NO REST FOR THE FARMER
Fate, now satisfied with sending a drought last year, preceded and followed by floods and later a drop in grain prices, has now sent boards of grasshoppers into the mid-western states to eat up the crops.

North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota are victims of the plague of insects. Reports say the grasshoppers are not only eating grain and other crops but clothing and fork handles. One 1,600 acre field of grain was devastated.

The hopper menace has helped to bring the price of corn up but it has caused much more suffering than it did good. Perhaps the insect invasion was sent to cut down the surplus so the rest of the farmers could get a better price.

After several years of failure in succession, we are beginning to wonder if farmers will ever run out of patience. The biblical character Job has nothing on the farmers in the mid-west.

THE CORNWALLIS AFFAIR
These people who insist that Cornwallis' surrender be left out of the "birth of the nation" pageant at Yorktown, out of respect for tender British sensibilities, seem to be inspired by noble motives. The only trouble is that they don't go quite far enough.

If we are to fix things up so that all reminders of the misfortunes of the British lion in North America are obliterated, there are a good many other things that will have to be done.

There is, for instance, the matter of the U. S. S. Constitution, recently reconsecrated at great expense. Hasn't anyone remembered that almost all of Old Ironsides' famous victories were won against the British? Obviously, the only decent thing to do is tow the ignoble vessel out beyond the tip of Cape Cod and sink it, quietly and without a fuss.

Then there is the Declaration of Independence, surely that could be toned down in some way so as to leave British feelings unruined. With this action, of course, there must be some legislation to compel us to celebrate Independence Day without referring to King George or the redcoats.

Only a few days ago a monument to Commodore Perry was dedicated in Lake Erie's island of Put-in-Bay. This bit of poor taste might be atoned for by destroying the monument at once, and the battle of Lake Erie must be forgotten as soon as possible.

On the battlefield of Saratoga there is quite a monument, too. We ought to amend its inscriptions so that no mention is made of the fact that an English general named Burgoyne surrendered there.

About the only revolutionary monument that can remain standing, in fact, is the one at Bunker Hill. The British, you see, won that battle. Our Anglophile patriots probably will agree that that monument is all right. But the rest, evidently, must go.

All of this may sound a bit dizzy; But is it, really, any dizzier than this proposal to emasculate the Yorktown ceremonies so that a few doddering worshippers of the mother country can forget their chagrin at being Americans?—NEA.

Senators Oppose Sale of Cotton On Credit Terms

FLORENCE, S. C., Aug. 4 (AP)—Senator Smith of South Carolina and Harris of Georgia, today headed a movement protesting the proposed sale of stabilization cotton holdings by the farm board to Germany on long term credits on the grounds that such a step would prove disastrous to the cotton market.

The two southern democrats have urged President Hoover that the proposal be abandoned, Senator Harris presenting his views to the president in Washington and Senator Smith wiring from his home near here.

At the same time, the South Carolina telegraphed ten other senators urging them to lend their influence in opposing the plan to sell the cotton to Germany.

Senator Harris, asserting the sale under the plan suggested would be "taking away a market which rightfully belongs to the current crop held by the farmers," advanced a substitute proposal.

His plan is that the present crop be sold with the aid of the government in the necessary financing and that the stabilization cotton be kept off the market.

Senator Smith said that "if there ever was a time to hold cotton off the market, it is now. This is disastrous to the cotton market. Prices already are ruinous." He contended the proposal to sell the staple held by the farm board to Germany already has affected the market unfavorably.

MOM OF DELIGHT

by Margaret Bell Houston

SYNOPSIS: By posing as Señora Flores and refusing a reward for a necklace she said she had found, Juanita Basara wins social acceptance from the owner, Mrs. Belaise. Thereby Jason Divitt, who had stolen the necklace, uses his agent girl for his major thievery plans. When Kirk Stanard, Mrs. Belaise's grandson, takes her to the Combs ball, she mingles with New Orleans' elite. How different from Divitt's gambling house, where Eric Ledbetter, vainly trying to discover her identity, had torn a way her veil and kissed her? Juanita does not know that her chaperone, the Marquesa Cabrera, and Divitt are using her to uncover good places for robberies, nor do the questions of Divitt's wife, Molly, give her a hint of the scheme.

