Citizens Are Asked to Surrender Arms

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 9. (AP)-The streets of the capital were cleared of gun brandishing mobs today, only after seven persons had been killed, 56 wounded, and pillage had ruled fo several hours. The rioting was the aftermath of a revolution which overthrew President Hopolito Irigoyen.

The disorders were precipitated by troops which mistook a minor disturbance for a counter-revolu tion against General Jose Evaristo Uriburu and his ministry, who were induced into office yesterday.

The city was calm on the surface today but there still were cases of looting in the armories by young civilians who, having no arms, took vigorous steps to get them. One central armory was ransacked and set afire but there was no further

Sheridan-Brompton apartment hotel is very bearish on dogs, particularly on Buster, Mrs. Beatrice Smythe's high class airdale. Mrs. Smythe is being sued for $645 back rent. She takes the stand that she won't pay the rent until such a time as the hotel management ceases the practice of making the high class airdale ride in the servant's elevator. When she moved into the Sheridan - Brompton, Mrs. Smythe said, it was distinctly understood that Buster, being a ritzy creature, was to ride in the regular passenger elevators. Of late, however, the hostelry has altered its rules, barring Buster from going up and down in the lift with the paying guests.

Fear has been expressed that continued association with the hired help in the servant's elevator might develop in Buster an inferiority complex.

Settlement of the dispute is one of the things Judge Brothers has to worry about Thursday. In the interim, so far as the hotel is concerned, Buster can ride with the servants, walk up, or stay out altogether.

COSTE'S REAL BRAVERY

In considering the trans-Atlantic flight of Dieudonne Coste, one point not to be overlooked is the remark made to Colonel Lindbergh by Jean Borotra, the tennis player 000,000 bond issue for highways; as the two men were waiting at Curtiss field for Coste advocation of a law that automoto land T think," said Borotra, "that the greatest thing ties be retained the counties to Coste ever did was to turn back when it looked as if the odds were against him on his first attempt to cross the higher taxes on trucks and busses;

That remark will bear a little examination. Some time ago Coste made an attempt to fly across the Atlantic. He had prepared for it for months, to the accompainment of great publicity. The French nation was waiting eagerly for him to take off. He had a great reputation as a long-distance flyer, and his countrymen were confident that the could make the dangerous flight over the ocean.

Finally he took off. He headed west over the ocean and ran into be weather. Head winds cut down his speed. Finally, when he had just about reached the latitude of the Azores Coste realized that he would not be able to make it. So he calmly turned around and flew

As Borotra says, that was probably the greatest thing tivity of our people," said Richard he ever did; or, at any rate, it gives the key to his character better than any other act.

It took real courage to turn around and go back. A day before the Merchants Associalesser aviator would not have been able to do it. It tion of New York City. meant a great loss in popularity, a great outburst of public criticism. It meant that many Frenchmen would duobt his courage. It meant that he would be compared unfavorably, to other flyers who had kept going. But Coste combines great daring with a cool head.

He is one of those rare people with the ability to realize that blind courage is not half so valuable as courage trend in trade conditions" which which is mixed with intelligence. He is daring, but initiated the break in stocks. he is not a dare-devil. So he went back, to await another chance.

Coste knew that the man who "doesn't know when he is licked" is not quite as admirable as the man who ket cannot cure it. Many people does know when he is licked and who quietly withdraws to make ready for another flight. Borotra was right. His turning back on his first flight is one of the brightest incidents on his record.-NEA.

been befogged in the Illinois senatorial contest between Ruth McCormick and Jim Ham Lewis because of Ruth's liberalized attitude and the Anti-Salcon League's hint flation of commodity prices, the that it may support a third candidate, you are invited business horizon is clear. to turn your eyes toward Massachusetts and its primaries

The Bay States will pick a successor to the retiring Senator Frederick Huntington Gillett and there are warm primary battles in each party.

The election contest may or may not be between a dry Republican and a wet Democrat. That depends on the primaries. In any event the Republican primary result will be considered extremely significant except by leading to the store there.

An application for marriage literature was filed today by William Alexander and Mrs. Gladys Ward, those to whom its significance gives nothing but a pain in both of Pampa.

The important point is whether the Republican party in Massachusetts is going to vote wet. If it does, Mr Eben S. Draper will be nominated over Mr. William M. Butler and a wet Republican will fight it out with a wet Democrat this fall.

Commonly accepted theory about Massachusetts has been that a Republican must be dry to be nominated and wet to be elected. Just as Republican majorities are found in New York state outside of New York city, so is the greatest Republican strength in Massachusetts found in the counties and smaller communities outside the large wet cities.

