HOUSTON OFFICER KILLED, ONE IS WOUNDED IN BATTLE

DAN MOODY MOVES TO PREVENT LIQUOR SALE TO STUDENTS

These laborers are agitating for a return to the pick and shovel. In normal times there would be no kick against a ditch-digging machine. But when children need food the anxious fathers are willing to do the most menial tasks, and they beg for the opportunity.

Cotton pickers are not plentiful in Pampa. There are idle men but they have not yet been forced out of their specialties. But there is no doubt that some machines do no better and little cheaper than men, and reduce the number of available jobs. On the other hand, some mechanical marvels create more jobs. The linotype drove the hand compositor either out of his profession or to improve himself and it, and by improving the newspapers made the big organs and big payrolls of modern journalism possible.

But huge productive methods through power machinery create not only a labor surplus, but a surplus of manufactured products.—This trouble began when people quit raising most of what they ate. Nature provided the crops and the animals of field and pasture. Without the complexities of modern social organization, problems of marketing and wage earning would not exist.—It is wonderful to have automobiles, radios, gas stoves, and canned foods, but there was less unemployment in cave man days. Man has not solved the problems of the poorer of his fellows by inventing luxuries for the more fortunate. Nature created no such dissimilarity or opportunity, although nature put an unmythopathic advantage within the power of the fit test.

A jewelers' association urges every well dressed man to wear two watches. Maybe on the theory that we would remember to wind at least one of them.

In order that all of us may have time to do nothing about it anyway, The Pampa calls attention to the fact that President Hoover has set aside the week of October 5 as National Fire Prevention Week.

Joe Leopold will speak to members of the Chamber of Commerce at the Methodist church basement Tuesday noon at the regular monthly luncheon. Mr. Leopold is manager of the southwestern division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. A man in that position ought to be good. In fact Mr. Leopold is a very able man. Many citizens should hear him.

Travelers who cannot get rooms in the best hotels here should not feel hurt. There are many citizens who have as much trouble finding resident accommodations.

A circus is a circus to the kiddies. Shamrock lads and lassies shed plenty of tears when Ringling's organization, threatened by Rangers, passed on through. Down at Lubbock the circus was given front page banner heads in the newspapers. Reason: A circus is not simply another money making scheme. It fulfills many of the dreams of childhood—a fact that lifts it out of the commonplace routine. While Shamrock grown-ups nearly went to blows on the question, the kids waited and hoped. The tots were more sane than their elders. For as the Shamrock Texas conciliatorily remarks: "What is a circus among friends?"

It is time to get down to business in clinching the Lubbock football train project. Take your $3.35 the B. O. D. at once and help to secure the train.

REWARDS ARE TO BE GIVEN BY GOVERNOR

Officers Also Will Be Rewarded for Efforts

DR. BENEDICT NOW FOR PLAN

Big Still Seized by College Station Agents

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—Definite steps to curb the sale of liquor to students in the state universities and colleges and public and parochial high schools were taken today by Gov. Dan Moody with the offering of a reward of $100 for evidence leading to the conviction of any person selling liquor to students anywhere in the state. In addition to the reward for furnishing evidence to enforcement officers, Governor Moody also said he would give $50 to prosecuting officials who obtained convictions on evidence of student liquor traffic. The governor stated the latter reward would tend to discourage the practice of shifting the cases from the state to federal courts. Under the state prohibition law persons found guilty of violating the liquor statutes may be sentenced to serve a two-year penitentiary term in addition to paying a fine for the first offense while the federal courts usually assess only a fine on the initial convictions.

Hearing Rumors
Commenting on the liquor situation in Texas, Governor Moody stated he had no reason to believe drinking among students was on the increase but that it had been "commonly reported" to him that liquor was being sold to high school and university and college students. The move to curb student trafficking in liquor was started last spring by Governor Moody but was given impetus this week with the arrest of two Austin men who were alleged to be the main source of supply for students at the University of Texas. The arrest was made by state rangers who form the governor's personal law enforcement organization.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the arrest of a woman and her two sons by state rangers near College Station, home of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college. Charges were filed against the trio in United States district court here, the officers reporting they had seized a 200-gallon still, eight 50-gallon fermenters, 400 gallons of mash, and about 35 gallons of whiskey.

Was Main Source
The still, according to officers, formed the main source of supply of students at A. and M. college. Governor Moody stated the final draft of his reward proclamation would be made early next week. He said he believed the reward would encourage persons to submit evidence to officials which otherwise might not be called to the attention of authorities.

"We want the bootleggers of the state to know they cannot corrupt the youth of the state without suffering the consequences," the governor said.

The governor's reward fund, appropriated annually by the legislature for law enforcement purposes, totals $9,000 and it is practically intact at the present time.

Announcement of the reward offer was favorably received by H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas, and Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, president of the Texas W. C. T. U. Dr. Benedict said the plan met with his hearty approval but he was for law enforcement "every day in every way."

OIL INTEREST AT HIGH PITCH DURING LAST WEEK AS GUSHER IS BROUGHT IN WEST OF CITY

Proration Move Fails to Discourage Making of Locations and Obtaining of New Leases

Old-fashioned oil excitement, such as Pampa had not seen in over a year, dominated this community during the last week with the coming in of the Graham-Cree-Hoover gusher, despite the rigid proration order now in effect in the Panhandle. Even the warning of H. J. Corcoran, proration umpire, that production must be cut over 12,000 barrels in the week beginning Sept. 19, in order to meet the 70,000-barrel maximum of the pipe lines, failed to freeze enthusiasm for leasing and staking locations.

