Many Relief Agencies Rush Supplies; Moncada Buys Food at Governmental Expense for Homeless.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 1. (AP)—Stunned by the destruction of their city by earthquake and terrified by constantly recurring tremors, the people of Managua feverishly carried on rescue work today against terrific odds. The day broke bleakly in the stricken Nicaraguan capital with fire still raging in many sections of the city.

Estimates of the dead from yesterday's shocks and flames reached 1,000. The number of injured tentatively was placed at 2,000. The entire population of about 60,000 was homeless. Hardly a building remained standing. Fire threatened to complete the catastrophe.

Americans Killed Among the known American casualties were:

Lieut. Com. Hugo F. A. Boske, doctor in the Nicaraguan national guard.

Mrs. Joseph D. Murray, of Concord, Mass., wife of a major in the United States Marine Corps.

James F. Dickey, of Alhambra, Calif., chief quartermaster clerk, U. S. M. C.

Italian Consul Napoleon Ra was among those killed. No mortalities among American civilians have been reported yet. Both President Moncada and American Minister Clayton E. Hanna were out of the city at the time.

Red Cross Formed

Marital law was in operation: A Nicaraguan Red Cross was formed by Minister of Health Dr. Frutos Panigagua, to aid relief work.

The United States Marines and the Nicaraguan National Guard were doing heroic work in attempting to quell the fire.

It is believed the greater part of the deaths occurred at the public market, where a huge throng had gathered at the time of the first shocks. About 150 persons were killed at the national penitentiary when the structure tumbled about them.

All communications were severed except those of the Tropical radio, operating from a plant outside the city.

The shocks recurred throughout the day and at 9:30 p. m. another severe tremor shook the city, bringing down buildings about the heads of rescuers and further frightening the panic-stricken population, most of whom were camped in parks and on the shores of Lake Managua.

President in Tent

So far as is known there is no habitable building left in the once beautiful Central American city, the second in size in the republic. President Moncada himself abandoned the national palace for a tent. Both British and American legations are in ruins.

There is no water available for drinking purposes or for fighting the flames, the tremors having broken the water mains and flooded the streets, while a landslide covered the pumping station on the edge of Lake Asocosa. The Central American Power company station was not

Police "Taken For Ride"—It's April's Fool, You Know

CHICAGO, April 1. (AP)—Someone is always causing the Chicago police trouble in one form or another.

Members of the "dog watch" coming on duty at midnight at the Des Plaines street station had just settled themselves into comfortable posture when the telephone rang.

Acting Sergeant Samuel Pettigrew lifted the receiver and began to listen.

"Oh police," shouted a feminine voice.

"Yes, yes, go on and tell me the trouble," said the acting sergeant.

"They've just shot a man and have thrown his body out of a car."

"Where and when?" asked the officer.

"You guess," was the astonishing reply. "Today's the first of April."

PAMPA SEEKS BIG MEETING

Amarillo School Head to Help Land Teachers' Session For City.

A well-laid plan of Supt. John B. Hessey to bring the 1932 convention of the Northwest Texas Teachers' association to Pampa has the support and approval of Supt. W. A. McIntosh of the Amarillo Independent School district.

In a letter to Mr. Hessey this morning, Mr. McIntosh said he will call a general meeting of all the teachers in the Amarillo district April 4 and submit the proposition of holding the 1932 convention at Pampa to them.

He hoped to secure unanimous support of all the teachers. He said he would use his influence and support to bring the convention to Pampa. He wrote that as far as he knew all the Amarillo principals would be in favor of it. "You can depend on my influence," he stated.

The association will meet April 10-11 at Lubbock. At the close of that session, the meeting place for 1932 will be selected by the teachers. Mr. Hessey is chairman of the nominations committee, and Supt. R. E. Fisher of the Pampa Independent School district is on the resolutions committee.

CITY'S PROBLEMS TOLD BY BOYD

A warning to the citizens of Pampa in hurriedly voting any special tax levy was given by Lynn Boyd in a semi-casual talk yesterday before the Rotary club at its luncheon today.

"The people should be careful to first consider the various needs of the community as a whole before voting special levies," he said.

"One of the big needs of the whole community is the extension of paving to connect with county roads which are or will be paved. There must be extension of Pampa's sewer system and water system in the near future, which is vital matter in Pampa."

"Pampa's fire prevention system must be enlarged in order to properly protect property and keep insurance rates down to the low level. Storm sewers should be installed, as is shown by recent flooded conditions of the streets."

With the demand which continually confronts the city commission—either for lower water rates, or for improvements must come from either the water department or tax levies.

A change in terms of commissioners and mayor whereby two experienced commissioners would always be in office was suggested.

The program today was in charge of Chas. Cook, who presented John Sturgeon in vocal solos and Miss Florence Bolan in accordion numbers.

Other visitors today were Mrs. C. M. Bryson, John Purviance, Russell Allen, and A. M. Teed.

Discharged Sailor Tells How Woman Lured Him To Room for Robbery.

AMARILLO, April 1. (AP)—Three persons must serve a total of 70 years in the penitentiary for a $73 robbery.

Such was the verdict late last night in the trial of George Fox and his wife, and Richard Smith, in criminal district court on a charge of robbing James McVeigh, recently discharged from the navy, who was on his way from the west coast to Detroit, stopping off here March 21.

Each of the men drew 25 years and the woman 20 years. On the witness stand McVeigh

LEGISLATIVE TASK IS HUGE, SOLON SHOWS

Thousands Bills Need Study Before Votes—Abnormal Conditions Add Greatly To Work Now.

WEST TEXAS WINS

Special Session Is Likely But Effort Will Be Made To Prevent One Which Jam May Require.

By CLYDE W. WARWICK (Representative 123rd District)

AUSTIN, April 1. (Special)—It is reported in Austin that West Texas are becoming a little exasperated over the workings of this session of the legislature. With only six more weeks to go, with nearly 1,000 bills pending and unacted upon, with committees working day and night trying to pass out measures which have clogged the hoppers, the people are prone to wonder why it is that so little has been accomplished during the session of the 42nd legislature, considering the fact that the session has been extended to 120 days and the pay of the legislators increased.

The answer is simple. No legislature has ever faced so many problems of such complex nature. None has worked under such trying conditions. None has faced such financial problems due to the period of the depression. None has had so many demands for regulatory measures. It is fully predicted that not more than 50 per cent of the bills so far introduced will pass this session. Most of them should fail because they are very largely measures introduced under abnormal conditions and therefore will have no merit when normal conditions return.

