Man Is Dead in Suicide Pact

WOMAN MAY SUCCUMB TO HER INJURIES

Graham Married Woman Involved in Dallas Tragedy With Young Resident of Verona, New Jersey.

LOVE IS FUTILE

Notes Left Ask That Burial Be Together Even If in Pauper's Grave—Trouble Is Reported.

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—Thomas E. Davis, 25, of Verona, N. J., was shot and killed and Mrs. Fannie Anderson, 24, of Graham, Tex., was wounded probably fatally today in a double shooting in a hotel room here. Notes addressed by them "to whom it may concern" indicated a double suicide pact.

The couple registered at the hotel Monday. On letterheads of the hotel a note in the handwriting of Davis was addressed "to whom it may concern": "It is impossible for us to live without each other, so we are making sure we will not be separated again, ever. We blame no one. We request that we be buried together, regardless of anything. We do not want to be apart, even in death."

Thomas E. Davis was the signature, in the handwriting of Davis, and Fannie Anderson, in the handwriting of the woman.

In a note addressed to "Gus," Mrs. Anderson left this message: "Please do not claim my body. I love Tommy and want to be buried with him even if it is in a pauper's grave. I want my mother to have all my possessions that are in your care, also the few things I have here and what little jewelry I wear. Do not let my mother know until after I have been buried. This is the only way out of it for Tommy and me." The note was signed "Fannie."

In another note addressed "to whom it may concern," Davis gave directions to notify his father, William J. Davis, of Princeton, Va., and his sister, Mrs. J. E. Wards, of Verona, N. J., and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Columbia, Penn.

When doctors and police reached the hotel, they found Davis lying on his back in a room. A bullet through a large caliber revolver had pierced his chest and he was dead before he could be moved.

Mrs. Anderson was found sitting on the floor in front of the elevator. She had been covered with a blanket thrown about her shoulders. She was scantily dressed and a bullet from the same pistol which killed Davis had been fired into her abdomen.

She and police and doctors she had shot herself after Davis had ended his own life. When asked, "Who shot you?" she said, "I did it myself. I could not stand to live without him. How is Tommy?" She was not told he was dead, doctors fearing it would hasten her death.

The couple registered at the hotel Monday under the name of "J. D. King and wife."

Employees of the hotel had been awakened by the shots and the cries of the woman. She had walked from the room to the elevator entrance.

The notes were left on a table with personal effects of the couple. They were turned over to Detective Chief J. Charles Gunning.

Shortly after reaching the hospital, Mrs. Anderson lapsed into unconsciousness and in delirium continued calling for "Tommy."

Chamber Will Consider Plan on Marketing of Oil

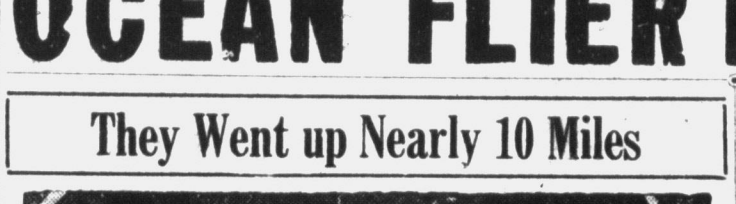

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—An early meeting of the directors of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce to discuss a new plan for oil production was in prospect today as the result of action here yesterday by a specially appointed committee. Details of the plan formulated by the committee were not made public but the chairman, J. K. Hughes of Mexico, said it offered a systematic method for producing and selling Texas oil.

Hughes signed a statement which read: "This committee has suggested the outline of a plan for the orderly marketing and production of Texas oil, including a fair and reasonable taking of the product from both large and small operators, which its members believe will tend to stabilize the industry in Texas."

"This plan is unanimously concurred in and will be submitted to the directors of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. More than this we do not feel at liberty to state now."

OCEAN FLIER READY

They Went up Nearly 10 Miles

Soaring upward through the thin atmosphere of the higher altitudes in an air-tight aluminum ball attached to a huge balloon, Professor Auguste Piccard, right, and his assistant, Charles Kipler, left, attained the greatest heights ever reached by man in a flight from Germany. They penetrated the stratosphere, 50,000 feet—or approximately 10 miles—above the earth. They were executed in their aluminum ball; at the right is their balloon, with the ball underneath.

ASH LANDED HERE LATE TODAY AFTER A 380-MILE FLIGHT FROM TACHIKAWA AIRFIELD, NEAR TOKYO. HE THEN INSPECTED AND PREPARED THE PLANE FOR THE 4,400-MILE SOLO FLIGHT ACROSS THE PACIFIC. HE EXPECTS TO LAND AT TACOMA IN FORTY TO FIFTY HOURS.

Ash was accompanied here by a mechanic who assisted him in final preparations. At Tachikawa he was given a rousing send-off by high officials, including the American Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes and the mayor of Tokyo.

Ash and his mechanic stripped the "Pacific" of every ounce of superfluous metal. Even that, carrying 1,020 gallons of gasoline and 60 gallons of oil, the flier expected to have difficulty in lifting the plane from the beach. Ash will carry no radio, nor is his plane equipped with pontoons. His only baggage will be a small amount of food and a pocket full of letters.

