

JAPAN TROOP TRAINS ROAR TOWARD CHINA

PEIPING, July 11 (Sunday) (AP)—Troop trains carrying units of Japan's powerful Manchurian army were reported rolling toward the North China trouble zone today as Chinese and Japanese forces resumed their bitter, intermittent warfare.

They clashed again yesterday and last night along the Lungting river about 10 miles west of Peiping, ending a precarious 36-hour truce. Although fighting ceased shortly before midnight it was expected to be resumed at daybreak.

The Japanese asserted they won the opening conflict of the renewed combat, capturing Lungwangmiao (Temple of the Dragon King) on the east side of the Lungting river about a half a mile north of Marco Polo bridge.

It was near this beautiful 900-foot marble span that the original conflict began Wednesday night, when units of Japan's North China garrison on night maneuvers clashed with soldiers of the Chinese 29th Army.

Japs Opened Fire

The first phase was ended by an armistice Friday, by which the Japanese withdrew to the east of the Yungting and the Chinese to the west.

Japanese declared the Chinese along the Yungting opened fire on them at 7:20 p. m. Saturday. The Japanese took up the challenge and seized Lungwangmiao after two hours' brisk fighting. They said their casualties were heavier than in the earlier phase of the conflict, in which they lost 10 killed and 22 wounded.

Chinese charged the Japanese had broken the truce several hours previously, when they sent 600 soldiers with tanks, machine guns and field pieces from Fengtai to the Yungting area, where they attacked the wall-village of Wangpinghsien.

Fengtai is an important railway junction about halfway between Peiping and the Yungting. The Japanese had withdrawn most of their men there after the Friday truce.

Armistice Rumored

There were Japanese reports of a fresh Armistice early today, but the Chinese merely said they were trying to "halt the fighting by negotiations."

Reports, which conflicted in many details, indicated several local clashes followed the return of the Japanese from Fengtai to the river shortly after noon Saturday.

Dispatches telling of Japanese reinforcements rushing to the Peiping area, some from as far away as Mukden, made the outlook ominous. Hitherto only units of Japan's relatively small North China garrison have been engaged. The dispatches indicated the army in Manchuria—which totals over 100,000—might become involved.

The Hopi-Chahar council, highest Chinese authority in the north, made public reports that ten trains carrying units of the Kwangtung army—Japan's Manchurian force of occupation—had rolled out toward Peiping and two already had passed Shan-hai-yan at the Manchoukou-China frontier.

"We are preparing for war," said one high Chinese official, charging Japan alone was responsible for breaking the truce.

Japanese reports of Shanghai said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had ordered four of his finest divisions to move toward the Peiping area and had issued mobilization orders for his air force.

SWINDLING COMPLAINTS FILED AGAINST COUPLE

Swindling complaints against Jack E. Staggs and E. R. Phegany, alleging that they wrote checks without funds, were on file Saturday in Gray county court.

The complaints were signed by an official of the Friendly Men's store who charges that Staggs passed a check for $87 and Phegany one for $31.20 in payment for merchandise at the store.

ALLEGED KIDNAPER SLAIN

TEXARKANA, July 10 (AP)—John Lockett Powell, 23 of Texarkana, who, officers said, suddenly turned kidnaper, was shot to death, and one of his alleged victims wounded, by Policeman Joe Barkman today, Chief of Police Jack Rannels, present at the shooting, said Powell was shot when he drew a gun on Barkman. The bullet from Barkman's gun passed through Powell's chest and lodged in the hip of Clarence O. Francis, who, Rannels said, was Powell's second kidnap victim.

'LAST CHANCE' SEARCH FOR FLIERS MADE

HONOLULU, July 10 (AP)—Planes and ships went doggedly on today with their hunt for Amelia Earheart pending arrival of the aircraft carrier Lexington with 300 naval fliers for a "last chance" survey of the south seas area in which she disappeared eight days ago.

Without clues and virtually without hope, aviators of the battleship Colorado pointed their three catapult planes toward the main group of the Phoenix islands.

George Palmer Putnam, husband of the missing aviatrix, made plans to quit his long vigil beside coast guard and naval radio operators in San Francisco and leave for his North Hollywood home.

Putnam said he had not given up

hope that Miss Earhart and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan, would be found.

The Colorado's aviators, empty handed after three days of flying over the island group designated as the most likely place to search, undertook a broad survey of four or five small dots of reef-enclosed land southeast of Howland island.

Miss Earhart and Noonan were flying from New Guinea toward Howland, the American outpost in the equatorial Pacific when definitely last heard from by radio.

The great hunt first embraced 104,000 square miles of sea north and west of Howland but switched to the Phoenix area on the belief of naval authorities that wind conditions and unidentified radio signals pointed to the south and east of Howland.

With the Colorado's planes detailed to survey Enderbury, Phoenix, Birnie and Sydney Islands of the Phoenix group, shore patrols of the minesweeper Swan headed for Canton island, largest of the archipelago.

Backing up these combined efforts the powerful Lexington moved swiftly southward for the last and most dramatic phase of unprecedented search.

The Lexington planned to reach the search area by Monday morning and naval authorities said she might unleash her entire brood of 62 fighting planes at once.

Capable of covering 60,000 square miles daily, this great air armada was expected to bring the hunt to a swift conclusion.

Naval authorities said they had reached no conclusions as to how long the Lexington would stay, although Rear Admiral O. G. Murfin, directing the hunt from here, block-out a 265,000 square mile area to be covered. Theoretically the Lexington's planes could scan such an area in about 4 1-2 days.

Rains Fall Over Part of Texas

(By The Associated Press.)

Widespread rains over Texas today brought varying reports as to possible crop benefits.

