

NEGRO SLAYS MAN AT HOUSTON

PRORATION, UNDER FIRE IN TEXAS, SHOWS RESULTS MANY WHO CAST VOTES NOW CHALLENGED ARE NOT FOUND

Fighting Town—PAMPA—Fighting Team.

Roll of honor: Moore, Schmidt, Bend, Poe, Pafford, Burch, Kennedy, Chastain, Martindale, Lard, Sausbury, Barnett, Kahl, the coaches, students and faculty, citizens.

Pampa as a city answered magnificently the call for boosters to attend the Lubbock game. More than 600 did so, mostly by special train. A victory over Class A favorites seemed too much to hope for by District 1's huskiest infant—but the Harvesters completely filled the day's cup of joy.

It is, not time, however, to get over-confident and to "let down"—not while Amarillo is yet to be whipped. The game on October 11 will be "the" game as far as this city is concerned. Traditions are concerned, and rivalries are involved. Amarillo can't win the game by announcing over her radio that the Lubbock game was played under protest. Central high school investigation of every man who played in the Lubbock game, and all questions will be answered as fast as they arise. Every Class A school is exchanging records with other schools, and where it appears that all data has not been cleared up about a player, such expressions of opinion are given. Pampa, and presumably the other schools, are not laying man about whom there remain any questions. Jim Ayres, under a new ten-senator limitation which dates from the day of school enrollment irrespective of being out of school an intervening year, is not eligible for further competition. He was not suited out Friday; he has not participated in any conference game. Talk of playing the game under protest is sheer nonsense.

Pampa is a red-hot "football town." You couldn't talk business Saturday until the football fever subsided. And for once the bleachers coaches seemed pretty well satisfied with the conduct of the home team.

"Breaks" played their part, but it takes brains and stamina to play for them. . . . The thick turf, in contrast to the hard Pampa grid-iron, slowed up the interference and hampered the crisp-cross plays. If Pampa is to play on such turf, we must have some of it at home.

Scores of letters will likely be written to Lubbock citizens who were such good sorts and who extended the glad-hand. Mayor Jerry Clements set a good example for his people. A nice gesture of good will was made when the girls' pep squads exchanged cheer leaders for a few minutes.

The famous "long count" of the Dempsey-Tunney fight had its counterpart when the time keeper tolled off the longest 4 minutes in the memory of Pampa fans. The collective high temperatures in the Pampa sector of the crowd of 4,000 would have doubtless generated many horsepower during that hectic space of passes, substitutions, and times out.

"Did you notice that handwriting on the wall out there this afternoon?" The Pampans asked. Was it any of the Amarillo Globe-News at the inevitable post-game of sports writers after the game. Was pruned, and then remarked that Pampa had shown gross ingratitude in bumping off the district's favorite in her baptismal clash. Amarillo has two weeks to meet Lubbock's conquerors, and then must prepare to travel to Lubbock to meet the Westerners in a game that will not be easy.

SUMMONS BY SHERIFF NOT YET SERVED

Question of Identity Is Latest of Puzzles

UNCERTAINTY IS STILL OBVIOUS

Testimony to Begin Here Monday Morning

A large number of persons who voted at the LeFors box in the run-off primary could not be located yesterday by county officers armed with subpoenas summoning the voters to appear at the hearing on the contested sheriff's election, which will be continued in 31st district court tomorrow before Judge W. B. Ewing.

Inspection of the ballots last week revealed that several voters cast two ballots each. Both Jno. V. Andrews, contestant, and Lon L. Blanscet, contestee, charge that persons voted under assumed names and without having paid their poll taxes. Officers searched in vain for a score of persons at LeFors who cast ballots in the election. They declared that the missing persons either never existed or else left this section when the election was contested.

Out of the 2,973 votes cast in the second primary, it was estimated that about 500 were challenged. Each side questioned the legality of about 250 votes. Testimony intended to prove their validity or illegality is scheduled to be introduced in court Monday morning.

The contestant's witnesses will take the stand first. Judge Ewing will rule on the validity of each questioned vote. About 75 votes in the LeFors box were challenged.

School Boy Is Killed By Auto

EASTLAND, Sept. 27. (AP)—Billy Edwards, 10, Olden school boy, was injured fatally today when struck by an automobile on the Bankhead highway in front of his home. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Edwards of Olden. Lee Holland, Dallas traveling salesman, who was driving the automobile, swerved his car in a vain attempt to avoid striking the boy and in doing so drove the automobile into a ditch.

AIRPLANE RIDES TO BE GIVEN BOYS HERE

Thirteen high school boys, and their coaches, members of the team that played Lubbock Friday, will be treated to airplane rides at the municipal airport this afternoon at 3 o'clock, it has been announced by Gus Irvin, of the Pampa Flying club. Should any of the players not be able to be at the air port at the time announced for today, they will be permitted to have their rides later. Gus Irvin will pilot the Pampa Flying club's American Eagle plane which will be used on the flights. The pilot will take two boys up at a time, the plane being a three place type.

"Yes, it's been kind of quiet around the airport this week," said Gus, but on being questioned a bit more he said that all but two members of the Pampa Flying club had soloed. Ray Sledge is the latest member of the club to solo, he having made his initial lone flight, Tuesday morning. M. D. Purdue and J. M. Ornsby are the two members who have not yet soloed. Gus Irvin has been gradually increasing his member of hour in the air and they now total 248. J. A. Cliff is second only to Gus to number of hours in the air among the members of the Pampa Flying club, having a total of 110 hours.

The name of the club has been printed on their ship. Black letters trimmed in blue announce that the plane is the property of the Pampa Flying club.

An inspector from Amarillo was at the local airport during the past week. He inspected Dr. McKean's Stearman and renewed the doctor's license for another year.

Two men from the Stearman factory at Wichita, Kans., completed repairs on Dr. McKean's ship at noon Friday. The plane had a broken tail skid and was damaged during a landing.

Fellow pilots are razzing Gus about his leaning on skyskooks. Gus was flying about 8 o'clock one Friday morning during the past week and some of his associates noticed that he was not making any progress against the stiff wind. "It was a rather funny feeling," Gus admitted. "There I was up about a thousand feet and from the ground it looked like I wasn't moving an inch. But every gust of wind moved the ship up a bit and then it would settle. I came out of it all right by nosing down."

HEAVY LOSS IN PANHANDLE IS RECORDED

Danciger's Injunction Is Facing An Attack

IMPORTANCE OF MOVE STRESSED

Refinery Oil Runs Are Involved In Test

For the third consecutive week the five oil-producing counties of the Panhandle lost heavily in production during the seven-day period ending Sept. 26. With the proration as an effective weapon, the Texas Railroad Commission slashed the total production of the Panhandle from 82,369 barrels to 78,611 barrels, a decrease of 3,758 barrels. Again Gray county bore most of the loss, the production declining a daily average of 3,265 barrels.

Completions were few. There were only two in Gray county and both of these were negligible. The week end saw the Railroad commission, backed up by the attorney general's office, preparing to force the Danciger Oil and Refining company to prorate its production in Carson, Gray, and Hutchinson counties. While the state prepared to act, Danciger, protected by a court injunction, continued to move his oil to the Bell refinery near Pampa. Defeat for the commission might mean disruption of the proration program throughout the state. The commission, in commenting upon the Danciger rebellion, issued a statement that the Danciger company had not conformed to the schedule since it was put into effect three weeks ago.

Will Take Action

R. D. Parker, oil and gas supervisor, said that he was preparing papers asking the attorney general to compel Mr. Danciger to observe the proration schedule, when the latter's petition for a temporary injunction restraining the state from prorating his properties was granted.

The Panhandle proration committee, meeting at Amarillo Friday issued the following statement: "The committee feels confident of the ultimate success of the proration program. The filing of the Danciger suit is no surprise since in effect it is merely the crystallization of the opposition to the curtailment and proration program that operates have sought to rput into force in the Panhandle for the past year."

Completions of the week follow: Gray Champlin Oil and Refining com-

PROSPECTS FOR BUILDING IN PAMPA GOOD; TOTAL MAY REACH $1,650,000.00 FIGURE OF 1929

On the day that summer actually and officially departed from the Texas pampas, building permits issued during the year totaled $864,000, but because on that day a contract was let to excavate the basement of the proposed four-story Worley building, the coveted million-dollar mark was just around the corner.

Commencement of construction on the Worley edifice would raise the total $1,200,000, estimated cost of the structure. F. E. Townsend, building inspector felt reasonably assured yesterday that before the end of fall, the 1930 building program would swell well over the million mark. The building permits issued in 1929 totaled $1,650,000. Mr. Townsend pointed out that thus far the world-wide business depression has had very little adverse effect on the Pampa building program, and that if all buildings for which architects plans have been made this year were constructed before Jan. 1, 1931, the permits of this year would equal last year's.

