GENERAL OIL SITUATION TO BE DISCUSSED

Closed Session at Amarillo Reveals Nothing; Statement Expected From It This Afternoon.

PLAN IS TALKED

East Texas Committee Will Issue Orders; Cranfill Declares Idea in New Move Is Not His.

AMARILLO, July 7. (AP)—Seven members of the oil states advisory committee, including Chairman C. Murray of Oklahoma, met in closed session here at 10 o'clock this morning.

Chairman Murray said the "general oil situation" would be discussed, and announced that the meeting would be closed to local operators and the press.

Members of the advisory committee will meet with operators in the Panhandle field at a noon luncheon, and may remain in session with them most of the afternoon, Murray said. He said the executive session probably would be concluded by noon.

Besides the chairman, those to attend were Marvin Lee, Wichita, Kans., representing Thurman Hill of the Kansas Public Service Commission; Walter M. Downing, Denver, Colo.; W. Scott Heywood, Jennings, La.; Robert R. Dean, Dallas; Van S. Welch, Artesia, N. M.; and Carl M. Cox, public land commissioner, Cheyenne, Wyo.

Proration of the East Texas field is still a big problem before the committee, Murray said. He said the price of crude would go up in ten days if Governor Steiwer would call a special session of the legislature to curtail production in the field, and that the present price of crude would be a dollar a barrel if the East Texas field had been properly handled.

Tardiness of Penn caused lengthy delay in starting deliberations.

Will Work Plan

TYLER, July 7. (AP)—Eight of the 15 members of the East Texas oil proration advisory committee met here today to discuss the railroad commission's recent order affecting the East Texas field. John Suman, vice-president of the Humble company and a member of the committee, issued the following statement:

"W. L. Todd made a motion stating that although the order as issued was not entirely clear to all the operators' committee was unanimous in agreeing that every effort should be made to put it into workable shape and that the committee should be instructed to work up production sheets immediately giving allowances by units and leases. This motion was seconded by Joe Russell.

"It was also voted to request every operator in the field to get square behind the order and cooperate to the fullest extent.

"The committee agreed to put sheets indicating proration allowances under the new order into effect as soon as furnished by the umpire and, if there were any serious objections, that another meeting would be called within a few days to hear specific complaints."

Tyler Boy Shot Resisting Arrest

TYLER, July 7. (AP)—Elton Helms, 17, was in a hospital here today with bullet wounds in both legs. Loss of blood made his condition serious. Deputy Sheriff H. R. Turner and Policeman Jess Rayford said they both fired at Helms last night when he tried to flee after being informed that they held a warrant for his arrest. Helms was wanted on a charge of burglarizing a railroad box car.

Rogers Says New Kentucky Book Is Really 'Oklahoma'

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 7. (AP)—Will Rogers believes the new four book of Kentucky recently issued by the Kentucky Progress Commission should be labeled "Oklahoma," his home state.

The cowboy humorist, in a telegram from Beverly Hills, Cal., to Governor Sampson yesterday acknowledged receipt of one of the books, calling it "Oklahoma."

"I received your booklet on 'Oklahoma' that was labeled Kentucky. It is the champion state. I would like to drop into Big Sam Davis for another one of those breakfasts about now. These darn republicans have just about made breakfast a lost art out here. There is nothing to eat and the creditors won't let you alone to eat it. Regards and much good wishes."

Hires Lawyer in Attempt to Prove He's Alive

LOS ANGELES, July 7. (AP)—The United States government has been insisting since 1918 that William R. Eba of Los Angeles was dead. Today he had retained a lawyer to prove otherwise.

In August, 1918, Eba said, the government informed his mother, Mrs. Samuel Steele, of Ashland, Ky., he had been killed in action at Chateau Thierry. Later word was sent her that he had perished in the St. Mihiel drive.

A short time ago Eba applied for a war-time bonus loan. Back came a letter, he said, notifying him the veteran in question died in San Antonio, Texas, March 11, 1930.

Eba sought the attorney yesterday for an attempt to refute the government records.

PIONEER DIES IN CLARENDON

A. M. Beville Succumbs to Two-Month Illness; Was Once Publisher.

CLARENDON, July 7. (AP)—A. M. Beville, 76, pioneer resident of Clarendon, died last night at his home after an illness of two months.

Mr. Beville came to Clarendon in 1886, and has played an important part in the city's growth. He started the Clarendon News, of which he was publisher for several years. He opened the first insurance agency here, and is a former mayor of the city. He served as postmaster in President Cleveland's administration.

Two sons, A. M. Jr. and R. H., both of Amarillo, and a daughter, Miss D. Beville, instructor at Texas Tech at Lubbock, survive Mr. Beville. His wife died several years ago. Burial will be in the Clarendon cemetery tomorrow.

Chest to Sever Connections With Salvation Army

A proposal that the local Salvation Army and the Community Chest sever financial connections at the end of the fiscal year was discussed and approved by the Welfare board in session this morning.

Col. David Main of the Dallas Army headquarters in a letter to John B. Hesse, chairman of the advisory committee for the Army here, asked that the Army be released from its connection with the Community Chest and be allowed to make its own drive this fall.

Welfare board directors claimed, that the Army has not cooperated in the full extent of the contract made with the board last fall.

A financial statement of the board was submitted by Mrs. W. H. Davis, manager. It showed an overdraft in the funds of $44.81. Mrs. Davis is preparing a detailed statement of the last six months.

Alex. Schneider, chairman of the board, announced that elevators will donate storage for wheat, given by farmers for the year. Farmers throughout the Panhandle are donating wheat to Welfare agencies in an effort to cut down the surplus that is keeping the price to 29c.

A local miller has agreed to grind the wheat into flour. Arrangements have been made with all the elevators in Pampa to receive the grain. As the board needs flour, many farmers have indicated they will make substantial donations of grain.

Those wishing to donate wheat are asked to notify the Welfare board or the NEWS-POST, in which names of contributors will be published.

Injured Shamrock Man Will Recover

SHAMROCK, July 7. (AP)—H. F. Schlegel, 50-year-old cattle buyer, was shot through the body twice by robbers who kidnaped him Sunday night, was in an improved condition today. He was expected to recover.

The robbers seized Schlegel at the stockyards, blindfolded and forced him into his own automobile, then drove about four miles out of Shamrock. There they forced him to alight, robbed him of $41 and shot him twice near the heart. Schlegel crawled to a deserted farm house and waited until dawn before being found by a passerby.

MUCH BEER FOUND

TYLER, July 7. (AP)—Confiscation of a truck loaded with 1,104 pints of beer resulted in the arrest last night of Sam Davidson and Tom Hochman, who were charged with possession. The truck, which had been hired from a Tyler transfer company, was on route to Longview when seized.

EXPERTS ARE TO WORK OUT DEBT DETAILS

France Interprets Moratorium as Friendly to Germany But Retaining Principles of Treaty.

SOME CRITICISM

One Writer Says Hoover Won 80 Per Cent of His Contentions—Benefits of Move Stressed.

PARIS, July 7. (AP)—With the ink hardly dry on the documents establishing President Hoover's one-year moratorium as an international fact, negotiations already are under way for a meeting of experts to work out the technical issues involved in the Franco-American protocol accepting the Hoover plan.

Such a conference may be held at the end of this week, but it is more likely that it will go over into next week because of the French national holiday on July 14. It is not expected that Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany will come here for a meeting with French statement before the end of this month.

In the view of official France, Germany must repatriate the capital which left that country as the first step toward restoration of confidence and assurance of success of the Hoover plan.

No Isolation

Pierre Flandin, minister of finance, said today that one immensely significant feature of the agreement signed last night is the evidence it provides that the United States cannot isolate herself from the rest of the world even should she wish to do so.

