when she and her escort returned last night, there was another man in this place somewhere; and it is also obvious that the girl was alive after her escort had departed. Therefore, we must conclude that the man who was already in the apartment was the person who murdered her."

"This conclusion is further corroborated by Doctor Doremus' report that the crime occurred between eleven and twelve. But since her escort did not leave till half past eleven, and spoke with her after that time, we can put the actual hour of the murder as between half past eleven and midnight. . . . These are the inferable facts from the evidence thus far adduced."

"There's not much getting away from 'em," agreed Heath.

"At any rate, they're interestin'."

coming face to face with the operator, and we are, for the moment, confronted with an impasse."

Heath scratched his head and laughed mirthlessly.

"It don't make sense, does it, sir?"

"What about the next apart-

"You've demonstrated that no one could have entered or departed from this apartment last night. And yet it's not exactly tenable, d'ye see, that the lady strangled herself."

"The features of the situation revolving round these inferable facts are as follows: There was no one hiding in the apartment at seven o'clock—the hour the maid went home. Therefore, the murderer entered the apartment later."

"First, then, let us consider the side door. At six o'clock—an hour before the maid's departure—the janitor bolted it on the inside, and both operators disavow emphatically that they went near it. Moreover you Sergeant, found it bolted this morning. Hence, we may assume that the door was bolted on the inside all night, and that nobody could have entered that way. Consequently, we are driven to the inevitable alternative that the murderer entered by the front door."

"Now, let us consider this other means of entry. The phone operator who was on duty until ten o'clock last night asserts positively that the only person who entered the front door and passed down the main hall to this apartment was a man who rang the bell and, getting no answer, immediately walked out again. The other operator, who was on duty from ten o'clock until this morning, asserts with equal positiveness that no one entered the front door and passed the switchboard coming to this apartment."

"Add to all this the fact that every window on this floor is barred, and that no one from upstairs can descend into the main hall without ment?" asked Vance, "the one with the door facing the rear passageway—No. 2, I think?"

Heath turned to him patronizingly. "I looked into that first thing this morning. Apartment No. 2 occupied by a single woman; and I woke her up at eight o'clock and searched the place. Nothing there. Anyway, you have to walk past the switchboard to reach her apartment the same as you do to reach this one; and nobody called on her or left her apartment last night."

"What's more Jessup, who's a shrewd, sound lad, told me this woman is a quiet, ladylike, sort, and that she and Odell didn't even know each other."

"You're so thorough, ergeant!" murmured Vance.

"Of course," put in Markham, "it would have been possible for someone from the other apartment to have slipped in here behind the operator's back between seven and eleven, and then to have slipped back after the murder. But as Sergeant Heath's search this morning failed to uncover anyone, we can eliminate the possibility of our man having operated from that quarter."

"I dare say you're right," Vance indifferently admitted. "But it strikes me, Markham old dear, that your own affectin' recapitulation of the situation jolly well eliminates the possibility of your man's having operated from any quarter. . . . And yet he came in, garroted the unfortunate damsel and departed—eh, what? . . . It's a charmin' little problem. I wouldn't have missed it for worlds."

"It's uncanny," pronounced Markham gloomily.

"It's positively spiritualistic," amended Vance. "It has the caressin' odor of a seance. Really, y' know, I'm beginning to suspect that some medium was hovering in the vicinage last night, doing some rather tip-top materializations. . . . I say Markham, could you get an indictment against an ectoplasmic emanation?"

"It wasn't no spook that made those finger-prints," growled Heath, with surly truculence.

Markham halted his nervous pacing and regarded Vance irritably!

"Damn it! This is rank non-sense. The man got in some way, and he got out, too. There's something wrong somewhere. Either the maid is mistaken about someone being here when she left, or else one of those phone operators went to sleep and won't admit it."

"Or else one of 'em lying," supplemented Heath.

Vance shook his head. "The maid, I'd say, is eminently trustworthy. And if there was any doubt about anyone's having come in the front door unnoticed, the lads on the switchboard would, in the present circumstances, be only too eager to admit it. . . . No, Markham, you'll simply have to approach this affair from the astral plane, so to speak."

Markham grunted his distaste of Vance's jocularly.

"That line of investigation I leave to you with your metaphysical theories and esoteric hypotheses."

"But, consider," protested Vance banteringly. "You've proved conclusively—or, rather, you've demonstrated legally—that no one could have entered or departed from this apartment last night; and, as you've often told me, a court of law must decide all matters, not in accord with the known or suspected facts, but according to the evidence; and the evidence in this case would prove a sound alibi for every corporeal being extant. "And yet, it's not exactly tenable, d'ye see, that the lady strangled herself. If only it had been poison, what an exquisite and satisfyin' suicide case you'd have! . . . Most inconsiderate of her homicidal visitor not to have used arsenic instead of his hands!"

"Well, he strangled her," pronounced Heath. "Furthermore, I'll lay my money on the fellow who called her last night at half past nine and couldn't get in. He's the bird I want to talk to."

