Kentucky National Guard Moving to Troubled Town

ARMED MEN ARE WAITING FOR TROOPS

Women Said to Have Been Sent Out of Everts—Skirmish With Starving Miners Is Anticipated.

TERROR IS CITED

Governor Says Lawlessness Must End; Reds and Communists Charged With Cause of Much Unrest.

HARLAN, Ky., May 7. (AP)—More than 200 members of the Kentucky National guard, the first contingent to arrive for duty in the coal fields, reached Harlan shortly after 6 o'clock this morning.

The troops milled about the streets as military and civil officers conferred on their plan for movement into the Everts section, nine miles away.

Reports that armed men were perched atop houses and at other vantage points around Everts continued to reach authorities here today. All women have been sent out of Everts, the reports said.

The soldiers reached Harlan from 15 Kentucky cities in the biggest military movement in the state since 1921 when 750 soldiers were sent to Newport to quell disorders, and 1928 when a similar number went to Lexington to guard a negro slave.

Border Vet in Command

Adjutant General W. H. Jones Jr. came to Harlan to supervise plans for the pinning of the soldiers. They will be commanded by Colonel Dan Carroll, commanding the 138th field artillery and a veteran of the Mexican border trouble and of the World war.

The order for the troop movement was issued yesterday by Governor Flem D. Sampson after a conference with labor leaders and requests from civil authorities and residents of Harlan.

The chief executive termed the Everts situation as "a state of terror and lawlessness" and added "this must stop and stop now."

The disorders in Harlan county have been blamed on unemployment due to economic conditions and to disagreements between coal mine operators and employes as the basis for discontent.

Miners Demand Food

The situation has been the subject of investigation by Red Cross workers, mine union officials, and civil authorities. Several organized demands for food have been made by unemployed miners, some of whom have been evicted from mine owned houses.

Governor Sampson charged the trouble to "undesirable citizens from other states." Some are said to belong to those societies called "reds" and "communists," the governor added.

The troop movement started last night and included a military police company, infantry cavalry and medical units. The equipment included rifles, side arms, a tank and howitzers.

Pampa Winner in Typing Competing At State Event

Miss Esther Stark, fastest typist in this district of the interschool league, is the only student of Pampa High school who is competing in the state meet at Austin.

A number of reasons prevented winners in the Canyon track and field meet from making the trip. Chief among them were injuries suffered by the athletes. Another was a shortage of cash in the coffers of the athletic department.

Clemency For Conatser Protested By Peace Officers

AMARILLO, May 7. (AP)—Adopting a resolution protesting clemency for Lloyd Conatser, who is under life sentence for the slaying of the sheriff of Fisher county and one of his deputies in 1927, the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers association closed its final business session early this afternoon.

The resolution was forwarded to Governor Sterling by registered mail.

Frederick, Okla., was selected as the 1932 convention city, and E. T. Smith, Hollis, Okla., was re-elected president.

Trouble was paid to the late Sheriff Wall Williams of Duncan, Okla., and his deputy, Elmer Carter, who were killed during the last year in the line of duty. Both were members of the association.

The officers were entertained at a barbecue on a nearby ranch and will participate in shooting contests this afternoon.

Mrs. Roy R. Robinson of McLean is moving to Atlanta, Ga., tomorrow.

OPERETTA BY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS TO BE NEXT PERFORMANCE OF MUSIC WEEK

Two-Act Production Embracing Music, Action, and Comedy Will Be Presented at City Hall This Evening With Large Number of Students Of Local School Participating.

ARTISTS PLEASE

Capable Performance Enjoyed by Audience of Joe Lefkowitz and Hazel Silver Rickel Last Evening.

Music week observance will be continued tonight with the presentation of a two-act operetta, "The Ghost of Lollypop Bay," by Junior High school students.

The operetta, directed by Miss Arthur Reed and Miss Lois Stallings, assisted by Miss Opal Cox, will be given at the city auditorium beginning at 8:15 p. m. Admission will be 15 and 35 cents.

Leading roles will be taken by Juliette Jane Sanford, Joyce Smith, Lois Bryson, Phyllis Smith, Florence Phillips, Leona Miller, Howard Zimmerman, Charles Bryson, Roger Townsend, and Granville Brady.

Both acts take place on Lollypop Bay, where a spinstress—not by choice—has established a summer camp for girls.

Across the lake is a similar camp for girls run by Professor Flint, a bashful bachelor. Dinah, a colored maid, decides to break up one school by masquerading as a ghost, so that she may go back to her lover, with whom she has quarreled.

A co-ed also decides to play a ghost so that she and her companions may escape in the confusion and go boat riding with the boys. A third ghost mysteriously appears and speeds the plot remarkably.

There is much confusion and the end of matrimony happily combines the schools and rings down the curtain.

Organizations of Central high school will present the program of Friday evening.

Last night was in many respects the peak of Music week interest, with Hazel Silver Rickel, soprano, and Joe Lefkowitz, violinist, providing entertainment of professional ability. Both were gracious in giving encores. Each exhibited skill and dash in execution and a ready response to the approval of Mrs. May Foreman Carr was a very capable accompanist.

After the performance, members of the B'nai B'rith temple gathered at the Schneider hotel for a reception honoring Mr. Lefkowitz. The hostesses were members of the sisterhood of the temple. August Gordon is president of the congregation, whose members attended the concert in mass.

Proration Group In Session Today

HOUSTON, May 7. (AP)—An advisory committee of 11 appointed to cooperate with the state railroad commission in making oil proration wholly effective in the gulf coast area, met in executive session here today.