The Hoover proposal, he said, came as a surprise to the French people, who did not realize the extreme gravity of Germany's financial situation.

"The French government," said Flandin, "has adhered to the Hoover initiative designed to prevent a financial collapse in Germany which would have had far-reaching and disastrous consequences and would have proved particularly bad for continuous payment of reparations to France."

Supplemental negotiations will begin as soon as may be in the same spirit which marked the conversations between France and the United States.

"Re-establishment of international confidence has as great an importance to resumption of business now as had restoration of confidence in the value of the French franc in 1926."

American and French delegates, after 11 days of stubborn negotiations, signed an accord shortly before midnight which accepted President Hoover's offer to defer remittances on interwar debt for one year providing Germany's reparations payments also were postponed.

Flames Menace Big Wheat Field But Are Put Out

For an hour this morning, flaming stubble threatened a large wheat acreage belonging to J. B. Barrett, 4 miles south of Pampa, but the fire was extinguished before any damage was done to the unharvested grain. About four acres of stubble burned. Mr. Barrett has about a section in wheat and about one-third of it cut.

Wheat was barely selling for 29c per bushel when the market closed this morning. The drop since yesterday amounted to one-eighth of a cent, and grain dealers expressed the opinion that unless something decidedly optimistic was injected into the situation, wheat would be selling for 28c tomorrow.

Belief that the harvest has reached its peak in this community was expressed by dealers today. The harvest swerved back to normal today. Practically no fields were too damp and soggy for combines and tractors. Farmers are planning to run their machinery from dawn until dark, hoping to finish before more showers fall.

Harvest is not quite half over in the Heaton, Hoover, and Laketon communities. Farmers, who haul grain to Kingsmill elevators have reached the peak of the harvest, it was reported. Some grain waiting shipment has been dumped on the ground.

Gordon Store to Give Wheat Bonus

As a further aid to wheat farmers who are not realizing a very big price for wheat Gordon store is offering a premium of 10 cents per bushel for all wheat which farmers wish to trade for merchandise at the store.

Any amount will be accepted and it is not necessary for farmers to take up all the credit at one time, according to I. A. Freeman, manager.

Keel Defense Now Resting

"Country Boy" Admits Going With Miss Roberts—Denies Affection.

ABILENE, July 7. (AP)—The defense rested late this morning in the Roberts-Keel breach of promise suit, now in the second week, with completion of cross-examination of Louis Keel, the "most unsophisticated country boy" (thus pictured by his attorneys) whom Miss Madge Roberts is suing for $50,000. Both sides took time out to prepare rebuttal testimony, which will close the bitterly contested case.

On cross-examination today Keel told Harry Tom King, counsel for Miss Roberts, that he kissed her in April 1929, the night he met her, the night of their Anson trip. He denied, however, ever telling her he loved her, or that he "felt bound" to her. He said: "I didn't feel myself bound by any one. During that time and up to the present I wasn't crazy about any of them."

Replying to questions by King, the defendant said a picture which he had in his Roosevelt home of Miss Roberts was destroyed by his wife, soon after their marriage, when he and she were going through his things.

"She destroyed some letters, too," asked King.

"Yes, sir."

"But failed to destroy four from this plaintiff?"

"Yes, sir."

"She didn't find them?"

"No, sir."

King said: "You went with Madge from early 1929 to November of 1930?"

"At intervals."

"And never used terms of endearment or affection?"

"I did not."

"You have shown her no courtesies, only accepting her hospitality?"

"I did show her courtesies."

"You say you were a Jewish spender, getting away with $30,000 in one year, and that you knew Miss Roberts two years, yet that you gave her nothing but one box of candy?"

"I spent a great deal on myself and close friends."

"Name them."

Keel named a fellow named Neill. I gave him money to go to school. I gave Melvin Adams money to get married on." He said Pete Wiggins had gone with him to California as his guest. His California visit, he said, cost him $20,000 to $25,000. He spent several thousands on his home library of 1,100 volumes "kid books, fairy stories I've saved since I was a small boy," books of fiction, and standard literature.

NEW PLANETOID BIGGER THAN EARTH

KYOTO, Japan, July 7. (AP)—Discovery of a new planetoid by the Kyoto Astronomical observatory was announced here today.

The heavenly body was calculated to be 11,000 miles in diameter, or somewhat larger than the earth. Its distance from the earth was figured at 180,000,000 miles, or somewhat less than twice the distance from the earth to the sun.

Its position was given as in the area south of the "Snake Charmer" constellation.

PASADENA, Cal., July 7. (AP)—Dr. W. S. Adams, head of Mount Wilson observatory, said today he doubted the discovery of a new planetoid of the size and distance from the earth as that described in dispatches from Kyoto, Japan.

"It seems impossible a planetoid of that size and but 180,000,000 miles from the earth could have escaped discovery before," said Dr. Adams.

"This one is calculated to be 11,000 miles in diameter. The earth and Venus are around 8,000 miles in diameter, so this would make the reported new planetoid considerably larger than either. Its size would make it a planet rather than a planetoid."

"If the reported discovery seems possible of verification we will no doubt receive a report through Harvard university within a few days on its position and can make a search for it from the Mount Wilson observatory. But I am exceedingly doubtful that such a new planet has been discovered."

Arno Charges Vanderbilt Seeks Fame Constantly

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—Peter Arno, cartoonist, and Miss Florence Rice Smith, were back home today with respective Reno divorces and avowals they would not marry each other.

Mrs. Smith, former wife of Sydney A. Smith, New York broker, and daughter of Grantland Rice, the sports writer, said:

"I never want to see a wedding ring again."

Mr. Arno, whose marriage to Lois Long, writer, was also dissolved by the courts, told his version of the flasco with Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.

"Vanderbilt has a mania for publicity," Mr. Arno said. "He is now writing a play about Reno. He is a completely frustrated human being. His only satisfaction is when his name is plastered on front pages."

Arno denied any kissing episodes with Mrs. Vanderbilt, and said that he took Vanderbilt's threats lightly.

"There was no gun play."

"He said he was going to train with Jack Dempsey and fight me. I said: 'All right, I'll train with Jackie Coogan.'"

Mrs. Smith said she wanted company on the long train ride and was glad Mr. Arno was along. "We are good friends," she added.

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—Justice Bailey of the District of Columbia Supreme Court today postponed action in the case of Albert B. Fall until Thursday.

Government counsel had announced they would ask Justice Bailey today to order that Fall's sentence of a year in prison be carried out immediately. The hearing was put off because of other cases.

District Attorney Rover said an examination of a report of Fall's physical condition had convinced the government that the former secretary of the interior was able to come here from El Paso to begin his term.

Fall was convicted of receiving a bribe from Edward L. Doheny in connection with the lease of a naval oil reserve during the Harding administration.

COTTON STRONGER

NEW ORLEANS, July 7. (AP)—Cotton had a fairly active opening today and first trades showed gains of 19 to 20 points owing to higher cables than due and the final agreement on the moratorium proposal.

Prices advanced a little further after the start, October trading up to 10.48 and December to 10.70, or 21 points above yesterday's close.

Later in the first hour, the market reacted slightly, losing 10 points from the top on more or less liquidation in advance of the acreage estimate due from the government bureau tomorrow morning.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE SAYS MORATORIUM IS HELP

Better World Conditions to Result From Improved Confidence, It Says.

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—Improved sentiment in business circles as a result of the debt moratorium prospects were reported by the commerce department today in its weekly review of world conditions.

The improvement was especially noticeable in European countries, while the better outlook in South America and Asia reported by trade commissioners during the last two weeks continued.

Several countries report improved sentiment as a result of the likelihood of a debt moratorium and actual business has been stimulated in several regions, the department said, adding:

"In the United Kingdom, after a period of gloom in the latter half of June, considerable optimism developed and activity in cotton textiles improved. The British embargo on livestock imports from the Irish Free State owing to foot and mouth disease in northern Ireland has affected the industry.

