Abilene Home Is Entered by Bandit Who Takes Rings

RAID COMES AS CITY CUTS POLICE ROLL

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Payton Are Held Up at Pistol Point and Her Fingers Attract Caller.

Deliberateness of Robbery Is Puzzling Feature Man's Diamond Demanded But Is Not Found.

ABILENE, Aug. 17. (AP)-A living room robbery, boldest in the annals of Abilene crime, netted nearly $2,000 last night. The victims. Mr. and Mrs. Cross D. Payton, were forced to lie prone, face downward, for five minutes after an unmasked bandit, working coolly, had invaded their home and at the point of a cocked pistol "lifted" three diamond rings from Mrs. Payton, valued at $1,500 to $2,000.

In leisurely fashion the robber walked out of the house and boarded an automobile, waiting at the curb with lights on and engine running. Officers who hastened to the Payton home found nothing in the way of a clue.

The raid bore every earmark of having been carefully planned. The robber first determined that the Paytons were at home. Somewhat earlier the victim's brother, Lindsey Payton, postmaster of Abilene, and a family intimate with the Paytons. each received a telephone call from an unnamed man who asked as to whereabouts of Cross D. Payton. Assurances were given in each case that he was at home.

The Paytons were alone at home when the intrucer knocked. He pushed in unceremoniously drawn pistol and demanded that Payton surrender a four-karat diamond which he has worn for 20 years. The ring is valued at $4,000. Payton did not have it, however, and the robber departed with Mrs. Payton's three rings, after forcing his victims to lie face down until he departed.

The robbery was committed on the eve of a drastic reduction in the Abilene police force, the city commission last week having instructed Ruck Sibley, chief of police, to dismiss five men as an econlect, where the restaurance is a seconlect of the restaurance in the robbery was committed on the restaurance in the restaurance in the restaurance in the robbery was committed on the restaurance in the restaurance in the robbery was committed on the restaurance in the restaurance in the robbery was committed on the robbery and no lives were reported lost.

Brakeless Cars to Be Watched Here

Drivers of cars with bad brakes had better get them fixed before Joe Persky, city traffic officer, sees them slide over a stop sign, the officer said this morning.

"The number of cars in this town with bad brakes is amazing," he leclared. "It's a violation of a state law to drive a car with brakes that won't work." Yesterday, a driver whose car went over a stop sign was arrested and sent to the police station, Persky said. Drivers of similar cars will be given a ticket in the future, he announced.

Col. L. E. McGee established a subordinate headquarters and assigned men to posts. About 50 men were under command of Capt. D. T. Staf ford at Overton.

Large crowds gathered before the bulletin board on the main street to read the martial law general shutdown order.

The Overton camp was set up in a pine grove about 1 mile from town. At least 600 militiamen had arrived in the oil field this morning to place under control the wells that recently sent the national oil market crashing to as low as five cents a barrel in some sections,

General Wolters and his troops came into the field after producers had defied proration attempts. Antiveste orders issued by the railroa commission were disregarded to the point where definite action became necessary to save the rich oil area. This resulted in the state legisla-sion last week.

A red streak hovered across the horizon today as countless open gas flares were ignited to burn excess gas at wells throughout the area.

After serving his duties for the first four years, he was relieved of fourth, and was good enough to football, and for six years he has only coached basketball and track. When Coach Claude Reeds resigned his position as football mentor at West Texas, the entire football squad petitioned the big coach to take over football.

In discussing the prospects for the coming season Coach Burton said, "We have some good boys but our material is somewhat limited and we will doubtless be weak on reserves. Most of the teams over the country will have a larger roster of players than we will, and it will be up to us to take care of what we have, avoid injuries in every way possible, and probably we will not feel like taking chances in scrimmage as much as would be best for the team. However, I am looking forward to the season with much anticipation and believe that the men we have will give a good account of themselves.
