Conference on New Railroad Is Held Today

Burlington Officials Call Citizens Into Session at Shamrock—Plans Nearing Completion

Droughts, depressions, panics, and the like have their compensating influences. Those places, like Pampa, which have no such depressions can make much of the fact.

Pampa may receive her post office or federal building much quicker than expected if President Hoover's plan to rush federal expenditures as a relief measure is carried out. Pampa is already on the list to receive a federal building in the next five or six years, but the city must stand in line and wait for an appropriation. The Hoover plan would speed up the granting of funds to cities ahead of us and would therefore take years off the time we must wait. The drought may be the means of our getting the desired building several years earlier than anticipated.

The president rightly declares that it is a waste of public funds to pay high lease costs throughout the country. The government should operate its own business economically, and at the same time keep out of private enterprises. There is no objection to building of structures for governmental purposes, though of course the federal offices should not be leased to private individuals.

Business houses by the score will close Friday from 2:30 to 5 o'clock during the first football game of the season. This is setting up precedents, but will be an expression of interest in and support of the Harvesters. This is a good means of starting the Class A season aright. The first Class A game will be played in Lubbock, but the game of Friday will be the season opener and will show the boys that the community expects them to put up a great fight in "big time." A fighting team begins a fighting team. "Show Fight for the Harvesters."

"We Build" is the slogan of Pampa's newest club, the Kiwanis. It is a good motto. Building can be both tangible and intangible. Friendships are sometimes called intangible, though they are very real to those who benefit by them. Hate is loss of energy, but friendship is something that makes men finer and happier. Most people have enough good qualities to endure them to many persons. First acquaintances are often deceiving, because people do not act their natural selves among strangers and those of greatest worth often hide their charm from those not their intimate friends.

Vermon's police department is handing out red tags to citizens who insist on attending all fires and heating fires in the places if possible. The tickets mean trips to the police station and payment of fines of $5 up. That is positive action, and of course those who are caught are howling. A little howling in this city wouldn't do any harm in this regard.

Last spring dandelions grew well in the city boulevards, and the Pampans offered to eat them if some one would cook the "greens." Now those same boulevards are prolific in "hog" weeds and we fully expect someone to suggest that we eat the weeds too. But we demur, and suggest the need for the well known hoe.

We would suggest a bit of cheering for the Pampa bowling team if we knew sure of this indoor sport, but we fear the well known "Roll Them Home" would hardly be appropriate.

The Arctic evidently has its limits—its automatic cabinizer is a boon for fearless explorers. Dat

Preliminary work on the Pampa-Childress railroad project is under discussion today at Shamrock, where citizens from cities and towns along the route are in session with officials of the Burlington or Fort Worth Denver Northern railroad.

From Pampa went George Briggs, manager of the Board of City Development, and J. N. Duncan, who testified in Washington before the I. C. C. in connection with the project. They were joined by E. A. Vance of LeFors.

Last night John A. Hulen, vice-president of the Fort Worth and Denver, Joe H. Barwise, general counsel, and other rail officials held a session with Childress citizens. All towns along the proposed 110-mile route were called to Shamrock today.

It is expected that an agreement between the Rock Island and Burlington systems for joint operation of the branch from Shamrock to Wellington will be reached within a few days as outlined by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This agreement is the only factor standing in the way of beginning actual construction work.

A. P. Briggs, locating engineer for the Burlington, has been in Childress for a fortnight setting up his office and assembling the engineering crew which will start surveying soon.

Early beginning of work and completion of the line is predicted. The first step will be securing of the necessary right-of-way.

Barbers Finish Course Given by Skilled Teacher

Among local barbers who have completed a course in barber science conducted here weekly since July 8 until August 25 are W. R. Barnett, Ed. O'Leighon, C. H. Brock, W. T. Burgess, Paul Rusk, J. D. Roe, J. M. Kenniman, and Charles Hayes.

The course was conducted here by Ed A. Rainey, an authorized teacher of barber science, member of the Associated Master Barbers of America and a beneficiary member of the Journeymen Barbers International union, according to local officials of the barbers' union. Mr. Rainey is a graduate of the University of Chicago school of barber science, and has been teaching barbers throughout the state. At present he is giving courses in Plainview, Lubbock, and Shamrock. His home is in Amarillo. Mr. Rainey has worked in Oklahoma as well as in Texas as an organizer of the Master Barber association.

Ten lessons composed the course which included chemistry, sanitation, electrical devices, scalp manipulation, osteology, the facial, muscles and nerves, anatomy of the hair and scalp, diseases, and success principles.

Certificates of registered barbers, in compliance with the law of August 18, have been placed in the barber shops here. A photograph of the barber to whom the certificate is issued is attached to the certificate, which are granted by the state board of barber examiners.

FUNERAL TIME SET

Funeral services of Ruby Fay Marcaurele, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Marcaurele, of Skellytown, who died Tuesday morning will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of the Malone Funeral home, the Rev. Todd, officiating. Burial will be in Pampa cemetery.

FRENCH AIRMEN SPEEDING TO DALLAS TODAY

Dallas Will Welcome Heroes In Texas Style

EASTERWOOD'S PRIZE IS READY

Spectators Moving By Thousands To Field

By The Associated Press

Speeding southwestward across the eastern half of the United States, France's two heroes of the Paris to New York flight were well into the second half of their nonstop $25,000 flight to Dallas this afternoon.

