Jim Bob Johnson Pens Interesting Letter Describing Scouts' Train Trip To Jamboree

First news concerning the Adobe Walls council Scouts at the Jamboree, Washington, D. C., was received this morning from Jim Bob Johnson, Pampa Boy Scout, who mailed two letters to the NEWS from Akron, Ohio, Jim Bob, Ikey Cumberland of LeFors and Jack Healey of Pampa, all promised to send the NEWS accounts of their experiences, and this morning Jim Bob's highly interesting letters arrived.

They relate amusing and entertaining incidents that occurred on the trip as far as Ohio. Jim Bob also mentioned sayings and doings of other Scouts on the trip in his letters. The NEWS is expecting other equally informative letters from Jim Bob, from Jack Healey and from Ikey Cumberland in the next two weeks.

With the Jamboree Scouts at Kansas City, Friday, June 25. We are now eating breakfast at 9:45 on the balcony of the Harvey House here in this elegant Santa Fe depot, after doing without food and sleep all night. Some of us did manage to crowd some sleep in between the seats and on the floor, however, Tom Giblin of Morse even slept in the luggage rack on the wall. We left Pampa at 6:40 o'clock yesterday evening with 13 boys and 14 cars. Some of the boys are still here. We've travelled in four states, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri already and have seen some pretty country. Wheat, oats and corn crops along the line look mighty good from the car windows. It's hot here in Kansas City.

For pastime on the train, Jack Healey of Pampa, Gene Caperton of Shamrock and Victor Wilshusen of Borger brought along some funny paper magazines and just about everybody has read them. L. B. Nichols, Jr., of Borger, Billy Stockstill of Pampa and A. W. Manning, Joe Pete Lyle and Alva Frye of Gray, Okla., bought some artificial leather plating material back in the Lubbock and Brownfield car and now they have some good looking watch cases and jewelry. The rest of us, Ikey Cumberland of LeFors, Jamboree Scoutmaster Zane Smith of Groom, A. W. Wentworth, a leader of Gray, Okla., and myself contented ourselves with talking and watching the country go by.

WITNESS SAYS 4 COMPANIES WERE BUFFERS

'INCORPORATED POCKET BOOKS PYRAMIDED,' SAYS ATTORNEY

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—A congressional committee received testimony today that Henry L. Doherty, president of Cities Service Company, had saved about $160,000 in 1934 by the use of four personal holding companies.

Abel Fortas, securities commission attorney, said Doherty's "top personal holding company" is Henry L. Doherty and Company, Inc., organized in November, 1928, with offices in Jersey City, N. J.

It appears, he said, that Doherty and Company is the agency through which Mr. Doherty "controls many of his vast interests."

Fortas said that through it and through the Doherty Research Company, Improved Equipment Company and Gas Securities Company, the utilities executive made his savings of $160,000 on a combined corporate and individual net income of about $620,000.

Doherty's was the second name introduced at today's hearing. Fortas earlier told the committee investigating tax evasion and avoidance that Carter Lupton of Chattanooga, had saved $648,523 in taxes for the years, 1934, 1935, and 1936 by use of a personal holding company.

In discussing Doherty, Fortas said that, whatever the motives for the formation of these companies and other personal holding companies, "it is clear that they are merely parts of Mr. Doherty's personality."

Fortas said he cited the Doherty company as a case which involves "the pyramiding of these incorporated pocket books."

In addition to holding Cities Service, the securities commission expert said Doherty was president or director of 3 other companies. Lupton, Fortas told the committee investigating tax evasion and avoidance, incorporated the Central Shares Corporation in Delaware in 1932 and transferred to it "extensive holdings of stock in about 30 commercial corporations engaged in bottling coca cola."

Fortas said that Lupton "avoided a large amount of taxes" by use of the company. The totals being $131,045 in 1934, $181,788 in 1935, and $335,690 for 1936.

"It does not appear that this corporation performs any substantial operating activities," the SEC attorney said.

Gold Lifting Becomes Fad For A While

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—The Bureau of Engraving and Printing blasted today this reporter's hope of laying hands on $125,000,000.

A report the bureau was offering a monetary though momentary thrill free to sightseers merited investigation.

After federal red tape was cut at a half dozen points, the last barrier was the director's secretary, Miss Ednah Sible.

"Yes?" she asked, suspiciously. "I want to hold $125,000,000."

"Well," she replied, "you're holding the bag on that. We've had to stop it."

"Swamped," said Miss Sible. "It seems as if everyone in America wanted to hold $125,000,000."

It began as a hospitable pleasantry when a bored guide told a tourist to lift a paper covered package.

"You've just had your hands on $125,000,000," he explained.

The bureau has been in a mild uproar ever since. Business became so good that employees were pointing in desperation to all sorts of packages and people were lifting them.

Once a congressman sent down 600 school children, flexing their youthful muscles in anticipation of the multi-million dollar lifting stunt.

The bureau, however, hasn't abolished all its tricks. If you know the right people, they will let you hold a sheet of one cent stamps.

TOP O' TEXAS FIESTA REPORT SHOWS PROFIT

The Top o' Texas Fiesta staged by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce June 3 and 4 was handicapped by rain and cold weather but it made money.

The startling revelation was made by Chairman W. B. Weathered at the junior chamber of commerce luncheon today when he and the other members of his committee resigned.

Profit, unless bills not on record, or rodeo tickets not redeemed, will be $285.70.

Receipts according to the auditor's report were $6,075.96 while expenditures totaled $5,790.26.

Following submission of the report, members of the general fiesta committee submitted their resignations. Others on the committee were Garnet Reeves, R. B. Allen and Tex DeWeese.

Navajos Enter Girl Friends In Beauty Contest

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., June 29 (AP)—Traditionally warlike young braves, more than 1,000 of them, are disrupting the summer tranquility on Arizona's vast Indian reservations—because a group of white men decided to sponsor a beauty contest for tribal maidens.

Harassed directors of the southwest Indian pow-wow—who believed the beauty contest would be a novelty attraction at their annual show this week-end, were ready to call it quits today.

"The Indians, it seems, take their beauty contests seriously. When pow-wow officials announced a contest to select the 'Indian princess' of the southwest," they figured about 100 bashful young maidens would appear.

That's where they made the biggest mistake. For when the Indians were told the "princess" would have her picture in the newspapers, 11 marched 300 husky Navajos, each escorting his girl friend, and clamored for entry tickets.

Other tribes did likewise. Today the entry list showed more than 1,000 copper colored contestants, each backed by a stalwart buck determined to see that justice is done.

STATE OFFICE HERE PLANNED

Possibility of the establishment of a Pampa office of the Texas State Employment Service, loomed today as County Judge Chauteemps announced that a representative of the state agency would appear before Gray county commissioners' court tomorrow.

The county judge said that Pampa and Gray county have been requested to supply $50 a month toward maintenance of the local office when it is established.

The state's proposal is to be explained in detail to county commissioners tomorrow.

If established here, the office would employ ten persons. The state agency would be charged with the handling of unemployment insurance in Gray county.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS

Gray county grand jury adjourned late yesterday until July 12 after a one-day session in which one joint indictment of two persons was returned. At noon today a return had not been made on the indictment at the district clerk's office.