"Italy Improves
"Hopeful indicators have appeared in Italy, including lower unemployment, a budget surplus during May and a continued reduction of the unfavorable trade balance, in addition to the effect of the probable moratorium.

"In Hungary domestic textiles improved and crops were favorable, although the financial situation remains difficult.

"Seasonal improvement continued in Czechoslovakia during June. A further recession has occurred in Egypt owing to adverse developments in cotton.

"Prospects of a very small wheat crop in Canada has depressed conditions in the prairie provinces. Conditions otherwise were practically unchanged.

"Newfoundland Poor
"The situation in Newfoundland is not satisfactory, except for active paper production.

"Trade conditions in South America improved during June, especially with the debt moratorium proposal toward the end of the month.

"Rising raw silk and rice prices in Japan have produced a certain degree of optimism. Business confidence has been increased in the Netherlands East Indies by debt moratorium prospects and the Philippines markets show a favorable reaction. Australia exchange is slightly stronger.

"No improvement occurred in Ecuador during June.

"The outlook is slightly better in Columbia, although actual business has not increased.

"The only improvement in Venezuela is a slightly stronger currency exchange.

"After slight improvement during May renewed depression occurred in the Dominican Republic last month.

"Business is very slack in Cuba without prospect of improvement."

Grain Committee to Meet Thursday

FORT WORTH, July 7. (AP)—In view of a pending conference at Austin of representatives from Texas shippers and the carriers with the railroad commission as the latter part of the week, the central grain committee, appointed by shippers to represent them in all negotiations regarding grain rate reductions, will convene at the Fort Worth Grain and Cotton exchange Thursday at 10 a. m.

The meeting will be open to all Texas shippers, Ed P. Byars, Fort Worth freight bureau head, said today.

The committee, according to Byars, will endeavor to determine the next steps to be taken by grain, milling and mixed feed interests of Texas regarding the grain rates which the carriers have been ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish and make effective Aug. 1. These rates are effective on interstate traffic. The committee also will consider the question of what changes, if any, should be made by the railroad commission in the intrastate rates.

Judge Says Pro Law Ineffective

LOS ANGELES, July 7. (AP)—United States District Judge Paul J. McCormick, member of the Wickham commission, in an interview last night said prohibition could not be enforced at the present time and that another year's trial would be required to determine whether it is enforceable at all.

Judge McCormick has just returned to his court after attending sessions of the commission at Washington.

"Present enforcement of the dry law is unsatisfactory," he said. "There should be a national referendum on the question. If the reorganization act of 1930 whereby enforcement was transferred to the department of justice does not within a reasonable time, another 12 months, show a substantial improvement over present unsatisfactory conditions, it will have been proved to any open-minded proponent of national prohibition that the existing law was unenforceable."

OVERTON WELL FIRE PUT OUT

TYLER, July 7. (AP)—A giant charge of nitroglycerin today snuffed out the fire which has been raging for the past three weeks in the Tulsa Oil company's No. 1 O'Quinn well near Overton.

Floyd Kinley, veteran fire fighter, placed the shot this morning. The well continued to run wild, shooting a geyser of oil high in the air. An effort to check the flow was to be made today.

Kinley and his well shooting crew left immediately for Tulsa. Nitroglycerin for the shot was transported from Tulsa this morning by airplane. Two shots were placed yesterday without success.

Mayor Cermak of Chicago Rings Out His Big Staff

CHICAGO, July 7. (AP)—Now that Mayor Cermak has rounded out his cabinet with an official "greeting," Chicagoans may answer the standard query of outsiders: "How's your new mayor getting along?"

Cermak, the democrat, has been at it three months. His first act was to discharge 3,000 city hall employees. Economy was to be the watchword for a city plagued with uncollected taxes and unpaid bills.

His latest act was to appoint a municipal glad-hander of the Grover-Whelan type. What his predecessor, former Mayor William Hale Thompson, supplied in showmanship, Cermak will supply in George D. Gray, riding the boulevards with a distinguished visitor in his pure white automobile escorted by two white motorcycles.

Thus Cermak, passing the baton of ceremony to a proxy, borrows time to study the civic budget—a study in red ink—and set his household in order.

His efficiency expert offers figures purporting to show an 8.7 per cent reduction of monthly expenditures from March to May; $6,000,000 a year, if carried through.

"That is only a superficial job—only a trimming of the obviously unnecessary jobs," said Mayor Cermak.

His economy campaign embracing a proposal of vacations without pay for city hall employees, drew one of the few utterances of William Hale Thompson since his defeat in April for fourth term.

"We always paid the city hall employees when I was in office," said Thompson tersely.

"But vacations without pay," replied Cermak, "are an atonement for Thompson's extravagance."

"Before he left office he spent all of the money necessary to run the city," Cermak charged, "and in addition some he had no right to spend."

It has not been wholly smooth going for the new mayor, despite his election by a tremendous majority, his firm grip on county as well as city government and his party control.

He caused consternation among city hall department heads by dismissing thousands. Then building up the city staff through a central employment bureau under his own direction, department managers had less to say about their subordinates.

Stimson Goes to Italy for Study of Financial Status

NAPLES, Italy, July 7. (AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson arrived from Palermo today en route to Rome and other European capitals to observe political conditions with respect to the world economic situation.

He was welcomed by American Ambassador John W. Garrett and Italian officials and was cheered by a considerable crowd. He was expected to leave shortly for Rome in order to begin conferences with Premier Mussolini and others by Thursday.

Mr. Stimson said on his arrival at Palermo that he had "come to Europe primarily for a vacation, but of course while I am here I expect to do a certain amount of observing and to form conclusions on conditions, political and otherwise."

His visit is linked in many quarters with that of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in Paris, and the presence of two American cabinet ministers on European soil at the same time is interpreted as having an important bearing on international moves to stimulate the recovery of commerce.

Woman Sells Oil Worth Million in East Texas Area

WICHITA FALLS, July 7. (AP)—W. J. Greene, president of the Faith Oil corporation of Wichita Falls, confirmed today reports that the Faith company had purchased leases on 1,400 acres of oil property in the East Texas field from Mrs. O. O. Hammonds of Oklahoma City for approximately $750,000, in cash and oil takings.

Mrs. Hammonds, governor's secretary and prominent figure in the political turmoil preceding the impeachment and removal of Henry S. Johnston as governor of Oklahoma a little more than two years ago, previously had made two less successful attempts to find fortune in the East Texas field. A wildcat test and a 4,000-acre lease operation in the John Lout survey in Gregg county, north of Longview, failed to bring in expected heavy returns.

The properties included in the present transfer were understood to include 600 acres in proven territory and 800 acres scattered over the northwestern trend of the area.

The Faith company also has producing properties and valuable leases in the Cooke county fields. Its offices are in Wichita Falls, with Greene as president; Roy B. Jones and E. H. Eddleman, vice-presidents.

Huss will carry a letter from Mayor Walker to the mayor of Portland and another from Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt to the governor of Oregon. "Old Scout" and Huss won the 1905 race by reaching Portland, Ore., in 44 days.

"Only large animals such as arap capable of bearing heavy burdens are to be purchased. Prices to be offered will be limited for select animals at $1.50 per head. Farm Youth Confesses Slaying of Merchant Who Refuses Him Loan

MONROE, La., July 7. (AP)—Dawson W. Crowson, 18-year-old farm boy, confessed to police today that he shot and killed Ira Castles, 60-year-old merchant with whom he was spending the night last night, and set fire to Castles' store after the aged man had refused to lend him $5 with which to buy his sweetheart a box of candy.