The committee had before it the task of determining what immediate step might be recommended to bring the area's production down to the 140,000 barrel daily allowable set by the commission in its recent state-wide order. The allowable is being exceeded by some 20,000 barrels.

A recommendation that the commission issue a supplementary order was believed a possibility.

The advisory committee was appointed here at a general meeting of gulf coast operators, called by the railroad commission, last Saturday.

Lefkowitz To Play In Amarillo Sunday

Joe Lefkowitz will give a concert at the auditorium of the Amarillo College of Music, Sunday, it was announced today by Emil F. Myers, Amarillo empresario.

Mr. Myers attended the joint concert given by Mrs. Hazel Silver Rickel and Mr. Lefkowitz at the city auditorium last night. He is the Kansas City violinist, an exceptional artist. Because of conflicting engagements, Mrs. Rickel will not be able to accept Mr. Myers' offer to sing in Amarillo, and she is leaving Pampa this afternoon for Salina, Kans.

Mr. Myers will accompany Mr. Lefkowitz at Amarillo.

The violinist will remain in Pampa until Sunday. He is the guest of August Gordon on an automobile tour of Pampa and community today.

AMARILLO CHOSEN

BEAUMONT, May 7. (AP)—Amarillo was selected as the 1932 meeting place by the house of delegates of the State Medical association today, just before noon.

Dr. John H. Foster of Houston was named president-elect. Fort Worth was the only other city seeking the 1932 meeting.

Killer Well Roars On While Crew Is Sliding Big Derrick

GLADEWATER, May 7. (AP)—The daily pillar of smoke that for eight days had marked the site of the Sinclair No. 1 Cole and was visible as far away as Longview, 20 miles distant, was gone today. The blazing gusher was extinguished last night by a 200-pound nitroglycerin charge.

But the well was still running wild today—the eleventh day since it blew in out of control. Sinclair employees prepared for a new attempt to cap it. A week ago Tuesday, such an attempt touched off the fire that took the lives of nine men.

Harry Kinley, younger of the fire-fighting brothers, from Tulsa, snuffed out the blaze last night. Aided by a youngster named Huxley Bunch, who substituted for M. M. Kinley when the latter had his job broken by the Texas rangers headed by Harry Kinley, the well was capped.

The blast was heard 20 miles away in Longview. A great umbrella-shaped yellow plume was blown upward for 200 feet, the most dazzling display since the well caught fire. The next instant there was darkness, intensified by memory of the glare that had come from the well.

Sergeant M. T. Lone Wolf, Gonzales of the Texas rangers, headed a squad of men who kept guard about the well last night. Gas hung all about the scene, needing only a spark to kill another crew of workmen. No one was allowed to carry patches within a mile of the well and automobiles were parked far away.

Today the crew prepared to slide a new derrick over the well, still spouting oil 10 feet into the air from the crater left by the explosion. Workmen carried specially made brass tools to prevent another fatal spark in this new attempt to cap the gusher.

League Contests Are Under Way

AUSTIN, May 7. (AP)—The twenty-first annual University Interscholastic league state meet opened today.

Registration of entrants began at 9 o'clock, officials expecting to skin 1,500 Texas school students. Two hundred and fifty high schools were represented.

In addition to a heavy list of entrants, interschool league officials expected more than 1,000 visitors.

Today's program included preliminaries in boys' tennis, both doubles and singles. The first tennis contest was scheduled for this afternoon.

The one-act play contest and preliminaries in boys and girls debate will be held tonight.

LEFGUSON APPOINTEE DIES

BRYAN, May 7. (AP)—W. C. Boyett, 71, former director of Texas A. and M. college, during the Ferguson administration, and former county official and postmaster at College Station 40 years, died today at his home here.

Funeral rites were arranged for tomorrow. Survivors are his widow and nine children.

NEW JERSEY GIRL IS BADLY HURT IN FALL AT EASTLAND

EASTLAND, May 7. (AP)—A young woman giving the name of Miss June Arnold of Paterson, N. J., was in critical condition in a hospital here today from a head injury suffered when she struck her head on a sink while working in the kitchen at the hospital. Attending physicians held little hope for her recovery.

She applied to the superintendent of the hospital yesterday for work, saying she had received training as a nurse. She was given temporary work in the kitchen. She stooped to pick up a dish cloth and as she straightened up, struck the back of her head against a sink, the blow knocking her unconscious. She has been rational only at times since then.

During brief rational moments she told hospital attendants and officers that her father, George Edward Arnold, formerly was professor of biology in Columbia university and that he died in 1925.

The year she was graduated from a Paterson, N. J., high school. She said her mother was dead and an only brother was killed in the World war. She wore a Masonic ring she said belonged to her father, Donald Douglas of Akron, Ohio, she said was her guardian but she did not know his address.

The woman told of having inherited money from her father's estate but spent it. At the time of her injury here she had only 25 cents in her purse. She said she left Paterson for California last spring in her car but it was stolen in a small town near San Francisco last September. She left California several months ago, hitch-hiking across the country. In her purse were names of people in California and Big Spring, Texas.

Some of them took part, while others came as spectators. J. L. Graham, coroner of Panhandle, returned a verdict of accidental death, expressing the belief that Bales had fallen beneath a moving train.

Bill Haggwood, an Oklahoma City worker, was killed near the same place and in a similar manner April 6.

