TERRORISM IN OHIO CHARGED BY ATTORNEY

WOMEN AND CHILDREN BEATEN, CLAIMS PRESSMAN

CLEVELAND, July 7 (AP)—Republic Steel Corp. plants here hammered today under national guard bayonets as Lee Pressman, general counsel for CIO steel strikers, charged that "a state of brutal terrorism" prevails on the Ohio strike front.

"New steel by Friday," predicted Republic plant officials. Smoke streams from three Republic units after the last of a series of back-to-work thrusts in defiance of John L. Lewis' cohorts.

Republic's Steel & Tubes, Inc. is scheduled to reopen tomorrow.

Pickets were limited to 12 at each plant gate. Nearly 1,000 troops were here to restore order.

"This is the beginning of the end of John L. Lewis," said H. G. Ellison, Upon superintendent. "They'll never get these men out on strike again."

Rep'd B. J. Bamich, field director of the CIO-affiliated steel workers' organizing committee.

Army of Occupation. "The attempt to reopen Republic was a complete failure. When the public realizes only the foremen and bosses are in the plants it will insist that the military be withdrawn."

Pressman, at Canton, Ohio, asserted in a formal statement that the Ohio national guard "has made itself a veritable army of occupation" in the Ohio sector of the seven-state steel strike, launched May 26 for signed bargaining contracts.

"Men, women and children have been beaten, homes raided and searched," declared Pressman.

The situation was apparently in stalemate at Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company's Indiana Harbor, Ind., plant. J. C. Argelander, company vice president and general manager, emerged from a four hour conference with Governor M. Clifford Townsend at Indianapolis and said: "Our position is unchanged."

"Our plant at Indiana Harbor," said Argelander, "will be reopened at such time as our employees and their families are afforded adequate legal protection. We are not signing anything with anybody."

Indictments Returned. Deputy sheriffs at Youngstown, Ohio, started a list of participants on 200 steel strikers and sympathizers named in indictments returned by the Mahoning county grand jury yesterday.

Those indicted included Bob Burke, who was expelled from Columbia university last year after participating in an anti-Nazi demonstration at the home of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

Burke, recently ousted SWOC organizer, was charged with rioting in connection with the pitched Youngstown battle between officers and strikers June 12—in which two pickets were killed.

At Warren, Ohio, the Trumbull county grand jury went into session to receive evidence concerning charges against seven men seized in connection with strike bombings. Among those held was Gus Hall, another deposed CIO organizer.

At Johnstown, Pa., where Bethlehem Steel Corporation's huge Cambria plant is located, police arrested two men in connection with attempted dynamiting in a strike on the Conemaugh & Black Lick railroad, Bethlehem subsidiary.

AMARILLOANS ROBBED OF AUTO AT DALLAS

DALLAS, July 7 (AP)—A roundup of vagrants was ordered today as officers started a widespread manhunt for the robber who killed Samuel Lester Nelson, sr., 51, at his store and filling station last night.

Nelson was slain when he resisted an attempted robbery.

Search for the slayer and a companion gained new impetus early today when two poorly-dressed white men, with handkerchiefs over their faces, took a sedan from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee of Amarillo.

The couple with their 13-month-old son had parked about midnight. They were enroute home from a vacation trip in Houston.

I Heard . . .

That Pampa will soon have one of the best 11-piece orchestras in the country. It will be a home talent orchestra with a man experienced in orchestra work.

Included will be a veteran drummer with $700 worth of equipment, a banjo artist from a major station and several other top performers. Rehearsals are now in full swing and the orchestra will be ready by September, or earlier.

Meet Rufe Davis, the muggler, whose "rubber" features, it is feared, may be his fortune. After spending his early years chopping cotton in Oklahoma, Rufe decided to put a new face on life—somewhat like the one shown here.

Eventually he landed on Broadway, and by keeping a stiff upper lip (see illustration), he was becoming a colossal figure in a mild sort of way in some of the little late spots. Then the movie scouts caught up with him.

In his first film role, Rufe proved that he knew all the wrinkles of the job. The part was in "Mountain Music," and this is how he faced it. There was so much contagion in his conviction that he had some patrons doubled up laughing.

Then Rufe went on a tour, but did an about-face to take a part in a new film, in which he cuts a fancy figure—in fact, a figure "B", as you can see. And if you don't believe Rufe has something there, just try it!

Sailors Leave Sea to Learn More About It

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Ruddy-faced mariners, men with the taste of salt spray on their tongues, started to school here today to learn something new about the sea.

The machine age had caught up with them.

Versed in the art of navigating when neither sun nor moon show their faces and water comes over their heads like the wrath of Satan, they nevertheless drew up their chairs and wet the ends of their pencils to decipher the mysteries of automatic sailing.

In the last 14 years more than 8,000 of their kind have gone to school at a commercial instrument company, one of three of its kind in the United States, to fathom the workings of the gyro compass and the gyro plot.

Branch schools are maintained at San Francisco and Cleveland.

They walk in with that rolling gait peculiar to men whose feet know the pitch and roll of ships' planking, and they walk out two weeks later with crisp certificates of graduation tucked in their pockets, masters of those gadgets which symbolize this new age of mechanistic living.

The gyro, or gyroscope, has introduced a new technique of navigation to the bridges of ships the world over.

The seaman's gyro compass is used to determine true north as against magnetic north, which varies widely in many parts of the world. Mariners must correct their calculations on magnetic north; they do not have to correct for the gyro compass north.

The gyro pilot is a mechanical helmsman.

RED CROSS TO SPONSOR FREE SWIM COURSES

Courses in swimming and life-saving will be offered free, beginning tomorrow, to residents here by the local Red Cross chapter.

The instruction will be given by Tommy Atkins who has just returned from Brownwood where he qualified as a Red Cross life-saving examiner and as a life instructor in first aid. Mr. Atkins attended the state-wide Red Cross first aid and water safety school conducted at Brownwood by National Red Cross staff officers from June 28 through July 3.

Mr. Atkins will resume life-saving instruction at the swimming pool at 5 o'clock this afternoon, teaching both junior and senior groups. More than two weeks ago the courses several weeks ago.

Tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock Mr. Atkins will begin a swimming class for children from 8 to 12 years old, and at 8 o'clock will teach adults from 12 years of age and older. Each class will last one hour. No charge will be made to students in either the life-saving or swimming classes. The only charge will be admission to the pool.

"It is each citizen's patriotic duty to learn how to swim," Mr. Atkins said. "The National Red Cross points out that the best way to lower the huge number of drowning fatalities is to see to it that Americans know how to swim and how to use life-saving methods. People drown here the same as any place else, and Pampans should take advantage of this opportunity."

STATEWIDE OIL AND GAS HEARING CALLED

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—The Railroad commission today called a statewide oil and gas hearing for July 19.

Such hearings are held monthly preliminary to setting new allowable. Six months the nominations by purchasing companies, to give a line on probable requirements, were called for as usual.

In addition, the commission announced evidence on rules for the West Beaumont and Midway fields, in Jefferson and San Patricio counties, would be received.

The West Beaumont hearing will be especially concerned with a request for an increased allowable and a proposed classification of different producing horizons.

A hearing on rules for the Killam pool in Webb county was postponed from July 14 to July 20.

HITLER FLAYS BINGHAM FOR 4TH ADDRESS

BERLIN, July 7 (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter intensified a bitter attack today on Robert Bingham, United States ambassador to London, in his Independence Day speech on despots and dictatorships. The diplomat's speech to the American society in London was characterized here as an "arrogant and ignorant" attempt to tell foreign nations how to manage their own affairs.

The Hitler paper's attack came after a similar editorial in the government-controlled weekly Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung had charged Bingham's speech "incited the so-called democracies against the so-called dictatorships in almost unbelievable fashion."

The Boebachter particularly assailed the U. S. envoy for his assertion: "Britain and America tried to lead the people of the world into the paths of peace, but they would not follow."

Hitler's mouthpiece recalled that both he and Premier Mussolini of Italy repeatedly had emphasized Nazism and Fascism were not for export.

"If therefore, there can be any talk of defending anything, then obviously it is only the defense of our ideals which were happy and prosperous while dictatorships were unhappy and bankrupt."

It suggested that France, plagued by internal financial crises, must be particularly happy now, and that "Mr. Bingham's homeland can feel equally happy and satisfied notwithstanding its troops are primarily occupied with holding down the working classes which for almost a year have been passing their time with an endless chain of strikes, some of which have been decidedly violent."

The paper ridiculed the ambassador's assertion that it was democracies which were happy and prosperous while dictatorships were unhappy and bankrupt.

BIG GAINS IN BANK DEPOSITS HERE SHOWN

WHEAT HARVEST CASH HAS NOT YET COME IN

Bank deposits in Pampa at the close of business June 30, 1937, when the federal bank call was made, totaled $3,347,600.97. It was revealed today.

This is an increase of $175,919.15 over the March 31 figures when the previous call was made.

A year ago, June 30, 1936, deposits at the Pampa bank amounted to $2,887,684.50, which, compared with the report just released, shows a gain during the past year of $459,936.38.