Crowson fled from the scene after the fatal shooting and firing of the store, but returned later to the smoking ruins to give himself up because, he explained, "there was no use trying to get out of it."

He said that after he and Castles retired to bed, they began arguing about the $5 loan and that he drew Castles' pistol from under the pillow and fired while the merchant begged for his life.

He said he then saturated the place with gasoline, ignited it and fled. Neighbors, aroused by the blaze, rescued Castles' body from the store as the place burned and notified the sheriff's office.

Crowson returned to the ruins after walking a little down the road. Questioned in the parish jail by Sheriff Milton Coverdale, he readily related details of the crime.

"I don't know what got into me to do all that," he was quoted as saying.

SUMMER SCHOOL IS TO CLOSE NEXT SATURDAY

Important Gathering Held at Methodist Church Last Night

EXAMINATIONS WILL BEGIN ON FRIDAY; NO EXERCISES TO BE HELD BUT TWO WILL GRADUATE

Vacation will begin for Pampa summer school students next Saturday. Examinations will be given Friday and Saturday, after which the boys and girls will not be required to return to school until Sept. 8, registration day for the fall classes.

L. L. Sone, manager of summer school and principal of high school, states that the enrollment is expected to be as great or greater next year than it was last year. Mr. Sone and Mrs. Annie Daniels have been the summer school teachers. They have been given some assistance in Spanish by Mrs. Sone. About 30 pupils took the summer school work, and the result of their efforts was unusually good, according to both Mr. Sone and Mrs. Daniels. With so few pupils they could give much personal attention to each boy and girl. Two pupils, Finley Barrett and Bob Gilliland, are completing the work necessary for high school graduation. Although there will be no graduation exercises, diplomas have been ordered for the boys and will be received shortly after the close of school.

STUDENTS WILL PLAY GOLF AS AUTUMN SPORT

A golf team for high school boys, and possibly one for girls, will be organized when school opens in the fall, according to Principal L. L. Sone. Those interested in playing are asked to communicate with Mr. Sone and to receive a card entitling them to reduced rates for practice during the summer. At present there is no limit to the number of students who may play, but in the fall a team will be selected from the best players to compete with teams of other cities.

Peruvian Troops Capture Town in Rebel Territory

LIMA, Peru, July 7. (AP) — The Peruvian government today announced the capture of the city of Cuzco, center of a revolt which has been in progress the past few weeks. The city was taken by the seventh infantry late yesterday after a defeat of the rebels at Huambulo, 20 miles away. The population of Cuzco, government reports said, hailed the victors who immediately started pursuit of the revolutionists. The rebels fled in disorder towards the jungle and government troops expected that operations would end shortly with the rebellion crushed. One of the most notable feats of the campaign was a forced march lasting eight days during which the third cavalry regiment crossed the Andes to reach the scene of the operations.

Rumors Circulated Found To Be False

Dame rumor dragged her tainted skirts through Pampa streets Saturday night and Sunday, leaving in her wake a number of stories that had no basis in fact. As one man said, "everybody was talking about it on the streets, Sunday."
One story had it that Sheriff Lon L. Blanscet shot a man; another version was that he shot at a man at LeFors and missed him. The truth was that the sheriff never had his gun out of his holster all day.
Another story that got started contained some rather horrible details of the death of a seven-year-old girl at LeFors, run down by a car. Thus far, this story has proved to be fiction, and bad fiction at that.

Revival Will Be Conducted Next August

The Methodist board of stewards, meeting at the church last evening, voted to hold a revival meeting from August 23 to September 6, and asked the pastor, the Rev. H. H. Johnson, to preach during that time. A singer also will be engaged for the occasion.
It was planned to make the meeting as far-reaching as possible. Rev. Johnson stated that although the meeting would be conducted at the Methodist church it would be for every Christian of the city. The purpose, he said, would not be church membership but would be to re-establish a heartfelt Christianity in the hearts of men.
Leaders Are Selected
The following intermediates gathered at the Methodist church yesterday to select leaders for the various departments of their work: Josephine Lane, Buck Mundy, Jack Boyington, Albert Bolander, Harriet Funkapillar, Marie Tinsley, and Florence Sue Dodson. The group also decided to entertain the Green Belt union with a large picnic on July 24. The place has not been selected.

THE MELODY GIRL

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beryl Borden hopes that a radio career will help her forget her hopeless love for Tommy Wilson who is engaged to her half-sister Irene. Young Prentiss Gaylord pays attention to Beryl until Irene learns he is rich and tries to win him. She succeeds and after a hasty wedding they depart for Gaylord's western home. In despair Tommy drinks heavily, loses his job, and joins evil companions.

Beryl develops throat trouble and catches more cold while seeking Tommy to beg him to leave the bootlegging gang. Her throat becomes worse and the doctor announces her singing days are over. When Tommy realizes she has made this sacrifice to save him he reforms, gets another job, and starts night courses to finish college. Then Irene comes home saying she has quarreled with Prentiss and is going to get a divorce. Beryl realizes that Irene is trying to win back Tommy's love. Mrs. Everett objects to Irene's receiving daily letters from Derry Meade.

change so easily." "Derry Meade! Are you calling me a fool?" "What if I am? But I'll tell you one thing. You're not going to make a fool out of me. How do you think I feel? People have been saying I broke up Gaylord's home." "Well, didn't you?" "I guess you had something to do with it. A man doesn't go all the way without some encouragement. I'd never have told you I was crazy about you if you hadn't said you were unhappy." "Oh, you wouldn't?" Irene scoffed. "How about that night at the Harmon's barn dance?" "Bad gin." "Of course. Lay it on the drinks. I might have known you'd make excuses!" "Well, I wasn't drunk when I told you I'd fallen for you, and I'm not drunk now. I'm of the stuff and I'm telling you I still love you. I don't want to hear any more talk about mistakes."

Irene goes back to Okadale to dispose of Derry and try to effect a reconciliation with Prentiss. She leaves the train at a suburban station and telephones Derry to meet her. While waiting Irene talks to a store clerk. He speaks guardedly when she mentions Prentiss and wonders if he has recognized her. Then Derry comes and they drive to a secluded spot to talk.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

Irene was not to learn that evening what it was that Derry Meade had to tell her that was so important. One reason for this was that Irene did not give him the opportunity. Another reason was that Asa Crewe telephoned Gaylord as soon as Irene and Derry disappeared and told Gaylord that his wife had been in the store.

Asa did not know of the condition Gaylord had imposed upon Irene and Derry but he did know that Irene was not supposed to be in Okadale and that her presence there meant trickery to his friend. Asa wasn't inclined to say who had been with Irene and Gaylord could guess easily enough and Asa saw no occasion to lie about it.

"Which way did they go?" Gaylord asked. "Toward town?" He meant toward Okadale. The river park lay in that direction from Old Town and Asa answered yes.

Then Gaylord began his search. In the meantime Irene and Derry had reached their destination, the semi-sheltered parking space in the park, and a heated conversation had begun. Irene tried to lead gradually to the subject of breaking their engagement but Derry's lovelick mind leaped ahead of her. He accused her of trying to bring him before she had actually spoken.

"I see," he said bitterly. "You've been thinking it over and you don't want to marry a poor man."