Officers Ready For Big Shoot

Officers of the sheriff's department have in mind to win more than their share of honors in the shooting contest to be held this afternoon at the North Texas and South Oklahoma Peace Officers convention at Amarillo.

The crack shot of the Pampa team is Deputy Fred Hobart, who recently punctured the bull's eye of a target 10 times in succession with a .38 caliber pistol at 25 yards.

Other members of the team are Deputies Warren Belcher, S. C. Pipes, Harris King, and Sheriff Lon L. Blansett.

York refused the court's offer of counsel, choosing to select his own jury and try his own case. He pleaded not guilty.

SHE REFUSES TO TESTIFY IN SENATE PROBE

Chairman Nye Says She Will Be Cited for Contempt as Result of Refusing to Answer Questions.

HAS STATEMENT

Prepared Document Only Way Miss Burroughs Will Give Connection With Cannon and Politics.

WASHINGTON, May 7. (AP)—Chairman Nye of the senate campaign funds committee said today he intended to cite Miss Ada Burroughs of Richmond, in the senate for contempt after her refusal to testify to the committee.

"Certainly," said Senator Nye, "we will have to cite her to the senate for contempt."

The committee will not take up the case immediately, however. The senate does not meet until December.

When Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil operator, refused to testify to a senate committee, the senate cited him for contempt and he was subsequently sent to jail by the court.

Flatly Refuses

Miss Burroughs, formerly treasurer for the Cannon Anti-Smith organization in Virginia, was called before the committee today at the beginning of its investigation into Bishop James Cannon's campaign activities. She refused flatly to testify after reading a statement which challenged the authority of the committee to make the investigation.

Senator Nye said he would ask the committee to consider next week "information which may be found the basis for reporting to the senate a violation of the corrupt practices act."

He indicated that the committee would seek no further testimony in its search for the use of money by Bishop Cannon in the 1928 campaign.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, the fifth member of the committee, came in during examination of Miss Burroughs.

Chairman Nye persisted in his futile questioning.

"You see you are acting on good authority in taking this position," he asked in a warning tone.

Decline to Answer

Miss Burroughs said she was satisfied with "information which may be found the basis for reporting to the senate a violation of the corrupt practices act," said Nye. "Don't you want to testify on that evidence?"

"I decline to testify," she again replied.

Dill called attention that Miss Burroughs in her statement denied that she had violated the law.

"She testified to that but refuses to answer other questions that might be embarrassing," said Senator Dill.

"Are you refusing to testify for fear of incriminating yourself?" asked Nye.

"I have nothing to add to my statement," she concluded.

Mrs. Sam Fenberg and son and Mrs. Joe Lazarus and daughter are visiting in Amarillo today.

OUR OPINIONS

About Dr. Brooks—Wages—On Highway Work—Depression—Fishing

It is a fair question to ask whether, with such Baylor University graduates as Dr. Brooks, it is surprising that his diploma is Dr. Brooks' present title of his present critical illness.

Dr. Brooks has been the leading spokesman for Baptist education in Texas and the south for many years. He has been one of the most able men of his denomination, a man liberal in many things, yet well grounded in all essential fundamentals.

Investigation in New Mexico reveal that laborers on state road projects receive as little as $1.25 for 8 hours of hard work.

Such wages are not only crimes against workmen, but they tend to prolong the restricted consumer demand which is chiefly responsible for the depression. A man cannot have the necessities of life, much less the better things—such as cars, radios, etc.—on $1.25 a day.

Low wages and enforced poor living have much to do with every period of low consumption and resulting overproduction. It is a deplorable fact that competition in bidding often results in estimates based on miserable salaries for common labor.

Mr. Hoover must feel relieved occasionally when the reds are charged with a part of this nation's difficulties.

Will Rogers, asked why he was traveling so much, replied that he was looking for a newspaper that was making money. And yet some people seem to think that to publish a newspaper successfully is the easiest thing in the world.

City reservoirs of the Southwest provided about the best fishing yet reported. When, and if Pampa ever has a lake of her own, we will consent to run for city commissioner—and not before.

By Rodney DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, May 7 (NEA). The Department of Justice, with its Bureau of Investigation and Bureau of Prisons has for long a monopoly of the government law enforcement picture.

Some of the 10 cabinet officers are charged with a certain amount of enforcement through their departments.

The exception is the Department of State which, however, has been known to supervise the maintenance of law and order in small Latin American countries and whose consuls in foreign ports perform a variety of duties in connection with American laws.

The same general enforcement is pointed out in the Wickersham committee's report on criminal statistics, says the diffusion of the federal police power is one thing which places obstacles in the way of collecting federal police troops.

The Bureau of Investigation, the committee says in its outline of federal police functions, is charged with investigating alleged offenses against the United States except those under national prohibition and the counterfeit laws.

The Treasury Department also includes: The Narcotics Bureau, which enforces laws covering narcotic drugs. The Coast Guard, which prevents smuggling and enforces navigation, immigration, quarantine and other laws. The Customs service, which enforces the tariff laws and maintains a land border patrol because it is engaged in prevention of smuggling of both alcoholic liquor and other imports.

The Post Office Department maintains 525 inspectors and 15 division heads to enforce the postal laws, proceeding against mail thieves, mail tamperers,

MAD MARRIAGE by Laura Lou Brookman

Gypsy McBride, 19-year-old New York typist, marries Jim Wallace the day after she meets him at the home of her wealthy cousin, Anne Trowbridge. Gypsy has been jilted by Alan Crosby, just returned from a year and a half in Paris studying art, and Wallace's fiancée had broken their engagement to marry a wealthier man.

