Two Fliers of Pacific Air Transport Mail Are Killed

CRASH INTO MOUNTAIN IN DENSE FOG

Starbuck and Parmelee Try in Vain to Locate Landing Field at Burbank—Sound of Motor Heard.

NO FIRE IS FOUND

Wrecked Plane Is Found When Searching Party Reaches Scene Pointed Out by Other Aviators.

BURBANK, Calif., May 6. (AP)—Art Starbuck and Chas. R. Parmelee, pilots of a Pacific Air Transport mail plane, were found dead in the wreckage of their plane on a mountain side eight miles north of here today.

Flying the northbound night air mail from San Diego, the aviators met death in a heavy fog that shrouded the vicinity.

The plane left San Diego at 10:15 o'clock last night for Los Angeles, and shortly before midnight officials at the company's airport here heard the drone of one engine as the plane circled Burbank in a vain effort to locate the landing field.

Because of the dense fog, scouting planes could not take up the search and lead the lost ship to its base.

At dawn two planes took off. The fog had lifted somewhat, shortly afterward the mail plane was sighted on the mountain side.

Both pilots were found strapped in their seats. The ship did not catch fire.

Officials of the Pacific Air Transport company here said they were in touch with the plane by radio shortly before the ship crashed. The plane was flying at about 2,500 feet, they said, and the pilots did not report they were unable to find the landing field, although a dense fog shrouded the city.

Both pilots were married and each had one child. Starbuck lived in Los Angeles; Parmelee in Oakland.

Legion Band to Enter Contest for Entire State

Legionnaires of the Kerley-Crossman post believe that the Pampa band has a good chance to win the state contest at El Paso and the right to represent Texas at the national Legion convention at Detroit if a plan now being considered by the local post is adopted.

The post has arranged to form a band comprising the East bandmen from nearby towns that would go to El Paso and enter the contest as the Pampa band. About two or three men would be selected from each town and in addition, eight men from Pampa. The state convention, meets at El Paso Aug. 21-26, inclusive.

The Legion would assemble the band and send it to El Paso as the Pampa and if expenses could be met. It was suggested that if business organizations were responsible for the expense of one man, the trip could be arranged.

The present Pampa band is planning to enter the fifth division contest at Lubbock June 21. The fifth division includes the 16th, 17th and 18th districts of the Legion in Texas.

L. O. Johnson, member of the advertising department of the News and Post, received word last night that his grandmother, Mrs. James Johnson, 81, is critically ill. She is at her home in San Diego, Tex.

Buyers' Feast Will Be Offered On Dollar Day

Another of those bargain-feast days will arrive tomorrow when Pampa merchants offer hundreds of items at big reductions for Dollar Day. Much time and thought has been given to preparation for the big event, and many hundreds of dollars will be saved by buyers tomorrow.

With merchandise prices in Pampa already at the level of other towns in the Panhandle, the added reductions will be an incentive to thrifty buyers. Over each month hundreds of items which regularly sell for $1.50 to $3.50 are offered at $1. Many housewives, who have been watching these dollar specials have been able to purchase many needed items at savings amounting to as much as $1 each.

Plan to come to Pampa tomorrow. The savings you can make will more than pay for the time and trouble and you'll enjoy shopping where your money will buy like it did during pre-war days.

Mark Long Heads Legion

Local Post Will Assist Hignins in Organizing Body at That Place.

Mark Long was installed as commander of the Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion at a meeting in the Legion hall last night. Mr. Long has been vice-commander.

He replaces C. C. Alexander, who has been in the east Texas oil fields for several months attending to business. Mr. Alexander frequently expressed a desire to be released from the commander's duties on account of the fact that he was forced to be out of the city much of the time.

New members of the executive committee appointed last night were Artie C. Saylor and D. W. Thurman. Other members are C. M. Carlock, W. H. Lang and J. W. Murphy.

The post made plans last night to assist ex-service men at Higgins in organizing a post in that town. May 14 Dr. R. A. Webb, district committee man, J. A. Pearson, and Mr. Thurman will go to Higgins and assist in the organization.

Plans were made by the local post for the observance of Decoration day, May 30. A committee was appointed to confer with representatives of the various churches regarding observance of Decoration day special service on Sunday, May 31.

DUNCANS TO SEE MEXICO

Advantages of Special Trip Are Pointed Out by Pampa Citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Duncan will make the sight-seeing trip to Mexico City during the week beginning May 16, in the special train sponsored by the Amarillo News-Globe. The purpose of the special is to carry a verbal invitation to President Rubio of Mexico to open the Tih State Fair at Amarillo this fall. The fair will cover approximately 3,500 miles.

"I believe this trip will not only be economical, but will offer us a chance to see Mexico with most of the arrangements in the hands of the managers of the project," Mr. Duncan said. "Owing to the unsettled conditions in that country, the assurance of this service and of the courtesies of the Mexican government should cause many Panhandle residents to make the journey."

Democrat Wins Baltimore Post

BALTIMORE, May 6. (AP)—Baltimore returned its municipal affairs to democratic hands yesterday, electing Howard W. Jackson mayor and his ticket, down 17 out of a possible 18 councilmen, by the largest margins ever given municipal candidates. They ranged from 69,000 to 63,000 votes.

Jackson, mayor of the city from 1923 to 1927, defeated William G. Albrecht, republican, 120,355 to 57,191 and May 19 will take for four years the reins of government from Mayor William F. Broening, republican, who replaced him in 1927.

Threats Related in Woman's Trial On Assault Count

Her husband, Nick Nicholson, threatened her "500 times" before she shot him, Mrs. Bertie Nicholson testified in 31st district court where she is being tried today on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Mrs. Nicholson, American wife of a Greek restaurant owner, testified on the witness stand that when her husband appeared at the back door he had his right hand at his pocket and was shaking the door with the left hand. She said she shot him because she thought he was going to shoot her.

The witness denied that she attacked her husband in a local cafe with a butcher-knife. She declared it was a "pocket-knife." She said her altercation in the cafe concerned disputed property rights. She said she drove a new "Packard Eight."

