Mayor Not a Detective, Says Jimmy Walker

NEW YORK, April 17. (AP)—Mayor Walker, against whom charges of incompetency have been filed with Governor Roosevelt, had decided on the keynote of his reply. It will assert that the mayor is an administrative officer, "not a detective."

"It is not the mayor's business," he said, "to open desks and drawers and go snooping and sniffing around corners to check up hourly on the actions of 130,000 city employees."

His answer, running into thousands of pages of statistics and history, will be delivered to the governor shortly.

In Albany, Commissioner Samuel Seabury, who is directing the ouster proceedings against District Attorney Thomas C. Crain, conferred with the governor yesterday.

Crain has received notice from Mr. Seabury's assistant that the next phase of the inquiry will bring into question the prosecution of Charles V. Bob and various stock frauds.

One of the witnesses will be Watson M. Washburn, former assistant attorney general in charge of the bureau of securities, who turned over the evidence against Bob to Mr. Crain. Previously the investigation of Mr. Crain's office has involved only his attempts to deal with racketeering in the Fulton fish market.

Leaders of Tammany Hall are reluctant to discuss a breach of Miss Annie Mathews, Tammany co-leader of the nineteenth district, in which she implied it is proper for leaders to accept "presents" from the men they recommend for judgeships. Newspapers forecast that she will be called at the coming legislative inquiry into city affairs to explain her views more fully. Seabury is counsel for the legislative committee.

Happy Days Aren't Here Again For Dempseys!

It looks now as if those gay, happy moments when Jack Dempsey and his wife, Estelle Taylor trolicked together may be gone forever. Time was when he-man Jack could lose around sweet Estelle (see left) and make her like it. They were lovers (see upper right) and they were companions (lower right). The pictures were taken soon after they were married in 1925. Now Jack is in Reno, ready to prepare for a divorce, although both declare they still love each other. It's too bad.

FRENCH CHEER SPANISH KING

Alfonso Confident Exile Will End In Recall To The Throne.

PARIS, April 17. (AP)—Alfonso de Bourbon, deposed king of Spain, and Victoria, his English queen, today faced together in France an exile which Alfonso is confident will end in his recall to the throne at Madrid.

To both Victoria and Alfonso and the five of their six children who are here with them the people of Paris extended a welcome which was more like that of conquering heroes than refugees.

Alfonso was visibly startled to see the huge crowd awaiting him as he stepped from his train. He doffed a green fedora, and attempted to slip out a side door of the railway station to a waiting car, but found another cheering crowd awaiting him there.

At his hotel, police had to make a way for him through a throng which stood outside and finally upon their insistent demands he appeared with Victoria upon a balcony opening on their rooms. Both, struggling to master their emotions, smiled and bowed and withdrew but the shouting continued and they had to appear again.

Not until two hours later, when the lights in the royal apartment were turned out, did the crowd disperse, police breaking it up with complaints that they were blocking traffic, even though it was 2 a. m. and a few cars were about.

Alfonso said: "I am deeply touched by the Paris reception. I shall try to be an agreeable exile."

One of Alfonso's first inquiries upon reaching Paris, it was understood, was for the welfare of his third son, the 17-year-old infant Don Juan, who was taken to Gibraltar from the naval academy at Cadix shortly after proclamation of the Spanish republic.

He appeared greatly relieved upon being told that arrangements had been made for Juan, to take the Roma today from Gibraltar to Naples, from where he may proceed to Paris.

Officers In Gun Fith With Bandits

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., April 17. (AP)—Overtaken after an all night chase, the two men who yesterday robbed the First State Bank of Tierras opened fire on Sheriff W. A. Danley and his aides near San Marcial, N.M., about dawn today. The officers returned the fire. No one was hit and in the ensuing chase the sheriff and his men lost sight of the fleeing automobile.

A marriage license was granted yesterday to Wilson W. Boyd, 27, Hutchinson county, and Fern Upham, 25, of McLean.

W. B. Henry Raises Eggs, Poultry For Profit, Despite Low Prices

That even at the present low market price of eggs, poultry can be raised at a profit is the belief of County Agent Ralph R. Thomas. Mr. Thomas said that proper management, proper feeding, would produce results. He proved his assertion by citing an example of the poultry of W. B. Henry, who lives west of the city.

Mr. Henry has his flock entered in the poultry demonstration records of the county agent. He has a flock of white Leghorns and Rhode Island Reds. In November, the starting month of the demonstration, he had 411 hens. An average of 8.2-10 eggs per hen were produced at a cost of 22 cents a dozen eggs. In December the average was 11.5-10, cost 15.2-10 cents. The average eggs per hen was increased to 13.1-10, and the cost per dozen lowered to 11 cents per dozen eggs the following month. In February, the average was 14.9-10, cost 8.3-10 cents. During the past month, the number of eggs per hen has increased to an average of 17.8-10 eggs per hen at a cost of 7.6-10 cents per dozen eggs.

The flock has been culled from 411 hens in November to 372 at the end of March. Mr. Henry fed his hens mash, culled carefully, and has demonstrated the county agent's theory that these methods will offset even the low present market price of eggs.

LEAKING PIPE IS FATAL TO TENT FAMILY

Second Kilgore Fire In Two Days Bring Death Toll To Six — Family Lived In Forest.

