OVERSEAS FLAG-WAVING IS NOT IN OUR LINE

The mouthpiece of a nation in any foreign land is its envoy to that land. And when that envoy makes a slip of the tongue, then his nation is usually held responsible for the utterance and may have to suffer all the added constructions that prejudice, favorable or unfavorable, may allow.

Sometimes these slips are harmless enough to be good for a laugh all around—and possibly a red face for the envoy. The case of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman was one such example.

For one thing, waving the nationalistic flag outside the privacy of the family circle just is not in the accepted American tradition. Even the bombastic stump speaker, who used to spellbind Independence Day picnickers at county seats the country over, was not so hard put for a topic that he had to delve into foreign relations.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—News comes from Germany which strikes in us a sympathetic chord. The Hitler government has prohibited alarm clocks which play the "Horst Wessel song."

Back of that order undoubtedly is an untold human interest story. But our guess is that some loyal Nazi patriot was sleeping peacefully through the 7 a. m. hour when an alarm clock down the hallway began dingling off the Horst Wessel song.

Horst Wessel is a sort of national hero in Germany, like Sigfried, although his violent death a few years ago ended a private life that reputedly would have lifted American eyebrows from Boston to Burlington.

Such national appeal has the Horst Wessel song that the loyal Nazi unquestionably flung aside his bed covers and leaped to a shouting salute on a second morning as the alarm clock let go. And perhaps, so fervent is the patriotism of loyal Nazis, he leaped again on the third morning.

TEX'S TOPICS

Attaches at county jail announced today that the "Rule in their jail is not "Ruey" Morgan. The jail "Rule" is black and the other "Ruey" is white. Ruey Morgan is not the kind who gets jailed, but the boys over at the courthouse like to kid him about the similarity in names.

Time payments on the 15 cents a day savings plan have relieved auto makers of one job. Buyers are nickel-plating their new models themselves. Balloons will be sent up to look into the "eye" of hurricanes.

Jugoslavia's King Peter II now has his long-wanted American baseball suit. With a course in umpiring, he ought to do pretty well against the opposition. The $100 monthly alimony granted a Detroit artist's wife might be properly described as a drawing account.

Larold Miller, the Pampa Oilers business manager, is working hard on a plan to get his team to the Denver tournament the end of this month. However, if he does it, he's going to need some powerful assistance from the fans here at home.

Walt (Carter's) Wanner is busier than ever these evening on his N. Russell street shrubbery, since that new horde of grasshoppers moved into Pampa Saturday. You can find Wanner out in the yard going strong with a poison squirt gun in most any of his spare moments.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY Fifty new phones were installed and a new directory was planned.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY Inadvertent connecting of a water pipe to a gas line flooded the fuel mains.

Horst Wessel song in Germany and the Star-Spangled Banner in America is 5 p. m. Then if the troops come marching by with the band a-playing, the national anthem causes the hackles to rise pleasantly on the back of the neck and a stiff-backed salute is at once a graceful response and a helpful exercise.

But that's the trouble with loyal patriots. They are forever wanting to play the Horst Wessel song or its kin at a time when less hyperthyroid but no less loyal patriots don't want to leap to a tingling salute. They endure it a few times but ultimately get mad about it and insist there ought to be a law. Ultimately there is a law.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Did President Roosevelt sell land for a right-of-way across his Georgia property? F. L. C. A. The President has donated a 300-foot right-of-way through a portion of his land to the state park system of Georgia, to be used as part of the scenic highway along the ridge of Pine mountain.

Q. How fast is a transport airplane moving when it strikes the ground in landing? J. G. W. A. The modern transport planes must land at a speed of between 50 and 60 miles per hour.

Q. How long did the marathon preacher in Los Angeles talk? W. H. A. The Rev. A. Earle Lee preached for nearly 21 hours.

Q. What is meant by daughters of Zion? E. G. A. Zion was a hill in Jerusalem which became the royal residence of David and his successors, and was therefore the seat of Jewish government.

Q. Please explain why an elastic ball will travel farther than a non-elastic ball when hit with equal force by a golf club? L. C. A. A. The National Bureau of Standards says that an elastic ball when struck by an instrument such as a golf club stores up elastic energy which as it leaves the golf club it uses in increasing its velocity over that of the club.

Q. What are parlor pinks? W. N. H. A. The expression refers to those who express radical points of view while sitting chatting with friends, but who refuse to take any action or express their opinions in any place where there might be a possibility of publicity.

New Testament With Words of Lord in Red

England developed the idea of an edition of the New Testament with the sayings of the Saviour printed in red. It has great vogue in the old country and in the United States, but not many of the present generation have ever seen one of these unusual volumes.

The Pampa Daily News offers a similar red letter edition of the New Testament to its readers. It contains 254 pages, printed on thin Bible paper, and is bound in a flexible black cover. In the back of the book is a special section giving the names of the trees, waters, mountains, musical instruments, and birds mentioned in the Bible.

