

ESTES REFUSES PLAN MURRAY ASKS COURT MOVE BE DELAYED

Holds East Texas Likely Will Endanger Success Of Washington Meeting On April 9.

DRAW COMPACT Tyler Editor Claims That Oil States Group Has Proposition Based Solely On Fixing Price.

TYLER, April 7. (AP)—Carl Estes, Tyler editor who led the movement against what he termed premature promotion of the East Texas oil pool, today had declined an offer of Cletus Murray, chairman of the oil states' advisory committee, now in session in Washington, to withhold court action against the railroad commission's order curtailing production in the new field.

Murray wired Estes last night that the proposed legal attack on the order "at this time would greatly prejudice the committee's position before the federal conservation board."

Estes replied in his declination wire that "we have never recognized and never will recognize the oil states' advisory committee."

Opposes Such Agency "We simply subscribe to the doctrine that all such agencies as your committee violate the fundamental principles of democracy," Estes said.

After a long drawn-out hearing the railroad commission recently issued an order placing the East Texas pool under proration with other Texas fields and fixing the allowable, starting April 10, at 90,000 barrels daily and increasing gradually to a maximum of 130,000 barrels over a three-month period.

The group opposing proration objected to the order and instructed their attorney, former Governor Dan Moody, to seek an injunction against carrying out the order. The suit was to be filed this week.

WASHINGTON, April 7. (AP)—The oil states advisory committee began work today on a final draft of its proposed compact among ten states to control oil production.

Members held an executive session during the morning, after which conferences with federal officials were to be resumed. Cletus Murray of Oklahoma, the chairman, said he would seek an appointment with President Hoover for the afternoon. He was to confer again with Secretary Wilbur, chairman of the federal conservation board, late in the day.

Thursday, Murray's group will lay their compact before this board for its approval and support. The hearing will be open to all interested in the oil industry's plight and will consider a report on the country's petroleum requirements for the six months April to September in connection with the compact.

Man Is Tortured By Trio of Robbers ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, April 7. (AP)—His ears and finger tips partly torn off by robbers who tortured him in an effort to locate his money, Andy Yelan, 55, was found unconscious today in his home at Barton. His condition was critical.

Yelan said three robbers invaded his home late last night and demanded to know the hiding place of $2,000 he received recently from the sale of real estate. He refused and the robbers then used a pair of pliers to pinch his ears and fingers until he lost consciousness.

STATE BOND ISSUE HIT BY BROOKS BILL JUST PASSED

AUSTIN, April 7. (AP)—The house today struck a blow at the proposed state highway bond issue when it passed to engrossment a bill by Representative Brooks of Bagwell to pay off the outstanding bonded indebtedness of counties.

Opponents of the proposed highway bond issue stated following engrossment of the bill that its final passage would be the greatest blow struck at the bond issue this session. They predicted defeat for the bond issue resolution as the result of today's vote on the bill by Brooks.

Under Brooks' bill one-fourth of the gasoline tax receipts would be set aside to create a fund to pay the interest and sinking fund on the outstanding bond indebtedness of counties. They predicted defeat for the bond issue resolution as the result of today's vote on the bill by Brooks.

Thursday, Murray's group will lay their compact before this board for its approval and support. Texas Cities 'Cleaning House' Today

ELECTIONS IN MANY PLACES ARE SPIRITED

Some Votes Merely Matters of Form, While Others Based on Municipal Issues of Interest.

MILLER IN RACE Berger Mayor Seeks Fourth Term — Oklahoma City and Chicago Claiming Wide Attention.

By The Associated Press. Spring house elections were in progress Tuesday in the city halls of many Texas municipalities, as voters went to the polls to elect new administrations.

An extremely tight vote in the city council election was indicated in Fort Worth, inasmuch as the election was merely a matter of form, none of the nine members of the council having opposition. The council was composed of Mayor William Bryce, Mayor Pro Tem A. E. Thomas and Councilmen William M. Young, Z. J. Jarvis, Willard Burton, J. R. Pena, W. E. Thompson, E. T. Renfro, and John E. Davis.

BLINN IS LEADING OKLAHOMA CITY, April 7. (AP) Quiet C. J. Blinn, opposing J. C. (Jack) Walton, outspoken ousted governor, for Oklahoma City mayoralty, was reported leading in most wards on the basis of early city election returns today.

Dallas' new experiment with the city manager form of government, to be inaugurated May 1. The election was a quiet one, with sponsors of an amendment to the city charter authorized at a special election several months ago advocating the election of a straight ticket.

FOUNDED BERGER John R. Miller, incorporator of the oil boom town of Berger and founder of the school system there in 1926, Tuesday sought his fourth term in office in the municipal election. As partner of A. P. Berger, original owner of the townsite, Miller became the first mayor of Berger and in 1927 resigned, at the request of the governor. He was re-elected city commissioner and became mayor last June, under a new charter. Commissioners J. C. Carroll, D. B. Doughrath, A. C. Keith and Henry Knight all sought re-election. Eight other candidates opposed incumbents in the race for five offices and voting was lively.

Early voting at Tyler was light for the offices of city commissioner, city clerk and city treasurer. Three sought re-election. Interest was at low ebb, although some campaigning had been done by several candidates.

Whipping May Have Become Profession ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 7. (AP)—The police theory that expert whipping for a fee was being carried on in this area by a band of professional floggers was strengthened today by the beating of Owen Jackson, a barber.

Death Penalty Not To Be Established In Michigan Again DETROIT, April 7. (AP)—A proposal backed by Governor Wilbur M. Brucker to re-establish the death penalty for murder in Michigan was defeated overwhelmingly in yesterday's spring election.