FOREST IGNITED

Flames Shoot 200 Feet High As Firemen From Kilgore Extinguish Burning Countyside.

KILGORE, April 17. (AP)—A pillar of fire from a leaking oil pipeline burned a man and woman and two children to death in their tent home three miles from here on the Longview road early today.

The victims are: Mrs. Kate Dodson, 39, her two children, J. D. Howell, 9, and J. B. Howell, 6, and Burt Bishop, 22.

Mrs. Dodson's husband and several other children were believed to have escaped.

The fire occurred shortly after midnight and it was not until 7 o'clock this morning that searchers could remove the bodies from the smoldering ruins of the tent.

The fire, shooting 200 feet into the air, ignited the nearby forest but the Kilgore fire department succeeded in bringing the forest fire under control.

The victims came here recently from Arkansas.

How the leaking gas became ignited was not known.

The deaths brought the toll from fire to six here in the last two days. Joe Lamb, 25, of Houston, and Milton H. Pettaway were burned to death in an explosion at the Humble Oil company camp three miles from here yesterday.

M. J. Pendleton was in a serious condition from burns received in the same explosion.

Lamb died shortly after the blast. Pettaway died in a Henderson hospital last night.

The body of Mrs. Dodson was found on the bed in the ruins of the tent, while the two boys were on the floor. Bishop, stepfather of the Howells boys, apparently had tried to escape. His body was near where the tent door had been.

Mart Howell, the surviving eldest brother, said he was awakened by the crackling of flames.

"I was so frightened I hardly realized what I was doing," he said. "I looked as though the whole world was on fire. Flames were round me everywhere." He ran to the home of T. D. Harris nearby and Harris rushed to the scene.

"I could see bodies lying in the fire," he said. "It was a terrible sight but I was unable to do a thing as the flames were leaping a hundred feet into the air and I could not reach the victims."

At noon the fire still was burning in places. The tent in which the fire started was 12 by 12 feet in dimensions and housed four beds.

Later today, employees of the Atlas Pipeline company said 2,500 barrels of oil burned when the pipeline broke. A three-foot split in the line had occurred near the scene.

The company had installed a new "booster" station three days ago and pressure was not steady because the station was being tried out. Employees had not detected the leak because of the variable pressure in the line. The pipeline crew had been where many people were camped. Mrs. Dodson and her two children were burned to death in the same bed. The fire started at 4 a. m. and the charred bodies of the four persons were found about 45 minutes later.

Catlin, Spence Hesse, and Winford Quarles; Webb; Moore; Ivey; Myron Day; John Lofton; Chester Todd; Perry Masterson; Charles Ivey, T. B. A LEGITIMATE WAGE

The Childs Chamber of Commerce should be congratulated on the stand taken by that body in regard to the house bill wherein a minimum wage of 30 cents per hour is established by law covering labor employed on state highway construction. Members met here yesterday and wired Senator Small and Representative Bryant urging them to support the bill.

The low wage being paid by contractors on highways in west Texas during the past few months is responsible for the action of the local civic organization.

Apparently, the only permanent solution is for the legislature to pass a bill requiring the contractors to pay a legitimate wage. The contractors could in turn take this wage into consideration when bidding in the job.—Childs Index.

ABOUT NEW YORK

By RICHARD HASSOCK
NEW YORK—Just about gone are the quaint old customs of New York. Also folkways, traditional characteristics and odd characters.

A timid hurry-gurdy, worse for many summers of wear, tinkles out a wavering tune to prove that spring is here. But it has the faltering notes of a swan song.

There are few hurry-gurdies indeed, held enough to squeeze in between a couple of parked sedans at the curb.

The last German band is as brass as ever. Once a week it gets around to our house and blares in four different keys under our window, 10 floors above.

All it does is wake us and Colleen. Colleen barks and we growl. That's how much we city beasts are shocked by sidewalk music nowadays.

Besides, thrown money must be poor pickin' for the band, with everybody living up so high they couldn't fit the sidewalk with a nickel if they tried real hard. Probably the band has a radio side-line. We would wager it was the one we heard the other night while trying to tune in Morton Downey. There can't be two that bad.

Washington Daybook
By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON.—Were the question asked around the capital as to what man in Uncle Sam's diplomatic service more nearly approached in appearance and in manner, a diplomat, the probable answer would be:

"Why, young 'Ted' Marriner, of course."

This 38-year-old man, who for four years has been chief of the division of western European affairs in the state department, now looks as a possible choice for the post of assistant secretary of state to succeed William Castle, Jr., recently made under-secretary.

His full name is James Theodore, but it is doubtful if more than a handful of people know it. He is "Ted" to everybody.

Marriner is the type one naturally associates with diplomacy and things diplomatic.

Tall, erect, with dark hair and a meticulously cropped black mustache, he has an air of distinction. He is immaculately and correctly groomed whether at his desk looking after routine affairs of his division or entertaining some visiting dignitary.

In conversation, he is easy, chooses his words carefully, forms his sentences with skill. One is not surprised to learn that he taught English for two years at Radcliffe college and Harvard; that he holds a Ph.D. degree from the latter institution.

A bachelor, he is greatly in demand socially in Washington.