Sterling Displeased

It is freely predicted that a special session will result as a result of the present legislative jam. The governor has indicated his displeasure at the free prediction in the newspapers that a special session will be necessary owing to the failure of the legislature to act promptly upon pending bills. In a measure introduced under abnormal conditions and therefore will have no merit when normal conditions return.

That question will soon be solved. He has asked to come before the house appropriation committee and senate finance committee to discuss appropriations before these bills are passed by the legislature. There is some disposition to criticize the governor for this request, as it is the general opinion that the legislature should pass upon the money bills without administrative interference and then let the chief executive use the power of veto to such extent as he may desire.

Furthermore, the governor is advocating redistricting of the state for judicial purposes with the view of eliminating at least 10 district courts. He has advocated the oil and gas conservation commission in order to take this work out of the jurisdiction of the railroad commission. In addition there is the burden of the highway bond issue in the amount of two hundred million dollars.

That is quite a load for any governor. If he gets one-half of what he requests he will do well.

West Texas in Victory

West Texas came out of its battle last week with flying colors. An appropriation of three hundred thousand dollars was approved by the house to repay farmers for the pink boll worm loss of 1929 and 1930. West Texas has been fortunate in all of its fights so far this session.

The 10-jury bill was defeated in the senate after passing the house by a good majority. Corporations and corporation lawyers were very much opposed to this bill. No one can blame them as they are usual.

MAN HELD IN ATTEMPTED ASSAULT ON PAMPA CHILD

Investigation of Affair Will Be Made by District Attorney Allred.

A man arrested by Potter county officers in Amarillo this morning in connection with an attempt to assault a 6-year-old girl in a Pampa tourist court yesterday, together with Jake Yale, under two-year sentence for murder, is being returned to Pampa this afternoon by officers of the sheriff's department.

District Attorney Raymond Allred said he would investigate the alleged attack upon the child as soon as the man arrived. He said his findings would determine whether he would file charges.

The attempted attack is alleged to have taken place about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The child was bruised and was given medical attention last night. Physicians said she was not badly injured.

The mother of the child reported to the sheriff's department, but the man left five minutes before arrival of the officers. The child ran screaming to her mother, it was said. Last night officers of the Panhandle were urged to search for the man. The wife of the man, who was held last night as a material witness, was released this morning.

Yale's sentence in connection with the fatal shooting of Jack McKee here last April was confirmed by the court of criminal appeals two months ago. At that time he was in Amarillo and sent work to Sheriff Bansen to send his commitment papers to Huntsville and that he would reach the penitentiary by the time they did and give himself up to the warden. He had not been heard of until yesterday when he was arrested in Amarillo.

Yale said that he kept his word and did go to Huntsville but found the prison so badly crowded that he decided to return home. He said his bondsmen advised him to return. Last week, Judge W. E. Ewing of 31st district court ordered Yale's bond forfeited.

DEATHS PUZZLING

EL PASO, April 1. (AP)—Authorities today were investigating the deaths of B. De La Rosa, 43, and his wife, 34.

Their bodies were found in their home here yesterday. Coroner L. B. Rawlins reported that shells from a .38 automatic were found in the yard in front of the house, along with bloodstains on the ground. A gun which the shells fitted and which had been fired recently was inside the house.

DEATH IS ASKED IN TRIAL OF GUNMAN

CRIMINAL COURT BUILDING, CHICAGO, April 1. (AP)—The final plea to send Leo Brothers to the electric chair for the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, newspaper reporter, was made before a jury in Judge Joseph Sabath's court room today.

Wayland Brooks, curly headed young "ace" of the state's attorney's staff, shouted to the jury that the defense had failed to make good its charges of "frame-up, dishonesty, trickery," and that the state "has been honest with you."

Brooks said it was difficult to get a person to identify a man, when the man's life was at stake and that the state's witnesses who made such identification were all honestly convinced that Brothers was the right man.

Lenten Services Are Announced

Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock will witness the first of a series of final Lenten services at Holy Eulus church. On this day Catholics commemorate the institution of the Holy Eucharist by Christ at the Last Supper.

The services at the local church will consist of the Mass followed by an Eucharistic procession terminating at one of the side altars where the consecrated Host is deposited for the solemn adoration of the faithful throughout the day. The organ and the bells are silenced after the Gloria of the Mass, the main altar is stripped of its decoration, the tabernacle door is left ajar and the sanctuary light extinguished to signify the departure of the Savior in death.

BUT ONE KIND OF MURDER, SAYS COURT DECISION

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today held that under the Texas statutes there was but one offense of murder and that murder without malice was no separate crime.

The decision was made in the refusal to free Rance Conway of Limestone county, who had pleaded guilty to murder without malice and was assessed a two-year sentence. Conway instituted habeas corpus proceedings, stating he was not indicted until more than three years after the killing, that the offense was manslaughter rather than murder and that therefore prosecution was barred by the statute of limitations.

Conway was alleged to have killed Jack Spurlock Sept. 16, 1927. He was not indicted until Nov. 18, 1930.

Had Special Attorney

Although the case was styled J. L. Noel vs. Tom Jackson, the county commissioners voted to employ Newton P. Willis as special attorney for the county and ordered him to file notice of appeal from Judge Braly's decision.

As the case was reversed and remanded, the plaintiff may file a motion for a new trial in district court here. Whether this would be done and had not been decided by Mr. Noel at noon today. If he asks for a new trial, payment of the bill to Mr. Jackson would be suspended until the trial court takes action on the motion.

Mr. Noel's petition for an injunction was based on an allegation that the gravel placed on the road was of inferior quality, and that only half of the gravel Mr. Jackson claimed he placed on the road was actually used in constructing it. Numerous witnesses testified that there were approximately half as much gravel on the road as called for by the bills submitted to the commissioners by Mr. Jackson. The county introduced testimony intended to show that the figures were wrong because shrinkage was not considered. Mr. Cox testified that the gravel used was superior to any kind in this section for the type of road being built.

Pampa Fair To Be Talked Tomorrow

A meeting of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be held tomorrow night in Geo. W. Briggs office in the city hall, it was announced today. Plans for the county fair will be discussed. Members of the committee include C. H. Walker, chairman; Irvin Cole, Chas. Thomas, Ralph R. Thomas, J. L. Lester, and Travis Livley.

TELLS OF SON'S DEATH

FORT WORTH, April 1. (AP)—The fatal shooting of his son, Lee, at a party on the Granbury road, was recounted from the stand in the murder trial of H. L. Hancock by J. D. Ferguson today.