Warren, O., June 29. (AP)—Authorities merged today that Gus Hall, C. I. O. organizer, was the brains of a plot to halt operations at struck steel mills here by bomb terrorism and threw all available forces into a hunt for him.

Quiet for a few days, the seven-state strike front erupted with violence.

Dynamite blasted water pipelines leading into the Cambria works of Bethlehem Steel at Johnstown, Pa. At Beaver Falls, Pa., one more death was recorded.

Operations were crippled at the Cambria works.

Deaths now total 13 in the strike called May 26 by the steel workers' organizing committee against the Republic Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and the Inland Steel Co., and two weeks ago against Bethlehem Steel. The walk-out was ordered after the companies refused to sign labor contracts with the C. I. O.

FRANCE QUILTS GOLD STANDARD AS CHAUTEEMPS WINS IN VOTE

PARIS, June 29 (AP)—The new government of Camille Chateemps, struggling to save France's financial structure, won a vote of confidence today from the Chamber of Deputies—393 to 142.

Chauteemps won the vote on his demand that chamber questioning of the government be postponed until his urgent demand for sweeping financial powers is disposed of. This demand will be voted on later.

He is asking for the "necessary powers" to reestablish France's fiscal structure on a firm basis and restore the country's confidence in itself by ending speculation abuses, conserving gold reserves, balancing the budget, watching over prices and "reviving national economy."

The vote came amid talk of new franc devaluation, with the country temporarily and technically off the gold standard.

Chauteemps demanded the preliminary confidence vote after some opposition had developed to the request that questioning be put off. Later, the chamber and the senate will vote on the premier's financial and economic program.

His prime minister, who has headed the second "people's front" government for a little more than a week, went to chamber and senate with a complete declaration of policy that was headed by insistence on a free hand to take swift steps toward patching up the country's riddled money structure.

No Enthusiasm. Although the chamber granted the first confidence vote, neither there nor in the senate was there any notable enthusiasm for the emergency program.

Possibility of a new devaluation of the franc within the framework of the Tri-Partite monetary agreement between France, United States and Great Britain was seen by parliamentary observers. The government moved to enlist the aid of those two countries in solving its financial difficulties.

Rene Brunet, undersecretary of state for finance, said the government had advised both the United States and Great Britain that France desired "to disengage the franc from the present parity with the dollar and the pound."

Brunet was quoted as saying that new tax measures contemplated by the government would bring in 2,000,000,000 francs (about $38,000,000) annually to help the regime out of its fiscal morass.

CIO Leader Wanted For Plotting Bomb Terrorism

Warren union officials said they knew nothing about the charges against Hall and the others, except what had been reported in newspapers.

Harry Wines, a member of the strike committee, said Hall was not a fugitive, but had left town yesterday on business. No one at union headquarters could say where Hall could be reached.

At Pittsburgh, Philip Murray, chairman of the SWOC, declined any comment. He said he did not know Hall.

Officials said the explosives were stored in union headquarters in Warren for several days. Enough they said to wreck the entire block.

PERKINS SAYS STRIKE PARLEY HAS COLLAPSED

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Secretary Perkins said today the government's efforts to mediate the steel strike had collapsed. She added, however, she was studying the industrial dispute to determine if further mediatory steps are possible.

Miss Perkins made her statement after a conference with Charles P. Taft, chairman of the federal steel mediation board. Taft began drafting a preliminary report this morning.

Taft, Miss Perkins said, was "working on notes to put down the board's work as a matter of record." It will be the basis of a full report to the labor department.

The secretary said she presumed the report would be made public as soon as other members of the board confer with her and Taft.

"The board is suspended," Miss Perkins said. "It made a recommendation which required assent of both sides. Two steel companies replied at once that a contract be made and the other two replied in 24 hours they too would not accede.

"There is nothing more the board can think of to recommend. It was a constructive compromise proposal."

She said she referred to the board's recommendation that a contract be drawn and an election held among workers to determine if the contract were acceptable.

YOUR CHILDREN

When a child has broken a rule, or done something that he knows is forbidden, almost instantly his defense is increased.

He finds vindication right away in his own mind. Consequently, he is ready to resent correction with his whole might.

Secretly he knows he is in the wrong, but he won't acknowledge it, even to himself. Furthermore, a peculiar sensitiveness sets in, an inner shame, that simply cannot bear to own up to itself.

These are two reasons why harsh measures immediately following misconduct may serve to irritate a child, rather than cure him.

But won't he forget what the punishment is for? If I wait to scold him, or spank him, won't he have forgotten? asks mother.

No, he won't forget. He will remember very well, unless he is very little.

Retribution Must Be Learned
However, it is asking too much of human nature to advise any parent to put impatience on ice until the culprit is in a more receptive mood. Besides there is such a thing as quick and sure retribution. Everyone must learn, man, woman or child, that certain acts bring instant reprisal almost as surely as broken bones follow a crash.

Such a lesson is well learned, that there is not always a breathing space before payment catches up.

It is an excellent idea for the parent to weigh both sides of the question, when to act and when to wait. For the hourly correction of the impulsive or wilful child often seems to have no effect at all.

Talking to him when his defense is down may have a more lasting effect on his general conduct. He will be able now to see our reasons for wishing him to do better, and more readily realize that after all he has been reading us a dance, and that he has been very unfair and trying indeed.

Moments Worth Waiting For
It seems so worth while to wait for these psychological moments in the boy's or girl's life in order to make an impression. We are this way ourselves, so there is nothing strange about it. Those who come to us quietly with a grievance, after our self-righteous mood is past, will find we more ready to listen and to admit a mistake.

The deeper regions of the child's mind and heart are reached, not while he is emotionally in high gear, but when he is calm and we too are calm, so that each can approach the other's mind and have a better understanding.

SHOWS TO REOPEN
NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Broadway's burlesque theaters, darkened for the past two months, will reopen this week without the strip tease and other features that spelled their doom. Instead of working a 72-hour week at an $18 minimum, the girls will get $25 a week minimum for four shows a day and extra pay for overtime.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the work looks grim.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes the good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up," happy, sane, and the work looks pink.

Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. See.

OLLERS COME BACK TO BEAT DUNCAN CHAMPS 7-4 IN BRILLIANT GAME

HALLIBURTON SCORES THREE RUNS IN FIRST

Staging a brilliant comeback, the Pampa Oilers last night evened their series with the Halliburton Cementers of Duncan, Okla., 1936 National Semi-Pro champions, with a 7-4 victory. Tomorrow night the crack Elk City, Okla., nine will be here for a game and on Friday night the Phillips 66 of Borger will play here.

Harvey Hutton, Pampa's speed-ball right-hander, started the game by throwing seven balls in the first inning with the result being three runs, four hits and three outs. It looked bad for the home team but they never quit and came back to tie the score in the third, after Halliburton had added another run, and then went on to win in the fifth.

Seven Pitches. Hutton, who hit the first pitched ball for a single, Lowell, second up, also singled on the first pitch. Sloan next up, singled on the first pitch to fill the bases. Hassler hit the next throw but was out at first. Welch scoring. Cliff took one but hit the next for a single scoring Lowell and Sloan. Seitz connected with the seventh pitched ball and hit into a double play, McLarry to Summers to Cox to end the rally.