Coste and Bellonte passed the half way mark in their "Z" a little more than five hours after their takeoff from New York at 6:55 (E. S. T.) this morning and at 1:20 p. m. (E. S. T.), after six and a half hours of flight, they were reported over Owensboro, Ky., with about 950 miles of their 1,800 mile flight behind them.

Hitting west of the Alleghenies an even faster pace than the strike of 130 miles an hour to which they held on the first part of their journey, they seemed likely to complete the voyage in about eleven hours.

LOVE FIELD, DALLAS, Sept. 4 (AP)—Dallas was all set and waiting this afternoon to receive Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French fliers who hopped the Atlantic east to west, and now were hurrying towards Texas on the first non-stop flight from New York to this point.

Aviation fans and the citizenry generally from a wide area were converging here as early as noon seeking vantage places from which to view the landing of the new trail blazers, who, by adding Dallas to their brilliant Paris-to-New York achievement, will claim a $25,000 prize offered for such a feat by Colonel William E. Easterwood, Dallas chewing gum distributor.

A brisk wind blew from the south, whipping the flags of France and the United States on the hangars of the once war-time field but helping to alleviate the rather high temperature of the day. A thin layer of gray clouds hung over the sky, but the sun was trying to break through and there was no threat of rain.

Field officials carefully instructed a ground crew of at least 12 mechanics with reference to their duties when the squallions of the French aviators arrived. They were told to surround the plane quickly when it landed to protect it from an anticipated rush of thousands of spectators.

A large number of policemen were detailed to assist in maintaining order, and they were augmented by special guards of the aviation companies with offices at the field.

No unusual precautions against fire were taken, but the regular fire fighting agencies were held in readiness for emergency.

Reports that the "Z" would be overhauled at Love Field brought the explanation that a slight check-

Rotarians Will Give Dinner For Football Boys

Win or lose, the Pampa Central high school football squad will be guests of the Rotary club tomorrow evening at a dinner at the First Baptist church.

The dinner, to begin at 7 p. m., will be presided over by Frank Keim as chairman. There will be brief talks, but the lads will not be bored by a long program. Each Rotarian is asked to take a football boy to dinner.

It is expected that this event will mark the beginning of a series of dinners to be given the boys by civic clubs. Lions and Kiwanians have been advised of the plan, and they will have a few representatives at the dinner tomorrow.

MYERS PLANS TO DIRECT MUSIC CLASSIC IN CITY

Organization of the Pampa School of Music, with Mrs. May Foreman Carr as dean, was announced yesterday by Prof. Emil F. Myers of Amarillo, president of the Amarillo College of Music.

Mrs. Carr, who is already located here, is a teacher of piano and organ, a vocal coach, and accompanist of note. Location of the studios will be announced soon. Prof. Myers will come to this city to assist in operating the school and to teach voice, and he will be accompanied by John R. Cochran, violinist and head of the department of violin at the Amarillo school.

Mrs. Carr, Prof. Myers, and Mr. Cochran will give a concert at the First Methodist church on the evening of September 11.

While here Mr. Myers told The News that he planned to conduct Handel's "Messiah," famous oratorio, with a chorus of local singers this fall and to present the work near to view the landing of the new trail blazers, who, by adding Dallas to their brilliant Paris-to-New York achievement, will claim a $25,000 prize offered for such a feat by Colonel William E. Easterwood, Dallas chewing gum distributor.

Spur Eleven Sure To Test Strength Of Locals

Opening of Pampa Central high school's Class A football career tomorrow afternoon will take the form of a city-wide observance, with nearly all local business houses closing from 2:30 to 5 p. m. The game is due to start promptly at 3 o'clock.

The American Legion band will assemble at Horvester field at 2 o'clock, but the musicians will not be in uniform because some of them will go to the gridiron directly from their jobs.

All local girls who were ever members of the Green Jackets, pep squad of Central high, are asked to meet at the field at 2:15 p. m. Miss Ariess O'Keefe and Mrs. Jim Massa, the former Lucille Hill, faculty sponsors of the squad, will direct the cheer section, assisted by Miss Susie Bell Hickman, one of last year's yell leaders.

Some apprehension was felt in Harvester circles today when Captain Don Salsburg, giant fullback, went to bed with a severe cold. He is expected to be in playing condition tomorrow, however. The team was put through a stiff work-out yesterday afternoon.

Coach Mitchell said he would pick the starting line-up from the following: Backfield, Salsburg, Lard, Chastain, Martindale, Ends, Benton, and Moore. Tackles, Pafford and Jim Ayres. Guards, Reno, Schmidt, Freeman and Burch. Center, Poe. The coach warned that this starting line-up meant little, and that those selected should not assume that they will have to show real ability to remain in the game very long, he asserted. Some of the other lads are showing up practically as well as those chosen to open play.

Spur high school's eleven will arrive tonight. It will be as heavy or heavier than the locals. The Spur coach is Gene Taylor, former T. C. U. star. Taylor helped his brother at Post one year, then went to Spur last year and beat his brother out of a district championship.

The Harvesters expect no easy victory, but they are going to unleash more power, apparently, than any other local team in recent years.

Pampa Flying Club Members Working Hard to Prepare For Tests to Be Given Soon by Government Official

Members of the Pampa Flying club expecting the arrival of government officials soon, have made progress toward qualifying for the tests, six members of the club having already soloed. Half of the original membership of the club already had some hours of flying when the club was organized. M. D. Purdue, the newest member, now has six hours. Purdue joined the club one month ago.