The alleged shortcomings of the plane seemed to worry Ash little. He has pronounced it "somewhat cumbersome" and "rather hard to manipulate."

Included in the food Ash will carry is a small box of capsules, each about the size of a cherry and each containing nourishment equivalent to a full meal. Another important item will be six thermos bottles of black coffee.

PLOTTER HAS FAST DEATH

New York Italian Convicted by Body From Which No Appeal Possible.

ROME, May 29. (AP)—Convicted of plotting the assassination of Premier Benito Mussolini, Michele Schirru, an American by naturalization, was executed at dawn today by a firing squad.

He was led into the interior court of Fort Braschi and seated astride a chair with his back to the marksmen. A battalion of blackshirt militiamen formed three sides of a hollow square around him and directed a volley of shot into his spine.

The special tribunal for defense of the state, composed of seven militia officers, witnessed the execution. The official bulletin read as follows:

"This morning at the hour of 4:27 in the interior court of Fort Braschi the execution of Michele Schirru by means of a volley in the back the sentence pronounced by the special tribunal for defense of the state against the terrorist Michele Schirru."

Was New Yorker Schirru, 32 years old and once a resident of New York, was the first American to taste Fascist justice for such an offense and the seventh person to be executed under the defense of the state law, designed to punish attempts to overthrow the regime or to plot against the premier.

Italy had not had capital punishment for 68 years until the first of these executions in 1928. It is customary for the prisoner or his attorney to appeal to the king for clemency, but these appeals have been rejected by the intermediary official whose approval is necessary.

The tribuna, from whose decisions there is no appeal, convicted Schirru after 50 minutes of deliberation on seven counts, including attempted assassination, possession of bombs, wounding of three detectives, and membership in an anarchist organization.

Start Others Trial ROME, May 29. (AP)—After witnessing the execution of Michele Schirru, the judges of the special tribunal for defense of the state today called to trial nine Italian intellectuals charged with instigating a plot to overthrow the Fascist government.

The defendants are accused of "provoking armed insurrection and civil war and organizing intimidating demonstrations" as leaders of the "Justice and Liberty" organization with headquarters in Milan.

THOMAS ASH TO HOP OFF LATE TODAY

"City of Tacoma" Is Admittedly Hard to Control; However, American Not Worried Over Trip.

Huge Load of Gasoline Will Be Hard to Lift—Food Is to Be Taken in Form of Small Capsules.

SAMUSHIRO, Japan, May 29. (AP)—The "somewhat cumbersome" monoplane in which Thomas Ash, Jr., American flier, hopes to span the Pacific without a stop, rested on the natural runway of this beach today ready to take off for Tacoma, Wash., at 7 a. m. tomorrow (4 p. m. Friday, Central Standard Time).

Ash landed here late today after a 380-mile flight from Tachikawa airfield, near Tokyo. He then inspected and prepared the plane for the 4,400-mile solo flight across the Pacific. He expects to land at Tacoma in forty to fifty hours.

Ash was accompanied here by a mechanic who assisted him in final preparations. At Tachikawa he was given a rousing send-off by high officials, including the American Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes and the mayor of Tokyo.

Ash and his mechanic stripped the "Pacific" of every ounce of superfluous metal. Even that, carrying 1,020 gallons of gasoline and 60 gallons of oil, the flier expected to have difficulty in lifting the plane from the beach. Ash will carry no radio, nor is his plane equipped with pontoons. His only baggage will be a small amount of food and a pocket full of letters.

SPEAKER OF HOUSE QUILTS AS TENNESSEE IMPEACHMENT LOOMS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 29. (AP)—A special committee of the Tennessee house of representatives reported an article of impeachment against Gov. Henry H. Horton today and soon thereafter Scott P. Fitzhugh, speaker of the senate, who would succeed the governor in the event of impeachment, offered his resignation as speaker.

The article charged that Horton, as governor, conspired with Colonel Luke Lea, publisher, and Rogers Caldwell, financier, and others "to commit acts for the perversion and obstruction of the due administration of the law and which amounted to a conspiracy in common law."

The alleged acts, said the article, were committed "for the personal aggrandizement and pecuniary gain of the said co-conspirators and confederates and for the purpose of enabling, having and procuring the said Henry H. Horton to continue to be able to remain in the office of governor and use the powers and influence of that office for his own advantage, gain and advancement and for the advantage of his said confederates and co-conspirators."

Hoover to Honor America's Dead

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—In the hilly country where a winter of privation and training prepared revolutionary soldiers to continue their struggle for independence, President Hoover tomorrow will honor America's war dead.

His duties at the White House left behind, the president will, like many others, journey to Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, for Decoration day services. On ground that felt the tramp of George Washington's volunteers during the winter of 1777 he will deliver his memorial address.

The chief executive's train will leave the capital this afternoon, reaching Philadelphia in time for Mr. Hoover to have dinner tonight with the Union League club. Early Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, two of his secretaries, Theodore Joslin and Lawrence Richey, and the White House physician, Dr. Joel T. Boonen, he will motor to Valley Forge for the exercises.

After delivering the address, the president will inspect the two-story rock structure where George Washington made his headquarters after the battles of Brandywine and Germantown.

Road Delegates Delayed by Mud

Owing to heavy rains between Thomas and Elk City, Okla., F. P. Reid and Otto Rice, local delegates to the Tulsa-Pampa highway meeting, had not returned at noon today.