Singles by Welch and Lowell, Sloan's sacrifice and Hassler's fling to center gave the Cementers their other run in the third.

Pampa's Time To Score
Pampa's time came in the third when McLarry went out and then Hutton beat out an infield hit. Brickell singled and Summers was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases. Sain came through with a single to score Hutton and Brickell. Cox forced Sain but Summers scored on the play. Scoring cracked a single to left sending Cox to third from where he scored on Holley's error of Beason's drive.

Scaling made third on the play. A double steal was in order but Coppack, Halliburton's veteran catcher, faked a throw to second and instead whipped the ball to third, catching Scaling before he could slide back.

Holley's second error helped the Oilers get started in the fifth when he let Brickell's hot grounder get through him. Summers then singled and Sain sacrificed the two into scoring position. Big Lefty Cox, hitting in the cleanup hole, showed that he is dangerous in the clinches by smacking out a single, scoring two runs. Scaling went out but the rally wasn't ended when Beason singled to score Cox. McNabb followed with a single to center but Beason went past second and was tagged out on a throw from Seitz to Welch.

Halliburton threatened in the sixth when Hassler, Hutton and Clifton followed with a double. Hutton then bore down and forced Seitz to hit to second, fanned Holley for the third consecutive time and then made Coppack hit to third for an out at first.

White Relieved Pruitt
Harry White relieved the weakening Pruitt in the seventh and only six men faced him in the final two innings. Pruitt had been nicked for 10 hits, two less than Hutton allowed. The big Pampa fireball artist fanned six and walked only one.

The game had its thrills as well as its chills with Al Summers, Lefty Cox and Grover Seitz taking the stage. Many fans had read about a ball player being knocked from his feet by a batted ball but they hadn't seen one until last night when Summers reached out and snagged Hassler's line drive through second to end the seventh inning. Summers was turned around and taken from his feet by the terrific force of the ball but he managed to hold it with the only damage being a badly swollen hand.

Lefty Cox saved McLarry three errors and Beason one when he nicked balls out of the dirt or stretched about half way across the diamond. Seitz, who failed to get a ball out of the infield in his eight trips to the plate, came up with a fielding play de luxe in the second inning when he raced from deep center field to take McNabb's short fly off his shoestrings. Unable to check himself, Seitz hit the dirt rolling but came up with the ball in his glove.

Welch and Lowell Hitlers
Welch, Cementer shortstop, proved to be the hitting demon of the series, bagging six hits in 10 times at bat, including four-for-five last night. Manager Ed Lowell collected five hits on his nine times at bat. Only extra base hit of last night's game was Cliff's double.

Besides fielding sensationally, Al Summers had a perfect night at the plate with three singles on three official times at the plate. The other Oiler hits were well scattered.

Elk City Tomorrow Night
Strengthened by the addition of two players from the Ed Reno, Okla., club which is reported to have disbanded, the Elk City nine will try to make it two out of three from the Oilers tomorrow night at Road Runner Park. Elk City downed the Oilers here but lost at home. Lefty Dorman was on the hill both games.

A strengthened Phillips 66 club from Borger will be here Friday

By BILL BONI (By The Associated Press.)
For the sake of their pennant chances, it is to be hoped that the New York Giants have studied closely the parable of the little dog that ran away with the bone while the two big dogs were fighting over it.

The Giants today found themselves in much the same spot as that smart little pup. While, from now until the all-star game on July 7, they will be disputing against the National league's second division outfits, the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs will play each other five times.

This morning the standings found the Cubs in front by seven points and a half game over the Cards, ten points and a half game over the Giants.

The Cubs are going to be tough to dislodge. Their pitching staff is showing up well.

Larry French, Charley Root and Tex Carleton are bracketed at the four won notch. Next come Roy Parmelee at five, then Clay Bryant and Clyde Shoun, tied at six, with Bill Lee tops at seven.

The Cardinals' pitching strength is almost entirely concentrated in three men, Dizzy Dean, who has won eleven games; Lonnie Warneke who has won nine, and Lefty Bob Weiland, who has won six.

The Giants have struck some sort of balance between the two extremes. Bill Terry's revamped "big four" consists of Carl Hubbell, 10-game winner; Hal Schumacher and Cliff Castleton, seven each, and Bill Melton, six.

INDIANS HIKE LEAGUE LEAD

(By The Associated Press.)
Just when Oklahoma City's ram-paging Indians will ease up in the Texas league drive was a question today as the other seven teams jealously eyed the eight and a half game lead held by the Redskins.

Last night the Redskins nosed out San Antonio 4-3. Clay Touchstone replaced Jim Moore in the ninth with the tying and winning runs on base to turn back the Missions.

Fort Worth's cats and Beaumont's exporters remained in a tie for second place, the Panthers rallying in the eighth inning for five runs to down Houston 5-4, and the Ship-pers blasting Tulsa 6-1.

Jimmy Lyons held the Cats to three hits in seven innings but blew

U. S. RYDER CUP TEAM TRAILING IN ENGLAND

SOUTHPORT, Eng., June 29 (AP)—The United States Ryder Cup forces, seeking to retain the trophy they won in 1935, were trailing in two sank the cups, and painted the markers last week. Total length of the course is 215 yards. Home-made clubs are used, with a regulation size ball of sponge rubber. A tourney among the boys and girls will begin next week. Mrs. Gene Sealand, director of the program at Woodrow Wilson, plans to begin a class in folk dancing for girls soon. Another new sport is croquet, which is holding much interest now.

Although attendance is increasing, the play program can care for several more children in each district, reports W. Postma, general director. Girls and boys are invited to B. M. Baker, Hays Mann, or Woodrow Wilson schools for the daily play periods.

The veteran-rookie pair of Ed Dudley and Byron Nelson made a surprising show of strength by finishing all even with the most feared of the Britons, Henry Cotton and Alf Padgham, while Gene Sarazen and Denny Shute, both former British open winners, also were even with Charles Whitcombe, captain of the home forces, and young David Rees.

Sarazen and Shute, who fired even par for the first nine holes, lost a two-hole advantage on the back nine.

THE PLACE FOR NUDE ART

Another American community apartment has gone through the throes and brought forth a new dictum on the difference between art and indecency. A sculptor has been commissioned to clothe the nudes in a $100,000 stonary collection donated to a Kankakee, Ill., school.

Now $100,000 worth of art, nude or not nude, would be something for any recognized museum to crow about. But in a school building, the statues might just as well be a row of tempins, in all the real appreciation they will get.

Thus it seems that most of the argument over fine issues of morality is considerably off the point. What rings the bell in one place may be far wide of the mark in another. The fault lies with the sentimental old grads who want to honor the old home town. By tempering their generosity with judgement, they might be able to call their shots more accurately.

SUCCESS BY DEGREES

The prophet used to be without honor in his own country. But that was before the year of the honorary college degree. Again this spring, legitimate young graduates had to share their brief hour of triumph with oldtimers who, in many cases, never got near a classroom.

This gives the student, who has spent from four to seven years in hard study, every right to feel that the trustees have handed him a dubious honor.

If a man in the professional or business world does something noteworthy, he deserves a pat on the back. But borrowing a college degree to pay respect to a great actor or a financial giant carries the idea too far. It is much like issuing passes to the Hall of Fame, or hand-picking candidates for immortality—a job that history does very satisfactorily.