Jim and Gypsy go to Forest City where Jim has a thriving law practice. His relatives, particularly Aunt Ellen, who has kept house for him, are hostile to Gypsy. They snub her. Aunt Ellen moves to a cottage of her own, Marcia Lorin, Jim's former fiancée, marries Brock Phillips, millionaire's son.

Months pass and news comes that Brock Phillips has been killed in a fall from a horse. Marcia returns to Forest City. She consults Jim about her financial affairs and later tells him her marriage to Phillips was a mistake. She declares she cares only for him. Jim tries to remain loyal to Gypsy but sees Marcia frequently. Gypsy is aware of the situation and worries. She tries to talk to Jim but cannot. One day in a beauty parlor she hears an unseen woman say, "Have you heard about Jim Wallace? He's going to leave his wife?"

Gypsy sat perfectly quiet. She could not raise her eyes; she could not even seem to breathe. The voice of the unseen speaker continued: "Why, I heard it at the country club. It's all over town now! Jim's leaving this girl he married in New York and is going to divorce her. And here's Marcia Phillips back, a widow, with all that money! Well, I guess you can see for yourself. Personally I think it's priceless. I never heard anything like it!"

There was a flutter of soprano laughter. A second voice with deeper tones put in something that was an inaudible murmur. "I suppose you're right," the first speaker agreed, "only honestly everyone knows about it." Then the conversation in the next booth swung to a coming home party. There was no more mention of Jim Wallace.

The beauty parlor operator was combing Gypsy's waving hair. "Now if you'll show me how you wear it," she said, "I'll put the pins in." Gypsy struggled to master her voice. "I—I think I'd rather do it myself, if you don't mind," she said. It seemed to her that someone else had said the words. "Certainly not. Here—I'll get you a mirror." The other girl disappeared and a moment later was back with a large black mirror. She handed the mirror to Gypsy and was gone.

Gypsy confronted her reflection in the mirror. Her cheeks were flushed. She wondered if the hair dresser had noticed the color come into her face. Of course the girl had overheard. Did she know who Gypsy was? She had called her "Mrs. Wallace" but there were a dozen different families of Wallaces. What did all that matter anyhow? What did she care about hair dressers or who the woman on the other side of the curtain might be? Was it—could it be true? Would Jim do such a thing? Was it because of Marcia?

the mirror. She had forgotten about the finger wave, about her eagerness for her hair to be fluffy and soft about her face. She screwed it up into a light knot at the base of her neck, jammed the hairpins in crosswise. It was only important now to get away from this place before anyone should recognize her.

She was pulling on her hat when the hairdresser reappeared. "Oh!" she said reproachfully, "you're all ready to go! Is the wave the way you wanted it?" Probably she hoped Gypsy would remove her hat so that she might inspect her work but if so the girl disappointed her.

"The wave is very nice," Gypsy said. She had not even noticed what it looked like. "I pay the girl at the desk, do I?" "Yes, Mrs. Wallace." At the name Gypsy colored again. As quickly as possible she left the shop and got out on the street. Then she was undecided what to do next. Her first impulse had been to go to Jim and ask him if what she heard was true. Now she knew that she could not do that.

This was a private affair to be discussed only between herself and Jim. She could not go to his office members of the desk, stenographers. She must wait until they were alone at home. Waiting was very hard. Gypsy turned homeward. She walked past the corner where she should have taken the street car without noticing it. When she realized this she had gone so far that she decided to walk the rest of the distance. At least she was spared the curious glances of other passengers. She had the feeling that faces were peering at her from behind curtained windows of houses she passed and that people were saying, "There she is! That's the girl Jim Wallace is going to divorce. Everyone in town knows about it!"

She opened the front door and sniffed the faint, delicious odor of Marcia's baking. The kitchen door must have been left open against orders. Even so the smell was delicious. Everything about the house was orderly, exactly as it should be. Preparations for dinner were almost complete. Sam had departed for the day, leaving word that he would be on hand early next morning to scrub the walks and porches. "Mr. Wallace came home. I think he's upstairs," Marcia announced. Gypsy looked at the clock on the mantelpiece and saw that it was not yet five. Jim was home early. Wondering what this might mean, she went up the steps to dress.

The first reaction from hearing the shocking news had worn off. The walk had tired her but it also had been soothing. Gypsy slipped out of her street dress and into a thin negligee. She changed her high-heeled slippers for a pair of satin mules and sank to the long cushions of the chair. Then she lay back and closed her eyes. Minutes passed and Gypsy still lay there. Presently she heard a low knock at the door. "Who is it?" Gypsy called. "It was Jim who answered. 'May I come in?' he asked. 'Of course.' She started to rise but the door opened before she was on her feet. Jim, immaculate in white flannel trousers and blue coat, appeared. 'Don't move!' he protested. 'Just thought I'd come in and talk a moment. You look as though you were all in! Have a big day?' Gypsy sat up. She caught the negligee about her more securely. 'I'm not tired,' she said. 'I went down town this afternoon and decided to walk back instead of taking the car. It was foolish, I guess. It's pretty warm.'

"You should have telephoned the office," he reproved her. "I could have brought you in the car. When you're down town around four o'clock or after you ought to let me know." "I will next time," she smiled. There was something reassuring about Jim's presence. He seemed so big and strong and sure of himself. Slowly her doubts began to loosen. Jim inquired about preparations for the dinner next evening. He seemed to be in unusually good spirits, told her that Harrison had been pleased with the invitation and chatted about his day's work. Presently he asked, "How about driving out to see Abbie and Charley Manley after dinner? Been promising to get out there for a long while."