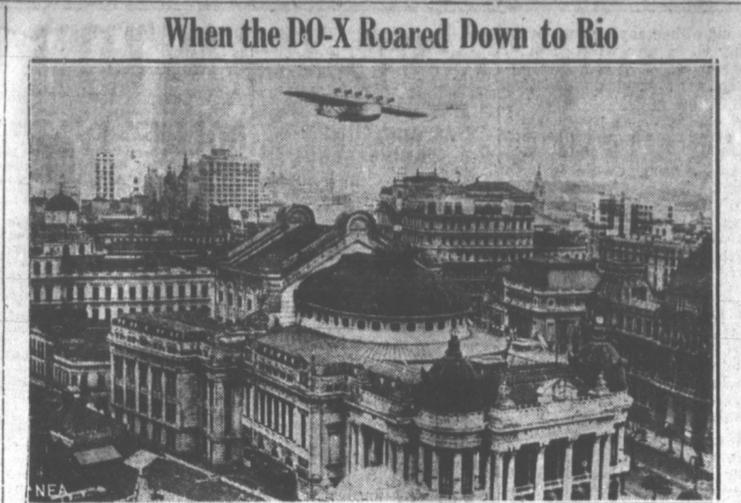

The words were accompanied by a puzzling smile. Irene hated having anyone assume a mysterious air and her annoyance with him grew.

"As far as that goes," she said haughtily. "Gaylord is something more than a rich man."

"Yeah?" Derry retorted. "Aren't you late inflicting it out? I thought she was the sort of fellow who was all right in business but a bum in married life. Seems to me I've heard you say he neglected you."

"If you choose to remember what I said when I was unhappy," Irene cut in, "it just proves that you wouldn't understand me any more than Gaylord did. I was a fool, that's what I was, but I've learned my lesson."

"Don't be so sure of that," Derry cautioned her. "People don't Swinging low over Rio de Janeiro, her twelve big motors roaring in triumphant salute, the Do-X, giant German seaplane, here is shown in a striking sky-line view just before it landed in the city's harbor. In the foreground is Rio's famous Municipal Theater. The flight from Switzerland had been marred by a number of mishaps, and had taken seven months and a half to complete. But more than 300,000 Brazilians turned out to accord the flying boat a tumultuous welcome.

Then he said soberly, "You're thru with me, aren't you?" Irene avoided his eyes. "Yeah, it's final all right," Derry continued. "I can see that. Well, I suppose I might as well tell you myself about what's happened to me. I'd rather like to see how you take it. First, there's just one question I want to ask you. Did you ever care anything at all for me—or were you playing with me all the time?" "Of course I cared for you," Irene insisted, "but caring isn't love, Derry. Maybe you'll find that out some day, too."

"I'll take your word for it," Derry assured her, "since you seem to know so much about love. I thought I loved you, but maybe I only cared for you."

Irene did not like to hear this and was not satisfied that the tone he used seemed to belie the words. It was too much like losing something that belonged to her.

"Don't be mean to me, Derry," she pleaded, suddenly becoming gentle again. "I didn't mean to hurt you."

Derry laughed. "Just like a loaded gun, huh? If anyone plays with you and gets hurt it's not your fault. Oh, no, not at all."

"I didn't ask you to fall in love with me," Irene reminded him. "No," he said bitterly, "you only did all you could to make me do it, that was all. You didn't need to ask me."

Irene hedged again. "Can't we come to an understanding?" she urged. "I'm getting cold."

"Of course we can," Derry agreed. "I'm satisfied. I just wanted to know that you cared a little for me. It will make it easier to believe that you wouldn't have thrown me over if I'd been able to offer you the things Gaylord can give you. I shouldn't blame you, I guess. It was asking an awful lot to expect you to be content with me after living in the Prentiss mansion. No, I shouldn't blame you."

Irene misunderstood. "I'm glad you see it that way at last, Derry. It would be awfully hard for you to try to support me in the manner I'm accustomed to. I have been thinking it over, as you said, and

Board Won't Budge From Sales Policy

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—The farm board stood by its wheat sales policy today during a two hour conference with Vice President Curtis and Senator Capper of Kansas but it did assure them it would not sell any of last year's surplus "at the present range of prices."

The two Kansans demanded that the board refuse to sell any of the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat carried over from last year until the price of this year's crop has reached 85 cents a bushel.

Irene looked at him in amazement. Derry'd never shown so much spirit before. What had come over him anyway?

"Dear me," she murmured sarcastically. "Aren't you impressive when you're giving orders!" "Never mind being smart! Just listen to me."

"Listen to you!" Irene flared at him. "It wouldn't make any difference what you said after calling me a fool, you conceited idiot!" "Conceited?" Derry echoed, not minding the "idiot."

"Yes, conceited. To think a girl could love you and not care for Gaylord. Just because he's rich—"

"Just because he's rich he's what you want, no matter how much you pretend otherwise. You don't give a snap of your fingers for him. You couldn't care for anyone, I guess."

Irene laughed. "Just because I've discovered that I don't care for you?"

Derry winced. "So you have discovered that?" he said fiercely. "It has nothing to do with the fact that I haven't any money?"

Irene looked at him disdainfully. "You will persist in your conceit," she said as though merely musing aloud.

Then Derry laughed. "My mother warned me what to expect," he remarked with his small degree of disgust. "Well, I wanted to do the right thing. You can laugh," he added unemotionally as Irene continued to smile. "Of course I love you, but I don't want to be known as a home wrecker."

Irene regarded him mockingly. "Haven't you found that it adds to your reputation?" she sneered.

Derry looked back at her, his eyes blazing with anger. "If all girls are like you," he said tensely, "I won't need a reputation."

Irene did not understand this but she chose to appear offended. "Derry Meade," she cried, "if you say another thing like that I'll slap your face!"

"I guess you don't quite understand," Derry said quietly, "but you will later and when you do you'll see that the joke's on you."

"You needn't try to excuse yourself by talking in riddles," Irene retorted. "If you ever speak to me again after today I'll—"

She paused on the verge of threatening him with punishment at the hands of her husband, but remembered in time that she had no right to that husband's protection. It was a faint hope that Gaylord would forgive her. She knew this and did not wish to risk a mistake.

"Do you intend to stay in Okadale?" Derry asked. "You said a while ago you weren't going to. What are you going to do, Irene? Did you come out here to tell me you've made up with Gaylord?"

"Never mind what I came for. I thought you were a gentleman, but now I'm not a bit sorry for you."

"You needn't be if you go back to Gaylord," Derry told her. "I suppose I could expect you might do that. But if I thought there was another man in the picture I'd wring your neck right now."

"You've become terribly ferocious since I went away, haven't you?" Irene taunted him. "What's come over you anyway?"

Derry looked at her thoughtfully.

George H. Copeland hitch hiked between Oklahoma City and Norman for three years to complete a law course in the state university. Schools for parents were held at Oklahoma City and Stillwater, Okla., this summer by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

What he said was even more surprising. "That'll do," he said. "I thought I loved you, but maybe I only cared for you."

Irene was not listening to him, compelling as his words were. She was looking down the road over which they had entered the park. Her face had suddenly whitened.

Derry followed her gaze when he saw that she was not listening. He recognized Gaylord's car just as Irene screamed her husband's name.

THE SMOOTHNESS OF AN EIGHT . . . THE ECONOMY OF A FOUR

WALTER P. CHRYSLER ANNOUNCES NEW PLYMOUTH FLOATING POWER . . . and FREE WHEELING

AND UP - F.O.B. FACTORY

To produce in 1931 an achievement in motor car design, engineering and pricing so revolutionary that it transcends every previous standard of quality, performance and value in the field of lowest price is to challenge the world.

That is precisely what the New Plymouth does.

For years, while designing fine Sixes and Eights for Chrysler, Dodge and DeSoto, Chrysler Motors engineers have worked unceasingly for the perfected Four.

Now they give you the results of their labors and discoveries—

The New Plymouth, a quality car of lowest price with the Smoothness of an Eight and the Economy of a Four—due to Plymouth's exclusive Floating Power.

Here is power unshackled, yet power as smooth as satin, as soft as velvet. Here is power without vibration—literally floating; power so silken that even experts could not name the number of cylinders under the Plymouth hood, and many guessed the New Plymouth to be an Eight.

Plymouth now also gives you Free Wheeling which makes it possible to shift gears between all forward speeds without declutching.