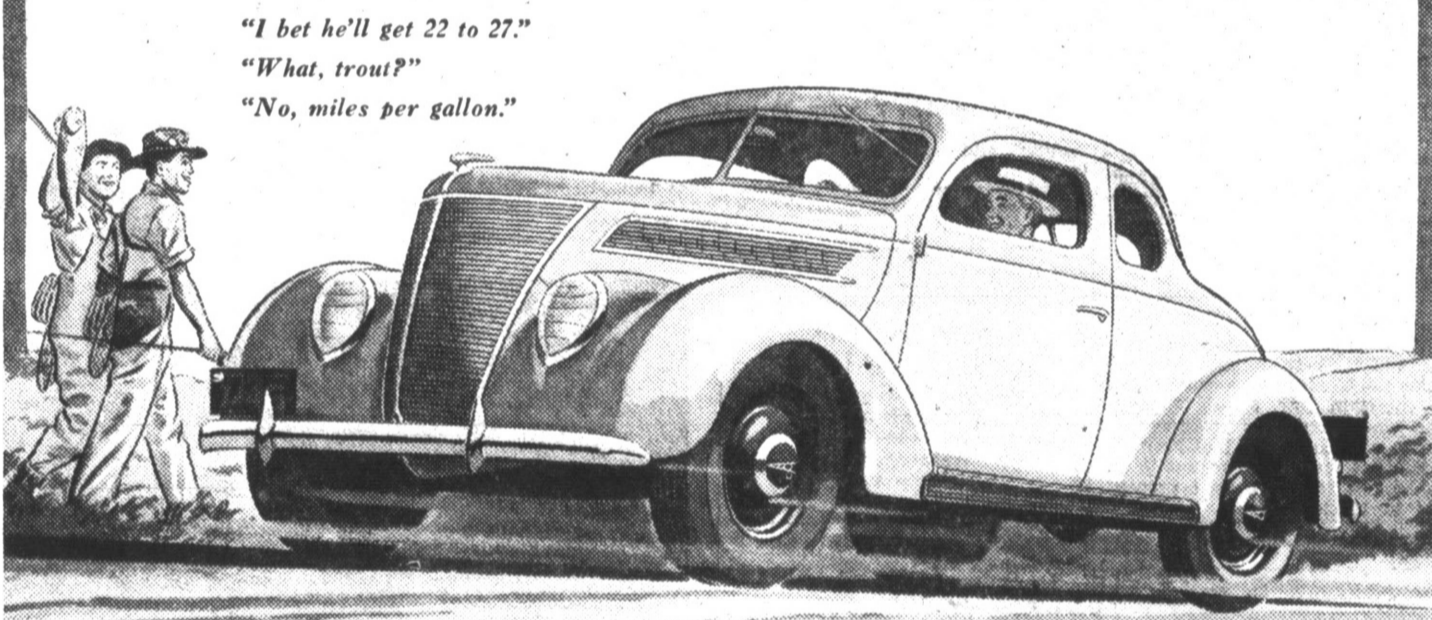

Temple reported 3.75 inches yesterday and today with general rain over Bell county. Dr. C. H. Rogers, plant pathologist of the Blackland Station, said there was no immediate damage to crops but he expected slight trouble from boll weevils and cotton root rot.

Galveston reported .92 of an inch today with .82 yesterday and that crops were greatly benefited.

Paris reported intermittent showers during the day in Lamar county and that county agent A. L. Edmiston said feed crops were aided but cotton was hurt.

Nearly an inch rain fell at Palestine, bringing the total for the past two days to an inch and a half.

The Ford V-8 "60" brings you low price and unusual economy

"I bet he'll get 22 to 27."
"What, trout?"
"No, miles per gallon."

The economy of the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 begins on the price tag. Ford prices have always been low and the price of the Ford "60" is the lowest in years.

Check delivered prices of other cars of comparable size and you'll find a margin of many dollars in favor of the Ford "60."

Economical operation has always been a Ford fundamental too. The "60" has proved to be the most economical Ford car ever built. Records reported by many owners show averages of 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gas.

These figures are facts, not engineers' hopes or salesmen's claims. You can prove them at any time by borrowing a "60" from the nearest Ford dealer.

Best of all, Ford "60" economy has been accomplished without any sacrifice of size, safety or style. It has the same big chassis as the famous "85" . . . with the same superb Easy-Action Safety Brakes . . . and the same husky all-steel bodies (more room inside for you, because compact V-type engines take less room under the hood.

BURNS, RAYE, DAVIS TO OPEN TODAY IN 'MOUNTAIN MUSIC'

HILLBILLIES TO APPEAR IN COMEDY RIOT

Featuring Martha Raye, Bob Burns and Rufe Davis, the Oklahoma mouth contortionist, and "Slim" Timblin, who played "Jester" in Tobacco Road, "Mountain Music" will open at the LaNora theater for a four-day run today. It will probably be the funniest picture ever filmed.

The scenario was written by McKinley Kantor, who wrote the "Voice of Bugle Ann" and "Long Remember." Davis, ex-Oklahoma cotton chopper, makes his film debut in "Mountain Music."

Greatly beloved Will Rogers will return to the Rex in "David Harum." It has been two years since the great humorist died but the crowds still flock to see his pictures. More comedy will be supplied at the State theater where Joe E. Brown will stretch his mouth in "Polo Joe," and Joe and Martha are the leading mouth-stretchers of the pictures.

Rabble-Rouser and Burns Back

Madcap Martha, the ultra-violet Raye, gives those leather lungs of hers plenty of workout in her latest starring vehicle with Bob Burns, "Mountain Music," the comedy of life and love among the hillbillies open today at the LaNora theater.

LA NORA 'MOUNTAIN MUSIC'

America's fastest growing comedy team—Bob Burns and Martha Raye—are co-starring for the first time in "Mountain Music," a gay story of love among the hillbillies, which opens today at the LaNora theater.

Teamed for the first time—accidentally—in the Bing Crosby musical hit, "Rhythm on the Range," Burns and Miss Raye have climbed to the top of funmakers despite the fact that they have appeared together in the only three pictures to date were "teamed" in only two of these. The acclaim they received in these pictures, which also included "The Big Broadcast of 1937" and "Wakiki Wedding," led Hollywood executives to give them a starring vehicle of their own.

The careers of both Burns and Miss Raye have been unique in movie annals. Both came to pictures from the radio and made their debuts in "Rhythm on the Range." Burns had been in the show business for many years and was getting along with passing success when he was suddenly "discovered" by Rudy Vallee. The "discovery" led Crosby to make a place for him in the "Music Hall of the Air" hour on the radio, which increased the drawing Arkansas's popularity so greatly that Crosby had a role written into "Rhythm on the Range" for him.

Miss Raye, daughter of a vaudeville couple, has been an entertainer practically all her life. It was while she was appearing at the famous "Troadero" in Hollywood that she was "discovered" by Norman Taurog, film director, who was looking for a comedienne to play opposite Burns in the Crosby picture. Despite the brilliant cast in "Rhythm on the Range," Burns and Raye showed so brilliantly that they were off for stardom from the very beginning.