Gus Irvin has the most hours of any of the nine fliers. Gus first soloed in 1926 at Love field, Dallas. He has had 234 hours in the air. J. A. Cliff is second in number of hours with 98. Hours of the other aviators are: C. S. Gordon, 24; C. H. Beer, 22; D. B. Furlington, 20; E. C. Hatfield, 18; Ray Sledge, 7; J. M. Ormsby, 3; M. D. Purdue, 6.

Pampa Landmark Is Being Razed

HUNDREDS IN ISLE PERISH IN DISASTER

Santo Domingo Will Need Help Of Red Cross

CAPITAL CITY IS LAID WASTE

Stories Of Horrors Begin To Reach World

By The Associated Press

Nine hundred persons were reported dead and injured today in the wreckage left in Santo Domingo by a hurricane which swept westward along the greater Antilles during the last twenty-four hours.

The capital of the Dominican Republic, a city of nearly 50,000 population, was laid to waste by the storm. Not until midday was communication restored with the stricken city when all-American cables improvised a station in the island city by which first details of the horror began to reach the world.

The wind mounted to 100 miles an hour during the climax of the hurricane. Leaving a trail of ruin and almost sinking the Porto Rico steamship Coamo, the storm lashed its way toward Cuba and the Florida Straits but, latest advices said, swerved sharply northward, apparently passing out to sea and sparing lands further to the west, including Cuba.

Government to Aid

Every agency of the United States government today was bent toward gauging the extent of the calamity and preparing for whatever relief measures might have to be taken.

Weather bureaus around the storm area watched closely for developments. Red Cross headquarters

PLANS ARE TAKING FORM FOR OFFICE STRUCTURE TO REPLACE OLD BAPTIST CHURCH BUILDING

Although definite plans have not been perfected for the proposed new office building at the corner of Russell and Kingsmill, site of the old First Baptist church, it is expected that details will be announced September 8. The old building must be razed by September 13.

Meanwhile, the work of salvaging the old landmark, continues. One of the first churches of Pampa and the finest church in the city at the time it was constructed, it is being torn down to make way for a new modern commercial structure.

The old First Baptist church was built in 1913 and cost $11,000. Between 1910 and the time the church was opened members of that denomination met in an old schoolhouse. T. W. Barker was the minister of the church when it was erected; however, he had several other churches in his charge, and did not live in Pampa. William Park, the second pastor, was the first minister of the church to live in the city. Rev. C. E. Lancaster was the third minister of the local First Baptist church, coming to Pampa in May, 1917. The church had been dedicated two years prior, however, it was not yet a finished building and under the pasteurship of the Rev. Lancaster the basement was completed, a heating plant installed, and sidewalks laid. Before 1917, heating had been supplied by large stoves in the building.

In 1921, Rev. Lancaster left Pampa and entered the Baptist Theological Seminary. He was succeeded by H. R. Whalley, who was here five years, leaving in 1926 to do extension work for Howard-Payne college. He was succeeded by Rev. F. A. Tippen.

When the citizens of Gray county voted to designate the oil city of the plains, Pampa, as the county seat, and moved the county's books and records from the old capital at LeFors, there was no courthouse available. The basement of the old church building became the seat of county government.

The new Baptist church was first opened on April 21, 1929. There are 640 members of this denomination. C. E. Lancaster was called to return to Pampa as minister.

The two first baptisms in the old Baptist church were: E. F. Young and Miss Ruby Henry; the latter now Mrs. Howard Logan.

Sheriff's Race Contest Expected Before Midnight

Indications were today that the recent race for sheriff of Gray county, in which Lon Blansett received 27 more votes than Jno. V. Andrews, would be contested.

If such develops, the contest will probably be through the county Democratic committee, of which Siler Faulkner is chairman. The procedure likely would be based upon affidavits alleging that certain votes were illegally cast. If enough of such votes were thrown out on one side, and none on the other, the election result could be overturned.

The time to contest the election expires tonight at midnight.

Body Is Identified

NEW MADRID, Mo., Sept. 4. (AP)—Francis D. Gray, 22, killed near here yesterday when a motor car in which he was riding was struck by a Cotton Belt train, today was identified as "Dick" Gray, star pitcher for the Springfield, Mo., Western association baseball team. W. S. Wells, driver of the car, who was seriously injured, was an outfielder for the Springfield team. The season closed Monday and Gray and Wells were en route to their homes in Chattanooga, Tenn.

ORCHESTRA TO PRACTICE

The Central high school orchestra will meet this evening for practice. It was announced by Pop Frasier, director, this morning. Practice will begin at 3 p. m. in the music cottage on the Central high school campus.

WASHINGTON.—In 18 years the United States will be so thickly dotted with little bronze markers, proclaiming the distance above or below sea level or the latitude and longitude, that no one will be able to get more than 25 miles away from one of them.

That will be one result of perhaps the most comprehensive geodetic survey ever made by any country in the world, which is about to be undertaken by the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The bronze markers will be disks about three and one-half inches in diameter and will be firmly planted in bed rock or in blocks of concrete. A $250 fine or imprisonment is the penalty for disturbing them. Some of them will be "bench marks" which is the term for markers recording the elevation and others will mark triangulation stations, announcing the exact latitude and longitude as fixed in the carrying out of the survey's method.