I enclose herewith 20 cents in coin (carefully wrapped in paper) for a copy of the New Testament.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

For those interested in the fabulous career of the late Col. T. E. Lawrence, I know of no book, outside his own "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," better than the new Doubleday Doran publication, "T. E. Lawrence: A Biography Seen Through Many Eyes" ($4).

In this volume a large number of Lawrence's friends, among them such celebrities as Bernard Shaw, Winston Churchill, E. M. Forster, Ronald Storrs, P. Yeats Brown and Lowell Thomas, write of the man as they knew him. Some were boyhood friends of his; others knew him in Arabia and the World War.

Wholly apart from its excellence as a biography, the book is noteworthy for its method of presentation. Here is a scheme which might be followed with profit in the execution of further biographies of men who still live in the recollections of our contemporaries.

So They Say:

How to be just to all is the democratic requirement of life.

Garner Refuses To Look at His Friend in Death

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 19 (AP)—The epic chapter of American history written by Joseph Taylor Robinson of Arkansas ended today in a flower banked grave.

Vice-president John Nance Garner came from his home at Uvalde, Tex., to officially represent President Roosevelt, Postmaster General James R. Farley stood beside the grave, nearly 50 of Senator Robinson's colleagues and a large delegation from the house served as honorary pall bearers.

Vice-president Garner led the congressional delegation past the open casket, which Mr. Robinson was allowed to be alone.

How House, Senate Will Shape Up If Democratic Party Split Takes Place

By ROONEY DUTCHER
Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 19—Certain men very close to the White House, convinced that the Democratic party is going to split and frothing with impatience over the delay, already have begun to list the goats they expect to go galloping—or to be pushed—toward the Republican party.

Technically, there are 75 Democrats in the Senate and 333 Democrats in the House.

Actually, says a high official about as close to FDR as any White House secretary—and whose name would make a large Page One headline if your correspondent were allowed to use it—there are about 55 senators and 275 representatives who can be counted as Democrats.

They will go through for a progressive New Deal program such as has been outlined by Roosevelt, the party leader. This man goes on to talk as if he expected the other Democratic members to be sloughed off.

"Some of the 55 and some of the 275 won't like what we're trying to do," says this New Deal counter-partner. "But they'll take it!"

Fish Has His Troubles

Significant of Republican efforts to honey up to southern conservatives is a bill by Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York who led a regiment of colored troops in the war.

Fish urges a pretentious memorial or statue here in honor of the southern hero, Gen. Robert E. Lee. He keeps pestering Congressman Keller of Illinois, chairman of the library committee which has to do with such things, about it.

But Fish is having trouble getting anything out of a Democratic house, even though it is a tribute to "Marse Robert," since his accusatory exposure of the fact that Mrs. Roosevelt has her radio earnings turned over to charity without paying income tax on them.

Lewis Will be Advised

John L. Lewis is going to get some free advice on personal publicity. Some of his journalistic admirers are convinced he has been getting bad publicity breaks given that much of it is his own fault. So they plan to sit down with Lewis and make some suggestions.

This group believes Lewis does not appreciate the importance of middle class opinion, that he should make it more obvious he is a human being, that he should have more press conferences, and that he must realize his public relations technique and organization are more important than they were when he was simply head of the United mine workers.

(Fact is the Lewis press conferences, usually attracting 30 to 50 news men, are at least as impressive as Roosevelt's. Lewis stands. The correspondents sit in handsome

Executions Cast a Pall

Society reporters failed to report that reception's outstanding feature—the atmosphere. The wave of executions in Russia cast a pall. Some of those invited didn't come at all. Others who came left quickly.

Those remaining looked vainly for certain attaches and guessed as to their fate. Most of all the crowd whispered about popular Ambassador Troianovsky. Just ordered back to Russia for a time. Some of Troianovsky's best friends—Dolezky, Roman, Mikhailsky—had been arrested, presumably doomed. Did Troianovsky fear the worst, secretly in his heart? No one knew. But many felt tension in the air.

It was Congressman Sirovich of New York who approached Troianovsky and Lewis as they stood talking, and blurted out:

"Say, what about all these generals being shot over in your country?"

"Congressman," intervened Lewis.

By HARRELL E. LEE.

AUSTIN, July 19 (P)—Charles V. Terrell of Decatur, one of the oldest Texans in governmental service, likely will engage next summer in his political campaign.

Friends believe he will stand for another six-year-term as a member of the powerful state railroad commission. So far there has been little talk about the race but he probably will have opposition.

Terrell, now chairman of the commission, has been in public service for more than half a century. He became city attorney at Decatur in 1886.

In addition to being railroad commissioner for the last thirteen years, he has served as district attorney, state senator, county judge, and state treasurer. He once was president pro tem of the Senate.

Two of the three members of the commission may be on the stump next year. Ernest O. Thompson, the only one of them under 68, is considered a probable candidate for governor.

Membership on the commission is one of the most desirable posts in state government. The salary is $7,000 annually, and the commissioners run once every six years.

If Texas alters its constitution in the August 23 balloting, the alteration likely will be made by less than 10 per cent of the state's more than 6,000,000 residents.