In the week ending Sept. 27, construction work begun in that seven-day period, totaled $13,800. Two business buildings and five residences comprised the week's program. J. W. Graham began remodeling his Texas service station at a cost of $2,000. The Dr. Waller Dental Dental Clinic started construction of a tile-stucco building to cost $1,000. The contractor for the Graham job is Jno. T. Glover. R. L. Whitlock is building the clinic at the corner of Kingsmill and Frost back of Cal Farley's Tire shop.

Residences begun were as follows: J. M. Melches, $1,800; Mrs. M. J. Hefflin, $1,700; O. L. Boyington, $1,000; Mr. Curtis, Alexander addition, $4,200; Clifford Jones, Jones-Everett Ma-hins company plot, $1,500. Pritchett and Weir, contractors, are building the Curtis residence.

YOUNG HOOVER'S ROMANCE MUCH LIKE FATHER'S

MORE FUNDS FOR NURSERY ARE NEEDED

Those Pampa citizens and institutions that did respond to the welfare board's plea for funds and equipment to establish the children's day nursery gave liberally, but more money and more furnishings are still needed, according to Mrs. DeLea Vicars, treasurer of the nursery committee.

"No approved and trustworthy charity organization has ever had any trouble in obtaining necessary donations in Pampa because this town sure helps when help is actually needed, and I am sure the citizens will help the board finance the nursery," Mrs. Vicars said last night.

Donations made yesterday and Friday were as follows: L. T. Hill company $25; J. C. Penney company $25; Mel Davis $25; J. R. Henry $50; J. S. Wynne $5 per month; DeLea Vicars, $5 per month; Canary Sandwich Shoppe, $2 per month.

Mrs. Coin Meador, bedding; Minnis Plumbing company and R. R. Jones Plumbing company, all labor on the necessary plumbing work for the nursery; City Bakery and Dilley Bakery, all bread; Taylor Farm Dairy, milk at 12 cents a quart delivered in one-half pint bottles; Altar Society of the Holy Souls Catholic church, two beds complete with bedding.

Christian church, delicacies such as jellies and cookies during October, which the church chose as its "courtesy month"; Division Five of the Women's Council of the Christian church, two beds complete with bedding; Central States Power and Light company, all the gas; Southwestern Public Service company, electricity at a flat rate of $1.50 per month.

Urgent needs of the nursery include towels, baby beds, bedding, a kitchen sink, lavatory, gas heater, linoleum. More donations to start the nursery are needed. Since similar nurseries in other cities are financed by persons who contribute a certain sum per month for one year, it was said that such donations would insure the permanency of the nursery. About eight more beds are needed. The above articles might be given instead of money, it was suggested. All grocery stores which will give groceries at reduced prices for one month are asked to telephone Mrs. Vicars, or Mrs. W. H. Davis or Mrs. O. H. Booth, all of whom are members of the nursery committee. The nursery is located at 209 West Brown street.

Estimated cost of operating the nursery for one month is $185. The state requires that each child kept in such a nursery be fed three-fourths of a quart of milk per day. Cost of keeping one child per day is 23 cents, based on figures obtained from nurseries in neighboring cities. The diet for the children is prescribed by the state. The noon meal must include two vegetables, a dessert and a meal. The nursery will be inspected monthly by state officers. All beds must be children's beds and must be located at least eight inches apart to comply with fire laws.

"The nursery is not being established as an experiment," Mrs. Vicars said. "There are many like it over the country. It is supervised by the state and must meet requirements which have been tested and found proper. The board's chief reason for founding the nursery here is to help people help themselves. Charity will not be handed out. It boils down to this: there are certain men and women in town who must work to make a living, but they can't hold a job on account of small children at home. If the parents must stay with their children, they cannot work and then they will be dependent on charity."

One of the families which will benefit from the nursery includes a widower and two children. The girl is old enough to go to school but she must stay at home to take care of the baby. In another family, the mother, a widow, with three children works but the other two who

Killer Leaps on Car With Pistol in Hand

H. H. PEVATAUX IS THE VICTIM

Police Posses Search Heavily Wooded Section

HOUSTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—H. H. Pevataux, 35, of Spring, was slain late tonight and his young woman companion, with whom he was riding in a car on the outskirts of the city, was brutally attacked by a negro who leaped on the running board of their machine brandishing a gun.

Pevataux, who had been commanded to turn into a side road by the negro, attempted to throw the gunman off the running board of the car by swerving it sharply. When the race failed, however, the negro fired a bullet into Pevataux's body.

When the car came to a stop, the negro threw the man from the seat and forced the woman to accompany him. After torturing the girl brutally, he criminally attacked her.

Posses of police were scouring the heavily wooded section northwest of the city, where the attack occurred in an attempt to apprehend the negro.

Pampa Youth Is Hurt In Accident

Connie Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Moore of Pampa, suffered a fractured leg Friday night as he was returning from the Lubbock-Pampa game when the coupe in which he was riding with Raymond Simmons and Raymond Fritzeley both of Pampa plunged into a ditch at a sudden turn in the road five miles south of Tulsa.

Simmons sustained a broken arm. Fritzeley was uninjured. The two boys were taken to an Amarillo hospital in a Tulsa ambulance. Moore was brought to his home here in a G. C. Malone ambulance. Dr. H. H. Hicks who was driving just behind the boys when the accident occurred, called an ambulance and accompanied the boys to the hospital.

WASHINGTON—The George Washington Bicentennial Commission, which is vigorously applying itself to the task of working the country up to a white heat of patriotic emotion by 1932—the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth—has undertaken an informal compilation of still existent stores, companies or firms which were doing business back in Washington's time.

Apparently there are hundreds of them. Banks, insurance companies, newspapers and drug stores are most numerous among those which the commission has heard about since it sent out a call for information on such institutions.

Already there are a couple of firms which claim to have been established back in the sixteen-eighties or nineties. Philadelphia and Boston, thus far, have offered the largest number of interesting exhibits.

Congressman Sol Bloom of New York, an associate director of the commission, suggests that there be some kind of a meeting or organization of old establishments dating back to the eighteenth century and that their records be preserved and examined for their historical value.

Someone will doubtless propose appropriate tablets for such emporiums as can prove that George Washington himself had to be one of the customers. The commission is especially anxious to learn of places where the Father of His Country bought his razor blades, radio tubes, cracked ice, bromo-seltzers, kodak rolls, ginger ale and other day-to-day necessities.

One refers to Leadbeater's drug store, whose ancient records show that Washington and members of his family often sent slaves or came themselves to buy castor oil and other remedies. The Washington's apparently never ate ham sandwiches and drank chocolate malted milks over the counter, however. Leadbeater's didn't serve them and they ate at home, anyway.

Leadbeater's was opened in 1792 by Edward Stabler, who borrowed 500 pounds for the purpose, and is still in possession of his descendants and those of John Leadbeater, who married one of his daughters in 1835. Stabler was an accomplished pill-roller and mixer of liquid concoctions. Having no chain store competition, he made plenty of money at his corner on King and Fairfax streets.

Included in the files of the old drug store is a note from Martha Washington, dated from Mount Vernon in 1802, as follows:

"Mrs. Washington desires Mr. Stabler to send by bearer a quart bottle of his best castor oil and the bill for it."

Apparently Leadbeater's considered the Washington family's credit to be good. George Washington Parke Custis, one of Martha's grandchildren who had been adopted by George, explained as follows in a note dated 1818:

"My Dear Sir: Not being able to command cash at this time from the heavy expense of my building, I enclose my note agreeable to promise. I am duly sensible of the politeness and liberality I have always received from you and I have to express my acknowledgement, also for the very excellent articles always received from your house and with perfect esteem for your personal character. I am, Your humble servant, George W. P. Custis."

And Judge Bushrod Washington, who inherited the Mount Vernon estate after the death of his Uncle George and Aunt Martha, wrote in 1820:

"Respected Friend: Above is a check for 77.9 amount of your account, which ought much sooner to have been attended to. In future I will thank you to send it to me at least once a year. Respectfully,—"

Seven generations of the Washington and Lee families, which became related by marriage, traded at Leadbeater's.

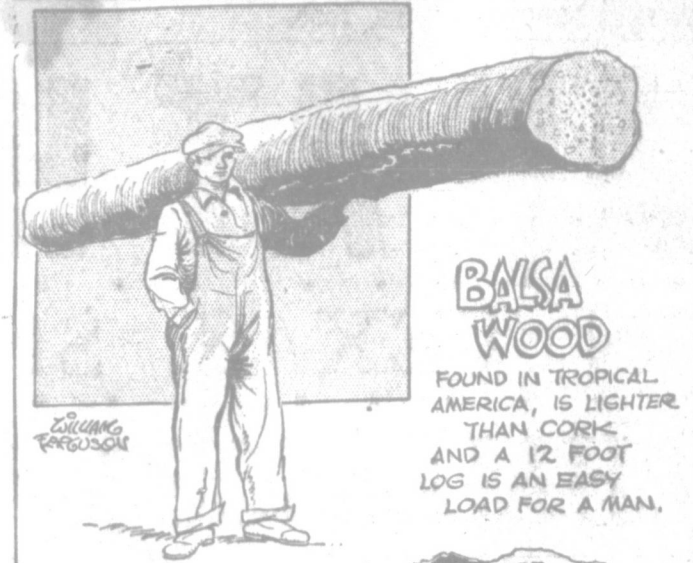

Augustin and Lawrence Washington learned the drug business there and later established themselves in West Virginia.