When the call was taken, the wheat harvest in this section had not started. The flood of harvest cash into the bank will not be as great as in past years, it is believed, because of a light crop but the increase in the price being paid this year over the last few years is expected to almost offset the smaller production.

The Itasca methodically scanned the area 300 nautical miles in each direction while the Swan covered a strip 15 miles wide by 240 miles long.

The battleship Colorado, speeding toward an early morning meeting with the coast guard cutter Itasca, planned to release its three deck planes late today for the first aerial search of the area which holds the fate of Miss Earhart and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan.

The two vessels expected to meet around dawn (12:30 p. m. EST) within 100 miles of Howland to refuel the staunch cutter, which had carried on the search virtually alone since last Friday.

Reports early today indicated good weather would be experienced throughout the day in the Howland vicinity. The refueling and replenishing of the Itasca's water supply were expected to start as soon as the cutter was contacted by the Colorado, and to be completed in about seven hours.

The ships will proceed into the area east and south of Howland, the Colorado preceded by her fast planes.

More aid from the air was expected over the week-end from the glider aircraft carrier Lexington, speeding from California toward a refueling at Lahaina Roads, Hawaii, where she was expected by 8 p. m. (EST) tomorrow.

Leaving San Diego Sunday with three destroyers, the $40,000,000 Lexington was speeding at 33 knots yesterday, a knot and a half below top speed, but a full knot faster than the Atlantic record set by the palatial liner Normandie.

Another dash southward of more than 1,500 miles lay ahead of the Lexington before she could send a brood of 57 planes into an arial search for the missing round-the-world flier.

Shifting of the search to the south of Howland followed suggestions from coast guard officials in San Francisco, who conferred with Miss Earhart's husband, George Plumer Putnam, a growing belief among other searching agencies, and a check of the last available radio messages while the ill-fated plane was in the air.

Officials agreed that Miss Earhart, if she sent any of the maze of unexplained radio distress signals which have spurred the search five days, must be marooned on land or on a reef above water, because her radio would not operate otherwise.

Final Report Recalled. The cutter Itasca reported a portable radio direction finder set up

WHEAT PRICES AT HIGH PEAK

With little wheat being received and it testing between 48 and 60, local elevators posted a price of $1.09 a bushel today for a new high since the days of 1928.

It was estimated at noon today that not more than 7,000 bushels of the golden grain had been received by local elevators. Heaton elevators reported several loads and Kingsmill also was on the receiving end of some grain.

Farmers delivering to elevators this morning reported the wheat terribly wet and that cutting probably would have to be delayed until Friday or Saturday. Weeds and grasshoppers tended to cut down the test on that received.

The yield on fields started ranged from three to seven bushels to the acre with the average about four bushels.

Cutting of barley and oats is under way with it impossible to start on most of the wheat yield.

VALIDITY OF CHAIN STORE TAX ATTACKED

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Attorneys for operators attacked validity of the Texas chain store tax before the Supreme court today.

The high tribunal had before it an opinion by the Dallas Civil Appeals court upholding legality of the measure although collection of the impost had been enjoined.

Attack on the law centered largely on the method of classification of stores which, attorneys argued, was based only upon the number under common control or ownership with no consideration of location or type of merchandise sold.

They declared one independent store could do a much larger business than many units of a chain although the tax on the former would be relatively small. The tax rate per store graduated upward, depending upon the number of stores.

State's attorneys planned to argue the method of taxation was a valid legislative function.

CITY LAKE SPILLWAY TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Construction of the spillway at the city lake at Recreation Park east of the city will begin soon, it was agreed following a conference last night between city commissioners and George Lighter and Harry C. Lesche of the Amarillo district office of the Works Progress administration.

The city commissioners agreed to move about 5,000 yards of dirt necessary for the spillway with the WPA furnishing all material and labor, including extra labor needed to move the dirt which will be used to add two feet to the height of the dam, reinforce the dam and build roads.

The spillway will be 40 by 150 feet and constructed with reinforced concrete and will be in the form of a dip at the east end of the dam. Commissioners approved current bills for payment.

RIOTING BREAKS OUT COVINGTON, Va., July 7 (AP)—

Fistfights broke out and two automobiles were overturned today as several hundred pickets blocked attempts to reopen the Industrial Ray Corporation's plant, strikebound for 14 weeks.

"When the highest tribunal in the land sees fit to overthrow its own decisions," he declared, "the evidence is convincing that those decisions were indefensible both in law and in common sense."

Disqualifies by Politics. Guffey, questioned repeatedly by Senator Burke (D. Neb.), upon completion of his address, declared Chief Justice Hughes' "life of politics" disqualified him for Supreme Court service.

When Burke asked whether Guffey believed such disqualification should apply to a Senator now being mentioned for appointment to the court after a lifetime political career, Guffey quickly replied "not at all."

The reference apparently was to majority leader Robinson (D. Ark.), Guffey said "both" when Senator Connally (D. Tex.) asked whether he favored changes in

SELF DEFENSE PLEA MADE BY GIRL SLAYER

COUSHATTA, La., July 7 (AP)—Copley Jessie Pepper met with a plea of self-defense today the murder charge that followed the "gossip" killing of May Elvin Allen, her life-long chum.

The 17-year-old high school graduate calmly told a five-man coroner's jury last night that she shot her friend during a cow pasture quarrel Monday only after she had been attacked by Elvin and the dead girl's mother.

The jury found that the Allen girl, also 17, "came to her death by gun wounds at the hands of R. Jessie Pepper."

H. H. Allen, father of the victim, at once served out warrants charging Jessie with murder and her mother, Minnie Pepper, with "lying in wait to murder."

Jessie was returned to jail to await grand jury action. Sheriff Floyd Jones did not disclose whether he had served the warrant on Mrs. Pepper.

Jessie, clad in an attractive pink silk dress, told her story in an even, modulated voice.

"The reason I shot was because Mrs. Allen and her daughter were both coming on me at the same time and both were larger than me."

Mrs. Allen testified Jessie "had been telling lies on Elvin."

"She (Elvin) spent a month with her uncle Bill in Vivian. She (Jessie) told that Elvin had a baby while up there."

Mrs. Allen vigorously denied that her daughter advanced on the Pepper girl.

Mrs. Pepper backed up her daughter's story.

Circle four had 14 old members and one new member, Mrs. T. E. Simmons. Circle three had eight present.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON. If John has finally landed a job, and Sis has been taken to help out during vacation at Cromby's, Inc., are you going to charge them board, dear mother?

John needs so many things, and so does Sis, because in finishing their schooling you just made out, and there was no money to hand either of them for extras.

John has a girl now, and she expects to be taken out places. And Sis needs, oh, so many clothes that she didn't have to have at the Jones' Select Secretarial School for Young Ladies.

"Why, no, I wouldn't think of asking either of them for a dollar," she naturally protests. "It is a great relief not to have to pay tuition any more, and also a satisfaction to know that they have a little spending money without coming to us. Anyway, this is their home and I hope that David and I can do the same for them we always did when they were little."

"Making Home Sweet to Them." "What are a few meals? And their rooms are there, anyway. Yes, I do more work when they're both here, and there's more laundry and cooking and a party now and then, but I want them to always feel that home is home and that we love them enough to give a little trouble."

All of which is exactly the way any normal parent would feel. Yet there is another side, and I consider it highly important. Is it real kindness to these new-fledged earners to depend on the homemaker too long, and get a fixed idea that all money outside of carfare, lunches and necessities is velvet, even though it is only a few dollars?

Today I am leaving out the question of mother standing up in the heat to press John's white pants, or to do up Sis' linen suit for Sunday. Nor shall I mention that Dad has to do without the mesh underwear he prefers, to pay on the last note that saw the senior year through.

Instead, I am taking the side of this boy and girl, who are simply grand children, earning their first pay envelopes.

Road to Happiness. They are to be happy. Isn't that the program? And both of them are to marry, and continue to be happy. Of course.

But when they do, will John be satisfied to hand over his salary to tradespeople, or his wife, for upkeep? Will Sis as a wife, not fret when she has little extra to spend on herself, because food, shelter and necessities come first?

The habit of paying for upkeep and indulgences afterward cannot be learned happily after marriage. It goes against the grain for John to be told that he and Louise cannot go to the night club because the milkman has to be paid.

If we want these fledglings to experience financial responsibility toward a home, the roof of their parents is the best place to learn it. And a contribution of some kind each week is not real hardship but common kindness.

MRS. LOMAX IS PARTY HONOREE. Mrs. H. M. Lomax was honored on her 69th birthday yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ralph Chisum. The affair was a surprise and Mrs. Lomax was greeted with a birthday song as she entered the home. Games and visiting with old friends occupied the afternoon.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Lomax by Little Gwinette Killingsworth.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Z. H. Mundy, J. E. Ward, Nels Walberg, Cora Rhodes, Baine P. P. Reid, Frank Shotwell, Lloyd Johnson, A. Kuehl, Robert Burns, Killingsworth, and the hostess and the honoree.

