Man Is Charged In Gordon Death

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—Harry Sheln, otherwise unidentified, was charged today with killing Vivian Gordon, vice graft tipster.

Three others are held as material witnesses, and a fifth, whose connection with the case was not made clear, was held for possessing a pistol and the burglar tools. He said he formerly was a Canadian mounted policeman.

The motive for the murder, police said, was robbery.

By a coincident, all five men gave their birthplace as Russia.

Investigation of Packer Is Urged

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—Attorney General Mitchell was urged today by Representative Patman, democrat, Texas, to begin both criminal and civil proceedings against anti-trust law violators in the cotton seed oil industry.

Patman wrote Mitchell that Proctor and Gamble has purchased the Cortmouth Cotton Oil and Refining corporation at Okla. City.

This concern is one of Proctor and Gamble's main competitors," said the Texan. "I hope your department will investigate this purchase for the purpose of determining whether or not it is in restraint of trade and a violation of our laws."

CHILDREN IN NEED OF FOOD

Closing of Soup Kitchen Removes Support of Twenty Pupils.

A pitiable, touching, yet strangely repulsive story came from the office of Supr. R. B. Fisher this morning.

Mr. Fisher said that about 20 children who attend Baker school would be literally starving to death if it were not for bits of food which they salvage from garbage piles and cans.

This condition began to exist, and is now growing, when the Welfare board ceased operation of the soup kitchen.

Until Sunday the urchins were fed at the soup kitchen. Since then they have been doing the best they could to obtain food.

Mr. Fisher asked all citizens who wish to aid in providing lunches—sandwiches, milk, fruit—for the children, to communicate with Principal Meek of the Baker school.

Nineteenth Producer Completed In Gregg

LONGVIEW, April 9. (AP)—The Tidal Oil company has completed its No. 1 Lathrop, about half a mile east of the Lathrop discovery well, for production expected to amount to 500 barrels daily when the well has been cleaned out.

After considerable snafu, it was flowing at the rate of about 2,000 barrels daily. Gas pressure was light.

The well was the county's nineteenth producer.

TWO MEN ARE KILLED IN BUILDING COLLAPSE

BERKELEY, Calif., April 9. (AP)—Two men are dead and 10 others injured, six seriously, as a result of the collapse of a section of the new concrete roof of the Mechanics building under construction on the University of California campus yesterday.

Investigations to determine the cause of the crash got under way today.

Americo Cabral, and Joseph Riley, 27, both of Oakland, Calif., were injured fatally.

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Convinced he was waging a fight in vain, Grover C. (Ox) Emerson of Orange, captain-elect of the 1931 University of Texas football team, said last night he had given up his fight to establish his eligibility.

Emerson said he could see no good in carrying his fight further in view of the fact Dr. E. W. McDiarmid, vice-president of the Southwest Conference had ruled him ineligible.

Dr. McDiarmid's ruling would have been subject to review by the conference at its meeting next month.

OIL PROGRAM IS PROPOSED

THREE-POINT PLAN IS GIVEN BY ADVISORS

Cicero Murray Appears Before Conservation Board at Washington in Session Starting Today.

COMPACT NEEDED

Independent Operator Assented to Be Necessary—“Stripper” Wells Must Be Closed if Not Protected.

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—The Federal Oil Conservation board today gave its general approval to the plan for adjusting domestic oil production presented by the oil states advisory committee.

After a brief discussion following presentation of the program Secretary Wilbur announced the board's approval.

“All I want to say,” he said, “is that we ask you gentlemen to meet this situation by doing what you can harmoniously, spending as little time as possible in reviewing past history and particularly by not playing politics.” The meeting was then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—The oil states advisory committee today asked the approval of the federal conservation board for a three-point program calculated to aid in stabilizing the petroleum industry.

Continuance of the board's voluntary committee on economics, with periodic forecasts on national and regional supply and demand in the oil industry; authorization as possible by the legislature of the 10 producing states of negotiations of an interstate agreement for coordinating conservation measures; and continuance of the advisory committee “to function as a liaison and fact-finding body,” were the recommendations.

Cicero I. Murray, of Oklahoma, chairman of the advisory group, presented the recommendations at the outset of the conservation board's open hearing. They were in written form over the signatures of nine members of the group, preceded by a six-point statement of the situation in the industry and the factors needed to save it from still deeper distress.

The committee set forth that stabilization of crude production is essential to eliminate wasting irreplaceable resources; to prevent three-fold forced abandonment of hundreds of thousands of small wells and to preserve independent operators as a competitive force to avoid monopoly.

It pointed out no individual producing state could protect the national interest by its own laws without coordination among them all with uniform statutes. It contended coordinated restriction by the states with federal cooperation could be furthered immediately by continuing the advisory group representing the states, “adopting as a basis of regulation forecasts of supply and demand such as have just been made by the voluntary committee on economics of the federal oil conservation board, if and when same shall have been approved or modified by an interstate advisory committee.”

The group took cognizance of the recently effected oil imports curtailment and urged the board for securing that aid from the foreign-producing companies.

Murray was followed by Penn. who outlined proration efforts made since 1925 when the states began to realize “something was wrong.” That year, he added, deeper drilling increased oil production enormously by leading to the development of fields breaking all previous production records.

Penn related how Texas, California, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Kansas have made proration statewide and cut the country's total production materially. Since that time, he said, the new billion barrel East Texas field had come in.