NEGRO LOOKING FOR WIFE AND FRIEND EL PASO, April 7. (AP)—All over Louisiana, Alabama, and Texas he has hiked, looking for his wife. "Ah'll walk ten thousand miles and look at every negro's face in this country if it takes day to find day man who run away with mah wife," said Crosby Clark, 32, strapping Galveston negro, at the police station here.

SCHOOL MEETING SET The monthly banquet of the Superintendents and Principals club will be held April 8 at McLean, beginning at 8 o'clock. The home economics department will serve the banquet. John B. Hessey, county superintendent, is on the program to give a report of school legislation enacted or brought up in the legislature since the last meeting of the club.

CHILDREN ARE KILLED SEALY, April 7. (AP)—Frank and Walter Labaj, 9 and 7 years old, respectively, were killed and their father, Jim Labaj, about 30, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when a northbound Santa Fe train hit their automobile at a crossing five miles south of here.

WASHINGTON, April 7. (NEA)—The customs service has been accused of a lot, but now for the first time it appears to have tried to block a remarkable demonstration of the efficacy of prayer.

The "response to prayer" in this case has caused many chuckles among Washington clergymen. The prayer was that of Bishop Freeman of the National Cathedral and it was sent to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia on the occasion of his magnificent coronation as ruler of a country which became Christian about 400 A. D.

The response came when the emperor thankfully sent the bishop an Amharic Bible studded with jewels and a gold cross 16 inches high. Some reports say the cross is of silver studded with gold and others that it is solid gold; the truth may never be known. Anyway, it had a hard time getting through the customs and did so only after the State Department had taken the matter up with the Treasury Department.

Grapevine advices from Ethiopia report that none of the gifts received by Haile Selassie during the coronation have pleased him so much as two pretentious American motion picture films, "Ben Hur" and the "King of Kings," both of a religious nature.

The pious emperor had watched them run off together 12 times at last accounts, expressing delight at being able to see the New Testament figures on the screen. Finally he has begun to invite the principal dignitaries of his country to the showings, but most have been exclusively for himself. His pleasure over the films is said to have inspired him to decorate American Minister Southward with the Order of Menelik, which is a very high honor.

The oldest government employe here in point of service still appears to be Charles B. Davis, 72-year-old chief messenger for the Army's chief-of-staff, Major General MacArthur. On April 14, 1868, Davis as a boy of 9 got a job as civilian messenger from General George Bell of the Army's subsistence section. Next year he will have served 63 years as a civilian employe of the War Department and he has been in such good health that he has been given a two-year extension on his retirement age.

Miss Vera Bloom, talented daughter of Congressman Sol Bloom of New York, an old-time showman and music publisher who is now directing the mammoth 1932 celebration called the George Washington Bicentennial, has written the lyric for the vocalization of the popular Argentine tango "Jalousie" and the words of the chorus go like this:

"We dance a tango of love,
Your heart beats with mine as we sway;
Your eyes give me the answer I'm dreaming of,
That soft word your cruel lips will never say.
I fear that the music will end
And shatter the spell it may lend
To make me believe, when your eyes just deceive
And it's only the tango you love."

The big gambling house just outside the District of Columbia, off the Baltimore Pike, which has been the most popular resort of its kind for Washingtonians, recently closed down mysteriously, three weeks ahead of the racing season, when it closes normally.

One explanation given is that it was facing a rush of ex-soldiers with bonus loan money in their pockets and figured that their wives and creditors probably would make trouble for the resort. By the time it re-opens most of the bonus money presumably will have been distributed.

GARDEN, COW, HEN AND SWO

Not a formula for riches, but a formula for economic independence, according to one man who follows it. Ben F. Chapman, who commutes between his Bell county farm and his job as chief clerk in the state department of agriculture, learned the lesson of farm diversification early in his farming career—quite as much by accident as by design. He was a thorough cotton farmer when he became interested in hogs. To raise hogs he had to have corn. So he rotated his cotton with corn, and made the discovery that by rotating he could make as much cotton in three years as he previously made in four.

Root rot caused him to extend the diversification to include other grains—wheat, oats and barley—as rotating crops, and rather than sell the grain outright, he entered the dairying business. But cows demanded hay, so he planted sudan grass pastures. The weeds got bad; he bought sheep to keep them down. So the diversified farm grew. A barn was built to store the corn, and half paid for itself in one year when the value of the stored corn jumped from 50 cents to a dollar a bushel. Chickens logically added.

Chapman has lived on the Bell county farm for eight years, and estimates that during that time his family hasn't purchased more than $50 worth of canned groceries. Mrs. Chapman cans around 300 cans each year with a pressure cooker.—Tulsa Herald.

Candidates At Extremes

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 7. (AP)—Oklahoma City chooses between John Calloway Walton, "Rarin' Jack" and mild mannered C. J. Blinn for mayor today.

Thirteen years ago, Walton won the office. Since that time he has been governor, impeached and ousted, a defeated senatorial nominee, and now is under indictment for alleged mail fraud, the result of the collapse of the Universal Oil and Gas company, with which he was associated.

Rarin' Jack closed a characteristic campaign of biting personalities against Blinn and more particularly against Blinn's leading supporters, which included the three capital daily newspapers.

Both are anti-administration candidates, Mayor Walter Dean running a poor third in the preliminary balloting. Walton held a slight lead over Blinn.

About 30,000 voters were expected to register their preference today at polls closely guarded as a result of charges of illegal registration.