Nicholson on the stand said that on the day his wife shot him through the lung at the back door of the Nicholson home, he telephoned her before he went to the house that he was coming after his suit-case. He said she shot him as soon as he arrived at the door. He declared that his wife had threatened him "more than 500 times," and that he believed she had made up her mind to kill him.

Mrs. Nellie Sinclair testified that she had heard Nicholson threaten his wife before she came to Pampa. Dr. R. M. Bellamy described the extent of Nicholson's injury.

Senator Woodruff of Decatur pleaded with proponents of the bond issue to agree to place the Brooks bill on the table until the house made some disposition of the $212,000,000 highway bond resolution under discussion today. Woodruff made such a motion but it was tabled.

Woodruff predicted that the bond issue would not gain 100 votes in the house "today, next week, nor next year."

Senators Poage of Waco and Small of Wellington joined in a move to increase the gasoline tax by one cent a gallon.

Frage said he wanted the senate to take action on the motion to print the Brooks bill before the house voted for or against the highway bond issue.

Waste Already Is Well Over $200,000; Exact Flow Is Matter of Debate—One Guess 50,000 Barrels.

GLADEWATER, May 6. (AP)—A second charge of nitroglycerin set off shortly before noon today by oil fire fighters seeking to shut off flames raging at the Sinclair No. 1 Cole well failed to have any effect on the inferno which a week ago yesterday fatally burned nine workmen. A first charge of explosives used early today was equally futile.

Waste is Large
Seventy thousands of dollars worth of oil continued to go up in smoke. No reliable estimate of the waste could be made, but it was thought it might run as high as $200,000. When the well blew in wild a week ago Sunday, it was thought to be producing 50,000 barrels daily. No test of the oil's gravity had been made, but east Texas crude sells from a top price of 67 cents down to the low thirties. If the well has been flowing oil worth 50 cents a barrel for the nine and a half days, still at the originally estimated rate, the waste would amount to about $237,000. Oil men pointed out, however, that its flow might be far less than the 50,000 barrels estimated when it first blew in.

A spark set off the well, bringing death to nine men.

Tremendous Roar
The roar of the explosion could be heard for miles. The blast also tore the rotary table away from the well.

The Klineys were planning to double the amount of nitro in the second charge. Harry Kliney, younger brother of the fire-fighting experts, set the blast off from a point 200 feet away.

A rain of steel fragments, rock and oil fell over an area of half a mile.

Music Is One of Greatest Personal Accomplishments - More of It Needed

"Music hath charms" and so has the musician. There is no personal accomplishment which affords greater and more lasting satisfaction to a person and his friends than ability to play one or more instruments well.

Music as something done to or for a person is quite different from that done by him. Participation is most pleasurable so much so that the best musical minds are more interested in training young folk than in tutoring adults already "arrived."

Good music is not expensive—perhaps that is why people do not demand more of it. All that is needed is to give students a few years of musical opportunities. Recently the writer heard a young men's orchestra render a pleasing program. He learned that not one of the organization knew anything of music four years ago.

Music is not easy. It is comparable to mathematics and, in fact, has scientific phases which challenge the mind to grasp them. Music offers all the opportunity for study and research desired in connection with education institutions.

A few years ago, school children regarded music for boys as effeminate, and the girls avoided it as they did the plague. How vastly different today! The lad who can play an instrument, even though it be a jew's-harp, is apt to be popular.

America is having a revival of music which should go far toward giving her a leading place in the nation and in the world. The seat of this revival is in the schools, which are contributing hugely to the success of music week.

Pampa is fortunate in having assembled a capable corps of men and women who have been putting the right emphasis upon music, the universal language.

WASHINGTON, May 1. (NPA).—One thing about Hoover commissions is that they don't get out of hand. They're main Hoover commissions to the end.

The history of the Woods unemployment committee appointed in connection with the great problem of joblessness, has been somewhat analogous to that of the Wickersham commission, created primarily as a means of dealing with troublesome prohibition issue.

Hoover's enemies are found charging that both were established only as political smokescreens, and that the president subsequently undertook to manipulate them for political purposes.

Mr. Hoover's friends reply that only a man's enemies would say things like that.

But it's a fact that both committees did some good work, and that the president's choice of personnel is conceded to have been admirable. In each case, however, a chairman was named who could be depended upon not to embarrass the administration.

Chairman George W. Wickersham, in constant contact with the White House, managed to come out a "dry" set of recommendations from his commission despite the decision of seven of 11 members that prohibition was a flop.

Chairman Arthur Woods of the unemployment committee kept on doing his best without a murmur until he felt forced to resign because, with his powers restricted at the outset, his data was suppressed and his recommendations ignored.

Six other officers of the committee stepped out at the same time, indicating the more or less general dissatisfaction which existed. But it was all very quiet and orderly and no one accompanied his withdrawal with any cracks at the administration.

Nevertheless, the bitterness which seethed within the Wickersham commission at what was termed White House interference was duplicated in the ranks of the unemployment committee and its staff.

The unemployment group consisted mainly of experts in their line who insisted that something ought to be done about unemployment by the federal government besides exhorting everyone else to do something about it. It is understood that Woods, who takes the unemployment problem quite seriously, was anxious to resign last December, oppressed by a feeling of futility.

Early this year a member of the committee attacked the administration's inaction before a small, select group at a private dinner in a Washington club. Woods himself is said to have assured members of the committee that although courtesy to the president demanded that they hold their tongues while still serving, there was no reason why they shouldn't speak their minds after retirement, using any information they had acquired here.

self is said to have assured members of the committee that although courtesy to the president demanded that they hold their tongues while still serving, there was no reason why they shouldn't speak their minds after retirement, using any information they had acquired here.

In the last few weeks all that was heard from Woods was occasional announcements of large sums being devoted to construction in the country. These were conspicuously unaccompanied by comparative figures for similar periods last year. The Department of Commerce's bureau of public construction had surveyed new government construction a few months ago and, despite all the ballyhoo there had been about that sort of thing as a federal effort to reduce unemployment, the result was withheld by White House order.