Attractive Beach Ensemble

An attractive ensemble for the beach is presented by Molynex. In black and white, the decollete is trimmed with applied flowers like those on the embroidered white pique. Circle pale green and pink ribbons fasten the skirt at the waist. The asymmetrical trim of the wide white pique hat is smartly new.

MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX. There are many ways to a man's heart. But the quickest is an old-fashioned chocolate layer cake.

Chocolate Layer Cake (3 layers). One-half cup shortening, 1-4 cups sugar, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 2-1-4 cups pastry flour, 2-1-2 teaspoons tartaric baking powder, 2-2-2 teaspoons combination baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup milk.

Cream shortening, add sugar slowly, beating in well. Add well beaten egg yolks and beat until well blended. Add vanilla extract. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Mix in stiffly beaten egg whites thoroughly. Bake in greased loaf pan in moderate oven at 275 degrees F. about one hour, or in greased layer cake pans in moderate oven at 275 degrees F. about 25 minutes. Cool. Put layers together with filling; cover top and sides with icing.

Old-Fashioned Chocolate Filling and Icing. Pour squares unsweetened chocolate, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup milk, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 3-1-2 cups confectioner's sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-1-2 teaspoons vanilla extract, 4 table-spoons cream. Melt the chocolate and butter together in top of double boiler. Mix the cornstarch with the milk. Add slowly to melted chocolate, stirring until thick and smooth. Add 1-2-2 cups confectioner's sugar and salt to egg yolks; add to first mixture. Continue to cook while beating until smooth. Add vanilla extract. Cool. Use half of this mixture to spread thickly between layers of cake.

Use the other half for icing by adding remaining 2 cups of confectioner's sugar and the cream slowly, beating until smooth. Spread on top and sides of cake.

The fashion for things Victorian makes a good fudge frosting recipe necessary for every modern housewife. The new one will delight you in its rich brown results.

Fudge Frosting. (To frost 18 cup cakes, top and sides) Two cups sugar, 2 tablespoons corn syrup, 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoon tartaric baking powder, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract and right consistency to spread.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Which is correct, "Mrs. Brown, this is Mr. Green?" or "Mr. Green, this is Mrs. Brown?"

2. When you are not sure whether or not two persons have met, can you make the introduction by saying, "Mrs. Moore, have you met Miss Less?"

3. If they had not met previously, what might Mrs. Moore say?

4. In answering an introduction, is it correct to say, "I am very pleased to meet you?"

5. If you have asked for an invitation to a party for a house guest, is it necessary that you introduce him to the hostess?

What would you say if— You meet a friend whom you want your wife to know— (a) "Mary, this is Mr. Brown. My wife."

(b) "Mr. Brown, I want you to know my wife."

(c) "Mary, you've heard me speak of Mr. Brown. This is Mrs. White, Jim."

Answers. 1. The first way, because the woman's name is always spoken first in making an introduction.

2. Yes.

3. "No, we haven't met before. How do you do, Miss Less?"

4. No.

5. Yes, you must do this yourself just as soon as you arrive.

Hot Weather is Here— Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sours, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and dizziness or blind spells on suddenly rising. Your tongue may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowel action sluggish or insufficient.

These are some of the more common symptoms or warnings of biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot climates. Don't neglect them. Take Calo-tabs, the improved calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts, combined. You will be delighted with the prompt relief they afford. WIFE TESTIFIES IN CONTESTED DIVORCE SUIT

A charge that she made the down payment on a kitchen range that her husband "bought" her as a Christmas "gift," was made from the witness stand in Gray county district court today by Mrs. Nannie Belle Worley, seeking a divorce from W. R. Worley, of Pampa.

The testimony about the stove was brought out as her attorneys sought to show that Mrs. Worley received little or no support from her husband and that she earned her own livelihood through operation of the Worley cabin camp, near the city limits on the LeFors highway. Mrs. Worley stated that a large sum still is owed on the Christmas stove.

General denials to the plaintiff's allegations have been made by the husband who is contesting the divorce action.

Testimony still was being taken when court recessed shortly after noon today. Members of a special jury hearing the case are:

M. N. Osborn, J. O. Sehon, D. T. Throver, J. J. Jagers, Finis Jordan, O. Ingram, J. Darnell, J. P. Yoltun, J. A. Browley, Leon Roberts, J. W. Hopkins, and M. M. McMillen.

MORRIS FUNERAL RITES WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

Funeral services for Claude B. Morris, 36, pneumonia victim, will be conducted at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in McCullough Memorial chapel by the Rev. H. H. Bratcher, pastor, officiating.

The body will be interred at Fairview cemetery with military honors. Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home will have charge of arrangements.

Mr. Morris was a second class seaman, U. S. Navy, reserve, during the World War. He had been a resident of Pampa for seven years and was an engineer with the Shell Petroleum corporation. Fellow employees from his gasoline plant will act as pallbearers.

Veterans of Pampa are asked to meet at the American Legion hut at 3 o'clock to march to the church for services. All veterans whether members of any organization or not are invited to attend the services.

Seek Fingerprints Thru Violet Rays

CLEVELAND, July 7 (AP)—Deputy Police Inspector David L. Cowles said today that ultra-violet rays may give police their first real clue to the maddened torso slayer of Cleveland's Kingsbury Run district, whose tenth victim was discovered yesterday.

The beheaded and surgically dissected body of a sturdily built man, discovered in the Cuyahoga river by national guardsmen on strike duty, was buried in a burlap sack and partially wrapped in newspaper, Deputy Inspector Cowles said he hoped fingerprints may be directed on the newspaper through the medium of the ultra-violet ray.

In the three-year period in which nine other similarly carved and headless bodies have been discovered in and near the Kingsbury Run district, the slayer has craftily avoided mistakes which might give police a hint as to his identity, beyond the deduction of Coroner Gerber that the man is skilled in surgery.

"The killer leaves his signature every time," Gerber declared after examining portions of the body recovered from the river. "This man has been carved up just like the others."

GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO SHATTER REBEL SIEGE

(By The Associated Press.) Spanish government armies pushed a new offensive intended to break the long siege of Madrid today, striking heavily at the insurgent left flank west of the capital.

Troops under General Jose Miaja, commander of Madrid's government defenders, reported seizure of Villanueva de la Canada, about three miles north of Brunete, due west of Madrid.

Government observers informed Valencia, temporary seat of the republican government, that large forces of insurgents and their Moorish allies were massing on the Teruel front, northwest of Valencia.

In northern Spain, insurgent headquarters announced cessation of the drive on Santander, 45 miles west of Bilbao, and the shifting of thousands of troops to a point to the southwest in an attempt to cut off government forces from Asturias province.

Separation of the Asturias and Santander provinces would clear the way for insurgents to circle Santander and trap its defenders.

In London, official spokesmen said they attached no "radical importance" to a demand from insurgent General Francisco Franco that he be accorded belligerent rights. Some feared the demand, threatening a bar to Spanish markets in the event of refusal, might imperil a compromise on Spanish non-intervention.

TEXAS RANGERS WILL HUNT DOPE SMUGGLERS

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—The Texas Rangers, century-old band of peace officers, will take on new duties after August 12.

They will become narcotic agents. Col. H. H. Carmichael, public safety department director, said the new state drug act will become effective on that date and the law provides enforcement by the Rangers.

LAW FAIL TO DISTRIBUTE LITERATURE

DETROIT, July 7 (AP)—Members of the United Automobile Workers of America failed to appear at the gates of the Ford Motor company between 6 and 7 a. m. today to distribute union literature to workers changing shifts.

Representatives of the F. B. A. distributed literature without interfering this morning at the gates of the Ford plant. A handbill stated one of the union's purposes was "to stop outsiders from interfering with or dictating to us as to wages and working conditions."

Several U. A. W. members who assembled at union headquarters about 5:30 a. m. dispersed upon receiving Frankenstein's telegram saying "Have changed plans—will distribute papers but not at plant."

He asserted also he received an unsigned telegram about 3 a. m. reporting "inside information" that "Ford service men plan a riot at Ford gates to lay blame on United Automobile Workers."

Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, termed the report "ridiculous" and "the silliest thing I ever heard of." Bennett was at the Ford gates at the hour scheduled for the union visit.

Walter Reuther, member of the U. A. W. A. Ford organizing committee and president of the west side local in Detroit, who was one of the union men beaten in an attempt to distribute literature at the Ford gates May 26, was the first witness at the NLRB hearing today.

He said he had assigned "between 50 and 70 persons," about two thirds of them women, to pass out leaflets and had informed them "they were to be parties to no violence."

ALLRED USES HIS VETO POWER TO KILL BILLS

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred used his veto power today in killing a bill passed at the recent special session of the legislature changing the method of appointing directors of the San Antonio river canal district.

The original bill provided for seven directors and the one vetoed fixed terms of two to expire June 1, 1938, two on June 1, 1939, and two on June 1, 1940, with the terms thereafter to be three years.

The governor said the constitutional term was two years except in cases of overlapping boards when it might be six years, one-third of the members retiring each two years.

"It is impossible to retire one-third of seven members each two years," he said, "and this bill does not even propose to do that. The attorney general has heretofore held similar bills unconstitutional."