“Hands Not Clean” He said Texas “came here with hands not as clean as they should be” because it had failed to bring this new field under full proration, especially in view of the situation just granted against its application to that field.

Taxes to Texas from oil production exclusive of the gasoline tax amounted to $11,000,000 last year, $15,000,000 the year before, while this year the tax under proration will shrink to $5,000,000, he asserted.

Other states will lose similarly. Penn said, interfering seriously with the finances of each.

The federal government also, he said, would lose through reduced income tax payments by oil producers who have experienced heavy losses. The states, he continued, would be forced into tremendous borrowing programs.

C. P. Woodward was dismissed as a patient from Pampa hospital today.

Gas Is Awarded Damages

Verdict of $15,000 Returned Against Santa Fe In Accident Case.

A verdict awarding Rolfe Gass damages in the amount of $15,000 against the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company was returned yesterday by a jury in 31st district court. The 12 men deliberated from 1:30 o'clock until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Gass alleged he suffered permanent injuries in a collision between an automobile in which he was riding and a Santa Fe train at the Starkweather crossing. He claimed the accident was due to the negligence of the railroad company. In his petition he asked for $46,000 damages.

The railway company alleges that Gass injured himself by not wearing his seat belt and that the accident was not the fault of the company. Defendant attorneys, H. E. Hoover of Canadian and Willis, Studer & Studer, gave notice of appeal.

Plaintiff's attorneys were Neal Powers of the firm of Weeks, Morrow, Higginson, Francis, and Powers, and Curtis Douglas.

Arguments were delivered before Ben Baldwin, who was elected judge to serve for the day. Judge W. R. Ewing is ill of influenza at his home in Miami.

One of the attractions of the Gray county fair to be held here Sept. 10-12 will be a machinery exhibit. Travis Lively, member of the agriculture committee, is in charge of this department. Manufacturers of farm machinery are now making arrangements to exhibit at the fair.

Other departments will include a wheat show, dairy show, community booths, individual agricultural exhibits, boys' club department, women's home demonstration club work, pictures, applied arts, handicraft, antiques, textiles.

Woman and Child Die in Accident

KANSAS CITY, April 9. (AP)—Mrs. Claude Epps of Kansas City and her daughter, Kathleen, 12, were killed today in the collision of their automobile with a bus of the Pickwick-Greyhound lines at Blue Springs Junction, east of here.

Mrs. Epps was dangerously injured. The bus, bound from St. Louis to Kansas City, was turned on its side, but the passengers escaped with minor injuries, officials of the bus company said.

Epps, with his family, was en route to Nashville, Tenn., in search of work. Three other children in the automobile, Claude, 14, Clinton, 8, and William, 5, were injured slightly.

The Epps family came to Kansas City from Houston, Texas.

EIGHT NEGROES SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR ATTACKS ON GIRLS

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., April 9. (AP)—Eight negroes from Tennessee and Georgia today were sentenced to death in the electric chair for attacks on two young white girls of Huntsville, Ala.

The attacks occurred aboard a Southern railway freight train near Stevenson, Ala., March 24. The girls, after an unsuccessful search for work in Chattanooga, Tenn., were “bumming” a ride home.

A crowded court room listened in silence as Judge J. A. Hawkins pronounced sentence, fixing Friday, July 10, as the date of execution. Asked if they had anything to say, each replied “no.”

Many Prize Winning Guernseys In Gray County—Score at Plainview

Although Carson county is known as the “Guernsey center of the southwest,” it is a well-known fact that many of the Guernseys which make Carson county famous are owned on Gray county farms. Most of the winners at the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show at Plainview this week were from Gray county farms.

These included the senior and grand champion, Ultra Phyllostoa of Cherry Hill, on the Gus Davis farm 25 miles south of Pampa; prize-winning bull under 18 months and under two years, Barmia's Herald, owned by Geo. A. Shoop of the south part of the county; senior and grand champion cow, Dora of Willow Lane, from the Raphael Bohr farm in Gray county near Groom. Mr. Davis' herd of grade Guernseys won first. Mr. Bohr's Marion of Willow Lane, Jean Du Luth's Rosebud, Jean Du Luth's Richey Dolly, were also awarded places in their classes.

In the heifer class of 12 months old and under 18, Jean Du Luth Daffodil, owned by Edwin B. Carroll of Panhandle, won first and the junior championship. This animal was the sensation of the Texas Panhandle Guernsey show at Panhandle last week in which she was named grand champion.

Bus Hero Tries to Forget Pain

LAMAR, Colo., April 9. (AP)—Playing “Oh, Dem Golden Slippers” on a harmonica as he sat with his feet in a basin of hot water, Bryan Untied, 13-year-old hero of the Pleasant Hill school bus tragedy, tried to divert his mind yesterday from the pains which raced through his feet and legs.

They were frozen in a blizzard which claimed the lives of five of his school mates and the bus driver two weeks ago.

Bryan spends his time upon a cot in the living room. He is adept on the harmonica and went through a repertoire which included “Country Jones,” “Three Blind Mice,” and “Dancing Nellie Gray.”

The boy, whom President Hoover has invited to be a White House guest, bears his affliction, as well as the unexpected honors he has received, philosophically. An attractive lad, he has regular features and brown hair, including a Lindbergh tuft. His voice is soft.

He seems unconcerned over the fact he has become a national hero through giving away his clothing and scuffling with marooned companions to guard them from the lethargy of death.