With the exception of two years as an instructor of English, diplomacy has been Marriner's career. This period of teaching was sandwiched in while he was working for his master's and Ph.D. degrees at Harvard. Almost immediately thereafter he entered the foreign service. His first assignment to a foreign post was as secretary to Stockholm in 1918. Three years later he went to Bucharest, and in 1923 he returned to Washington for duty at the state department.

Back and forth
In 1926 he was designated as a member of the American delegation to the preparatory commission for the disarmament conference, and in October of the same year went back to foreign duty at Bern as first secretary.

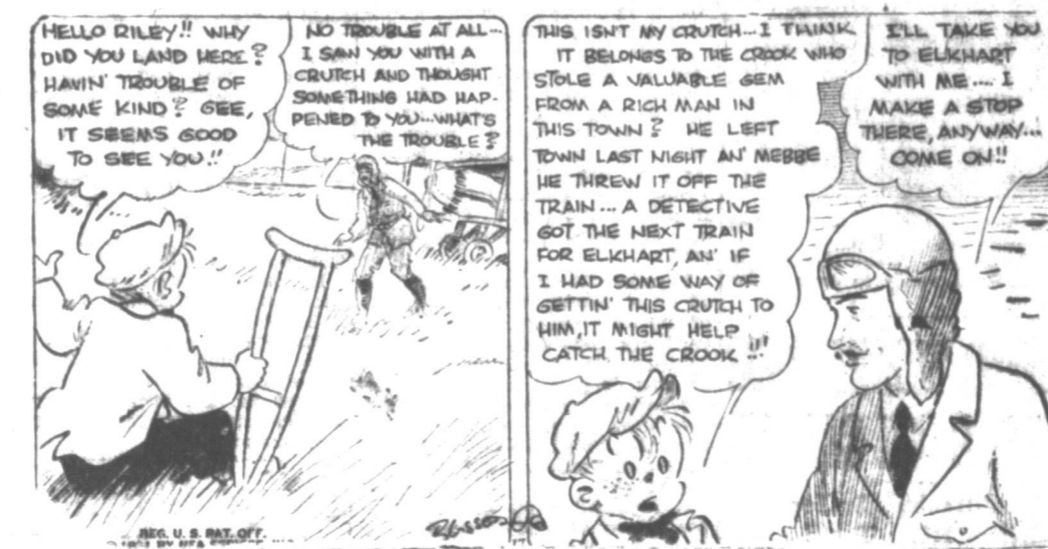

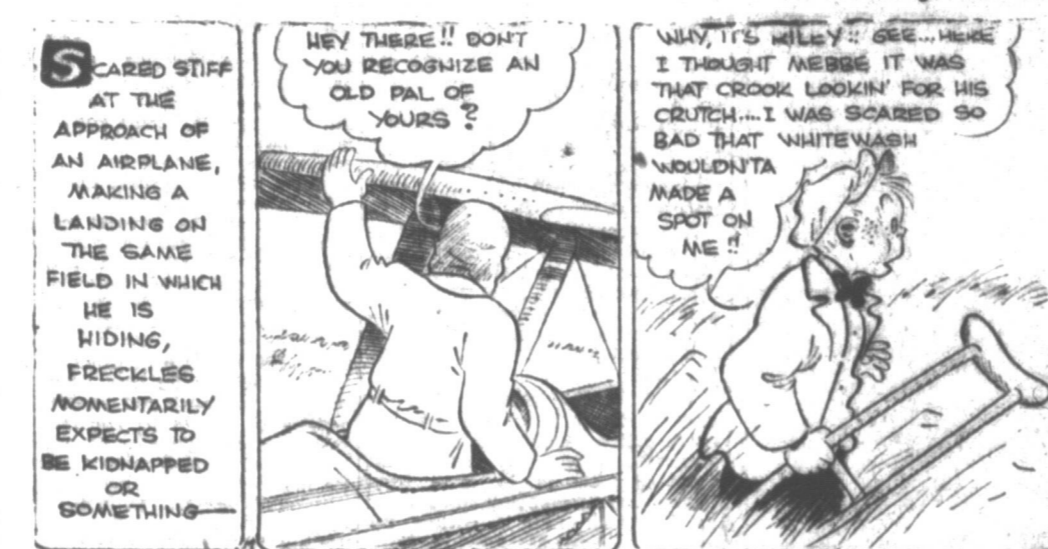

Since 1927 he has been chief of the division of western European affairs with headquarters at Washington. As such he was close to Secretary Stimson at the London naval conference and in the department.

He leaves soon, being required by law to see service in the field after service at the state department, to become counselor of the American embassy in Paris.

Senator Charged After Fist-Fight

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., April 17. (AP)—Charges of assault with intent to kill were filed today against State Senator Tom Anglin by Assistant County Attorney R. D. Howell Jr. after investigation of an alleged attack by Anglin on Tom R. Phillips, Holdenville publisher, yesterday.

Anglin, waiving preliminary hearing, was bound over to district court under $2,500 bond.

He declined to make a statement.

The next term of district court is scheduled for July.

Due to alleged friction between Phillips and District Judge George O. Crump of the Hughes county district, Phillips said he would have his attorneys demand Judge Crump's disqualification in the case.