If it were not for the fact that the Sullivan gusher is so near Pampa and the highway and railroad, and in addition was promoted by young Dick Graham, one could point out no reason why it aroused so much local interest. Because many a gusher just as large and some larger has been completed in Gray county oil fields this year.

The effect of proration was not as decisive last week as in the previous week. The decrease in the Panhandle for the week ending Sept. 18 was 2,728 barrels, compared with over a 12,000-barrel loss of the previous week. The daily average for the seven-day period was 82,369 barrels from 1,891 producing wells. Again Gray county stood for most of the loss, the production declining 1,835 barrels. Two new locations were made during the week in Gray county and one in Moore. Total number of operations was 139 with 60 wells drilling below 2,000 feet.

Twenty Completions
Completions in the Panhandle area numbered 20, distributed as follows: Hutchinson, 1 oil well and 1 gas well; Carson, 1 oil and 1 gas; Gray, 9 oil and 1 gas; Wheeler, 3 gas, 1 dry and abandoned; Potter, 1 gas. These completions added 3,416 barrels of initial flush production.

At the end of the week, Hutchinson county had 14 wells drilling below 2,000 feet; Carson, 8; Gray, 32; Donley, 1; Lipscomb, 2; Roberts, 1; and Wheeler, 2; total, 50.

CARSON
Empire Gas and Fuel company's No. 26 Burnett, section 78, block 9, total depth 2,488 feet; gas pay, 2,358-2,448 feet; initial production 15 million cubic feet of gas. Holmes et al's No. 3 Quinn, section 7, block 5, total depth 3,105 feet; sandy lime pay 3,005-95 feet; shot with 140 quarts, 3,005-95 feet; initial production 580 barrels on the swab.

GRAY
Cockrell-McIlroy's No. 1 Jackson, section 138, block 3; total depth, 3,215 feet; sandy lime pay, 3,185-3,215 feet; shot with 220 quarts from 3,155-3,215 feet; initial production 300 barrels on the swab. Continental Oil company's No. 1 Coombs-Worley, section 38, block 3; total depth 2,916 feet; hole filled with water, 2,900-16 feet; plugged back to 2,745 feet; gas pay 2,689-2,694 feet; shot with 20 quarts, 2,689-94; initial production six and one-half million feet of gas. Gulf Production company's No. 5-A Combs et al, section 38, block 3, total depth 2,925 feet; granite wash pay, 2,924-25 feet; initial production 485 barrels on the swab. Same company's No. 6-A Saunders, section 40, block 3, total depth 3,022 feet; sandy lime pay, 3,000-10 feet; shot with 380 quarts 2,903-3,022 feet; initial production 400 barrels on the swab.

Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 3 Sailor, section 138, block 3, total depth 3,225 feet; sandy lime pay 3,197-3,226 feet; initial production 115 barrels on pump. Shamrock Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Worley-Reynolds, section 84.

POLICEMEN IN ROBBER HUNT ARE VICTIMS

Twenty Shots Are Exchanged in Fight

ROOKIE COP IS HIT IN STOMACH

Furniture Store Had Been Robbed Earlier

HOUSTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—A motorcycle officer, felled by a fusillade of bullets was killed, and his partner, advancing to stop a bandit suspect, was wounded critically tonight when the officers shot it out with suspected robbers at Anita avenue and Milan street.

The shooting came as a sequel to a daring holdup at the Toghly furniture store, about half an hour earlier.

The slain officer was E. D. Fitzgerald. He died at a hospital from the effect of three bullet wounds in the region of the heart. His partner, W. B. Phares, a rookie member of the motorcycle squad, who emptied his pistol at the man who slew Fitzgerald, fell to the pavement with a bullet in the abdomen. He was near death.

The gun battle followed the hold-up at the furniture store in which two armed men participated. The robbers obtained $300, kidnaped T. T. Clarke, employe of the store, and fled. Clarke was let out of the robbers' car a few blocks from the store.

Immediately an automobile number was flashed over police wires to all detectives and motorcycle men on duty. When Fitzgerald and Phares came upon a car bearing the number given out as that of the bandit car, the gun battle which resulted in the death of Fitzgerald and the wounding of Phares followed.

More than 20 shots were fired during the exchange between the bandit and the officers. Hundreds of persons rushed to the scene and many saw the killer run from the scene. Several bystanders gave chase, but were out-distanced as the man fled into the darkness. So great was the confusion that officers were unable to determine whether one or two men participated in the battle.

GIRL IS WOUNDED
CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 20. (AP)—Barbara Ann Womack, 3, daughter of Mrs. Marguerite Womack, was shot accidentally and wounded in both legs today when a 22 caliber rifle in the hands of a small boy was fired. The girl was expected to recover.

WORKMAN IS KILLED AS SAND CRUSHES HIM IN DITCH—TRIES TO PROTECT HEAD WITH SPADE

An attempt to save himself from being buried at the bottom of an 8-foot ditch or "bell hole" under an avalanche of sand brought death to J. M. Barling, 38, Friday afternoon, when a spade which he threw up to protect his head sank deep in his brain under the pressure of the wall of soft earth. Scene of the tragedy was the Phillips Big Gray plant where Barling and a number of other workmen were preparing to weld a pipe to a 20-inch pipe line. Barling was down in the ditch. He looked up in time to see the sand bank and the loose earth which was piled high on the side, slowly begin moving toward him. He apparently realized that he did not have time to climb out, and he attempted to ward off the slipping heap of sand with his spade. The dirt gained momentum with every fraction of an inch it moved toward him, before descending; with crushing pressure upon the spade, the corner of which struck his forehead just above his right eye, slicing almost thru his brain. Workmen who saw the accident recovered the body in less than five minutes. He was brought in a Malone ambulance to the G. C. Malone funeral home. The body was buried yesterday in Reno, Okla., for burial. Until Sept. 1 Barling was employed by the Skelly Oil company. He is a native of Arkansas, and is a member of the Masonic lodge at Fort Smith near where two sisters and other relatives live. A sister, Mrs. Blanche Lovett, lives at Peno, Okla. Barling has been living near Pampa over a year. His father and mother are dead. He was unmarried.