But he was looking forward to speaking, with other survivors, in a hookup of the National Broadcasting company, at 5 p. m. (CST) today and the trip to Washington, perhaps sometime next week. The broadcast, from a Lamar hospital, will be relayed by KOA, Denver.

WOODWARD BILL SIGNED AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Governor Sterling today signed the Woodward bill permitting defendants who plead guilty in non-capital cases to waive the right of trial by jury.

The bill also would allow the judge to give a suspended sentence in such cases. The proposal passed the senate by only two votes but it met little opposition in the house.

Political Ideas of Raskob Said to Involve Repeal of Anti-Trust Laws.

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—The republican party has begun a campaign interpreted as an effort to gain something from democratic discord over the Raskob proposals.

In an attack on the program suggested for 1932 by the democratic national committee chairman, Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the republican national committee, said last night the only concrete propositions offered by the opposing party had come from Raskob.

“Mr. Raskob,” Lucas said in an appeal to the south over the Dixie network of the Columbia broadcasting system, “x x x makes the unique proposal that the solution of the economic problems now confronting the United States, and in which the south is vitally interested, may be solved by (1) repealing the federal anti-trust laws; and (2) offering every individual a drink.”

Lucas asserted continuing republican tariff and other policies had aided development and prosperity of the south, adding:

“Its place, therefore, politically in the republican party.”

He mentioned differences of opinion in the democratic party. The house democratic caucus called for last February was abandoned, he said, because “they ascertained that in the event they held such a caucus they could not agree upon anything and would in all probability wind up in an open quarrel.”

“Why should the people of the south,” Lucas asked, “in justice to themselves x x x continue an alliance with a political organization that is so bankrupt and so disorganized that it cannot present to the American people a concrete statement as to what it believes and as to what it will do in the event it is given control of the federal government?”

Heat Wave Over Middle West Near End; Showers Fall

CHICAGO, April 9. (AP)—Showers in many sections of the middle west were promised by the weather bureau today to relieve a heat wave which set some all-time April 8 records.

Chicago's temperature soared to 80 degrees yesterday, the warmest April 8 since weather records have been kept. It was the highest April 8 temperature since 1910 when 75 was reached. Six children, hurled into the streets by the first real summer-time temperature of the year, were killed by automobiles in Chicago and its suburbs.

From Minnesota and North Dakota came reports that dust storms added to the discomfort of mid-summer heat. Omaha, Neb., had an 88, which exceeded by one degree the previous April 8 heat record, set in 1887.

And they were still singing—a record—one of the most fascinating figures in American statesmanship passed on.

Gangsters Revealed As Skulking Cowards—Thrive on Corruption

Public sympathy for gangsters, which grew up because of the glamor of a formerly little known activity, has largely been dissipated by dissemination of the truth of the matter.

The gangster is not a romantic figure. He has no honor. His is a trail of blood. He is even more sinister than a horse thief. He has no hesitation in preying upon those who can least afford to pay him off.

Some people have assumed that because the gangster refuses to talk on his deathbed is that he subscribes to some code which he will not break. Not so. It is not a question of code or honor.

Gangsters like life. While there is breath in them they hope to survive their wounds. If they live, they may have a chance to escape assassins' bullets in the future. If they tell about their enemies and name their assailants, they are sure to pay the penalty for "squealing." To keep silent is to avoid more trouble and certain death. Under these circumstances, there is nothing very brave about refusing to talk.

The gangster is a logical production of the underworld slums. He finds threats of death to be an effective means of extorting money from those who have it. He learns that organization enables him to buy off officers, frame political coups, and to achieve at least a temporary security. He will last only so long as Americans put petty politics above good government, for his security is based upon political corruption.

THREE YEARS AHEAD OF AMARILLO

Announcement was made this week by the Amarillo News-Globe that it had changed to the famous Ionic type. It may be of interest to Pampa News-Post readers to know that we made this change three years ago when we moved to our present location.

The Ionic type is considered the most legible of all. It is the result of long experimentation. Eye specialists had a lot to do with designing of this type. Public approval has been given everywhere.

We are not attempting to say that the Amarillo News-Globe type formerly used was not legible, but we just wanted to tell you that we were three years ahead of Amarillo in selecting Ionic.

dress you from this rostrum. It is only an all-wise providence who is going to determine which of the two major parties will organize the next house.

"With whatever providence may decree, I am abundantly satisfied. If I am to retire from this office I do so with profound gratitude to my colleagues, not so much for having elevated me to this, the greatest office in any legislative branch in any government in the world, but more for the evidence of the esteem and confidence you have had in me."

His gavel then adjourned the congress.

Born to Wealth
Born with wealth and position on Nov. 5, 1869, in Cincinnati, his home ever since, Mr. Longworth, after attending Franklin school there, was graduated in 1891 from Harvard law school, then transferred to the Cincinnati law school, graduating from that institution in 1894.

Although admitted to the bar, he did not practice to any extent. Instead he became interested in civic affairs and soon was immersed in politics in the city over which "Boss" Cox then held sway.

After serving on the Cincinnati school board, he was elected to the Ohio house of representatives. Later he became a member of the Ohio state senate, serving there with Warren G. Harding and forming a friendship with the future president which continued until Mr. Harding's death.

Revision Forecast
Elected to the 58th congress in 1902, when only 33 years of age, Mr. Longworth first served as a member of the foreign affairs committee.