The father was at the party March 14, 1930, when Lee Ferguson was slain. He testified that Hancock had left the party and had returned with a man and woman.

"He felt mistreated and said he could whip anybody on the place," said Ferguson from the stand in criminal district court.

The case was expected to go to the jury soon afternoon.

February Production Up

Flush Pools Cause of Increase—Crude Stocks On Decline.

WASHINGTON, April 1. (AP)—An increase in daily average petroleum production in February—the first since May, 1930, today-corr-octed the oil world as plans went forward for a meeting here with federal officials April 9 to diagnose that industry's ills.

The general opinion was that the February increase was an indication of a similar trend during the month just ended, as the gain was credited largely to two pools still in flush or initial peak production, in one of which wildcatting yet is rampant.

The report of the bureau of mines, showing a daily average of 3,166,000 barrels in February, an extra 37,600 barrels above January's figure, also disclosed that stocks of crude continued to decline as runs to stills remained in excess of production. Stocks east of California on February 28 had dropped 4,000,000 barrels in the four weeks to 361,867,000.

Production during the month totaled 80,545,000 barrels against 69,991,000 in January.

Month's production in Midcontinent field, in which a majority of stripper wells, was down, but Oklahoma, Kansas, and North Texas daily average up 37,000 barrels with 995,000. Daily production north Louisiana and Arkansas 91,950 against 93,000; West Texas and southeast New Mexico 288,000 compared with 291,000.

Make Your Advertising Shout—Don't Whisper Business Talk.

Make your advertising shout. Don't make a whisper with your advertising because it is scattered over so many mediums.

Arthur Brisbane, the world's greatest newspaper columnist, has advised merchants to concentrate their advertising in effective mediums, enabling the use of larger space and attracting of more attention from the readers.

An appropriation that includes too many mediums is the cause of the failure of lots of advertising. An institution generally is not strong enough to select a large number of mediums and purchase enough space to get adequate results.

In Pampa The News and The Post are tried mediums for advertising. The News for 24 years has been the principal medium of advertising for Pampa merchants. The Post has now completed six months in the morning field, thereby giving the public all day reading service.

Because of having a reduced overhead through use of the same plant, Pampa merchants are enabled to purchase all day advertising at attractive rates. The News and Post give the same all day service that readers and advertisers get in Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Waco, Austin, Corpus Christi, Tyler, San Angelo, Lubbock, Abilene and other progressive Texas cities.

Let's quit whispering with Pampa advertising. Shout with the Pampa News and Post and watch business roll in.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, April 1. (NEA).—For eight months now, until congress convenes, President Hoover has the center of the stage and controls the loudspeaker which he has heretofore had to share almost continuously with members of the senate and house.

A very definite attempt is being made to popularize or "humanize" him through the channels of publicity and the success of that and of Hoover's own use of the propaganda opportunities now available to the White House may have much to do with the way people feel about the president when he runs for re-election.

Republican leaders privately admit that Hoover isn't the easiest man in the world to "sell" on his surface personality. It is difficult, they concede, to make people realize how warm his heart really is and hard to make the president himself co-operate when anyone wants to present his "human side."

Nor has the country any conception, they add, of the terrific labors of a bitterly assailed president in his efforts to cope with the trying period of the last year and a half. Nevertheless, they agree that something certainly ought to be done about it and they have presented the case to Hoover himself. There is some indication that Hoover has realized the force of the argument.

Anyway, with congress gone, the president soon leaped into the news with his Porto Rico trip and he will be speaking extensively over the country later on. Although the visit to Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands was his first real approach to a vacation, correspondents were told that he hoped to relieve conditions among the islanders by his brief visit and that he felt he could get a better picture of the situation by personal inspection than through long reams of reports.

It has often been claimed that Hoover didn't know how to publicize himself, but the fact is that sometimes he is very good at it and sometimes quite poor. His appointment of a newspaperman as his secretary has been taken as an indication that he is giving considerable thought to the matter. Some of his friends thought he should name a smart politician, just as Coolidge picked out C. Bascom Sloop about a year before the convention which nominated him.

George Akerson, although considered as a sort of glorified press-agent, missed plenty of bets if that was what he aimed to be. The correspondents now wonder how active Ted Joslin will be in feeding them tidbits of more or less personal news which might tend to raise Hoover in popular affection and esteem.

Meanwhile, the veteran pressagents and feature writers who wondered why the Hoover grandchildren weren't allowed more in the limelight—a quite legitimate method of pro-Hoover publicity—aren't wondering any more. Both they and Mrs. Hoover have within a month become far more familiar figures to newspaper readers than ever before.

No suggestion is made that anyone seeks to capitalize the presidential family, but it has often been explained that the president strenuously objected to personal publicity for himself and his family and it now appears that some of his objections have been overcome.

At any rate, newspapermen lately have been able to get details of the life the Hoover kids lead in the White House as well as little anecdotes containing some of their sayings and doings. Mrs. Hoover speaks of it becomes known that she has made a visit to the Hoover

WASHINGTON—In the closing hours of the seventy-first congress a frail woman in black, still in mourning for her husband, arose on the floor of the house to say goodbye to her colleagues.

Rep. Pearl Peden Oldfield of Arkansas made two statements in her valedictory that seem to describe aptly the feelings of a woman in congress:

"It (her seat in congress) almost became an obsession with me. . . . It was arduous for me to summon the necessary courage and confidence to undertake the task. . . ."

Mrs. Oldfield was referring particularly to her fear that she might disappoint those who had placed confidence in her. But doubtless she also had in mind the rather difficult task that every woman in the house faces.

For the gentleman's road in Washington is a bit more rocky than that of the gentleman's.

Social Demands
In so far as actual work on capitol hill is concerned, the two are on about the same footing. Demands of constituents and routine vary little whether the member be male or female. But it is outside the chamber where the woman is at a disadvantage.

Whether the member likes it, there are certain duties of a social nature that must be attended to. The man shifts much of this burden to his wife, his daughter or his sister and goes his way. The woman is not so fortunate. She must do double duty, and each will tell you that at times this is a hard task.

For example, they find it difficult to accept engagements for luncheon, for the house convenes daily at noon.

NEW YORK, Mar. 31. (AP)—Identical operation of four units of the Columbia network on the same wave length "is not to be a synchronization experiment in the true sense," it was explained today.

Edwin K. Cohan, technical director of CBS, explained that approval to place stations WOKO, WHEG, WOH, and WHP, experimentally on 1430 kilocycles during regular broadcast hours as soon as special precision frequency equipment is installed, involved only simultaneous operation.