"Geodetic" comes from the noun "geodesy", which is a swell word for anybody's vocabulary and is the science and art of measuring parts of the earth's irregular surface by triangulation and astronomical observations. Geodesy includes determination of the magnitude and figure of the earth and is distinguished from ordinary surveying—which is concerned with limited tracts such as farms and counties for which the curvature of the earth need not be considered.

More accurate and comprehensive data on the physical makeup of the 3,000,000 square miles of continental United States is considered essential and the survey now has money from congress to begin its 18-year job. Some basic work already has been done.

Absolute accuracy in land measurement and location of given points with relation to the rest of the earth's surface will be achieved, for the government geodesists can measure long distances, even over the most rugged mountains, with a possible error of no more than one foot in 40 miles. From the control surveys which they will make will be established thousands of selected points for use as starting and checking points for local surveys. The geodetic survey will use the control surveys for its detailed topographic maps showing roads, swamps and so on. The elevations of the bench marks and the latitudes and longitudes of the triangulation markers will be adjusted into a rigid continental system in such a way as to compare with rivets in the framework of a great steel structure.

Revival Interest Grows—Neal Hits Hard in Sermons

The revival at the First Methodist church, conducted by Rev. Frank Neal, general evangelist, and the Clarendon district quartet, has taken on the likeness and features of an old-fashioned camp-meeting, as the people crowd the altar place, falling upon their knees and crying for mercy.

There have been a number of conversions during the last few services. Rev. Frank Neal, like the old prophets, cries aloud and spares not. He is fearless in his attacks on sin and his defense of the church and righteousness. Wednesday night he finished his series of sermons on personal evangelism, emphasizing the fact that Christians are co-laborers with God in the glorious task of saving human souls. "God has done all that an infinite God can do to save the lost souls of Pampa, and he must wait for some help from his disciples. He has always done his work through human agencies, and when the Lord moves a person to go and speak to some one, he may be sure that God is working on the other end of the line and preparing that person for the interview. It was true in the case of Ananias and Saul of Tarsus, and also in the case of Phillip and the Ethiopian." Neal cited many cases to prove this point. The people who are hearing him go away impressed with the fearlessness and straight-forwardness of his message. He is interesting because he is different, and yet he preaches the old-time gospel in the old-fashioned way, and expects people to seek the Lord in the good old way, and they are doing it.—Reporter.

Pampa Musicians Are Very Popular With Radio Fans

Declared to have been the best program of the week was that given by the Pampa Novelty Entertainers at the Own Your Own Home Exposition in Amarillo yesterday.

The entertainers, Prof. Vern Springer, Mrs. C. G. Thompson, and Mrs. Frank Keehn, gave two performances, using many instruments. The marimbaphone selections were especially popular. H. D. Jones of Pampa, father of Mrs. Keehn also contributed violin solos, using an Italian instrument 200 years old, the property of J. M. Garrett.

The local musicians have been invited to broadcast over WDAG during the week of the Tri-State fair.

H. L. Chandler of Amarillo was in Pampa Wednesday. W. F. Dean of Berger was a business visitor here Wednesday.

CHURCH WOMEN HOLD REGULAR MEETING WEDNESDAY

Enthusiasm For Season's Work Is Shown At First Autumn Gatherings; Social Hours Held After Business

Enthusiasm for this season's work was shown at the first autumn gatherings of several local church societies held Wednesday afternoon in the homes of members. Following the business sessions and devotionals brief social periods were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Mrs. R. Dirksen was co-hostess with Mrs. A. A. Hyde when members of the Presbyterian auxiliary met in the parlors of the church.

Mrs. White presided. Mrs. Jim White, president, presided for the meeting, which she opened by reading a portion of John 16. A song by the entire group was followed with a prayer by Mrs. Hyde and an interesting review and Bible lesson given by Mrs. George Briggs.

A dainty ice course was served at the close of the afternoon to Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. K. M. Bulter, Mrs. Tom Clayton, Mrs. J. E. Corson, Mrs. H. P. Lash, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. G. T. Mullen, Mrs. Dave Pope, Mrs. C. H. Todd, Mrs. J. E. Tucker, Mrs. Roy Vaughn, Mrs. Jim White, Mrs. Dick Walker, Mrs. L. H. Rodgers and Miss Blair, members, and Mrs. Deaton, Mrs. Quinn, Mrs. Pruitt and Mrs. Lumpkin, visitors. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Miss Jean Hyde, Miss Dorothy Mullen, and Miss Ann Clayton.

The auxiliary is to sponsor a lawn social for members and their families and friends to be held at the church September 10 at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Stannard hostess. Mrs. Alta Stannard was hostess to Division 5 of the Christian church council in her home, 430 Grace street.

Mrs. DeLea Vleas and Mrs. T. Martin rendered the program, and refreshments were served to two new members, one visitor and 17 old members.

Join In Entertaining. Mesdames Robert Gilchrist and Joe Mason joined in entertaining members of Division 2 of the Christian council in the Gilchrist home. Those present were Mrs. Joe Berry, Mrs. Homer Blankenship, Mrs. Ivy E. Duncan, Mrs. Hugh Isbell, Mrs. Lee Ledrick, Mrs. H. D. Lewis, Mrs. W. A. Willson, and the hostess.

Mrs. Lewis, group leader, presided for the business session, and it was decided to hold a meeting in Mrs. Duncan's home next week to make a quilt for which Mrs. Duncan has donated the top. The quilt will be given the Christian Charity League.