Liberals Beat Tory Censure With 54 Votes

LONDON, April 17. (AP)—The government of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald appeared today to be as safely entrenched in office as at any time in its nearly two years of life after beating a conservative motion of censure with a majority of 54 votes.

The tory leader, Stanley Baldwin, made a determined attack against the ministry at perhaps its most vulnerable point, unemployment, in giving its censure on that count but in the division lobbies the commons lined up 305 for the government, 251 against.

The ministry was aided by the votes of 33 liberals, less than half the liberals in the commons. The liberals voted against the government and five abstained. Sir Oswald Mosley and the six members of his "new party" abstained but the labor left wing voted with the government.

The margin of victory assured even the sanguine of Mr. MacDonald's followers.

The vote assured the government of continuation in office for an indefinite time. Its next danger point may come after presentation of the budget, which is likely to contain some unpleasant items for the commons, both government and opposition, but with liberal help such as accorded in last night's division it should pull through without difficulty.

'Ugly Side' of Officers Studied

CINCINNATI, April 17. (AP)—Lawlessness among enforcement officers is being studied by the Wickersham commission which intends to consider "this ugly side of our officialdom" in its deliberations on the American judicial system.

Chairman Wickersham of the law enforcement and observance commission made that statement in a speech last night before the Cincinnati regional crime committee.

"In the desperate effort to compel obedience to law," Wickersham said, "experience has shown that there is a high probability of enforcing the law sometimes stop to attain their ends by means as illegal as the acts they seek to punish or suppress."

"It is time a study should be made of this phase of our civilization."

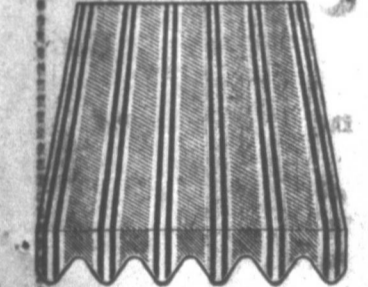

He made no reference to prohibition except to say that "overwhining public interest" in the topic "has obscured the fact that the commission was charged with the duty to study and report on any other subject."

Isabel MacDonald Learning To Fly

LONDON, April 17. (AP)—Isabel MacDonald, daughter of Britain's prime minister, is learning to fly. She received her initial lesson yesterday from Capt. H. D. Jarvis at Brooklands, airdrome, flying with him in a dual control Gypsy Moth plane and taking the controls herself for half an hour. He seemed impressed with the quickness with which she absorbed his teaching and commented afterwards: "You must spend lots of time reading about airplanes."

Bellah's Will Is Filed in Court

YUMA, Ariz., April 17. (AP)—Mrs. Edna L. Schatz Lee filed in superior court today the last will and testament of her husband, who after he had committed suicide ten days ago was revealed to have been Hutton Bellah, missing former Altus, Okla., publisher.

The will consisted of a note scribbled on scraps of paper a moment before the publisher of the Yuma Sentinel shot himself to death, convinced his masquerade as Lee was at an end.

Mrs. Lee, formerly Edna Louise Schatz, Platteville, Wis., married Bellah, whom she knew as Lee, in Epkeford, Ill., July 17, 1930, six months after he had deserted Mrs. Lillian Bellah and his two children in Los Angeles. She petitioned the court for permission to probate the document saying "there are no next of kin and your petitioner, his widow, is the only surviving heir at law."

The scribbled note, addressed to Mrs. Lee, read: "Whatever you don't want of my personal effects send to John T. L. Jones of Quanah, Tex. Here's title to my car. Have it filled in and executed within ten days. Forgive me, I am not all bad. Charles Cook will be here this week so between Cook and John

Quilting Party Honors Mrs. Bunch

A quilting party was given Tuesday by Mrs. Harry Anderson, South Pampa Court, honoring Mrs. Joe Bunch. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent in quilting a sun bonnet quilt. In the evening delicious refreshments were served to the following guests: Mother Davis, Mrs. Eobel Davis, Mrs. Dolores Bunch, and Mrs. Eva Anderson. Those who assisted the hostess in serving were Ruby Davis, Mollie Lee and Lula Dean Anderson.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames Clarence Barrett, Julian Barrett, Roy Bourland, Lee Harrah, T. E. Martin, Arthur Swanson, Charles Todd, R. F. Dirksen, Glenn Mordy, Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell, and the hostess.

Gar Wood May Not Try Again

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 17. (AP)—Gar Wood, who failed by a split second yesterday of equaling the world's motorboat speed record, today said he was still confident his auto America IX could break the mark.

Wood, who recently lost the record to Kaye Don, of England, said his Miss America would require several days for reconoditioning before another attempt was worth while.

The present record is 103.49 miles an hour, which Don established in his Miss England II on the Parana river at Buenos Aires.

In nine runs yesterday on Indian Creek here, Wood's fastest speed was 103.349 miles an hour.

"LADIES DAY" BIG

CHICAGO, April 17. (AP)—The Chicago Cub management ordered out additional gatemen and usheresses today to man Wrigley field against the rushes of the first "ladies day" crowd of the season.

The first come, first served system was to be tried once more, but if such confusion as resulted last season occurs, the ladies, who support the Cubs in regions, probably will have to go back to ordering tickets by mail.