The plan is to turn No. 33 at Watonga and designate it straight west to Canadian, Texas.

Yesterday's session was attended by the Oklahoma Highway commission and delegates from towns along the proposed route. Mr. Reid and Mr. Rice are expected to arrive in Pampa sometime this afternoon. Because of the heavy rains yesterday afternoon they were forced to spend the night at Elk City.

MUCH TESTIMONY

List of Witnesses Contains Persons From All Parts of Panhandle—Convicts Also Are Talking.

AMARILLO, May 29. (AP)—One indictment charging 23 residents of Amarillo with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws was returned today by the federal grand jury.

No arrests had been made and the names of those indicted had not been disclosed, but court attaches said it included at least two former Potter county officials.

The grand jury's investigation has been under way two weeks and witnesses were called from many sections of the state and included prisoners from the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Norman J. Morrison of Washington, special assistant to the attorney general, directed the investigation, aided by Assistant District Attorneys Arnold Davis and Alex M. Mood.

A number of Pampa residents were called before the federal grand jury at Amarillo this week in what was believed to be an investigation of all liquor manipulations in the Panhandle. The grand jury is to re-convene soon to continue its probe, according to Amarillo court attaches, who assert that many other indictments are pending.

A large crowd heard Evangelist John M. Rice at the Church of Christ last evening when he discussed "The General Resurrection and the Judgment." The song service was another interesting feature of the meeting.

Mr. Rice said that there were many resurrections such as the resurrection of the daughter of Jarius, Dorcas, Lazarus, but there will be a general resurrection, June 5-29 and Rev. 20:12 were quoted in proof to this.

At 8:15 o'clock Mr. Rice will discuss "Types and Antitypes." You are invited to hear this wonderful Bible lesson.

Him to treat man out of the dust of the earth. When a jury condemns a man to the electric chair he is judged, when the flood was sent upon the ancient people they were judged, when Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed they were judged, and when Titus destroyed Jerusalem it was judged. This, however, was not the final judgment the minister said. The speaker assures his audience that the final judgment was soon to come, and at that time all the families of earth would be raised from their sleeping places and be caused to appear in judgment where they would give an account for the deeds done while on the earth.

FAREWELL PARTY HELD BY METHODIST CHURCH GROUP

Bridge-Luncheon Given for Dutch Club Members Here

MRS. J. G. BURGESS IS HONORED BY W. M. S.; ROOMS OF CHURCH ARE ATTRACTIVELY DECORATED

Members of the Methodist Woman's Missionary society entertained yesterday afternoon as a courtesy to their treasurer, Mrs. J. G. Burgess, who will move to Perryton soon to make her home. The event was held in the beautifully decorated parlors of the church.

Poppies and other May flowers in profusion were used as decorations, while butterflies and crepe paper decorations in pastel shades added to the beauty of the entertaining rooms.

The gathering was opened with a hymn, "Draw Me Nearer," and a devotional led by Mrs. W. Purviance, who emphasized summing up life. Mrs. Horace McBea led in prayer, after which Mrs. Joe Shelton reported on the district W. M. S. meeting at Mobeetie.

Mrs. S. A. Hurst was in charge of the following program: Reading, "The Hunt for the Beautiful," Mrs. Lee Hill, who presented the honoree a friendship book to be signed by all in attendance; group of Spanish songs by Mrs. Tom W. Brabham and Mrs. J. M. Dodson, who played their own accompaniments, and who were effectively costumed for the occasion.

Mrs. S. A. Hurst made a short talk and presented Mrs. Burgess a floor lamp on behalf of the society. Mrs. Burgess made a few impressive words of response.

Informal games and contests followed, and a lovely salad course was served.

Following is the guest list: Mesdames Tom W. Brabham, A. B. McAfee, J. G. Noel, W. R. Presnell, J. M. Turner, Albert Wood, Carl Boston, Lee Hill, Kidwell, Jack Mason, Horace McBea, M. M. Robinson, J. L. Stroppe, J. G. Burgess, H. B. Carson, W. R. Campbell, Cheney, O. W. Ferris, Tom Cook.

Miss Kate Zachary also was present.

RECITAL HELD BY PUPILS OF MRS. TURNER

Thirty-two expression pupils of Mrs. Helen Turner, presenting a varied recital, delighted the crowd which gathered at the city auditorium for the occasion Thursday evening.

The program consisted largely of plays and readings. Of interest also was the firefly ice dance given by Betty Ann McTaggart, prettily frocked in gold and rose, and a musical reading by Joyce Turner, costumed in gold and black.

Climaxing the event was the clever presentation of "Great Caesar" by a number of boys, who were wearing horse blankets, burlap bathrobes, old dresses, or "anything they could find in the barn." This feature brought roars of laughter from the audience.

Miss Louie Barton was piano accompanist for the occasion.

GAMES PLAYED AFTER SERVING AT LOCAL SHOP

With a score slightly short of 4,000, Mrs. L. M. Williams took highest honors in the games following a lovely fried chicken luncheon served at the Canary Sandwich shop for the Dutch Bridge club yesterday. Mrs. E. T. Broughton was hostess for the occasion.