Program Is Given. Following a scripture selection read by Mrs. Willson, the lesson was taught by Mrs. Blankenship, and talks were made by Mesdames Lewis and Ledrick.

A song and prayer closed the program, and refreshments were served during the informal social period which followed.

Division 4 Meets. Division 4 of the Christian council met with Mrs. Archie Cole at her home in the Cook Adams addition. Mrs. Cole opened the meeting with a devotional and Mrs. R. W. Mitchell presided for the business session.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. C. W. Masters, Mrs. E. B. Gober, Mrs. Roy J. Wilson, Mrs. Earl Sanders, Mrs. H. J. Lippold, Mrs. W. S. Moore, Mrs. Harvey Anderson, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Ledford, Mrs. Fancie and Mrs. Coleman.

Episcopal Group Meets. The first meeting of the Episcopal Auxiliary since June 19 was held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Wm. Craven. Mrs. Craven opened the meeting by reading the Bible-lesson, beginning Acts 1:14, and a prayer and business session followed.

United Thank Offering Blue Boxes are to be collected October 1, with their increases at the next turn the dollars recently given them and members are requested to re-membering.

New Members Welcomed. New members welcomed were Mrs. W. B. Kiser and Mrs. S. V. Thornton, while old members attending were Mrs. J. E. Morgan, Mrs. M. K. Brown, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. S. G. Surratt, Mrs. E. T. Autry, Mrs. William Cravens, Mrs. E. H. Hamblin, Mrs. E. A. Palmer, Mrs. Frank Perry, and Mrs. Henry Thut, Sr. One visitor, Mrs. A. J. Edwards, of Okla., also was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nutter of Berger were among the visitors from out of town to the horse show Monday.

Mrs. Adele Adams of Coleman, is visiting the Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Lanoster, 121 West street. She is considering organizing a piano class here.

Ralph R. Thomas made a business trip to McLean Wednesday.

FEMINE FANCIES

Today's fancy is popularity. Girls, whether you are long or short, fat or thin, light or dark, you can be popular. Yes sir, the Aladdin Ziegfeld, tells you so himself in recent magazine articles. Folks, if there is an authority on such a question in the world it is this famous producer, for he owes his fame to the fact that he can develop personalities that will demand popularity. One encouraging article appearing in a film magazine quoted Ziegfeld as glorifying the "average girl." The majority of the girls in his Follies, it seems, are not distinctive types as might be expected, but just average girls of medium size, and with hair and eyes of medium coloring. The charms of this kind of girl often are overlooked, due to the fact that they are found in possibly every village, town and city in America, yet Ziegfeld believes they have unlimited possibilities.

And here is just what you are looking for, a set of essential qualities for popularity given by Ziegfeld and published in Psychology: "A radiant personality, the cultivation of talent and varied interests, the proper selection of clothes and colors the skillful use of cosmetics and vibrant health."

"But there are other points," he explains, "that must be considered by the girl who wants to insure her popularity. Briefly they are:

"Do not use slang, avoid vulgarity. Be careful in your choice of English. Speak in a well-modulated voice. Learn to keep a secret. Avoid gossip and slander. If you cannot say something good about people, say nothing at all. Be appreciative of others' good points."

"A nimble sense of humor is a valued asset, but it can be a liability if it is used at the expense of others. Ignore the unpleasant. Be tactful. Do not argue or criticize. Take care of your body. Physical cleanliness and daintiness are indeed of the utmost importance."

Personality, one of the main requisites to popularity, is explained at length by the producer. "It is what we give ourselves," he says, "that makes personality, the expression of good will, of love, of faith, and sympathy."

"To be popular, one must uproot jealousy, envy, fear, bigotry, egotism, selfishness and all other negative emotions that tend to thwart the growth of personality. One must cultivate instead a brighter, happier attitude toward people and toward life. The girl who is thoughtful of the feelings of others, who is able to see their point of view, and whose unselfishness is such that it always considers the pleasure and comfort of others, will begin to build a rich personality."

Again he said, "Radiate love and cheer, take zest and joy in living, be mentally happy, and," he paused, "keeping smiling."

And in another paragraph: "A girl whose features are not pretty, but who has a vivid personality, can overshadow her more beautiful but colorless sister. If in addition such a girl cultivates the ability to do at least one thing very well, then she has an unbeatable combination. The girl who excels in some sport, or who dances divinely, or has a lovely voice, or who wears clothes well, or does any one thing better than the next person, will be in demand."

I dare not express an opinion today myself. I merely read with entire satisfaction this wise counsel and believe it to be complete.

So as the curtain is drawn today, let me urge that you study with me these teachings of a great and interesting producer, who has practiced them in his profession and found them to be good. Certainly, they merit our trial.

The Hollywood Story

COPYRIGHT 1930

by NEA SERVICE Inc.

by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Through a letter that he received from a friend in New York, DAN ROBINER, Hollywood scenario writer and former New York newspaper man, meets ANNE WINTER, who has come from Tulsa, Okla., to try to get extra work in the movies.

Dan finds her charming and takes a deep interest in her. She learns from him that he works at Continental Pictures, and she gathers that he is not quite satisfied with conditions there. She has worked only one day as an extra herself, having been there but a short time, but a few days after their meeting she gets extra work at Grand United.