Besides Free Wheeling Plymouth offers a new Easy-Shift transmission which makes it possible to shift not only from second to high at speeds of 35 or 45 miles an hour but back into second at these speeds, when you need sudden acceleration, without clashing or grinding.

The new Plymouth engine develops 56 brake-test horsepower—with actual stop-watch speed of 65 to 70 miles per hour; pick-up from 0 to 40 miles in 9.7 seconds.

Among all cars in the lowest-price field, only Plymouth has weather-proof hydraulic brakes—simplest and unexcelled for safety and smoothness.

Chrysler Motors engineers have given Plymouth a double-drop frame. Plymouth has a still lower center of gravity, still greater safety, still greater riding ease, still finer style.

We believe the new Plymouth establishes in the field of lowest price a new degree of artistic advancement with new eye-compelling beauty of line and color.

Plymouth challenges with full-size Safety-Steel body, with wire wheels standard, with hydraulic shock absorbers. No feature of comfort, of reliability, of economy has been left out of the New Plymouth.

I am happy to extend to the entire motoring world a cordial welcome to see, to drive and to ride in the New Plymouth, and to invite comparison between this exceptional product of Chrysler Motors engineering and any car in the world at or near its price.

CREDIT UNIONS STAND THE TEST

Meeting public attention is the credit union plan authorized by the legislature of this state back in 1913. The credit union is a co-operative organization in which members purchase shares, usually at $5, and pay as low as 25 cents per week on them. Loans and dividends are paid to members only. Risks are held down through limitation of the union's membership to a small group, usually in a single firm.

The obvious value of the credit union plan is to make small sums available at reasonable interest rates to persons who might not have bank credit for such purposes. The small emergency loan is not sought by the average bank, but the loan shark make high capital out of it. The system deserves wider extension and intensive study by small groups.

A credit magazine says: "A credit union is a common pool of funds by a group of workers or small farmers who manage the pool (under the rules contained in the law and under state supervision), using it to create credit resources in times of credit necessity at fair rates of interest, for those who have contributed to the pool or who join it, with the earnings which result from the loans reverting to members of the pool in dividends and surplus. There are credit union laws in thirty-two states with approximately twelve hundred or so credit unions, well scattered throughout these states. Their combined resources total about forty-five million dollars, and they do an annual small loan business of about sixty-five million dollars. The unions are holding up remarkably well under the adversity of the depression—which should recommend them.

The cooperative feature of the system creates better business thinking and tends to adapt man's collective effort to man's collective good.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, July 7. (NEA).—The man at the American end of the trans-Atlantic telephone during the debt suspension negotiations with France is Undersecretary of State William R. Castle, a tall, spare aristocrat who came from the bottom right up to the top among our diplomats.

During the most critical moments of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's conversations in Paris Secretary of State Stimson was on high seas, bound not for France, but Italy. Castle was at the helm in the department, in close touch with President Hoover across the street at the White House.

These relative positions at such a time caused some comment, centering on the fact that Hoover and Castle are very good friends and that Castle is both smooth and popular in his handling of both foreign diplomats and the newspaper correspondents who have been keeping the world advised to the plans and reactions of this government. Correspondents, at least, find that the legal-minded Mr. Stimson is likely to talk all around his subject when he can be persuaded to talk at all, whereas the pleasant, genial Mr. Castle can make things reasonably plain to them without either saying any more than he wants to say or giving them any wrong steers, and a slight Harvard accent which might well be strong. Castle speaks rather softly, with great deliberation or considering the many years he spent at Harvard University doing one thing and another. He wears white suits in summer as do most other upper officials—not including Hoover, who affects blue coat and white flannels—in Washington during this season. Castle is both socially and officially important. His favorite playmate is Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania. The two men have built similar houses side by side, sharing a common garden, on the same small section of S street occupied by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's home and the house Hoover had when he was secretary of commerce.

Castle's favorite hobby is swimming, his favorite swimming is in the waters of Bermuda and his favorite swimming and sun-bathing costume is his bare skin. He swims in town at the Racquet club and sometimes motorboats down the well-known Potomac river. Lately, being on this end of the wire from Paris and conferring with European ambassadors and President Hoover continually he has had no time for swimming.

He is the descendant of New England and missionary stock. He was born in 1878, a subject of King Kalakaua, because his grandfather had gone there in 1896 as financial secretary of the American Board of Missions. Castle's father, after serving in Joseph H. Choate's law firm in New York, had become attorney general of Hawaii, later Hawaiian minister to Washington and then an annexation commissioner to 1893.

His understanding of people, his ability to make them like him, and perhaps the acknowledged finesse with which he operates as a diplomat, were first demonstrated as he handled undergraduates at Harvard.

The war brought him here and he organized for the Red Cross a bureau for prisoner relief and search for missing men. His office became an important one, with about 3000 employes here and in the camps.

DEBTS—

All other nations affected previously had signified their acceptance.

Dramatic Moment
The protocol of the accord was initiated in the red drawing room of the ministry of the interior by Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Ambassador Walter E. Edge, representing the United States, and by Premier Pierre Laval, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, Finance Minister Pierre Poincaré, and other officials representing France.

As Mr. Mellon started to affix his initials the pen broke at "A. W." and Premier Laval smilingly handed him another. When all was done Mr. Laval grasped Mr. Edge's hand with emotion and Mr. Edge replied with a "merci beaucoup." Glasses of champagne and orangeade graced the conference table.

The text of the agreement lists the following chief stipulations:

- 1. Payment of intergovernmental debt is postponed from July 1, 1931, through June 30, 1932.
- 2. Germany will pay the unconditional annuity of the Young plan to the Bank for International Settlements which in turn will reloan it to her.
- 3. The suspended payments will be subject to interest and will be repayable in 10 annual installments beginning July 1, 1933.

Premier Laval issued a statement pointing out that France had safeguarded her interests but had extended the olive branch to Germany.

"It is an adhesion which consecrates a heavy sacrifice for our country," he said. "It will be understood that the government wished to maintain that Franco-American solidarity which is a condition of international cooperation more than ever necessary for peace."

"It will be observed that the government has not allowed France's sacred right to reparations to be limited."

"Confidence Is Born"
"If from the accord confidence is born again in the world, our gesture will not have been in vain. And if in Germany the bearing and sense of our generous attitude is understood, a new era should open for the two peoples."

Mr. Mellon and Mr. Edge collaborated on a statement expressing similar sentiments.

The American negotiators express to the American public their happiness on this occasion. They said, "and their appreciation of the generous efforts of the French gov-

About New York

NEW YORK—Crede of a looker on about New York:

The average New Yorker would increase his self-respect, I believe, if he were less snobbish toward his fellows and more scornful of tip-greedy servants.

Native New Yorkers, I find, are quite bearable, but woefully ignorant of the geography or life of the American mainland.

Individual examples of the vaunted architecture of Manhattan, such as any new downtown skyscraper, are impressive alone, but their crowding together tends only to obscure their beauty. In other words, such would be more effective on a barren plain.

Cars and Cabs
Traffic has reached a saturation point, so that travel afoot or in motor is equally uncomfortable. There are too many taxicabs on dry days and too few in rain storms.

Wall street has more beautiful girls than Fifth avenue, and the fashion models' colony around Park avenue and Sixtieth street more than Broadway.

Charles Spencer Chaplin, I regard as the greatest movie comic, Al Jolson as the greatest mummy-singer and Dorothy Parker a superlative poet and wit, but I deplore the adulation of their respective cuts.

I see no hope for noise abatement and believe the rowdy night club is definitely out of the picture.

Playgoing, I believe, suffers from the difficulty of buying tickets at a reasonable price and a minimum of effort. But I think the pleasure of seeing and hearing Katharine Cornell is worth the hardship of going there.