Mrs. Frank C. Allison was favored for second high, and Mrs. Tom Morris for high score among guests.

Those present were Mrs. Don Wakeman, Mrs. L. A. Dennison, Mrs. Tom Morris, and Mrs. White of El Paso, special guests, and the following members: Mesdames L. R. Hartell, C. M. Carlock, Frank Robinson, Frank C. Allison, Ben Reno, Joe Berry, and W. H. Lang.

At the next meeting, Mrs. Hartell will be hostess for a 2 o'clock luncheon at the Canary Sandwich shop. Games of bridge will follow.

Jacquelyn Reno Is Honoree at Party

Jacquelyn Reno, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Reno, was complimented on her second birthday when her mother entertained a group of little tots Wednesday afternoon in the Reno home.

Mrs. Ralph Trimble and Mrs. J. M. Turner assisted Mrs. Reno in directing the games and in serving refreshments of red lemonade, ice cream, and slices of birthday cake. The little honoree opened her own gifts.

Guests were Joyce Turner, Barbara Johnson, Ralph Trimble, Donna Dodson, Byron Dodson, and Frances Christine Hayes.

Audience Always Follows Young

By JOHN L. COOLEY (Copyright, 1931, Associated Press) NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—A Berlin newspaper once called him "King Owen the First."

Old-timers in the upstate New York village whose fairy Godfather he is, know his as "Owen."

On the 20th floor of 120 Broadway—suites labelled "General Electric Company"—he is "The Chairman."

Bankers, business men, college freshmen, college presidents, statesmen, farmers and nations listen when he speaks. Whether it be in the directors' room of the New York Federal Reserve bank, on the campus of St. Lawrence university, at an international conference table or in the barn of his Van Hornesville dairy, there always is an audience for Owen D. Young.

Most of what he says never gets into the newspapers. He prefers to avoid publicity, although he has figured in some of the biggest news since the war.

His friends say he is without frills or affectation, equally comfortably with financiers, industrialists, prime ministers, congressmen or the Herkimer county folk.

Mr. Young is something of a Bibliophile. First editions, manu-

OPEN HOUSE IS PLANNED TO BE HELD AT CHURCH

In order that Sunday school class workers may become acquainted with the work in other classes of the church, and in order that the general public may familiarize the First Methodist church is holding open house this evening from 8 to 10 o'clock.

Teachers and officers will be stationed in their various classrooms to meet the guests. Exhibits will be on display in the vestibule and in each department of the Sunday school, and the entire church will be decorated with spring flowers. Refreshments of punch and wafers will be served.

The Rev. Tom W. Brabham, pastor, and the board of Christian education are inviting criticisms and suggestions in regard to their work.

scripts, rare items of British and American masters, are shelved around the walls of his library within reach of the easy chair in which he likes to stretch his long, rather spare body.

Other hobbies are the country house on Long Island Sound near Riverside, Conn.; his alma mater, St. Lawrence university at Canton, N. Y.; and the old home at Van Hornesville. To his university Mr. Young frequently returns—he is chairman of the board of trustees—and to its welfare he contributes.

Mr. Young does not care for strenuous physical exercise. The milking, wood-cutting and haying he did as a boy gave him enough training to last a lifetime, he jokingly remarks. Golf scores hold no terrors; he does not care to play.

Some FEMININE Fancies

By HOLLYCE SELLERS HINKLE

Can you beat this?

"NEW YORK, (AP)—An actress is not a lady, in the words of George Bernard Shaw. At least when she is, she is not an actress. He gives the definition in a preface of a book containing his correspondence with Ellen Terry (G. P. Putnam's Sons). A lady, he adds, is schooled to hide her true feelings; an actress is trained to show her emotions."

But to you who aspire to be actresses—don't let Shaw's statement discourage you. Have you noticed how the word "lady" has decreased lately? How often do you see the word "lady" in a newspaper? Where is the Ladies Aid? Why, it has been replaced by the Woman's Missionary society, the Woman's auxiliary, the Woman's Missionary council.

The word "lady" is beginning to suggest a time gone by when the "lady" allowed her ankle to show only at the proper moment, when she spoke only in the most subdued tones, when a bathing suit concealed more than the modern dress, when the days of chivalry were at their height.

Here's another day's menu from "The Market Basket," sent by the United States Bureau of Home Economics:

Breakfast
Stewed Rhubarb
Cooked cereal
Top milk
Toast
Coffee (adults) - Milk (child)

Lunch
Corn Soup
Tomato Omelet
Milk for all

Dinner
Lamb stew with Potatoes
Spring Greens
Gingerbread
Tea (adults) - Milk (child)

These recipes serve five persons.