"Mountain Music" is ideally suited for Burns' unique talents. Written by MacKinley Kantor, author of "The Voice of Bugle Ann" and other noted film stories and novels, its locale is in the Ozark Mountain region, the country from which Burns hails and which he made famous over the air and in his writings as the home of the great American hillbilly.

NEW ROMANCE.

Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur, the screen's newest team of film romancers, come to the LaNora theater in Walter Wanger's "History is Made at Night" for two days—Friday and Saturday.

This smart, fast-paced romance casts Boyer in a totally new type of role as Paul Dumond, dashing man-about-town and the most popular head waiter on the continent, while Jean Arthur is seen as a lovely New York mannequin. They meet in Paris under thrilling circumstances. The pair become involved in a gay, ultra-modern romance that carries them from France to America against a series of stunning, ultra-modern settings, including a crack luxury liner and the smartest restaurants of New York and Paris.

Leo Carillo and Colin Clive are featured in the supporting cast, which also includes Ivan Lebedeff, George Meeker, Lucian Prival, Georges Rena and others.

"History is Made at Night" is an original story by Gene Towne and Graham Baker, one of Hollywood's most prolific and popular writing teams. The production was directed by Frank Borzage for release through United Artists. The photography is credited to Gregg Toland.

JEAN MUIR STARRED.

Jean Muir, who won her first screen fame in the role of a country girl (that was in "As the Earth Turns," several years ago), appears again in such a role in a melodrama of the South called "White Bondage," which opens Thursday at the LaNora theater.

This is a far different sort of a picture, however. The earlier photograph was a tender romance. "White Bondage" is a melodramatic tale of the conditions which surround the lives of the "share croppers" in remote regions of Dixie—those who grow to pick the cotton for absentee landlords, and who subsist solely upon credit extended to them by general stores owned by these lords of the land.

Miss Muir plays the granddaughter of one of these share-croppers, Gordon Oliver, whose ascent toward the heights has been swift in Warner Bros. pictures, is her leading man. He plays a northerner who seeks to relieve the people of this benighted region of the burden of "virtuous peonage" under which they exist. They are, actually, in a "white bond" as bad or worse than the black bondage which was slavery for the negro.

REMEMBER 'JESTER'?

"Jester Lester" of "Tobacco Road" fame is on the screen!

Charles "Slim" Timblin, who for 84 weeks played the famous role in the road shows of "Tobacco Road," has been cast in a hillbilly character in the new Bob Burns-Martha Raye comedy, "Mountain Music," which opens today at the LaNora theater.

REX WILL ROGERS BACK.

The most laughable and lovable character in American fiction, as only Will Rogers could play him, brings delightful humor, thrilling romance and gripping action to the Rex theater when "David Harum," Twentieth Century-Fox's adaptation of the novel by Edward Noyes Westcott, opens today.

In the perfect role in his greatest picture, directed by James Cruze, Rogers plays a canny and kindly match-maker who helps young love along, climaxing his efforts by winning the most extraordinary horse-race ever filmed, pounding to a whirlwind finish as an entire stadium sings the winner on to victory.

Hard-headed, soft-hearted David Harum is a small-town banker with a grasping reputation but a soft spot in his heart for Evelyn Venable and Kent Taylor, who, in the romantic leads, have the supreme luck of capturing the interest of the best "course-of-true-love" aider in seven counties.

Because the young man is in such financial straits that he dare not pursue his courtship of his rich young debutante sweetheart, Rogers induces Taylor to bet all of his meager savings on the outcome of a trotting race in which he, Rogers, is to drive. A shrewd horse-trader, the banker is convinced of his horse's definite superiority.

Interesting however, with the orderly process of the race is the peculiarity of the horse, who can win only when hearing a favorite tune. The rousing chorus of a stadium full of people singing to a blaring band sweeps Rogers and his horse on to him in a new kind of role, opens at the Rex theater Thursday. In it the star abandons the grotesque make-up of his former roles and, playing the part "straight," reveals himself as a dramatic actor of outstanding talent.

The story centers around one of the great burglar alarm systems such as guard thousands of banks and business firms throughout the nation. Karloff is cast as an inventor who has been robbed of the system which he created. When he invents an improved system and is robbed of it, too, he declares vengeance on his enemy. With an instrument which neutralizes burglar alarms, he enters the ineffectiveness of the old system and to destroy confidence in the alarm operated by his foe.

CROWN
Carl Hoff, maestro of the Hit Parade orchestra, counts Mickey Mouse among his many friends and admirers. Hoff prepared the musical scores and synchronization for the first series of Mickey Mouse shorts, and, according to Walt Disney, is responsible for much of the popularity of that distinguished rodent.

Mickey is not the only celebrity who is indebted to Hoff for musical arrangements. Ted Weems, Vincent Lopez, Paul Ash, the Boswell Sisters, George Olsen and many others have from time to time, called upon his aid.

Hoff and his orchestra highlight the Republic musical production, "The Hit Parade," coming to the Crown theater. The cast abounds with radio luminaries including Phil Regan, Frances Langford, Eddy Duchin, Al Pearce and his Gang, the Voice of Experience, Molasses and Johnny, The Toc Girls, George Givot, Roy Smeek and Ben Grauer.

The story is an engaging one. Boy meets girl; boy elevates girl to radio stardom; rival queers work; exposing girl as a former convict. The plot neatly entangles itself in a tangle of colorful matter, with radio celebrities coming to the rescue en masse.

Gus Melns, whose versatile talents include cartooning, scenario writing, gag writing as well as directing, is going to act in a crisp pace and is responsible for the technical excellence of the production.

Besides Maynard, who is given the thirdest role of his brilliant career there is the clever Harlene Wood, who, beside being a capable actress, is one of the most expert horsewomen in the country. Supporting these two stars are such well-known players as Jack Ingram, Maston Williams, Bruce Mitchell, Karl Hackert, Sherry Tansey and others.

Joseph O'Donnell wrote the screen adaptation of this fast moving yarn which is brought to the screen under the direction of Jack English, one of the finest megaphonists of action pictures in the industry.

BANG! BANG!
Charles Stratton comes to the Rex theater Friday and Saturday in his latest picture, Columbia's new Peter B. Kyne production, "Two Gun Law." It is a wild-riding story of the old west.