THE MACHINE'S DEFECTS

We are fond of remarking that the present is a mechanical age and nearly every magazine or newspaper will have at least one story telling of some new mechanical triumph; and ordinarily we take it for granted that all of this is a great blessing. But it is worth while, now and then, to stop and examine things a little more closely, to see just how greatly all of this is benefitting us.

In the current issue of Scribner's Magazine, Lewis Mumford soliloquizes on the matter and makes the following remarks:

"The more one reflects upon the machine, the less important do its practical results seem. When one weighs the solid products of the machine against the wholesale destruction it has wrought in a single century, against the forests that must be replanted, the foul cities that must be razed and rebuilt, the depleted countryside that must be restored, against all the irredeemable human misery that it has brought into existence, against the constant threat of universal annihilation by mechanized warfare—when one balances these things, the blessings

Councilman Is Caustic in Telling Of Chicago Gangs

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—The city council was urged by Alderman Arthur F. Albert today to investigate the "inefficiency" of the police which he said permitted department records to be found in the possession of gangsters.

In an open letter of the chairman of the council's committee on police and municipal institutions Albert said "without connivance on the part of members of the Chicago police department, notorious criminals could not ply their trade almost unmolested."

He pointed out the recent discovery of secret police information in a headquarters of the Al Capone gang and added that "several months ago telegrams were sent to New York, releasing men apprehended there and wanted by the Chicago authorities, although no one in the detective bureau admitted responsibility for sending the telegrams."

"Such inefficiency along with disloyalty to the people of Chicago ought to convince every Alderman that the causes be investigated and the principals removed from the police department."

The information Albert referred to was a list of gangsters wanted by the police. The list was found by federal agents in a raid on the Carleton hotel, a Capone rendezvous, and "X" was marked in front of eight of the names, all Capone men, and it was discovered later that the names were omitted in a subsequent receipted list.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 27. (AP)—Two children of Edwin C. Hemminger, were burned to death last night when a fire destroyed a five room cottage in which they were living at Caverley's Mountain Resort in the Sandia mountains. The children were Earl, 9, and Ellen, 5.

The father and mother who were sleeping in another room with a baby escaped. The father made attempts to reach the room of the children in vain.

The fire started from the explosion of a kerosene lamp which had been left burning.

The Hemmingers formerly lived at Bush-Sylvania, Ohio.

Stock Swindle Charges Made Against Tulsans

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 27. (AP)—Federal authorities said tonight that additional persons, possibly seven or eight, may be linked with operations of an alleged stock swindle in connection with which Ben F. Fields, Tulsa investment broker, and P. H. McIntyre face charges of using the mails to defraud.

Nearly 100 Oklahomans were fleeced of approximately $250,000 when they purchased stock in the Anglo-American Royalties corporation, post office inspectors said. McIntyre was listed as president of the corporation, chartered in Delaware and its allegedly worthless stock was sold in Oklahoma thru the company headed by Fields, the complaints against the two men charged.

Fields, at liberty on $10,000 bond, asserted he had not knowingly defrauded anyone while McIntyre, still in jail, said he had acted simply as a stock salesman.

Talbot Gives His Platform

DALLAS, Sept. 27. (AP)—In accepting the Republican nomination for governor, Col. William E. Talbot of Dallas said today he was offering himself as a hired hand to work for the state of Texas.

"I am actuated by one motive, and that is a desire to try to do something for the state that I have lived in from childhood and which has given me what little I possess in this world," he said.

The candidate expressed his approval of the planks in the Republican platform, adopted at the state convention at San Angelo early this month, and said the platform was "the means by which we hope to arouse the people of this state to the necessity of developing Texas for Texans."

"My ideas of the duties of governor are perhaps different from any candidate who has run since I have been in Texas," Colonel Talbot continued. "The governor, according to my conception of the duties, is a hired hand working for the best interests of his state, and not for any political aggrandizement, nor for any added honor to an already full life."

"As a hired hand, there are thousands of other men in Texas who are capable, if the opportunity had come to them, or carrying out a wonderfully constructive program for Texas, and I feel indeed fortunate to have the opportunity of at least putting before the people the plans that I would advocate and try to bring to completion should I be elected."

Wheat Board Authority Raps Federal Move

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—A charge that board of trade directors exceeded their authority and bowed to a government motivated by political expediency in banning foreign nations from trading privileges was made today by Samuel P. Arnot, several times president of the board.

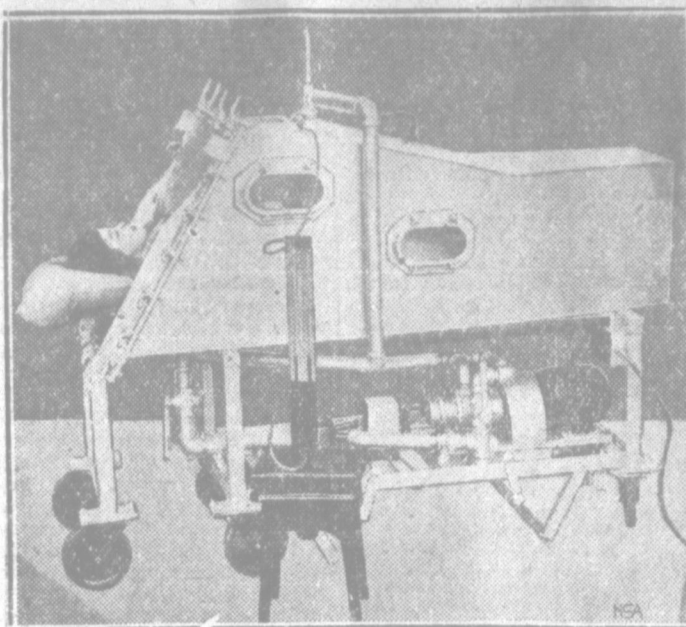

His statement presaged a possible schism among board members over the action of the directors, who yesterday took the stand that sales of grain futures by a foreign government are objectionable, and should be stopped. Their resolution was communicated by Secretary Hyge of the department of agriculture by John A. Bunnell, Mr. Arnot's successor last year as president of the world's largest grain exchange.

The directors "clearly transcended their authority in the resolution," Mr. Arnot asserted. "Matters of this nature are regulated by rules by the board of directors." He said the board of trade had been made the "catspaw" of government authorities who were "manifestly inspired by political expediency and a rather undignified exhibition of hysteria."

"Metal Lung" Keeps Girl Alive

For more than a week Frances McGaan, Chicago, student nurse who is suffering from infantile paralysis, has been kept alive by a "metal lung," like the one shown above. Unable to breathe because her chest muscles are paralyzed, the girl is kept constantly in the big aluminum tank, where an electric pump alternately creates air pressure and a vacuum forcing her lungs to function. The tank photographed here is known as the Drinker Apparatus.

TEXAN IS HONORED
NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Twenty graduates of secondary schools in nine states were awarded honor scholarships at Columbia university today. The scholarships have a value of $500 each.

The students were selected on the basis of intellectual interest, performance of academic duties, integrity, faithfulness, and loyalty, capacity for responsibility, school citizenship, social leadership, and aesthetic appreciation.

Included in the list was Howard Oxford, El Paso, Tex.

SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27. (AP)—With six cases of infantile paralysis reported here this week, the city health department today ordered all public and parochial schools in Kansas City, Kans., closed for the next two weeks and children under 15 excluded from public places.

Twelve cases are under quarantine here.

SHOOTS TWO MEN
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 27. (AP)—After shooting two men and taking pot shots at two others, Geo. Skidmore, 30, sought in connection with a robbery and murder in Pittsburgh, was surrounded tonight in the wilds of Rattlesnake mountain, about 60 miles from this city, by a posse of more than 150 men.

Corp. J. G. Oimes, a highway patrolman of Altoona, was wounded in the right arm and the chest by Skidmore, and the arm of William Fox, keeper of the aviation beacon on Rattlesnake mountain, was shattered and had to be amputated tonight in a hospital. Sergeant W. C. Bear, a state patrolman, escaped injury, although his cap was shot off. Corp. C. I. Gross also was unharmed, although a bullet went thru his trousers.