PARIS, April 17. (AP)—The French government officially recognized the new Spanish republic today, being the first major power to do so.

FOUR TEAMS. TEXAS LEAGUE PLAY TODAY

Steers, Cats, and Indians Win Openers — Buffs Lose To Buccaneers.

Another round of gala opening day games was scheduled Friday in the Texas league with Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston showing off before admiring home crowds.

At Shreveport, Manager Morse of the Dallas Steers kept his cohorts going fast with a 5 to 2 verdict over the Sports.

Joe Schultz's Houston Buffaloes raced away with a 12 to 5 decision over Del Baker's Beaumont boys.

The commission intimated it would recognize no contract signed with Carnera while he was under suspension, thus clearing the way for a Sharkey-Carnera encounter.

Spuders Play First Game Home

PORT WORTH, April 17. (AP)—The Wichita Falls Spuders were here today to open the home season for the Fort Worth Cats.

By winning their first two games at Wichita Falls, the Cats whetted the baseball appetite of their constituency and between 15,000 and 18,000 are expected to be crowded into the ball yard this afternoon.

Nicaragua Policy Sharply Criticized As Gunners Sail

WASHINGTON, April 17. (AP)—Secretary Stimson today gave notice to American citizens in Nicaragua that the American government could not undertake general protection of its citizens in that country.

The notification, sent through the legation at Managua and the consulate at Bluefields, recommended that "all Americans who do not feel secure under the protection afforded them by the Nicaraguan government through the Nicaraguan National guard withdraw from the country or at least to the coast towns whence they can be protected or evacuate in case of necessity."

Those who remain, the official notice said, "do so at their own risk and must not expect American forces to be sent inland to their aid."

Carnera Trains For Sharkey Fight In June

By HERBERT W. BARKER. Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 17. (AP)—Primo Carnera, who used to do a bit of carpentering in Venice, was back in good standing in this state today and prepared to battle Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, here in June.

Madison Square Garden officials may have more than a few words to say about whether Carnera should be permitted to meet Sharkey under the promotional banner of James J. Johnston at Ebbets Field June 10 but present indications are that the bout is a good as made and will receive approval from the New York State Athletic commission.

The Garden insists it holds a contract calling for Primo to battle no one but the winner of the forthcoming Max Schmeling-Young Stribling heavyweight titular fray at Cleveland July 3 and notified the commission by letter that it was prepared to go to the courts to maintain its contract rights.

Hack Wilson Needs Few Good Batters

CHICAGO, April 17. (AP)—Wanted: A quick remedy for a serious batting slump. Address Hack Wilson, Cub outfielder.

The pudgy Hack, who set the National league home run record of 56 circuit drives last season, is in the throes of a slump that has carried over from the training series. In three games against Pittsburgh Wilson has hit safely only once.

BIG FELLOWS LOSE OPENERS IN 13 GAMES

Cards Win Fairly Easy But Other Clubs Are Tough.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR. The big fellows of the big leagues are getting an early lesson this season in just how tough some of the other teams can be.

The other two are the Boston Braves, who have disturbed the peace of the experts considerably by upsetting the highly-rated Brooklyn Robins three, and the New York Yankees, who have taken three tough ones from the Boston Red Sox.

The Cardinals had a fairly easy time winning their third game from Cincinnati 6 to 3. Jess Haines and Paul Derringer checked all the Cincinnati batters except Wally Roetger, who hit five times in a row.

The surprising St. Louis Browns nearly won a third game when Harvey Walker, Detroit, recruit outfielder, dropped a fly in the ninth inning and let in the tying run but after coming from behind again in the tenth, the Browns lost out in 12 innings, 6 to 5.

Like Detroit, Pittsburgh won its first victory of the year, downing the Chicago Cubs 4 to 3. The Cubs played rather loosely, having 12 men left on base.

Washington's Senators regained their edge over the champion Philadelphia Athletics, taking a close scrap 5-4. The A's barely missed tying the score as they tallied twice in the ninth inning and found some consolation for the defeat in the nitching of Hank McDonald, their 19-year-old recruit.

Clint Brown of Cleveland turned in a neat pitching job as he shut out the Chicago White Sox with six hits to win 7 to 0. Although he allowed nine hits, Clarence Mitchell's bat was more than good enough to enable the New York Giants to beat the Phillies 14 to 4.

Swimming Titles Go To Coast

NEW YORK, April 17. (AP)—Two of the first three titles in the Women's National A. U. swimming championships have gone to the Pacific coast.

In team scores, the Women's Swimming association of New York was leading with nine points. The Los Angeles Athletic club was second with eight; and the Washington A. C. third with six.

Van Ryan Goes To Tennis Finals

PINEHURST, N. C., April 17. (AP)—John Van Ryan of Philadelphia was matched against Clifford Suter of New Orleans in the men's singles of the north and south tennis tournament today, while Mrs. Van Ryan battled with Mrs. Marion Jessup, Wilmington, Del. for the women's singles title.

Van Ryan, seeded number three, advanced to the finals yesterday by defeating Frank X. Shields of New York, ranked number one, in a brilliant five-set match, 3-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3.