Fighting back at the daily press, reminding the electorate of the disturbed days which preceded and followed Walton's impeachment, when martial law ruled part of the state, Walton has accused his enemies of insincerity. He has promised to oust both police chief and city manager if elected.

Numerous other Oklahoma cities are voting today to fill municipal posts and to decide utility issues.

DALLAS, April 7. (AP)—Voters today were picking nine city councilmen from a field of 15 candidates to represent them in Dallas' administration of the city manager form of government to be inaugurated May 1. The election was quiet.

The nine councilmen will pick from among their number a mayor to succeed Mayor J. Waddy Tate, elected two years ago, who opposed the city manager amendment, but who did not take an active part in election of councilmen to carry out the innovation. The councilmen will elect a city manager.

MAD MARRIAGE

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of HEART HUNGRY, etc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Gypsy McBride, 19-year-old typist is miserable and lonely when she finds that Alan Crosby, just returned from a year and a half in Paris studying art, no longer cares for her. Crosby is infatuated with a Mrs. Langley, wealthy divorcee, who considers herself a patron of art. Gypsy becomes disgusted with her job and when she is criticized for carelessness impulsively resigns.

She accepts an invitation from her wealthy cousin, Anne Trowbridge, to take the place of another guest at a formal dinner. The party is a bore. She leaves to get her wraps and go home, hears a noise in the next room and opens the door to see a man climbing in through the window. He is James Wallace, guest of the Trowbridges, who has entered by the fire escape to avoid the dinner party guests. Wallace tells Gypsy he has just been jilted by his fiancée. She admits she has had the same experience. To spite the girl he cares for, Wallace asks Gypsy to marry him. She refuses but later accepts. They are married next morning.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XII

It was Anne Trowbridge who exclaimed, "Heavens, Jim! Aren't you going to kiss the bride?" Anne had insisted in her approval sufficiently to come with Phil to see the couple married.

James Wallace bent his head and dutifully saluted Gypsy's cheek. She heard the magistrate saying something in his hoarse voice about wishing them a long and happy life. Phil was talking—apparently what he said was a joke because the others smiled.

Gypsy looked about her and the others seemed figures in a dream. This could not be really she, Gypsy McBride, beside the tall young man with blue eyes who was holding her arm. Another moment and she would wake and know she had imagined the whole thing. On the second finger of Gypsy's left hand gleamed a circlet of diamonds. They were very bright. They caught fire from the sunlight and shot it back in dazzling radiance. The diamonds were real. She had not imagined them. They she knew she had not imagined any of it. It was all true. James Wallace was her husband.

There was no time for a wedding breakfast. Wallace was anxious to make the 11 o'clock train. He had the tickets in his pocket. They went out of the building to where Trowbridge's car was waiting.

Phil glanced at his watch. "Plenty of time," he assured them. "We'll make it and have 15 minutes to spare."

The car was a sleek dark blue coupe. Gypsy and Anne climbed inside. Wallace was muttering about "confounded traffic" as he followed them. He had experienced one unfortunate tie-up in New York streets and never forgotten it.

"Darling, you're looking pale," Anne said to Gypsy as they started. "Didn't you sleep well?"

Gypsy smiled. She did look tired. "I'm all right," she said. "After I got home last night I packed. And was up at 7 this morning."

"Never mind," Anne reassured her. "Brides are supposed to be pale anyhow. I remember at my wedding—"

She chatted on, but Gypsy was not listening. Whenever she heard that word "bride" she wanted to turn and look for another person. It seemed impossible that she was the one referred to.

Young Mrs. Trowbridge had done her best to give the busy marriage conventional touches. She had seen to it that there were flowers for Gypsy—bought by Wallace at a corner florist's shop just before the ceremony. There was a cluster of gardenias pinned to the lapel of Gypsy's suit coat. White flowers, sweet and fragrant, for a bride.

In one old and bulky suit case stowed away in the rear of the car were all of Gypsy's belongings. The suit case was not crowded. Half a dozen dresses comprised the girl's wardrobe. The other things had been so worn she was ashamed to pack them. The old tweed coat, white and the gardenias did a good deal for the entire costume.

Wallace and Trowbridge were talking about the car. Phil boasted about the mileage he had covered. Wallace described the road-ster he had purchased two months before. He said it could do 90.

"Say, Gypsy," Phil called back over the wheel, "ever drive with this fellow? Know what a speed demon he is?"

"No-no, I haven't."

"Well, believe me, you've got something to look forward to!" Wallace protested. He said it was safer to drive fast than slow. Anyhow, he wasn't reckless, never took chances. What this country needed was a minimum, instead of maximum, speed law.

The conversation was cut short as they reached the railway station. Amid a hub-bub of barking taxi horns and snorting vehicles they arrived at the passenger entrance. Three red caps ran forward to get their baggage. Wallace helped Anne and Gypsy out and Phil drove away to park the car. He called after them that he would return immediately.

"Made it all right," said Wallace with relief in his voice. The big station clock pointed to 10 minutes of 11.

They waited near the gate until Trowbridge rejoined them. A station attendant, with sonorous voice, was calling out the departure of a train.

"Not ours," Wallace hastened to assure Gypsy.

The whirl and bustle of the great waiting room roused the girl. "Oh, Anne," Gypsy said, "I'm sorry I'm not going to see you any more—"

She was saying goodbye, not to Anne Trowbridge, but to all she was leaving behind, to New York, to those crowded days at Mac-Namara's, to memories of her father, to Alan Crosby. Gypsy laughed and no doubt the others thought the tears in her eyes were tears of happiness.