Her first day there she meets a girl named MONA MORRISON, and immediately likes her. Mona is living in an apartment with EVA HARLEY, and Anne lives alone, and Mona suggests that the three occupy a bungalow that she and Eva have seen.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII

Anne Winter had moved and was now living with Mona Morrison and Eva Harley in the little furnished bungalow on the western fringe of Hollywood. It was a modest place of pale-green stucco, but it was cheerful and well-lighted and "homey"; and Dan Robiner, contrasting it with Anne's former quarters, could well understand her enthusiasm for the change.

"A place to live in," Anne said, "rather than mere storage for one's body and one's belongings." And she had added: "Even if it is too close to the tracks to be fashionable, it's a home at least; which is more than I could say for one room and a kitchen."

Mona won Robiner's liking instantly. She was as vivid as her flaming hair, which was curly and bobbed, and she didn't look a day over 19, and she was slightly tough in a pleasant, boyish way that he found altogether delightful. She was considerably shorter than Anne, and more rounded, and Dan suspected that Mona might occasionally have to pay careful attention to her diet. He discovered before he had known her more than a few minutes that she was quite a tease and that she seemed to take keen delight in plaguing her friends and receiving their banter in return.

Eva Harley he liked, too, but with reservations. She had been neither cordial nor unfriendly in her greeting, but after a brief smile and a murmured commonplace or two had quietly withdrawn from the conversation, and Dan sensed a guarded air about her that left him a little ill at ease in her presence.

She was a striking looking person, though—tall and slender and lithe of figure, and languorous of motion—and crowned almost spectacularly with abundant pale-gold hair. Gorgeous looking, Robiner thought, at the same time remarking that her mouth was just a little too wide and thin of lip to be beautiful; her cheek bones a trifle high, and marring the oval contour of her face. And he judged that she was older than the other two girls.

Anne had said, "Eva's just a little uncommunicative and mysterious, but I like her—she minds her own business, and that's saying a great deal."

"It is," Dan agreed, "for a girl." "Well, you needn't be uncomplimentary," she said with a grimace, and Dan grinned. "Where is she from?" he asked. "Somewhere down south, with that drawl. You can't fool a Tennesseean."

"Eva comes from New Orleans," Anne informed him. "Mona says she has been in Hollywood almost three years."

"Doing extra work?"

Anne hesitated a little. "Eva has not been very busy," she said. "Mona tells me she sometimes models clothes in one of the Los Angeles department stores. She has a beautiful figure."

Rorimer thought: "Yes, but there is something just a little wrong about her. She's—she's hard to figure." And he had the strange thought that Eva Harley ought to have a foreign name and speak broken English, and this, somehow, would make her less difficult of explanation.

He thought: "There's something about her voice; something—disappointing." It ought to be, he felt, low and vibrant, like a lowstrung guitar; and it was unexpectedly high and wrongly keyed, and in disharmony with her personality.

Dan had gone over to the bungalow one evening to call on Anne. It was shortly after their removal, and he found the girls busy with some new pale-green curtains which Anne had had that day bought for the kitchen. And it was that evening that he asked Anne about Eva; but first he had been put to work hanging curtains.

It was Mona who opened the door for him, and she said, "Anne, it's the boy friend from New York." She said, "Come in, and wipe off your feet and take off your hat; the butler is off duty this evening. My goodness, you're all shamed up this evening, aren't you?"

Rorimer said, "Pipe down, nuisance!" and followed her in. "Good evening, Miss Harley," he said to Eva, and held out his hand; and the girl smiled as she took it and said, "Good evening, Mr. Rorimer," and bade him welcome.

"You're just in time to do some interior decorating," Mona Morrison told him. "Take off your coat if your suspenders don't show, and come out in the kitchen. . . . What does he wear, Anne—suspenders or a belt?"

"How should I know?" Anne asked with a laugh.

"Well, you've known him almost two weeks, haven't you?"

Dan said, "Suspenders, Redhead—but the better shops call them braces."

"Yeah? Well, down on the farm we call 'em galluses. Did you know I was born on a farm, Dan?"

"You've never seen a cow in your life."

"Say, I've milked more cows than you've ever seen. That's right; I was raised on a farm down near Urbana, Illinois. And then the little gal went to the big city."

"Chicago? Do you call that a big city?"

Mona tossed her red head in disdain. "Just another fresh New Yorker," she said.

"How's the job coming?" Dan asked.

Mona said, "All washed up; I was through today. Anne's still working, though. Isn't that great?"

Dan thought: "And she really means it, too. She gets as big a kick out of Anne's good fortune as if it were her own."

Mona went on to say that she considered herself lucky. "Nine straight days of work is pretty hot for little Mona." And in a lower voice that only Dan could hear, for he had followed her out to the kitchen, she added: "Keep your eye on Anne. I wouldn't be surprised if she got a break."

Rorimer felt a swift elation; at the same time, though, he was aware that he was struggling with a vague sense of uneasiness, and with a question on his lips he hesitated.

But Mona informed him in a thrilled undertone: "Garry Sloan noticed her today; he picked her out of the crowd and talked with her. And Anne's so excited she doesn't know whether it's Thursday or Sunday. Gosh, I don't blame her! Imagine what Sloan

He found the girls busy with some new pale-green curtains which Anne had that day bought for the kitchen.

Anne and Eva came in then, and Mona said nothing more about Sloan; but the matter sat on Dan's mind, and it remained there beneath the light banter he and Mona exchanged while he hung the curtains.