During his speakership, Mr. Longworth formed with Republican Leader Tillam and Chairman Snell of the rules committee a group termed the "triumvirate" by republicans and democrats alike. The rule of the triumvirate, irksome to some republicans and labelled "tyrannical" by democrats, led to a bipartisan move for procedure more responsive to minority demands. Such revision was forecast for the next congress.

Married Alice Longworth, a young representative, Mr.

Longworth courted Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, and their wedding in the east room of the White House on Feb. 17, 1906, was a brilliant affair, witnessed by nearly 1,000 notables. Congress adjourned for the day to do honor to the tenth White House bride and the representative from Ohio.

Mr. Longworth confided later to friends that he soon realized it was somewhat of a political handicap to be identified as the "son-in-law" of T. R. and the "husband of Alice Roosevelt." Some of his political foes sought to attach the unofficial title of "Crown Prince" to young Longworth, but he succeeded by his genial manner in disarming them and, with a realization that if he was to forge ahead in the political world, he must stand on his own feet, struck out to ring up accomplishments as a legislator on his own account.

Family ties gave way to party allegiance in the fall of 1912 when Mr. Longworth became a candidate for re-election.

Seeking re-election to the speakership was William H. Taft, a fellow Cincinnati, who was the republican party candidate. Opposing him, in addition to the democratic candidate, Woodrow Wilson, was Mr. Longworth's father-in-law, running on the progressive ticket.

With the encouragement of his wife, the daughter of Mr. Roosevelt, the Cincinnati representative declined to bolt his party, supported Mr. Taft and went down to defeat by a plurality of 101 votes at the hands of a democrat who triumphed because the normal republican vote was split between Mr. Longworth and a candidate endorsed by the Bull Moose. Two years later, however, Mr. Longworth returned to congress for an uninterupted stay which culminated in his successful candidacy for the speakership.

Few men serving in congress could boast of greater popularity among his colleagues than Mr. Longworth. He had political enemies, but they were relatively few in comparison with his wide circle of friends, which included men of all political complexions. One of his "cronies" was Representative Garner, a demagogue from Texas, with whom he served on the ways and means committee, while another was Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, who, as the democratic leader, matched wits with him on the floor when he was leading the republican forces.

Even was "Good Fellow" whom he was instrumental in barring from party councils for their refusal to support the republican ticket in 1924, agreed that "Nick" as he was known to his friends, was a good fellow.

He was unyielding in his attitude toward party irregulars when plans were made for the organization of the 68th congress, but he took the view that important legislation frequently must be made through the subject of compromise. It was this opinion that led him to approve a modification of the Mellon tax reduction plan in the 67th congress when the proposal was threatened with defeat as a result of a democratic-republican insurgent coalition.

Although a consistent supporter of the administration, Mr. Longworth differed from both President Harding and Coolidge on some issues, voting on one occasion for the soldiers' bonus which Mr. Coolidge vetoed.

Had Fund of Jokes
Bald and portly and invariably good natured, Mr. Longworth had a knack for telling anecdotes, and frequently made use of a funny story to ward off a thrust from his democratic opposition during ornate skirmishes.

Off the floor of the house he usually could be seen puffing a cigar or pipe. He usually did as he pleased, although warned by friends that it might be political suicide—this warning coming when he persisted in wearing spats when many members of the house considered them distasteful, in appearing at night sessions in dinner clothes at a time when they were not generally worn, and in playing golf, when it was regarded as only a "rich man's game."

Garner Is Grieved
SAN ANTONIO, April 8. (AP)—Congressman John M. Garner, of the fifteenth Texas district, informed over long distance at his home in Uvalde of the death of Speaker Nicholas Longworth, issued a statement in which he deplored the loss to the congress, to the country and himself, one of the speaker's closest friends. He said: "He was my closest and best loved friend. It is a great loss to the country." The congressman declined to discuss the political situation in the house brought about by the death of the speaker.

Messages of condolence were dispatched by Garner immediately upon being informed of the death of his friend. He said he would attend the funeral services. Both he and Mrs. Garner feel the loss acutely, both of them having been very close friends of the speaker.

"I was intimately associated with Speaker Longworth for nearly 30 years," Garner said. "I knew him as a man and as a legislator and he was the best type of citizen and his statesmanship was of the highest and most patriotic. True, he was a partisan, but he was honest and courageous and was loved by all his countrymen."

Fair and Impartial
"He was as fair and impartial a speaker as the country has had for the past half century. He was a regular republican which means he believed in party organization and party responsibility, which is the opinion of most men who have had experience in legislative efforts.

"I have lost one of my best friends—the country has lost a good citizen and the congress has lost a most valuable member."

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—The house lost a speaker today but Paulina Longworth mourned her "daddy."

The flaxen-haired 6-year-old daughter of the speaker and granddaughter of President Roosevelt was in Cincinnati, miles from her father's bedside awaiting his coming for a promised vacation together.

Miss Pauline and Mr. Longworth were real pals. No demands were made for an interference in their plans together and on several occasions she was a delighted observer in the house gallery or on the floor beside her proud parent.

Only recently an important visitor sought an engagement with the speaker on a certain afternoon. He was told it was impossible. "My daughter is participating in a children's play," the speaker was reported to have said. "I could not afford to miss that."

GIPSY, 18-year-old girl in a New York office, is miserable and lonely when she finds that ALAN CROSSBY, just returned from a year and a half in Paris studying art, no longer cares for her. Crossby is infatuated with MRS. ENGLEBY, wealthy divorcee, who considers herself a patron of art. Gypsy becomes disgusted with her job and when she is criticized for carelessness impulsively resigns.