"Indeed?" Vance produced another cigaret. "I shouldn't say, to judge from our description of him, that his conversation would prove particularly fascinatin'."

DALLAS BOY, ONLY 2, KILLS HIS BROTHER
 (By Associated Press)
 DALLAS, Jan. 29.—Charles Brown, Jr., 3, who was killed instantly yesterday by his brother, Elton Lloyd, 2, as they played with their father's pistol, was to be buried here today. The older boy was killed when his brother, thinking he was playing with a toy pistol, pulled the trigger of his father's weapon. A bullet pierced Charles' lung, and he died instantly.

A TALK ON ELEPHANTS

"I WANT to give a little talk on elephants," said Mrs. Elephant, "for to my elephantine mind there is nothing so interesting."

"Elephants Are Smart and They Have Good Memories."

I think in those days that I would travel so much.

"I had no idea that I would see towns and towns and towns. Oh, the towns I have seen and the people I have seen! How many there have been."

"I have seen so many small boys and small girls, so many fathers and mothers, so many big sisters and so many big brothers."

"Also I have seen a good many medium-sized brothers and sisters."

"Now some people will often say something unfair of an animal family when they may have known only one member of that family. They may say that kind of an animal is cross and angry, or perhaps stupid. That always annoys me so."

"You've got to judge from the great number and not from one or two."

"It would not be fair if we saw one little girl who was a cry-baby to call all little girls cry-babies."

"And it would not be fair if we saw one little boy who was a bully to say all little boys are the same."

"So it is not true to say of animals that they are a certain way if one is judging from only one or two they have known."

"Now, elephants are smart and they have good memories. That is the truth. Sometimes they get very angry. They do not forgive injuries, but neither do they forget kindnesses."

"Sometimes we are very naughty. I remember one time I knocked over some wagons—nothing was in them—for the fun of the thing, and then I saw how distressed and sad my circus keeper looked."

"But I am so strong it is hard for me to realize that it is naughty to be playful with little things such as empty wagons! Very hard, indeed, for me to realize that."

"We do a great deal of work in India in loading and in hauling goods about, and here in the circus help load and unload."

"It is fun, too. We always know just what to do and we go about it without any waste of time or words or effort. We are very popular with the circus and if we're naughty once in a while our keeper understands."

"They say that our cousins in the zoo seem so smart to their keepers. The keepers say it is more wonderful for elephants to do all these smart things than for animals who have been with human beings all their lives."

"Our zoo cousins will close the doors leading into their yards if they are cold and they take hold of the hose when they want to drink (first they turn it on) and then they save themselves all the trouble of filling their trunks and then pouring the water down their throats."

"This way of the hose is so much more direct."

"But I was talking at first about my travels. And, of course, this is true of all of us."

"How we have gone through the different towns, seeing the people and having them gaze upon us!"

"How they have looked at us with wonder, and in every town it is the same."

"Some creatures may travel, but they aren't noticed in every place they go—if in any place. They may walk through the towns and no one will look at them the second time, but is an elephant looked at a second time?"

"Ah, yes, to be a traveled elephant is a great thing both for the elephant and for those who have seen the elephant!"

Mrs. Roosevelt Out of Harmony With Women's Organizations in Regard to Prohibition Viewpoint

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in charge of women's activities of the New York Democratic state committee, is out of sympathy with two Washington organizations—the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League and the Federation of Democratic Women.

A division with the law enforcement league was noted in letters exchanged between Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, the League's president, in which the New York woman declined an invitation to attend the organization's recent convention here. Another letter, made public in New York, expressed Mrs. Roosevelt's objection to the Federation's stand against legislation supported by the Children's bureau, and questioned its right to a title that implied that it "represents the overwhelming sentiment of the women of the Democratic party."

The letter to Mrs. Nicholson suggested that the League should change its title to "National Woman's Dry Enforcement League." Unless it is making as great an effort in behalf of the fourteenth and fifteenth, or voting amendments, as it is in support of the prohibition amendment.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she was personally "absolutely dry," but that she disagreed with those "who think this question of vital importance today." There seems, she added, a "great deal of muddled thinking, especially among certain women, as to how to maintain temperance."

In her reply Mrs. Nicholson expressed regret that Mrs. Roosevelt was following the "reactionary Republicans in dragging in the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments."

"We favor broadly law enforcement," she said of her organization, "with special emphasis on the Eighteenth amendment because its violation is just now peculiarly flagrant. Gov. Smith is opposed to the Eighteenth amendment and no denunciation by his adherents of alleged violations of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments will make respectable his contempt."

Miss Banks Will Sing "Rosary" Here in Two Languages

Miss Eva Munster Banks, also known in music circles as the "Night-ingale of the South," assisted by Margaret Harris, pianist; Ruth Abramson, reader; and Prof. Otto Schick, violinist, will feature the greatest musical treat Pampa has enjoyed Friday night in the high school auditorium commencing at 8 o'clock.

Miss Banks, who has been singing Professor Schick's latest compositions over the radio, is one of the most noted artists in the Southwest. She is a graduate of the Ursuline academy and other musical schools.