Bill Haines Rides Bronchos In Rex Picture

What with William Haines in spurs and a cowboy sombrero, the attractive Lella Hyams and such fun-makers as Polly Moran and Cliff Edwards—patrons of the Rex theatre have a treat in store when "Way Out West" opens today for a three-day showing.

Haines, who in his varied screen career has had to learn everything from playing polo to swabbing decks a la Uncle Sam's sailors, was required to master two new tricks for his latest comedy. First he had to learn how to operate a phoney roulette wheel for the opening scenes of the comedy, laid in a traveling carnival atmosphere, and secondly he was taught the rudiments of herding cattle and riding bucking bronchos.

Byron Morgan, who used to write racing stories for Wallace Reid, and Alfred Block, who collaborated on "Speedway" and "It's a Great Life," put their heads together for Haines' latest vehicle and concocted a story which is as exciting as it is funny.

Poor Haines learns through bitter experience what an Easterner has to go through before he can become a full-fledged cowboy. Picture the hilarious happenings for yourself.

Report has it the star was not the only one who learned a thing or two as the result of filming "Way Out West." It seems that it was the first comedy to be directed by Fred Niblo in seven years and the man who produced such dramatics as "Ben Hur" and Greta Garbo's "The Temptress" claims that he worked twice as hard trying to get laugh situations as he ever did working up a big scene in his emotional stories.

"I Only Wish I Had Taken Konjola Sooner"

Galveston Contractor Soon Relieved of Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble—Eager in Praise.

MR. JOE GONZALES

"Rheumatism and kidney trouble kept me in constant misery for two years," said Mr. Joe Gonzales, 90 Eighteenth street, Galveston. "The rheumatism centered in my arms and legs and the pains in my arms and hands were frightful. I could not close my hands at times and my hips and lower limbs were in such condition that I could not walk. My kidneys were terribly weak and frequent bladder actions robbed me of sleep at night. I always had a dull pain across the small of my back.

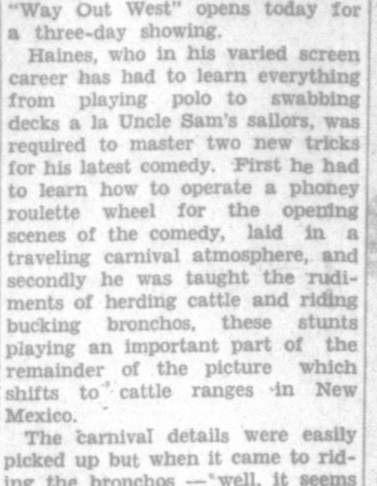

"A friend suggested this new medicine and I only wish that I had taken Konjola sooner. The result has been wonderful and I feel like a new person. The pains in my shoulders and arms have disappeared and I can walk about without discomfort. I get about as I formerly did and my kidneys are again in normal condition. My appetite has increased and my general health has vastly improved."

Konjola is recommended for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. Adv.

Stage Star to Wed Playwright

Passengers of Wrecked Plane Are Not Found

CONNEAUT, O., Sept. 27. (AP)—Scores of men and boys, coast guardsmen and sheriff's deputies spent today searching the shore line of Lake Erie from Conneaut to Ashtabula but failed to find the bodies of William McNulty, Columbus salt manufacturer and William Parker, of Levealand, his pilot, whose wrecked plane was found west of here this morning.

The cabin of the plane with wings and motor gone, and cover ripped from it, was edged in a clump of fallen trees at the lake edge and partly hidden by an overhanging cliff. For a mile along the shore, parts of the plane were picked up, but there was no trace of the bodies.

Connie Moore, son of Mr. and D. C. Moore of Pampa, suffered

Optometrists from the following cities compose the membership of the Panhandle Optometric society: Pampa, Plainview, Lubbock, Slaton, Hereford, Clarendon, Memphis, and Amarillo, Texas and Clovis, Clayton, Roswell, Artesia, Albuquerque, Tucumcari, N. M.

Dr. Thomas M. Montgomery of Amarillo is the president of the society.

WON'T PICK COTTON

A score of cotton farmers in the McLean and Donley county communities left Pampa disappointed yesterday afternoon. They came to the Gray county seat looking for cotton pickers. They had heard that a number of unemployed persons here wanted work. They found jobless people, all right who were in need of cash but the job hunters declined to pick cotton, according to local citizens who assisted the cotton farmers in looking for pickers. One farmer of McLean wanted a family which could board itself.

BUS PASSENGERS ARE INJURED IN CRASH

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 27. (AP)—Eight persons were injured in a head-on collision between an automobile and a Tri-State Transit company bus on the Greenwood road near here today. The bus turned over and five passengers, and the driver were injured. Two occupants of the automobile also were hurt.

Frenchmen in California

LO SANGELES, Sept. 27. (AP)—Captain Dieudonne Coste and Lieut. Maurice Bellonte, French aviators, landed at the municipal airport at 3:40 p. m. (PST) today in their trans-Atlantic plane Question-Mark. The noted fliers will remain until Tuesday. They came here from San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Brashears saw the fair in Amarillo Saturday.

Asking Injunction To Close Gates of Big Medina Dam

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27. (AP)—An injunction to force the closing of the flood gates of the big Medina dam between the upper and lower lakes was sought today in the 37th district court to preserve the fish from destruction.

The suit was filed in the name of W. C. Stegall, who lives near the main flood gates, against the Bexar-Medina-Alasosca companies water improvement No. 1, Inc.

The case was set for a hearing Tuesday when the defendant company will show cause why the temporary injunction asked should not be made permanent.

FORMER SECRETARY DIES

MARLIN, Sept. 27. (AP)—Churchill J. Bartlett, 68, secretary of state during the first administration of James E. Ferguson as governor, died at his home here tonight after a prolonged illness. He had suffered from cancer for years.

Funeral services for Bartlett who was active in both local and state politics for a number of years, will be held here tomorrow afternoon with burial in a cemetery here. A brother, L. W. Bartlett, Marlin attorney, survives.

Texas Prisoners Caught

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 27. (AP)—Joseph Zito Alias Louis Zapa, who nearly escaped from the city jail two nights ago, and his companion, Haden Hale, alias Jack Jones, admitted tonight they were escaped convicts from the Texas penitentiary at Huntsville, Texas. When arrested they were driving a penitentiary guard's car in which they said they had escaped from the Texas prison.

BY RICHARD MASSOCK LONDON—Americans in London, if they only knew it, easily could look upon one of the curious characters of the British capital.

Hanner Swaffer, he who got slapped by the American actress, Lillian Foster, is a regular luncher in the dining room of the Savoy hotel, which seems to be the London equivalent of New York's Algonquin as a rendezvous of the cognoscent.

A British companion the other noon pointed out, among others, the Duke of Manchester and Edith Kelly Gould of New York Gouls.

But we were speaking of Hanner Swaffer. As dramatic critic and columnist, he is locally famed for his journalistic crucifixion of actors.

He also is one of the town's eccentrics. His long, lean, ascetic face with a perpetual look of tired boredom and his uncut hair flowing down to an old-fashioned high collar, surrounded by an old-fashioned black bow cravat, are as familiar to the habitués of the Savoy as the beard of Bernard Shaw is to the readers of the picture papers.

Started Gossip
Swaffer, if you failed to hear about it, was slapped in this same dining room by the seemingly furious Miss Foster because he had written an uncomplimentary comment on her voice.

The columnist got the most publicity out of the incident. That is typical of Swaffer—perhaps of all columnists. He even sent out as a Christmas card a picture of his face in collision with a woman's hand.

Stopping at our table for a little chat, Swaffer informed us that he was the one who started the gossip columns, without which London newspapers would hardly be complete.

If he did, he has seen gossip writing grow into a distinct branch of British journalism. In spreading small talk, very small talk, Britannia ruses the waves of hearsay, hands down. Almost every newspaper in the capital has its "I am told" page.

Anonymous
The gossip itself is another matter.

The aristocracy and cricket were the mainstays that kept it up at the moment of this writing.

"It is rumored," wrote one Mr. Gossip, "that the Prince of Wales may visit North Berwick at some time during his summer holiday." (Holiday is the British vacation. What the prince was taking a vacation from was not divulged.)

"Many anxious glances will be cast at the skies this morning, more especially after the showers of last night," lead off another bear-and-tear-all, The Dragoman. "For thousands of people have every intention of attending the decisive Test (cricket) match at the Oval."