Tomato Omelet
To make a fluffy omelet for a family of five use from 4 to 6

eggs. For a four-egg omelet, beat the yolks thoroughly and add 4 tablespoons of milk. If preferred, the milk may be heated; it will then cook the yolks slightly when it is added and will give the mixture a smoother consistency. Or, one-half cup of white sauce of medium thickness added to the four yolks will make a larger omelet with more body. Fold the yolk mixture gradually and carefully into the stiffly beaten whites containing one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Have ready and hot a smooth heavy omelet pan containing 1 tablespoon melted butter, and pour the egg mixture into the pan. The omelet may be cooked in three different ways, but in any case start it on top of the stove at moderate heat. If a small sized gas or oil burner is used, moved the pan about so that the omelet will cook around the edge at the same rate as in the center. As soon as the omelet has browned slightly on the bottom, place it in a moderate oven (350 F) and bake for 10 minutes. Or, continue the cooking on top of the stove until the mixture sets, and then place under a low broiler flame for 2 or 3 minutes. Or, if preferred, cover the pan during the whole period and so cook the top of the omelet with steam. When the omelet is done, crease it through the center, fold it over with a spatula, and roll it onto a hot platter without attempting to lift it from the pan. Pour over the omelet the hot tomato sauce, and serve at once.

Tomato Sauce
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 slices onion
1 teaspoon sugar
2 whole allspice
2 whole cloves
Butter or other fat
Salt and pepper
Simmer the tomato, onion, sugar, and spices for 10 minutes. Strain through a fine sieve, and measure the liquid. For each cup of liquid blend 2 tablespoons flour and 2 tablespoons melted fat, add to the tomato juice with salt and pepper

Eighteen or thirty-five... each is a reasonable guess. Decidedly different, however, is Georgette's prescribed treatment for club women and for debutantes. Claim Tariffs Not Too High

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—The Republican National committee today found "ample evidence to show that under present conditions the rates in the Hawley-Smoot tariff are no more than adequate in many instances, and that in some cases perhaps not high enough."

The C. O. P. organization's statement used as an illustration of this contention the demand of Representative Conner, democrat, Massachusetts, that the tariff commission increase the rates on boots and shoes 50 per cent over the present 20 per cent ad valorem duty.

Fine For First Baseball Offense To Be Abolished

WICHITA FALLS, May 29. (AP)—The automatic fine of $5 that for years has accompanied the expulsion of players from Texas league baseball games is no more, according to President J. Alvin Gardner.

Triple Play on Sunday Is Reported Prestige to Meet

The first triple play of the season and the only one on record in White Deer was made last Sunday afternoon when the Pampa All Stars and the White Deer Blues played at White Deer.

Hooks and Slides

What Price Style? Bat Battalino's rugged defense of his featherweight championship—a title, by the way, which was knocked down to him in a little deal a couple of years ago—only serves to show that some gold does not glisten at all.

And his unorthodox but effective style suggests the reflection that perhaps the greatest strategy the ring can know is to "git thar fustest with the mostest men."

Battalino, in the ring, like Diegel on the golf links; Al Simmons at the plate, and like those two maulers, Max Schmeling and Johnny Risko, goes about everything in the wrong way. But he "gits thar" just the same.

Diegel is that kind of a golf player. They laugh when he tees up and goes into an imitation of Aunt Emma defending herself from a snoring rodent. But the old ball goes straight down the fairway.

Schmeling and Risko happen to be unorthodox lads of somewhat different pattern from Battalino, but supposed to be just as dumb.

I think fellows like Risko, Battalino and Schmeling the most discouraging people a young man with a punch could be tried against. When a boxer puts everything he has behind a well-planned clout, and it lands perfectly on the point where the adversary is supposed to be vulnerable, it must be very disappointing to see the stricken man just grin and walk in for some more of the same, please.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—Ed Barrow, Yankee business manager, is on the road to recovery after an operation for removal of gall stones. . . . Colonel Jake Ruppert of the same team has been kept indoors for weeks, suffering sinus infection. . . . Hugh Critz, Giants' second baseman, is a cotton buyer by profession. . . . but after hugging his diploma away from Mississippi A. and M. he started playing semi-pro ball at $10 a week. . . . Greenwood sold him to Memphis for $2,000. . . . Memphis sold him to Minneapolis for $12,000. . . . Minneapolis sold him to the Reds for $30,000. . . . and McGraw got him for Larry Benton, Pat Crawford, etc. . . . Pat Crawford, by the way, is knocking them high and far away for Columbus in the American association.

SPIDERS LUY HURLER WICHITA FALLS, May 29. (AP)—Edwin Wilkins, right-handed pitcher with Waterloo of the Mississippi Valley league last season, has been acquired by the Wichita Falls club from the Milwaukee Brewers. It was announced today by resident William E. Huff. Wilkins won 15 games and lost the fifth place Waterloo team last season.

Auto Racing Fans Are Gathering in Indianapolis for Motor Sensation kees yesterday and scored the ninth inning run that gave the A's a 5-4 victory. Getting credit for the win, Grove gained a tie for the league pitching lead with his equally left handed teammate, George Walberg, whom he relieved with the score tied.

The result of Brandt's victory yesterday moved the Braves back into third place ahead of the Chicago Cubs, who dropped a 3-1 decision to Cincinnati but left the first two places unchanged as Pittsburgh won a seven-inning slugfest duel from St. Louis 11 to 8.

Ed Brandt of the Boston Braves has won eight games in a row, taking a hard earned decision from the New York Giants yesterday 7 to 6 to keep his record clear of defeat.

who registered in a Dallas hotel as Thomas E. Davis of Verona, N. J., found shot to death there today, was a man believed to be known here as "Jack" Davis, a musician of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Fannie Anderson, found wounded in the same hotel, was the wife of Gus Anderson, operator of a filling station and restaurant 11-2 miles from Graham. He told officers that his wife had gone to Dallas several days ago. Officers stated Anderson and Davis had had trouble several days ago over the purported ownership of a diamond ring. They said the matter had been settled when Mrs. Anderson claimed she had made Davis a present of the ring.