"I'd love to go," Gypsy said. "Oh, I must start dressing! Matilda will have everything on the table." She went to the dressing table, seated herself. Jim edged toward the door. "Guess I'll glance through the papers," he said. "Will you be down soon?" "In 10 minutes!" Gypsy declared. She had her hair down and was combing it out vigorously. There was color in her cheeks now but it was not from humiliation. Gypsy fluffed the soft waves about her face. The beauty parlor operator had done her work splendidly. There were a half-dozen crystal jars and bottles on the dressing table. Gypsy dabbed in one, then another, rouging her cheeks, dusting them with powder and touching her ear lobes with fragrant scent. She moved quickly. Soon she was slipping out of the negligee and getting into a pale yellow, ruffled cotton frock. It had a full skirt and sash. The ruffles stood out crisply, giving Gypsy the look of a quaint young lady on an old-fashioned valentine.

For one thing, though Jim was gay that evening, Gypsy had the feeling he was too gay. Everything he said and did seemed to be with the conscious purpose of appearing genial and careless. She remembered this and waited.

The dinner for Mark Harrison was an evening Gypsy liked to think of afterward. The day had been warm but by five o'clock a faint breeze was stirring. Sam put leaves in the table on the porch and Gypsy got out the finest damask in the collection of linen. She put tall white tapers in the silver candlesticks and in the center of the table a low bowl of pink roses. They were from the garden, freshly cut and sweet.

Gypsy wore the chiffon frock with its bright colors against a creamy background. She was a very attractive young hostess as she greeted the gray-haired lawyer who was in his most charming mood. "Glad to see you, my dear," Harrison said heartily. "Glad to be here. It's thoughtful of you young folks to bother with an old man."

"We've wanted you to come to see us for a long while," Gypsy told him. "Did you? Well, I should have come. Nice place you've got here—yes, a fine old home!" He looked up at the high ceilinged walls, sighed as though he might be thinking of days when he had sat in that room as the guest of Jim's father. Instead of being gloomy he smiled and began an amusing anecdote. They went out to the porch and Matilda began to serve the meal. Harrison enjoyed himself. He seemed delighted with the outdoor dining room, praised the garden and promised to return some day to see it in the sunshine. He told stories that were delightfully humorous and he talked seriously. They lingered over dessert. At last Gypsy led the way back to the living room and for two more hours Mark Harrison entertained them.

When he finally rose to go he took Gypsy's hand in his. "Gypsy's a fine girl, Jim," he said, smiling. "I envy you. Take good care of her!" After the lawyer was gone Gypsy went to the kitchen to have a last look and see that all was well there. She was feeling almost happy a little later when she climbed the stairs. The mood continued throughout the morning next day and until early afternoon. Then as Gypsy stepped out to bring in the letters the postman had left she saw Marcia Phillips coming up the walk. ## Speaker Asserts New Ball Slower In Ground Action

CHICAGO, May 7. (AP)—The new style baseball is just about the same in the air, but it's slower on the ground, this speaker believes.

The former Cleveland, Boston and Athletics outfielder, ranked with the greatest of all time, is a radio announcer, specializing in baseball. He has watched the new and deader baseball with interest and has concluded that it will ride just as far through the air when well hit, but does not roll so far nor as hard on the ground.

"I've watched the antics of this baseball now since the season opened," he said, "and I have come to the conclusion that if you get a full swipe at it, the ball travels as far in the air as it ever did. Maybe it's the raised seams, but the new ball seems to slow down more quickly, once it hits the ground."

"You see infielders making plays on balls they couldn't have touched, or if they did, they couldn't have handled."

Speaker would like to watch some of the great batsmen of his own time batting the lively ball, or even the new one, under present conditions.

"I'd like to have seen Joe Jackson hitting against it for just one season," he sighed, "I doubt if they'd ever have got him out."

Double-Header Is Planned to Draw Larger Crowds

ST. LOUIS, May 7. (AP)—The Browns have adopted the Sunday double-header plan, inaugurated last season by the Cardinals, in an effort to lure more customers through the turnstiles.

Phil Ball, owner of the Browns, announced today a double bill for next Sunday with the Athletics. Monday's game will be moved up as part of the train attraction, leaving Monday an open date.

The Cardinals, who profited by the double-header plan last year, will use it again this season, but probably not as extensively as in 1930. Especially if they continue to attract sizeable crowds on week days. Business at the box office has been unusually dull this season for the Browns.

Cardinal Protest Is Not Approved

NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—President John Heydler of the National League today announced he had disallowed the protest filed by the St. Louis Cardinals on the game the Chicago Cubs won at Chicago April 19, 4 to 1.

The Cardinals had asked that it be replayed.

The protest was based on the decision of umpire Charles Moran, who had ruled Ringer Stephenson, Chicago outfielder, had held a ball "momentarily," retiring a St. Louis batter. St. Louis claimed that ball should have been declared a double.

President Heydler held that the decision was one involving solely the accuracy of the umpire's judgment and that the game shall stand as played.

OSCAR FUHR NEARLY GETS NEW RECORD

Only One Hit Is Made Off Outpaw — Cats in Another Rampage.