She accepts an invitation from her wealthy cousin, ANNE TROWBRIDGE, to take the place of another guest at a formal dinner. The party is a bore. She leaves to get her wraps and go home, hears a noise in the next room and opens the door to see a man climbing in the window. He is JAMES WALLACE, the guest of the Trowbridges, who has entered by the fire escape to avoid the dinner party guests.

Wallace tells Gypsy he has just been jilted by his fiancée. She admits she has had the same experience. To spite the girl he cares for Wallace asks Gypsy to marry him. She first refuses but later accepts. They are married, next morning and board the train for Forest City. On the trip Wallace introduces her to FRANK GIBSON, a Forest City acquaintance. After they arrive at the town and are driving home he accuses her of flirting with Gibson.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV

Gypsy was so surprised to be angry. "Surely you can't think—" she began.

"I'm not thinking," Wallace cut in. "I'm talking about what I saw. Other people saw it too. Didn't you notice how that couple across the aisle were watching you? This fellow Gibson isn't the sort for you to have anything to do with."

"But—why were you only talking. I don't see how there could be any harm in that. You introduced him to me. I supposed you were friends."

"Well, we're not. I introduced him because I couldn't get out of it. Listen, Gypsy, every one in Forest City knows Gibson was the unmaned co-resident in Wes Babcock's divorce. It's been the scandal of the town. Our firm handled the case for Babcock. Now don't you see how it looks to have my wife seen with Gibson, laughing and talking like old friends?"

"I still don't see how I could have known that," the girl said warmly. "I suppose you wanted me to be friendly."

Wallace put his hand on her arm. "Oh, I didn't mean to blame you," he said. His tone was apologetic. "I know it wasn't your fault. Only—well, I happen to have a particular dislike for that fellow. And all the time I was trying to get rid of him you smiled and encouraged him to stay."

Before she could interrupt Wallace hurried on. "I didn't mean that the way it sounds," he said. "I'm sorry. Shouldn't have said what I did. Does that make it all right?"

"It—doesn't matter," Gypsy answered slowly.

They rode on in silence. Wallace was aware of the strained atmosphere but he had apologized, Mat-like, he felt he had done his duty. After a few moments he stole a side-wise glance at the girl. She was looking out the window.

The section they were passing through was brightly lighted. "It was part of the business district," Wallace said. "That's the city hall at the right," he volunteered. "First National bank next to it."

Gypsy made an effort to throw off the depression that had engulfed her. "Where is your office?" she asked.

"Over about two blocks west. You can't see it from here. I'll take you down there some day. It's the same office Mark Harrison's been practicing in for 40 years."

Presently he said, "Well, you've now that it's happened I hope you'll make him a good wife!"

Gypsy offered her hand and Miss Wallace took it.

"I hope I do, too," the girl answered.

There was no relenting warmth in Ellen Wallace's blue eyes. What she would have said next is uncertain because at that moment there came flying into the room a joyously barking, bounding bundle of black and white dog fur. It leaped up against Jim Wallace, fell back and leaped again. The sharp, short yelps were ecstatic.

Instantly Jim was down on his knees. "Well, Pat, old boy," he grinned, "are you glad to see me? Are you?"

The fox terrier barked an answer that was unquestionable. He tried to lick the young man's face.

Wallace beamed like a ten-year-old. "That's the boy, Pat," he exclaimed, roughing the terrier's ears the wrong way. He pushed the dog away from him. It was a game Pat had evidently played often.

"Oh! Gypsy cried, "He's darling. Why didn't you tell me you had a dog? Will he let me touch him?"

Wallace was on his feet now. "Of course. Won't you, Pat? Look, who's here?" He pointed toward Gypsy. "She's going to live here now. You're to take good care of her. Understand?"

The terrier's bit of tail was wagging furiously. Coming closer to Gypsy the dog pugged, looking up at her. The bright, sober eyes stared into the girl's and the black ears curved knowingly.

Gypsy said, "I believe he understands every word you say because I've had Pat since he was two months old. Getting along now. He's almost nine."

The terrier had come closer. Gypsy knelt to stroke his head and Pat licked her hand.

"You're going to be friends," Jim announced. "That settles it. Pat's adopted you."

Gypsy put both arms around the dog. His coat was soft and warm and his little body wiggled amiably. "I like you, Pat," she said in a low voice. "I like you lots."

Miss Wallace's voice broke in impatiently. "Send the dog out to the kitchen, won't you, Jim? We have things a good deal more important to discuss now than that animal."

Gypsy's smile faded as she arose. There was a note in the other woman's voice that was ominous.

Instinctively Gypsy moved toward Jim.

He signaled to Pat, and the dog, with a lingering backward glance or two, trotted from the room.

"Just what do you want to discuss?" Wallace asked. There was resentment in his voice. "Personally I'd like to get cleaned up and go into discussion with a juicy piece of beef steak. We've had a long trip, Aunt Ellen. Don't you think there'll be a better time—"

"There's no reason to put off what I want to know — unless you're ashamed to tell me," his aunt insisted crisply. "What's this young woman's name? Who is she? You haven't told me anything about her yet."

Gypsy knew Jim was embarrassed and that he was trying to hide it.