Woods is said to have recommended to the president a large federal appropriation for highway construction, the Wagner employment exchange bill which the president vetoed, a $40,000,000 army barracks repair program, bringing up to date the Agriculture Department's reforestation program and distribution of garden seed to miners and other unemployed persons.

Furniture for Children's Room in Adult Design

This secretary should help the child's "home work."

By MARGERY TAYLOR
Interior Decoration Editor, McCall's Magazine. Written for Pampa Daily News.

Furniture for the children's room has stopped "pretending" and now follows an adult pattern which not even a growing boy can outgrow.

The day when only a herd of comical animals marching across the walls was considered the proper aesthetic influence is rapidly passing. Now real pictures and good designs are not considered beyond the youthful seal.

Simplicity, not childishness, is into the patient's blood, and is responsible for the alarming character of the disease. Sometimes apparently healthy individuals harbor the germs in their throats, yet remain perfectly well. They are called "carriers" because they spread the germs. The undiscovered "carriers" in a community are a constant danger to those who are unprotected.

"While the law does not require immunization to diphtheria, nevertheless, the health authorities urge that you take advantage of the safe, simple means of protection which are now offered, and act now on your desire to provide for the future welfare of your children."

the spirit of the modern child's room. A bed is a bed, not an automobile, and a chest of drawers is not a bungalow.

Grasping the truth of the adage that the boy's father to the main, the new generation's taste is being properly molded. For the adult's room in miniature is the ideal for the child's room, for which the best of adult period furniture is being reproduced to fit.

Early American maple reproductions, worthy of the best living room, are popular choices for the new children's furniture. French Provincial, too, is attractive, and Jacobean oak seems to have been created for boys. Chests, tables and chairs—all are correct in proportion and graceful in line.

The child's "home work" becomes less of a task when seated before an attractive slant-top desk or a charming miniature secretary, much like that used by grown-ups in another part of the house.

Armchairs, helpful in making the child's room home-like are popular in the wing style, covered with lively chintz. Club chairs and Martin Washington chairs also have their appeal, some being upholstered in velvet and satin. Then there are Windsor, ladderbacks and Hitchcock side and arm chairs.

Accessories are generally in keeping with the new vogue of maturity and draperies and upholstery are in

Feminine Fancies

By HOLLYCE SELLERS HINKLE

Seen on a downtown street. A little lady of about three years sporting a brand new red and white checked pajama suit with white trimmings and a soft-brimmed hat of the same material. "Classy," don't you think? A suit that could be desired by any lover of pretty clothes, regardless of her age.

Have you noticed the lovely warm-weather clouds? It is worth taking a long walk just to look at them. Makes you think fairies really exist and are dwelling in those misty "mountains of snow."

Members of the Amoma class, First Baptist church, were to wear house dresses to the luncheon today in the home of Mrs. G. S. Rice. House dresses can be made just as attractive as the more formal silk dresses. They are within the reach of every woman. They encourage the use of cotton, Texas' own product. They make every class member "feel at home."

Children who were examined at the pre-school clinic Monday were advised to take toxoid against diphtheria and to receive smallpox vaccination. They were given pamphlets containing, among other things, the following points:

Nearly all children are susceptible to diphtheria, and during their pre-school age, their resistance is at its lowest. Physicians and health officers everywhere urge parents to give children the benefit of the new means of protection. Diphtheria toxoid is the newest weapon in the prevention of diphtheria. It gives protection in one-fourth the time of toxin-antitoxin. It is a two-dose rather than a three-dose treatment.

Says the bulletin:

"Diphtheria is a germ disease, caused by a special kind of bacillus, which finds the most favorable place for its development on the membranes of the surface of the throat. The germs find their way directly from one person to another, usually from the sick to healthy persons, with whom they come in contact. When once established in the throat, the diphtheria germs produce large amounts of a strong poison (toxin). This poison is absorbed

NORTH PLAINS MUSIC FESTIVAL BEGINS HERE TODAY

RAINY WEATHER CAUSES DELAY IN SOME TRIPS

"Everything is all right except the weather," declared "Pop" Frazier this morning in commenting on the music festival which is being held here today and tomorrow under the auspices of the North Plains Music Teachers association, of which Mr. Frazier is president.

Bands and orchestras from Clarendon and Panhandle had arrived by 10 o'clock this morning, and groups from Canyon and White Deer were expected by noon. It is thought impossible for the groups from Perryton, Groom, and Portales, N. M., to make the trip, due to inclement weather.

All contests are being held at the First Methodist church. Major R. J. Dunn, director of music at A. and M. college, is judging bands, orchestras, and instrumental solos, and Miss Mattie May Swisher of Canyon, president of the Panhandle Music Teachers association, will judge piano and voice numbers. Certificates will be presented the winners of first and second places. Band concerts and orchestra numbers were given this morning, and instrumental solos and rhythm bands were to occupy the early afternoon hours. One club was to contest at 3 o'clock, and music memory contests will be held late this afternoon.

Winners will be announced at the close of the contests.

Play for Library Benefit Is Being Rehearsed Often

Members of the library board emphasized this morning that they are sponsoring the premiere production of the five-episode play, "Beauty at the Throat," because more funds for the adequate maintenance of the library will be needed by the first of June.

The first production of the play anywhere will be at the city auditorium, May 26 at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets will go on sale at various places in the city next week.

The three-cent tax to support the library will be approved or rejected at the polls, May 19. If the measure should carry, funds derived from the special tax would not be available before Jan. 1, 1932. The library has been and still is "in the red."

The board feels that the citizenship can give financial support to the library and at the same time "get their money's worth" by buying tickets and seeing the play.

Rehearsal is now being held three times a week. The players, all experienced actors who have had a great deal of expensive training and an unusual amount of stage experience considering their age, are high school seniors. The play deals with the experiences of a sensitive, courageous youth, a painter of marine pictures, among five gruff, mucking, yet honest and brave, seamen. The climax is as gripping as it is touching. Action takes place near and at Cape Horn on a sailing vessel.