Peggy Stratford, who appeared with Stratton in his latest film, "Trapped," again plays the leading feminine role opposite the cowboy star. This is Miss Stratford's second screen role.

"Two Gun Law" tells the story of the adopted son of a western band man who decides too late to go straight. The young man, played by Stratton, is sent off to another part of the country by his foster-father so that he might find honest work. Just as the young man is about to apply for work on a large ranch, he overhears the foreman plotting to rustle the owner's cattle.

When he goes to the rancher and informs him of what is going on, the young man is given the foreman's job. The rancher's daughter is a lovely girl, and he falls in love with her. But the adopted son of the bandit cannot shake off his past, and soon it catches up with him to cause a screen-full of trouble.

Supporting roles in the film are taken by Hank Bell, Edward Le Saint, Charles Middleton, Alan Bridge, Les Prather, Dick Curtis, Victor Potel, and others. Leon Barsha directed. John B. Rathmell wrote the screen play of the story by Norman Shelton.

Fifteen minutes after the Clipper III landed, the Imperial Airways "Caledonia" completed the east-west crossing and landed at Botwood. The flights were preparatory to establishing regular passenger service from New York to London.

(AP)—Drury Phillips, state commander of the American Legion, meeting with the general convention committee here Saturday, told them to prepare for a crowd of 6,000 visitors at the state convention Aug. 21-24. Among important matters on the program will be that of changing the constitution and by-laws, the question of sponsoring an American Legion for negro veterans, whether the state adjutant will be appointed for one year or continued in service as long as he works satisfactory, whether the state service office shall be abolished and whether there shall be at least two vice-commanders.

Judge Roy Bean's court will be set up on the streets here by the 40 and 48, fun organization of the legion. Governor Allred had promised to be present one day. Miller Alsworth, former state commander, is to be on the program as art. Bruce Stubbfield, executive secretary of the national Rehabilitation committee, and Roland Howell, national chairman of the child welfare committee. True tall tales of the World War by the veterans themselves will be a feature of the convention. Manuscripts entered in the contest for $250 in prizes should be sent to Tall Tales editor, Standard-News.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (AP)—Cotton lost 11 to 12 points here today under profit-taking and some local and foreign selling on the rains in the western section of the belt. The closing tone was steady. Liverpool was not up to expectations at the start here but exerted little influence on local prices.

The bulk of trading was made up of week-end evening-up with realizing by recent purchasers and liquidation overshadowing whatever trade buying and covering that developed.

A private survey of the Texas crop said it was two weeks or more late and that the temperatures were not high enough during the week to kill insects. July closed at 12.70; Oct. at 12.41; Dec. at 12.42; Jan. at 12.44; Feb. at 12.46; Mar. at 12.49. Spot continued quiet. Middling sold off 12 points to 12.76.

plunger and seldom a loser in golf and horse racing bets, Montague grinned at the inquiry.

"I'd rather not answer that one," he said.

Golfing intimate of celebrities of the film, sports and writing world, Montague was never known to seek a wager — or turn one down.

Asked what he intended doing about the robbery charge, he said "I'm not interested in going to New York right now. Let's let my lawyers handle that end of the affair."

Montague, who once lifted his ponderous friend, Oliver (Babe) Hardy with one hand, laughed again when the matter of his strength was mentioned. He attributed it to "clean living."

Reminded that stories were constantly told of his capacity for liquor, he declared, "I've never been drunk in my life."

Hal Sims, the bridge expert, once told of "Monty" breakfasting on a bottle of Scotch and eight gin fizzes — without becoming intoxicated. The incident supposedly occurred during a golf tournament last winter staged by another close friend, Bing Crosby.

BEATEN TO DEATH

NEWARK, July 10 (AP)—Dr. Carmine Bernardino, county medical examiner, said tonight a blond woman of about 35 years of age whose nude body was found in a fashionable Newark hotel had apparently been beaten to death with a hand mirror. The victim's identity was not immediately established. Her body was found lying crosswise on a bed in a room police said had been registered under the names of "Mr. and Mrs. Casper, of Kingston, N. Y."

NO WORD FROM OILERS

No word was received last night from the Pampa Oiler baseball team on a road trip into Oklahoma. The Oilers were scheduled to play in Seminole last night and again this afternoon. They will return for a game with the Phillips 66 club of Borger here on Tuesday night.

Postal receipts at Augusta, Ga., have shown a gain for 43 consecutive months.

We are having fair weather again, and everybody is enjoying these last days in Washington. Yesterday morning the following boys of our Jamboree troop visited the Department of Justice: Henry Seaman, Brian Dillon, Ned Wells, Frank McLaughlin and Bill Adams, all from Amarillo, and Joe Pete Lyle, Tom Giblin, and I from Adobe Walls Council. Interesting things we saw were a chart of operations in the Urschel case, a bullet-proof vest, weighing 20 pounds, the fingerprint files, photographic laboratory and the crime laboratory. About 13,000,000 civilian fingerprints are on record, and they are filed so that any certain print can be found in four minutes. No fingerprints are alike. The guide told us that Siamese twins were once fingerprinted, and that they were of such different types that the crime laboratory is filed nearby a block down the corridor from those of the other twin. We were shown a map of the United States with police and sheriff's departments who contribute fingerprints of crime suspects to the Department of Justice represented on the map. Pampa was shown.

Special Officer Wiley, best shot in the Service, demonstrated use of machine guns on a human silhouette. He also used tracer bullets with the target range dark, and did not miss the target a time. Henry Seaman was given one of the targets, and he prizes it as a souvenir.

Yesterday afternoon and last night we were at general headquarters putting on a frontier show. President Roosevelt was in the audience but we did not see him. Our troop won the chariot race. The chariot was pulled by L. B. Nichols and Ikey Cumberland and Eldon Seibel rode in it.

Billy Stockstill and Earl Manning took one last swim yesterday. Jack Hesse has finished a handsome belt. Victor Wilhusen made a tour of the downtown business section.

Today we will pass in review before President Roosevelt.

through the diligent work on the part of District Attorney Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock, and sheriff's officers of Gray, Lipscomb and Wheeler counties.

He and his henchmen were rounded up early last fall and lodged in the Pampa jail. The others arrested with him included Johnny Hughes, Burl Wagner and Lee Kratz. None of the latter trio took part in Thursday's prison break.