The veto also fell on a resolution authorizing R. F. Davis of El Paso county to sue the state and the University of Texas to establish the northeast boundary of surveys 125, 126, 127 and 128 of the San Elizario grant in that county.

He objected that venue was fixed in El Paso county, instead of Travis, stating the latter was the place generally designated by law for suits affecting the state lands.

'WE'RE GOING TO HANG' DYER, DECLARES FITTS

LOS ANGELES, July 7 (AP)—Small, swarthy Albert Dyer, accused of murdering and ravishing three little schoolgirls, was well launched today on the legal path the state declares will end at the gallows.

"We're going to hang him," said District Attorney Byron Fitts after the county grand jury, meeting in special session last night, returned indictments charging the 32-year-old WPA school crossing guard with first degree murder.

Dyer is accused of having lured Madeline Everett, 7, her sister, Melba, 9, and Jeanette Marjorie Stephens, 8, into the Baldwin Hills a few miles from their Ingewood home June 26, strangling them and violating their bodies.

The haggard, tousle-haired prisoner shouted as the indictments were being read in court:

"I plead guilty!"

Dyer was the chief witness before the jury. Composed and speaking in a low voice, he recounted how he killed the children, Fitts said.

San Diego authorities were in town today to question Dyer about the death near there six years ago of Virginia Brooks, 10. Her body was found on a mesa in March, 1931. She had been strangled with her silk scarf.

SOME SOURCES URGE CAUTION IN PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—The oil industry enters the last half of the year optimistic over general conditions but with some operators keeping a weather eye on current production, especially in the mid-continent area.

Although consumption was strong and indications pointed toward heavy demand for fuel oil in the coming winter months, as a factor to offset in some degree a normal decline in demand for petroleum, there was a feeling in some sources caution in production should be exercised in order not to undermine the firm structure of the market.

Desultory talk of possible increases in price for crude was heard although it was matched by gossip of cuts unless production was kept within reasonable limits. In the opinion of some observers, a warning in this connection was sounded when a major company recently reduced tank wagon gasoline prices.

There was much interest in a meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact commission in Santa Fe, N. M., next Monday when, it was reported, results of a survey on oil in storage was made at request of the commission and intended to give the industry a better line on production needs.

One of those slated to attend the meeting was Ernest C. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Compact commission and also a member of the Texas Railroad commission, which administers oil and gas conservation statutes in Texas. Thompson has been attending the World Oil Congress at Paris, getting a view of international petroleum conditions.

In Texas the Railroad commission was expected soon to announce the date for the next statewide production hearing at which additional data on conditions on which to base the allowables for August will be received. As usual, interest centered on whether Texas, which produces 40 per cent of the nation's crude, would send its production up or down and what the relation would be to the Federal Bureau of Mines estimate of market demand.

As evidence of the feeling there should be some retrenchment, it was recalled nominations of major purchasing companies for July in Texas totaled 1,622,836 barrels, a decline of 22,189 from those for June.

Drilling in Texas was continuing at about a normal pace for the year, which was, nevertheless, slightly faster than for the previous twelve months, this despite repeated warnings from members of the Railroad commission that unless drilling was curtailed allowables per well must come down.

In 1936, a total of 9,452 wells was completed, or an average of 25.8 per day, while in the first 168 days of 1937 completions totaled 4,995, or an average of 29.7 per day. There appeared to be a slackening of drilling in West Texas, although demand for leases continued and prices for them were good.

One of the outstanding recent developments in the production end of the industry was extension of the Rodessa field into Miller county, Arkansas, which made of the field a tri-state affair. Arkansas has taken steps to insure orderly development, as Texas and Louisiana previously had done. A hearing on rules for the new area was set for today at Texarkana.

FDR Will Publish His Public Papers

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Development of President Roosevelt's social and economic philosophy through the past decade will be traced in five volumes of his public papers, to be published early next spring, White House officials announced today.

The president will compile the arrangements with Random House, it was announced, which kept the volumes including introduction and messages, proclamations, and speeches covering the period from his first campaign for Governor of New York in 1920, to his second presidential inauguration.

The president will compile the volumes including introduction and explanatory notes during the summer with the help of Justice Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York State Supreme Court, who was his counsel when he was governor.

The concrete used in the new department of interior building in Washington would make a 5-foot sidewalk from the national capital to New York City.

CIGAR BOX DIVIDENDS There is a good chuckle in the story of the Chattanooga storekeeper who put up an empty cigar box in his store under a sign reading: "Police got my slot machine; please put your money here."

'PRIVATE' DETECTIVES It is getting so that the readers of detective story magazines constitute one of the deadliest hazards in the path of a fugitive criminal. The recent arrest of Robert Irwin is only the latest in a string of cases in which a criminal was brought to book because someone remembered having seen his picture in a magazine.

'INSANTIY' DEFENSE Once in every six months or so there pops up a murder case to illustrate how cockeyed our system of handling the "insanity defense" really is. The most recent exhibit is Robert Irwin, who confessed to a triple murder in New York and remarked confidently, "I'll just be sent to an asylum for life."

WASHINGTON LETTER BY KIRKE SIMPSON WASHINGTON—Action of Senator McKellar's post office committee unit in tossing the steel strike investigation business—less only the use-of-the-mails angle—back into the lap of La Follette civil liberties committee explains a strange phenomenon. That is how Tom M. Girdler happened to steal the show, or was allowed to do so, when he appeared on the McKellar lot.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Not the least amusing of George Ade's "Fables in Slang" is the fable concerning the author and the maulin verse. Despairing of himself, the author had dashed off a bit of doggerel concerning "Little Willie's Good Night," which he forthwith threw into the wastebasket, wondering if he was about to lose his mind. A friend rescued the opus, arranged for its publication. Thereafter the author lived in style on its abundant royalties.

Many writers have found that concepts born in idleness or playfulness often turn into moneymakers. Anita Loos wrote the "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" letters to entertain her friends, and they became a best-seller. A. A. Milne's "Winnie the Pooh" tales, also best-sellers, were dashed off for the amusement of Milne's own children.

Marc Connelly reports an item conceived in loafing which he now seriously considers re-naming "The Little Gold Nugget" out of gratitude for its returns to him. This was a piece called "The Traveler," which he contributed (under pressure) to a Dutch Treat Show.

The tale of a man who, made irresponsible by spring, takes a crack limited to 125th street instead of the subway, it was an immediate success with the audience. The year was 1929 and Connelly needed a bit of money (as who didn't that year?). The New Yorker cheerfully gave it to him for the right to publish "The Traveler."

Dwight Wiman read The New Yorker and promptly paid $2,500 to buy "The Traveler" for Ernest Trues in a musical revue then in preparation. The revue was "The Third Little Show." Connelly's piece was one of its most treasured sketches.

Came 1930 and, again needing money, Connelly was induced to turn actor. He appeared in several talking shorts for Warner Brothers, among them, of course, the old, dependable "Traveler." Next he sold it for little theater presentation and ever since has been shaking checks out of his mail.

Recently Connelly, now a stage producer, was preparing to flee the country. When he dropped into the Lyceum theater for a final inspection of his property (Arthur Kober's comedy, "Having Wonderful Time") he encountered old friend Joe Cook.

Cook instantly buttonholed Connelly for guest-starring duties on his radio show the following night. Worthington Miner, the stage director, had agreed to appear.

Connelly protested that the rigors of managing the two score actors in "Having Wonderful Time" necessitated a weekend rest. Cook mentioned the emolument, adding that it would finance an even more elaborate rest a week later. It was an inducement, what with the high cost of week-ending these days. In consequence, Connelly and Miner acted out the traveler and conductor respectively, in "The Little Gold Nugget."

People You Know

Every day after lunch, J. S. Wynne, pioneer citizen of the pampas sits in the shade of the elm trees in his front yard and watches the world go by during the heat of the day. Yesterday, friends who walked by his house were taught an interesting lesson in insect life and in philosophy. There is a rock wall a foot high around the front yard, and inside this wall, a flying black bug attacked and killed a grasshopper and then tried in vain to get it out of the yard.

For an hour he ran up and down the ground at the base of the wall, lunging the grasshopper that was three times as big as the bug. Every once in a while, he would drop the grasshopper, and stretch his legs, and start running up and down again. Finally, he quit his senseless hurrying, his futile attempts to find a hole in the wall, and dropped his dead burden and flew away. . . and speaking of Mr. Wynne reminds me of a remark made by Mr. Williamson, the PWA engineer, before he left last week for California. Said he, "Mr. Wynne gave me my first good opinion of Pampa. When I was on the high school auditorium he taught me the meaning of hospitality and friendliness. . . I'll remember Pampa because of Mr. Wynne. After I've left toss a few bouquets at him for me."

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—The hurricane, having gathered force these many months, was blowing at last. It was the best Hollywood storm I ever saw. But John Ford, directing, told me the real thing. The hurricane, playing the title role in his picture, was warming up, just practicing on a stage-enclosed lagoon surrounded by roof-reaching palms and jagged rock shore.