"The stations will maintain their frequencies through the individual frequency control equipment, which will, however, be subjected to some frequency variation," he added. "The experiments are being conducted independently by the stations themselves. We, of course, will watch the results with interest."

added: "I didn't suppose you'd be interested."
"She overlooked the thrust," Alan inhaled, "the words came with an incoherent rush, "I—there's something I want to talk to you about. I didn't mean what I said last night. You'll believe that, won't you?"

The young man frowned, glancing over one shoulder. There was no one in sight but down the hallway a door stood half-open. Gypsy knew as well as Crosby a dozen cars might be listening.

"What do you want to do?" she asked quietly. "Broadcast? I'm sorry, but I've got to go—"

"But you can't! You've got to hear what I want to tell you!" The rooming house parlor with its dim lights and drab furnishings stood at the right. As well as about from the housetops as to expect privacy there.

"I've got to go, Gypsy," Crosby repeated impatiently. He put a hand on the doorknob, turned it and crossed the threshold.

The girl caught his arm. "Not yet!" she cried. "Oh, Alan! Please let me talk to you. Please wait! Just for five minutes if you're in a hurry. Let's go somewhere where we can be alone!"

They were both outside the house now, standing at the top of the flight of stone steps. Crosby reached back and closed the door behind them.

"Well—all right. Where can we go? I haven't got much time."
"There was only one choice," The corner drug store," Gypsy told him. "We'll get the booth in the corner."

"They walked the half block in silence. Gypsy knew her worst fears were being realized. She wanted terribly to talk to Alan but what was there to say? All the speeches she had intended to make had vanished. Alan's manner brightened her.

Often in times past she and Alan had stopped at this drug store for a hasty supper or late lunch. They reached the place and entered. Beyond the lunch counter and glass cases filled with assorted wares were three small tables. Farther back against the wall were two built-in booths with benches on each side of narrow tables. The corner booth toward which Gypsy led the way was enclosed and partly concealed from view.

The girl sat down and Crosby pushed into the seat opposite. "Well," he said, "what is it that's on your mind? His tone was cool, composed.

Gypsy's dark eyes sought the man's. Her face was colorless except for the red lips which struggled to keep from trembling.

"I want to tell you I'm sorry about what happened last night," Gypsy could hardly recognize her own voice. It sounded strange and far away. "I—I shouldn't have said what I did."

Before Crosby could reply a waiter was beside them. "What'll it be tonight?" he asked breezily. "Got nice vegetable soup, baked beans, not ham sandwich. What'll it be?" Gypsy shook her head. "Nothing for me," she said. The thought of food was unbearable.

"Ham sandwich and coffee," Crosby ordered, but when the food was set before him he barely tasted it.

"Oh, Alan, I've been miserable!" Gypsy exclaimed. "You know I didn't mean all I said last night. I don't know what was the matter with me. I was excited. I guess, say you'll forgive me and that things will be the way they were before—"

Crosby looked as though he feared another scene.

"Forget it!" he said stiffly. "It was my fault, too. Just don't think about any more."

The tragic look faded. Gypsy was smiling.

"Then everything's all right again?" she asked hopefully.

The young man agreed. There was something about his expression that Gypsy had warned her of troubles ahead.

"Oh—I'm so glad!" It was a happy sight.

Crosby toyed with the handle of his coffee cup. A moment later he looked up and said briskly, "Well, I'll have to be running along now."

"The look of panic in the girl's face must have made him repent. The young man glanced across the table. It was one of the few times during the interview that their eyes had met. Crosby looked uncomfortable.

"Gypsy," he said, "there's something I've been meaning to talk to you about. We used to have some good times together before I went away, didn't we? Took ourselves pretty seriously then. Thought we were grown up. Lord—do you remember how we used to argue over every topic under the sun—"

"Oh, it was fun. Grand fun, only it seems crazy now. What I mean to say, of course, is that it was just kid stuff. School boy and school girl affair. You feel that way about it too, don't you?"

"Why—yes—"

It was what he wanted her to say. It was what he expected of her. Gypsy's head was swimming.

"Fine. I was sure you did only—well, I thought I'd better mention it. You're a great little kid, Gypsy, and I like you. Great kid! Pretty, too. Got a lot of new beaux I'll bet. Marry a rich one some day and forget all about the struggling young artist you used to know." Obviously the strain had been removed, Crosby was smiling, speaking with animation now.

The girl tried to play the part. Pride—surely she would cling to pride yet. She smiled—at least her lips tried to smile. Crosby did not seem to notice the grotesque result.

"Of course, Alan. I know it was just kid stuff."

"Yes, but we had great times. I'll never forget them. I've got to settle down to work now. Work hard. That's one reason I'm moving away from Mrs. O'Hare's."

A pain like a knife thrust cut Gypsy's heart. Was it all a nightmare? Was she really hearing these words?

Crosby's face had become a cloudy blur.

"Where are you going?" she asked uncertainly.

"East Twenty-third street. I've got a room over there that isn't much but it will do. Moving in with another fellow from the office."

Crosby then launched on a confidential vein, continued: "Mrs. Langley's going to introduce me to a lot of people who can help me—people who have influence. That's what it takes to get ahead in New York. She's been great to me, Gypsy. Naturally you can see how I felt last night! But don't worry about that now—everything's all right. I'm going to see her tonight."

By slinging with both his hands to the edge of the seat Gypsy found she could endure the pain.

"Tell me about her," she said.

A shade of embarrassment crossed the young man's face.

"I'd have told you before," he said, "only I didn't know just how you'd feel. She's wonderful, Gypsy. Met her two months ago in Paris. You see she's interested in art. She's got money and could spend all her time having a good time, but instead she likes to help art students and young musicians. She's the one who really got me my job at Thomas. I'm going to do a sketch of her. If you only knew her, Gypsy, you'd understand how wonderful she is."

"Are you in love with her?"

Crosby shrugged his shoulders. "What if I was?" he asked. "Eno's got everything and I haven't a cent."

"But she must care for you, Alan."

He smiled. "Thanks for the vote of confidence. Well—really I've got to dash along." He glanced at his watch. "Twenty minutes late already! Are you going up the street?"

Only a self-centered young man, impatient to be on his way, would have failed to note the misted eyelashes, the too-bright smile. Gypsy shook her head.

"Goodbye," she said. "Don't wait for me. I'm—I'm not going home for a while."

Crosby had picked up the suitcase. "See you later then. Give you a ring some day. Good night!"

He turned. She watched his back as he disappeared through the door. Gypsy, who had a horror of crying, was afraid she would disgrace herself.