Traxler was the first to be sentenced. It was his testimony for the state that brought the other three to justice in subsequent trials held in Wheeler and Lipscomb.

The last three received terms of from 20 years to life for their parts in the Balfize case. On the witness stand in Wheeler and Lipscomb, Traxler admitted he had participated in upwards of two score robberies in the Panhandle region.

Officials estimated 150,000 Chilocagoes sought respite on Lake Michigan's shore. The maximum there was 89 but the relative humidity, 70, was 15 points higher than the July average. Many householders complained of the lack of adequate pressure in the water systems—due to an increase in withdrawal of approximately 25,000,000 gallons a day.

A frank squall doused Chicago's south side with rain and hail. Water ran curb deep in the streets. Five deaths were attributed to the heat there during the day. A temperature of 104 was registered in suburban Willow Springs.

Temperatures approached the 100 degree level in Iowa, ranged between 92 and 99 in Maryland, and held around the 90 mark in most of Ohio, Missouri and Kansas. Overnight rains cooled eastern Oklahoma.

Increased Oil Drilling Likely

SANTA FE, N. M., July 10 (AP)—Revision of limitations on oil production and increased drilling for new supplies was forecast today as the likely result of the U. S. Bureau of Mines report Monday on the amount of oil in storage in the nation at the meeting here of the Interstate Oil Compact commission.

Col. E. O. Thompson of Amarillo, chairman of the commission and chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, said there "undoubtedly would be a readjustment" of production quotas as the result of the report.

Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma said the report was "going to show a less amount of refinable oil in storage than ever before."

Knowledge of this condition, he said, would be an impetus for "wildcatting for further supplies of oil."

It was at the request of the compact commission that congress appropriated $56,000 for the Bureau of Mines to make a survey of the oil stored in the nation. Col. Thompson predicted the report would be made annually.

He will preside at the sessions of representatives of New Mexico, Colorado, Illinois, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, compact member states, and observers from Pennsylvania, Michigan, California, Louisiana, Arkansas and other oil producing states.

Pampans Asked To Make Reservations

Pampans are urged to call chamber of commerce headquarters in the city hall and make reservations for the regular monthly chamber of commerce luncheon Tuesday noon in the basement of First Methodist church. Admission will be 50 cents.

John McCarty, associate editor of the Amarillo News, will be principal speaker at the luncheon. Mr. McCarty who is president of the Panhandle Water conservation association, will discuss the association's program.

Representatives from many Panhandle cities have been invited to attend the luncheon.

SCHOOLS MAY RECEIVE 3 MILLIONS IN AID

AUSTIN, July 10 (AP)—Texas public schools may receive approximately $3,000,000 in rural aid within the next few weeks.

A joint legislative committee is scheduled to meet here Monday to consider rural aid claims already approved by the department and board of education.

The committee's approval of the claims has been withheld pending a report on an exhaustive audit by the legislative auditor.

E. M. Sheppard of the department of education stated schools would receive the money on their second semester claims as early as usual if the committee approved them.

Legislative appropriations were sufficient to pay 90 per cent on all approved claims last year only 87 per cent was paid in the case of some high school tuition claims.

George Gershwin Reported Dying

LOS ANGELES, July 10 (AP)—George Gershwin, noted composer, was said by attendants at Cedars of Lebanon hospital to be near death tonight with a brain tumor.

He had been under treatment in the hospital before, but had been released a few days ago. As he grew worse today, several local brain specialists were summoned into hurried consultation and an attempt made to reach Dr. Walter Danby, eastern specialist, who was reported cruising in a yacht on Chesapeake Bay.

If he is reached he may fly here to operate on Gershwin.

Members of the family were at the hospital tonight.

Gershwin was born in New York, Sept. 26, 1898. He first attracted attention as a music composer with his "Half Past Eight" in 1919 and the following year scored hits with George White's scandals.

He and his brother, Ira Gershwin, came here from New York City two weeks ago to write songs for a motion picture. His first illness was regarded as a nervous breakdown, but examination later disclosed the brain tumor.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Stocks suffered more from inattention than selling pressure in today's market.

Brokers blamed the current heat wave for driving many customers from the boardrooms.

With some traders desiring to lighten commitments over the weekend, prices drifted fractions to a point or more lower.

There was a mild recovery movement near the close and extreme declines were reduced in many instances.

Transactions for the two-hour session aggregated 297,000 shares. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .3 of a cent at 67.1.

Lightness of the proceedings was exemplified by the fact only 560 issues changed hands as against 826 yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO, July 10 (AP)—Heavy selling dumped into the wheat pit after release of the official crop report indicating a bountiful domestic harvest of all grains this year tumbled wheat prices three cents a bushel today, but when the liquidation subsided the market staged a quiet rally of about two cents.

Late buying at Winnipeg and Minneapolis lifted wheat in those markets above the previous close at times but Chicago's values got no closer than major fractions to yesterday's final price. The rally here as well as in northwest markets was attributed to buyers who recognized that Canada has apparently experienced its greatest crop disaster in years.

Lamadr's arrest here on the pistol carrying charge. Meanwhile, the prisoner was taken to Brownsville by Fenner and Miller.

Polk Hornaday of Harlingen, acting as attorney for Lamadr, went to Brownsville this afternoon but as he stepped from the courthouse Ranger Fenner took him into custody again, telling him he was charged with impersonating a special ranger delegated to the Blanton case.

Hornaday also arranged bond on this charge and the officer immediately left for Harlingen with Hornaday.

County Judge W. E. Charen, who set a hearing for 2 p. m. Monday on the ex parte proceedings, said tonight that "So far as I am concerned it won't make any difference and it is up to the complainant."

Crane said he intended to press all charges. "We want them here and we want Lamadr here safely too," Crane said.

Crane alleged in his petition that he attempted to talk to Lamadr but was prevented from doing so by Miller when Lamadr was under arrest here. He further alleged that Brownfield said he (Brownfield) had been told by Miller and Fenner to permit no person to talk to Lamadr.

Crane said in his petition that when he attempted to talk to Lamadr, Miller took hold of him and said he "would soon have an arrest for the attorney."

The arrest of Lamadr had previously brought a statement from Crane that the officer had received a threat of death unless he desisted from his investigation. Crane said Lamadr had been told to "lay off" the Blanton case or lose his life.

The San Perita deputy constable was arrested on a complaint charging him with carrying a pistol in Brownsville.