KEEPING THE PEACE

War spirit never has played favorites in mixing the bitter and the sweet. A recent dispatch told that Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy had agreed to resume the four-power naval patrol of Spanish waters, with provision for defense but not reprisals if their war vessels were attacked.

On the same day came news from Innsbruck, Austria, that that city has become a key point for shipments of ammunition from Germany to Italy, ostensibly for use in the insurgent campaign in Spain.

Then there was news that France and Germany had initiated a plan for student exchange to promote better feeling. But at the same time, both sides of the Rhine land were dotted with troop movements, and it is no wild guess that new "time tables" of war were in the making, by which those same students might be called to face each other in another death struggle before long.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—What John L. Lewis and Tom Girdler might as well realize is that both have slapped the public in the face in their labor wars and the public is likely soon to get tired of it.

For several months Lewis had all the best of it because the pendulum of public sympathy swung toward labor. Lewis accepted the advantage, and organized swiftly, with at least a semblance of administration support. He pulled under his wing the wholly unorganized automobile and "big steel" groups. And when he set out to organize the independents, Tom Girdler of Republic Steel granted him, free of charge, a whole basketful of public sympathy by refusing in advance to sign any agreement over wages and hours that might be reached.

Now in spite of cries to the contrary, President Roosevelt still speaks the minds of a great number of people, and when he said it did not seem reasonable for Girdler to refuse to put his name to a contract he expressed the views of a great many persons. So Lewis gained again.

But when Girdler cried out that Lewis and his labor leaders were "irresponsible" and would not abide by a contract, he put his finger on a tender spot. Lewis has made his coal miners abide by contracts. They have obtained better pay out of it, as most will concede.

He has not made his automobile workers avoid sit-down strikes—in spite of the better pay they are getting—and they get no public sympathy for monkey-doodling on the job in violation of those agreements. That was what Girdler pointed at.

Then, too, in the Republic Steel affair, Lewis' organization force failed to invoke the machinery of the Wagner labor act by calling for an employees' election, although it claimed to have a majority, and so should have been able to win the election. The strike was called first.

Lewis has good reasons for hurrying. He has the thing going fast and the news has been breaking with him. He has a sympathetic administration. But sometimes good generals will stop the attack to consolidate

SUNK OFF THE COAST OF SPAIN

Man About Manhattan

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Bending low to catch the order of a guest, a waiter in the bar of a major hotel off Fifth avenue jerked up his head as if he could not believe what he had heard. "But that is impossible," he cried.

The guest looked slightly annoyed, but before he could say anything the waiter stepped over to the proprietor. There was a whispered conversation, after which several other attendants joined in the middle.

"Ah," murmured the waiter, returning to the guest, "we will arrange it for you."

The kernel in this mysterious happening was simply that the guest wanted a cup of tea. The big hotel bars in New York do not like to serve tea, and the reason is clear.

When this little incident took place, a representative of a big tea house, hearing of it, approached the management with a proposition that was undeniably attractive. He would, he said, be pleased to furnish the hotel with a special, tea-wood, portable teatable, to be set up for individual guests, and also he would see that the management received an allotment of that very specially blended beverage which sold recently in London for $180 a pound.

"But you don't understand," explained the manager. "If we permitted tea to be sold in the bar, every nice old lady in the hotel would come down here and for 50 cents order one cup of tea and sit through the entire afternoon."

"That would be excellent," argued the tea salesman. "Not at 50 cents a head." The management pointed out. "This orchestra, for instance, costs $350 a day. This staff is highly valued and each man receives good wages. We would bankrupt selling anything less than alcoholic beverages."

When one considers that juleps, planters punches and various favorite concoctions range from 60 cents to $1 each, it is easily understood how tea would never be able to pay the freight.

"In the dining room, in the grill, in one's own room, perhaps, even in the lobby—but in the bar, no. The bar must remain strictly what it is supposed to be."

That's the way it is, and don't seem surprised if, when you ask for tea, your waiter suddenly pales, crosses himself, and backs away in consternation. The old order of tea leaves in smart hotel bar cups is no more.

People You Know

BY ARCHER FULLINGIM

There are too many stray cats in town; they have multiplied here because most people are afraid to kill a cat; the City will kill a dog, but it does not execute cats. When people try to get rid of cats they put them in sacks, and empty them out under some bridge, or take them to the Flats. Now the Negroes in the Flats don't want the cats, but if they come to their places they won't try to get rid of them.

You couldn't hire most of them to kill a cat. A cat has nine lives, and they're mysterious animals anyway. Besides, Negroes like cats and usually have as many as they can take care of, but they won't make a move to get rid of them. It's bad luck, so last night when a car drove into the Flats with a sack of cats, a bunch in front of the shops and people sitting in front of their houses scattered and vanished, saying, "We don't want no cats. We has all 'e cats we need. . . . Git away from heah cats! Don't come in this heah cats! I got the last bunch. Scat! Come some place else!"

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Controversy of the film week centers about Mervyn LeRoy's new picture, based on Ward Greene's novel, "Death in the Deep South."

Most of Hollywood agreed that it was gripping drama, well-acted well-directed, speedily paced. Ground for argument was to what extent LeRoy has stuck his chin out in the direction of Dixie, and how the box-office in those parts will decorate that chin.

Latest and least meaningful of several titles for the piece is "They went to an Atlanta pencil factory. In changed."

The story, with some changes parallels that of the celebrated Leo Frank murder trial, in Atlanta in 1912. Frank, a Jew from the north, went to an Atlanta pencil factory. In the factory one day a girl was murdered. Frank was indicted, tried, convicted—but not before the whole country was stirred to controversial frenzy. A northern detective and a northern attorney joined the defense, and the charge of prejudice was heard everywhere. The governor commuted Frank's sentence to life imprisonment. Frank was lynched.

The locale of the film is Flodden, a mythical southern city. Edward Norris is the northern boy who teaches in the business college where Mary Clay (Lana Turner) is found murdered. For political purposes a district attorney (Claude Rains) is determined to win an important conviction. Southern—and northern—prejudices are stirred in the end. Gloria Dickson, the northern victim's wife, charges that her husband has been the pawn between their antipathies.

This charge is the theme of the film. It is stated, however, only after a movie mirror has been held up to a Dixie that is not entirely magnolia and honeysuckle. Analyzed critically, nish that right quality of life by some more persuasive method than force.—Dean Robert R. Wicks of Princeton University.

All the poems glorifying war were written by those who had never seen war.—Dr. F. Raymond Clegg, New York.

Brilliantly theatrical in a theateric role is Claude Rains of England, whose "southern accent" jars less than most of the others.

This, That and Everything

By WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

One of the most difficult things for people to do is to get a glimpse of life from the viewpoint of others. Although very difficult, this is a very useful thing for folks to do. Many things have been created in recent years to make such an accomplishment easier, but still the greatest trouble that prevents us from seeing the other fellow's point of view remains. The average person today knows far more about the details and problems of other occupations than his own than the average citizen knew a generation ago. But despite the fact that new methods of informing us along these lines are at our command, the element of human nature remains the same. So we go on in our narrow view giving a personal tone to our interpretation of life and its problems, and seldom stop to consider how things appear to the other fellow.