The Andersons had lived here about 11-2 years, coming to Graham from Coleman. Anderson told officers he and Mrs. Anderson were married in Oklahoma.

Glenna Collett To Wed Engineer She Often Beats

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—Miss Glenna Collett, five times women's national golf champion, is to marry Edwin H. Vane Jr., of Philadelphia. Announcement is made by her mother, Mrs. George H. Collett of Greenwich, Conn.

Mr. Vane is the son of Mrs. Edwin H. Vane and the late State Senator Vane of Philadelphia. He is a nephew of William S. Vane, republican leader of Philadelphia. He is a golfer, but his fiancée can beat him.

Miss Collett, a native of New Haven, Conn., but a resident of Providence, R. I., until her father's death three years ago, played golf first when 12 years old. Her father, George Collett, one time amateur bicycle champion of the world, was her teacher.

She won the golf title in 1922, when 19 years old, and repeated in '28, '29, and '30—setting a record for the event. Trying to win the British championship she has been beaten twice by Miss Joyce Wheeler. Her conquests include a dozen or more sectional championships.

Mr. Vane is a construction engineer, a golfer and is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. His father died in 1922.

National Anthem to Be Authentic

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—The Star-Spangled Banner will ring out with added distinction at Memorial day exercises this year.

For the first time on such an occasion it will have the sanction of congress as the legally recognized national anthem of America. And it was a capital soprano who helped carry the song to victory.

Mrs. Edna Underwood of Washington appeared before the house judiciary committee when the fate of the old song was at stake. So clear and true did her voice vault over the high notes that the committee was convinced the song was "singable" for the average audience. Congress officially adopted it as the national anthem this spring.

Mrs. Reiley will sing the song with added fervor at the Memorial day exercises at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington this year.

Mrs. Reiley is a radio singer, has lived in Washington all her life and is the mother of two children, a girl of three and a boy of five. She has resided both in this country and abroad.

The national anthem has been rewritten in a lower key since its adoption by congress. Mrs. Reiley says it is now easily singable by the average soprano. She scaled the two high notes of the original version, however, when she sang it in the test before the congressional committee.

ROBBERS BLOW SAFE
TERRELL, May 29. (AP)—Robbers who blew open the safe in the office here of the Texas Interurban railway station last night obtained $50. The safe was wrecked.

L. Cohen of Shreveport arrived Thursday evening to visit his daughter, Mrs. Frank Soodhalter. He came by automobile with Lester Hill, resident manager of a new hotel in Monroe. The two will return to Louisiana in a few days.

Red Heads Best for Television But Brunets Have Chance

Three young women who might be described as brunet and blond "hopes" in challenging the television supremacy of the redheads are Anne Dunn (left) and Dorothy Knapp (upper right), whose hair is dark, and Kay Weir, whose hair is light. They have bold features that carry well on television.

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—Television program directors do not prefer brunets. At least, as a general rule, they don't.

This idea of beauty may not be their personal opinion, but in dealing with the photoelectric cell they must think in the sense of the contrast of lights and shadows.

Thus the ideal television girl would be short and shapely, have red hair, flashing eyes of any color, flawless teeth and bold facial characteristics, which should be bold in the full sense of the word.

"Speaking of types, the preferred is the good old fashioned redhead. But both blonds and brunets will televise well if their type is not too pronounced."

"We have found that short girls are better for television than tall ones and that shapely girls outdo their more slender sisters.

"In fact, what we are looking for is contrast."

These were the factors taken into consideration when models were selected for the television fashion show put on with sound and sight by WGBS-W2-XCR.

Of the young women chosen to go before the television camera, two successful ones who were not redheads were Anne Dunn, short and brunet, and Kay Weir, tall and medium blond.

Similar characteristics are to be found in Dorothy Knapp, former "Vanities" feature and winner of a beauty contest, who has been signed by the National Broadcasting company for a series of television studio tests. She is a brunet who has the features and the other requirements for the 1931 television beauty.

MENU for the FAMILY

By SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

Some authority on "Americana" tells us that the early cabinet-makers who were so fond of carrying the pineapple on bed posts and table legs considered it a symbol of hospitality.

At all times and seasons pineapples can be relied on to give the finishing perfect touch to menus, for fortunately it is one of the fine fruits that loses nothing of its deliciousness at the hands of the canners. However, during June the fresh fruit is plentiful in the markets and it is particularly welcome both as food and a tonic.

When using fresh pineapple, a thorough scrubbing with a stiff brush and water is a wise precaution before paring off the rind. The rough skin makes an excellent lodging place for dust and bacteria.

There's an astringent in the skin and eyes of pineapples that oftentimes up from the base. Never makes the mouth sore, so infinite care should be taken in preparing the fruit for the table. The easiest way to do this is to cut the fruit in such slices. Then pare off and dig out the eyes with a sharp pointed knife. Remove the hard core in the center and cut in dice or shred as preferred.

If the fruit is sprinkled with sugar at least half an hour before serving, the flavor is more bland and the sugar penetrates through the fruit.