"You're going to like it where you're going," Anne reassured her. "What's the name of the place? Forest City—that's right. Write to us, darling. We'll be waiting to hear from you!"

Of course she would write, Gypsy clung to Anne's arm. This cousin whom she had thought of so casually had suddenly become the last remaining link between the new life and the old.

Phil Trowbridge's big hand fastened itself over Gypsy's in a grip that was almost painful. "Wish you every happiness!" he told her grinning. "Deserve it. Think Jim's damned lucky! Nobody's told me I could kiss the bride but I'm certainly going to!" He planted a quick kiss on Gypsy's lips. In the confusion and laughter that followed the girl found herself beyond the train gate, waving one gloved hand at Anne and Phil across the barrier. The colored boy with the baggage was ahead leading the way. Gypsy tried to match her short steps to Wallace's great, striding ones.

They reached the car, entered it, and the girl's eyes widened. There were great, comfortable armchairs in place of stiff train seats. A half dozen passengers were already in the car. Beside each chair there were little tables for magazines or books.

The white-coated porter led them to the other end of the car. He helped Wallace out of his coat and hung it away. Gypsy sank into her big chair. She closed her eyes for an instant, opened them again. Wallace was watching her. "Everything all right?" he asked. Gypsy nodded.

Her husband glanced about at the other passengers. A woman directly ahead of Gypsy was throwing off a handsome mink coat. She was a tall woman. Her features were not beautiful but they were distinctive. As she moved Gypsy sensed the odor of spicy, elusive perfume.

Suddenly Wallace jumped up. "Newspapers!" he exclaimed. "Forgot about 'em. Be right back!" He reached for his hat and hurried out of the car.

In a few minutes he was back. Under his arms were two bulky morning newspapers and several magazines. He handed the magazines to Gypsy.

"Though you might like something to read," he explained. "Didn't know what you care for. I hope these are all right."

Cosmopolitan, Harper's and Liberty. Gypsy thanked him, opened the Liberty and turned through the pages. Presently she felt the train moving out of the station.

Across the aisle Wallace was lost to view behind his newspaper. Gypsy dropped the magazine and stared out the window. There was nothing much to see. She turned back to the article she had been reading. The words blurred.

This was a honeymoon. Gypsy McBride—do, Gypsy Wallace now—and her husband departing on their honeymoon.

The newspaper across the aisle drooped. She heard her name and looked up. Wallace, from behind the folds of print paper, was peering at her. "Gypsy," he said "there are some things I suppose we ought to talk about."

"All right."

Wallace discarded the newspaper. "First of all," he began "everybody calls me Jim. I suppose—if you don't mind—you'd better call me that too."

"Jim's a nice name," she agreed. "I like it. We used to have an office boy named Jim."

"Bright boy?"

"I don't know. He only stayed

You'll like this smart new PONTIAC especially at its new low price

Delivered $814 Equipped

Buying a car on price alone is unwise, of course. Selecting mainly by any other feature is equally uncertain. That is why Pontiac likes to give you as many plain facts as you will read. Checking these against your experience, you can quickly decide the question of value.

- Bodies by Fisher—In Pontiac bodies Fisher craftsmen have attained remarkable insulation against heat, cold and noise. Style and riding ease also reach new standards. The upholstery, genuine whipcord or mohair, combines good taste with wearing qualities which help maintain the car's value. Ample roominess assures comfort for all in the car.
- New 60-H. P. Engine—Power alone never meant satisfactory performance in a motor car. Pontiac engineers have attained fine-car smoothness along with power more than ample for all driving needs and desires.
- Chassis Cushioned with Rubber—At more than 40 points where road shocks are ordinarily registered, the Pontiac chassis is cushioned with rubber. Riding ease is notably increased—also the car's

- steadiness on the road. Rubber-cushioned spring shackles add to comfort.
- Large, Powerful Brakes—In any emergency the Pontiac driver has full control. Surely, evenly, powerfully, the big brakes grip all four wheels.
- To learn how well Pontiac combines these fine-car features, drive the car. A demonstration will be arranged at your convenience.

TOTAL OF 150 BOYS FIGHTING FOR TRACK HONORS HERE

COMPETITION IN DASH RUNS DRAWS STARS

Relay Race Will See Five Teams Struggling For Victory.

The team of Panhandle high school athletes are in competition here this afternoon at the Pampa high school invitation track and field meet. More than 150 boys and their coaches and supporters started arriving here this morning and continued to arrive until the meet started at 2 o'clock.

Competition is expected to be particularly keen in the dash events in which such well known high school stars as Larry of Pampa, Bufkin of Amarillo, Tucker of Canyon, Townsend of Groom, Talley of Miami, Merritt of White Deer, and many others are participating. The weight men are also numerous and prominent in that line of sports.

One event that will draw particular attention will be the relay in which state contenders from Groom, Amarillo, Clarendon, Claude, and Pampa will be fighting against each other.

The meet had to be postponed three times due to adverse weather conditions and conflicting meets.

Saturday Coach Ocus Mitchell and the pick of his track and field men will be in Lubbock participating in the Texas Tech relays for the first time.

Doctor Orders Dempsey to Quit For Two Months

COLUMBUS, O., April 7. (AP)—After refereeing a bout at Wheeling, W. Va., tonight, Jack Dempsey will retire from public life for at least two months on the order of his physicians.

The former heavyweight champion, who refereed the Busby Gram-Johnny Farr match here last night, announced that doctors at Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., examined him recently and advised him to rest in order to recuperate from nervousness and persistent loss of weight.