So Butler, with his strong organization and his en-thusiastic dry support, is likely to win. But Draper's assets include a militant wet minority within the party, a general lukewarmness toward Butler among Republicans and a feeling among politicians of both parties that Draper would be the stronger nominee in November.

Butler failed in a previous election campaign for the Senate, and since Al Smith carried Wassachusetts in 1928 the idea has been prevalent in both Washington and Massachusetts that the prospects would never again be so bright for Butler as they were when he had the en-dorsement of his friend, President Coolidge, and lost Draper has made prohibition the main issue in the campaign. Butler came out unequivocally dry not long after announcing his candidacy.

If Draper wins, both parties in Massachusetts will have to be considered wet until one of them proves differently. As far as senatorial elections go, the Anti-Saloon League will then be left holding the bag in three large, important states-Massachusetts, New Jersey and Illinois, where each of the six major party candidates will be unsatisfactory to the drys. And the Republican party in the nation, which doesn't look anywhere near as dry now as it did in 1928, will seem just so much more moist than before. Draper would take his place alongside Dwight Morrow as a symbol of flaming wet hope.

There are five candidates for the Democratic sen atorial nomination and the outstanding ones, according to reports received here, are Marcus A. Coolidge of Fitchburg and Joseph F. O'Connell of Boston, both wet.

Anne gets extra work at Grand United studios. She goes to live with two other extras, MONA MORRISON and EVA HARLEY. The latter is a bitter individual, possibly because of her failure to get much work, and from her Dan earns a lot about the problems of the vast army of extras.

GARRY SLOAN, famous director has noticed Anne Winter. He gives her a "bit" in a picture. Dan, not liking Sloan, although he has not actually met him, is a bit apprehensive that Anne may find him too interesting.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

The casting director at Grand United had telephoned Anne Winter that he wanted to see her. The call came during a day when Anne was doing extra work in a picture at First National, and it was Eva Harley who gave her the message that evening

Anne said, "Really, Eva?" in such a tone of unbelief that the older girl laughed and put an arm around her, "You know I wouldn't fool you, darling," she said.

"You'd better lie down and rest Anne," Eva added, seeing the other's face suddenly turn pale and sensing that she might be attaching un- Anne shook ner head. warranted significance to a tele-phone call that might prove to be Miss Winter. We're picking a cast it's a shame we can't do more for have told her not to let her hopes edy."

Anne said, "I wonder what he Eva? Where's Mona?"

'Maybe he has a bit for you.' Eva answered. "Maybe it's something better, even; but I wouldn't count on it. Mona's working some place in Poverty Row," she added referrnig to a group of small independent studios. "Someone over there is making a quickie; they'll probably work her half the night."

Anne confessed to Rorimer some time later that she had lain awake half the night, trying not to build air-castles and desperately seeking sleep, with her pulse pounding madly and a not-to-be-stilled voice ringing in her fevered brain.

The casting director wanted to ask her some questions, Anne learn bility of something "interesting" for

He nodded. "Tap-dancing."

Anne said, "Why, I've never really gone in for it, Mr. Bell. I suppose I can do a few steps; I studied for a while when I was a little girl." "I don't expect perfection," Har-vey Bell said encouragingly. "Would you mind showing me what you can do?"

You mean right here—in you

"Of course-why not?" "Why"-Anne laughed nervously "I'm afraid I'd be terribly embarrassed, Mr. Bell." "You wouldn't be," he told her, "If you knew haw many girls would like to be in your shoes at this min-ute." He spoke with a friendly smile, and without a trace of conceit; and he told her it was a little refreshing to find someone who actualy had to be urged to exhibit her

"There was a girl in here just ahead of you," he said, "who was getting $450 a week in pictures for a while. She used to be a manicure." The casting director sighed. "She ought to be a manicure again We can't use her, and I'm afraid nobody can-not as long as she expects that figure. Any way, it seems she's been taking vocal lessons, and she wanted to sing for me,"

"And did she?" Anne asked. Bell said, "She's terrible. I told her I was too busy.—If you'd rather not do your stuff here we can walk over to one of the vacant stages. NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (P)-Madison Square Garden is having difficulty in stirring up old-time en-thusiasm over the 10-round battle between Al Singer and Jimmy Mc-Larnin at the Yankee stadium Thursday night.

When the match was first suggested, the Garden went for it in big way as a "natural" which should draw in the neighborhood of $300,000. Estimates of the gate have now dwindled to $150,000.