If this was a dress rehearsal I want to be having tea with Garbo out at Culver City-Hollywood when the A-No. 1 hurricane strikes in Hollywood-Hollywood. It's one thing to read about standing four-square to all the winds that blow, and it's another thing to get your spine, your eye-teeth and your torpedos torn one from another by one of James Basevi's better storms. It was plain that Basevi, the big effects man, was trying to put his "San Francisco" earthquake to shame.

It had looked so peaceful, too, a few moments before. The lagoon was placid, except where semi-nude prop men tentatively tested their wavemakers around the edges, plop, plop, plop. A couple of men stood behind giant airplane propellers, innocently enough, and a fellow stirred up suds in a wash tub. Other men, directly in front of the propellers, turned experimental streams from fire hoses on curved tin, so that the water veered upward in hissing spray.

Ford sat beside his camera, looking over the preparations for the shot in which Layne Tom, Jr., a bit of a nut-brown boy, was to cross the tempestuous lagoon in a tiny boat, dive to safety when it upset, and he hauled on the rocks by awaiting "natives." It was all pretty smart. Erin O'Brian-Moore came, visiting with that Irish sunshine smile of hers, and Jon Hall, bronzed "native" hero, played a game called Ge-Dunk with cronies in his canvas dressing room. It's a nice game, wherein cheating is legal. Erin went to chat with the script girl, and I dropped into Dorothy Lamour's canvas shack where she was resting from having been ge-dunked in the lagoon. Then it struck.

The shack shook and trembled; the mad propellers roared like ten million denial drills, with much the same nervous effect; the full force of tons of water from the firehouses pounded the tin and sprayed, to be torn and blasted into winged swords by the wind; the palms went sudsy, the lagoon erupted into wild, sudsy breakers, and I dropped into Dorothy Lamour's canvas shack where she was resting from having been ge-dunked in the lagoon. Then it struck.

That was a silent shot, Ford told me afterward. They'll do the sound later.

How's Your Health?

Questioning Pasteurization Milk, which is an excellent food for human beings, is also good nutrition for germs. Experience has shown that milk which is neither chilled nor pasteurized will spoil promptly. This spoiling is the result of bacterial growth and activity.

The pasteurization of milk was started in the United States about 1911. Since then it has become widespread. It is estimated that 88 per cent of all the milk consumed in cities of over 10,000 population is pasteurized. Public health authorities agree that the pasteurization of milk has contributed substantially to the reduction of a number of diseases heretofore widely prevalent.

For example, tuberculosis of the bones and of the glands, due to the bovine type of tubercle bacillus, has been radically reduced. The incidence of epidemic sore throat, typhoid fever and other bacterial diseases formerly spread by contaminated milk, has been reduced by pasteurization.

Despite these great gains, the question whether pasteurization harms milk is frequently raised. A pertinent answer is offered by the recent report of England's National Institute for Research on Dairying which concludes that milk suffers no damage by pasteurization.

From the nutritional standpoint, a pint of pasteurized milk is substantially equal to a pint of raw milk, but much safer. The moderate heating of milk during pasteurization does not affect the nutritional availability of the calcium and phosphorus it contains. The digestibility of the milk proteins and their biological value is in no way altered or reduced.

Neither its vitamin A nor its carotene (the yellow coloring substance which gives milk its characteristic tinge) is damaged by pasteurization. There is some loss of vitamin B, as well as about 20 per cent of vitamin C, but milk is not an important source of these two vitamins.

Weighing the slight alterations effected in milk by pasteurization against the great advantages which are gained by destroying most of the harmful bacteria likely to be present in raw milk, we are forced to conclude that pasteurization is most desirable.

In some cities in the United States having a population of 10,000 or less, 70 per cent of the milk consumed is not pasteurized, and in some small communities all the milk consumed is raw.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

By Frederic J. Haskin A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q How does Lou Chiozza, third baseman for the Giants, pronounce his name? E. H. A. The correct pronunciation is Key-ot-zah with the accent on the second syllable.

Q In what Barrie plays did Maudie Adams star? J. L. A. The actress played in The Little Minister, Peter Pan, Quality Street, What Every Woman Knows, The Legend of Leonora, and A Kiss for Cinderella.

Q Where is the largest collection of cigar-store Indians? J. K. A. The largest and most famous collection in the country belongs to Dudley A. Waters of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Q What state collects the most money in sales taxes? F. H. W. A. In 1936 California ranked first in sales tax collections with a total of over $70,000,000. Illinois was second with receipts of over $61,000,000, and Michigan third with over $45,000,000.

Q How many Hi-Lis have been sold? G. F. D. A. Figures as to total sales of the new game are not available. Over 2,000,000 Hi-Lis were sold in Chicago in a six weeks' drive last year; however, and more than 1,500,000 in the first two weeks of a drive in New York City this year.

Q Is it true that one can make a good living by placer gold mining? W. H. In a survey made by the WPA's National Research Project on Re-employment Opportunities it was found that in 1935 as many as 28,000 placer gold miners sold some gold but their earnings were pitifully small. They worked an average of 45 days stirring the year and grossed an average of only $1.60 for each working day. Thousands who prospected without success could not be checked in this survey because no sales to bullion dealers were recorded by them. The study covers placer mining in 17 states.

Q Has the farm population increased or decreased this year? W. H. A. It has decreased. On January 1, 1937, there was a farm population of 31,729,000 persons while at the same time last year there were 31,809,000 persons on farms.

Do You Like Salads And Sandwiches? Here is a fine recipe booklet, ideal for this time of year. More than 300 recipes which are very practical for summer months, giving attractive variety to the meals without involving added expense—60 different kinds of sandwiches, 75 salads. BOOK A DAY By BRUCE CATTON Along about this time of year, the hapless reviewer is apt to encounter repeated variations of this question: "What's a good book—not very heavy, something that will make me laugh—to read on my vacation?" Reviewers answer according to their consciences, if any. This summer, however, the answering is easier. P. G. Wodehouse is out with his new book—"The Crime Wave at Blandings" (Doubleday, Doran; $2)—and all that really needs to be said is that the book is genuine, up-to-standard Wodehouse. It is not a novel; instead, it is a collection of six long short stories, in which Mr. Wodehouse continues his tireless and slyly-silly Englishman, pottering noblemen, sweet young things and the laugh-provoking vagaries of this unpredictable existence of ours. He tells, for instance, of the hapless Lord Emsworth, who risks himself of an unwanted secretary by shooting him, of the eminent Sir Hugo Drake and the way in which a youthful and feminine doctor from America helped him solve the problem of a wayward nephew; of Mr. Mulliner's receipt of a letter from the mustache contest between Lord Bromborough and Sir Preston Potter; of—oh, well, you get the general idea. All of this, in the customary Wodehouse manner, adds up to practically nothing at all; and yet all of it is consistently and wholesomely amusing. If you want some vacation reading that keeps you chuckling without ever insulting your intelligence or requiring you to think—quite a feat, when you stop to think about it—"The Crime Wave at Blandings" is your dish.

So They Say: No conscientious American citizen desires to avoid payment of his just share of the country's tax burden. —ALFRED P. SLOAN Jr., General Motors Corp. chairman. Grades are artificial things and not absolutely essential for the development of a child. —DR. EUGENE VANCE, assistant superintendent, New York City schools. Don't you think politics has been monopolized by politicians long enough? —FIORELLA LA GUARDIA, mayor of New York City. I do not understand Irish politics. . . they do not seem to be able to get excited over politics here any more. —ALFRED E. SMITH, visiting in Ireland. Government ownership of any one form of transportation inevitably leads to government ownership of all forms. —DONALD D. CONN, vice president, Transportation Association of America.

QUAKER STATE TO MAKE DEEP TEST FOR CRUDE The first deep test for oil in Cheryvale structure in San Miguel county, N. M., will be made by the Quaker State Oil company, with headquarters at Pampa, according to an announcement released by the Oil News of Albuquerque, N. M. L. W. Tarkenton is president, G. C. Stark, secretary, and many Pampans are stockholders in the company. Location of the No. 1 test well is in section 37-17N-21E, near the village of Cheryvale. Company officials have worked more than a year completing the deal to drill a well. The Cheryvale structure is said to be one of the largest undrilled areas in the state. # OILERS FALTER AS BLACKFACES WIN 12 TO 9 IN 11-ERROR GAME HERE

HURLERS FAIL TO KEEP GOING AGAINST HUBER

If I make an error, you make an error, if I make some runs, you make some runs, etc., was the story of last night's baseball game, as song style, between the Pampa Oilers and Huber Blackfaces of Borger, won by the Blackfaces, 12 to 9. That left the count for the season at 5 to 2 in favor of the Borger nine.

It was an off night all the way around, Harvey Hutton, Pampa pitcher, just couldn't get his fast ball to work. Big Cy Young was given a big lead and pitched nice ball for four innings despite several juicy errors behind him, but couldn't last. Both teams dropped easy fly ball and juggled grounders until the spectators had the fit of the mill. It all was a mighty exciting baseball game.