"That's so," he said. "Guess I did forget. Aunt Ellen, this is Gypsy. Until this morning she was Gypsy McBride."

"Gypsy? Is that what you said—Gypsy?"

"That's what I said, Gypsy McBride. You've heard me speak of Phil Trowbridge. Gypsy and Phil's wife are cousins. It was at their house we met."

"It's a heathen name!" Ellen Wallace spoke as though the very words were contaminating.

"And what about Marcia, I'd like to know—"

There must be some means of escape! Gypsy glanced about the room. "Jim," she said, "Isn't there

HUDLIN "ALL SET"

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 9. (AP) Willis Hudlin, No. 3 man on the Cleveland pitching staff, has amply demonstrated he is all set for the Chicago White Sox next week. He has pitched 10 runless innings in his last two starts. A three-inning tuneup against the Cubs' trusty Reds Sunday and he'll be hitting for the real competition.

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 9. Federal customs officials tonight were busy checking 1,500 cases of foreign liquors seized late yesterday in raids upon two huge each near Beville, estimated worth more than $200,000.

Marvin Jones Will Speak Here Monday

Marvin Jones, the congressman who guided Pampa's federal building appropriation through during the recent session of congress, will be principal speaker at the local Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday.

Mr. Jones will choose his subject, which will probably be upon a topic of local as well as national interest. He accepted an invitation of Geo. Briggs to speak at the regular monthly session of the Chamber at the First Methodist church.

W. R. Ely of Abilene, chairman of the state highway commission, was invited to speak at the same time but was unable to accept. However, he extended congratulations to Gray county on passage of the bond issue and said that "it will be the purpose of the highway department to lend every cooperation toward an early completion of your highway system."

Mr. Ely suggested that the county could save much money by ar-

"HIGHEST TEST" at the price of ordinary gasoline

GRAVITY from 60.6° to 71.4° TO MATCH WEATHER

PHILLIPS 66 is made by the world's largest producers of natural high gravity gasoline

Every penny which you pay for gas buys more mileage, more pep, and smoother running, when you fill up with Phillips 66... the greater gasoline. That is a broad claim. And we expect that many will doubt it. We therefore produce a gasoline so good that the very first tankful will prove Phillips 66 quality. The net result is that, to our knowledge, no motorist who has tried it once has ever failed to come back for more.

They actually feel the difference. Every mile they travel proves the money-saving value of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, the Phillips principle which makes each gallon you buy match your weather at the time you buy it. And Phillips 66 year 'round gravity, from 60.6° to 71.4°, is always higher test than others. At no increase in price.

It means money in your pocket to stop at the Orange and Black 66 shield. Fill up your tank. Pay nothing extra for the extra high test. Then drive away with better performance guaranteed by the 5,918 members of the Phillips organization.

Lindstrom Has Much to Learn About Outfield

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 9. (AP) The ex-third baseman, Freddy Lindstrom, has become a quite successful right fielder for the New York Giants but in one respect he does not measure up to his predecessor, Mel Ott.

Lindy has not learned to tell from the crack of the bat when a hit will be long one and to turn his back and run to get under it. He keeps his eye on the ball and trails it until he gets where it is going to land but it occasionally costs him a catch he might make by the other method and make more catches look hard.

Light Hitting Is Worrying Spudders

WICHITA FALLS, April 9. (AP) — Spudde pennant stock showed an upward trend today following a last night display of hitting yesterday in a nine-inning intra-squad game.

Particularly significant was the hard wallop of Red Badgro, big outfielder who has been unable to get started in a batting way. He hit safely twice and chased the outfielders to the fences for two other long drives.

Manager Carl Williams has expressed satisfaction with his pitching, catching and infield prospects, but the club's light hitting through the spring season has been the source of much concern.

ANOTHER MARK CRACKED
CHICAGO, April 9. (AP)—Heilch ho! Helene Madison, 17-year-old Seattle, Wash., swimmer, has lowered another record.

Resuming her campaign to gather up all women's records, the Seattle star last night trimmed one and three-tenths seconds from the 75-yard free style mark of 45.1, established in 1925 by Ethel Lackie.

The accomplishment gave her possession of 14 out of 16 records.

AIMS AT THIRD PLACE
DECATUR, Ill., April 9. (AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers now has set third place in the American league standings as his goal for the season. The Tigers believe they can beat out Cleveland and New York but the slick word displayed thus far holds out little hope that the Bengals will be a serious contender for the pennant.

BLOW THEIR LEADS
FORT WORTH, April 9. (AP)—Chicago's Cubs have not yet outgrown the habit of grabbing leads, then blowing them.

The "bad inning" ailment has caught them often this spring in exhibition games and in two games with the Fort Worth, Texas, league club. It was extremely noticeable. Guy Bush was the victim Tuesday, and Pat Malone cracked yesterday for the first time in one inning.

Personal Notes of A Baseball Traveler
If we didn't know that Burt Shotton was a smart bargainer, that trade whereby the Phils gave Thompson and O'Doul to the Robins for Elliott, Dudley and Lee might make Mr. Shotton look a bit like a sap. But we do know that Burt Shotton is a canny man, and will just have to ask you to wait and see how Elliott and Dudley pitch for the Phils in league games before reaching any conclusion.

Another wise trader is George Fuchs of the Braves. One of the baseball managers in the south said that you have to hold on to your watch when talking business with the Braves' owner.