After a while she arose and walked out of the store. One or two persons eyed her curiously. Gypsy, looking neither to left nor right, walked out into the street. Instead of turning toward the rooming house she took the opposite direction.

She walked until she was cold, until she found herself in a neighborhood where she had never been before. A policeman gave her directions and she took the subway home.

She crept up to her room silently, afraid someone would stop her in the hall. Luck was with her and she reached the little fourth floor room without interruption.

Gypsy undressed and got into bed but the sky was gray with dawn before she finally slept. When she opened her eyes at 7:30 she stirred sleepily, sat up in bed—and all last night's memories returned.

Alan was gone. Everything was over.

Getting dressed and getting to work was an ordeal. Somehow Gypsy did both. She had never realized how much she hated the MacNamara Co. office, how much she hated pounding a typewriter.

At 11 o'clock Elizabeth Tuttle came bustling up to Gypsy's desk. "Miss McBride," she said, "I'm afraid you were careless with these letters yesterday. Mr. Reynolds was disappointed." She held out two typed pages with glaring blue pencil circles. "You surely cannot expect me to promote you on such work!"

"No, Miss Tuttle," she said. "I don't expect it. I'm resigning—today!"

"But my dear young woman, you can't—"

Gypsy was half-way to the door. "No!" she asked, turning. "Who's going to stop me?"

And then the door shut with a bang. (To Be Continued)

ROCKIE IS PRAISED AS WARM FRIEND AND COUNSELOR

GRID GENIUS WAS ADMIRER BY HIS BOYS

Norwegian Immigrant Youth Became Greatest Figure in U. S. Sports

NEW YORK, April 1. (AP)—Tributes to the memory of Knute Rockne today painted the portrait of a personality with a friendliness and harmony with his place in the realm of collegiate sports as the foremost football coaching genius.

Other football coaches did not stress his admitted ability in the game as much as they did his ideals and the heritage of true sportsmanship which he left.

Don Miller, backfield coach at Ohio State university, and one of the famous Four Horsemen of 1923, sounded the keynote of the estimate of Rockne voiced by scores after word of his death in an airplane accident was received.

"He was a lovable character whose beautiful personality made him legends of friends," Miller said. "He was the idol of millions who had never seen him."

His death was taken as a personal loss not only by his friends and associates but by thousands who knew him only as a moulder of football teams that came, saw, and conquered.

That football had lost its demystifying figure was secondary to the fact that his boys had lost an intimate and beloved friend. They took all their troubles to him, even their love affairs.

Perhaps Elmer Layden, one of Rockne's famous "Four Horsemen," best expressed the way Notre Dame trained players felt:

"I can't explain the bond between the great man and his players," said Layden, "as family troubles, football troubles, classroom troubles, all were taken to Rock and somehow all became a little lighter after he sized up the situation and gave us his help. Why, if we fell in love with a girl we'd go and talk the whole thing over with him."

And there was Tom Lieb who handled the team when Rockne was disabled by illness in 1929:

"More Than Teacher

"He was more than a teacher of football," said Lieb. "He was a genius, but more than that he was a father to all of us at Notre Dame."

Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, Stanford's veteran coach, called Knute the "greatest figure in football today—one man with no enemies," and Gil Dobie of Cornell told him "undoubtedly the most conspicuous figure American football ever has known."

Speaking for the Western conference, Commissioner John L. Griffith said "others may think of him as one of the greatest football coaches the game ever has produced; I will always think of him as one of the finest, best, and truest friends a man ever possessed."

And so the tributes poured in from the west, the south, the east, the middle west—mounting the passing of a sportsman and a gentleman, whose football genius lives in the teachings of ex-pupils from Yale in the east to St. Mary's in the west.

CHICAGO, April 1. (AP)—The career of a Norwegian immigrant boy, a career that reached heroic heights, has ended. Knute Rockne is dead.

Once Obscure College

The man whose keen mind and matchless leadership made Notre Dame, "that little college in the middle west," the greatest power in intercollegiate football, passed on yesterday as he had lived, in action.

An airplane disaster in Kansas claimed his life, but cannot quench the memory of his accomplishments.

Rockne was born in Voss, a Norwegian village, March 4, 1888, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rockne. The first four years of his life were spent in Norway; then his father, a carriage maker, brought one of his products to the World's fair at Chicago in 1892. His exhibit won a medal and he decided to make Chicago his home, and sent for his family, which arrived two months later.

The elder Rockne was able to put young Knute through grammar school but it was necessary for the future wizard of football and psychology to earn his way through high school and college.

While he was a youngster in the Logan Square district, Rockne was more interested in athletics than anything else, but concentrated on baseball. It was not until he attended Northwest Division high that he became interested in football and track.

His famous scarred nose was caused by a blow from a baseball bat during a kid game.

Didn't Have Money

He was graduated from high school in 1907, but did not reach Notre Dame until 1911 for the simple reason that he didn't have enough money to go to college. He was determined, however, that he would attend the University of Illinois, and it was because two close friends had decided on Notre Dame that he changed his plans.

Not much was heard of Knute Rockne as an athlete until one amazing afternoon in 1913 on the plains of West Point. The Irish had gone there to tackle one of Army's strongest elevens—and to take a handsome beating. It was expected.

But Rockne tore down the field all afternoon under forward passes flung by Charles E. "Gus" Dorais, Notre Dame's quarterback then, and coach at the University of Detroit now. The result was a staggering 23 to 13 triumph for Notre Dame.

JACK ROSE IS ONE OF MOST COCKY MATMEN

Blood and Thunder Tilt in Prospect Thursday at Majestic Match.

Tomorrow evening at the Majestic Otis Clingman will face Jack Rose, one of the most dangerous wrestlers in this section. Somehow, by any method needed, Rose manages to win.

Clingman is a winner, and has no intention to take a defeat from a man he personally dislikes. He has been piling up a string of victories in road trips recently.

The Shreveport man is unpopular and unkind of the fact. He has long maintained that his prowess exceeded that of Clingman or any other wrestler in these parts. Sleek and well educated, Rose is a cocky youngster and egotism is his dominant trait.

Old Dutch Betke of Berger will be in the semi-final with Billy London. Gregor and Red Michaels and Clarence Parker will be the first on the mat.

Cleveland Likely To Obtain Fight

CHICAGO, April 1. (AP)—Chicago as the site for the world's heavyweight championship fight between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling, appeared to be slipping today in favor of Cleveland.