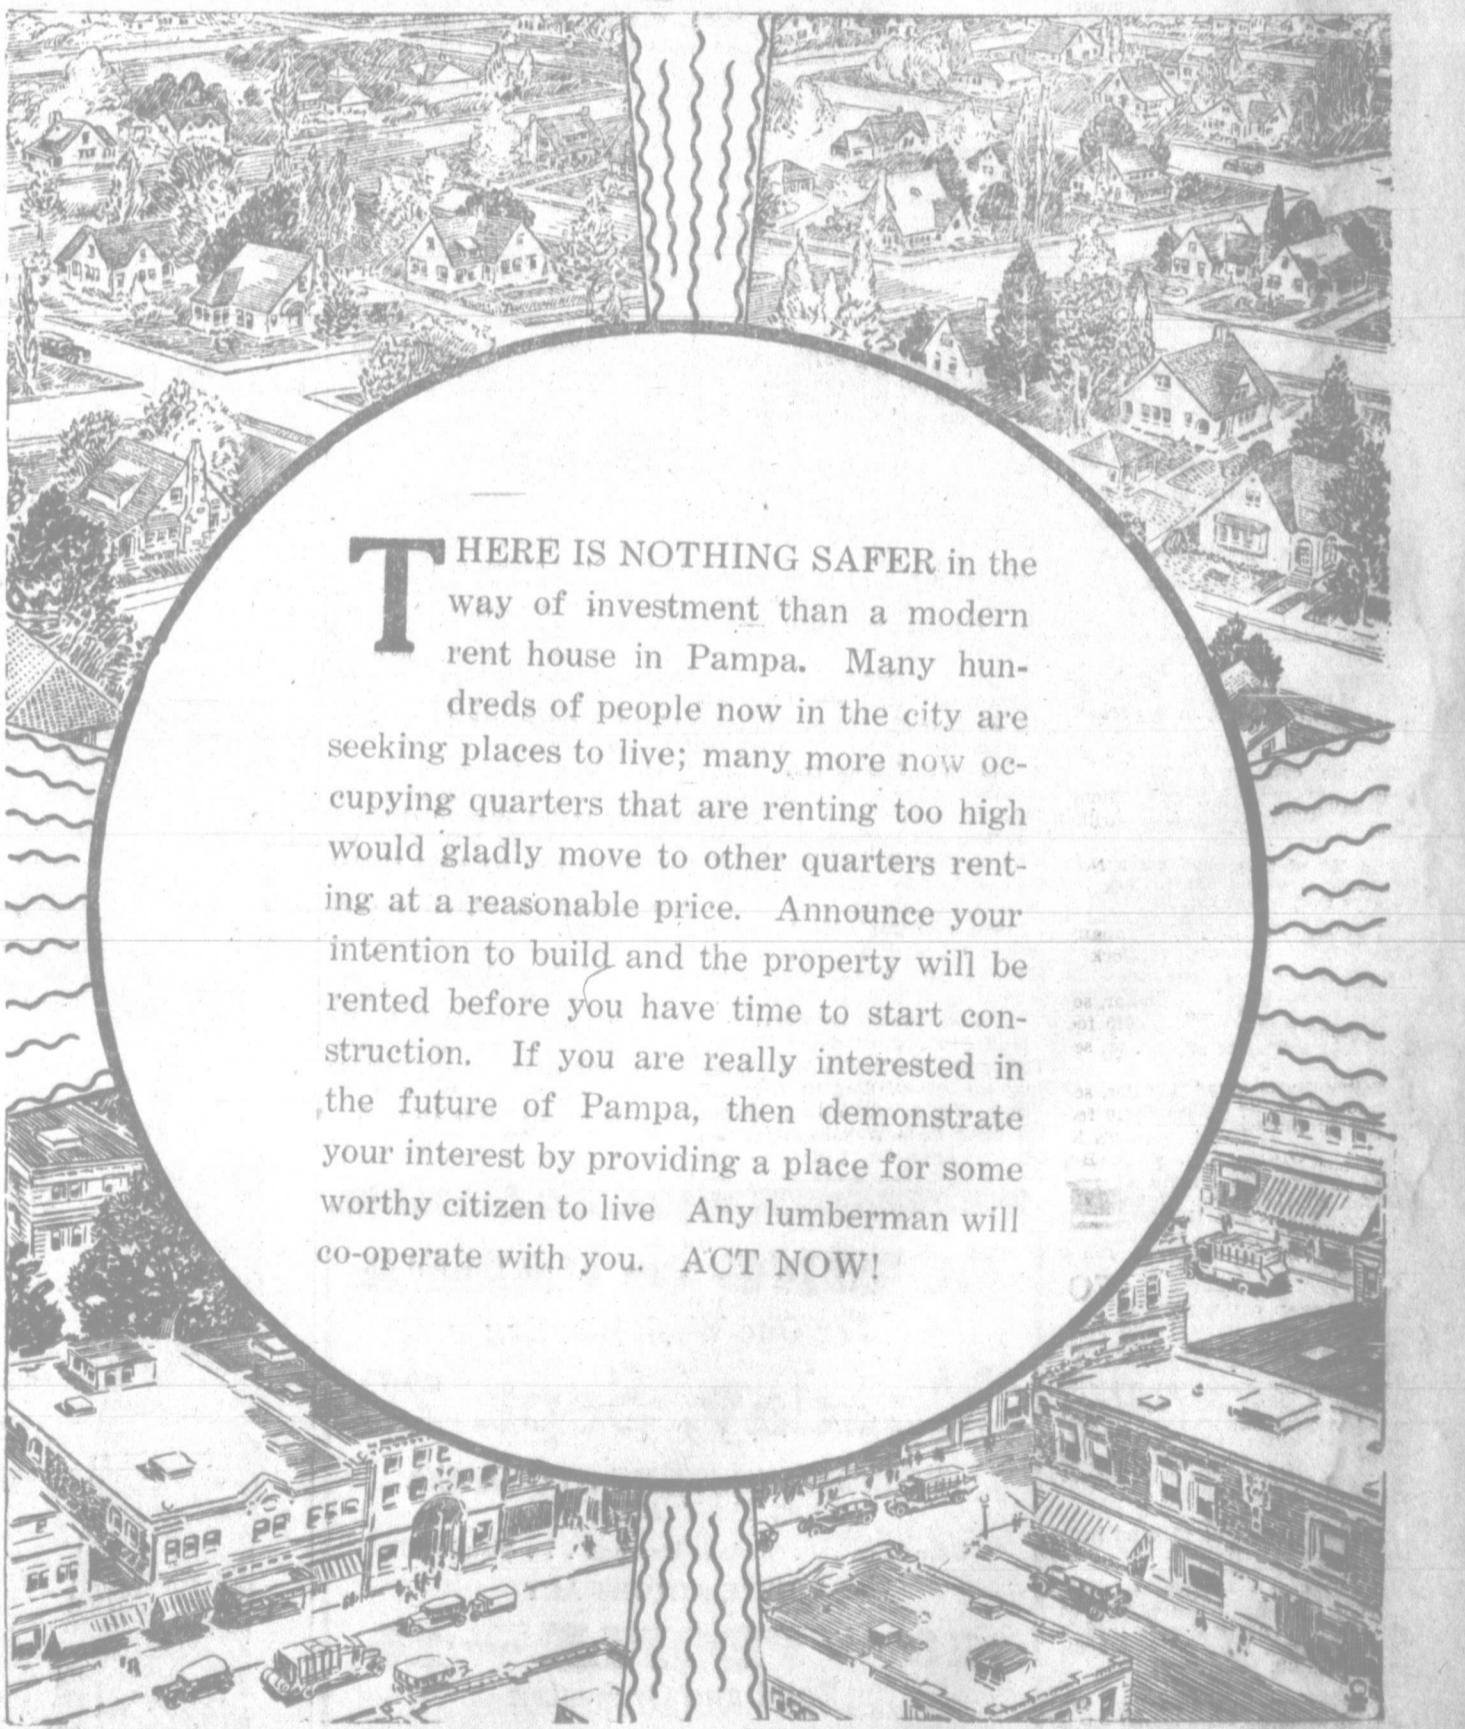

"Bright little bits like that, and some slightly more gossipy, are written anonymously over such titles as 'Mr. Gossip,' 'The Dragoman,' 'Park Lane,' 'The Rambler,' and 'Onlooker.'"

That does not, however, handicap their capital "I" style. Oh, my, no. A count of one day's Ts showed that the Star man, who does not even sign his column with a pseudonym, was ahead, using the vertical letter 11 times.

But considering what they write, they might just as well come out in the open — unless they are ashamed of the gags, as we call them.

Grains Again Drop CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Instead of proving a barrier against low prices, prevention of Russian government selling of wheat the Board of Trade turned out today to have exactly the reverse action.

Widespread advertisement of demands for the preventive action by United States officials had an evident disturbing influence and in addition, big offerings of Russian wheat at Liverpool were reported. The result was a rush to get rid of ownership of wheat future delivery contracts, and the Chicago market closed unsteady at the bottom-most level reached since 1906.

Every kind of grain as well as wheat went below 70 cents a bushel, wheat dropped to new low records today with wheat closing 1 7-8 to 2 5/8 cents under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 3-4 to 2 1-2 cents down, oats unchanged to 1-2 cent off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 40 cents.