Juice Used as Remedy

Pineapple juice has a soothing effect on the membranes of the throat and often is used in throat troubles. It also is said to be a remedy for a mild attack of influenza that won't respond to the traditional nine swallows of water.

The vitamin content is good, comparing favorably with oranges. This is worth keeping in mind, for at this season of the year oranges are becoming scarce and high in price. Perfectly ripe, sun-ripened pineapple is very sweet and usually requires no sugar. From this sort of fruit, an unsweetened juice is prepared especially for babies.

It's easy to select fine fruit when marketing, for it has few imperfections. The size of pineapples really has little to do with their quality. Pinned for pound one pineapple yields about the same percentage of edible material as another. Fruit wanted for immediate use should, of course, be riper than that which is not to be used for a day or two. An even, golden yellow color denotes full ripening. Pulling the leaves from the "crown" is another way to determine maturity. The leaves should pull easily and be white for some written just about meat and pineapple combinations, because any broiled or roasted meat gains distinction served with browned slices of juicy pineapple. All meat and fish salads are improved by the addition of diced pineapple.

The MELODY GIRL

by RUTH DEWEY GROVES
AUTHOR OF "THE HUSBAND-HUNTER, ETC."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beryl Borden, secretly in love with Tommy Wilson, discovers that he is planning to elope with her half-sister, Irene Everett, and with the assistance of her "gang" kidnap him. She urges him to stay in college and not break the heart of the aunt who is financing him. Failing to convince him, Beryl lets Tommy return to Irene who enraged at the delay, refuses to listen and postpones the elopement.

Later Tommy goes fishing and finds Beryl and her gang on the beach. One of the boys, Angle Reed, is carried out by the tide, and Tommy and Beryl rescue him. She finds it hard to bear the reproaches of Mrs. Reed and the sneers of her jealous sister.

When Tommy again begs Irene to marry him, she says she will not let marriage interfere with her career and informs him that she is to have a radio audition. She promises to take Beryl to the studio if she will wash her blouse, and after the work is finished asks the mother not to let Beryl go.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX

"I have to think of my voice," Irene answered for her mother. "Beryl irritates me. I'd be a nervous wreck before I got to the studio if she went along."

"Then why did you tell her she could go with you?" her father asked.

Irene shrugged. "I had a weak moment, I guess."

"Humph. Seems to me I heard Beryl saying something about buying a ringside seat," Mr. Everett remarked.

Irene turned to her mother. "There, you see!" she cried. "She's always making fun of me! And I won't stand for it!"

Mrs. Everett began to sniffle again.

"Oh I guess she didn't mean to make fun of you," Mr. Everett declared hastily. "That's just Beryl's way to joke. It helps a lot with the cranky customers."

"Can't you think of anything but business?" his wife wailed.

"Lord, I wish I had some business to think about," he complained. "The way things are now..."

Irene jumped up from the table.

"I can't eat in an atmosphere of bickering," she announced indignantly.

"Poor child," her mother muttered as Irene stalked out of the room. "Why do you upset her so, Henry? You know she's high-strung and delicate—a real artiste."

Mr. Everett was contrite. "I didn't mean to spoil her breakfast," he apologized. "Guess I'll be getting back to the store. Never mind pouring any more coffee for me."

He got up and walked over to a peg on which hung his hat.

His wife hesitated a half moment, then spoke out boldly. "You'd better keep Beryl at the store," she advised. "Tell her you need her there."

Mr. Everett fidgeted from one foot to the other. "She'd know I was doing it for a reason," he objected. "You can't fool Beryl."

"Well, you keep her there just the same," she ordered, with a finality in her tone that left no room for further argument. He went away, mumbling that he didn't like it.

And as he expected Beryl laughed at him when he clumsily attempted to detain her at the store.

"I suspect you've been getting a load of Irene's impression of a prima donna," she said to him. "I had a hunch she'd try to renege on me and I'm prepared for it. Don't worry; I'll tell Mother what a chance you had to hold me here."

She went away laughing and waving goodbye to him. And he thought fearfully of what his wife would have to say if she could read his mind at that moment; for he was thinking very definitely that he wished Beryl were his own daughter. Conscious suddenly that he was being guilty of disloyalty, he turned to filling his telephone orders.

Beryl had left home that morning without her breakfast. When she entered the house the inviting aroma of freshly broiled bacon assailed her nostrils and caused her to turn her steps kitchenward.

There she found Irene at the table in the breakfast "nook," pouring fresh coffee preparatory to finishing her interrupted morning meal.

There was a pout of injured feeling on her pretty face, a "Well, pet me if you like, but I'm annoyed just the same" expression in her blue eyes and a smug satisfaction with herself that made Beryl want to shake her.

Instead the older girl seated herself at the table with the easy, unconscious grace that was characteristic and remarked casually: "So you've decided I shan't go to New York with you?"

Irene cocked her head sideways and pursed her lips. Then she reached for the cream jug and poured some of its contents into the cup of coffee.

Calmly Beryl reached across the table and took the cup for herself. "You have a nerve!" Irene said furiously.

"Now, now, girls, don't quarrel," Mrs. Everett intervened and rushed forward with a second cup.

"I'm starved," Beryl said to her mother.