MacNider Dons His Uniform

When Hanford MacNider, new United States minister to Canada, called on Viscount Willingdon, governor general, at Ottawa, he wore his full-dress army uniform instead of the formal civilian clothes ordinarily worn by American diplomats. It was recalled at Washington that the last American minister to appear in uniform, Viscount Willingdon (at the left) and MacNider are shown here.

MINISTERS TO FORCE AIRING OF COMPLAINT

Investigation Must Be Made by Group

LETTERS FORM ACTION BASIS

Bishop Now Touring in Jungles of Brazil

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 20. (AP)—An new complaint against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., bearing the signatures of four Methodist ministers and calling for another investigation into the activities of the church official, has been forwarded to Bishop William N. Ainsworth, of Birmingham, Ala., chairman of the college of Methodist bishops.

Announcement of the new charge was made today by the Rev. Costen J. Harrell, D. D., pastor of a Richmond Methodist church, who declined to reveal the nature of the complaint.

In announcing the complaint, Dr. Harrell issued the following statement:

"On yesterday a complaint against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was mailed to Bishop William N. Ainsworth, chairman of the college of bishops, Methodist Episcopal church, South, asking him to call a committee to investigate Bishop Cannon's case. This complaint was signed by four ministers of the church, Dr. Forrest J. Prentiss, of Baltimore; Dr. Coleten J. Harrell, and Dr. J. T. Marston, of Richmond and Dr. I. P. Martin of Abingdon, Va."

To Call Cannon
The complaint announced today would bring Cannon a second time before an investigation committee.

The first investigation concerning alleged bucket-shop transactions, was dropped at the Methodist conference at Dallas last May when Bishop Cannon appeared before a general session of the delegates and expressed himself as being contrite. Under rules of the Methodist church the filing of a complaint makes it mandatory for the bishop, with whom the complaint is filed to call an investigation committee. Twelve members comprise an investigating committee. If in the judgment of the committee the evidence warrants such action the accused official is suspended and the case referred to the general conference.

Since the general conference at Dallas the so-called Goldhurst letters, said to have been written by Bishop Cannon to H. Goldhurst of Kable and company, have been revealed. Kable and company was the concern Cannon was alleged to have dealt with. It was indicated from these letters that this company did not transact business like the ordinary brokerage houses and that Bishop Cannon was familiar with this matter.

Read in Congress
The letters, said to have been written in several instances on stationery of the Anti-Saloon league of Virginia, were spread on the pages of the congressional record of July 3, 1930.

At the Dallas conference the hearing on charges against Bishop Cannon dealt for the most part with evidence of gambling in stocks through Kable and company. In his appearance before the assembly of delegates to express his sorrow over the matter, the bishop sought to show that if he had violated the conference law against

AROUSING THE VOTERS

The most discouraging thing about present-day politics in America is the lack of interest usually displayed by voters in the candidates and issues of an election.

People don't ordinarily get "steamed up" over political fights as they used to. Since their interest lags they fail to go to the polls; as a result a small, organized minority—such as the ordinary municipal political machine—can generally have things pretty much its own way.

This failing is generally attributed to the American public's absorption in other interests. There are signs, however, that when genuine issues are presented in an election the voters will display all of their oldtime interest in affairs and will flock to the polls in droves.

The recent majority election in Detroit is a case in point.

Following a turbulent eight months under a new city administration, Detroit has put its mayor, Charles S. Bowles, out of office, recalling him at a special election and defeating him in the run-off fight after a bitter struggle.

The salient feature of it all was the interest taken by the average voter.

An extremely heavy vote was cast, more than 325,000 voters going to the polls; and it is noteworthy that many of these voters utterly ignored the gubernatorial and senatorial primary ballots, marking their votes only in the majority race. The fight for the governorship was just another political fight; the senatorial race, not quite so tame since it had two genuine leaders in the persons of Chase Osborn and James Couzens, seemed little more exciting. In neither race was there anything to impress the voter with the necessity of his casting a ballot.

But the majority race was different. The voters sensed that things of the highest importance were somehow involved in it. The candidates had dropped political platitudes in the campaign and had got down to the real issues. Detroit's voters responded by casting a very heavy vote.

The lesson is clear. Public apathy at election time is not the fault of the average voter. He'll turn out if the politicians make a real fight of the race—NEA.