Livestock Declines

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Livestock trade this week was featured by sharp price declines on both sheep and hogs. Fat lambs prices were 75-100 lower, the lowest levels in 16 years. Chicago had a late top on fat lambs of 8.00. Supplies of sheep totalled around 626,000.

Hogs were from 50 to 1.25 under a week ago with closing trade very dull. Offerings approximated 381,000.

Cattle trade this week was marked by a forced price advance on fed steers and yearlings with prices on yearlings almost up to the high spot of the season. Chicago had a top of 13.00 on choice yearling steers and realized 12.25 on heavy steers. Receipts were estimated at 235,700.

BOBBY JONES MAKES "GRAND SLAM" IN LATEST VICTORY Harvesters Crash Into Class A Leadership in Very First Grid Contest

LUBBOCK IS BEATEN 12-9 AT TECH GRID

BY OLIN E. HINKLE
 Welcomed home Friday at midnight by a large throng of admirers who wished to share the privilege with more than 500 students and townspeople who made the trip to Lubbock by special train, the Pampa Harvesters are resting easily after mighty feats upon Texas Technological college gridiron.

On next Saturday they will be hosts to the Class B Canyon Eagles, and one week thereafter they will journey to Amarillo to battle the Sandies in what may be the championship encounter of the district.

It was a stunning blow to the dope bucket and to Westerner aspirations when the Harvesters, playing their first Class A game, toppled the district's leading contenders by a score of 12 to 9. Smart football in which the Pampa eleven made instant use of what are usually known as "breaks," coupled with great defensive play in the closing moments, made the victory possible.

Four Horsemen Star

The superiority of the Harvesters was in the persons of the galloping Four Horsemen—Saulsbury, Lard, Chastain, and Martindale. This quartet is regarded as the class of the district, and at least one of its members, Captain Don Saulsbury, appears slated for all-district rating.

The score is fairly indicative of the comparative strength of the teams. Lubbock had the edge in the first half, when her penalties and some fine Pampa defensive work kept the Westerners from gaining more than a one-point lead. In the second half the Harvesters' stamina began to tell and Pampa's progress increased as Lubbock's wavered.

A perfect football sky lighted the dark turf of Tech field when Captain Saulsbury kicked off to start the game. Moody Smith, opposing fullback, gathered in the ball and returned 8 yards to his 18-yard line. Smith ripped through for 5 and 2 yards and Britton was held before Lubbock punted to Martindale, who returned it to his 45-yard line. Lard kicked left end for 5 and Martindale for 4, but Saulsbury was swamped as the line caved. Saulsbury punted out weakly on the Lubbock 43-yard line.

Lawson went around left end for 9. A pass was low and Lubbock drew a 15-yard penalty for holding. The Pampa line tightened and Lubbock punted to the Pampa 35-yard line. Lard, Chastain, and Saulsbury failed to find an opening, and Captain Don got away a 48-yard punt. Here Lubbock got a first down by successive plunges by Smith, Watkins, and Lawson. Lubbock drew a penalty, then completed a short pass which was fumbled and lost.

Tried Dangerous Pass
 Saulsbury gained 6 yards and Lubbock was penalized 15 yards to take the ball to midfield. The criss-cross plays falling as Lard and Martindale were caught from behind, Saulsbury punted over the end zone. Lawson got away for 13 yards around left end but Lubbock drew another 15-yard penalty. A dangerous pass fell low, Lawson made a yard, and Britton punted out to the 36-yard line.

The quarter ended as Pampa fell short of a first down, and with neither team having scored.

Smith took the ball and opened the second quarter with a 6-1-2 yard off-tackle. Lawson made it first down and repeated for 11 yards more. Then Lawson attempted a pass, which Chastain intercepted and carried to the 10-yard line before he was downed. It was a 40-yard run, which McGeehee barely halted. Chastain got a yard, Don 5 off right tackle, and then the Pampa captain went to the 1-yard line. Saulsbury, felled by inches on the fourth down, but through 4 more times. He needed only one, however, as he hurried himself through a maze of players. His attempt for extra point hit the line. Score, Pampa 6; Lubbock 0.

It was a thoroughly aroused Lubbock eleven which took the next kick-off and swept from the 30-yard line to the goal without losing the ball. Lawson skirted left end for 17 yards. Smith hit for 2 and 3, and Martin left end to circle for 2-1-2. A double pass, Smith to Watson to McGeehee, carried ball to the 18-yard mark. Smith hit twice to reach the 5-yard chalk and Lawson bored to the 1-yard point. Smith went over and Lawson passed down to Martin for the extra point. A punting duel ended the half with the score standing at Lubbock 7, Pampa 6.

A New Picture of Bobby Jones

Here is Bobby Jones, emperor of the fairways, as he appeared at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, where he battled this week to attain the highest honor in golfdom, four straight major championships in a year. Jones is looking at a gold card, signifying his life membership in the Penn Athletic club.

In this first-half Pampa gained 60 yards from scrimmage and Lubbock got 97. Lubbock made 8 first downs to 3 for Pampa.

The original line-ups started the third period. Watkins kicked off to Saulsbury, who returned to his 3-yard line. Pampa's offensive failed to click as Chastain got 2 yards. Martindale lost 3 on a low pass from center, and Saulsbury regained 3. Saulsbury punted to the Lubbock 27-yard line. Lubbock ripped off a first down but barely failed of a second, punting to Martindale, who was downed on his 19-yard line.

Here a punting duel ensued, with both backfields alternately making one first down, failing for the second, then kicking. Martindale made several sensational returns of punts, and Lard and Saulsbury contributed several 5 and 6-yard gains. Pined several 5 and 6-yard gains. Lubbock took to the air but in vain, then punted to Martindale, who returned 20 yards, to the Lubbock 45-yard line, with the aid of a Lubbock penalty. Martindale then broke into open field and raced to the 27-yard Lubbock line before he was run out of bounds.

Passes Intercepted
 The Westerners started sifting through, and Saulsbury hurled a pass which Watkins intercepted and placed on the Lubbock 18-yard line as the scoreless quarter ended with the count, Lubbock 7, Pampa 6. Starting the final period, Smith made 4 yards and Watkins a like number. Then it was that Saulsbury pulled down a pass and stepped to the 20-yard line. Lard in two off tackle plays went to the 10-yard line. Don bored through for 8 and 2 1-2. Lard for 1, and Saulsbury went over. Chastain's placekick was wide. Score, Pampa 12, Lubbock 7.

When Saulsbury kicked off, Watkins returned 20 yards to midfield, Lawson and Watkins, still using spin plays, made a first down. Lawson made another. Lawson, Smith, and Martin plugged away to the Pampa 9-yard line. It looked like a repetition of the previous march to the goal, but the line held and Schmidt and Lard broke up would-be false plays. The ball went over on the 4-yard line as a completed pass fell short of a first down.

Saulsbury made 8 yards and Lard 7, then Lard on a pretty run dodged his way to his own 22-yard line. Pampa tumbled on the next play and lost the ball. Lubbock tried for a pass and for rushing drew a long penalty. Another pass failed, but Pampa interference cost the Harvesters 15 yards. Another pass was low, but on the next Smith took one for 15 yards. At this point Martindale and a Lubbock player had a minor disagreement and both were out. Bill Barnett replaced Martindale for Pampa and Foster replaced Brawley. Lubbock lost the ball on downs.

Some Quick Thinking
 Saulsbury broke through the line for 15 yards but lost it when his team was penalized the same distance. Lard backed into the danger zone, hit a stonewall line. At this junction Coach Mitchell sent Joe Kahl in suggest a safety. Lard being removed for the purpose. Don failed to gain, but on the next play Captain Don as directed caught the pass from center and allowed himself to be tackled for a safety and a 2-point loss. The ball went to the 20-yard line, from where Saulsbury punted to midfield. The time-keeper pulled his gun, but hesitated an instant and placed it back in the holster. Lubbock defied fate by hurling four successive passes, the last of which Chastain intercepted. Captain Saulsbury hurled himself 17 yards toward midfield as the final gun at last barked.

Arkansas Beats Ozark College
 PAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 27. (AP)—Scoring in the first five minutes of play, Arkansas university triumphantly raised the gridiron curtain with a 27 to 0 victory over the College of the Ozarks before a crowd of 3,500 here today.

Sandies Swamp Norman Eleven

AMARILLO, Sept. 27. (Special).—Amarillo high's Golden Sandstorm won its second football game of the week here today, defeating the Norman, Okla., Tigers 22 to 6. On Friday they won over Quanah here, 41 to 7.

Burkin and Fowler again carried the brunt of the attack, but Hancock, and Dees also had a hand in today's smoother offense.