Lamadr had announced he would "break" the Lamadr case this week. The complaint upon which he was arrested was sworn out by Sheriff J. A. Goolsby of Cameron county. Officers at Brownsville said Lamadr had never qualified as a deputy and had no authority to carry a pistol.

The investigator's arrest was the latest development in the mysterious disappearance of the Blantons, father and son, near San Perita Nov. 18, 1936.

They dropped from sight after going for a duck hunt on ranch property near their San Perita farm home. Citizens of the San Perita community, aroused at their disappearance, threatened at one time to arm themselves and invade the former King ranch to search for their neighbors.

This plan was dropped when ranch officials issued permission for the hunt. Posses of citizens and officers searched ranch properties in the San Perita vicinity for several days without success.

Equally as fruitless has been the subsequent investigation, conducted quickly by the state department of public safety. The brush-covered wilderness of southwest Texas held the secret of the disappearance without a sign of a break.

Appointment of Lamadr as a deputy constable at San Perita was by the Willacy county authorities in a new effort to solve the mystery.

BROWNVILLE, July 10 (AP)—After a battle of bonds and charges, Louis Lamadr, San Perita constable who said he was going to break the Blanton mystery this week, was released from custody here Saturday afternoon late after posting bonds on charges of carrying a pistol and impersonating an officer.

Lamadr was arrested at Raymondville Saturday morning by Ranger Power Fenner and Game Warden Morgan Miller on a charge of unlawfully carrying a pistol in Brownsville.

This complaint was signed by Sheriff J. A. Goolsby of Cameron county.

When his attorneys were demanding the right to see him in the Willacy county jail and preparing habeas corpus proceedings, the officers rushed him to Brownsville.

Polk Hornaday, acting as attorney for Lamadr, came here Saturday afternoon with a $1,000 bond on the pistol charge. Lamadr was released, but just as he stepped from the court house, Ranger Fenner took him into custody again, telling him he was charged with impersonating an officer.

Hornaday then worked for several hours arranging new bond in the second case. He was released on $150 bond in the second case.

In the first charge, Lamadr is charged with wearing a pistol in Brownsville several days ago.

Officers here say Lamadr never qualified for the deputy constable-ship when he was appointed recently by the Willacy county commissioners court especially to work on the Blanton case.

In the second case, Lamadr is alleged to have represented himself as a special ranger delegated to the Blanton case.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS EPIDEMIC UNLIKELY

AUSTIN, July 10 (AP)—Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, expressed an opinion today that infantile paralysis, reported increasing in Texas, would not reach epidemic proportions.

He said that 84 acute cases had been reported between Jan. 1 and July 10, 59 more than the average for the same period in the past five years.

Explaining that the peak of incidence usually came in the late summer and autumn, he said no one could safely say whether it would occur in the next few weeks.

"It can be said, however, that the incidence is low and in most instances has not tended to spread to a high degree and has remained sporadic," he said.

"It is not anticipated that the disease will be widespread in Texas because of its large percentage of rural population, nor will it reach the large proportions epidemic have assumed in other parts of the United States with greater urban population."

The health officer said 59 cases had been developed in the past two weeks and the highest incidence was 20 in one county with a population of 60,000, a rate of .33 per 1,000 population. In some past epidemics the rate had been 5 per 1,000 population, he said.

SENTENCED TO PEN OKLAHOMA CITY, July 10 (AP)—Stanwood S. Farrell, former Cimarron county resettlement supervisor, awaited transportation to the southwestern federal reformatory, Reno, today to serve an 18 month sentence for embezzling $1,000 of government funds over a two-year period ending last June 1. Farrell pleaded guilty last night, and Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaughn assessed the sentence and a $500 fine. Farrell gave himself up at Amarillo 10 days ago after having been missing a month.

12 INTENTIONS TO DRILL FILED IN PANHANDLE LAST WEEK

HUTCHINSON IN LEAD WITH 6 LOCATIONS

New locations dropped to 12 in the Panhandle field last week but that was enough to send the total for the year to the 500 mark.

Hutchinson took the lead with six, followed by Gray with two and Carson and Moore with one each.

The Phillips Company reported four of the new locations, three in Hutchinson county and one in Moore. Three of the tests will be drilled in the prolific Cockrell ranch leases.

Intentions to drill:
King Oil Company C. Baer Estate No. 2, 330 feet from the south and west lines of SE 1/4 of section 125, block 3, I&GN survey, Gray county.

Turman Oil Company et al Whittemburg Estate No. 14, 1,040 feet from the south and 2,620 feet from the west of section 11, block M-21, TC&RR, Hutchinson county.

Phillips Petroleum Company Cockrell Ranch No. 25, 3,088 feet from the south and 230 feet from the east of section 6, block M-21, TC&RR survey, Hutchinson county.

Phillips Petroleum Company Cockrell Ranch No. 24, 230 feet from the south and 708.9 feet from the north of section 6, block M-21, TC&RR survey, Hutchinson county.

Phillips Petroleum Company T. J. Nunley No. 1, 990 feet from the south and east lines of S 1/2 of section 183, block 3-T, T&NO survey, Moore county.

Empire Oil & Refining Company Hughey B-6, 680 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east of NE 1/4 of section 129, block 3, I&GN survey, Gray county.

Empire Oil & Refining Company Magnolia "E" No. 5, 1,320 feet from the north and east lines of NW 1/4 of section 89, block 4, I&GN survey, Carson county.

Cree & Hoover and F. N. Dye et al, Harvey Sisters No. 1, 330 feet from the north and west lines of S 1/2 of SW 1/4 of section 71, block Z, HE&NT survey, Hutchinson county.

Danube Oil Corp., N. E. Starnes No. 3, 990 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west of the W 1/2 of NW 1/4 of section 22, block M-23, TC&RR survey, Hutchinson county.

cited with the history of Tennessee.

During Texas' centennial celebration, many Tennesseans visited this state, among them Governor Hill McAlister. The latter was a speaker at ceremonies commemorating the fall of the Alamo.

Governor James V. Alford has broken a 10-year record. He made no speeches this year to graduating classes of schools.

"It is the first time in 10 years I haven't made such speeches," he said. "With the legislature in session I didn't have time. In fact, I believe I haven't made six since January."

The governor made the comment, however, just before going on quite a speaking tour, which took him into South and West Texas.