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Oscar Fuhr, a portlander who has pitched baseball many years in many leagues, missed the national pastime's hall of fame Wednesday by one hit. Feeding the Beaumont Exporters effective curves plus almost perfect control, Fuhr put the Dallas Steers' pennant percentage a few points higher with a 3 to 0 win. It was a keen exhibition of pitching from the southpaw arm of a man who has been up and down baseball's line.

One single, that by Second Baseman Holley in the third inning, spoiled Fuhr's otherwise near perfect day and clever pitching. Superb was Fuhr that Beaumont failed to send a runner safely to second.

The pace setting Fort Worth Cats pitched the rubber eight times in the fifth inning to defeat Galveston, 10 to 3. Up to this frame, Carroll had pitched commendable ball for the Buccaneers, but he availed in the fifth and was relieved by Preacher Thurman. It was a day of hard-hitting for both clubs. Five doubles and four triples crashed against the fencer, Galveston getting five of the extra base hits.

"Fired of taking lickings, Claude Robertson's San Antonio Indians defeated Wichita Falls 6 to 4. Bob Sangre's mighty bat thundered when the Indians' right fielder smashed three hits out of four times at bat. It was a day of free hitting for both clubs.

The Shreveport Sports barely missed their seventh win of the season but they failed to click when the Houston Buffaloes put on a three-run show in the ninth inning to overtake the Sports' 6 to 4 lead and eventually win, 7 to 6. It was indeed a strange game of baseball for the Buffaloes secured their three winning runs without the aid of a base hit. It was won on a walk and three wild errors.

George Voight and His Rabbit's Foot Go To England

NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—Carrying with him the rabbit's foot which Jess Sweetser carried when he won the British amateur golf championship in 1926, George Voight, one of the leading golfers of the Metropolitan district, is on his way to England to seek the same title.

Voight sailed last night, accompanied by another member of the Winged Foot club, Johnny Foreman. He will carry the colors of the United States in the British amateur at Westward Ho, then join the big delegation of American professionals competing for the British open title at Carnoustie.

Voight, who reached the semi-finals last year then bowed only to Bobby Jones, was hopeful of doing even better this year. "It's a big job," he said, "but I'm ready to do my best. I'm keen to play and in the few rounds I've had this spring I seem to be hitting the ball better than ever."

WILL MOVE FRANCHISE
SAN BENITO, May 7. (AP)—Carpus Christi's franchise in the Rio Grande Valley baseball league will be moved to Brownsville in order to cut down league expenses. It was voted at a meeting of stockholders here last night. Details of the transfer were to be completed today. Where possible, payrolls of the respective teams also will be cut.

Harrington plans to inaugurate night baseball Saturday night.

Law Comes First With Cop—He Is To Receive Ticket

CHICAGO, May 7. (AP)—With Policeman Adolph Olson the law comes first.

Every now and then he finds time to halt traffic near the American league baseball park to criticize a motorist for having old license plates, no city tag or something else. Yesterday was no exception. He halted a motorist for not having 1931 licenses.

"There is no excuse for this," he said, "the law comes first."

Seeking an alibi, the motorist looked around, caught sight of a sedan parked in an inconspicuous place, and said:

"I'm not the only offender. Put a 1931 tag on that car. It has no plates at all."

Adolph turned red. He shuffled his feet. Then he murmured something about going to the corner drug store to get something to quiet his nerves.

The sedan was Adolph's, and tonight's the night he is to get a ticket from his sergeant.

CARDS GREAT IN THE EXTRA PERIOD TILTS

Yankees, on Other Hand, Have Yet to Receive Such Victory.

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If the St. Louis Cardinals could arrange to play nothing but extra inning games the rest of the season, they likely would romp home as champion of the National league field by a longer margin than they did in 1930.

Thus far Gaby Street's Red Birds have engaged in three extended sessions and they have yet to lose a decision. Twice they beat out Chicago Cubs in overtime duels and yesterday they victimized the Pirates in 13 innings, 6 to 5.

In contrast, the New York Yankees have indulged in four extra period affairs and have yet to win one of them. Had they done as well as the Cards, they would be leading the American league chase.

Charley Gelbert, shining light of the last world series, was the hero of yesterday's victory over Pittsburgh. The Card shortstop tripled in the thirteenth and scored on Martin's single. He then came through with a brilliant assist to retire the Pirates in their half after Gelbert had filled the bases on Relief Pitcher Jim Lindsey.

Two National league hurlers had the unhappy experience of pitching four-hit games, yet being charged with defeats. Bill Walker, Giant southpaw, held the Brooklyn Robins to a quartet of blows, only to come up on the losing end, 1 to 0, when the Dodgers grouped one of them with a walk and an outfield fly in the seventh inning.

Wallie Sheregal of the Boston Braves was the other unfortunate pitcher. The Phillies got to him for only four hits, but one of them was Buzz Arlett's fifth homer of the season. It came in the seventh with one on, so the Phils won, 3 to 1.

The Yankees finally won a series from Washington by taking their final, 10 to 7. Babe Ruth and Lyn Lary each contributed a homer.

Led by Al Simmons, who cracked two doubles and three singles in five trips, the Athletics enjoyed a field day at the expense of the Boston Red Sox. Homers by Fox and Cochrane helped make the score 10 to 3.

Roy Johnson, Detroit right fielder, hit two doubles and a single, drove in four runs and scored one himself as the Tigers made it two out of three from Chicago, 9 to 4.

Rain caused postponement of the Chicago-Cincinnati engagement at Chicago and cold weather spiked the Indians and Browns at St. Louis.

HE DID NEITHER
CHICAGO, May 7. (AP)—Some will call it the irony of fate.