DAN HORRIMEE, temperamental young man of Hollywood, can't get along with a studio executive at his contract as scenario writer and asks to be fired. But he isn't. Dan is interested in ANNE WINTER, a girl from Tulsa, Okla., who has shown enough ability to warrant a screen test and a decent part in a picture.
Dan lives with PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily movie column for a string of newspapers. Anne lives with two extra girls, EVA HARLEY, and MONA MORRISON. A famous director named GARRY SLOAN has shown some interest in Anne, hardly enough however, to warrant any high hopes.
LOUISE WATKINS, writer for movie "fan" magazines, informs Dan that she has heard rumors of the sale of Continental Pictures. Meanwhile, Anne is making good at Grand United. Sloan sees her on the set one day and asks her if she has a contract. When she says no, he says something must be done about that.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXII
Sloan had said nothing more. A smile glinted at his wrist watch, and Anne moved on, and the director followed her progress toward the dressing room before he turned away to stride through the litter of the vast interior toward the exit.
Throughout luncheon, words kept forming themselves in Anne Winter's brain, words that Garry Sloan had spoken: "Something ought to be done about that." They were words to repeat over and over again to ponder on deliciously, to experiment with, using different inflections in quest of different significances.
She ate lunch with a couple of girls from the chorus—New York girls, both of them, from Broadway musical shows. Their laughing, wise cracking chatter was a noisy accompaniment to the meal, but Anne made absent-minded replies, fooled around with her fruit salad and glass of milk.
One of them said, "I see you made a hit with Garry Sloan. Tell me how it's done, will you?"
Anne forced a smile. "I wouldn't say a hit, exactly."

"Didn't I see him giving you a lot of time? And he was using his eyes on that costume of yours, too."
Anne shrugged and made no reply. A light wrap now covered her bare legs and arms, flesh that had been conscious of beneath Sloan's cool scrutiny.
The other girl said something about giving her right arm to have Garry Sloan, the "biggest shot" at Grand United, take notice of her. "Maybe you don't know it, Anne, but you're in luck."
Anne said, "You're being silly. He only said a few words to me. I've talked with him before."
But he had said something ought to be done about a contract!
She bore the exciting news to Eva and Mona that evening. Mona had worked that day—her first job in more than a week. Eva had not. Eva hadn't seen the inside of a studio for nearly a month, and she was rather more discouraged than usual these days. Anne worried about her. Eva could be very bitter—bitter toward herself. Even Mona's unflinching cheerfulness could not always chase that hard look from the blond-haired Eva's eyes and forced her unwilling lips to smile.

But Eva tonight tried to be as unselfishly enthusiastic as Mona, and for a while she succeeded. Later on, though, she brought up an unpleasant topic. She was thinking, she said, of leaving Hollywood. Anne stared at her in dismay. "But why Eva?"
"Because," Eva shrugged—"oh because."
"Quit singing the blues," Mona advised.
But Eva said she was not singing any blues. "I'm just talking sense. I'm not getting by out here—I'll never get by. What's the use of staying?"
"I wish you wouldn't say such things, Eva," Anne pleaded.
"Yes," Mona said, "snap out of it." She went over to Eva and sat beside her and put her arm around her. "Cheer up! You'll get a break sometime, and then you'll wonder why you ever thought of giving up."
Eva stared moodily at the floor. "Yes," she said scornfully, "I'll get a break, all right. I've been kidding myself about that for three years."

"Well, you will. Anne got one, didn't she?"
Eva made no answer.
"Didn't she?" Mona insisted, and Eva turned on her impatiently.
"Yes!"
And she added in a tone less harsh: "Anne got a break because she knows what to do with it when she gets it. I haven't got what Anne's got, and neither have—"
Eva's voice stopped.
"Neither have I," Mona finished for her. "I know it; you don't have to spare my feelings." But she laughed, and her arm tightened around the other girl, drew her closer. "Aw, honey, don't be so blue. You make me blue, too, when you talk that way. I know we're not going to set the world on fire, but what of it?"
"I'll bite," said Eva bitterly. "What of it?"
Anne Winter sat by, watching. She had the uncomfortable feeling that all this had been caused by the announcement of her own good news. She was sorry for Eva, so much so that at times she felt almost ashamed of her good fortune. Toward Mona she felt differently. One's own good luck was Mona's, too, or so Mona made it appear. Happy-go-lucky, thinking not of today's disappointments, but of tomorrow's possibilities, Mona would not set the world on fire—but what of it? One didn't quit just because of that.

Mona was saying: "I may get a bit next week, Eva. What do you think of that? I was talking to an assistant director today and he said—"
"I know all about that, too," Eva cut in, not raising her eyes. "He probably wanted to make a date didn't he?"
"Now there you go!" Mona complained.
"I know, but these assistant directors and fourth assistant camera men and office boys give me a laugh. Always promising to do something for you! What can they do—even if they did mean what they said? You'd think some of them, to hear them talk, were as important as—as Garry Sloan!"
"Och, well," Mona got up and turned on the radio. "Let's change the subject." And she turned the dial. "See what KFI has to offer."
KFI offered a jazz orchestra. Mona snapped her fingers and hummed, tried a few tap-dance steps. She fumbled, began over again. "How do you do this, Anne, anyway?"
Anne got up and showed her. Mona looked on doubtfully. "It looks easy enough but—" She tried it again, but half way through the step her feet got tangled up again and she sat down.

"Too deep for little Mona."
"Why, you were doing fine, Mona," Anne said. "Keep it up; it's not so hard."
"Maybe not for you," Mona began to whistle.
Eva watched her, and Anne saw the blond girl's eyes soften and a half-smile curve her set lips. Presently Mona sat down beside her, put her arm around her again and began to talk. She chattered on about inconsequential things, trying to get Eva out of her black mood.
And later on Eva complained of a headache and said she was going to bed, and the others let her go.
Mona told Anne that evening that she was afraid Eva was serious about leaving Hollywood. "I've tried to talk her out of it. This is the first time I've heard her mention it to you."
"I wish she wouldn't feel that way," Anne said. "I don't know how I'd get along without Eva and you."
Mona smiled thoughtfully. "You'd get along all right. The trouble is, Eva thinks you might get along better without us. . . . I mean," she hastened to explain at Anne's look of astonishment, "that Eva thinks she's a burden, or something like that. She feels pretty badly because she hasn't been able to pay her share of the rent, for one thing."