Chapter 18 GABREAU'S ERRAND

When Gabreau came down stairs, Conchita was washing the dishes after a late breakfast, having waited on Molly and Divitt herself. "Tell them you are not well," she crooned. "I think they will not send you on errands mebbe today."

That suited Gabreau very well. He would not eat breakfast, but drank some coffee. Then he went out into Rondeau street, passing along Royal, entering the shop where he had taken the picture to be framed.

Pierre put down a cup of black coffee as Gabreau entered from the narrow street. But the dwarf, so intent upon his errand, only nodded at the cheerful greeting from Pierre.

Pierre had many things in his shop besides frames. There were old carved sofas and chairs, vases and lamps and clocks, brackets and brooches and rings whose histories went back for centuries—hundreds of things that could be bought for a song.

Gabreau had paused before a case of old weapons, curious relics, some with corroded blades and gems in the hilts. Pierre came over to him, pointing out the beauties of an old "cimarra."

It thin steel curve was irresistible through the rust. Pierre's face reflected his enthusiasm over it—but evidently Gabreau was not interested.

But Gabreau knew what he had come to buy—the dirk with the smooth sharp blade and the handle that fitted snugly into the hand.

Pierre nodded, taking it from the case. "Tell yo' mistress," he said, "I have another table like de lit' rosewood one she want. I be please she come and see him."

Peace Pact Held As Cornerstone To Social Order

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 4. (AP)—The Kellogg-Briand peace pact outlining war as a means of settling disputes between nations was described today by James Oliver Murdock as the cornerstone of a new international social order.

The assistant solicitor of the state department told the institute of politics here that "the great social significance of the pact is that it has effected a turn in the tide of world affairs away from wars to peace."

The nations of the world are on a new highway to international cooperation, law and order. Previous to the Paris pact for the renunciation of war, Murdock explained international relations had been conducted in two distinct ways, by specific settlement and war.

War, he continued, had been under suspicion for a long time as conflicts merely had increased the number of devastated territories, depleted man-power and destroyed accumulated wealth.

The reason given by Murdock for the lateness in the renunciation of war by the powers was the former war between fighting men where combat was restricted to them in two dimensions and the civilian populations were not menaced by aircraft bombs and poisonous gases.

Now, he said, war was fought in three dimensions. "It is not by accident that the movement to renounce war came in the twentieth century," he said.

"The radical changes in the nature of warfare wrought by science have left mankind no practical alternative. Ancient warfare threatened violence principally to trained combatants, modern warfare is between whole populations. It threatens the existence of everyone, including the men who declare it."

Murdock explained the Paris pact obligates 59 of the world's 65 nations to renounce war as an instrument of national policy and to seek a solution of all disputes by pacific means only and that it was universal in scope, excepting six Latin American countries.

Noting that it had been criticized for failing to renounce national self-defense, the assistant solicitor said: "That right is inherent not only in every nation, but in every individual."

The pact, however, does not give express recognition to the right of self-defense. "The pact was credited by Murdock as being the basis of the London naval conference where, for the first time in history, great powers agreed to limit all classes of warships."

He said "this is but the beginning" and recalled that an international conference on land armaments is to be held in Geneva in 1932 and another naval conference in 1935 for the limitation of arms.

Thus, he added, by limiting armament national budgets might be used for constructive social purposes instead of for competitive arms.

Fliers Withhold Plan For Flight

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 4. (AP)—Russell Boardman and John Polando, America-Turkey airmen, still declined to disclose plans for continuing their journey today, but an authoritative source said they probably would reach a definite decision tonight.

It was said unofficially that they had considered flying to Tokyo but had abandoned the project because of the difficulty of taking off from the Istanbul aviation field with a heavy load of fuel. They were also credited with intending to leave Friday if atmospheric conditions are favorable for a destination yet to be decided.

Selecting Jury In Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4. (AP)—With exceptional speed being made in the selection of a jury, it was indicated today in the trial of David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, charged with the murder of Herbert F. Spencer, one time newspaper man and editor of a "crusading" magazine.

Six men and six women, all passed for cause, were in the jury box None, however, was permanently chosen.

Questioning of prospective jurors indicated Clark, who made no statement following his surrender, will enter a plea of self-defense. The state indicated it would ask the death penalty.