Oscar A. Ritou was to have been married yesterday. He also was to have appeared in court on a hit-and-run charge. He did neither.

Instead he went to Milwaukee, Wis., and killed himself by shooting, apparently worried about the traffic accident.

Alex Wynowski, who had been struck by Ritou's automobile, walked into court—uninjured.

In Deadly Earnest
Wesley Ferrell is a working man. The no-hit pitcher of the Indians got that way by using his talent whenever he got the chance. In the spring training camp, there never was a harder worker than Ferrell, nor one who paid stricter attention to the rules of conditioning.

If he doesn't win 30 games this year, perhaps nobody will—barring Grove. The day after his no-hit game against the Browns, Ferrell warmed up in the bullpen in the late innings, when disaster threatened one of his mates. Out of the first eleven games the Cleveland team won, Ferrell won five—one of these as a relief pitcher in the ninth.

Up Steps Gehring
Mr. Ferrell believes in himself. Your correspondent had a little first hand experience with the young man in that regard. At Tampa in the spring of 1930, Charley Gehring happened to mention in an interview that he deemed Ferrell somewhat over-rated. Gehring expressed the opinion that Wes would not win 15 games that year.

Arriving at the Indians' training base in New Orleans, your correspondent happened to mention the newspaper men Gehring's impression and prediction about Ferrell. The gossiping newspaper men lost no time in taking the glad tidings to Wes. Ferrell bristled like papa when mamma trumps one of his very best aces. It was as though he had been offered a challenge.

Teams Catch It
The first series between Cleveland and Detroit last year brought the matter to a head. Between Ferrell and Gehring there arose an intense rivalry. Gehring pitted his bat against Ferrell's mound cunning. The feeling has grown, and it is now a friendly rivalry. The two lads are in dead earnest about it. They ask and give no quarter.

The two teams have caught some of the spirit of that rivalry. Games between the Tigers and Indians have become tense battles. The Tigers have played great ball against Ferrell, knocking him out of the box recently during a Sunday game on the Indians' home field.

Gehring, of course, was wrong about Ferrell's ability, which is not a flash in the pan. But the Detroit second baseman, while admitting that Ferrell is a better pitcher than he thought, retains charming confidence in his own ability to knock him out of the lot. And, once or twice, he has helped to do it.

Also, once or twice, Ferrell has set Gehring down without the semblance of a scratch hit during a game.

Rabbit Very Stry
On the same day that the 37-year-old Ruth was being lugged from Fenway park, Rabbit Maranville, who will be 39 this November, personally put on an all around exhibition that enabled the Boston Braves to make the Brooklyn Robins look more foolish than ever.

The durability of the Rabbit, in his 20th major league season is in many respects one of the most remarkable features of the game.

Henry Will and Alfred B. Fullington Jr., and David Ramey of Pampa had attended the concert here last night.

GRAY COUNTY SCHOOL LEADERS ATTEND BANQUET HERE

ELABORATE EVENT IS LAST OF YEAR; PROGRAM OF EDUCATION AND ENTERTAINMENT IS GIVEN

Forty persons, including superintendents and principals of Gray county, their wives, and a few honored guests, gathered at the local Sam Houston school last evening for their final and most elaborate event of this school year. A carefully planned program was designed to be both educational and entertaining.

A banquet was served by a committee from the Sam Houston P. T. A. composed of Mrs. W. C. Pridgen, general chairman, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. L. N. McCullough, Mrs. E. M. Conley, and Mrs. Willis. Mrs. J. E. Murfee assisted with the table decorations. Tables were arranged to form an "H" for Sam Houston, with the speakers' places at the center of the primary speakers. Many of the primary speakers were added with Maypoles in bright ribbons, and decorations of sweet peas. The May theme was noted further in place cards.

Decries Retardation
Supt. G. C. Boswell of McLean, using as his subject, "Retardation and Promotion in the Schools Today," was one of the primary speakers. "Many of us have the wrong impression of retardation," he said. "We think it makes the pupil more thorough in his work. Statistics prove the opposite. They show that it makes the child less interested and thus becomes less efficient. Promotion should be a natural process, a yearly event. A child older than his associates should never be held back. Rather, he should be given individual instruction."

Fisher Re-elected
Supt. R. B. Fisher of Pampa was re-elected president of the organization for the coming year. Supt. G. C. Boswell of McLean was named vice-president and Principal Josephine Thomas of Pampa, secretary. Supt. E. G. Sanders of LeFors is to host for the next meeting, the second Wednesday in September.

Bright Future Seen
Superintendent Fisher made the welcome address following invocation by Principal Josephine Thomas. Supt. F. E. Savage of Canyon gave the response, emphasizing that Gray county has a bright future in industry, agriculture, and education. Roll call was answered with the name of an educator, together with some impressive fact about the person. Many named their own mothers and fathers.

Entertainment given
The entertainment program included the following:
Reading, "The Bugaboo," Miss Lawrence and Virginia Hester of Sam Houston school.

Rhythm band, "Little Chink," Baker school, Miss Martha Williams and Miss Mary Bishop, directors.

Readings, Ann Buckler, Sarah Frances Bourland, Neil McCullough, and June Rose Hodge, all of Sam Houston school.

Spanish duo, Janice Purviance and John Mitchell of Horace Mann school.

Reading, "When Company Comes," Albert Schulke of Sam Houston school.

Rhythm band numbers, Sam Houston school; Mrs. John I. Bradley, pianist; Mercedes C. W. Stowell, Gertrude Morris, Earl Smith and B. G. Gordon, supervisors.