"I hope," Anne said, "she doesn't think I mind paying a few extra dollars. Besides Eva does nearly all the cooking."
"But you can't make her see it that way. Gee, I've been hard up myself," Mona laughed. "I still am, for that matter. I mean, I know what it is to have rent day roll around and not be able to pay it. I've borrowed money from Eva many a time, and she from me. I don't know why she should feel that way unless—"
"Unless what?" Anne urged.
"Oh, I don't know. Unless it's because you're doing so well that it makes things seem all the more hopeless for Eva. Know what I mean?"
"I think I do," Anne said.
"I'm not that way myself," Mona confided. "If I see another girl get a break, it sort of encourages me. Oh, I'm not kidding myself about being a star or anything, but there's a lot of people getting by. Maybe I will."
"I'm sure you will," said Anne.

"Well, believe me, I can't either! The swell-headed chump! But Eva can; Eva's mad about him."
"About Frank! Maury?" Anne frowned.
"Yes. He and Eva were extras together, and Eva was crazy about him. I think she still is, although she says she hates him. . . . Anyway, he played her the lowest trick a man can pull on a girl. They were engaged to be married, and then when Maury began to get a few breaks, and commenced to mingle with some of the high-hats, he dropped Eva like that."
Mona snapped her fingers.
She said, "Eva's a funny girl, Anne. She doesn't have much to say, but she thinks a good deal."
Her eyes sought Anne's, and Anne silently assented. "And I know she still thinks a lot about Frank Maury," Mona continued. "People say Eva Harley is bitter and disillusioned and all that, but there's a reason for it. There usually is. Maury dropped her with-out saying a word, and she'll never get over it. . . . Somebody ought to break his no-good neck," she finished savagely.

Cats Win Third Straight as Cox's Homer Breaks up Game

CHICKS ARE IN DESPERATE PLIGHT NOW

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr., Associate Press Sports Writer FORT WORTH, Sept. 20. (AP)—For eight and five sixth innings today, the Memphis Chicks had the Fort Worth Cats licked to a frazzle in their third battle for Dixie baseball supremacy. It looked as though the Memphis Chicks were about to win a half game after five straight losses on their home lot.

But in the ninth and Joe Bonowitz stepped in to play hero. With two on first, Larnon Cox, Cat right-fielder, made one of Kit May's curves far and wide over the Paladinos and the Texas league champions had their third win in the bag, 4 to 3. Larnon's knock was only the eighth the Cats had managed off May, while the Chicks collected eleven off "Red Roberts."

There was never a more dramatic climax to a ball game. Bonowitz opened the fateful ninth with a single that barely eluded Rabbit Benton at short, but seemed destined to die there as Brown popped weakly to first and Fowler skied to deep center.

Then May got careless and was wide on his first throw to Cox. The next came in and Cox pounded it far into the right field bleachers, but foul. The Chicks gathered about May and urged discretion but he failed to heed and cracked another squarely across the plan. Cox simply picked it.

The disheartening loss left the Chicks with little hope. In order to capture the Dixie series and the winners' end of the purse they faced the necessity of taking four straight games including two in the Cats' back yard. To make their plight worse, they were due to be opposed Sunday by Lil Stoner, ace of the Panther staff.

Armour Now in Lead at Sunset

SUNSET HILL COUNTRY CLUB, St. Louis, Sept. 20. (AP)—Under pressure of a spectacular field of par 3s, Tommy Armour of Detroit turned in the second half of a great 135-stroke card over the water spruced Sunset Hill Country club course today to take a shot-shot lead over Walter Hagen of New York in the fight for gold in the $10,000 St. Louis open golf championship.

Armour, fresh from his conquest in the professional golfers' association championship, shot a 67 on his first round yesterday and then came back with a 68 on his second today for his low score. But so fast was the rush behind him, especially by the "Hater" who came in with cards of 69 and 68, that his nine better than par score was none too comfortable.

Pampa Gorillas Win Another Game As LeFors High Is Beaten 25-0

Pampa's Gorillas defeated the LeFors high school team 25 to 0 in a game played here yesterday afternoon.

Pampa 12 0 6 7-25.

In the first period Ragsdale went thru the line 5 yards for a touchdown; and McDuffy raced around, right end 20 yards for another marker. In the third quarter, Clark was on the receiving end of a 30-yard pass and scored a touchdown. In the same quarter, McDuffy received the ball on the kickoff and carried it 30 yards; Rodgers, substituting at quarterback, squirmed thru the line for a 20 yard gain. Robinson was a consistent ground gainer for the Gorillas with his long end runs.

Stevens made a great play in the fourth quarter, intercepting a pass and running 40 yards for Pampa's final touchdown.

The spirit of the Gorillas was best demonstrated perhaps, at the very close of the game. Knowing that they were ahead by three touchdowns, a team with less fighting spirit would have let down a bit in their efforts. A bad break placed the ball on the 2-yard line in the hands of the LeFors grid-ers. With the time rapidly slipping away, the game safe in their hands whether LeFors put over a touchdown or not, the Gorillas held their opponents for four downs and the game ended with the Inagais, as they once styled themselves, in possession of the pigskin.

Twenty Pampa players had chances to demonstrate their football ability in this game, as substitutions were plentiful. Coach Workman said that only two men out of the twenty played the entire game.

The Gorilla line-up was: Clark; Frost; Green; Powell; McNeil; Howard; Gill; Robinson; Stevens; McDuffy; Ragdale.