Spencer was slain in the Hollywood office of Charles Crawford, wealthy political boss, who also was shot and fatally wounded. The state chose to try Clark first for the murder of Spencer, and in event prosecution is unsuccessful, to press the murder charge later in the Crawford case.

ment in connection with the delay was that a "long fight," possibly in the United States Supreme Court, was in prospect, and that he wanted to be sure of his ground. Late yesterday he referred vaguely to "later," apparently referring to today, as the time for issuance of the order.

His threat to close all but strip-per wells came when purchasers of crude retained posted prices which meant a top figure of 42 to 50 cents per barrel for best Oklahoma oil. He declared a minimum price of $1 must be posted or he would shut the wells, if necessary, with the state troops.

A possibility that the governor was awaiting the outcome of a federal court attack in Guthrie on the state's proration law also was advanced by observers as a reason for his delay.

Three judges who sat en banc to hear oral arguments in the case of the Champlin Refining company, of Enid, Okla., had the case under advisement today, but did not indicate when they would hand down a decision.

It was generally believed that if they decided the state proration laws invalid, as charged by the Enid firm, the ruling would have a marked effect on any executive order Murray might issue in connection with a general closing of Oklahoma wells.

COTTON OPENS QUIET

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4. (AP)—The cotton market had a quiet but steady opening. Liverpool came in as due to a "made better" than due and first traders showed no change to one point advance. The market continued to improve slightly after the start in sympathy with New York, October trading up to 8.25 and December to 8.45, or 3 to 4 points above yesterday's close.

Later prices eased off 3 points on a rather bearish private crop report showing condition 72.5 per cent of normal indicating a crop of 14,150,000 bales. Trading was very limited as operators were disposed to wait for the government report due Saturday.

The market eased off in the first half of the morning on large private crop estimates. The second estimate appearing made the figure 14,218,000 bales.

Under pressure of considerable selling, October dropped to 8.12 and December to 8.33, down 12 points from the early highs and 6 points under yesterday's close.

Later in the morning the market rallied 8 to 9 points, said to be due to a report that the farm loan bill would sell a large amount of its cotton to Germany on long credit, which caused shorts to cover. Some traders, however, considered this report a bearish influence.

A mid-session the market was quiet and about steady.

WHEAT DROP

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (AP)—Grain prices sagged early today, influenced by Liverpool wheat quotations which were lower than expected. Liverpool reported severe pressure of wheat offerings from southeastern Europe and that Germany had further restricted imports. Opening unchanged to 3-4 cents lower, wheat later showed an all-around drop. Corn started 1-8 to 3-8 off and afterward underwent an additional setback.

Allred To Make Survey of Rates

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred revealed today that his department had begun a survey of gas rates to Texas consumers with a view to forcing a reduction. The survey will include production and transportation costs, Allred said.

News of the survey was made public through a letter addressed to Grady Shipp, secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce.

Shipp had asked whether the South Plains Pipeline company could be classified as a common carrier so it could be required to deliver gas to the city.

"We can buy gas and put our own distributing system in here and sell it much less if we could get it transported down here," Shipp wired. "We are not satisfied with our gas rates."

Attorney General Allred in answering, said the problem of attempts to reduce gas rates "confronts practically every city in the state."

"I have reached the conclusion," he went on, "that there should be a general reduction of rates throughout the entire state in line with the reduces prices and values of other commodities and services. It seems to me that this is true of all public utilities services."

"The gas and electric service companies have shown no disposition

Chandler Is Given Twenty-Five Years

DALLAS, Aug. 4. (AP)—Charles H. Chandler today was under a 25-year sentence for the slaying of John G. Sperry, estranged husband of Mrs. Ziona Mary Cholvlin, at a picnic ground near Dallas June 26. Chandler pleaded guilty yesterday by agreement of counsel. The jury deliberated only two minutes before deciding his punishment.

Mrs. Cholvlin was given a 10-year sentence Saturday on the same charge. She did not take the stand and the defense pleaded insanity. The state claimed that she lured her estranged husband to the picnic ground where Chandler shot him.

TEXARKANA, Aug. 4. (AP)—Accidental discharge of a shotgun killed Coy Burden, 23, farmer, here today. He was removing the gun from a boat at Mud Lake when the trigger caught on an oarlock. A charge of shot struck him in the knee. His death was attributed to loss of blood and shock.

Mrs. A. M. Harvey and daughter, Leona Leedom will leave Wednesday for a month in the Ozark mountains after which they will go to Oklahoma City where Miss Leona will attend school this winter.

up to this time to pass on to the consuming public the savings they should be able to make as result of cheaper materials and supplies and lower maintenance and operation costs."