Burlesque theaters have become a dubious delight.

Gramercy park remains the most charming bit of old New York to me, but I should prefer an apartment on Central park.

Long Island, Grant's tomb and the subway bore me.

The glitter of Times Square remains as thrilling as when I first gazed on its spectacle of leaping lights. I am refreshed every time I see J. P. Morgan's formal lawn, Central Park South at dusk, or the Hudson from a Riverside drive bus-top.

Personal Power
Success here, I believe, is a combination of ingenuity, ability and the "breaks". The despair of mediocrity, on the other hand, is nowhere more hopeless.

It seems to me that the average New Yorker lives in luxury out of keeping with his income, and scarcely appreciates the grandeur of his surroundings.

Greenwich Village impresses me

MAN KILLED—

After the shooting and fell down a 20-foot embankment into bushes where she covered as the slayers fled from the scene.

Miss Artie was found in an almost exhausted condition on the new, northwest highway nearly two miles from the point.

Walked Around Car
The woman said Lewis jumped from the automobile as the first command of the men. As he walked around in front of his machine, Lewis was again ordered to "stick 'em up." Miss Artie dropped to the seat as the men opened fire and did not see Lewis fall or run, she declared. The body was found about 15 feet from the car.

After the slayers drove away, Miss Artie said she scrambled up the embankment to the car. She called twice to Lewis but received no answer.

"I knew he was dead," she said. "I could not bear to look towards him and I was so frightened I hardly remember anything except that I switched off the lights of the car and ran. I ran until I could no longer run and then walked as fast as I could. I continued down the road until the officers picked me up."

Went Best Riding
Miss Artie said she and Lewis went to Lake Worth about midnight for a motorboat ride. After they returned they entered Lewis' car as passed in this penthouse period. Park avenue, however, seems too formal and therefore inhospitable.

Foreign restaurants, I believe, are attractive only to visitors and non-housekeeping couples with jaded appetites. I suspect many speak-casies would fail without their kitchens.

Whoopee joints in the Broadway belt strike me as stupid spots and I have no desire to dine in any of the numerous Chinese restaurants.

Because of the impermanence of life in New York, I expect always to be enthralled by it, in the same way that pavement children enjoy the Coney Island sidewalk, as a freak of modern civilization.

and she drove slowly to Inspiration Point, she said. As she drove off the Roberts cutoff road on to the trail leading to the shelter house stop the knoll she noticed a car on another trail parked with its lights burning. No sooner had the couple stopped than the other machine drove up behind them, she said. Through the rear view mirror, Miss Artie saw two men in the other machine, she told officers.

Investigators advanced a theory that the Lake Worth murder was committed by the same robbers believed responsible for three similar slayings in Dallas recently. In each of the Dallas slayings the victim was shot down by holdup men.

JIM ELLIOTT IS POISON TO OLD MATES

Turns Robbins Back Five Out of Seven Times; Hal Lee Also Remembers.

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

It still is a matter of conjecture whether the Brooklyn Robins got the better of the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday by parading Jim Elliott and two other players in exchange for Lefty O'Doul and Fresco Thompson.

At any rate, it would appear that the jovial Uncle Robbie made a tactical error in turning Elliott over to a club in the same league. Since joining the Phillies the big fellow has pitched fine ball against all comers, but he has been particularly poisonous to his former mates. But for the treatment they have received at Elliott's hands, the Robins would be in the thick of the National league pennant fight today.

Wins Fifth Time

Facing his former pals yesterday for the seventh time this year, Elliott turned in his fifth victory over the flock, 5 to 3. He held them to six hits, four of which came in the last three innings, and was their master all the way. Hal Lee, who accompanied Big Jim to Philadelphia, also took a healthy snap at his former comrades in the form of a home run with one on. Buzz Arlett drove in the other three Phillies runs with a home run and a double.

There seems to be a law, incidentally, against the Robins winning six straight. Yesterday marked the fourth time this season they have met defeat after a run of five consecutive victories. The reverse cost them a virtual tie with the Giants for third place, as rain held the McGrawmen idle at Boston.

The St. Louis Cardinals went into the final inning one down to the Chicago Cubs, but they emerged with a 5 to 3 victory. A double by Sparky Adams and successive doubles by Jim Collins and Wally Reetger scored two runs and defeated Bob Smith. Five curvers worked for the league leaders.

Rain Stopped It

Washington and Philadelphia, meeting in the second game of their righthander, yielded only five hits might have been battling yet but for a downpour that cleared the diamond in the last of the eighth. Neither Rube Walberg, the champion star southpaw, nor Bump Hadley had allowed a run up to that time, and they were getting stronger all the time.

The Cleveland Indians went on another scoring rampage to square their series with Detroit, 13 to 4.

Vic Fraser, the White Sox rookie righthander, held only five hits and struck out nine batters in subduing the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3.

Rain interfered with the Yankees-Red Sox encounter at New York.

Life Termer Is Granted Parole

London Holds Position as World's Biggest City; New York Has Basis for Bigger Total Outside Limits

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—The population race of the world's great cities continues at a staggering pace. London, which has just counted its metropolitan population at more than 8,000,000, retains its world lead, with New York not far behind for the city proper, although far ahead on the basis of its own metropolitan area.

Berlin remains in third place; Chicago is fourth and Paris fifth, although the metropolitan population of the French capital is larger than that of Chicago.

The five leading cities on the basis of new census figures, are: Greater London, 8,202,818; New York City, 6,981,918; Berlin, 4,290,000; Chicago, 3,376,438; Paris (within walls) 2,871,039.

While the cities themselves have added hundreds of thousands of inhabitants in the last decade, even more startling is the growth of the metropolitan areas. For instance, Chicago suburbs are growing at a rate higher than that of the city proper.

Paris within the walls counts only 2,871,039, but the population outside the fortifications numbers 2,616,425 or a total of 4,487,464 for the metropolitan district.

New York City, restricted to the population of the five boroughs of Manhattan, Queens, Brooklyn, Richmond, and the Bronx, trembled on the verge of 7,000,000 in the 1930 census. The New York metropolitan area, however, including portions of New Jersey and Connecticut and corresponding more nearly to what is known as Greater London, numbers 11,000,000.

Across the Hudson from New York and in close communication with the heart of the city than some of the outlying territory of the five boroughs, lies a network of New Jersey communities with a population of more than 2,000,000, while Long Island, outside of the city limits, and Westchester county to the north of the Bronx, and the shore territory up into Connecticut, are the homes of hundreds of thousands of commuters. New York City, in fact, is a metropolis in three states.

Gilchrist Says Highway 66 Will Be Paved Soon

Assurance that a contract to pave 17 miles on U. S. highway No. 66 in precinct No. 4, on the present route, would be let, July 30, was given today by Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer. In a meeting with county commissioners here today.

Mr. Gilchrist, in discussing the road building program in Gray county with the commissioners, said that the county would be required to furnish right-of-way on highway No. 33, east of Pampa.

Letting of the contract on No. 66 has been hanging fire for almost a year. Two months ago, Commissioner M. M. Newman was informed that the present route would have to be changed before the road could be paved. Mr. Gilchrist said today that the present road would be paved.

Mr. Gilchrist was accompanied by J. W. Van Landon and P. S. Bailey, district engineers, both of Amarillo. The meeting took place in Judge S. D. Stennis' office and lasted only a few minutes.

The engineers are making a highway inspection of Panhandle roads.

Rockefeller Will Reach 92 Tomorrow—and Keep Working

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, emperor of oil, will be 92 tomorrow and his birthday schedule will observe the old adage: "Business before pleasure."

Arising early, the elderly capitalist is expected to spend an hour or so in the forenoon at work with a secretary.