Coach W. O. Workman said every member of the squad kept begging to be sent into the fray and he complied with many of the requests, sending in as substitutes at different times of the game Brunley, Vaughn, Bargas, Gribble, Rodgers, Keith, Bentley, Cox, and Langdon.

Circular letters have been mailed to all Class B high school teams within a radius of 70 miles, requesting games, and a definite and complete schedule is expected to be announced soon.

CARDS GAIN HALF GAME THO DIVIDING

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals gained a half game in the mad struggle for the National league pennant today but lost a chance for a bigger gain as they divided a double header with the Phillies while their rivals from Brooklyn winning the first 9 to 3 but a ninth inning rally gave the Phils the second, 4 to 3. The Cardinals lead now is three full games.

A seven-run rally in the seventh inning gave the Cards their opening triumph after the teams had battled on even terms for six frames. Watkins and Mancuso led off the lucky seventh with successive home runs and before the last man was out, singles by Gelbert, Adams, Bottomley and Watkins and a triple by Harley added five more. In the eighth, Chuck Klein hit his 38th home run of the season for the Phils' third run. Mancuso also had another homer.

Robins Beat Again BROOKLYN, Sept. 20. (AP)—A five-run Pittsburgh rally today out in the eighth inning today dumped their Robins to their fourth straight defeat and reduced their stock in the pennant market to a very low figure. The Pirates won the game, 6 to 2. The defeat left the Robins in a tie for second place with the Chicago Cubs, who also were defeated, but dropped them to three games behind the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Pittsburgh 000 000 051-6 10 0
Brooklyn 100 000 100-2 6 0
French and Spencer and Hemsley; Elliott, Moss, Thurston, Melmach and Lopez.
BOSTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—Boston's Braves put on their annual September war paint here today and gave Joe McCarthy's Cubs a 3 to 2 defeat while the westerner's running mate in the National pennant chase, the Brooklyn Robins, were losing to the Pirates. The loss still left the Cubs and Robins hand-in-hand in their pursuit of the league leading Cards.

Dutch Mantell Is To Wrestle "Tex" Watkins

Dutch Mantell, so ugly that people like to look at him, will be the chief drawing card on the Pla-Mor wrestling program next Thursday night. The Prince of Whistles, returning from a tour, has consented to come to Otis Clingman's city for a personal appearance. Dutch will be welcomed because he is a strong booster for the local favorite.

Mantell will not be less popular because he will be swapping punches with one of Clingman's arch enemies, Sailor Tex Watkins. Watkins has not been here for a long time, but the fans remember his terrible tactics of last winter.

Trifton has it that Mantell himself was once a sailor. Just whose navy the ancient one served is not clear to the writer, but anyway Dutch says there will be a little tea party Thursday between a couple of gobs. It won't be pink tea, however, but something about as spirited as the historical little party they had over at Biston some time ago.

"In our navy we had wooden ships and iron men," blusters the Dutch one, "but in Tex Watkins' navy they had iron ships and block-headed seamen. So I am going to knock his block off."

With which words he made a face so terrible that the scribe was left speechless—and wordless.

AMARILLOAN'S BURY LAWTON BY 22-2 SCORE

BUTLER FIELD, Amarillo, Sept. 20. (Special)—Amarillo's Golden Sandies, 1936 edition, opened the season here this afternoon with a surprising victory over the Lawton, Okla., Wolverines. The score was 22 to 2.

Due to stellar booting on the part of Ray Fowler, Sandy quarrel, the ball was kept almost constantly in Lawton territory. The teams battled on throughout the first half with Lawton on the defensive. But for a safety early in the game, the Sandies were unable to count. Lawton made no threat in the first half.

In the third quarter, a passing attempt by the visitors rebounded when Hancock, Sandy half, grabbed one of Ree's heaves and carried it 35 yards for a touchdown. Bufkin and Fowler then accounted for two more touchdowns in a few minutes of each other.

Lawton made the greatest threat in the fourth quarter when they drove deep in Sandy territory, but were turned back by a stalwart pass defense. A bad pass in the end zone gave them a safety after losing the ball to the Sandies.

TRUTH Stranger Than Fiction

Musical Acorns!

$7,000,000 A YEAR!

Less than an ounce of metal is earning $7,000,000 a year!

While it's true that acorns are musical, it is a little hard to believe. But the man who inspects our new Fall line of clothing will have no difficulty in believing that it leads in style and quality.

Men who live in the great open spaces care little about the cut of their clothes. But the men who live in Pampa do. The long list of prominent men who trade here is ample proof that this is so.

And it's also true that the earning power of many Pampa men has been increased by the good appearance which our clothes and haberdashery give them. Dress well and succeed!

Hedley Woman Hurt In Crash

A visitor in the city, Mrs. W. E. Kirkpatrick of Hedley, mother of Mrs. W. M. Moore, suffered painful cuts on her face and bruises last night about 10 o'clock when the car in which she was riding with her daughter was struck broadside by a hit-and-run driver at the corner of Francis avenue and Frost Street.

Mrs. Moore was driving west on Francis and was turned the corner headed west when the other car which was being driven east on Francis smashed into the middle of the Moore machine.

The driver of the other automobile backed his car away from the wreck and drove rapidly down the street, Mrs. Moore said. She secured the license number of the machine, she said.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick was taken to McKean-Connor hospital in a G. C. Malone ambulance.

New Medicine Ends Suffering Of Five Years

"I Was About to Give up Hope Before I Found Konjola," Says This Lady.