Griff's Little Deal
Still another smart trader is Clark Griffith. When he got Manush and Crowder from the Browns in exchange for Goslin he positively made Philip DeCatesby Ball look like a great big philanthropist. Not only that but he put the Senators into this year's pennant race, and that doesn't mean maybe, either.

A number of McGraw's trades have made the manager of the Giants look bad, because many of the men he sent hither and yon have turned out to be stars. That doesn't worry McGraw, however. When a ball player, either by disposition or playing habits, fails to fit into the McGraw pattern, John simply sends him on his way, taking a loss, often, but holding to his course.

How Robbie Does It
Under the mask of a guileless personality, your Uncle Wilbert Robinson has picked up some pretty good ball players for his Brooklyn ball team. It is not hard to remember how he gave Cincinnati's Pether Douglas McWeeny for an aged and indigent senior named Adolfo Luque, and how Adolfo kept the Robins right up there during most of last summer.

It is just as easy to recall how he took Glenn Wright from the Pirates in exchange for Jess Petty and Harry Riconda, and how Glenn, with his shoulder patched up, became one of the two greatest shortstops in the National league—the other being Travis Jackson.

This year Uncle Robbie has picked up Lefty O'Doul and Fresno Thompson in exchange for a couple of pitchers and Hal Lee, and if you cherish a secret notion that this latest bargain doesn't put your uncle at the top of the National league, don't go around shouting the fact into amplifiers and get yourself classed as a bit squirrelly.

The Many-Sided Robbie
Of all the managers in the big leagues today, I think Uncle Robbie is the most humanly interesting. Walter Johnson is a splendid character with qualities you just have to admire. But every move that Uncle Robbie makes is a picture. Every word is a story.

Robbie can be very gruff in a kindly way, and he can be as bland as a plate of pancakes. On the ball

RICE NETMAN STILL IN BIG COURT MEET

Jake Hess Ousta Boy Wonder; Texas University Entries Beaten.

HOUSTON, April 9. (AP)—Eight men take to the courts this afternoon in the fourth round of the River Oaks Country club's first tennis tournament, seven of them as expected and the other, Jake Hess of Rice institute, still in the running by virtue of an upset victory over young Frankie Parker of Milwaukee.

Hess's 6-8, 6-2, 6-2 victory over the 15-year-old Wisconsin boy, seeded two notches above him, was yesterday's only surprise. Parker, the "boy wonder" of the tournament, fell before the Rice player's skilled placements and his excellent back court game.

George Lott of Philadelphia, the Davis Cup player, had little trouble in disposing of the Texas university freshman, Martin Busby, 6-0, 6-1, and Cliff Sutter, Tulane university's intercollegiate champion, downed Henry Holden, of Houston, 6-0, 6-4. Junior Coen of Kansas City defeated George Loney of Dallas, 6-2, 8-6, and Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Calif., downed Earl Taylor of Texas university, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

The other qualifiers were Fred Royer of Dallas who defeated Quinn Connelly of Rice institute, 6-1, 6-2; Bruce Barnes, Texas university, who beat John Barr of Dallas, 6-0, 6-2; Jimmy Quick of Dallas, who eliminated Charles Sloan of Houston, 6-3, 6-4.

Bench Warmer Is Given Credit For Athletics' Defeat

PHILADELPHIA, April 9. (AP)—Hal Lee, outfielder, and Ace Elliott, pitcher, plus a couple of other fellows are largely responsible for the Phillies' defeat of the Athletics in the annual city series. The Phils won yesterday, 6 to 2, making the series games 3 to 1 in their favor. The final game is to be played tomorrow.

Lee came to the Phillies in a trade after warming the Brooklyn bench most of the last season. He has been a consistent hitter thus far, getting his second home run in yesterday's tilt off Lefty Grove. Elliott turned in his second series victory, holding the world champions to seven hits.

Mrs. E. M. Osborne and Miss were dismissed as patients from Pampa hospital today.

The 15-round go will be held either the night of July 3 or the afternoon of July 4. The date will be determined later and is expected to be formally announced next Wednesday at South Bend, Ind., where Schmeling is scheduled for an exhibition.

The contract as drawn provides that the promoters will pay all expenses above $12,500 in increasing the stadium's seating capacity from 100,000 to 120,000 and will split concession profits with the city.

Beaumont Holds Intra-Squad Game

BEAUMONT, April 9. (AP)—The Beaumont Texas league Exporters "A" team defeated its "B" team in a close baseball game here yesterday, 6 to 5.

The "A" team included what may be the regular outfield when the season starts—Easterling, White and Eubanks. Conversely, the "B" team included the expected infield of the regular team—Fritz, Holley, Pierce, and Schuble.

PIRATES LOOK BETTER
KANSAS CITY, April 9. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' infield looks better every day. They now, Subb, Grantham, and Traynor are working together smoothly and the speed of the combination has drawn favorable comment in every city on the exhibition schedule. They now's work has been especially brilliant.

field his sudden worries flare into impulsive outbursts that die away as quickly as the brief flame of a match. Between these upheavals, the chief of the Robins perches pleasantly on the bench, unconcernedly rattling off baseball generalities in an amazingly candid way.

He remains as a relic of other baseball days, rowdy days. It is not hard to imagine him behind the bat for the old Orioles of blessed memory, pegging down to third where slim John McGraw waited to slap the ball on a rash runner. He has kept the fine old fighting spirit of baseball about him.

I hope he will always be manager of the Brooklyn ball team.