Error Parade Begins
Al Summers, Oiler second baseman, started the error parade in the opening inning which allowed Huber to score. Each, Borger second sacker, not to be outdone, kicked two in a row to let the Oilers even the count. Huber earned a run on consecutive doubles by Eash and Brown in the second. The fifth saw McNabb and Cox drop a couple of fly balls and Huber added a pair on a single hit. Obligingly, Huber came back in their half of the fifth with three errors, two by Warren in right field, and one by Brown, catcher and the Oilers jumped into a one-run lead.

The sixth was a hectic affair which saw Hutton battered from the mound, Daley taking the mound, not having had sufficient time to warm up, and throwing practice balls up to the plate, an error and two walks as 11 Huber batters marched to the mound and six scored on four hits, all singles.

Oilers Kept Fighting
Never giving up, the Oilers kept pecking away at Young's offerings until they got him off the hill in the ninth after Scaling had walked and Beason parked one over the left field fence. Carrithers relieved but was wild and also allowed McNabb to single. The Oilers filled the bases but the rally fell short when Brickell fanned and Eash came up with a great piece of fielding to take Sain's hot grounder between first and second for the final out.

Huber batters got to Hutton, Daley and Stewart, who pitched the last inning, for 16 base knocks but registered seven errors. Young allowed nine hits and Carrithers one as the Oilers kicked four.

Scaling Big Hitter
Scaling picked himself a perfect night at the plate with three singles and two walks. Sain's pair of doubles came at opportune times. Other hits were scattered with Beason homering and McNabb getting a double by some nice base running.

Ross and Brown led the Borger attack with three singles each on five trips to the plate. Four doubles helped the Huber cause considerably.

Budge Wins Wimbledon Title

Don Budge, the Oakland, Calif., redhead, above, became America's first Wimbledon men's champion since 1932 when he defeated Germany's act, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. Ellsworth Vines, another Californian, who is now a professional, was the last American to win the All-England title, one of the most prized of all championships. Budge succeeds Fred Perry, Britain's star, who deserted the amateur ranks last fall.

SOFTBALL TOURNEY WILL BE PLANNED AT MEET TONIGHT

Final plans for the district softball tournament to be staged here, probably the first week in August, will be made at a meeting of the sports committee of the Junior chamber of commerce tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall.

The Jaycees will sponsor the tournament with proceeds going to help pay for the lights to be installed at Recreation park. Most of the lighting equipment arrived in Pampa yesterday. It was secured by E. M. Dean who made a trip to Wichita Falls last week and contracted for the reflectors, etc.

The field will be laid out in front of the huge grandstand at the fairground.

Deadline for making entry in the state softball association is July 10. Managers should notify Jack Kretzinger immediately.

Texan Ties for Medal Honors in Junior Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 7 (AP)—Par was still as hard to catch as a hole-in-one for contenders in the Western Junior Golf tournament today as they opened match play competition.

None of the youthful shotsmiths matched par 72 for the Patty Jewett links, in the 36-hole qualifying rounds yesterday.

Three players were bracketed for medal honors at 153 strokes, nine over par. They were Harry Todd, 20-year-old Dallas golfer, who holds the Texas open crown, and Victor Johnson and Harry Davis, both of Pueblo.

Eighteen hole rounds today and tomorrow will thin the field for 36-hole semi-finals Friday and the 36-hole championship match Saturday. Ray Watson of Kansas City won the championship at Oklahoma City.

TENNIS CLUB HERE TO DEPEND ON INTEREST
Tonight at 8 o'clock in the city commissioners' room in the city hall, a Pampa Tennis club will spring into existence if enough interest is shown. Tennis players and enthusiasts of Pampa and from oil field camps near the city have been invited to the meeting.

Garnet Reeves, manager of the Board of City Development, has been invited to act as temporary chairman and guide preliminary organization. If enough interest is shown, officers will be elected and committee appointed. An invitation has been received from Amarillo to play there next Sunday. Action on the invitation will be taken tonight.

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT.

DALLAS, July 7 (AP)—Big Jim Keesey, Oklahoma City's player-manager, needn't worry about the official announcement of the northern division's roster in the Texas league's all-star game at Houston July 17. Bidding closed at midnight and selections won't be announced for several days, but it's a cinch he'll be managing the northers from first base. . . . His closest rival, Homer Peel of Fort Worth, paced the outfielders but lost out in the manager's race.

Back in Fort Worth after a brief stay in Chicago is L. D. Meyer, the Texas Christian baseballer. . . . Perhaps the best of the Southwest conference lot, "Little Dutch" was given his outright release by the Cubs because there were no farms available for further seasoning. . . . Johnny Rizzo, Houston's ball-blasted outfielder of '36, is still above 400 in the American Association chase and just about to swap himself right into a St. Louis Cardinal uniform.

Ten years ago Russell Crownover of Abilene stepped out and equalled the course record in a tournament match with Dennis Lavender, 4. It wasn't good enough for Lavender was busy smashing the mark by three strokes to bury Crownover, 3 and 1. . . . A few days ago Crownover, meeting Lavender for the first time since that date, batted around in 65 and sunk Lavender, 5 and 4.

Gar Wood Jr., son of the grey-thatched, world-famous speedboat racer, likely will enter the third annual Lake Brownwood regatta on July 25. . . . The son of the noted speedster is one of the game's best amateurs. . . . Also entered is Frank Vincent of Tulsa, Okla., internationally known racer.

Handsome Brooks Conover, former Texas Aggie athletic great, has been signed for double duty at Brownsville as coach of the high school and junior college grid teams. . . . His junior college eleven has taken on an ambitious schedule, including the University of Mexico. . . . Rufus King, Southern Methodist golfer and former Grand American National trapshooting champion, has been playing in links tournaments against doctor's orders but will have his ailing eyes treated soon. . . . Ray Fritz, Galveston's first sacker, will nurse that broken arm for two weeks before he can return to action. . . . Before he is graduated, Gillem Graham, sensational University of Texas freshman, should become one of the world's leading javelin chumpers, the experts say.

He won the National A. A. U. junior spear chunking event and has a toss of better than 212 feet on the books.

CAVALRY TO TRAIN
AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Camp Wolters at Mineral Wells was being readied today for an invasion of 1,100 officers and men of the 96th Cavalry Brigade, Texas National Guard, which will train there July 10 to 24. Brig. Gen. L. S. Davidson of Dallas will be in command.

There are 25 states containing Indians who are wards of the federal government.

Washington sheets hit the ceiling when Diz said in St. Louis yesterday he was feeling tired and aimed to take a day off. . . . The story got the headlines here and throughout the early editions Dean was blasted for running out on American league fans. . . . You would think most of them were going to the park just to see him pitch. . . . When word got around that he had changed his mind and taken off for the capital, it still was big news of the game. . . . Odds are Dizzy was just putting on his act. . . . or "ack," as he calls it—all the time.

One figuring filbert estimates $5,000,000 worth of baseball talent will be on display today. . . . Interest in the classic may be dying out around the country, but all signs point to a 32,000 sellout at Arlington stadium. . . . Speculators want only $25 for a pair of $1.10 grandstand seats. . . . We watched one hawk for half an hour yesterday and he didn't get a bite. . . . Wes Ferrell can afford to be temperamental. . . . He showed up at headquarters yesterday with a Hollywood movie contract in his pocket. . . . ## TULSA WHIPS CATS IN WILD FIFTH INNING

(By The Associated Press.)

As traditional experting would have it, the rest of the Texas league might as well yield the bunting to Oklahoma City and fight it out among themselves for the lesser glories.

Fourth of July is three days gone and the Indians still hold their sizeable lead—and, except for two factors, that might indicate the Oklahomans were favorites for the pennant. The two factors, of course, are the Shaughnessy system which gives any first division team a chance at the flag and the fact the circuit is now embroiled in its most topsy-turvy battle in years.

Extremes have been the rule rather than the exception this year. Fort Worth, for instance, shot up into strong contending position with 11 straight wins, while its North Texas rivals from Dallas have been industriously losing ten in a row.

The Cats couldn't go on forever, though, and last night Tulsa bowled them over, 3 to 2. The Oilers climbed on Clyde Smoal, young southpaw, for seven runs in a wild fifth inning.

The troublous days have pushed Dallas deep into seventh place and showed no signs of abating. The Steers cancelled out their good pitching with four errors, three of which meant exactly eight runs for the Oklahoma City team, which ended with a 10 to 3 win. On earned runs alone Dallas would have won.

Possibly the only sweetness life yields the Steers these dark days is the reflection that Houston's Buffs have an edge on them as consistent losers. Now and then the down-staters win one but normally the chances have been they would be the losers. They followed that pattern last night against Beaumont, whose Quinn Lee let them have but three hits and shut them out, 14 to 0.

The Buffs lost both the game and a manager, Johnny Watwood deciding to leave rather than guide a team seemingly bound for nowhere. He will be succeeded by Ira Smith of the Rochester club, who managed Houston last year.