Norman's lone score was a 40-yard pass, rushing to Franz. The first quarter was uneventful, but after that the Sandy backs began to run wild. The visitors displayed almost no offensive strength except thru the air, but at times desperately fought off Sandstorm attacks.

Texas Aggies In Easy Victory

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 27. (AP)—Revealing little more than the usual football tactics, Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggies downed the Southwestern university Pirates from Georgetown 43 to 0 in the opening game of the season today. The Pirates offered little opposition and made only two first downs off the game, while the Aggies tallied 29.

The Aggies' first touchdown came in the opening three minutes of the game, Harling and Floyd carrying the ball down the field on straight running plays. Floyd carried the ball over for the first counter and the Aggies tallied twice in every period excepting the third.

BOB CATS WIN
 NACOGDOCHES, Sept. 27. (AP)—The San Marcos Bob Cats defeated Stephen F. Austin college 6 to 0 here today in the first Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association football game of the season.

GIANTS TAKE THIRD PLACE IN NATIONAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Carl Hubbell and Fred Lindstrom got together today to give the Giants a 5 to 3 victory over Philadelphia and enable them to hold third place safe from Brooklyn. The victory put the Giants a full game ahead of the Robins, who broke even with the Boston Braves, and assured them nothing worse than a tie for the place. Hubbell held the Phils to eight hits while Lindstrom hit a home run with two on base in the third inning to decide the game.

Hits Two Homers

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Cubs made it three straight over the Cincinnati Reds today, winning 13 to 8, as Hack Wilson hit his fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth homers of the National league season. Gabard and thirty-seventh circuit drives and Pat Malone also got one for the Cubs.

Horned Frogs Defeat Austin College Team

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Texas Christian university Horned Frogs, 1929 Southwest Conference champions, defeated Austin college of Sherman, 33 to 7 here today. It was the third win of the season for the champions.

The Frogs held a 13 to 0 lead at the end of the half, and increased it to 26 to 0 at the third quarter. Lillis gave the Kingaroos their lone touchdown with an intercepted pass in the last quarter. T. C. U.'s final points came in the same quarter.

OPEN WITH VICTORY

WACO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Showing a splendid defense, but a very sluggish offense the Baylor Bears opened their football season with a 33 to 0 victory over the North Texas Teachers of Denton today. Never was Baylor able to score on the Teachers with a running or plunging play, Denton held Baylor to one touchdown for almost three quarters and several of the Baylor scores were of the very fluky variety.

Split Doubleheader

BROOKLYN Sept. 27. (AP)—The Robins and the Boston Braves divided a double header today as they opened their final series of the year with a pair of fine pitching performances. Dazzy Vance fanned twelve of the Braves while pitching Brooklyn to an 8 to 2 victory in the first game while Zachary whiffed nine Robins to capture a 7 to 1 decision in the second.

DEFEATS HOMANS 8 AND 7 TO TAKE AMATEUR TITLE —NO MORE GOLF GOALS

BY ALAN GOULD
 Associated Press Sports Writer
MERION CRICKET CLUB, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 27. (AP)—On the famous east course at Merion, where as a shock-haired youthful phenomenon of 14 he first appeared in national championship competition, Robert Tyne Jones, Jr., today completed the greatest march of conquest in golf history.

By the one-sided margin of 3 up and 7 to go, Jones brushed aside 22-year-old Eugene Vanderpool Homans of Englewood, N. J., to win the United States amateur championship and score his fourth straight national victory for the year—the "grand slam" of golf.

There are no more golfing worlds left to conquer for this 28-year-old citizen-lawyer of Atlanta, who made his final triumph look so ridiculously easy that the wonder he hasn't been doing this sort of thing every year since he first began to scale the heights.

Bobby's triumph today after a solid week of competition was by far the easiest of any of the quarter he scored to sweep everything in sight for the campaign of 1930. It was just a breeze by comparison with the battles he waged earlier to capture the British open, the British amateur and the American open.

There was drama and a surging, rushing, and at the finish an uncontrollable crowd of perhaps 15,000 spectators, running wild as they sought to see golfing history made such as may never be recorded again, but there were few if any competitive thrills to a final match that was just another big parade for the all-conquering son of the south.

The end was in sight when Jones finished the morning 18 holes of the 36-hole semi-final seven up. Good and game a young golfer as is Homans, he was no match whatever for the stocky king of the links. It was just a question of how long it would go in the afternoon, and Bobby kept the galloping gallery in suspense longer than it was anticipated, largely because "Calamity Jane," the Jones putter, was far from her usually consistent self.

Jones became 9 up at the 22nd, with only 14 to go, and the crowd became frenziedly eager to be in on the "kill" but it went seven more holes. At the 27th, Homans cut away a hole with a fine birdie two. At the 28th, it looked to be all over until Bobby took two shots to get out of a trap and barely saved a half in "buzard" sixes. It was now Dormie eight and the throng broke all bounds in its wild gallop to the 11th hole, down into the woods along the creek—the 29th hole of the year match.

Gallery marshals were ruthlessly brushed aside or knocked down in the wild charge to catch a glimpse of the last putt. Jones and Homans were nearly engulfed after they played their second shots well on to the green. Surrounded by Marines, the contestants and officials pushed their way to the green. Jones was 25 feet away from the cup and putted dead for his four.

The Hollywood Story

COPYRIGHT 1930 by NEA SERVICE Inc. by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dan Rorimer, a scenario writer in Hollywood, is in love with Anne Winter, who, beginning as an extra has progressed rapidly and has been offered a contract by Grand United, one of the largest of the studios.

Anne lives with two extra girls, Mona Morrison and Eva Harley, Eva at times is very bitter. She works only rarely, and she is dependent over a tragic love experience. Eva and Mona are extras, but Mona works only occasionally and Eva very rarely, and this is another reason for her despondency.

PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily movie column for a string of newspapers shares Dan's apartment with him. Collier accidentally meets Eva on Hollywood Boulevard one day, and they run into a movie actor named FRANK MAURY. Maury, it develops, is the man who has broken Eva's heart. At sight of Eva, Maury colors and hurries away and Eva almost faints. Collier takes her home. Late that night Anne Winter telephones Rorimer to come right over.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVIII Anne heard him drive up, and she opened the door for him.

"Paul's waiting in the car," he told her, "just in case—"

She nodded, only half hearing him. "Eva tried—tried to take poison," she said, and began to cry.

Dan's arm went around her. "Come now, Anne, bear up. She's all right, isn't she? Did you call a doctor? Where is she?"

Anne pointed to the closed bedroom door, beyond which he could hear a muffled sobbing and another voice, placating and soothing—Mona, trying to quiet Eva.

"The doctor?" Dan repeated, and Anne told him that she had summoned one and he was on his way.

"But when I called you my way was desperate. She kept struggling with Mona and fighting her off, and I was afraid." Anne was shaking.

He talked to her steadily and she became calmer, and he asked her to tell him what had happened; but before she could begin Mona's voice cried out and there was a wimple.

scuffling noise at the door.

Dan glanced questioningly at Anne and she nodded mutely. "Call Paul in," he said, and he sprang toward the door and opened it. He saw Mona holding on desperately to Eva, who was trying to get out; and he seized the struggling girl by her wrists and forced her gently back to her bed and made her sit down.

"You must be quiet, Eva," he told her, keeping his hold on her wrists. And he said, "You're frightening Mona; can't you see what you're doing to Mona? Please be quiet."

Paul appeared then in the doorway, with Anne close behind him, her face twisted with worry.

"It'll be all right," Dan told them, and he thought that Anne must not stand around like that, she must have something to employ her hands; so he said, "Will you make some coffee, Anne, please? I think perhaps we'll all need it," and she turned at once and went to the kitchen, with Paul following.

Anne had slipped into a dress before their arrival, and Mona had flung a robe about herself. She did this now for Eva, who continued to struggle feebly against Rorimer's strength, making no sound beyond an occasional gasping intake of breath.

There was no light on in the room but light came in at the open door, and Eva Harley's face was shocking to see. Mona sat on her other side, with an arm around her, murmuring soothingly in her ear, and while they sat thus the doctor came.

Mona and Anne were appalled, and Mona made some protest. "But, doctor—"

He interrupted, smilingly but firmly. "Then a nurse, at least," he said; "but I advise the hospital."

He glanced at Dan and Paul in turn, and Dan nodded and said: "It's best. If Eva is really—sick, Mona, you'll want her to have the best of care."

The doctor said encouragingly that Eva might be all right in the morning, but Dan understood that he was concerned, and he accompanied him to the telephone, where the doctor called the hospital and made arrangements for an invalid car so that Eva's sleep should not be disturbed.

Dan asked frankly: "Is there any danger of Eva losing her mind? Is that what you're afraid of?"

"But the physician shook his head and frowned. "I'm not competent to say; but I don't care to trust a person with a suicidal mania, however temporary, in a house with two girls. I'm going to have a psychiatrist look at her."