This Game of GOLF

One of the most interesting persons I have encountered on the present visit to California is Mrs. John Hollywood of the Potrero Country club, and if you regard yourself as a sort of slave to your golf clubs, and are totally ruined when you have to play with a borrowed set, consider Mrs. Hollywood and the 1930 women's national championship, on the north course of the Los Angeles Country club.

Mrs. Hollywood appeared at the tournament the Saturday before it started, with a handicap which entitled her to enter. She naturally went out to play a practice round.

That evening, Mrs. A. E. D. Traube, U. S. G. A. representative in this section, was apprised by telephone that Mrs. Hollywood was employing for her golf only a single implement; a Joe Novak adjustable club; one of those quiet iron-headed devices the blade of which can be set in at any angle, from a putting loft to a pitching tool.

Club Wouldn't Pass
This was interesting but not legal, for a national championship, Mrs. Traube at once communicated with Mrs. Hollywood to that effect. "But I haven't any other clubs," the latter explained. "I learned to play with this, and I've never had any others."

Mrs. Traube suggested that she consult the club professional next morning. Mrs. Hollywood did this; was equipped with a set of perfectly new and unfamiliar clubs; practiced with them a couple of hours on Sunday; and went out for the qualifying round Monday.

You may believe this or not, but it's in the records. Mrs. Hollywood, in her first round with a set of clubs she never had played with before, or with any at all like them, scored a flat 90 on one of the best golf courses in California, in a national championship medal round.

She lost for last place, won in the playoff, and carried Miss Helen Lawson, one of the very best of the younger stars of the Pacific coast, to the 17th green in the first round of match play, before losing, 2-1.

Ah, Revenge
Mrs. Hollywood rather liked the assortment of clubs. She did not return to the adjustable iron. And when she entered the big mid-winter invitation tournament in February, at the Los Angeles Country club, she started off with a ghastly 11 at the first hole of the ninth course; buckled down to travel the first nine holes in 51; came back in a great 39, and again was qualified with a 90.

She then avenged her defeat of the first round in the national by beating Miss Helen Lawson in a fine match, and while she did not go on and win the tournament, she served ample notice on the brilliant young sprouts in Pacific coast feminine golf that a competitor twice as old as some of them, who learned golf with a single club—adjustable, it is true, but one club for all that—is now ready to take the field as a formidable contestant in any tournament she enters.

Western Loop to Split Its Season
FORT SMITH, Ark., April 9. (AP) A split season of 140 games, beginning April 30 and closing Labor day, will be played by Western association baseball clubs.

Bartlesville, Okla., was accepted formally into the circuit membership at the meeting of club owners here yesterday. W. W. Ward will be business manager, and Art Ewald, player-manager. Both live at Des Moines.

Fort Smith, Springfield at Joplin, and Independence at Bartlesville. On the following day the teams will reverse stands.

Each league park is equipped for night games.

Herman Powell, who was seriously ill following a major operation Tuesday night, is better today, it was said at Pampa hospital, where he is a patient.

THOMAS' ARM IMPROVES AND HE MAY HURL

May Replace Ted Lyons, Who is Temporarily Out With Bad Shoulder.

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 9. (AP) Manager Donie Bush of the Chicago White Sox is just about convinced that Tommy Thomas' arm has come back to life, so much so that the blond right hander is a likely choice to pitch the season opener.

Thomas' arm was lame all last season and early in the present training season, did not appear to have come back. But in recent workouts it responded well and with Ted Lyons suffering with a bad shoulder, Thomas may get the starting signal.

LEVY HOLDS JOB
WICHITA, Kans., April 9. (AP)—Despite reports he likely would be benched because of his weak hitting, Jim Levy continues to hold forth at shortstop for Manager Bill Killefer's St. Louis Browns and it appears now he will be in the starting lineup against the Detroit Tigers next Tuesday. Levy recently has shown some signs of hitting ability, a home run yesterday being especially cheering to Killefer. If Levy is unable to solve American league pitching, "Red" Kress will move back to short and Lin Storti will take his place at third.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY HOLLYCEE SELLERS HINKLE

The step taken by the home economics club of Simmons university, Abilene, in recommending that all women students of the university wear cotton dresses both for campus and general wear has met with considerable favor in this section of the country.

"The cotton dresses are just as pretty as those of other materials, are less expensive, and are suitable for most every occasion," said Mrs. H. H. Isbell, president of the Wayside club here. "We are asking that our members wear cotton dresses to club meetings," she added.

Gray county home demonstration club women are showing considerable interest in the dress contest to be closed in June. The dresses must be of sheer cotton material that costs not more than 50 cents a yard. The winner will be awarded a trip this summer to the short course at the Agricultural and Mechanical college, College Station.

Mrs. Dora Barnes of College Station, who recently conducted a wardrobe school at McLean and who recommended the use of cotton materials, will return to Gray county about June 5 to judge dresses entered in the contest.

A sense of economy, one of the purposes in the use of cotton material, is not limited to adults. It is being instilled in the minds of local school pupils as well.

"Children have decreased the amount of candy they eat," said Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal of Woodrow Wilson school, in order that they may maintain bank accounts. There are 208 children in the school with accounts, while one room, the low fourth grade room taught by Mrs. Teresa Humphreys, is 100 per cent in this respect.

Mrs. Fatheree stated that the three original manuscripts were in the Vatican library at Rome, at Leningrad in Russia, and in the British museum in London.