The comptroller's department estimates the number of eligible voters in Texas this year at fewer than 90,000. Observers will be greatly surprised if as many as 60 per cent of them take time to vote.

Poll tax payments showed a decline this year in all parts of Texas, as they always do in non-election years. The decrease in some counties, however, was fairly small.

Galveston county, for example, had 14,494 paid poll taxes as compared with 15,255 in 1936. Nueces county dropped from 14,496 to 9,842, El Paso from 15,230 to 13,110 and Bexar from 62,888 to 51,004.

Poll tax payments in Harris county, however, fell off more than 50 per cent. The state's most populous county has but 39,176 paid poll taxes this year, compared with 83,566 in 1936.

Other counties with large decreases include Cameron, from 10,937 to 5,725; Dallas, from 62,364 to 37,502; Gray, from 5,685 to 2,071; Gregg, from 12,530 to 5,079; Jefferson, from 29,298 to 16,099; Lubbock, from 8,571 to 4,136; McLennan, from 10,990 to 8,772; Potter, from 8,284 to 3,764; Tarrant, from 37,717 to 21,753; and Wichita, from 14,159 to 6,966.

BITTER PARTY BATTLE LOOMS IN ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 19 (AP)—The prospect of a bitter party fight over selection of the successor to the late Senator Joseph T. Robinson loomed today as the state democratic committee was called into special session Friday.

Governor Carl E. Bailey indicated a special election would be held about Sept. 14 to fill the post.

The 42-year-old Governor considered a certain candidate held in his hands the power both to set the time for the election and to select a possible interim appointee.

The state democratic committee is empowered to nominate the party candidate or order a primary. Most committee members are politically aligned with the Governor.

It was indicated Brooks Hays, Democratic National Committeeman, might receive the interim appointment but Bailey disclosed he had advised Postmaster General James A. Farley that he preferred to make no temporary appointment.

A stormy session of the state committee was presaged by the telegraphed protests of seven county committees against reports that a nomination would be made. They demanded a primary, the counties offering to bear their share of the election costs, estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000.

Should the committee nominate other Democrats could run only as independents. Republican leaders remained silent on their plans. Last year Republicans competed unsuccessfully for all state offices. Robinson defeated his Republican opponent by more than six to one.

Former Governor J. M. Futrell, at odds with Bailey many times during the past three years, issued a statement last week urging that Mrs. Robinson be selected to fill her husband's unexpired term.

LABOR SHORTAGE FACES FARMERS IN MID-WEST

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—A new headache—labor shortage—plagued the American farmer today as he swung into the most bountiful harvest in several years.

In the midwest grain belt, in the northeast and throughout the vegetable-growing region, farmers reported harvest crews short-handed. And they were offering federal statisticians said, the highest wages since 1930 for farmhands.

Workers progress administration payrolls in 13 states showed a decline after officials announced men would be permitted to quit jobs on projects to work in the midwest harvests. The men, if still in need, officials said, will be reemployed within 90 days.

JONES CONFERS WITH FOR ON SPUD PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Vegetable and potato growers urged Saturday that federal and state governments enact legislation to improve their incomes.

The recommendations came at a time when congressional advocates of farm legislation were divided over the method that should be used in the new bill.

President Roosevelt went over the situation with Chairman Jones (D. Tex.), of the House agriculture committee during the day, but Jones declined to say what was discussed at the conference.

More than 60 representatives of vegetable and potato growing areas who talked with agriculture department officials during the week urged that special quotas be set up for them under the soil conservation program.

Potato growers said the prospect of a 40,000,000 bushel crop this year threatened "disaster to the industry." They asked the agricultural administration to establish a special committee to work out a federal potato program.

They asked Secretary Wallace to seek legislation requiring all potatoes moving in interstate commerce "be branded, tagged, or described in terms of United States grades or as unclassified."

Wallace was asked to seek additional federal funds to improve marketing reports, crop estimates, and price studies in the vegetable field. The group said vegetable growers should establish large co-operative marketing organization able to bargain on equal terms with mass buyers of their products, such as canneries and large retail chains.

Jones said his conference with the President had no bearing on when he would introduce a long-awaited general farm bill but that he hoped to have a tentative draft ready for his committee's consideration when it meets in executive session Tuesday.

House advocates of farm legislation at this session have split three ways over production control, though in general agreement with the proposed "every-normal granary" program designed to prevent price fluctuation.

Jones heads one group demanding a voluntary program under which participating farmers would be paid cash benefits financed by a processing tax.

Another group is urging compulsory legislation which would give all farmers marketing quotas in years when surplus crops threaten the price structure.

The third group wants the federal government to fix cost of production prices on farm commodities needed for domestic use and the "ever-normal" granary program.

"AT LONG LAST" WOODLAWN, Ill.—Louis George Coombs is eligible for a new career in office-holding.

Coombs, former county official, recently found he was not a U. S. citizen because his foreign-born father had never been naturalized. Coombs took steps to fix that. Full citizenship was granted him on his 90th birthday.