This fact is what causes so much trouble. Because we have available information about the conditions of different groups and classes, we imagine we incorporate such knowledge into opinions. Every citizen should bear well in mind the fact that to know a condition, and to allow that knowledge to have a worthy part in formation of ideas, are different things. Perhaps the problem of the average person today could be stated thus: "While he has a vast store of accumulated facts in his head, his philosophy of life has not had these materials adequately used in its construction."

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

Congressmen who possess a sense of humor, a hatred of bunkum and a real understanding of the fundamental ideals of America are rare. Maury Maverick of Texas is one of them; and so it is only to be expected that his new book, "A Maverick American" (Coville-Friede: $3), is an unusual book, and an extremely readable one.

This book is rather unorthodox. Mr. Maverick suggests that America, and I hope a story of America to come. Or a story of any individual who wants to be free, and wants others to be free, too."

Freedom—that is the leitmotif of the book. Mr. Maverick has an old-fashioned love for the word, and an old-fashioned belief that freedom is the birthright of all Americans—of share-croppers and colored people and factory hands as well of the fortunate people who never need to worry about it.

So he speaks his mind about freedom, economic and political, and about the reasons why some Americans do not get it. He examines the sore spots in our country, and voices over and over his hope that we can "hold back violence long enough to talk things out"; he displays a refreshing common-sense approach to problems, and a most uncongessional candor in his discussion of them.

Into all of this he mixes a chatty, informal account of his own life—which has been colorful and exciting enough, in all conscience—and the net result is a book which I entreat you not to miss.

THREE GIRLS FOUND SLAIN IN CALIFORNIA

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 29 (AP)—What authorities at first considered their most substantial lead evaporated today, leaving them in a blind alley in their search for the blind who attacked and killed three young girls.

Several hours after the garroted and bruised bodies of Melba Marie Everett, 9, her sister, Madeline, 7, and Jeanette Marjorie Stephens, 5, were found in a Baldwin Hills gulch yesterday, an order was issued for the detention of Othel Leroy Strong, 22.

From Sheriff L. C. Huntamer of Olympia, Wash., however, came the information that Strong is working at a mill near there and "has been absolved of any connection whatsoever with the killing of three girls at Inglewood, Calif."

Sheriff Huntamer said he learned Strong had not been out of that vicinity for some time.

Last Saturday morning, the three little victims were playing in Centinela park, close by their homes. Then they left some of their playthings and ran across the grounds, calling out that they were going to hunt rabbits. By night, County Autopsy Surgeon Dr. A. F. Wagner reported, they had been attacked and murdered.

A pick-up order for the detention of Othel Leroy Strong, 22, was issued by Captain William Penprase of the sheriff's bureau.

Shortly after the order was issued, authorities in Olympia, Wash., said Strong is at present working near there in a mill.

Sheriff L. C. Huntamer of Olympia visited Strong and quoted him as saying he has been employed in his present job since January 1 and has not been in California this year.

Harry Simmons, operator of the tie mill, said that Strong worked at the mill last Saturday and yesterday. The girls disappeared Saturday.

The Washington disclosures followed an announcement by officials in San Diego that a man seized at nearby Del Mar while fleeing from a train was jailed on a vagrancy charge and questioned about the triple slaying.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Cornell at first said the man answered the description of Strong but this identification was quickly discarded.

Strong had pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old Inglewood girl last Oct. 1 and had been released on probation.

The girls' bodies, a rope knotted about the throat of each, were found a short distance apart in the sandy bottom of the ravine northwest of Los Angeles. Their shoes had been removed and placed in a neat row close by.

The bodies of Melba Everett and Marjorie Stephens, the older girls, were badly bruised and torn. That of Madeline Everett showed but few bruises and scratches.

GET IN THE SWIM!

By JACK POBUK

The call for help usually and quite naturally creates a panicky feeling within us. Our first impulse is to run to the rescue and plunge in aimlessly trying to offer assistance.

Although speedy action is required, we must take a little time to think over the situation and decide the best steps to take.

Is it possible for the person in distress to be rescued without you having to plunge in?

If so, use it. Is there a boat handy? If so, use it.

If you are forced to plunge in, remove your shoes and clothing.

Upon approaching the victim, pause to determine the extent of his danger. If he appears to be very panicky, it is best for you to swim around to the back, or to dive under and come up from behind. Work him into a position for a cross-chest carry hold and take him to shore.

If he puts up a fight, relax. Do NOT attempt to struggle with him. Take a deep gulp of air and submerge. Invariably he'll let go.

If not, you should pry yourself

However, don't content yourself with just this instruction. It is urged that you obtain the free booklets on life-saving offered by the American Red Cross and other organizations. Be prepared for an emergency.

JAPAN CLAIMS RUSSIAN-HELD RIVER ISLANDS

TOKYO, June 29 (AP)—The Japanese government invoked the mutual assistance pact between Japan and Manchoukuo today and served a vigorous protest on the Soviet government against the alleged invasion of the Sennufa and Bolshoi Islands in the Amur river.

Members of the Japanese military high command said they took a grave view of the situation. Their action, they said, would depend on the tone of the reply from Moscow.

The protest was presented to the Soviet government by Mamoru Shigemitsu, ambassador to Russia.

Japan asserted the island in the river belong to Manchoukuo, and she demanded their immediate evacuation. The Amur river forms the northeastern boundary of the Japanese-inspired state of Manchoukuo and Siberia.

The Manchoukuoan government was said to have made repeated protests, against the alleged occupation of her territory, only to have them ignored in Moscow.

Some observers expressed the fear recurring border incidents, of which the occupation of Sennufa and Bolshoi is regarded as the most serious, may create an open breach between Japan and Russia.

At the same time Japan was told by a high army commander she need have no fear of the Russian army. The statement was made at Harbin, Manchoukuo by Maj. Gen. Masaharu Homma, after a trip through Russia and Siberia.

MOSCOW, June 29 (AP)—Clashes between Soviet Russia border guards and Japanese-Manchoukuoan soldiers along the Amur river near Konstantinovka in the Far East were reported today in a dispatch from Khabarovsk.

The dispatch said the incidents of a "provokative nature" started May 31 and were designed to inter-

THREE APPROPRIATION BILLS BEING PUSHED

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Congress rushed three big appropriation bills toward final passage today in an effort to beat the June 30 deadline.

The measures provide $1,500,000,000 for work relief, $600,000,000 for the army and $135,000,000 for the interior department.

If they should not be signed by President Roosevelt before the new fiscal year begins Thursday, payments in those departments would be interrupted.

The House was expected to approve during the afternoon an agreement on the relief bill reached by a committee of Senators and Representatives. The Senate accepted the committee's report yesterday.

The interior department bill went to a similar committee after the Senate rejected a proposal to cut $10,000,000 from vocational education funds.

A third joint committee considering the army bill was dedlocked over the question of including non-military appropriations, such as flood control funds. The House put these in a separate measure.

GERMANY AND ITALY REJECT PATROL PLAN

LONDON, June 29 (AP)—Germany and Italy flatly rejected today a plan of Great Britain and France to patrol all of Spain's coasts in the interest of neutrality.