Mrs. E. R. Turman, well-known Panhandle artist, is painting scenes to be used in the production of the play.

Campaign Funds May Be Limited

WASHINGTON, May 6. (AP)—Legislation to limit campaign expenditures and to establish an agency to help enforce the law was advocated today by Chairman Nye of the senate campaign funds committee.

Senator Nye took favorably to these proposals which were advanced during the two days of hearings by the committee this week on means of reforming congressional elections.

Legislation to carry out the recommendations will be introduced by Senator Nye next session. The North Dakota republican is hopeful of having the support of the entire committee.

Nye favors the proposal to restrict expenditures on a vote basis—three or four cents for each vote—cast in the congressional district in the preceding election.

Minute Interviews

Dr. Walter Purviance—Yes, I believe my leg is getting better. I think it will come around all right now. . . . I reckon it will get well if I live long enough.

Commissioner Lewis O. Cox—None of this cast and reel fishing for me. I tried it one time in Red River canyon out in New Mexico. I caught no fish but the man beside me couldn't reel them in fast enough. . . . I like to sit on the bank and take my time.

H. D. Keys, manager of the J. C. Penney store—Mr. Penney wanted to come to Pampa but he had so many engagements in Amarillo he couldn't get away. . . . The more we told him about the place the more interested he became.

George Thut—After you've lived through 40 or 50 springs they all seem alike to one—that is after the first 20 or 25.

A spectator at the first program of music week last night as she was going down the steps of the city hall—And what makes me sick is that many of the people who will pay two or three dollars for a seat and drive over to Amarillo to hear first-rate musicians will not even come to a free concert when a first-rate musical performance is given in Pampa.

WILL SIGN DIPLOMAS
WACO, May 6. (AP)—Pres. S. P. Brooks of Baylor university, in a hospital with what doctors say will prove a fatal illness, today prepared to sign the diplomas to be awarded members of this year's graduating class. Unable to present the diplomas personally as he has done for years, Dr. Brooks asked physicians to let him sign them. There are 257 candidates for degrees and Brooks will sign their diplomas a few at a time.

From the outset, Hack Wilson who took the major league crown away from Ruth last season, has had trouble adjusting his batting sights to the new ball and the outer barriers.

Princess Ileana Engaged to Duke

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 5. (AP)—Princess Ileana, 22-year-old daughter of Queen Mother Marie, is betrothed to Archduke Anton de Bourbon, nephew of the late Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary.

The engagement ceremony has been held in the castle of Umrich near Freiburg, Germany. Those attending included Queen Marie, the Grand Duke Cyril, and Princess Thyra of Russia and the Prince and Princess of Hohenzollern.

Princess Ileana's name has been linked with many a member of European royalty, including the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Bulgaria and Crown Prince Humbert of Italy. These rumors were put to rest in January, 1930, when it was announced she would wed Count Alexander of Hochberg, son of the Prince of Piess. Subsequently, the engagement was cancelled under unexplained circumstances.

Accompanied by Queen Marie, she visited the United States in 1926 and was well received. She dined at the White House, attended a dance at West Point and narrowly escaped injury in an automobile accident near Chicago. She sailed for home with her heart intact.

Archduke Anton is 30 years old and an aviator of note. When the Austro-Hungarian monarchy fell after the war, he went to Spain with the royal family and became an engineer. Having bought a plane from his savings, he was awarded a prize by Austrian authorities last July as the first flier to touch Vienna in a round-Europe flight.

He is the son of the late Archduke Salvadore and Princess Blanche of Bourbon.

Joe Hauser, who led them all last year by banging out 63 homers for the Baltimore Orioles of the International league, likewise has been beset by the linx hovering over the big bats of baseball. Joe strained a ligament before the start of the season and was forced out of the lineup.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting
Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins cause piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 990 cases, he named it HEM-ROID Fatherese Drug Company says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.—Adv. 3.

Just lift the FLAP to open THE HUMIDOR PACK

1 Do not tear Cellophane. Look for the convenient flap at the top and back of package

2 Simply lift this flap and you will break the specially devised air-seal

3 Hold package as shown and with your thumbs push it part way out of Humidor Pack

4 To avoid tearing tin foil, slip first finger of each hand under Revenue stamp and break it

5 Help yourself to a fresh cigarette, then slide package back into its Humidor Pack

6 Close package. It guards Camels from dust and germs and provides sanitary protection

THE moment you open the new Camel Humidor Pack you begin to note the advantages of this new, scientific and sanitary method of wrapping Camel cigarettes.

At once you are greeted with the delightful aroma that comes from choicest Turkish and mellowest Domestic tobaccos in prime condition.

Your sense of touch also detects the freshness of Camels, for unlike moisture-robbed cigarettes Camels are pliable to the fingers.

But the real difference comes when you light a Camel and inhale its cool, fragrant smoke. Cigarettes brought to you so perfectly conditioned deserve to be kept that way in your pocket.

The simplest way to insure this is to open the Camel Humidor Pack as shown above.

That will keep intact the mildness and freshness that is making the whole country say: "Now I'd walk two miles for a Camel because they're twice as good."

If you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack, switch over for just one day.

Then go back tomorrow, if you can.

Smoke a FRESH Cigarette!

THE GOOD HOSTESS PROVIDES CAMELS
It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

FORD BRAKES ARE UNUSUALLY EFFECTIVE

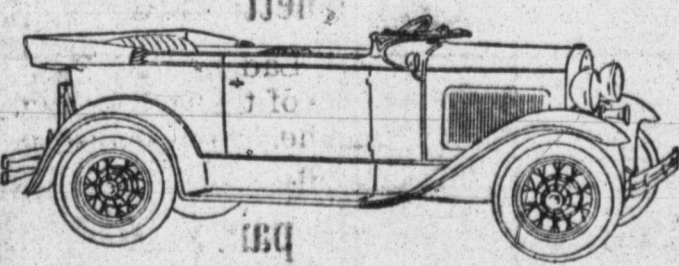

Reliability and safety due to simple design and careful construction

ONE OF the first things you will notice when you drive the Ford is the quick, effective action of its four-wheel brakes.