Miss Banks will sing "Sweetheart of Mine," and "Morning Glories Bloom for you," as well as "The Rosary," the latter in English and German.

Miss Harris and Miss Abramson are both talented artists, who have been featured in stage and radio programs.

TWO GIRLS COMMIT SUICIDE IN FACT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 30.—A few minutes after taking poison in a hotel room, Mrs. Ha B. Joiner, 18, Decatur, Texas, and Lillie Show, 17, Hobart, Oklahoma, collapsed in a downtown cafe shortly before noon today. Both died a few minutes after reaching a hospital.

Brooding over a convict husband and a disappointed love affair were given as the reason for the suicide pact by Mrs. W. R. Thomason, sister of Mrs. Joiner.

Threatened Dallas Girl Is Guarded at Home Today

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 30.—Following a second threatening message telephoned to the child within a week, Mary Lou Bills, 13, was carefully guarded at her home today and not allowed to go to school.

The second message was received Sunday from a man who said: "If you don't watch your step you will lose your life."

An earlier message ordered the girl to leave school and return to her home, because "something terrible" had happened. The girl told her teachers, and they called police who followed her home.

Detectives said they believed the second call was merely a school pupil's prank.

New Refugio Gas Field Is Wonder

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—O. R. Seagraves, president of the Houston Gulf Gas company reports that withdrawal from the eight new wells in the new Refugio field, averaging a volume of fifty to sixty million feet apiece, indicated discovery of the most prolific sands yet penetrated in the great southwestern area of Texas.

The company has twenty additional wells ready for completion to the lower sands on the 2,000 acres the company controls.

VILLANOVA, Pa., Jan. 30.—Swept by flames, which for a time threatened destruction of the entire institution, College hall, the main building of the Villanova college group, was a mass of ruins today.

Father Daniel Driscoll prosecutor, estimated the loss at $2,200,000, not including the personal belongings of 200 students, whose dormitories were on the second and third floors of college hall.

Villanova college is conducted by the Augustinian fathers. It has 1000 students.

28 Arrests Made During Week-End

Twenty-eight arrests were made Saturday night and yesterday by officers of the sheriff's department and constables, and charges of gambling, drunkenness and vagrancy placed.

A card and dice party was interrupted by the officers and 22 participants arrested late Saturday night. It was the biggest single haul the officers have made in some time. Sixteen fines were paid to Justice of the Peace I. S. Jameson yesterday and the rest were arraigned this morning.

Tulsa Woman May Seek Heart Balm

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—An eleventh hour cancellation of the proposed marriage of Miss Ann Livingston, 30, divorcee of Tulsa, Okla., and Franklin S. Hardinge, 51, millionaire Chicago manufacturer, last Saturday, may have its aftermath in court, attorney Emil G. Wetten, said, if a satisfactory settlement cannot be reached at a conference of lawyers today.

Unless Hardinge agrees to settle E. Wetten, attorney for Miss Livingston, said, a suit for heart balm would be filed.

Miss Livingston is broken-hearted and greatly humiliated, the attorney said. "Two diamond rings and a packet of love letters from Hardinge, are her only consolation."

The navy department was informed today that the S-3 was lost from the rest of the force at sunset Saturday about 100 miles south of Cape Hatteras and had not communicated with anyone up to 2 o'clock this morning.

Santa Fe Official Shot at Temple by Former Conductor

TEMPLE, Jan. 30.—K. S. Hull, about 55, division superintendent of the Santa Fe railway, was shot and killed here today at a downtown corner. Bill Henderson, about 50, former conductor of the same road, was seen to shoot himself just after Hull had fallen to the ground.

Henderson died soon after he had been taken to a hospital.

The shooting occurred in front of the Grace Presbyterian church while Hull was on his way from his home to his office. Hull was shot three times.

There was a heavy fog at the time of the shooting, and no witnesses saw the men before the shots were heard.

SAN ANGELO CHILD IS BURNED TO DEATH

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 30.—Vivian Cardiel, age six months, was burned to death in a fire that badly damaged the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cardiel, here today.

Mrs. Cardiel was at a grocery store when the fire broke out, and upon her return was met by a wall of flame from the room in which she had left the baby.

New York Mayor Quits Alcohol, and Improves Health

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Jan. 30.—Mayor James J. Walker has stopped drinking and his health has improved.

The Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reiser, pastor of Chelsea Methodist Episcopal church, said in a sermon yesterday: "Mayor Walker his generous way gave me permission on Friday to tell you: "I no longer drink champagne nor alcohol in any form, nor have I since last September. My health is very much better without it. Then, too, while I enjoyed the exhilarating high spots from alcoholic stimulants, the low spots of the next morning collected a heavy toll. I find it more agreeable, as well as healthier, to walk on the even pathway with no stimulant."

The New York World today says that Mayor Walker verified Dr. Reiser's statements and explained he had been on a diet which prohibits the use of alcohol in any form for more than four months. He said his meals usually consist of a little chicken and a cup of tea. He added that his physician has also forbade the use of coffee.