Although the appeared robust, Dempsey said he had felt the strain of continuous traveling to referee bouts in various parts of the country. After leaving Wheeling, the ex-champion said he would cancel the remaining 95 engagements on his schedule and go into seclusion.

"There is nothing seriously wrong with me," Dempsey said, "but I intend to follow doctors' orders. I always listened to my seconds in the ring, so I guess I had better listen to the doctors who are in my corner this time. I will go to the country for at least two months—longer if necessary."

PITCHING IS GOOD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 7. (AP)—Except for brilliant pitching by George Blasholder recently, Manager Bill Miller of the St. Louis Browns has little to be happy over today. The rest of the pitchers, with the exception of Southpaw Walter Stewart, have been doing little to indicate they belong in the American league; the batters have not been hitting and the infield has made three errors a game.

Spuders Play Davids Sunday

WICHITA FALLS, April 7. (AP)—The Spuders settled into their last week of spring training today with the prospect of playing one more exhibition game, that next Sunday with the House of David nine.

Texas Christian university's horned Frogs gave the men of Williams an excellent hitting and running practice yesterday. The Spuders rolling up a score of 18 to 2. Two youthful pitchers, who have shown great promise during the entire spring training siege, Roland Plinn and Howard Taylor, divided mound duty and held the collegians to four hits. The Frogs' two runs were scored on three hits in the sixth after Plinn had pitched to only 15 men in the first five innings.

Braves Sorry To Have Left Camp

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 7. (AP)—Manager Bill McKechnie of the Braves won't leave St. Petersburg, Fla., so soon another year. "We left St. Pete nearly a week too soon," says McKechnie. "Our stay at Macon was profitless and our visit here ill advised. I want practice for my players. We could have stayed at Waterfront park and drawn more money daily from our scrub games but here we are in Greensboro with the skies still weeping."

Yanks Have Rival For Lou and Ruth

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7. (AP)—If his batting form in exhibition bouts may be taken as a promise, Myrl Hoag, expensive youngster from the west coast, will make Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig hump to retain their status as the "home run twins" of the Yankees. He has taken most of the play from them so far. Three homers in two days is his record against Nashville pitching and he has thrown in hard singles for good measure. In addition, no fault has been found recently with his work in left field.

NEAR WAR STRENGTH

EL PASO, April 7. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs are within three men of war strength and the squad of 28 now starting its northward journey is the smallest band carried on the return trip since they started training on the Pacific coast. The crew includes three catchers, 13 pitchers, seven infielders, and five outfielders. The final cut probably will cause two pitchers and an infielder to depart.

MAY CHANGE INFIELD

SHREVEPORT, La., April 7. (AP)—A possible infield shakeup to improve the team's batting power was under consideration today by Manager Jake Alz. The change would affect second, short and third. "I've got the greatest hitting team in the country and the best Brooklyn ever saw me cart up north," he declared. "We may not win the pennant but if we don't the team that beats us will."

A's Finally Cop Game From Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, April 7. (AP)—The champion Athletics and the aspiring Phillies called a truce today in their city series but expect to resume hostilities tomorrow. The A's with Hank MacDonald, former Portland ace, in the box, nosed out their first victory yesterday, 3 to 2, making the series standing 2 to 1 in favor of the Phils. Chuck Klein, the ex-holdout, got into the game long enough to pinch-hit a drive to center, but it didn't produce a tally.

Memorial Planned For Knute Rockne

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 7. (AP)—Plans for a memorial to Knute Rockne were underway today at the University of Notre Dame. The Rev. Fr. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the university, revealed that a number of donations already have been received from admirers of the late football coach. A committee composed of Notre Dame alumni and friends of the famous coach, nation-wide in its scope, will make recommendation as to the form of the memorial. Frank E. Hering, captain of the 1896 Irish eleven, national president of the Notre Dame Alumni association, and James E. Armstrong, national secretary, conferred with Father O'Donnell yesterday concerning the memorial project.

RESERVES SAFE

IMLAY, Nev., April 7. (AP)—As the Pittsburgh Pirate train rolled eastward today, Manager Jewel Ens made up his mind about two reserve jobs. This summer, if anything happens to any of his star outfielders, the Waters and Comorosky, it will be Pete McCannan or Forest Jensen who will be called from the bench. Both youngsters have banged the ball hard and have demonstrated they are above the average in fielding ability.

JACK VS. PRIMO

NEW YORK, April 7. (AP)—The American says today it has learned on excellent authority that Jack Shanley will fight Primo Carnera June 10 at Ebbets Field, providing Carnera can gain reinstatement by the New York State Athletic commission. Jimmy Johnston was named as the promoter.

Bobo And Bob Tour With Otis

Accompanying Otis Clingman, middleweight wrestler, on his trip to Albuquerque this week is his 3-year-old son Bobo. The young Clingman heir is also accompanied by his huge dog Bob who takes care of him when his dad is not around. Red Michaels also made the trip and will wrestle on the card with Clingman. It is a rare sight to see the huge dog and his little master having a battle when the young Clingman is determined to get into the street to play and usually the dog wins.

Bowling Tourney Has 26 Teams

WICHITA FALLS, April 7. (AP)—Twenty-six five-men teams entered here in the third annual state championship tournament of the Texas Bowling association, representing a record entry list, it was pointed out last night in a brief address by President John J. Laughlin of Wichita Falls, preceding the opening of the tourney. Six Class B teams rolled their five-men events last night, with City National bank of Wichita Falls taking the lead with a score of 2,323 pins. The Class B team competition will be completed tonight when the remaining four teams take the alleys.