They are unusually safe and reliable because they are mechanical, internal expanding, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed. This prevents mud, water, sand, etc., from getting between the band and drum and interfering with brake action.

Other outstanding features of the Ford are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, torque-tube drive, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, Rustless Steel, reliability, economy, and long life.

You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

BOSTON FANS THRILLED BY WORK OF WES SCHULMERICH

LOS ANGELES STARRAPPING IN THE RUNS

Giants Tighen Race as Robins Lose Again; Cubs Cling to Third Place.

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Where Boston fans are asking today, has this Wesley Schulmerich been for the last three weeks?

They had their first glimpse of Wes just two days ago when he appeared in right field for the Braves and knocked in a run that headed the Phillies, 4 to 3. They saw him for the second time yesterday when he hit a homer in the sixth and then tripled in the ninth to drive in the score that licked the Phils again, 5 to 4.

The big outfielder, who hit .377 for Los Angeles last season, has been riding the bench ever since the Braves got home from the south. The report got out that he couldn't hit a curve ball. Evidently the Phils forgot to serve him benders in the last two games.

The National League race tightened around the top as the Giants made it two straight from Brooklyn, 8 to 0, and the Cardinals were idle for the second time. Only a half-game separated them today. Freddie Fitzsimmons held the Robins to three hits.

Chicago Cubs cling to third place by downing Cincinnati again, 8 to 4. They scored all their runs in the first three innings off Frey and Benton. Sweetland's lead was never in danger.

There was another rapid change of scenery in the American league as the Washington Senators took a one-sided trouncing from the Yankees and dropped from second place to fifth. The champion Athletics took advantage of the excitement to move into third place.

In winning their first game from the Senators since the early last September, 18 to 8, the Yankees pounded four pitchers for 19 hits, including homers by Gehrig and Reese. Babe Ruth cleared the bases with a mighty double in the second inning.

George Earnshaw turned in his second brilliant performance in five days as the Athletics defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 1. He allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Earl Webb, and struck out ten.

Cleveland held its two-game advantage over the field by outscoring the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6. Burnett, Averill and Fonseca led a 17-hit assault on three Brown pitchers, the latter hitting a homer.

Long distance hitting and Urban Faber's fine relief hurling featured the White Sox 7 to 3 victory over Detroit. Faber allowed only one hit and no runs after relieving Francis in the fifth inning.

OX EMERSON FAVORITE
AUSTIN, May 6. (AP)—Students of the University of Texas yesterday gave the deposed leader of the 1931 Loughran football team, Grover (Ox) Emerson of Orange a sweeping majority as the most popular athlete on the university campus.

Emerson was voted the Norris trophy, annually awarded to the athlete whom university students acclaim as their favorite among the orange and white.

Emerson led Milton "Pan" Perkins of Bastrop, in the runner-up position, by approximately 300 votes. Earl Taylor of Austin was in third place.

Natural gas deposits in the United States will be exhausted by 1980, J. S. Blanchfield, chairman of the American Gas association, has predicted.

Johnny Farrell on GOLF

By JOHNNY FARRELL
Former American Open Champion
As Told to ALAN
NO. 6. SHORT IRON PLAY

One of the commonest faults of the ordinary golfer is to stand too far away from the ball, especially in making short iron shots.

I suppose a part of this is because most players go into the game with the memory and habit of making baseball swings.

Subconsciously the average player, if he is slicing or connecting with the heel of his club, feels he should stand farther away from the ball to correct the tendency.

Actually he should stand closer to the ball. The upright swing provides more control and consequent accuracy for these short shots.

I should say nine out of 10 players would gain better results by standing at least an inch or two closer.

On the tee another common fault is to spread the legs too far apart. The main thing is to have an easy balance for the backswing and follow-through. It should be remembered that the feet are to be with the club-head, not with the body.

My early teacher, Tom Kerrigan, once told me:

"One of the most difficult things to teach is to retain a firm grip with the fingers and still keep relaxed or flexible wrists. The golfer who grips his club too firmly usually stiffens his wrists top. Or, if he thinks about keeping flexible wrists he fails to grip the club firm enough."

On iron play, if I were to pass along advice for the early stages of the season, I would suggest that a player take his mashie and mid-

RISKO IS TOO STRONG FOR YOUNG BAER

Cleveland Baker Boy Punches Way to Decision Over Strong Youth.

CLEVELAND, May 6. (AP)—Young Max Baer, the touted Californian, had another reverse to show today in his heavyweight career.

The Los Angeles lad found the experience of the veteran Johnny Risko too much for him last night and lost a 10-round decision to the one-time Cleveland baker boy.

Baer rocked the Clevelander with a fusillade of strong rights in the first round but Risko came back to win the second, hold his own in good shape through the eight and punch out a winning edge in the last two frames. The two judges, Larry Norette and Herb Williams, agreed on the decision.

Johnny Kilbane was the referee. Risko, fighting for the fourth time in five weeks, was worried in the close milling, but did the most damage at long range. He pounded away at Max's head throughout, with the Californian concentrating on a stiff body attack. They clinched frequently in the losing rounds, and Risko built up the telling margin in breaking away.

Baer, who weighed 204, had a nine-pound advantage.

New York School Board Is Attacked

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—The city affairs committee of the National Republican club today advised Governor Roosevelt that the New York board of education is "top-heavy with politics and mediocrity."

The committee wrote the governor merely for his "information." Two weeks ago the committee attacked Mayor Walker's private list in a statement issued by Alan Fox but the club disavowed the statement.

The report blames the condition of the school system on Mayor Walker, who has remained indifferent although he holds power of removal of members of the board of education.

The superintendent, William J. O'Shea, is described as a man of "mediocre intellectual equipment, educationally unprogressive, who has never contributed an important idea to educational improvement."