He talked to Dan privately for some minutes, and Dan was satisfied that he was entirely right in wanting to relieve Mona and Anne of Eva's care. Dr. Howson remained until the invalid car arrived.

But Eva had continued to struggle furiously, to cry out that she was going to kill herself, and both Mona and Anne were desperately frightened.

"So I called you right away, Dan, and then I called the doctor. I'm sorry I caused you so much trouble, but I was so worried I hardly knew what I was doing."

"You did exactly right," Dan said, patting her shoulder. "What are your friends for if you can't call on them? Stop worrying now; Eva will be all right."

He said, smilingly, "How about that coffee, Anne? Isn't it ready yet?"

His complaint brought an answering smile to Anne's lips. The percolator was bubbling and she poured coffee for them, and Dan prevailed upon her to take a cup herself.

Mona came out while they were drinking it, and Dan oured some for her; and some minutes later the physician joined them. He had given Eva an emetic, and an opiate. "She's sleeping now," he said.

Anne offered him coffee, which he declined, and she thought it best to explain the presence of Rorimer and Collier. The doctor nodded, and he began to question her at length about Eva Harley.

He got the whole story, excepting Frank Maury's name. He asked, after some moments of thought, whether Eva had exhibited similar emotional disturbances before this.

Mona said, "No, doctor," and she went on to say that, in her opinion, something like this had been inevitable because of Eva's silent, brooding ways. "I've always been afraid of it."

He questioned her, then, as to Eva's attitude and behavior, and he considered her answers gravely. It might be dangerous, he thought, for Eva to be alone; in her present unbalanced state she might be dangerous to others; he did not want Anne or Mona to run unnecessary risks.

His advice was that Eva should be taken to a hospital, where she could be kept under careful observation for a few days.

Mona and Anne were appalled, and Mona made some protest. "But, doctor—"

He interrupted, smilingly but firmly. "Then a nurse, at least," he said; "but I advise the hospital."

He glanced at Dan and Paul in turn, and Dan nodded and said: "It's best. If Eva is really—sick, Mona, you'll want her to have the best of care."

unhappy here." "I know it." There was silence from Mona, after that, but in a few moments he heard her voice again and it sounded tearful. She said: "Aw, gee, Dan, you don't know how good Eva's been to me. . . . But I guess you're right. Only I'd hate to see her go—she's the best friend I've got."

"I know it, Mona," Dan told her sympathetically, "but I'm thinking of what's best for Eva."

What Collier came home that afternoon Dan thought he looked like the cat that had swallowed the canary. He sat down at once at his typewriter, but when he had thrust a sheet of paper under the platen, and twisted it, he sat and stared at it; and Dan saw him grin rather foolishly.

"What's the matter?" Dan asked. "Out with it."

Collier turned a bland gaze on him. "Out with what?"

"There's something on your mind, you big stiff; you can't fool me."

But Collier denied that this was so. "The only thing on my mind in this story—that and the fact that you and I have a date tomorrow night to go to the opening. Anne's still going, by the way, isn't she?"

Dan said she was, and he stood there and looked at Collier suspiciously for some time. "You've been up to something," he said finally, and turned away and left Paul to his work.

His suspicion proved to be well-founded, but it was not until the next day that he heard the story from Johnny Riddle. Johnny, who sooner or later heard about everything, said that Collier had pulled Frank Maury's nose.

"No!" Dan said. "I'm telling you," Johnny insisted. "There were witnesses. The story's all over Hollywood now."

The incident lost nothing in Johnny's dramatic version of it. This was substantially correct, but a bit colored, Dan learned that evening when he accused Paul Collier as they were dressing for the opening.

"Holding out on me, eh?" Collier grinned guiltily. "What do you mean?"

"You don't know, eh?" Paul said, "I ran into him over on the Lawson Brothers' lot, and I asked him how come all the embarrassment the other afternoon. Frank got insulting, so I palied his nose for him."

Rorimer laughed at the terse narration. "What did he do about it?"

"Nothing," Paul was struggling into a wriggle collar.

"You knew darn well you'd run into Maury over at Lawson Brothers, didn't you?"

"Nothing of the kind," Paul denied. "I had business over there."

"You're an awful liar," Dan said. "Well—," and he thrust out his hand, and Paul grabbed it and grinned.

"Did it hurt?" Dan asked. "How do I know?" said Paul. "It wasn't my nose."

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—A frail, rather sad-looking woman who wears black on all occasions soon will finish a task in Washington that only a sense of duty prompted her to undertake.

She is Mrs. Pearl Feden Oldfield—Representative Oldfield, member of congress from the second district of Arkansas.

In a day when women are striving with all their might for a firmer footing in politics and public affairs, the case of Pearl Feden Oldfield seems strangely out of step.

Here is a woman who cares not one whit for her position—a woman who from the day she left the little town of Batesville, Ark., to come to congress had but one thing uppermost in her mind—the day when she could return to the normal life of a woman who was greatly interested in her home and husband and find the satisfaction and contentment she once knew.

Dislikes Politics Mrs. Oldfield is in congress thru no choice of her own. She frankly admits that she found herself thrust into politics almost without warning, that she doesn't like it, and that her position is not at all in accord with what she believes is her place in the scheme of things.

She represents the second Arkansas district because her husband died before her. William Allan Oldfield had been in congress from that district since 1909 continuously and was democratic whip of the house at the time of his death in 1928.

Mrs. Oldfield was persuaded to take his place. Members of her party named her without opposition. The Republicans of the district decided that they would put no candidate in the field.

And without even so much as issuing a statement in support of her candidacy she was elected not only to fill her husband's unexpired term, but to serve throughout the 71st congress as well.

But she will not be in the 72nd congress. On March 4, 1931, she will lock the door to her office on the fourth floor of the house office building and return to Batesville merely as Pearl Feden Oldfield. And that is exactly what she wants.

No Feminist Her activity in the house has been confined mostly to looking after the needs of her constituents. On national issues she votes regularly with her party.

I can't remember but once when she attracted more than usual attention. It was on the occasion that the cast her first vote only a few hours after she had been sworn in.

On a motion designed to kill the Fenn reapportionment bill she raised her voice and shouted "yes" when her name was called. Her "yes" penetrated the hubbub created by representatives chattering in the well.

Although she keeps herself informed concerning affairs, she does not entertain essentially feminine views in regard to legislation.

She is firm in her belief that women should be measured on the basis of their qualifications and true worth, rather than on the theory that as women they should be accorded certain privileges.

Mrs. F. D. Keim and Mrs. L. H. Sullins saw the Price Memorial college "prep" Clarendon game at Clarendon Friday.

I can't remember but once when she attracted more than usual attention. It was on the occasion that the cast her first vote only a few hours after she had been sworn in.

On a motion designed to kill the Fenn reapportionment bill she raised her voice and shouted "yes" when her name was called. Her "yes" penetrated the hubbub created by representatives chattering in the well.

Although she keeps herself informed concerning affairs, she does not entertain essentially feminine views in regard to legislation.

She is firm in her belief that women should be measured on the basis of their qualifications and true worth, rather than on the theory that as women they should be accorded certain privileges.

Mrs. F. D. Keim and Mrs. L. H. Sullins saw the Price Memorial college "prep" Clarendon game at Clarendon Friday.

Kenneth Hudson of Ardmore, Okla. of the Hudson-Houston Lumber company, was in Pampa Saturday.

Miss Mary Jo Harmon returned Friday from a week's trip to Arkansas City, Kans.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wood and daughter are in Amarillo visiting Mrs. Wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ames of Childress, who are en route to California on a vacation trip.

Miss Myrtle Miller, Gray county home demonstration agent, was in Amarillo Saturday.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—A frail, rather sad-looking woman who wears black on all occasions soon will finish a task in Washington that only a sense of duty prompted her to undertake.

She is Mrs. Pearl Feden Oldfield—Representative Oldfield, member of congress from the second district of Arkansas.

In a day when women are striving with all their might for a firmer footing in politics and public affairs, the case of Pearl Feden Oldfield seems strangely out of step.

Here is a woman who cares not one whit for her position—a woman who from the day she left the little town of Batesville, Ark., to come to congress had but one thing uppermost in her mind—the day when she could return to the normal life of a woman who was greatly interested in her home and husband and find the satisfaction and contentment she once knew.

Dislikes Politics Mrs. Oldfield is in congress thru no choice of her own. She frankly admits that she found herself thrust into politics almost without warning, that she doesn't like it, and that her position is not at all in accord with what she believes is her place in the scheme of things.

She represents the second Arkansas district because her husband died before her. William Allan Oldfield had been in congress from that district since 1909 continuously and was democratic whip of the house at the time of his death in 1928.

Mrs. Oldfield was persuaded to take his place. Members of her party named her without opposition. The Republicans of the district decided that they