Spain to Force Catalonia Back Under Madrid

By CLARENCE DUBOSE. Associated Press Correspondent.

MADRID, April 17. (AP)—Determined to prevent dismemberment of Spain, the provisional government of President Niceto Alcala Zamora today took steps to bring Catalonia, sunny southern province, where an independent republican government has been set up, back under the Madrid authority.

The minister of state, Alejandro Lerroux, after a long cabinet session last night at which the problem was discussed in detail, said that apparently there was now no possibility to use armed force, but that the republic would have been prepared to "use violence if necessary to remove this thorn in Spain's side."

The people of Spain appeared today to have turned easily from celebration of establishment of the republic to their usual jobs, and cities today look on their normal aspect, save for banners and bunting of the republican colors which were to be seen everywhere.

Only minor disorders occurred overnight, these including an anarchist disturbance at Barcelona, where President Alcala was accused of having established a Bourgeois republic, and a clash between civil guards and workers on the island of Cristoba, near Hueva, where five persons were slightly injured.

The new government is showed under with a mass of organization work, including replacement of monarchist and aristocratic office holders of the old regime with republicans, and plans for the elections from which will emerge the constituent cortes or constitutional convention which will fix the form of Spain's future government.

MADRID, April 17. (AP)—A cabinet delegation from the new Spanish republic went by airplane to Barcelona today to negotiate with provisional president Francesc Macia concerning the relationship of the Catalanian republic to the central government in Madrid.

MENU for the FAMILY

By SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

Curries were originated in India and are intended to stimulate lagging appetites during depressing weather. The highly seasoned, pungent curry sauce with its distinctive flavor does indeed tempt the appetite and will be found a worth-while addition to spring menus.

A curry is invariably served with rice and may or may not use meat or fish in its make-up. Vegetable curries are excellent and help solve the luncheon or supper problem. The rice forms the border and the other material in the curry gives the piquant flavor to the dish. Left-over meats can be reheated in the curry sauce and served in a border of rice. This makes an attractive way to use up left-overs.

The following basic rule for curry sauce has been modified slightly to suit western palates. Even so, some tastes will prefer less curry.

Curry Sauce
One tablespoon (sant) curry powder, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 table-spoons butter, 2 cups tomato juice, 1 small onion, 1 tablespoon chutney sauce, 1-2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter and stir in curry powder and flour. Cook and stir until bubbly and slowly add tomato juice, stirring constantly. When smooth, add minced onion, chutney, lemon juice, sugar, salt and pepper. Simmer for 30 minutes.

If chutney sauce is not available, chopped cucumber rings or mixed sweet pickle can be used.

Tender left-over veal, lamb, mutton, chicken, beef or fish can be reheated in this sauce and served in a border of cooked rice. Cheap cuts of meat can be cut in small pieces, seared quickly in hot fat and simmered until tender in the sauce in the oven or on top of the stove. Water can, of course, be used in place of tomato juice.

The following rule for East Indian curry is quite exotic in flavor and embodies a curious combination of coconut, onion, lemon and banana.

East Indian Curry
One pound round steak or lean beef for any cut, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 onion, 1-2 fresh coconuts, 1 banana.

A BLACK shiny straw with white ostrich encircling the crown and drooping over the brim illustrates the Empress Eugenie fashion—down over the right eye and up over the left ear.

1-2 lemon, 1-2 teaspoon salt.
Cut meat into small squares. Melt butter in stew pan and when it bubbles, add onion minced and curry powder. Stir with a fork and cook five minutes. Add meat and brown quickly. Add boiling water to cover and simmer one hour, adding water if necessary. Add salt, juice of lemon, banana cut in inch slices and coconut infusion. Simmer until tender and serve with rice.

To make coconut infusion grate or scrape coconut and let stand in one cup boiling water for 30 minutes. Strain through cheesecloth, squeezing coconut as dry as possible. One teaspoon thinly sliced green ginger can be substituted for the banana if convenient.

Daily Menu
BREAKFAST—Stewed dried apricots, cereal, cream, hash, graham muffins, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Casserole of vegetables, Boston brown bread, rice pudding, milk, tea.
DINNER—Beef curry (made with left-over roast), shredded carrots in parsley butter, celery salad, deep dish rhubarb pie, milk, coffee.

HOOVER TO FISH
WASHINGTON, April 17. (AP)—President Hoover's present plans call for a trip to his fishing camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia early tomorrow.

Talks To Parents

UNBREAKABLE DISHES
By Alice Judson Peale

In all habit training it is well to bear in mind that the child eventually must learn to handle himself in the midst of an adult environment. It saves him a good deal of difficult unlearning if correct habits are set up from the start.

For the little child who is just learning to eat, brightly colored enameled cups and bowls seem at first to be the most satisfactory kind of dishes since they are both attractive and unbreakable.

Sooner or later, however, the child must learn to eat from ordinary, breakable dishes. If he has been trained from the start to handle dishes with care, he has already established habits which later, when he is promoted to a seat at the family dinner table, will prevent his breaking mother's best dinner plates and glassware through sheer awkwardness.

All things considered, it is probably best to let the child from the very beginning eat from ordinary china dishes. Certainly, he will break a few of them in the process of learning how to use them, but the damage isn't apt to be serious.