The report mentions "ugly rumors" in school site purchases, and charged that party warfare is being put ahead of the welfare of a million pupils.

Larry Reitenour, who led the Texas league in homers, with 48 last year, has not rounded into good enough shape to hold down a regular post yet with the St. Louis near Shreveport. He is a self-styled nut, the home run kings of baseball have run into a flock of early trouble.

King Elliot Will Defend Reputation on Thursday

Powerful Englishman Will Meet Shreveport Plantation Man at Majestic.

When a reputation is at stake something usually happens. Pampa wrestling fans are wondering what will happen tomorrow night at the New Majestic when King Elliot of Liverpool, Eng., and Jack Purdin of Shreveport, La., meet on the Pampa mat.

Both are light heavies and among the fastest in the game.

King Elliot is an English gentleman while Jack Purdin is a self-styled country gentleman. Purdin owns and operates one of the largest plantation farms around Shreveport and only comes out of retirement when some mean man comes into the country and needs subduing. He keeps in condition all the time as his calls from confinement are frequent.

The Britisher is scheduled to tip the scales at 185 pounds although it is the bet of Otis Clingman, who met him last week, that he weighs 195 pounds. Purdin weighs 187 pounds, according to advance information.

The LeFors wildcat, named Willie, will be back on the mat tomorrow night. His opponent will be none other than the "rasslin" barber, better known as W. B. Kelly. Kelly wields a mean razor and admits he is just about as good on the mat.

Connie Graham will try to beat Andy Gump's ear down in the opening event. Andy, better known as the Dutch Mantel of Pampa, says he is going to the Connie up in knive and then challenge Red Michaels.

FORT WORTH CATS KNOCKED OFF FENCE

Houston Buff Crowd Close to First Place After Pair of Victories.

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Art Fitch's Fort Worth Cats, pacing the Texas league flag-chase, were knocked off the pennant fence for the second consecutive time Tuesday night by the Houston Buffaloes.

Monday night, George Washington Payne of the Buffs stopped the Cats 7 to 5, and Tuesday night the five-hit pitching of E. Hansen clipped another point or so from the Cats league lead, 1 to 0. Hansen struck out four and walked three to put his mates within a game and half of first place.

If the San Antonio Indians nursed an idea they were going to ride one of baseball's so-called gray trains when the Shreveport Sports arrived in the Alamo city, they have had a chance to switch their minds. For the second time in five times the Sports have licked the Indians. Tuesday night it was a 2 to 2 tie with Oscar Estrada, Cuban southpaw, holding the Indians to nine hits. The veteran Tom Estelle started for San Antonio and his spittling delivery was hampered hard by the Sports who collected five runs and seven hits in six innings. It was the Sports' sixth win and left them only a game behind Galveston for seventh place.

After going along several days as a throwback to the jiffless wonders, the Dallas Steers lugged their war clubs to the plate Tuesday and chiseled hits enough to sink the Galveston Buccaneers, 6 to 2. While his mates cracked out 15 hits, George Murray, ace right hander of the Dallas staff, pitched one of the really excellent games of the season, holding the Buccaneers to five hits. Leo Cotter, first sacker, and Al Todd, recruit catcher, led the Dallas attack with three and four hits respectively.

Beaumont had to be satisfied with an even split against Wichita Falls. The Spudgers grabbed the opener, 5 to 3. In winning the Spudgers sent Muleshoe Tom Vaughan down for his first defeat this season. They found Florida's mound offering to their taste and walked him for four runs in the first inning to win, 4 to 3.

WOMAN TITLE HOLDER HAS BECOME PRO

Miss Virginia Pepp Plans to Instruct Both Men and Women in Golf.

ST. LOUIS, May 6. (AP)—With no more amateur titles hereabouts for her to win, Miss Virginia Pepp has become St. Louis' first woman golf professional.

Miss Pepp, five times winner of the St. Louis District Women's championship and numerous other titles, next week will join the group of instructors at the Triple A club here, instructing both men and women.

"I believe I can hold my own with the men," Miss Pepp, who virtually taught herself the game and first won the district title in 1922 at the age of 17, told an interviewer today. "I think I have enough ability as a player to prove to golfers there is a field for women on the links as well as in other professions."

Miss Pepp decided to turn professional, she said, because she already had won every title available here "and I feel I owe it to myself to capitalize on my ability while at the top of my game."

A stylist of the game, she shoots an average score of around 80. Two of her brothers, Frank and John, are professionals.

While not the first woman golf professional, golfers here said today she probably was the first at a semi-public club for both men and women, such as the Triple A.

where we're drifting!" "But if she doesn't know she can't be hurt, can she?" Marica persisted. "No one must be hurt!" he said firmly. "Why, this sort of thing can lead anywhere. I see it in court every day. Tragedies. Misunderstandings. It's playing with fire. We can't do it, Marica."

The girl's face was averted. They had turned from the "bridge," state highway into an up-ramp, cross-ramp. On either side stretched fields and fields with here and there a well-lighted house. The dwellers in those homes were not prosperous. Fences ragged, drunkenly and chickens fled with shrill squawks at the approach of the roadster.

Marica looked at the surrounding landscape with obvious distaste. "I suppose you're right," she said after a pause. "I'll have to go away."

"But I don't want you to go. There's no need for it!" The girl turned then and looked at him. She smiled, but there was an infinite pathos behind that smile. "Oh, my dear!" she said. "It's the only way. I'll go away and you can forget me. That will be best."

"I'll never forget you, Marica. You know that."

They rode in silence for several minutes. The town remained between Jim Wallace's eyes. Presently the girl said, "Well, it's settled. I'm going. I don't know where but I'm going away. Do just this one thing for me, Jim! Let's drive to the Ledges. We're nearly half way there, anyhow. I want this last afternoon together to be something to remember."

Wallace glanced at the sky. The sun had been hidden from view all afternoon. In the west the clouds were darkening.

"Guess we can make it," he said. "I don't like the look of those clouds though."