Soviet Russia, one of the "big five" on the European non-intervention subcommittee, approved the proposal.

Both von Ribbentrop and Count Grandi summed up their governments' position after Lord Plymouth of Great Britain, the chairman, outlined the Anglo-French proposal. They asked, hypothetically, what attitude Britain and France would take if the roles were reversed, if Germany and Italy suggested taking over the whole naval patrol.

At the same time, it was disclosed officially, the Italian declared "not a single volunteer has left my country for Spain since the ban agreed upon by this committee (Feb. 10)."

It was also made known Germany and Italy had advised their countrymen who have been serving as non-intervention observers in ports, and on borders of Spain to resign.

The blunt refusal of Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to Rome, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German ambassador, brought a speedy end to the subcommittee's session, which lasted less than two hours.

In addition to France, Britain, Germany, Italy and Soviet Russia, the other members of the nine-power subcommittee are Belgium, Portugal, Czechoslovakia, and Sweden.

Britain and France proposed to take over the patrol of Spain's coasts to prevent arms and men reaching either side in the war after Germany and Italy withdrew from the sea corridor.

Withdrawal of the two powers from the international patrol came last week after France and Britain refused to join a proposal by Germany for a naval demonstration off Valencia as a "warning" to the Spanish government.

PHILLIPS WILL PLAY STANOLIND TONIGHT

A change in softball games scheduled for tonight at Road Runner park has been necessary and Phillips 66 and Stanolind will play the opening game at 8:30 o'clock instead of Danclger and Coltexo. Admission will be 10 and 15 cents.

The second game will see the league leading King Oil boys tangling with Cities Service.

Unless a record crowd attends tonight, softball under artificial lights will have to be discontinued. The Road Runner park management has just been breaking even on the light bill without making anything to pay for wear on the lights.

Tonight's games should be classics since nothing would please Stanolind better than to knock off Phillips while Cities Service is determined to take King down a notch.

BUDGE AND PARKER IN TENNIS SEMIFINALS

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 29 (AP)—Two American Davis Cup caps, California's Don Budge and Milwaukee's Frank Parker, were safely in the semi-finals of the men's singles championship as the tennis spotlight shifted today to the quarter-final round of the women's title play.

Dorothy Round of England opposed the defending champion, Helen Hull Jacobs, and Alice Marble, United States champion, faced last year's runner up, Mrs. Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Denmark and Germany.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany's No. 1 star, and Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin, last potent remnant of Britain's great cup winners of a year ago, are the other semi-finalists in the men's division. Von Cramm and Austin play in one match tomorrow while Budge and Parker meet in the other.

Miss Jadwiga Jedzejowska of Poland faced Peggy Scriven of England today, and Anita Lizana of Chile opposed Mme. Rene Mathieu of France.

In the men's doubles play today Budge and Gene Mako meet Christian Boususs and Yvon Petra of France as the top match.

Garner's 'Vacation' Hints Split With FDR

By RODNEY DUTCHER, Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—As to the numerous rumors concerning the sudden departure of Vice President Jack Garner from his job as presiding officer of the Senate: The essential reason was that Garner and President Roosevelt had split widely apart on the issues of labor and relief, and that Roosevelt had undertaken on at least two occasions to give the vice president mild private spankings for what he considered efforts to sabotage his policies.

Garner is 67 years old and does not like to be spanked. He does not like to be around Washington in the summer time, either.

He dropped the word around that he was thinking of taking off for his home in Uvalde, Texas, about the first of June, but failed to get a rise out of the President. Then he advised Roosevelt in person that he would like to take a vacation. Whether he expected in reply a plea that he stay on the job is a matter of guesswork, as Jack told no one. But what Roosevelt said was that he thought it would be a good idea.

Word was given out that the vice president would be gone only two or three weeks. But he told close friends he would be back by August 1 if Congress hadn't quit by then. Actually, he needs to be expected back this season. Undoubtedly he would be willing to return and break a tie vote on a compromise court plan if he were needed. But the administration won't force a court vote if it looks as close as that.

Indicates Growing Insurgency.

Specifically, Garner gave secret backing to Senator Jimmy Byrne in the latter's attempt to make Roosevelt publicly condemn sitdown strikes and to cut the federal relief appropriation from $1,500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Some of the diners at Pierre's restaurant one evening before the steel strikes were more than moderately surprised to observe Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lewis at the same table with the arch-conservative Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth and her brother, Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr.

Conversation appeared to be animated and at one point became so loud that Teddy Roosevelt was heard to exclaim: "What I'm interested in is this struggle, is what's going to become of people like my sister and me!"

"I'm not concerned with that," replied Lewis, placing both hands on the table. "I'm interested in labor."

Garner, however, has been willing to go along with Roosevelt on the Supreme Court issue.

The incident of his retreat to Uvalde is chiefly significant in its relationship to the growing divergence between Roosevelt and conservative senators, chiefly from the south, who hope to block further presidential reform efforts and to dictate the Democratic nomination in 1940.

Follow the Polecat's Trail.

Attorney General Homer Cummings keeps on receiving no end of remarkable suggestions for curing the crime problem, indicating that Yankee ingenuity and inventive genius are far from dead.

Many of the numerous proposals for thwarting bank robbers contain diagrams for traps. One plan is for a trap door to be placed in front of each cashier's window. When the holdup man appeared with his gun, the teller would push a button and the bank robber would fall into a chute, at the end of which would be a net. As the robber fell into the net, a string around it would tighten, closing the net and suspending him from the ceiling.

To keep bad men from jumping on automobile running boards someone else suggests all cars be built with retractable running boards and floor knobs. Whereas, if you want to catch all criminals—Cummings is advised—you merely have a bell ring at a certain time all over the country, whereupon everybody runs to the nearest school house to register and be fingerprinted, and the fingerprints are sent to Washington so all the crooks can be identified.

Have every bank teller's window, every industrial payroll desk or window and every money-carrying bag equipped with a high pressure type of Skunk Oil Vapor spray, that could be released silently and automatically on the clothes of these thugs," writes another inspired genius, "and from what I hear the only way to rid oneself of this vile odor is to

SUPERSTITION MOUNTAIN

By OREN ARNOLD Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER V. First realization that you are lost usually brings mild hysteria. Such an emotion gripped both Carolee and Stuart for a few moments when they looked about on strange forest. Neither, however, showed nor admitted they tried.

They tried to ride back the way they had come, but the brush they had parted had folded together again, effectively screening their trail. They lacked the outdoor experience necessary for close observation; they couldn't see the broken twigs, the stones turned by horses' hooves, the sundry scratches, all of which would have marked the way back for outdoorsmen. They did make a complete turn, but in the few minutes of riding they weren't sure of the exact angle. It was necessary to move around great boulders, weave in and out of little canyon avenues, up and down around such a corner. It never occurred to either to orient themselves by the sun, which would have been difficult anyway just then because the sun was almost directly overhead at noon.

"This is a lot of fun, but not very efficient," said Stuart, after a quarter-hour of riding. "See anything familiar, Carolee?"

"No, I don't. It's rather confusing, isn't it?"