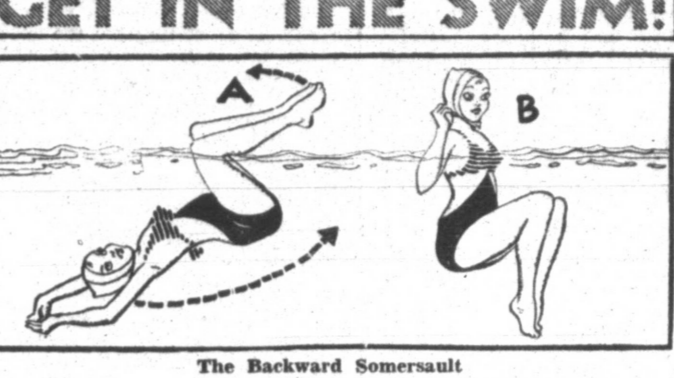

San Antonio continued to lurk just inside the first division, winning against Galveston 7 to 5 to hold fourth place.

The Backward Somersault

By JACK POBUK
A backward somersault is easier to perform in water than on land. You don't run the risk of breaking your neck, nor do you jar yourself silly if you make a slip.

Lie in the water in a backward-scutting position. Draw the knees up to the chest and raise your hands and arms over your head. . . . Then suddenly bring your hands down backward to your sides in a sweeping stroke.

The head should be tilted back.

By JACK POBUK
By the motion of your hands your body will be pulled under the water (see A in illustration). Now rapidly scull with your hands and you will rise to the surface, facing in the same direction from which you started the somersault. (See B in illustration.)

Note: The head directs the body, so be sure to keep it tilted until straightening it to rise to the surface.

RANGER NAMED.
NEWPORT, R. I., July 7 (AP)—Ranger, Harold S. Vanderbilt's defeated third defender of the America's Cup, today faced two unsuccessful rivals in what cannot be considered other than post-war engagements. Ranger, after eight straight victories, was named last night to meet T. O. M. Sopwith's second British challenger, Endeavour II, in the international sailing engagement which will open off here July 31.

CHICAGO CUBS' RISE TO TOP READS LIKE SUCCESS STORY
By DREW MIDDLETON, Associated Press Sports Writer.
And success stories for 1937—the rise of the Chicago Cubs.

When the season started the Cubs could have stepped into the first chapter of an angler book—just as a bunch of honest hearts and willing hands. The applause went to the rich bullies in St. Louis, the Gentles Giants and the Roistering Pirates.

But what a difference a few months make. Today finds the Cubs in front as baseball attention swings to Washington and the all-star game. Players not in the game enjoy a three-day holiday. American league games scheduled yesterday between the Yanks and Red Sox and the A's and Senators were moved back.

Since June 5 the Cubs have been hot. They have won 19 out of 27 games and have been especially effective against those bad boys from St. Louis. Monday they made it nine straight against the Gas flouters with two victories over them. Previously the Cubs had won three out of four from Pittsburgh and three straight from the Cards. In those nine games they made 129 hits, scored 80 runs. The Cards have not beaten them since April 25.

However, the Cubs are vulnerable. They are not insensitive to the bright lights of road trips and over-confidence. But right now they are head men, and, as Messrs. Terry, Frisch, Traynor et al will tell you, very much the team to beat.

IN THIRD ROUND.
PHILADELPHIA, July 7 (AP)—Sixteen women met today in the third round of the Philadelphia district lawn tennis championships. Favorites who moved to the third round included Eunice Dean, of San Antonio, defending champion. Favorites who advanced to the second round in the men's division included: Robert Krauth, of Texas; Richard Bennett, and Paul Newton, University of California.

On Capitol Hill

By HARRELL E. LER, AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Considerable speculation has arisen concerning what part so-called moral issues will play in the political campaign next year.

Some persons believe the votes of members of the legislature on repeal of race track betting may be an important factor in their 1938 races while others voice the opinion that new issues will detract attention from the voting record of individual lawmakers.

Governor Allred, who led the agitation for repeal, took the occasion of a speech in the district of Senator Allan Shivers to attack the Port Arthur Senator for his stand on the question. He criticized Shivers for voting first for repeal and later against it.

"When a man attacks me," Allred said, "I intend to read the record." Shivers is one of seven Senators voting against repeal who must run next year if they wish to stay in the Senate. The others are Weaver Moore of Houston, Olan R. Van Zandt of Toga, L. J. Sulak of Lagrange, T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, R. Weibert of Seguin and Frank H. Rawlings of Fort Worth. Some here have expressed the opinion that new issues will detract attention from the voting record of individual lawmakers.

Enforcement of laws against drinking and gambling might figure in the 1938 governor's race. If Governor Allred should stand for a third term, he doubtless would "point with pride" to achievement of the anti-gambling special session of the legislature and defend State Ranger raids to suppress gaming.

Use of Rangers precipitated a controversy at the recent state convention of Young Democrats at Houston. The organization voted 192 to 84, however, against requesting legislation to prohibit sending Rangers into communities when their presence was not requested.

Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock, Senate sponsor of the race repeal bill, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for attorney general next year.

Friends say he has become known over the state through authorship of repeal and advocacy of a unicameral legislature and would make a formidable candidate.

Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul, present affiliate of Shivers, is a certain candidate for attorney general and Senator J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio may enter. Spears opposed repeal but at three stages of preliminary maneuvers saved a bill, taking the position it should come to a direct vote.

Roosevelt's 'Plague' Thrust Conservatives Only Crumb In Ages

By RODNEY DUTCHER, Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The administration's left wing is bruised and sore since Roosevelt cracked it with his "plague on both your houses," in referring to extremists of industry and labor.

The right wing, on the other hand, and especially the southern group which supplies the official leadership of Congress, is rather pleased. Placating this group, of course, was exactly what the President had in mind. Hysteria over the C. I. O. and its contemplated invasion of the south has caused more administration trouble in Congress than any other factor.

F. D. R.'s left wing pals explain apologetically to labor leaders friends that the President was forced to hit at the C. I. O. as well as the Girdlers and Graces, and that dynamiting at Johnstown, Pa., on the same day influenced his statement. But his right wing supporters wish he had gone about 10 times as far in leading out John Lewis.

The statement was the first crumb conservatives have had from the White House for a long time, and Roosevelt must still be classed as distinctly "pro-labor." Watch out for a presidential rap now against Tom Girdler of Republic Steel, who once went around Cleveland announcing the would never sit in the same banquet hall with a Roosevelt, and who shouted a flat "No!" to each and every request of the Taft-Garrison-McGrady indignation board.

Roosevelt and Lewis had no direct contact during the strike. The two men don't care for each other personally, although they will use each other for their respective ends for a long time to come. Roosevelt wants a stronger labor movement and thinks the country needs it. Consequently he has welcomed, and to some extent aided, the rise of Lewis because the C. I. O. chief appears to be the strongest leader labor has produced.

About the time national guardsmen in Ohio were ordered to see non-strikers safely back in to steel plants, Lewis went to the office of Secretary of Labor Perkins to ask that the steel mediation board be requested to make a report on the futile efforts to get the independent steel officials to agree to something.

Miss Jay, personal secretary to Miss Perkins, told him her boss was at a social workers' conference in Maine.

Soon afterward a friend, who knew of his quest, telephone Lewis that Miss Perkins had been in her office all morning—and she had.

Great Strides For Lewis.

The setback Lewis has received in "little steel" will do C. I. O. some harm and perhaps an equal amount of good. Hindsight indicates the strike was pulled "too soon." The combination of a grim management, strong local opposition, militia and a large group of non-union workers

HOLY LAND'S FUTURE TO BE TOLD TONIGHT

JERUSALEM, July 7 (AP) -- All available troops and police--about 11,200 men in all--were massed today to meet any flareup of Arab-Jewish strife that might be touched off by tonight's publication of the British Royal Commission's plan for the future of the Holy Land.

Seven British regiments, about 7,000 men, and approximately 4,200 police were held in readiness as the Royal British commissioner prepared what was believed would be an appeal for calm acceptance of the report and avoidance of racial conflict and bloodshed.

Sir Arthur announced he would broadcast a message to both Arabs and Jews tonight, immediately before publication of the report.

Pending disclosure of the Palestine commission's recommendations, it was believed the proposals called for division of the Holy Land into a Jewish state, an Arab state and a territory under British mandate from the League of Nations.

Both Jews and Arabs parties to years of bitter and sometimes sanguinary disputes over their places in the Holy Land, have shown strong opposition to the partition plan.

The Royal British commissioner investigated the Holy Land situation after the Arab general strike waged last year against continued Jewish immigration and extended Jewish land ownership.

Great Britain, supervising Palestine under a League of Nations mandate, promised in the Balfour declaration of 1917 to make it "a national home for the Jewish people."

TOPT NAMED MANAGER CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)--Paul Todd was manager pro tem of the St. Paul club of the American Association for the second time in five seasons today.

The Soviet air force is generally conceded to be numerically superior to that of any European power although some of Russia's 5,000 planes are obsolete.

The national income produced in the last year was estimated at $34.3 billion dollars, an increase of nearly nine billion dollars over the 1935 income.

The squaw could speak but little English. "When did you get hurt? Did you fall?"

"Sick," the Indian mumbled. "Sick." It was her only way of saying she needed assistance.

Carolee took off her light sweater and made a pillow on the rocky ground for the red man's head. As easily as she could, she straightened the broken limb; it appeared to be in a terribly painful position. Moving it must have been almost unbearable, but beyond her increased paining the woman gave no sign.