When the two-year-old breaks a dish and sees by his mother's face that this is something to be sorry for, he will try to be more careful in the future. At the same time he learns that dishes dropped or thrown upon the floor will break, a useful bit of information which he would not thus early acquire if he were given only enamel dishes. The penalties attached to breakage and destruction should be just enough to make the child feel that they are a cause for regret. Brief but not unkindly evidence of disapproval is usually enough to teach this lesson.

TRAINMEN KILLED
MEXICO CITY, April 17. (AP)—The engineer and fireman of a mixed passenger and freight train en route to Cuernavaca were killed when the boiler of the locomotive exploded yesterday. None of the passengers was injured.

FORESTS BURN
FLORENCE, Wis., April 17. (AP)—Nearly 75,000 acres were burned over and several isolated farm buildings were destroyed by fire that burned uncontrolled today in slashings and small timber within four miles of Long Lake, Wis. forestry officials said.

PANHANDLE PAMPA MUTUAL INSURANCE

I want to thank the people for their applications that they have sent to me and given to agents for the Panhandle Pampa Mutual Insurance at Pampa. It seems that they want to take advantage of our low rate for charter members.

We would like to have more agents. No experience is required. You still have more than thirty days to work on charter members. You may work after the price goes up.

We have received several letters from people who had to drop their insurance. They wanted to learn of our mutual. We ask that you see our agents in Pampa or surrounding towns or write—

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of HEART HUNGRY, etc.

Gypsy McBride, 19-year-old typist in a New York office, meets Jim Wallace at the home of her wealthy cousin, Anne Trowbridge. Gypsy is miserable because she has learned Alan Crosby, back from a year and a half in Paris studying art, no longer cares for her. Crosby is infatuated with a wealthy divorcee, Wallacette's Gypsy that he has been fitted by his fiancée. To spite the girl he cares for he asks Gypsy to marry him. She first refuses but later accepts. They are married next morning and depart for Forest City, his home town.

At Jim's home they are greeted by his aunt, Miss Ellen Wallace, who immediately becomes hostile to the girl. Mark Harrison, senior member of Jim's law firm, is friendly to Gypsy. After a few days Miss Wallace moves to a cottage down the street. She arranges a family dinner party at which Gypsy is to meet the other relatives.

CHAPTER XXI
Lucia Wallace did not come forward. Her shoulders straightened and Gypsy could feel the scrutiny of those cool dark eyes. Lucia was wearing an emerald gown with flowing draperies. The shade was vivid and unbecoming to Lucia's sallow coloring. It had been chosen as the likeliest due to dye the original lemon yellow of the dress. Lucia started at Gypsy with the venom of a woman in a made-over gown confronting a younger, prettier rival in new finery.

Her husband, Ben, who was across the room turned. "Hello, Jim," he called heartily. "How are you?" He came toward them smiling. "So this is the young lady I've been hearing about. Introduce me, won't you?"

Aunt Ellen interrupted. There was danger of the solemn formality of her party being jarred. "Come," she said, placing a hand on Gypsy's arm. "I want you to meet the other members of the family. This is Mrs. Benjamin Wallace."

Lucia inclined her head slightly. "How do you do?" she said primly. "And this is Benjamin. He and Jim are cousins."

Ben Wallace was a little man, slightly rotund. He was the least prosperous of the relatives and the jolliest. He shook Gypsy's hand warmly. "I'm glad to know you," he said. "Glad to see you here. Old Jim's to be congratulated, all right. Yes, sir, Jim, you certainly are!"

"It's nice of you to say that," Gypsy told him, smiling.

Jim had crossed the room and was talking to Mrs. Nicholson. Aunt Ellen drew Gypsy toward them.

"Where you are!" Abbie exclaimed. "Come meet the bride, Charles."

Manley exchanged greetings with the others and shook hands with Gypsy. Aunt Ellen again took command of the group and was bustling about for chairs when a shrill voice from a corner piped up:

"Mother—aren't we going to be introduced too?"

Gypsy turned. She had not noticed the two children on the sofa against the wall. There was a boy who looked about 12. He wore horn-rimmed glasses and his shoulders were bent over a book. Beside him sat a girl probably two years older. It was the girl who had spoken.

"Come here, children," said Lucia Wallace. The pair stood up, the boy still clinging to his book.

The children came forward dutifully. The girl had light hair hanging in too-tight ringlets. She looked like her mother but instead of being slender she was squarely built and chubby. Her name was Lucia Elizabeth.

"I'm pleased to meet you," simpered the child in a manner that had evidently been rehearsed. Junior, the boy, put forward one hand

"Lucia Elizabeth!" her mother said severely. "Where are your manners? It's not a funny name. It only seems so!"
"But it is funny!" the child protested loudly. "It isn't a name at all. Why, gypsies are funny old dirty people. I saw some last summer. They tell fortunes and steal babies."
"That will do!" Lucia Wallace's voice was stern. Her daughter looked down sullenly, then sank to the edge of a chair.

By this time Gypsy's cheeks were flushing. Charles Manley spoke to her and she turned toward him with evident relief. He placed a chair for her and she sat down. Gypsy felt she should address her hostess.

"The house looks lovely," she said to Miss Wallace. "I don't see how you managed to get everything settled so quickly."