William E. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden corporation, and Joe Jacobs, manager of the German titleholder, were in Cleveland today to investigate the situation there. In connection with their plans to stage the fight in Chicago. They had been in conference here with Sheldon Clark, wealthy Chicago sportsman and George Citzog, member of the Illinois State athletic commission, but so many complications presented themselves that they decided to consider Cleveland's offer for the fight before reaching a decision.

Fight Results

New York—Paul Berenbach, New York, knocked out (Six Fingers) Eddie Clark, New York, 3.

Daytona Beach, Fla.—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., outpointed Joe Estrada, Mexico City, 10.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Farmer Joe Cooper, Terre Haute, Ind., knocked out Young Russell, Palmetto Beach, Fla., 7.

Indianapolis—Del Fontaine, Winnipeg, outpointed Charley Arthurs, New York, 10.

Los Angeles—Billy Townsend, Vancouver, B. C., outpointed Joe Glick, Brooklyn, 10.

WAS IN SIX LEAGUES

MACON, Ga., April 1. (AP)—This city started old Jack Quinn, veteran pitcher for the Brooklyn Robins, on a tour of reminiscences about his bush league days.

"Twenty-three years ago," says John Picus, "I breezed into Macon and breezed out again with a sore arm. I was in six leagues that season, with Toledo, Denver, Atlanta, Macon, Folsville, Pa., and Richmond, Va. The next year, 1909, I got my first big league chance with the New York Yankees."

ROUGH STAYS BEHIND

MACON, Ga., April 1. (AP)—Eddie Roush, who signed recently to play with the Cincinnati Reds this season, was out in uniform today with the team, but will not accompany the Athletics on the exhibition trip to the north. Roush will remain here to work out with the Hartford Senators of the eastern league and expect to report to camp in Cincinnati in time for the season's opener.

YOUNGSTER NOSED OUT

LOS ANGELES, April 1. (AP)—Young Bill Jurgens, recruit infielder, will be with the Cubs this season, but probably not as a regular.

Jurgens has been called the most promising youngster the Cubs have had since Woody English came up and was even given a regular job in the infield by baseball writers. However, in games against the Pittsburgh Pirates, the same old infield, Lester Bell, English, Manager Rogers Hornsby, and Charlie Grimm, has operated.

MISS ALMA GIBSON OF PADUCAH

Miss Alma Gibson of Paducah spent Saturday and Sunday in Pampa visiting her sister, Mrs. Dick Etter and Miss Lottie Gibson.

GLAD TO LEAVE

FORT WORTH, April 1. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today were headed out of Texas, and Manager Donie Bush, for one, was glad of it.

Weather conditions which hampered practice sessions and caused cancellation of training games, have left the Sox behind in conditioning, and Bush is hopeful that the climate at Little Rock, Ark., the next port of call, will produce improvement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 1.

(AP)—Manager Bill McKechnie of the Braves sat back to speculate today and boast a bit of his right fielder, Red Worthington. The flannel-haired Californian, in the 16 games played against big league clubs down here, has been to bat 60 times and has driven out 28 safe hits for a total of 45 bases.

Interested—And Why Not?

Jack Dempsey, who used to be heavyweight champion, looks on with keen interest at these proceedings. And he should, for he's being sued for $500,000 in a Chicago court by the Coliseum Boxing Club, which charges that it signed Jack to fight Harry Wills in 1926 and that he broke the contract. Arthur F. Driscoll, one of Dempsey's lawyers, is the other man.

GRID SQUADS TO DO BATTLE NEXT FRIDAY

All the Glamour of Real Game to Be Present in Spring Game.

Ribbons flowing in the breeze, bands playing and pep squads yelling will only be a part of the attraction at Harvester park Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Between the two sections of the graduates, two football teams, one dressed in green uniforms and the other in gold uniforms, will battle.

The team dressed in green will represent substitutes from last year's Harvesters, members of last year's Gorilla eleven and newcomers: to the ranks of Pampa football. The gold clad boys will be made up of lettermen from the 1930 Harvester squad. Warren Moore will be in charge of the green shirts and Odus Mitchell of the gold clad boys.

Captains Ray Chastain and Jim Pool will have charge of the gold boys on the field. Captains for the green boys will be elected at a skull practice this morning. Coach Warren Moore said yesterday:

Outweighing the gold team in nearly every department, the substitutes are hoped to win the big game. Coach Mitchell says his gold team is ripe while Coach Moore admits they are ripe for a picking.

Both teams will hold skull practices this morning and this afternoon a tough workout will be held at Harvester park. Coach Mitchell has not had his boys in uniform much and wants to put them through a couple of tough practices before the important encounter. Officials will probably be announced tomorrow.

No definite lineup has been announced but it is probable that Green, Powell, Hewett, Lerry, Hill, Walker, Patton, Kellew, McWright, Stevens, and Ragsdale will be in the starting lineup for the green team.

Coach Mitchell said his starting team would include Poe, Reno, Patterson, Burch, Freeman, Kennedy, Moore, Martindale, Chastain, Pool, and Kahl. Mitchell's substitute backfield will be composed of LeRick, Keith, Robinson, and Cooper.

Coach Moore has not announced his substitutes.

ANOTHER FUNNY STORY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 1. (AP)—Somebody started a canard to the effect that members of the New York Giants voluntarily had gone to a gymnasium to work out when they were rained out of outdoor exercise, John McGraw was amused.

"Can you imagine a lot of ball players going to work without being ordered?" asked John. "Nothing like that has ever happened in all my career. Do you know any more funny stories?"

SPUDDERS TO BEAR DOWN HARD IN PLAY

Bad Weather Hinders All Texas League Squads This Season.

WICHITA FALLS, April 1. (AP)—There was no "April fooling" in Manager Carl Williams' orders to his Spudders today to bear down in the two weeks of training remaining before the start of the Texas league season. Handicapped for almost a week by impossible weather, the Spudder squad hoped to make up for lost time in the final 14 days.

Williams announced that several juvenile members of his pitching forces, including Marvin Robertson, Wichita Falls sandlot graduate, would do the pitching against the Dallas Steers here tomorrow in the first of a two-game series.

SUNSHINE HELPS

DALLAS, April 1. (AP)—Greeted by sunshine for the first time in several days, the Dallas Steers planned a three-hour practice session today in preparation for the opening of their two games at Wichita Falls Thursday and Friday. Manager Moore plans to pitch Lee Meadows and Latty Fuhr, two veterans, against the Spudders tomorrow.

Dallas will leave for Wichita Falls via motor bus tomorrow morning. With the exception of pitchers and catchers, Dallas players have been idle since Sunday because of inclement weather.