A proposal made in the House of Representatives to have a legislative committee conduct a survey looking toward elimination of duplication in state government departments and make recommendations on ways to increase efficiency died in closing minutes of the recent special session.

One of the opponents was Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, who denounced the proposition not because he does not favor consolidation of departments and greater efficiency in government, but because he has more experience with surveys than any other man in the legislature and might be said to be soured on the subject.

He was a member of a committee which made such a survey several years ago and prepared a report with recommendations which weighed about 40 pounds. Despite the generally admitted worth of the report, nothing worthwhile resulted from it. The House passed without discussion an accompanying bill putting the recommendations into effect as a sort of reward for Graves' work but the Senate paid no attention to it.

Secretaries and employees of the House may sit in the hall of that body if they wish, but the Senate does not extend the privilege to such persons.

Several years ago the Senate ordered the secretaries to stay in the corridors and offices at the rear of the Senate chamber except when they were summoned to the floor for business.

"It used to look like a convention," said Lieut.-Gov. Walter P. Woodul, "before we had such a rule."

TROOP 80

The sudden departure of Senior Patrol Leader Keeton Rhoades from Pampa Thursday afternoon threw a damper on the spirits of Troop 80 Scouts at the regular meeting Thursday night. Keeton moved with his family to Clovis N. M. Every boy in the troop was sorry to see Keeton leave because he was one of the most popular boys in the troop. He had been a member of Troop 80 for only one year but during that time he had not missed a single meeting or hike, and he had advanced from the rank of First Class to Eagle Scout. He had served well and faithfully as senior patrol leader and in fact was the best senior patrol leader the troop has had in several years' most members believed.

The troop voted to buy a senior patrol leader's badge and send it to him as a token of affection and appreciation.

Cotton Smith was elected to succeed Keeton as senior patrol leader. He had charge of the meeting Thursday night. Keeton will be back to go on the trip to Colorado in August and promised to visit here often.

After the meeting patrol met and discussed advancement. Then J. G. McConnell, leader of the Wildcat patrol drilled the boys in marching and the various postures, after which some of the Scouts played in the park. Omer Harrell, leader of the Flaming Arrow patrol, announced that Junior Foster had gone to Fort Sill to attend the Citizens Military Training camp. He left last Sunday.

Friday night some of the Scouts enjoyed an overnight camping trip on the Hay Hook ranch.

Those present by patrols:

Razorback—James Archer, Jack Smith, Billy Mounts, Max Brewer, Jimmy Shoener, L. V. McDonald, Wildcat—J. G. McConnell, Ira Van

Houten, Earle Ketter, Bill Arthur, Earl McKinney, Soren Jensen, Dan Beard—Jack Grout, Archie Brown, Delbert Hughes.

Flaming Arrow—Omer Harrell, Wyndall La Casse, Nevin Johnston, Glenn Roberts.

On the same day James Burks, Hillsboro, Ala., became the father of twin children, twin colts and calves were born on his place.

CREDIT GRANTORS TO FORM ORGANIZATION

A Pampa Credit Grantors association will be organized at a luncheon meeting in the Schneider hotel at noon today. The organization will be sponsored by the Pampa Credit association whose president Travis

This was disclosed recently by Albert Williams, counsel for the

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVER ROBERTS BARTON

Are you physically tired, or nervously tired, mother? I know better than to say "just nervously tired," because it implies something spurious, and there is nothing counterfeit about the weariness of nerve fatigue.

But what are nerves? They are so many things, it is impossible to answer, for only our Maker knows the truth. They help us to see, hear, and move our muscles, of course, and to sense heat, cold, pleasantness and unpleasantness. If in these ways, the definition would be easily settled, but alas, it is not even a beginning.

Perhaps after this, "nerves" become the "soil"—because now we get into "feelings," the emotion that makes or ruins us—love, hate, peace, worry; interest versus monotony, and a thousand others.

Nerve fatigue is a result of mental strain. Just what strain, is your problem. Perhaps longings that can not come true, perhaps ambitions that pall, or work that is so distasteful you have to fight yourself every day anew to get it at.

Relief Must Come From Self

As a result you are tired, oh so tired. And you are very thin and get into "feelings," Headaches, indigestion, and even aches and pains in your hands and feet. As genuine are these afflictions as if you were carrying ounces of infection in your blood stream.

You cannot analyze yourself. Yet no one can really help you but you, and the world and all the medicine will neither remove your problems nor change your feelings.

But you can do this. Shut out the thought of tomorrow with all your might, and live on twenty-four hours today.

If monotony palls, and half the time in the case of busy women this is the case, you might do a few outrageous things to break the jinx. If it's going to be a relief for a day or two, change the whole house around, get away from a set routine. Routine is excellent, and planning is the father of efficiency, but when they get too dead, take a vacation and let efficiency slide for awhile.

Make Game of "Cure"

Try, if possible, to get a new start on everything and everybody. Make an effort to cultivate people you dislike. Ask more people to come in. When you are talking, or brooding.

Can you sing? No? That's fine. Then sing. Don't hum, but learn the words to a tune or two you like and let it go. Whistle, if it suits you. It keeps up courage.

Don't take yourself too seriously. Say, "I need to forget it all and laugh more." You might surprise yourself.

The fatigue results from so many things that we could control, if we tried very, very hard. But don't work at "trying." Make it a game. Try new roads. Get out of the rut of your feelings. Work may wear a pleasanter face.

It never hurts to risk a little change.

New Deal To Take Up Tax System, Trade Practices

By RODNEY DUTCHER, Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Certain administration members, who may not know any better or who may just be seeking to allay fear, are spreading the word that the current New Deal legislative program is all there is and that there isn't any more.

If anyone tells you that ask 'em how much they want to bet.

Roosevelt will make at least two more requests for major legislation at the next session of Congress and no one knows how many more after 1938 elections. The two are:

1. Legislation to curb monopoly and unfair trade practices.
2. Revision of the tax system.

The nature of these pieces of legislation can be predicted now only in vague outline, but they're being worked on. An effort will be made to demolish them closely, for the administration—since the Supreme Court Social Security decisions—sure it can use taxes as an instrument of social control over Big Business.

You will hear much about "unfair business" and taxation of "undesirable business units." Effort will be made to revamp the powers of the Federal Trade Commission as well as the anti-trust laws. A legislative attack on the so-called "tramp corporations," principally of Delaware, is in the cards.