CAL AND TINY HAVE SPEED AND SCIENCE

Match Will Eliminate One Contender For Reynolds' Crown.

What happens when speed meets speed, science meets science and both participants aiming at a crack at the welterweight wrestling crown will be answered Thursday night at the New Majestic when Cal Farley of Amarillo and Tiny Simmons of Kalamazoo, Mich., meet in a finish wrestling match. The one eliminated will "not" get a chance to meet Jack Reynolds this fall. Simmons is remembered as the boy Otis Clingman tried to get a decent hold on in a 15-minute special bout here on night more than a year ago. He was so fast that he could wriggle out of anything Otis had before he could get it applied. He is expected to give Farley some bad moments because he is not all slipperiness—he can apply a few holds himself.

Cal Farley, Pampa and Amarillo business man, needs no introduction to Pampa wrestling fans. Farley is one of the best in the game and very few doubt it. He recently threw Basanta Singh, Hindu olive oil drinker, that Clingman dropped some weeks ago.

Plans are being made to handle one of the biggest crowds ever to fill the Majestic. Advance tickets are selling fast at the Diamond Shop.

Tommy Thomas, LePore speed artist, and Barber Kelly will renew a grudge, the prize being for the winner to take on Tulsa Flash for a crack at Red Michaels. Andy Gump and Clarence Parker will be the preliminary attraction.

UNCLE OPTIMISTIC

MACON, Ga., April 7. (AP)—Despite the fact his Brooklyn Robins haven't been hitting to suit him so far, Uncle Wilbert Robinson is convinced it is the best club he has had.

Eddie Morgan to Try Third Base

NEW ORLEANS, April 7. (AP)—Eddie Morgan, Cleveland's star first baseman a year ago, is to be tried out at third in an effort to do something for the Tribe's disappointing infield. If Lew Fonseca, who won Morgan's job while the latter was trying to retire from baseball, returns at least will have a hard hitting infield.

The team says goodbye to New Orleans tomorrow night, leaving Ralph Winegarner, young infielder, and Thornton Lee, pitcher, with the New Orleans Pelicans.

Universities Will Clash On Diamond

DALLAS, April 7. (AP)—Southern Methodist university and Texas Christian university were scheduled to open their 1931 Southwest conference baseball campaign here today. Neither club is expected to finish high in the conference race which started last Saturday.

Texas A. and M., with their Saturday's victory over the Baylor Bruins, continue to lead the dominant march. The Baylor Bruins reached the 500 mark yesterday when they scored six runs in their first two innings against Rice at Houston to win, 6 to 1.

Sox Reserves Are Fighting For Places

ATLANTA, Ga., April 7. (AP)—Manager Donie Bush is all set on his regular Chicago White Sox outfield but a lively battle is going on over the reserve spots. Carl Reynolds, Smead Jolley, and Mel Simons are Bush's choices for regular duty, with Fred Eichrod, Bob Fothergill, and Johnny Watwood in the contest for two other jobs. Watwood was tossed back into the outfield scramble when La Blue was purchased from St. Louis to take over the first base duties.

ENTHUSIASM OVER HEAVY BOUT WEAK

Risko and Tom Heeney Listless Most of Way At Toronto.

TORONTO, April 7. (AP)—Fight fans of this city today were discussing the first heavyweight affair they had seen in over two years and the verdict was far from enthusiastic. Johnny Risko and Old Tom Heeney, the two big boys chosen to put the 200-pound class back in good standing hereabouts, failed to supply enough action to suit the crowd of 5,500 that turned out. They were hooted in the early stages.

Risko put on a brisk rally in the closing rounds to earn the unanimous decision of the three judges and to avenge a previous loss to the "Hard Rock." Heeney ripped in some good punches in the fourth and fifth rounds and was himself staggered a couple of times near the close, but neither ever was in danger of a knockout.

Heeney, at 208 1/2 pounds, had a 19-pound weight advantage over the Cleveland Baker boy.

Jack Hayes Will Get Senator Post

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 7. (AP)—Jack Hayes may get the call as regular second baseman for the Washington Senators when the season starts. "It's up to Jack," said Manager Johnson. "I've been giving him plenty of chances and unless he slumps mightily badly I'm going to use him instead of Buddy Myer in the remaining exhibition games and to start the season. Understand, I'm not taking anything away from Myer, and I think I'm mighty fortunate in having two such men around. Should Hayes stop hitting, Myer will go right back in the game."

CARDS MINUS CLEAN BINGLES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 7. (AP)—Manager Gabby Street of the St. Louis Cardinals wondered today what had become of the team's punch. In 15 innings, six of them against semi-pros, the National league champions were only able to collect nine hits. The skipper, however, is confident the Redbirds will start hitting before the regular season opens. Chick Hafey, the team's heaviest gunner, remains a stubborn hold-out. Ernie Orsatti, who is filling in for him in left field, is fielding well, but he cannot compare with Hafey in long-range hitting.

IN ROUTINE PRACTICE

DALLAS, April 7. (AP)—The Dallas Steers, Texas league and St. Paul Saints, American Association, planned routine practice sessions today at Slocum stadium, but tomorrow they are scheduled to resume their six-game series. After losing the first two games, the Steers yesterday defeated the Saints, 5 to 1. Stewart and Fuhr, Dallas right handers, kept 12 St. Paul hits well scattered. Manager Happy Morse of the Steers today released Hartwell Robinson, pitcher, and Albert Boer, outfielder.