The Ledges was the name given to an ancient landmark five miles west of Forest City, Jackson Creek, winding its circuitous pathway, struggled through a region of rolling hillsides where layers of sandstone projected, occasionally in the great sandstone ledges. The ledges never been used commercially. They fall the brownish stone surface blended with the riotous scarlet and gold of sunnich and oak leaves and underbrush of a dozen varieties.

In spring the Ledges were visited every Sunday by scores of "hikers," family picnic parties and young men and women carrying cameras and forever taking snapshots.

There was sentimental interest attached to the Ledges too. There was a flat rock high on one of the ledges which served as a meeting place for others and overlooked an abrupt drop. You could faintly see the white tower of Forest City's highest building from this height. On this ledge could be traced numerous initials carved in pairs. Sometimes the letters were surrounded by the crude outline of a heart. Here and there beside such an inscription as "Sally and Bob" or "Esther and John" there would be the day of the month and year. Neatly carved and framed in a square at the northeast corner of the rock were the letters "M. L." and "J. W." which Jim had cut there on a high school picnic before ever he had had the courage to ask Marica for a "date."

A private road led from the main highway across a field, the nearest approach to the Ledges. Jim swung the car into this lane, driving carefully. The road ended 50 yards from the hillside.

"Want to get out?" he asked. Marica nodded. They walked over to the edge of the bluff and surveyed the distance. Jackson Creek at the base of the hill was a narrow, wavering stream.

Beyond the countryside was a sweep of greens shading from dark red to light. Occasionally the bright red or yellow of a barn or farm house stood out against this background. The neat fenced fields of corn seemed to make a pattern of great squares.

Marica sank to the rock. "Sit down, Jim," she said. He dropped beside her, took out his cigarette case and offered it to the girl. She declined. Jim took a lighter from his pocket, applied the flame to his own cigarette and leaned back smoking intently.

The situation was hardly romantic. For an instant Marica eyed the young man disapprovingly, then she said, drawing nearer. "Like old times, isn't it? Do you remember the last time we were here?"

"Jim nodded. "Haven't been here since."

"You liked me then. You didn't want to send me away."

"I don't want to send you away now. Stay here! There's no reason for you to leave. If anyone has to go I can be the one to do it."

Marica's fingers stole over his. "Please don't be cross, Jim," she coaxed. "When I'm only trying to do what you want me to, I've tried so hard, dear! I knew it was wrong to telephone this afternoon but I hadn't seen you for a whole week and the house was full of those women talking and sewing. I was making so much noise. I had to get away from it. And I didn't think there'd be any harm in seeing you for just a few minutes."

"But it's just as I've told you," Jim repeated. "We mustn't go on with this sort of thing! No matter how harmless it seems to you."

Marica was quiet. Presently she raised eyes that were wistful, adoring. "Tell me," her voice was a whisper - "if it weren't for hurting her - would you care the same way?"

Jim snuffed out his cigarette. He was not looking at the girl. "I'll always be fond of you," he told her. "I haven't the right to be anything else."

"I'll never forget that," she told him solemnly. "It's a challenge to me. Suddenly she buried her head against his shoulder, her arms clung to him. "Oh, Jim," she cried. "I love you. I love you so much!"

His arms were around her. Her warm neck was a challenge. He held her closely. Then Marica lifted her head and Jim's lips crushed hers in a long kiss.

They looked at each other, then Jim's face was drained of color. "We'd better go back," he said. He helped the girl to her feet and they started back toward the roadster. Several times Marica glanced at him, puzzled. She could not read the expression on his face.

When they were settled in the car she asked him cautiously, "Jim - are you sorry?"

"I'm a fool!" he told her harshly. It was the only answer she received.

All the way to the city he drove recklessly. It was fortunate there was little travel. The sun, hidden all day, suddenly emerged from the clouds and shone low in the west. It was nearly six when the let Marica out at the cottage.

"Good night," she said, smiling and extending her hand. "Good night, Marica."

It did not occur to Jim that though it had been a farewell drive not cars had the words "goodbye" been said.

"That evening he seemed to make an effort to be considerate of Gypsy. He praised the dinner and later suggested a trip down town to see the new Fairbanks picture. Gypsy was grateful. It had been a day in which things had gone wrong.

She was in the kitchen next morning when the telephone rang. Matilda was mixing pastry dough. "I'll go," Gypsy said and hurried into the hall. It was Jim.

"That you, Gypsy?" he asked. "Say, how would it be if I asked Harrison to come to dinner tomorrow evening? I've just found out he's leaving town next week for quite a long stay. We've never had him out, you know. Do you suppose you could manage it?"

"Why, of course. I'd love to have him come."

"All right. I'll fix it up for tomorrow evening then. It's the only chance because he has a lot of other engagements. What time shall I say? Six-thirty?"

She told him six would be right. Swinging around and setting down the telephone, Gypsy began to plan a campaign of activity. She was anxious that the dinner for Mr. Harrison should be just right. Gypsy had the greatest admiration and respect for the aged lawyer. She had seen him occasionally since the first day she had gone to Jim's office and each time her original impression had been strengthened. She had, furthermore, a feeling that Harrison was her friend.

The whole house must be planned. There was the menu to plan. Gypsy decided to have the dinner served on the porch if the day was warm. She telephoned to Cora and arranged to have the weekly cleaning done next day. Then there was a session with Matilda, a hasty survey of food supplies, a trip to the market.

When she came in from the trip down town Gypsy took off her hat and surveyed herself in the hall mirror. It occurred to her she needed a shampoo. She went to the telephone and arranged for an appointment at Louise's.

"I'll have a shampoo," Gypsy told herself, "and a finger wave and a manicure. I'll wear the printed chiffon tomorrow and I want to look my best." She hurried through the rest of her list of tasks to be on time for the appointment at the beauty parlor.

Gypsy arrived promptly. There was a wait of several minutes and then a tall girl with a mass of jet black hair led her to a curtained booth. Louise's shop was the most expensive in Forest City. The walls and curtains were green and the furnishings of green and ivory. Forest City's society always had its hair done at Louise's.