Later on he suggested to Anne that they go to a movie, and he named a picture that Anne had said she wished she might see; but she pleaded tiredness and an eight o'clock call at the studio, and Dan, remarking her preoccupation and feeling curiously unwanted, said that perhaps he had better run along.

But Anne looked up quickly at his tone, and her eyes reproved him. "You're a dear, Dan," she said. "Please don't mind if I don't feel like doing anything, will you?"

Dan felt a little cheap. He thought: "After all, she came out to Hollywood to get into pictures; not to go running around at night with anybody who comes along."

He thought: "What a big chump I am to complain because she insists on getting sufficient sleep before a hard day's work!"

So, he remained a while, and Mona suggested cheerfully that they have sandwiches and coffee, and went out to the kitchen.

Eva rose with a faint smile and said, "You'd better let me help you, Mona," and followed her out.

Anne turned to Robiner with a little laugh. "Mona," she explained, "is almost useless in a kitchen. She cuts the bread too thick for sandwiches, and she doesn't know the first thing about making coffee."

Eva, she said, was different. "She's very capable."

Dan said, "Looking at Eva, you'd hardly think she was domestically inclined," and he expressed some curiosity about her, and for some minutes he and Anne talked in low tones about the two girls whom they could hear moving about the kitchen.

"They're dears—both of them," Anne said after a short silence.

"But a strange pair to be such good friends," Dan remarked.

Anne agreed. "Perhaps that's why they get along so well—they're so utterly different. Mona's so blithe and gay, and Eva . . ."

She paused, and Dan said, "Eva gives one the impression that she hasn't found very much to be happy about. Do you suppose it's because she's disappointed in not doing well in the movie?"

"I think there may be something else, too," said Anne, and Dan felt that she didn't care to discuss the subject further.

"Mona tells me," he said presently, "that big things may be in store for you. Here's hoping, Anne."

At the same time, though, he knew a feeling of injustice that Garry Sloan could do so much for her without half trying, while he, who wished so greatly for her success, could do nothing.

JAPANESE IS SILENT AND CONFIDENT AS MATCH NEARS

CLINGMAN TO MEET MIGHTY MAN TONIGHT

Prof. Tisura Higami, Japanese wrestling genius, arrived yesterday for his match with Otis Clingman, Pampa idol, at the Pla-Mor tonight. Advance ticket sales indicate that a big crowd will see the opening match event of the season.

Clingman, accustomed to being called hard names by his opponents, was worried today by the continued silence of the Oriental professor. Otis had one consolation—the match will be conducted in the good old American style, with Doc Denebeim exercising whatever supervision is necessary to prevent murder and mayhem.

Higami, superbly conditioned and confident of his ability, showed a contempt for advice and stated that he would meet Clingman's well known strength and resourcefulness in his own way. The Oriental comes here with a recent string of victories, and his confidence may not be illogical.

Fans, however, are always pulling for a favorite who seldom loses. Clingman is out to build up a reputation which will give him a chance for the middleweight title, and he knows that he must meet and defeat good men. "No set-ups for me this season," Clingman said in announcing the ambition he holds. "They have got to give me good men to meet or none. A hard defeat does a wrestler more good than an easy victory."

Higami will weigh about 158 pounds, only two less than Clingman. In the semi-final, Rob Roy will meet Billy Hallas in the blood and thunder match of the evening. Roy will make up with brawn what he lacks in experience, and he is a smart lad who remembers tricks readily.

The preliminaries will start at 8:30 p. m.

He Will Say It With Holds

Arriving here last night, Prof. Tisura Higami, who is to wrestle Otis Clingman at the Pla-Mor tonight, persisted in his silence and would only say that his performance would make up for whatever lack of volubility he possesses.

Birmingham Is Gaining On Leaders

ATLANTA, Sept. 4. (AP)—The champion Birmingham club gained a game and a half on the two leading clubs of the Southern association yesterday and were standing only a game behind New Orleans today for second position.

Outfitting the Mobile Bears 18 to 8 in the opening game, the Barons were easy victors 10 to 4 in the nightcap they had to stretch six hits into nine runs to get a nine to one count.

Both the Chicks and the Pelicans faced formidable pitchers yesterday with batters of each team being able to hit only three safeties. Hearn was the cause of the downfall of the Pelicans as Atlanta went through to a 1 to 0 win and Carlos Moore also led the Chattanooga Lookouts to a nose-out with the Chicks by the same method, the score being 3 to 2.

Piling up 13 hits behind the clever pitching of Hughes, Little Rock smothered Nashville last night 7 to 1. The Vols were held to three hits.

American Boats Have Big Lead

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 4. (AP)—With the American six-meter yacht team literally sweeping the seas of a quartet of boats representing Great Britain for three successive days, the United States holds a commanding lead in the battle for the British-American cup.

The American yachts finished first third, fourth and eighth yesterday, outscoring their English opponents 20 1-4 to 16 points and increasing their advantage for the series to 60 3-4 as against 40 for the British. The fourth race will be sailed today.

PANTHERS TO MEET SPUDS IN PLAY-OFF

By The Associated Press. It rained last night in Shreveport and washed the Fort Worth Panthers right into the second half championship of the Texas league.

Unable to play their final fray with the Sports, the Snydermen automatically clinched the right to meet Wichita Falls, first half titlists, in a play-off for the 1930 crown. They were four and one-half games ahead of the Spuds with only four left to play. A little simple arithmetic reveals that the Kittens could drop all four tussles at Spudville and finish a half-game to the good.