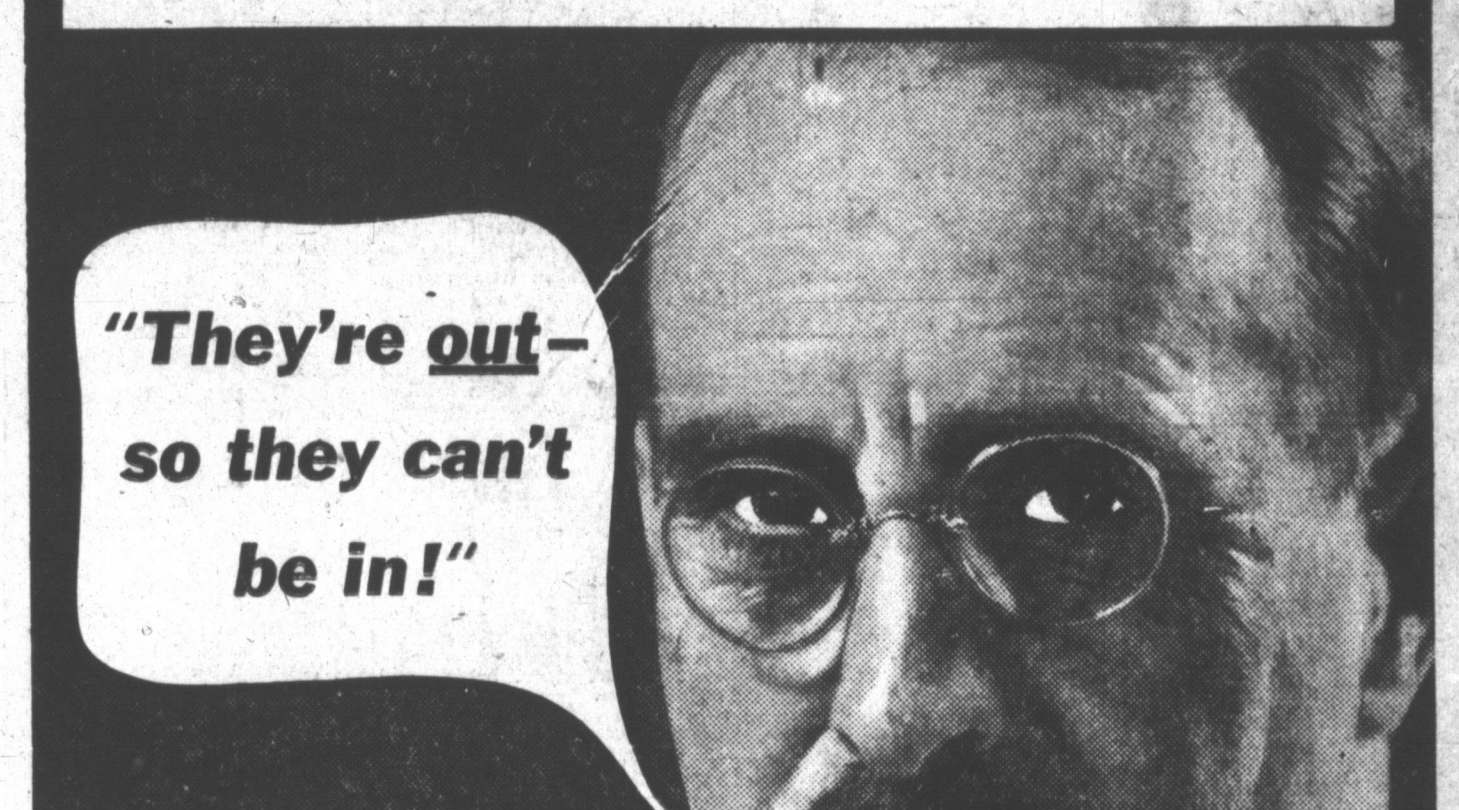

FORCED DOWN HARBIN, Manchuria, Aug. 4. (AP) Amy Johnson, British woman flier on the way from England to Tokyo, made a forced landing today at Khabarovsk, midway between here and Chita, because her fuel had run low. She will take aboard more gasoline and resume the flight to Harbin as soon as possible.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally (Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals) present in every tobacco leaf

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellow, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for fruits, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.