ROUSH TO COME BACK

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 7. (AP)—Eddie Roush has notified Dan Howley, Cincinnati Red pilot, that he will join the club in Cincinnati Thursday, prepared to resume his old position in center field. Roush, who was let go last season because he and the New York Giants management could not reach a salary agreement, has been working out with the Hartford club of the Eastern league, in Macon, Ga., to get in condition while the Reds came north.

Like Color . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

THE artist stands before his canvas with color-laden palette. Blues, greens, white and touches of warmer tones are blended by his inspired brush as the waves of the seascap take form. His genius tells him that only through the blending of just the right colors is the ideal result achieved. Otherwise his most painstaking effort could only result in a monotone, wholly lacking in brilliance.

Artistry and genius have their place in the making of CONOCO Gasoline. CONOCO engineers long since have found that the ideal gasoline is a balanced blend of the three types containing the elements most desired in a motor fuel. There is highly volatile Natural Gasoline, to give quick starting. There is Straight-run Gasoline, to give power and long mileage. There is Cracked Gasoline with its well-known anti-knock quality.

Like the artist with his colors, CONOCO refiners take these three types of gasoline in balanced proportions and blend them. The result is as pleasing to the car owner as is a Rembrandt to the art connoisseur. Of course the genius of "knowing how" is the vital element and it is here that CONOCO refiners excel.

Convince yourself of the merit of CONOCO Blended Gasoline. Try it today. You will find this triple-test motor fuel wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.

QUARTERLY REPORTS ARE HEARD BY BAPTIST WOMEN

General W. M. S. Business Meeting Follows Executive Session; Work of Welfare Committee Significant

Reports for the last quarter featured the executive meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary society held at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon preceding a general business session. The president, Mrs. R. L. Champion, presided at both gatherings.

Especially significant was the welfare work carried on during the quarter under the direction of Mrs. C. L. McKinney. In addition to other charity work, considerable clothing has been furnished needy children of Pampa.

Those at the executive meeting were Mesdames L. H. Green, E. F. Brake, R. L. Champion, J. H. Ayres, C. E. Lancaster, C. L. McKinney, W. B. Henry, A. C. Shaw, Tom Rose, and Clyde Garner.

In addition to the women named above, the following were at the general business meeting: Mesdames Frank Johnson, J. C. Barnard, Dewey Priest, Harvey Haynes, Troy Maness, J. W. Rose, G. C. Durham, and Lennie Hawkins.

Mrs. C. E. Lancaster opened the business meeting in prayer and Mrs. Oberlin read the second chapter of Hebrews as the devotional.

Mrs. G. C. Durham was elected social chairman of the group, one of her duties being to direct the serving of luncheons by the W. M. S.

One new member, Mrs. Dewey Priest, was received.

Rev. Smith will speak at chapel.

Feminine Fancies

Pamph English students - congratulations! In a Clapp-Young English test given the students by Miss Bernice Whiteley, head of the English department, unusually good scores were made.

The good work done in the local department of English is further evidenced by the work done by local graduates when they enter college.

From Abilene comes news that cotton dresses are recommended for both campus and general wear.

The plan was taken from a similar one sponsored by co-eds of the University of Missouri and later by the University of Texas.

The Abilene Reporter-News gave its approval of the endeavor thru the following statement: "The cotton dress is to appear at formal parties this season, since some of the most outstanding costume designers have put their stamp of approval on the cotton frock for all occasions."

Noel Reynolds returned to Dallas Monday to resume his studies at the Southern Methodist university.

Mrs. A. H. Hammett of Hobbs, N. M., is visiting friends in Pampa.

Miss Rose Young of St. Mary's academy, Amarillo, spent Easter with friends in Pampa.

Anron Meek Jr., little son of Principal J. A. Meek of Baker school, was slightly improved this morning.

Mrs. Charles Gilmore and Mrs. Fred Throckmorton were in Amarillo yesterday for the Baptist workers conference of the Palo Duro association.

SEVERAL SOCIAL EVENTS OF INTEREST ARE SLATED FOR THE WEEK IN NORTH PLAINS

A charity ball in Panhandle Thursday evening is one of a few important social events slated for this week in the North Plains. Although the Easter season was comparatively quiet, there have also been a few significant meetings during the last few days.

A dance in the ball room to the ball will be granted for five pounds of assorted groceries per person. Guests are expected from all over the county.

After Thursday, the Legion will hold its regular social dance each Tuesday evening instead of every two weeks as has been the custom in the past.

Officers Elected Joe Rorex was elected president of the Rotary club of Panhandle and other officers were chosen at a meeting last Friday. He succeeds Fred Surratt. P. I. Crum was named secretary; J. L. Graham, vice-president; M. L. Purvins, treasurer; Noble Roberts and Frank Ware, directors. E. E. O'Keefe of Pampa was a guest of J. Sid O'Keefe at the meeting. Dr. George P. Grout was principal speaker.

Mrs. J. D. Raymond, sponsor of this Panhandle high school, has announced that "The Charm School" would be the senior play this year. The Carson county Federation of Women's clubs met Monday afternoon at the Liberty Community house with the Liberty club in charge of the afternoon's program.

Church Women Meet The Miami Federation of Churches held its first regular meeting of the year last week. An interesting Easter program was rendered, and it was decided to foster a Mothers and Daughters banquet in May.

Baptists of Miami are being encouraged to attend the district Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. convention to be held in Perryton Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Unique Party Planned At the party to be held at the First Baptist church of LeFors this evening each woman will bring a pair of socks, a lunch or fruit to be in one and her name in the other. The socks will be sold and each purchaser will seek his mate.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reynolds and son, Henry Herman, Noel Reynolds and Miss Ann Talley spent Easter on the Reynolds ranch, located 40 miles north of Pampa.