Reno's Swell Clubs Attract Society Gamblers

Now that the gambling lid is off at Reno, Nev., by official action removing the ban, high-hat game blossoms out in a miniature Monte Carlo atmosphere. Here are fashionable players intent on a roulette wheel at the exclusive Willows Club.

Outfield Puzzle Facing McCarty

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 1. (AP)—Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees just about has made up his mind what he's going to do about his one outfield problem this year.

He has Babe Ruth and Earle Combs, of course, for two places and the other probably will be divided by Dusty Cook and Myril Hoag, one against right handed pitching and the other against southpaw serving. If Cooke and Hoag both fall, Joe still can fall back upon Sam Byrd.

Divorce Granted Woman—Child Is Given Husband

A decree of divorce was granted Mrs. Evelyn New, plaintiff, and custody of a minor child, Anette, eight years old, was awarded to the care and custody of her father, Harry New, defendant, by Judge W. R. Ewing in 31st district court yesterday. The plaintiff was given the right to visit the child "at all reasonable and seasonable times."

Mrs. New filed notice of appeal. The court said that he would appoint a neutral party to have custody of the child until the higher court passes on the case.

The court found that the plaintiff was entitled to a divorce on grounds of cruel treatment. In awarding the custody of the child to the father, he said he acted solely in what he considered would be to the best interests of the girl.

Trial of the case consumed several days. Numerous character witnesses were introduced by both sides. Residents of Pampa, Spearman, and Pawnee, Okla., testified as to the reputation of both plaintiff and defendant.

TALKS WITH BAT

LOS ANGELES, April 1. (AP)—Doing his talking with his bat, Eddie Phillips, the frisky catcher acquired by the Pittsburgh Pirates from the champion Philadelphia Athletics during the winter, is showing his resentment to observers who have said the Bucs' backstop department is not up to standard. Eddie smacked up two homers yesterday to beat the Chicago Cubs.

GASS CASE TOMORROW

The case of Rollie Gass against the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway company was set for tomorrow in 31st district court by Judge W. R. Ewing.

Mickey Cochrane Watches Yankees

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 1. (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, one of the Philadelphia Athletics' "big five," is now in agreement with his big boss, Connie Mack. Mack has been telling the boys to watch Washington in the pennant scramble but his peppery catcher thinks the Yankees will offer the stiffest opposition.

"All we have to do," he said, "is to watch the Yanks. If they get good pitching they are going to be mighty tough. I'm afraid of them more than I am of Washington. Washington has a good pitching staff, but it is doubtful that the rest of the club will travel as fast as in 1930."

FERRELL ASKS TEST

FORT WORTH, April 1. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today were headed out of Texas, and Manager Donie Bush, for one, was glad of it.

Weather conditions which hampered practice sessions and caused cancellation of training games, have left the Sox behind in conditioning, and Bush is hopeful that the climate at Little Rock, Ark., the next port of call, will produce improvement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 1.

Whose "Mail Order" Tire Are You Talking About?

... Here is a Correct Price Comparison of Montgomery Ward & Co. Tires with Firestone Tires

Ward's Trail Blazer and the Firestone Oldfield are similar in quality—Compare:

SIZE	WARD'S Trail Blazer	Firestone Oldfield
29x4.40/21	$4.55	$4.98
30x4.50/21	5.15	5.69
28x4.75/19	5.95	6.65
29x5.00/19	6.30	6.98

Ward's 4-ply Riverside is similar in quality to Firestone Gum-Dipped High Speed. Compare:

SIZE	WARD'S Riverside (4 ply)	Firestone Gum Dipped High Speed (4 ply)
29x4.40/21	$4.95	$7.05
30x4.50/21	5.69	7.85
28x4.75/19	6.68	8.55

Dear Mr. Firestone:

Above, we reproduce part of one of the many newspaper and magazine advertisements appearing throughout the country, in which Firestone tires are compared with "a mail order" tire . . . Montgomery Ward & Co. is the oldest mail order house in America. So when you say "mail order," many people naturally think first of Montgomery Ward & Co.

But—the specifications of the "mail order" tire listed in Firestone advertising fall far short of the specifications of Montgomery Ward & Co. tires . . . You have also stated in your advertising that "a mail order tire is made by some unknown manufacturer . . ." Well, Ward's tires are made by one of the largest and best known rubber companies in America . . . a company, in fact, that is larger than your own company, Mr. Firestone . . . Furthermore, your advertising says "Compare prices." You compare Firestone prices with "mail order" prices. Montgomery Ward & Co. states emphatically that your advertising does NOT make a correct comparison between Ward tires and yours, in either quality or price. But the table at the left DOES.

The Firestone advertising lists three grades of tires—Courier, Oldfield and Super-Heavy Anchor. Your Courier, Mr. Firestone, is what is known in the trade as a "third line" tire. Montgomery Ward & Co. does not sell a "third line" tire. Your Oldfield is what is known as a "second line" tire—it compares in quality with our TRAIL BLAZER. The table at the left shows how Trail Blazer prices compare with Oldfield prices. Your Super-Heavy Anchor is also a "second line" tire—but is a quality which we do not sell . . . OUR BEST TIRE IS OUR RIVERSIDE. The Firestone advertising does not list a tire equal in quality to our Riverside—in the table at the left however, we list Firestone tires that are equal in quality to our Riversides and show ALSO how the prices compare.

In view of these facts, Mr. Firestone, we ask that in the future you state whose mail order tire you are talking about. MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.

Mr. Auto Owner
 Montgomery Ward & Co. guarantees you that quality for quality, there are no better tires made than Ward's Riversides and Trail Blazers. Furthermore, they are backed by the fairest, squarest tire guarantee ever written. And they sell for LESS than other tires of equal quality. Step into Ward's store where you will find a complete stock of Riversides and Trail Blazers and see for yourself. COMPARE before you buy. Ward's always sells for less.

Buying...

with YOUR EYES OPEN!

MANY of the products that greet you from shelf and counter today bear familiar names.

Names you know by their advertising. By their reputation. Or by personal experience. They seem like old friends.

Other products are strangers.

What do you know about them?

Often their appeal is a "bargain price." But are they always bargains?

Their labels are attractive. More inviting, sometimes, than those of the products they seek to imitate. But how can any shopper ever know what these labels conceal?

Remember this every time you buy—

Before there can be an imitation, there must be something worth imitating.

Have you ever seen an imitation as good as the original?

Clerks who try slyly to sell you something "just as good" are looking only to today. By tomorrow the same product may not be on the shelf. Perhaps even today the clerk does not know who made it.