Girls quartet from high school; Miss Iva June Willis, director.

The following attended: Supt. and Mrs. G. C. Boswell of McLean, Supt. and Mrs. John B. Hesse of Gray county, Principal and Mrs. F. L. Mize of LeFors, Supt. and Mrs. R. E. Fisher of Pampa, Principal Josephine Thomas of Pampa, Supt. and Mrs. E. G. Sanders of LeFors, Principal and Mrs. J. A. Meek of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lester of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Combs of LeFors, Supt. and Mrs. F. L. Wilson of Hopkins, Principal R. A. Selby of Pampa, Principal John Harding of McLean, Principal Lyle Maxwell of Laketon, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Huna, apikler of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith of Pampa, Principal A. R. ## Tale of Writer Who Died Unhonored Brings Woman Author Drama Prize

Susan Glaspell (below) has been awarded the Pulitzer drama prize for her play "Alison's House," in which Eva Le Gallienne (inset) took the leading role in the New York production.

By MARK BARRON
NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—Two women of American letters have been honored in the awarding of the Pulitzer drama prize to "Alison House." One is the author, Susan Glaspell, and the other is Emily Dickinson, the poet, on whose life the play is based. Miss Glaspell is a product of the same Greenwich village experimental theaters which gave Eugene O'Neill his first chance. In fact, it was Miss Glaspell, in company with her husband, George Cram Cook, who founded the Provincetown players in 1916.

Was Reporter
Miss Glaspell was born in Davenport, Ia., in 1882. She was educated at Drake and the University of Iowa and Chicago. For a time she was a newspaper political reporter, then began writing fiction and moved to the literary colony at Provincetown, Mass., where she still resides.

She has written 14 plays, but the most important heretofore was "Tribes," which was presented at the Civic Repertory theater in 1927. It was the same group, with Eva Le Gallienne in the leading role, that offered "Alison's House" this season.

Praises Poet
"Alison's House" is a post-mortem appraisal of the life and character of Emily Dickinson, considered as one of the finest women writers of verse.

Miss Dickinson was virtually unknown for many years after her death in 1885, and it was not until 1914 that her works were first published and the world began to learn about this artist who had lived, worked and died in seclusion.

The central character of Miss Glaspell's play is Alison Stanhope or Emily Dickinson, but when the curtain rises she has been dead 15 years. Only a few poems written by her have been published, but these have made her famous.

Journalists, poets and hero worshippers descend upon the house seeking other of her works and more facts about her life. The conservative Stanhope family is divided about this situation.

The older generation is bewildered and resentful at what it considers curiosity. The younger members of the family have a different view and feel that the life and works of Alison Stanhope belong more to the world than to the family.

Aunt Agatha, sister of the dead Alison, withholds the poems, saying, "She doesn't belong to the world... she belongs to us..."

Colorado Man Confesses Setting Fire to Home

GREELEY, Colo., May 7. (AP)—Sheriff W. W. Wyatt announced today that James V. Foster had made "a full and complete confession" to setting his home on fire here early last Tuesday morning, causing the death of his wife and three children.

"I planned this thing for a month," Wyatt said Foster told him. "At first I planned to use acid. I wanted to make it look like my wife had smothered the children and then committed suicide. Then I changed my mind and decided to use gasoline. I thought it would give the same impression."

"I bought the gasoline the night before. I woke up early, went into the children's bedroom and poured gasoline in the beds. I set them afire and then threw gasoline on Margaret (Foster's wife). She woke up as I threw a bucket on her. 'My God, Jim, what are you doing?' she screamed at me."

"I don't know why I did it. I must have been crazy. The devil made me do it."

Markets

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 7. (AP)—Rains in Canadian spring wheat territory tending to relieve drought anxiety gave an early downward impulse to grain prices today. The moisture, however, was of only a scattered sort.

Opening 1-8 to 5-8 cents off, wheat afterward continued to gain. Corn started at 5-8 decline to 1-4 advance and subsequently underwent a general setback.

COTTON STEADY

NEW ORLEANS, May 7. (AP)—Cotton here opened fairly steady although Liverpool came in lower than due. First trades showed losses of 1 to 4 points but the market soon rallied on unfavorable weather conditions in the belt. And on a private report that the sales of fertilizer tags had decreased 172 per cent during April.

Prices rallied 4 to 7 points from the opening with July at 9.95 and October at 10.31 but later eased again to the opening quotations, owing to lack of support.

At the end of the first hour the market was quiet and steady.

WHEAT CROP ESTIMATED

ENID, Okla., May 7. (AP)—John Manley, manager of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers association, estimated today that the 1931 Oklahoma wheat crop would total 32,000,000 bushels. The Texas crop, he said, should approach 45,000,000 bushels.

Oklahoma produced 32,000,000 bushels last year, Texas 20,000,000. The estimate was based on the present condition of the crop.

Amendment Sent To Texas People

AUSTIN, May 7. (AP)—Another proposed constitutional amendment was on its way to the people today. The senate voted 30 to 0 to submit to the electorate in November, 1932, a proposed constitutional amendment by Representative Anderson of San Antonio requiring taxpayers to render their property for taxation before becoming eligible to vote in bond elections. The resolution also was passed by the house.

An amendment which would impose the limitations on voters voting in state-wide bond elections was shown from the bill on request of Senator Deberry of Bogata, author of the amendment. The Deberry amendment was adopted unanimously by the senate earlier in the week.