Value of Church School Discussed On Monday Night

The principal address of the workers' meeting, First Methodist church, on Monday evening, was given by Rev. J. W. Watson, of Lubbock, executive secretary of the board of Christian education, Northwest Texas conference. Rev. Watson spoke on "Why a Church School?" as follows:

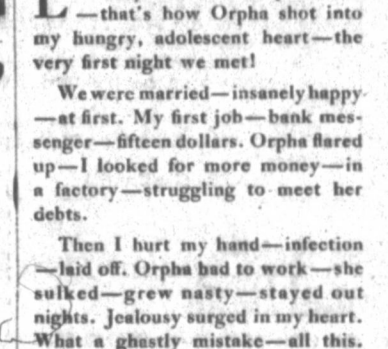

"We are incurably religious and need to be trained in things of the heart. We need first, a vital Christian experience; second, development of Christ-like character; third, to be trained for efficient service. To do this we need a church with a program that will challenge the group to their best. This will be done when we can have within the church a brotherhood, which brotherhood must be founded on the law of love. That this may be experienced we must know what the church is doing and be able to tell what the church means to us."

Tonight the discussion will be on "The Challenge to Adults of the Church." Everyone is cordially invited to attend the discussions from 8 to 9 o'clock each evening throughout the week.

Group meetings will be held each afternoon. This afternoon the workers of the children's group will meet at 4 o'clock. Anyone interested is invited to attend the group meetings.

Mrs. Naylor Has Party For Group So Jolly club members were entertained Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles F. Naylor. At the close of the afternoon of sewing, a delightful lunch was served to Mesdames J. I. Hull, H. H. Hibbs, E. S. Horner, Otto Goppelt, J. E. Gilbert, W. Moss, Warren Fox, Russell Smith, B. L. Moore, F. C. Fischer, W. A. Webb, one guest, Mrs. K. W. Hibbs, and the hostess.

Crude Production In U. S. Drops

TULSA, Okla., April 7. (AP)—Daily average crude oil production in the United States decreased 35,529 barrels in the week ended April 4, totaling 2,243,010 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal estimates.

Oklahoma led the decline with a drop of 41,240 barrels to 519,890 barrels. The next greatest shift was in east central Texas, which showed an increase of 24,971 barrels at 190,720 barrels.

The total for the mid-continent area was 1,271,792 barrels, a decrease of 12,637 barrels from the preceding week's average. Included in the mid-continent figures, in addition to Oklahoma and east central Texas, were west Texas with an increase of 7,623 barrels at 243,405 barrels and Kansas with a decrease of 1,015 barrels at 108,605 barrels. Other mid-continent fields were little changed.

Southwest Texas production dropped 11,308 barrels to 67,544 barrels. Eastern production was down 1,000 barrels at 110,000 barrels, while the Rocky Mountain area registered a gain of 1,951 barrels with an output of 96,927 barrels.

California production declined 5,760 barrels to 523,750 barrels.

MAD MARRIAGE
LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "HEART HUNGRY" etc.

I mean your business—you haven't told me anything about that."

"I'm a lawyer," he told her.

"That is, I'm supposed to be. Practice with Mark Harrison, who used to be my father's partner. He's one of the finest old fellows in the world. Smart, cool! There's another fellow in the firm named Blaire Mills. I'm the youngest. Been with the others three years."

"Being a lawyer ought to be interesting."

"It's all right," Wallace agreed. "Have you known Phil Trowbridge a long while?"

"Ever since we were in law school. Phil's never practiced, has he? Seems to know how to make dough, all right. New York's been good to him."

Wallace stirred restlessly. His embarrassment was contagious and Gypsy said no more.

"Mind if I go smoke?" he asked. She said she did not. It was half an hour before he returned. There was a frown between Jim Wallace's eyebrows as he resumed his seat.

"Gypsy," he said, leaning forward. "There's something you ought to know."

The Panhandle Pampa Local Mutual Life Insurance Company is located in Pampa, Texas. This insurance has been recommended by the insurance commissioner at Austin. I. W. H. Rodgers, has operated a mutual for more than eight years without having to call on the trustees to settle a single claim. This mutual was known as the E. K. Progress Mutual Life and Accident, of which I held $3,000 for copyright and they notified me to change the name of my mutual. As I had to change the name I decided to change the main office to Pampa, Texas, as Clarendon had 5 mutuals and Pampa none.

I am transferring 500 members from Clarendon Mutual to Pampa. I have my policies printed for Pampa Mutual but have given myself 90 days from the 15th day of March needed to wind up the unfinished business in Clarendon Mutual and issue policies in the Panhandle Pampa Mutual. During this time we will take members in as charter members at reduced rates. We would like to have 50 agents working for us. We have the 16 northwest counties of the Panhandle, the healthiest part of the state. That means low for mutual insurance. If you do not have any death you do not have to pay out your money outside the $1.50 semi-annual dues. You are only helping someone that are poor and not able to carry old line insurance. Get in now as charter member. So far we have not charged more than $1.50 per member. By the time our 90 days are up we expect to have our full membership. Our agents that are now at work are E. F. Siz and Earl Chisum of Miami, Earl Tally in the Pampa National bank building, Pampa; Charlie Rice, Wynne building, Pampa; and A. G. Sell, White Deer. See them for membership or write W. H. Rodgers at Clarendon, Texas, for agency. If hard times have caused you to drop your old line insurance try a mutual.