Treasury experts have been working on a broad tax program (far broader than current loophole-plugging proposals) for weeks. Whether this will hit again at big individual incomes and broaden the tax base, as well as seek to control corporate forms and practices, cannot now be foretold.

Attorney General Cummings before long will appoint a committee to go into the whole field of monopoly and trade practices. It will be important to big business men to study the makeup of this committee.

received about $385,000 from advertising space in the book, nearly all from corporations. It received about $480,000 from sales of the book last year. Then a plan was cooked up by the late Committee Treasurer W. Forbes Morgan, who subsequently was hired for $100,000 a year by distillers, to hawk some 1,500 autographed copies at $250 apiece, in a deal through which the selling agency would receive $100 for each copy sold. Most of these copies have been sold to firms having or hoping for business with the government. For instance, Bethlehem Steel, which has government contracts, bought 30.

The incentive of that $100 commission per book to induce black-jack tactics by salesmen is obvious Republican Congressman J. Willis Taylor of Tennessee, has presented charges as to sales in Nashville which, if true, indicate extortion.

These facts are not new. But the fact that neither the White House nor the national committee has any comment becomes more interesting every day.

Look Up Republic Contracts.

C. I. O. agents and certain officials are finding out what contracts, if any, the government has with Republic Steel Corporation, whose President Tom Girdler is in bad with the administration. Just what will be done about it if Girdler proves to have government contracts isn't clear. But there will be some noise, at least.

No Defense of Book Sale.

Not a peep, unless your correspondent missed something, has come from the Democratic party machine in defense of its sale of convention souvenir books autographed by Roosevelt to corporations at $250 apiece. This practice seems an obvious evasion of the law prohibiting political contributions by corporations, which carries penalties of fine and imprisonment.

Curstone opinion here is that there simply isn't any defense unless you bother to go back more than 10 years to the scandalous occasion when the Republican National Committee tried to cover up a $250,000 liberty bond gift from Harry Sinclair following the Teapot Dome dirty work. At the best excuse you can actually find for these book sales is the fact that the Democrats have huge majorities in Congress, which protects the Democratic committee from investigation, and that the committee has a deficit to pay off.

SUPERSTITION MOUNTAIN

By OREN ARNOLD Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

Chapter XV
The few rocks that Paul Colter had clutched in death and the others that Carolee had found in the cave, proved to be as exciting to the assayer as to the Colters themselves.

"This stuff'll go thousands of dollars a ton, man!" they told Mr. Colter in the Golden West Assay Office at Phoenix. "Where'd you get it?"

"I got it staked in Superstition," he replied. "But this is all I could find. He didn't mention his son's death, but he did explain about the cave."

"Oh, that's different then." They were let down somewhat. "You just found a drabble. Some of that stuff the old Spaniards left up there. Old Miguel Peralta's crew. He worked Superstition. They'd pick up just the best ore to pack down to Sonora. It was 300-odd miles. They wouldn't carry no more dirt than necessary. They'd store their choicest pickings in a cave like that until they got enough to load their mules, then they'd high-tail on back home with it. Likely you found some there put in there and overlooked. It's been done before. Down where they worked the Virgin of Guadalupe Mine near Tubac, they done that same thing. We've found their leavings."

Old man Colter worked his quid of tobacco several seconds before he spoke again. He was reasoning, sensibly, that if the Spanish found nuggets of such value in Superstition there must still be an extremely rich mine near the cave. He was anxious to get back and hunt some more.

"What's these worth as is?" he pointed to the bag of specimens. He sold them eventually for $400 cash.

"That's more cash than we've had in 10 years," he confessed to his children, there on the Phoenix street. They set out to spend part of it. Carolee, having found most of the gold, took charge. She purchased some essentials and a few trills for her mother. She ordered a simple marker, at $35, for Paul's grave. She replenished their grocery supply.

don't know why you should. He is good looking and generous, but he isn't worth killing otherwise. Why you or any other girl would tolerate him seriously is beyond me."

Carolee wasn't used to such persiflage, yet it didn't seem foreign to Nina. Nina slept a few hours in each 24, and bubbled through the remainder. You couldn't be introspective or serious around her. But Carolee felt confidential; she had a Secret with a capital S, and it had to be told.

She led the other girl out among the mesquite and cacti near the Lodge and told Nina all about the gold. They had such a talk and intimacy as only girls can have; it satisfied a craving in Carolee that had been keener than she realized. Nina, she decided, was a peach! In spite of her background of wealth.

Suddenly Nina turned to her without laughing, and looked straight into Carolee's eyes.

"You're in love with brother, aren't you?" she stated, rather than asked it. She had her arm around Carolee. "Um huhm" Carolee admitted gently seriously.

"But there are families," Nina went on, "and backgrounds, and—clothes, and money, and prejudices, and all that sort of thing in the world. Stuart has talked to me about them. It's not my business, Carolee, but if I ever decide I want to marry a man, heaven help him! I don't care if he's king of England or a janitor's helper. I'll go after him with the I've got it. I think that's where happiness lies, and I think happiness is just that important!"

Carolee nodded, "I believe you would, Nina," she said, softly, "and I believe you're right."

Indian squaws came up then to offer them baskets and beaded tinkets for sale. At that moment too Stuart Blake rode into the Lodge grounds. He saw the girls and galloped over.

Ignoring the Indians, he kissed his sister and greeted Carolee, and told them the sheriff had found nothing of importance in the mountain. He wanted Carolee to feel he was sympathetic about her brother, anxious to help her in any way.

"Bracelet red like coat," a squaw interrupted, holding out a wristlet of beads.

Stuart muttered something impatiently, then laughed and bought Carolee the trinket, and another for Nina, too.

The wrinkled squaw said, replying to Carolee's question that two days were required to make the intricate beading.

"It is beautiful," declared Stuart, admiring Carolee as she put it on, "and it does match your jacket. Say, I never saw this red jacket before!" Carolee smiled at him kindly. Irreverently, perhaps, Nina began humming.

"Does he say he has 'found' me, Nina? He hasn't mentioned that fact to me, and if he has any idea he can—"

"No no honey stop it!" Nina laughed, early. "The boy's jittery about you, I tell you, and doesn't know how to act. He lost his balance that day in the store, when you first met. I'm just trying to say you can wrap him up and take him home whenever you get ready—although I