"Ha, ha!" Stuart had relaxed now. Naturally optimistic, he disliked to entertain danger. "We ought to make swell headlines—COUPLE LOST ON HORSEBACK RIDE. Or imagine the tabloids—MAN LURES GIRL TO MYSTERY MOUNTAIN. Anyhow I'd like to see a Chicago newspaper right now; I'd know my way around."

Carolee smiled a little. "Are you ever afraid of anything, Stuart?"

"The first time she had called him that. 'You laughed even when one of my brothers struck you and the other shot at you.'"

"Oh yes! Yes indeed! I was scared silly when you snapped at me there in the store. But you soon soother me. You don't look dangerous now; you look a little frightened yourself."

"I am, just a little. But it's silly I know; two grown people losing themselves like little children. We'll get out somehow."

"Check. We will. Say, it's so thick with brush that we can't see far enough. I have field glasses in the saddle pocket. Let's climb that rock and study the landscape."

"All right. The horses need a rest anyhow."

The climb took 20 minutes or more. Some of the going was almost straight up, with scanty foot and toe holds. It was like adventuring. Carolee thought, even to the back-ground thrill of danger and fear. They came down at last, and Carolee commanded a view over every thing near except the main bulk of the mountain behind them.

"Plenty of room," observed Stuart. "Look at that sea of hills!"

He lifted the glasses and looked through them a long time. He saw nothing in the wave-like masses, stretching miles to the west, north and east. Superstition blocked the south.

"That road is down there somewhere," he said. "We would be bound to find it if we rode directly toward the mountain. I mean if we could find trails or canyons that aren't blocked."

"Maybe we could go on foot," suggested Carolee.

"It would be nearly 10 miles, and awfully rough. We'd better try to locate the flat canyon where Superstition Lodge is. Is it left or right?"

"I—don't know," admitted Carolee. She was sadly confused now.

"Great god hunters we are!" Stuart growled. "Can't we even find ourselves, much less a nugget, Let's ride again."

They started back down, and found the descent almost as hard as the climb. Carolee slipped once, almost cutting her knee on a rock. She was trembling a little when she stood up again, but she went gamely on, declining Stuart's offer to aid her.

She was even in the lead part of the time, and once she drew back and gasped. Instantly Stuart was with her. But she had simply been startled at the gashly skeleton of a cow, some steer that had strayed from its range and died of thirst or in a fall. Nevertheless, this experience didn't help any, under the circumstances.

He led the way definitely now, after a minute of no spoke: "Say, I never saw those bones on the way up here, did you?"

"No-o-o, I didn't," she admitted. "But he incident crystallized a new thought in both their minds. They were stooping to pass under limbs, parting scrub and brush, dodging Spanish dagger and

BIRD HUNTING STAMPS TO GO ON SALE HERE

First issue of the 1938 migratory bird hunting stamp has been received and will be placed on sale at the postoffice on Thursday morning.

The new stamp is about the size of an air mail stamp and light green in color. It bears a picture of several flying ducks, which have already caused many arguments as to their classification.

It is compulsory to secure the stamps effective from July 1 to start. Although the season on ducks, geese, etc., is a long way off, the stamps are effective from July 1 to June 30.

for Chicago. We're all feeling fine and having a good time.

Hours Later: We've seen nothing you can't find in certain parts of Texas, except the elevated railroads and subways in Chicago. Being a hantourist in this Ohio country you'd never know but what you were in Central or East Texas.

We have annexed four more states since yesterday morning, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. We stopped on the Iowa side of the Mississippi river yesterday and got out to take pictures. We crossed the big river at Fort Madison, Iowa, and then rode along its banks for several miles. We saw a river steamboat just north of Fort Madison.

Jack Hesse says: "We're not asking for hamburgers. Northern hamburgers are not like Texas hamburgers. Just a ball of meat between two hunks of bread, with a little catsup and fried potatoes thrown in." But we all think that statement is a wee bit prejudiced. Being a hantourist just before bedtime last night in Chicago, and woke up this morning with the stomach-ache. Nothing serious, however.

We are still well, in a good humor, and having a big time.

On the Baltimore and Ohio railroad somewhere in Ohio between Chicago, Illinois and Akron, Ohio, 7:15 a. m. EST, Sat., June 26.

We just finished breakfast in the dining car. We are still in the car in which we left Pampa, and it is now a part of a regular "B" and "C" train. We were a special from Kansas City to Chicago and made four stops in that 600 miles. We ran between 40 and 80 miles per hour all the way, and left the Santa Fe in Chicago. A. A. Graham, an Eagle Scout with 27 years service as a Scout and Scouter, and who is connected with the Santa Fe in Amarillo rode with us to Chicago and arranged our accommodations on the Santa Fe. He has now gone on ahead with our baggage. Fred M. Roberts, Adobe Walls, is not with us; he went to Washington about a week ago to make things ready for our arrival.

We ran into the rain just the other side of Chicago late yesterday afternoon and ran out of it sometime last night. It has been raining here and everything is still wet. We all really slept last night. It has finally gotten cool enough for us to enjoy the trip.

guard protection said all but one small plant was in operation today as they prepared to resume three shift production.

The only mill not yet operating is the small Hubbard unit of Sheet and Tube where 120 men are normally employed.

Sheet and Tube operations officials claimed 8,700 men reported for work today on the day shift and approximately 3,000 on last night's shift. The company employs a total of 14,500 men in Youngstown.

Police and national guardsmen arrested 13 men during the night in Youngstown, four of them on charges of kidnaping Ivor W. Gardner, a steel worker, and forcing him to sign an SWOC membership card.

May Close 2 Weeks: The two explosions at Johnstown, ripping away pipelines supplying water to the big Franklin mill and the Gaultier works—major units of the Cambria plants—may mean the closing of the entire works for two weeks, General Manager C. R. Elliott said.

He immediately ordered five blast furnaces banked, and closed 15 open hearths and the Franklin Rolling mill. Water was temporarily turned into the company's lines from the Johnstown system.

Two hundred state police closed every road leading to the works. Because the open hearth and the blast furnace supply raw materials, it was probable other units would be affected.

The first explosion about midnight broke the six foot line running from the ten billion gallon Quemahoning dam, 11 miles south of Johnstown, to the Franklin mill which consumes half of the water used by the Cambria works.

The second blast at 3:05 a. m. (Eastern Daylight Time) was heard for more than two miles. It snapped the 36-inch line from Border dam to the Gaultier mill, second largest division of the works.

Before the blast curtailed the water supply, the corporation had speeded up working schedules while strikers stubbornly held their lines about the largest of seven gates to the mills.

"Our schedule is rapidly returning to normal," Sidney Evans, management representative, had told

REOPENING OF CHICAGO STEEL MILLS DELAYED

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—Postponement of the reopening of steel mills in the Chicago area allayed tension temporarily along the western strike sector today.

Both the Inland Steel corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company delayed until further notice resumption of operations in the Calumet district of Illinois and Indiana.

The decision was reached after an appeal by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana who sought to lift the strike pending outcome of the National Labor Relations board hearing on the strike issue—refusal of steel firms to sign contracts with the CIO. Pickets, estimated by police to number 2,500, were massed around the strike-bound plants by the steel workers organizing committee, determined to resist the move to reopen the mills. The number determined to less than 300 after the reopening was postponed.