Ask yourself... "Why does he offer me this substitute? Why does he urge me to buy this or that product instead of the one I want?"

There are many reasons. Most of them selfish. Certainly, none of them springs from the desire to serve you better.

These facts are published by this newspaper to tell you of your danger. To protect you against substitution. To warn you to buy with your eyes open.

No deserving product ever needs the claim, "just as good." When you hear those words, you may know there is something better. And that package which "holds a little more" often holds little more than disappointment.

There is only one sure way by which you can avoid substitution.

Ask for recognized brands. Ask for them by name. Accept no questionable imitations.

THE ANSWER TO SUBSTITUTION IS ALWAYS...
"NO"

PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED FOR TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

Local People to Attend Meeting On April Tenth

Many prominent educators have been placed on the program for the association of northwest Texas teachers to be held in Lubbock April 10 and 11. Among them are Pres. Paul W. Horn of Texas Teachers' college, Lubbock; J. C. Cochran, president of the Texas State Teachers association; Pres. J. F. Zimmerman of the University of Mexico; H. A. Glass, president of the North West Texas Teachers association; Dr. F. L. Henderson of the University of Texas; Pres. L. H. Hubbard of the Texas State College for Women.

Among local people expected to attend are R. B. Fisher, superintendent of schools; J. A. Meek, principal of Baker school; A. Patrick, principal of Sam Houston school; Miss Josephine Thomas, principal of Horace Mann school; and R. A. Selby, principal of junior high school. Superintendent Fisher said that other principals and teachers might also attend.

The program for Friday evening to be held in the gymnasium of Texas Technological college, has been announced as follows:
7:30—Music by the college band.
8—Greeting from Texas Technological college by Pres. Paul W. Horn; "The Texas State Teachers Association and Its Work," Pres. J. C. Cochran, Mexico; "The Individual and Modern Life," Pres. J. F. Zimmerman, University of New Mexico.

On Saturday morning the program will open with breakfast at 7 o'clock at the Hilton hotel for superintendents, principals, and others interested. An address by Roy Bedichek will be followed by informal talks.

The following procedure will take place in the college gymnasium:
9 a. m.—Music by the Lubbock public school glee club.
9:30—Presidential address, H. A. Glass; "The School Principal," Dr. J. L. Henderson of the University of Texas; "The Art of Teaching," Pres. L. H. Hubbard, Texas State College for Women.

Group meetings will be held at 11 o'clock as follows:
For elementary grades, Supt. C. E. Davis, Quanah, chairman, college gymnasium—"Modern Trends in Elementary Education," Miss Bonnie K. Dysart of Texas Tech; discussion, Supt. B. M. Dismore of Electra and Supt. I. B. Carruth of Canyon.

London Bridge Meet Postponed

The meeting of the London Bridge club, which was to have been held yesterday in the home of Mrs. Curtis Douglas has been postponed. It will be held at the same time and place next week.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY HOLLYCE SELLERS HINKLE

The writer of this column wishes to take issue with the Pampan, of course there will be no hair pulling, but in behalf of the women of Pampa, something has to be said.

The Pampan read a statement by fashion dictators that skirts were going to disappear and that within two years they would be past history. In their place, the article said, there will be pajamas for every occasion.

Then, with apologies to the Pampan, we repeat the following statement which appeared in the Morning Post today: "As a champion of men's rights, the Pampan is opposed to the pajama style. It encroaches on the sacred style privilege of man and calls attention to his lack of imagination in selecting colors and designs."

Fine! That's just what a man needs. Man boasts of his superiority even in imaginative qualities. He boasts that the great paintings, the great architectural achievements, the great writings all were the works of men. Yet the average man does not exercise this artistic sense in even such a seemingly simple thing as his wardrobe. Let him see the choice of design and color in a woman's day-time pajamas and benefit therefrom. Not that a man should imitate a woman's clothing. Far from it. Good taste in clothes is the ability to suit the style to the individual. Yet I can see no harm in a man's developing a wider range of styles. Imagine the monotony of a woman's wearing only one set style day after day.

Again quoting the Pampan: "When women start wearing trousers, the day will not be far off when men will look askance at their own garb and start wondering if they do not need similar styles." That, of course, would mark the end of this period of masculine freedom and inaugurate the beginning of female domination.

In answering, may I say an individual is the same individual regardless of what he wears. Would a man be less great in a pair of overalls than he would in a king's garb? Would a woman be less great in a gingham apron (or pajamas) than in the frock of a Washington "deb"? Clothes are not to make us great or small, but to make for convenience, beauty and health.

Whether men like it or not, Pajamas will be worn by women.

Mrs. W. C. Mitchell of Mitchell's store states that pajamas for home are generally accepted by many women of Pampa. "Some are even wearing evening pajamas," said Mrs. Mitchell, although this is being done on a much smaller scale. There are lots of women who will never wear pajamas. However, the fact remains that they are increasingly popular—and quite attractive, too.

DIVORCE GRANTED

A decree of divorce was recently granted Elizabeth Pease Hornbeck in her suit for a divorce from Harry Hornbeck.

P-T-A Conference Is Postponed By Eighth District

Due to inclement weather, the conference of the eighth district Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations which was to have been held today, Thursday and Friday in Perryton has been postponed until April 22, 23, and 24. Twenty-six counties are to send delegates at that time.

Piano Recital To Be Held Thursday

Featuring piano pupils of Mrs. May Foreman Carr, the Pampa College of Music will present a recital Thursday at the Methodist church. The event was postponed from last week because of inclement weather. Junior pupils will be presented at 4:30 o'clock and advanced pupils at 8 o'clock. Assisting artists will be Eleanor Frey and Grace Dwyer, violin pupils of John R. Cochran, and Malcolm Carr, voice pupil of Emil F. Myers.

Local Folk Move To Henderson To Make Their Home

Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Paw and little daughter have gone to Henderson to make their home. Mrs. Paw was prominent in club and social activities of Pampa. She was an active member of the A. A. U. W.

Easter Egg Hunt Is To Be Given

There will be an Easter egg hunt for children in the beginners and grade school departments of the First Baptist church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The hunt will be held in the basement of the church in case of bad weather. Mrs. Cox, superintendent of the beginners department, and her teachers will supervise the party.

Tom Holiday, Panhandle city marshal, is transacting business in Pampa today.

Commissioner H. G. McClerky of precinct No. 3 is a Pampa visitor today.

SO CHIC!

Any foot would be interested in styles refreshing as these. And your pocketbook will be interested, too. For the prices, you'll note, are sensibly low!