"You'll be out of luck if you didn't bring something with you," Irene taunted. "Mother's just cooked the last of the bacon and eggs for me."

Beryl looked at her mother. "You'll have to divide," Mrs. Everett said weakly. "There was enough to begin with, but..."

Beryl broke in with an understanding laugh. "But Irene had a fit of temper and couldn't eat and—all the rest of it. Well, let it go. Give me some toast."

"I've got some watermelon preserve," her mother offered in amends for the lack of more substantial fare.

Irene smirked. "I lunched on those last night. I had to have something after that awful dinner."

Mrs. Everett gasped. "You don't mean you ate the whole jar!"

"Well, not the jar—just the preserves. There wasn't much."

Beryl stared meaningfully at Irene's figure. "Soft white curves, like midsummer moonflowers," she said softly. Then, abruptly: "It's a pity flowers fade so quickly, isn't it?"

Irene flushed and Beryl noticed that when their mother placed the plate of bacon and eggs before her the girl ate the food with small relish.

Beryl nibbled the thin dry toast supplied to her with apparent enjoyment. But when her mother brought a piece of cheese and a bric-a-brac she was glad Irene had no desire for the food.

"So I'm not going to New York with you?" she asked after the last crumb of the sweet roll had been consumed.

"I really couldn't be annoyed," Irene replied.

Beryl got to her feet. "Well," she said with a pleasant inflection, "in that case I'll have time for a little laundry work."

Beryl handed the blouse to her. "You'd better take it upstairs before I change my mind and decide I don't want to go," she said, and Irene hastily followed the suggestion.

Automatically Beryl began to gather up the breakfast dishes. She'd long ago learned that Irene would not help her mother and that if she too refused her mother would do the dishwashing alone.

Mrs. Everett fluttered around more or less helplessly. Beryl knew she had something on her mind and finally it came out in a burst of querulousness.

"I do wish you and Pa wouldn't be always getting Irene fussed up," she fretted. "You ought to make some allowance for her being different."

"I don't allow anyone to trick me if I can help it," Beryl told her. "I did that work for Irene in exchange for the privilege of hearing her sing at RKO. And it was no fun, tired as I was."

"Well," Mrs. Everett sighed. "Please be tactful the rest of the day. After all Irene's career is important."

"She hasn't got a career—she's only got a scream."

"If you're going to talk like that," Mrs. Everett said with a touch of anger, "I'll have to do the blouse for her myself and ask you to stay at home. I can't see why you want to go anyway when you feel that way about it!"

"Who knows?" Beryl said dreamily. "I might get an offer myself some day. I want to familiarize myself with studio atmosphere. And as though to prove that I had something to induce an offer she began to hum.

"Please don't," her mother begged. "Irene might hear you, and you know, Beryl, that funny way you sing is irritating to a real singer."

Beryl fell silent. Her moods often changed quickly. If Irene had a chance—if it were true, as they said, that she had a voice—it would be cruel to handicap her.

Her softer feeling endured. And when she arrived at the studio with Irene she volunteered to forego the right she had bought and wait in an anteroom, little dreaming of the reward her generous impulse was to bring her.

Europe Acclaims Air Explorers as Scientists Explain Huge Success

OSBER-GURGL, Austrian Tyrol, May 29. (AP)—Recovered from their perilous thrust into the upper reaches of the sky, Dr. August Piccard began compiling his scientific data today while Charles Kipfer, his assistant, started a climb to recover their balloon from the glacier on which it came to rest.

Dr. Piccard said in conversation with newspapermen that the stratosphere, which he claimed to have penetrated in an ascent of more than 50,000 feet, was the only practicable element for long-distance aviation.

"This can be done, however," he said, "only if the cabins are as airtight as our gondola was."

When some of his interviewers suggested that they would like to accompany the scientist to the balloon, Dr. Piccard had a good laugh. "Have you hob-nailed shoes?" he said. "Are you experienced mountain climbers? Do you know how to operate an ice ax? No? Then you better keep your hands off."

Many Questions

The two men arose at dawn and were surprised on reaching the lobby of the little Edelweiss hotel to be confronted by not less than 50 journalists and by scores of tourists who used bicycles, motorcycles, horse-drawn vehicles, automobiles and even airplanes to reach the two men about whom all Europe is talking.

Dr. Piccard said he and Kipfer had attained the objectives of their ascent—a study of cosmic rays—and in addition had established a world's altitude record—9,936 miles or more than 50,000 feet.

He obtained a measurement of the conactivity of gases generated by cosmic rays at the maximum height about four hours after leaving Augsburg Wednesday morning.

The temperature within the hermetically sealed aluminum ball rose to 105 degrees Fahrenheit at times, while on the outside it fell as low as 78 below zero Fahrenheit.

Couldn't Open Valve

He explained his delay in landing by the fact, it was impossible to open the safety valve or the porthole until the pressure inside conformed with that of the atmosphere.

"The flight is likely to revolutionize all previous theories concerning the stratosphere," he said.

"The flight proved that the stratosphere is navigable and that man with modern technical methods will be able to master its low pressure and its cold."

"We seemed to be in an endless infinity of blue. The earth had completely disappeared. It was like floating at sea with blue water all around and blue shore in remote distances."