Carolee was glad she had fainted when her eyes closed, and so she bathed her forehead gently to revive her.

Carolee thought of trying to splint the leg, but realized she didn't quite know how. Superstition Lodge wasn't more than half an hour's ride away. It was best that she go for help. She tried to make this decision clear with words and signs, and she left the canteen at the squaw's side.

Reporters at the Lodge were almost glad that the Indian woman had suffered a fall. It gave them something to report while waiting for news of the man hunt. Jerry Lynch, a writer on a Phoenix daily, and his somewhat envious competitor,

FOR the fifth time, in 1802, the territory of Louisiana had changed hands, 40 years after France had taken the district from Spain. Now Napoleon was prepared to colonize the New World. But he was sorely in need of money due to his costly European campaigns, and claims of Americans in the territory.

In Paris Robert R. Livingston, famous lawyer who had helped draft the Declaration of Independence and New York state's constitution, was United States minister. President Jefferson asked him to negotiate for the purchase of Louisiana. He sent James Monroe to aid Livingston.

On April 30, 1803, Louisiana was bought for $11,250,000 in cash and assumption of France's debts to Americans, estimated at $3,750,000.

In 1904, on the centennial of this vastly profitable purchase, the United States issued four stamps, the one-cent portraying Livingston, the two-cent Jefferson, the three-cent Monroe and the ten-cent, a map of the United States showing the new territory.

THE NEW 200-INCH TELESCOPE, NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT MT. PALOMAR, CALIF., IS EXPECTED TO HAVE A VISION RANGE OF 1,200,000,000 LIGHT-YEARS.

THE NEW 200-inch telescope will, it is hoped, be able to penetrate space for a distance of 7,200,000,000,000,000,000 miles. It will have a seeing range of nearly four times as far as the 100-inch telescope of the Mt. Wilson Observatory.

SUPERSTITION MOUNTAIN

By OREN ARNOLD Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc. Chapter XII

On the day that the sheriff's posse went into the mountain, a correspondent from a Phoenix daily learned of the disappearance of Paul Colter. Then the journalistic wheels began to spin.

Headlines on Superstition are as recurrent as the seasons in Arizona, and most of them have to do with missing men. Each time someone gets lost there the whole legend of the Lost Dutchman Mine is rebuffed and embellished, and the public thrills to it again and again. Love of gold is second only to love of women, and nobody knows that better than a newspaper editor.

Reporters came to Superstition Lodge and wanted to join a searching party. That suited Stuart Blake. It meant action, and this energetic young man was anxious to be doing something. The papers said that more than 100 persons gathered to join the second party, but officers stepped in at that point and cancelled plans. Too many untrained men scrambling over Superstition, they declared, could do more harm than good, especially in blotting out possible trails of the missing Paul.

A few experienced outdoorsmen find a dog, also possibly some good observers in an airplane, were more useful. The crowds went on back home to read the papers. Stuart felt an urge to be near Carolee and watched constantly for her cliff signal.

She met him on the second day, 24 hours after the sheriff had gone in, but they talked only a little while. "Mother is worrying constantly," she explained, "and I mustn't leave her long. She hopes the men would be back with news last night."

"No sign of them?" asked Stuart. "No. Nothing."

"Your dad will know about where Paul is, because of the map your men were using. That ought to help the sheriff and with the dog they'll surely find something today."

He gave her several copies of the newspaper about the affair and rode a mile or two with her along the lower reaches of the mountain. They were careful this time, however, to keep landmarks and stick to a more open route, in order not to lose themselves again.

When they had finally separated to return to their homes, Carolee felt an inward glow of satisfaction. The Royal British commissioner investigated the Holy Land situation after the Arab general strike waged last year against continued Jewish immigration and extended Jewish land ownership.

Great Britain, supervising Palestine under a League of Nations mandate, promised in the Balfour declaration of 1917 to make it "a national home for the Jewish people."

on Howland Island had obtained bearings on final messages from the Earhart plane while it was in the air indicating it either was north northwest of Howland or south southeast. Searchers recalled that the final decipherable report from the plane while it vainly sought Howland last Friday morning mentioned "we are on the line of position 157-337. We are now running north and south." From this message, caught by the portable direction finder, the Itasca's officer figured the plane may be down southeast of Howland, since search of the corresponding area to the north was fruitless. In San Francisco, Coast Guard Communications Officer Frank Johnson said this bearing would correspond closely with the area scanned today by the Itasca and the positions nearer the Phoenix Islands toward which the search now is heading. As the search locale shifted, the navy took over its direction in order to keep all efforts coordinated. Coordination of the search meant that the Itasca, Colorado, Lexington, three destroyers and the mine sweeper Swan would be under one command.

court personnel because of age of the justices or because of the character of their opinions. The Senator ended the questioning by yielding the floor and taking his seat. Statements of support by Senators Lee (D. Cal.), and Chavez (D. N. M.), gave advocates of the measure the edge among publicly committed members for the first time. This line-up resulted: 38 Senators openly favor the bill, 37 publicly oppose it, 21 still are non-committal. The two acquisitions, bringing to five the number of concerns since a compromise proposal was offered last week, heartened administration forces. They asserted they had sufficient votes to pass the newly substituted bill. Taking the offensive, they called the Senate into session at 10 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) instead of the customary noon. The early convening time allowed three hours of debate before recessing for the all-star baseball game in the afternoon. Sessions will be held as regularly as possible, leaders said, to prevent any dilatory tactics. Opponents, who have talked openly of filibustering if they did not find sufficient votes to defeat the bill, said they were content to let the administration forces talk as long as they desire. Opposition leaders express surprise at the vigor with which Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, and other spokesmen for the bill opened the fight in the Senate yesterday. The foes had expected the burden of carrying on the debate would be turned over to them almost from the start. Instead, the heavy-set Robinson, mentioned as a possible nominee to the Supreme Court, advanced one argument after another for adopting the substitute bill. It would authorize appointment of additional Supreme Court justices at the rate of one a year for every member over 75 who remains on the bench. The original Roosevelt bill, abandoned by administration forces, would have permitted appointment of one at once of an additional justice for every member over 70. The substitute provides that the court shall return to nine justices when the older members retire or die. Shanghai, China, has become a city of skyscrapers, largely built by Americans.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—Late setbacks of wheat prices today carried the Chicago wheat market down in some cases nearly 2 cents a bushel. The late downturns of wheat values here were influenced by bearish action of the Winnipeg market, where export demand was negligible. Cable said buyers overseas were inclined to believe that crop damage to date this side of the Atlantic had been more than discounted. At the close, wheat was 3/4-1/2 under yesterday's finish, July 1.25-1.28 1/2, Sept. 1.24 1/2-1.25 1/2, corn 2 1/2 off to 1 1/2 up, July 1.25 1/2, Sept. 1.13 1/2-1 1/4, and oats 1/2-1/4 down.

COTTON MARKET

The weekly weather crop summary failed to substantiate the early fears of too much rain. At mid-season most of the early gain was lost and active months were only 2 1/2 cents net higher. July traded at 11.98, Oct. at 12.10 and Dec. at 12.12, trading was confined largely to the near months and other cottons were inactive at or near the opening figures. The weather was largely favorable for cotton during the week, the report said. In the lower Mississippi valley generally dry sunny weather was favorable for holding the weevil in check, the report said.

PARALYSIS SCARE

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Reports of two deaths and four cases today brought denials of an infantile paralysis "scare" in the capital city by health officers. Dr. George M. T. Decherd, health director, said there was no cause for alarm despite the fact the number of cases was slightly above normal.

SMUGGLER CONFESES

OSAKA, Japan, July 7 (AP)—Police announced today Sanjiko Mochida had confessed he was the ring-leader of an international narcotic ring which smuggled 600 cases of various narcotics into western American ports.

CURTIS VINSON QUILTS

DALLAS, July 7 (AP)—Reliable sources said here today that Curtis Vinson, for many years publicity director at Texas A. and M. college, had resigned, effective within 30 days. Appointment of a successor to Vinson probably will be withheld until the return of President T. O. Walton from a European trip late in August.

SCOUT NEWS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Roosevelt, active in the Scouting Movement for seventeen years and Honorary President of the organization since entering the White House, expects to see each of the 25,000 Boy Scouts while they are here from June 30th to July 9th for their National Jamboree. Plans call for Mr. Roosevelt to drive through that part of the 350-acre tented city that extends along the south bank of the Potomac River on Wednesday, July 7, accompanied by Jamboree camp chiefs. He has indicated that he will visit the Troop Camp of the Scouts from Dutchess county, N. Y., his home county, and talk with his young neighbors. On the same day the President will attend the all-star baseball game at Griffith Stadium, accompanied by 12 Eagle Scouts, one from each of the twelve Boy Scout Regions. On July 8, President Roosevelt will review all the Scouts in a unique way—the "stationary parade." Instead of parading past the President for two or three hours, the Scouts will stand still, in single columns on both sides of Constitution Avenue from the Capitol to the Lincoln Memorial. The President and other dignitaries will drive between the columns.