A suggestion that the final series between the first and second half champs be cancelled was vetoed by President Alvin Gardner. Under the circumstances, the two clubs were expected to take it more or less easy the next four afternoons, using reserve losers and saving their team for the all-important five-game play-off. Neither would have anything to gain by winning, except, possibly, the moral effect.

The Spudlers didn't relinquish their second half claims without a struggle. Believing they still had a chance to tie the cats, they polished off the Dallas Steers, 8 to 2, in their final meeting of the year. The veteran Milt Steengraf gave warning he was in fine fettle for the saw-off by limiting the Mavs to four hits, two of which were homers by Willingham and Gene Moore that deprived him of a shutout.

In the only other battle of the night, San Antonio downed the Waco Cubs, 10 to 5, to open their closing series. Joe Moore's triple and doubles by Hamilton and Cooper featured the big frame.

McCarthy Says Crucial Week of Campaign Here

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4. (AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs, an exceptional baseball prognosticator, believes this week will tell the tale of the 1930 National league pennant race.

"The Giants are playing Boston and they usually slaughter 'em," the Cubs chief said as he delved into the future of the race. "The Reds have been set-ups for the Cardinals of late, so we cannot figure on any help from those sectors. It is up to us to help ourselves and the Pirates are always tough, particularly down the home stretch. This is the crucial week of the race."

"No Medicine Ever Helped As Did Konjola"

Stubborn and Painful Stomach Ailment Readily Yields to Power of Famed Compound

MRS. EDNA BARNETT "Each day for a year I was in misery," said Mrs. Edna Barnett, 713 North Pearl street, Dallas. "My system had become weak and run down from indigestion. Food failed of digestion and I had a constant burning sensation in my throat and stomach. Gas formed and I often belched violently. My nerves were up set and little things upset me terribly. I did not sleep well at night."

"The number of local people getting results attracted my attention to Konjola. I noticed a change for the better in my condition after I had taken the first bottle. I have taken four bottles to date and my health is again normal. I eat what I wish without a trace of indigestion or bloating. My nervous condition is much relieved and I sleep well at night. No medicine ever help as did Konjola."

"The files of Konjola contain thousands of such statements. It is recommended, however, that this medicine be given a thorough trial, in the average case over a six to eight week period. Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Hack Sticks To Straw. PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4. (AP)—When Hack Wilson's straw hat comes off to stay off this season, the National league pennant race will be history.

"The pudgy Cub home run hitter today defied convention and his teammates to knock the hay bonnet off."

"It stays on my dome until the race is over," Hack said.

Nearly two trillion cubic feet of natural gas was produced and distributed to consumers in the United States in 1929.

MOST FRUIT, VEGETABLE CROPS HOLD UP DESPITE DROUGHT; APPLES, POTATOES LOW

Post-drought figures compiled by the department of agriculture indicate better than average supply of most fruits, nuts and vegetables. Base line in graph marks zero represents average production, and 1930 crops that indicate a better than average production are shown above line, with per cent of increase. Crops for which less than average production is in prospect are shown below.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. (AP)—Al Jolson, comedian, who was said to have made a "killing" playing the races this season, once again is a horse owner. He bought Kildare from C. W. Leonard of the Newmarket stable yesterday at Belmont park for $10,000.

GIANTS FAIL TO ACT WHEN THEY SHOULD

BY HUGH S. FULERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer. If the New York Giants fall in their attempt to pre-empt the Chicago Cubs in the hectic race for the National league pennant, their failure can be attributed in a large measure to their inability to take the chances offered them. The Giants have had several fine opportunities in the past week or two to gain ground while the Cubs have been playing only 500 ball, winning ten games and losing as many, but the Giants have been too small.

GIANTS FAIL TO ACT WHEN THEY SHOULD

A great chance came the way of the Giants yesterday as they engaged the Boston Braves in a doubleheader while the Cubs were taking a 9 to 6 beating from Pittsburgh's up-and-coming Pirates but the total gain for New York was a half game. The Giants won the first game with difficulty, 5 to 3, and lost the second 11 to 7.

The result of the day's action left New York 3 1-3 games back of the Cubs while Brooklyn and St. Louis, which had no games scheduled, gained just as much ground, finishing 4 1-3 and 5 4-3 games behind first place respectively.

Brownbilt Store Will Have Formal Opening Friday

The Pampa Brownbilt Shoe store, located at the southwest corner of the intersection of Kingsmill avenue and Cuyler street, will have its formal opening tomorrow and Saturday according to Joseph E. Lazarus, manager and owner.

A feature of the new store is the children's department, which has a "soo" setting in which the youngsters are much interested in the lions, elephants, tigers, and other animals displayed.

The ladies' shoe department occupies nearly half the space. Large wall mirrors, one of venetian type, are used, and there are floor mirrors of latest installation. The men's department is on the opposite side.

Polo Teams Ready

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. (AP)—With their test matches a matter of history, the United States and Great Britain polo teams today had only to await the call that will send them into action Saturday at Meadowbrook in the first of the series of International matches.

Just who will ride forth in the initial encounter is more or less of a conjecture and probably will be until the eve of the opening skirmish, when Capt. Tommy Hitchcock of the American team and Capt. C. H. Tremayne, non-playing leader of the invaders, announce their lineups.

Misses Dee and Otis Farnell of Whiteoak, are visiting in Pampa as the guests of Miss Bernice Laska, 518 N. Faulkner street.