MRS. ALLENE TIPTON
 "For five years I was troubled with neuritis and indigestion," said Mrs. Allene Tipton, 2311 Broadway, San Antonio. I used many medicines but none of them helped me like Konjola. The neuritis pains in my arms and chest were almost unbearable. After eating I was sure to suffer the cramping pains of indigestion. My stomach bloated with gas and my heart often palpitated wildly.
 "I was about to give up in despair before I found Konjola. I had not completed the first bottle before I began to note an improvement and now, after the third bottle, I have greatly improved in every respect. Neuritis pains have gone entirely. I now eat heartily without any discomfort afterward. I gladly endorse this splendid medicine."
 Given a real test, in most cases over a six to eight week period, Konjola has done for thousands all that it did for Mrs. Tipton. Why not begin with this great medicine today?
 Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. ADV.

Markets

Grains Unsteady
CHICAGO, September 20. (AP)—
 Grain prices rose and fell today chiefly in accord with alternating developments with regard to charges made that the Russian government was disorganizing market values by selling large amounts of wheat short.

After a hesitant start, wheat jumped up 2 5/8c a bushel, responsive to word of moves to halt any such action of Russian agents, but near the end of the day prices fell off to new bottom records.
 The late weakness of wheat was about simultaneous with news that President John A. Bunnell of the board of trade had telegraphed to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde saying the board was a recognized world market, and that hedges, protecting grain in all positions, were customarily placed here.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at a fractional rally from the day's bottom figures and unchanged to 1-2c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to 7/8c off, oats 1-8c up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7c.
 Provisions averaged lower in the absence of any active demand.
 Closing indemnities: Wheat—December 83 1-4 3-8, 86 7-8; March 86 3-4, 90 1-4; May 89 5-8 3-4, 93 3-8 1-2. Corn September (bids) 88 1-4; December 83 3-4 7-8, 86 5-8 3-4; March 85 1-8, 88 3-8; May 86 3-4 7-8, 90 1-8.

Livestock Sluggish
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 20. (AP)—
 Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit this week was depressed by sluggish demand at eastern dressed beef markets where the weather was warm and humid. Killing classes of cattle for the week are from 25-125 lower. Country demand for replacement stock was the widest of the season with values at some points higher. Quality stockers showed marked improvement. Receipts were around 251,600.
 Hogs were unevenly steady to 40 lower than a week ago. A few markets were able to hold values steady on heavy butchers. Prices on lights and light lights fluctuated considerably from day to day while weight averages 200-260 lbs. generally sold at the top. Offerings were around 361,600.
 Fat lambs were tendered a price jolt of 50-125 and aged killing stock ruled weak to 50 lower. Current values on fat lambs are about as low as any time this season. The supply approximated 459,000.

Cotton Is Steady
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20. (AP)—

The cotton market was fairly active for a short Saturday session although prices fluctuated within a comparatively narrow range the spread being 6 points on the active positions. Liverpool was better than due but the opening was steady at unchanged prices. Prices eased off during the first hour losing 4 to 6 points mainly on liquidation in advance of the first October notice day. There were large buying orders under the market around 11 cents for December and this supported the market and caused prices to rally 6 points during the second hour. The close was slightly under the best, showing net losses for the day of 2 to 6 points.
 Liverpool came 1 point better than due but first trades here were unchanged. Prices soon eased off slightly, October going to 10.80 and December to 10.97, or 4 to 5 points from the previous close.

O. K. Used Car Values
 Naturally you are particular about the Used Car you buy. You want one you know is in good condition. It is a well known fact that ALL USED CARS THAT LOOK ALIKE ARE NOT ALIKE.
 Here are some of the things you want in the car you buy:
 First—It should be good looking.
 Second—It should run well.
 Third—It should be one you can run economically.
 Fourth—It should be reconditioned by trained mechanics.
 Fifth—It should be one you can operate with the least depreciation.
 Sixth—Last, but not least, you want the car you buy to come from a responsible dealer, located in your home town.

Public Forum

Editor, The News:

In memory of Mrs. Bowers — As a pioneer woman I knew intimately Lizzie Martin Bowers. In thinking of those days in Roberts county in the nineties, she stands out as a splendid character.

A kinder, more sympathetic heart never beat in human breast. I never remember hearing her speak an unkind or cross word to anyone, having lived in the house with her for some twelve months. I learned to appreciate her childlike trust in God and faith in His promises.

She was one of the most unselfish persons I have ever known. She never grew tired of laying herself out for those she loved.

She had a warm place in her heart for old people and was patient and kind in her attention to them.

I did not have the privilege of associating with her in later years, but I know she was always faithful and true to God and those she loved.

If there are windows in heaven and candles in golden candlesticks, I know that Lizzie has lighted one of the most beautiful and placed it in the window to light those left behind to the everlasting home where there will be no more parting.

A friend who loved her.

Cooking Expert Denounces Indefinite Measurements

Interest Shown In School Which Is To Be Taught Here By Myra Oliver Dougan; Large Crowds Are Expected

The "dash of salt" or "sprinkle of pepper" that characterized our grandmother's recipes, have gone by the board in modern cookery, and the modern cook measures her ingredients with the precision of a chemist. This fact is stressed by Myra Oliver Dougan, who is to conduct a cooking school here Oct. 14-17, inclusive, under the auspices of the Pampa Daily News. The school which is free of charge, is a courtesy to women readers of this news.

Seasonings vary with nationalities—largely because mother-to-daughter method of dissemination or recipes. The lowly garlic, that used with the greatest discretion, can add much to the savoriness of a dish, has long been identified with the Italians, who use it in a degree unpalatable to non-Italian races. The ancient Egyptians could not doubt have carried the staid epithet of "garlic eaters," with equal propriety. Herodotus, in 450 B. C. informs us that at that time, there existed on the great Pyramid or Cheops a tablet informing the passerby that 1600 talents worth of onions, garlic, and radishes had been fed to the workmen on that great monument.