Despite his age, Mr. Rockefeller's health was described by his representatives as "excellent." Although his labors of former years are now in large part transferred to other shoulders, he likes to keep in touch with the multitudinous affairs of the Rockefeller interests.

If the weather is fine, his representatives said, he'll probably play a round of golf and take his daily motor ride through his far-flung estate at Pocantico hills. In the evening there will be a birthday dinner for just the members of his family, including his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., and the grandchildren.

New Plymouth, With Innovations in Mechanics, Is Displayed Here

The new Plymouth automobile is being displayed here and demonstrated by Clauson Motor company and Blair Motor company.

The new Plymouth is radically different from all cars in one very fundamental aspect. It embodies a new engineering principle which has been called floating power, and which, it is stated, eliminates all feeling of engine vibration in the new Plymouth.

In floating power the Plymouth engineers developed a two-point (front and rear only) suspension, allowing the engine to rock or oscillate freely and thus dissipate its own vibration. Such thick blocks of rubber serve not only as pivots at the mounting points, but also as cushions.

The elasticity of the rubber serves both to give freedom to motion of the engine as a mass and to limit that motion. Necessary contact of rubber to metal is achieved as the result of bonding the rubber to the metal. The rubber is thus not compressed and its full elasticity is utilized.

The suspension points—the front one at almost the highest position to which the mounting could be applied, and the rear mounting below the crankshaft axis—suspend the engine in perfect balance. An engine thus suspended in balance does not tend to vibrate so much, it is said, and actually tends to nullify the effect of torque reaction.

Free Wheeling Standard In every car torque reaction tends to swing the engine to the right side so a further check on motion in this direction is created by the placing of a cantilever spring, which extends from the rear of the engine block to the right side of the frame, much like the arm of a lever-type shock absorber extends from its mounting to the axle of a car. The spring only functions at the instant of accelerating or starting, the elasticity of the rubber and the balance of the engine providing complete and adequate stabilizing for all constant speed running.

Combined with floating power in the new Plymouth is the industry's recent innovation—free wheeling—as standard equipment. Free wheeling is an accredited development. It is, however, an unlooked for thing that it should so quickly be incorporated in standard specifications of any car in the lowest price field.

The Plymouth free wheeling unit provides for direct control whereby you can either avail yourself of free wheeling or drive the car as if it did not carry this unit. Control is as simple as the operation of the choke button. With Plymouth free wheeling the driver can free-wheel in all forward speeds and can shift speeds forward without using his clutch pedal.

Shifted, also, is refined in the new Plymouth by the design of the new transmission. It is called Easy-Shift transmission, because it permits shifting from second to high and back again at 35 or 40 miles per hour without clash of gears.

This new car also provides for the first time in a low-priced car, the lowness and superior riding comfort of a double-drop (or drop center) frame. By means of this frame the car's center of gravity is brought very close to the ground. The general appearance of the car is improved thereby, because length and lowness are always considered essential to good looks in an automobile; also, with the low center of gravity dangers of fast driving on winding roads are greatly reduced.

Oklahoma Field Leads Oil Hike

TULSA, Okla., July 7. (AP)—Heavily increased production in the Oklahoma City field paved the way for a gain of 37,954 barrels in the country's daily average crude oil output last week, the Oil and Gas Journal reports, estimating the total for the United States at 2,483,426 barrels.

The Oklahoma City field's production jumped to 214,445 barrels, an increase of 58,985 barrels over the preceding week's figure. The total for Oklahoma was placed at 590,980 barrels, an increase of 47,210 barrels.

East Texas showed a decline of 7,732 barrels with an output of 351,972 barrels.

The Midcontinent total was 1,547,564 barrels, a gain of 42,028 barrels. Included was an increase of 1950 barrels in Kansas, boosting that state's yield to 102,300 barrels.

Eastern production was down 2,500 barrels at 108,000 barrels.

The Rocky Mountain area produced 88,961 barrels, an increase of 1,704 barrels.

California production totaled 507,750 barrels, a decrease of 2,500 barrels.

NO INDICTMENTS RETURNED IN FEE INVESTIGATION

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—After an investigation of six days, a special Travis county grand jury impaneled to inquire into alleged excessive monetary claims of county officials over the state reported yesterday without returning any indictments.

The grand jury had been summoned by C. A. Wheeler, district judge, at the request of the senate investigating committee. Unconfirmed reports had been that the committee had uncovered excessive to indictments of two or more sheriff- mileage payments which might lead to an accredited development.

It is, however, an unlooked for thing that it should so quickly be incorporated in standard specifications of any car in the lowest price field. The Plymouth free wheeling unit provides for direct control whereby you can either avail yourself of free wheeling or drive the car as if it did not carry this unit.

Control is as simple as the operation of the choke button. With Plymouth free wheeling the driver can free-wheel in all forward speeds and can shift speeds forward without using his clutch pedal.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY, NEA Service Writer.

Frozen desserts always are greeted with delight and they are so easy to make that it seems advisable to use them often during the warm weather.

Plain ice cream and ices can be given to small children without any fear of ill effect, provided the frozen mixture is eaten slowly. Small bites on the tip of the spoon, and not too close together prevent small tummies from being chilled by the cold dessert.

If you can freeze your dessert in an electric refrigerator so much the better, for you save the time and effort of crushing ice. But it is not a very arduous task to crush ice, and there are many mixtures which can be frozen without turning a crank.

Slow Freezing Preferable Slow, steady freezing rather than much and vigorous stirring gives ice cream its smooth texture. It is usually hurried freezing instead of stirring or not stirring that is responsible for a coarse, granular ice cream, although the amount of cream used in the recipe also has much to do with the texture of the frozen mixture.

The smaller the amount of salt used in freezing a mixture the more velvety the texture, too. This of course lengthens the time required for freezing.

In the case of mixtures frozen in electric refrigerators—mousses and parfaits and mixtures which ordinarily are allowed to stand undisturbed until frozen—the refrigerator makes a perfect substitute for the freezer. However, a smooth ice cream cannot be obtained unless the recipe is adapted to this method of freezing.

The addition of a small amount of gelatine helps to prevent the formation of crystals and frequent stirring of the mixture as it freezes breaks up the ice flakes. Since milk contains water which naturally crystallizes when it freezes, mixtures containing a large percentage of cream are of perfect texture, but they are more expensive, to make and are too rich for many persons.

Mixtures sometimes fail to freeze in electric refrigerators if they are too sweet or contain too much egg, gelatine or starch. Of course the temperature of your refrigerator also may be the cause of the failure.

Gelatine should be added in the proportion of 1 teaspoonful to each cup of liquid. This gives body to the mixture and is a means toward preventing the formation of ice crystals.

Junket, cornstarch and flour also can be used. If flour or cornstarch is used, care must be taken that they are well cooked before the mixture is frozen—Minute Tapioca also is used as a thickening agent.

Vanilla Ice Cream

Two cups milk, 2 teaspoons gelatine, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 cups whipping cream, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon vanilla.

Soak gelatine five minutes in one tablespoon cold water. Heat milk and sugar. Heat to the boiling point, stirring to be sure sugar is dissolved. Add softened gelatine and stir until this is dissolved. Pour over slightly beaten eggs and cook this mixture over hot water until it coats a metal spoon. Cool and add cream whipped until stiff, salt and vanilla. Turn into freezing tray or cranksless freezer and freeze until firm. If a cranksless freezer is used, pack in eight parts ice to one part salt.

Serve plain or with a sauce. Serves ten persons.

It may interest you to know that I was able to detect a very definite difference in the irritant qualities of the treated and untreated cigarettes. Several tests were made, not only on myself, but others as well, and we experienced little difficulty in selecting the treated or irradiated cigarettes as distinctly less irritating to the mucous membrane of the nose and pharynx than the control or untreated cigarettes."