Aunt Ellen was sitting erect in her favorite high-backed chair. "I shall be comfortable here," she said. "Of course, after being accustomed to a big house it's quite a change." She interjected a sigh. "But I'll get used to it."

"Aren't you going to show us the place?" Jim asked.

"I'll show you," Abbie Manley volunteered. "I've just been through it myself. You and Gypsy come with me."

Aunt Ellen held up one hand. "I think a little later, Abbie," she said but Mrs. Manley was on her feet. "We'll have time," Abbie insisted.

"Come on, Gypsy. There's a lovely view from the bedroom window and the kitchen is wonderful." Jim leaned back. "You two go along," he said. "Ben's telling me how to get rich quick."

Gypsy and Mrs. Manley stepped into the hall. There were six rooms in the cottage but they were large. The central hallway (counted as a room) divided the living room from the dining room. Back of the living room was Miss Wallace's bedroom and at the back of the house was a room for the maid. The pantry and kitchen were on the other side. Abbie led the way, pointing out the attractive features. They came to the kitchen last.

Abbie drew back the door and they were greeted by the inviting odors of cooking food.

"Hello, Harriet," called Gypsy from the doorway. The cook turned and her face lighted. "Hello, Miss Wallace," she answered. She put down the potato masher which she had been wielding vigorously. "It's good to see you here."

"My — what a fine kitchen you have," Gypsy said smiling. "Everything's so fresh and white I guess it's a pleasure to work in such a place. We miss you, Harriet. Say, something certainly does smell good!"

"There isn't a better cook in Forest City than Harriet," Abbie Manley put in.

Harriet's face showed that she was pleased. She began beating the potatoes again. Gypsy glanced over her shoulder. Miss Wallace had come up behind them.

"Well, really!" Ellen Wallace's tone was exasperated. "If there's to be any dinner in this house tonight I'm afraid Harriet will have to be allowed to get it on the table. It's nearly 7 o'clock, Abbie. Don't you think you two had better go back to the living room?"

Miss Wallace soared into the kitchen. Gypsy and her companion fled. "Never mind Aunt Ellen," Abbie whispered into the girl's ear. "She's on her high horse tonight. It doesn't mean a thing."

Fifteen minutes later they were ushered into the dining room. Gypsy and Jim were given places of honor at Aunt Ellen's right. Ben Wallace sat next to Gypsy and directly opposite sat Lucia, his wife, Mrs. Nicholson sat in state at the foot of the table.

Harriet served the soup. It was an elaborate five-course dinner and the food was delicious but Gypsy had no appetite. Whenever she looked up Lucia Wallace's small dark eyes were watching her beligerently. Jim made several attempts at general conversation but gave up the effort. Junior squirmed in his chair and was scolded for refusing to eat his spinach. Sophronia Nicholson made use of the opportunity to deliver a lecture on how grateful small boys should be for a good home and plenty of nourishing food. There were other little boys in the world, she assured Junior, who would be glad to eat spinach. Spinach would make him a strong, big man. Somehow (as Jim had predicted) this led to launching forth on the hardships Uncle Ezra endured at Andersonville.

"Your great Uncle Ezra was a great man," she concluded, eyeing Junior. By some chance her glance fell upon Gypsy. "Did you ancestors take part in the war?" she asked. "I mean, of course, the Civil War?"

"I don't think my relatives were in this country then," Gypsy told her.

All other conversation suddenly died. Out of the silence Mrs. Nicholson spoke again. "And from what country, may I ask, did they come?" The woman leaned forward waiting for Gypsy's answer.

"From Ireland," it was Lucia who spoke with a slightly rising inflection.

"My grandfather sailed from Belfast when he was 12 years old," the girl replied steadily. "Father used to write to his cousins there. Some of them are still living in Belfast."

Lucia's fluttering "Oh!" was a gasp. Out of the deadening stillness Jim came to his wife's defense. "I mean, of course, the Civil War?"

Aunt Sophronia," he said. "You'll have to admit that. There were probably a lot of them at Andersonville along with Uncle Ezra."

Lucia Wallace exchanged glances with Mrs. Nicholson. "Of course Forest City is a quiet place," she spoke in her most elegant, aristocratic voice. "Our life is very simple here but if you'd like we might make up a foresome for golf some afternoon. I play at the Glendale club."

"I'm sorry," Gypsy answered. "I don't play golf."

"Really?" "Well, we'll teach you," Ben Wallace said heartily. "Can't hit a ball myself but I'm a great teacher. Jim here knows that."

"But perhaps — er — Gypsy may prefer some other sport," his wife suggested.

Gypsy shook her head. "I'm not good at any sports," she said. "I've always been too busy."

Sophronia Nicholson cleared her throat. "You—had other interests?" she asked.

The air seemed changed. Gypsy had endured suggestions of superiority as long as she could. Reaction was inevitable and it came with a flash. "Yes," she said bitingly. "I had other interests — pounding a typewriter eight hours a day to earn a living. Trying to pay for board and room on $30 a week. That's how I've spent my time!"

Ellen Wallace dropped a fork. "Do you mean to say—" she began but Jim Wallace interrupted. He was on his feet. "I've had about enough of this," he said.