FEMININE FANCIES

By HOLLYCE SELLERS

In no other country of the world do women have such varied and interesting careers as in the United States.

Recently Mrs. Ida M. Tarbell, distinguished editor and writer, was asked by the North American Newspaper Alliance to select the 50 living women who have done the most for the welfare of the United States in the arts, professions, business and other callings. This she did in answer to the selection recently by former Ambassador Gerald of a list of men who "govern" America.

In selecting the list she used a three-fold measuring rod: Ability (1) to initiate or create, (2) to lead or inspire, (3) to carry on.

She then grouped the names loosely into five classes: (1) educators, teachers, scholars; (2) social, political service; (3) business; (4) the arts; (5) sports.

The first name listed is Dr. M. Carey Thomas, pioneer in higher education for women. Dr. Thomas organized Bryn Mawr college in 1884 and founded Bryn Mawr summer school for women in industry. She was the first woman trustee of Cornell university.

Then there is Dr. Florence R. Sabin, called by Dr. Simon Flexner the most eminent of living woman scientists. Her studies, extending over nearly 35 years, have contributed particularly to the knowledge of the blood and to its diseases. She is the first woman elected to the National Academy of Science. It may be added that in addition to her scientific knowledge she is an intelligent investigator, inspiring teacher, and appreciator of good music.

First listed under the division of social and political service is Jane Addams, who is called America's most revered woman. Forty years ago she created Chicago's Hull House, a center from which a continual stream of social betterment has flowed into the city and country, and is still its active head. Furthermore, she is founder and president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, having branches in more than 20 countries.

An outstanding business woman mentioned is Mary Dillon, president of $12,500,000 Brooklyn N. Y. gas corporation. At 17 she entered this organization as a $10-a-week clerk. She decided that the business was badly run and that she would improve it. From that time on she has steadily done so.

In the arts, there is Cecelia Beaux, portrait painter, represented in all the leading galleries of the world.

Disguise Helps

There are many household dishes in every home that have been served so long, a disguise could not help but improve their palatability. Here again seasoning which is the real magic of the kitchen came into play. The careful administration of proper seasoning and much of the missionary work in the seasoning field is being done by home economists, who have had at their disposal laboratories and supplies far beyond the reach of the average housewife. With the final discovery of a seasoning secret that will rejuvenate an otherwise tasteless meal into a highly delectable epicurean treat, the data is carefully charted for dissemination to house-

He said that when a player was tackled on that field he was often struck by the thorns of the locust trees surrounding the field.

Hat-Hunters in Paris Show Decided Interest in Baby Bicornes and Beret

BY DIANA MERWIN
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)
PARIS, Sept. 20. (P)—Hat shopping in Paris evolves into a sort of chant with a theme of "tricorne, bicornes, bonnet or beret."

All of the important forms of autumn millinery of the brimless variety. Tricorne and bicornes fit right into the picture with the modified coachman coats, double breasted with wide lapels, which will undoubtedly have a big following among the young and slender.

Such coats and a basque bodice suits or dresses require small saucy hats turned up off the face.

Quaint Costumes
There is more than a smack of 1890 quaintness in many autumn costumes. The bonnets and baby bicornes and tricorne emphasize it and bring it up to date at the same time.

Berets, of many types and materials, permeate the whole range of smartness, sport, tailored, afternoon and even evening.

Parisians prefer their tricorne small and shiny. Black hatter's plush or panne velvet are prime favorites.

The smartest tricorne are the shallowest and their upturned brims are a scant three inches deep, folded back closely against the head. Tricorne are worn at a jaunty angle.

Bicornes, or two cornered hats, are less military and fall readily into draped velvet forms. There are many shifred velvet bonnets in the smartest millinery collections.

Evening berets, originating with Agnes, are shallow, merely covering the top of the head.

They may be made of the fabric of the wrap, of silk velvet or scintillant paillettes.

Epworth League Give Program

The Senior Epworth league of the First Methodist church held religious service at Hopkins No. 2 school-house Friday night. The service consisted of a talk by T. N. Fraiser on the Twenty-third Psalm; a talk by R. A. Selby on the teachings of Christ; a special number, "Will Jesus Find Us Waiting?" by the league quartet; duet by Dorothy Dodd and Ruth Wakeman, "The Old Rugged Cross," and a duet by Walter Hardin and Leon Cook, "The Haven of Rest."

The services were conducted by John E. Shannon. There were 150 persons in the audience. The program will be repeated tonight at the First Methodist church.

HOME WANTED

TODAY there are perhaps five hundred families in Pampa looking for living quarters, an apartment would satisfy temporarily, but homes are preferred. Many of these families are forced to reside in unmodern and unsanitary makeshift places, because there are none other available. The crying demand is—

GIVE US A PLACE TO LIVE

Every day many men and women call at the different lumber yards inquiring for large and small houses, just anything that they can have all to themselves, a place where they can live under a separate roof from some disagreeable neighbor or an apartment house. Pampa is in the public eye; much building here has attracted nation-wide attention. The recent extension of the local oil fields has added to the permanency of Pampa and with the coming of the Denver railroad there is no longer any doubt that in the near future Pampa will be the largest city in the Texas Panhandle. Only one thing is needed to make Pampa the most desirable place to live, and that is more residences for her population. There is no better investment today than well improved rent property. Consult any Pampa lumberman.