The tall girl worked dextrously with soap and water and rinsing sprays. She rubbed Gypsy's head with pungent lotions. Then she pressed the wet hair into waves, and pined them in place. Finally she bound the girl's head with a thin cap.

"Now come this way." She directed Gypsy to a vacant booth and adjusted the hair dryer. For half an hour the girl sat before the scorching electric heat before the operator reappeared and snapped off the current.

The drooping buzz of the hair dryer died. From beyond the curtain wall of the next booth a woman's voice rose.

"But have you heard about Jim Wallace?" the voice was saying. "He's going to leave his wife!"

High Wages Not Practical in Most European Nations

WASHINGTON, May 6. (AP)—Wages and their relations to economic equilibrium were brought before the International Chamber of Commerce today by Aloys Meyer of Luxembourg, president of the European fiscal cartel, who said the general tendency "may and should be directed toward high real" pay.

He added, however, conditions in European countries differ from those in the United States and to introduce the American system of high wages in most of them would be "an extremely dangerous undertaking."

Economic factors, he said, are stronger than theory and "impose the measure which must not be exceeded without endangering the general economic balance of a country."

Meyer agreed with the report of Gino Olivetti, Italian delegate, that the limit of high wages has been exceeded in the United States and that this "explains the attempts on the part of industrial interests to obtain an increase in customs duties."

Citing the cases of England and Germany since the war, Meyer said the policy of high wages in those countries, although in mitigation form compared with those in America, had not given satisfactory economic results.

"Without pretending that their depression is the exclusive result of high wages," he said, "nevertheless it cannot be denied that they have been important contributing factors."

"The other European countries cannot x x x practice the policy of high wages."

Free trade and low cost of living must go side by side, he said, if the other leads to a disturbance in the economic equilibrium.

Great Britain, he said, had been considering abandonment of her free trade policy. This is termed a "very grave problem and one which might upset the economic structure."

The tendency in Germany now is toward lower wages and a decreased cost of living, he said. That country, he added, has experienced a successive increase in wages resulting from legislation giving the government authority to fix them. But industry, forced to mechanization, Meyer asserted, has been unable to carry this out without borrowing extensively abroad and interest payments on these borrowings "have seriously affected the balance of trade."

"Thereupon," he continued, "this mechanization has increased from day to day the number of unemployed. Today, these constitute an enormous burden upon the country."

Speed Of Woman's Walk Is Probed

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 6. (AP)—The question of how fast a woman can walk was taken up today by detectives investigating the story of Moss E. Garrison, 37, as to his movements of Helen Bradshaw, 20. The double-edged knife wielded by the slayer was sought.

Police said Garrison told them he and Miss Bradshaw left a motion picture theater at 10:55 p. m. Saturday night and hiked to her home, arriving at 11:55 p. m.

A woman investigator, who said she walked rapidly, required an hour and 20 minutes yesterday to cover the route of more than four miles Garrison mapped out. Miss Bradshaw's body, picked up by 17 knife wounds, was found Sunday.

Paul J. Hayes, captain of detectives, who announced yesterday murder charges would be filed, said he sought to "make a case that will stand in court" before asking for a formal complaint against Garrison.

Park in Canyons Will Be Opened

CANYON, May 6. — Palo Duro park, in the Palo Duro canyons, will be opened by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and the Randall county commissioners on May 16, if road and weather conditions permit, according to action taken by the chamber of commerce.

Plans are being made for fencing the park, for placing signs to direct visitors, and for having the park designated on road maps.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce has long been working on a plan to convert a small area of the Palo Duro canyons into a park. It is planned to have the park open at all times to the public after the formal opening May 16.

NEW ORLEANS, May 6. (AP)—Cotton experienced rather a quiet and somewhat easier opening here today. Liverpool cables were hardly as good as due and first trades showed losses of 1 to 2 points. The market eased off further after the start in sympathy with lower stocks, July trading down to 2 7/8 and October to 10 1/8, or 8 points under yesterday's close.
Near the end of the first hour the market recovered 6 points of the loss and ruled quiet while traders awaited the weekly weather report.

National Guard Ready to Quell Kentucky Trouble

HARLAN Ky., May 6. (AP)—A battle in which four men were slain and two wounded was the result of order in the Harlan county coal fields to be investigated by a special grand jury, summoned today to probe recent violence and sabotage blamed on labor troubles.

Sheriff J. H. Blair, after the outbreak yesterday, asked Gov. Piatt D. Sampson to send state troops to the mining regions, but no word was received from the governor last night. Troops at the state arsenal at Frankfort, however, were being held in readiness should the governor issue a call. Adj. Gen. W. H. Jones said.

Deputy sheriffs and mine guards were fired on by a band of about 40 union sympathizers near Evans, and in the resulting battle James Daniels and Otto Lee, deputies; Howard Jones, a commissary clerk, and Carl Richmond, one of the attacking party deputies, claimed opportunity from an ambush, were killed. Sheppard Purcell and Eric Cox, mine guards, were wounded but were expected to recover.

Reno Officials Win at Election

RENO, Nev., May 6. (AP)—Mayor E. E. Roberts, liberal leader of Reno, and all his administrative officers except one councilman, were returned to office for four years at a municipal election yesterday.

The mayor, who is the father-in-law of Walter Johnson of baseball fame, decisively defeated two opponents, Howard S. Doyle and Milburn R. Gregory, taking a majority of the votes in five of the six wards. The election was non-partisan.

It will be Roberts' third successive term as mayor of this Nevada city, nationally known for its quick divorces and open gambling resorts. In his campaign, the mayor defended Nevada's divorce and gambling laws and attacked prohibition. Speaking from the pulpit of the Reno Methodist church at the invitation of the pastor, Mayor Roberts urged the placing of open barrels of "good corn whiskey" on the city streets to free the community of bootleggers.

One of his last acts was to establish an $83,000 trust fund with a Chicago trust company. Kane county officials, however, moved immediately to tie up the fund with an injunction, and State's Attorney George D. Carbery said steps would be taken as soon as possible to recover the county's funds.