Gov. Townsend expressed confidence a temporary settlement was in the offing. A representative of the governor went to Washington ostensibly to enlist the support of John L. Lewis, CIO chief, for the truce proposal.

AMERICANS WIN GOLF MATCHES IN ENGLAND

SOUTHPORT, Eng., June 29 (AP)—Led by the teams of Ed Dudley and Byron Nelson, and Ralph Guldahl and Tony Manero, the United States today gained a 2-1-2 to 1-1-2 lead over Great Britain's team of professional golfers in the Scotch foursomes division of the biennial Ryder Cup play.

The Dudley-Nelson and Guldahl-Manero combines won their matches, while Gene Sarazen and Denny Shute finished theirs all even for half a point and Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta lost to Percy Alliss and Richard Burton, 2 and 1.

Their showing in the foursomes, considered a British "specialty," strengthened the Americans' hopes of retaining the international trophy tomorrow. When eight singles matches will be played, and at the same time scoring their first victory on a British course. To date the series stands 3 to 2 in favor of the United States, each side having won on its own grounds.

The day's greatest surprise was the showing made by the veteran Dudley and Nelson, his young ex-Texan partner. In advance of the matches they had been regarded as sacrificial lambs being offered up to be slaughtered by Britain's reputedly strongest duo, Henry Cotton and Alf Padgham, the latter holder of the British open championship.

TURKEYS IN DEMAND: BALLINGER, June 29 (AP)—M. F. Lett, manager of the Runco Poultry association and a director of the Southwestern Turkey Growers association, said today that flocks of turkeys are in demand as grasshopper eradicators.

CHICAGO GRAIN: CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—Ten cents a bushel skyrocketing of wheat prices within 24 hours culminated today in waves of profit taking that ended with reactions of about 2 1/2 cents.

New high prices reached for the year resulted mainly from reports of drought disaster to Canadian wheat and of rapid increase of black rust damage in United States winter wheat. World visible stocks of wheat were estimated at 115,600,000 bushels against 207,445,000 bushels a year ago.

In the close, wheat was 1 1/2-2 1/2 cents above yesterday's finish, July 1.20-1.21, Sept. 1.22 1/2-1/2, corn 1 1/2 off to 1 1/2 up, soy 1.27 1/2-1/2, Sept. 1.13 1/2-1/2, and oats 1/2-1/2 advanced.

SOCIALITE FIGHTS TO RETAIN RICH HUSBAND

VENTURA, Calif., June 29 (AP)—The heavily-spotlighted "batttle of the blue books," between Mrs. Nan Pierson Brooks Macy Brill, New York social figure, and her husband of four days, William Brill II, of Los Angeles, was called for trial in Superior Court today.

The hearing was on Brill's petition for annulment of his marriage to the pretty, Alabama-born society girl. He eloped with her last March 29, and filed suit for annulment four days later. He said they were intoxicated when they left Hollywood for Yuma, Ariz., and were still intoxicated when the ceremony was performed.

Mrs. Brill is contesting her husband's charges. She vowed that she intended to remain Mrs. Bill Brill as long as I want. She said she still loved him and that, despite appearances, he loved her.

LATE NEWS

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—North American wheat prices skyrocketed again today as reports of serious losses to growing crops from drought in Canada and rust in the United States, poured in on the markets.

Wheat at Winnipeg, Minneapolis and Kansas City soared to the 5 cents per bushel daily limits at times and at Chicago excited buying lifted the market a maximum of 4 1/2 cents before fractional drops occurred.

temporary suspension of gold and foreign exchange payments for the protection of the franc, drafted his declaration for seeking parliamentary approval of future financial steps.

This declaration called on parliament for the "necessary powers" to act "promptly and firmly" for "durable re-establishment of the financial and economic situation and to fortify the country's indispensable confidence in itself and its future."

The Chautemps government, having led France technically and tentatively off the gold standard, demanded of parliament a free hand to recede the destiny of the franc in present financial crisis.

Tentative suspension of dealings in gold and foreign exchange payments—to protect the franc during parliamentary debate on financial reforms—was decreed by the new finance minister, Georges Bonnet in a dramatically sudden move shortly after midnight.

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Treasury officials said today the monetary agreement between France, Great Britain and the United States remained in force despite temporary suspension of the Frenchman's right to exchange his paper money for gold.

They predicted the participating nations would act if necessary to prevent upsets in the relation between dollar, pound and franc during the French crisis.

The French government, for the present, has stopped the exchange of francs for other monies—the process used in buying and selling goods between nations.

Since this three-nation effort to give money a steadier day-in-and-day-out value was launched last September, some American authorities have voiced concern over the heavy inflows of gold into the United States.

It was learned the United States, Britain and France now hold four fifths of all the gold known to be in the vaults of governments and their official or semi-official central banks, such as the American Federal Reserve system and the Bank of England.

EDITORS DISCUSS GUILD: CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—Publishers and editors of daily newspapers convened here today in a special meeting called by the president of 10 regional and national associations to discuss the American Newspaper Guild.

In the convention call, the associated presidents said the Guild had voted to affiliate with the CIO and was demanding closed shop contracts. "This issue," they said, "is whether or not the newspapers of this country should submit to the Guild's demand for a closed shop."

McAndrew Dies: MAMARONECK, N. Y., June 29 (AP)—William McAndrew, 73, editor and educator who was ousted as superintendent of Chicago schools in 1928 by former mayor William "Big Bill" Thompson as being "in the pay of Great Britain," died last night. A superior court later ruled he had been illegally prosecuted.

LEGAL FORCES DEBATE SANITY OF SCULPTOR

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Strange Robert Irwin, who has confessed his expert sculptor's hands molded death for three, marked time in gloomy historic Tombs prison today while legal forces opened a bitter fight over the question of his sanity.

Insanity, it was expected, would be the defense of the 29-year-old former divinity student and erstwhile mental patient as District Attorney William C. Dodge, appeared before the grand jury today to seek three first degree murder indictments.

Dodge chose as his star witness Mrs. Ethel Kudner, sister of one of the murder victims, the beautiful "Bennie" Gedeon artist's model and daughter of another Mrs. Mary Gedeon.

Irwin's confession listed her as the original sole intended object of murder and as one he "loved and hated," whose death, he believed, would bring "the way out" of his mental sufferings. He "borrowed" the lives of the two Gedeons and a roofer, Frank Byrnes, he said, in a plan to take the life of Mrs. Kudner.

On the opposite side of the legal battlefield stood veteran Samuel Liebowitz, criminal lawyer who never has lost a defendant to the executioners.

To questions about the defense Liebowitz recalled the police two months ago had urged Irwin to surrender with the promise, in effect, he would not be prosecuted as a sane man.

Ballot Supervisor Testifies in Trial

STINNETT, June 29 (AP)—Dale Lane, supervisor for the Citizens Party at the Berger city election April 6, testified today he saw a supervisor for the administration ticket, G. C. Harney, place a "bunch of ballots" in the ballot box.

The testimony was presented at a group of city officials. Lane testified also he saw the election judge, E. L. Lantorn, place his hand in the election box with the announcement that he wanted to "stir the ballots."

W. H. Bates, chief of police, testified he had burned the contents of the ballot boxes following the official canvass by the city commission. He said he did not know what was in the boxes other than the ballots.