Just why the match has failed to stir public imagination cannot be said definitely. Singer has immense drawing power in his own right, particularly from his stamping ground in the Bronx which Mc-Larnin, one of the most colorful of present-day battlers, has been an outstanding favorite ever since he first appeared here.

of a mechanic who couldn't remove the Germ-Processed film from the cylinder walls of a motor belonging to Mr. Hirsch of that city. Neither gasoline nor naptha could remove this metal-penetrating film and now the mechanic recommend CONOCO motor oil to all his patrons.

Erom VIRGINIA

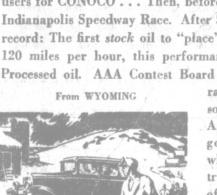

The sperdometer said 3,681 miles when W. W. Winborne, Jr., of La Crosse, Va., had the crankcase of his car filled with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. It said 5,156 miles before he drained it, and none was added. The motor was in perfect condition after running 1,475 miles on CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.

From MISSOURI

The oldest car in Denton County, Texas, belongs to Fred Kelsay, and J. D. White-side. On April 2nd, after several months use of Germ-Processed oil, these men removed the drain plug and drove their 1917 Chevrolet 61.4 miles without oil.

T ALL BEGAN last November with the vigorous introduction of the new CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil . . . The big news about this oil was its peculiar ability to penetrate metal surfaces. Too, it was positively stated that the greater oiliness of this new oil would increase gasoline mileage, resist dilution, and reduce the 40% to 60% of motor wear which other oils permit during the starting period of your car . . . There were skeptics, of course, but many were the new customers who appeared at Red Triangle stations . . . Soon it seemed as if everyone was talking about this new lubricant. Then came the Pike's Peak Tests, and Germ-Processed oil won first honors on 14 salient points over three other nationally known oils. That started something! More talk, and more new users for CONOCO . . . Then, before the Pike's Peak furore had died down, CONOCO entered the Indianapolis Speedway Race. After 500 miles at 92 miles per hour, CONOCO emerged with another record: The first stock oil to "place" in the money in this famous race. At Altoona, at speeds up to 120 miles per hour, this performance was duplicated, three of the first five cars using Germ-Processed oil. From OKLAHOMA

After he had run 1,000 miles on a fill of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, Alexander Leitch, of Ponca City, Okla., had a sample of it tested by a chemist. He writes, "Viscosity . . . very high considering the service. Dilution . . low . . . Sediment and cold tests favorable." Only 2 quarts were used by Mr. Leitch.

Robert McFadden, of Provo; Utah, examined the CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in his Model A Ford after running 1,045 miles and found that it "looked and felt almost as good as now." He writes: "Germ-Processed Motor Oil is far ahead of any other oil I have ever used."

"Finest ever used," says C. W. Knott, of Lincoln, Neb. He filled his Ford with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil at 727 miles and did not drain until the speedometer showed 2,618 miles. One quart was added. Mr. Knott praises Germ-Processed oil after running 1,891 miles on one fill. Resists heat in long run. From COLORADO

Clyde Frazec, of Denver, Colo., filled his car with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, added half a pint at 500 miles, did not drain until 1,238 miles. "The CONOCO oil was atill in good condition," he says. "Used during coldest weather—13 below zero... does not congest... starts easier... body to it after a long, hard drive."

These voluntary and un-paid for statements and affidavits will be shown to anyone requesting eye-proof. All are on file at the CONOCO offices in Ponca City, Oklahoma

In the Pike's Peak Tests, three other nationally known oils were tested side by side with CONOCO. More than ten thousand observations were made by the AAA Contest Board observers during these tests. After each oil was tested, all motors were tori down and inspected. Every motor part was micrometer measured. The results which were made public following the tests were startling and revolutionary. Fourteen points of excellence were granted CONOCO by the impurial authorities who supervised. Outstanding among these points was the fact that motor wear with Germ-Processed oil was reduced 76.4% over the average of the other three oils.

CHOICE OF ONE GROUP OF VERY SELECT STYLES

Under ordinary selling, such prices for such Dresses is nothing in the world but mercantile suicide. But this is no ordinary selling. The oc-casion is drastic. The time is short. The stocks are much larger than we want them to be, and so we mercilessly clash, crash, smash and slaughter prices, with no regard for their worth, cost or loss whatsoever. Yiu couldn't buy the materials these Dresses are made of for the prices we ask for them-

Another wild bargain turned loose. Here is one lot of Silk Dresses we will place on sale when the doors open at the ridiculously low price of $4.98. These fine Dresses are bargains indeed at $10.00 but out they go now at-
