NANKING, China, July 28 (Wednesday) (AP)—Chinese military headquarters stated early today that Japanese forces had attacked Peiping shortly before midnight.

A spokesman said the dispatches reported a severe engagement in progress. A rattle of rifles, machine guns and artillery has broken out all around Peiping.

The new battle reports followed swiftly upon issuance by the Chinese government of a sharp statement which was interpreted as rejection of Japan's two ultimatums demanding Chinese troop withdrawals from the Peiping area.

NANKING, July 28 (Wednesday) (AP)—The Chinese central government, in a sharp statement generally interpreted as amounting to rejection of Japanese terms for settling the north China dispute, today declared any future development dependent on Japan.

The statement, issued by the foreign office, said China had exhausted every effort for peace with Japan and could not accept responsibility for what happened in North China from now on.

It charged that the Japanese north China army made an "unprovoked attack on the Chinese territory at Langfang" and then presented impossible demands and seized provocative acts on the outskirts of Peiping.

A Chinese garrison was reported to have been surrounded by Japanese troops yesterday at Langfang, midway station on the Tientsin-Peiping railroad.

Later, Chinese and Japanese troops fought inside and outside the Peiping wall.

The Langfang attack preceded two ultimatums by Lieut. Gen. Ki-yoshi Katsuki, commander of the Japanese north China army, threatening a punitive campaign if Chinese troops were not withdrawn.

U. S. Captures Davis Cup First Time In 10 Years

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 27 (AP)—Sorel-topped Don Budge, undefeated this year, whipped Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin today, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3 as the United States completed its rout of Great Britain's Davis Cup forces and regained the international tennis trophy for the first time since 1927.

Budge's victory came after 21-year-old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee had clinched the cup with an astounding straight set triumph over Charles Edgar Hare, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, thus making the final score four victories for the United States against one for Great Britain's unsuccessful cup defenders.

Great Britain, losing the cup after holding it since 1933 when France relinquished its six-year monopoly on the trophy, could win only one match in the challenge round.

Parker, the decided under-dog as a result of his sad showing against Austin last Saturday, played virtually flawless tennis to score the most important triumph of his career.

Effective on his service unannounced with all his shots, the 21-year old Milwaukee star ran Hare, a newcomer to Davis cup tennis, ragged with well-placed lobs whenever the big British southpaw sought to take the net.

U. S. Asks Japs And Chinese To Avoid Fighting

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Secretary Hull said today the American ambassadors in Tokyo and Peiping had been instructed to express the hope to the Japanese and Chinese governments that hostilities would be avoided in Peiping.

Questions based on similar announcements in London that the British ambassadors were taking similar action.

The French ambassadors to both countries are understood to be making similar observations.

Hull explained the action taken by the United States was independent of any action taken by other countries and was in harmony with the policy the state department has followed since the first outbreak of clashes between Japanese and Chinese forces in north China.

It is understood, officials said, that Hull issued the instructions in view of the fact that approximately 1,300 Americans, including the marine guard at the American embassy, are in Peiping and presumably would be endangered by any fighting within the walled city of the ancient capital.

United States, British and other foreign military forces in Peiping's legation quarter prepared for possible Sino-Japanese hostilities today as tension increased with expiration of Japan's troop withdrawal ultimatum to China.

Sandbag fortifications were made ready as one deadline passed. Foreign officials apprehensively awaited a second deadline at noon tomorrow (10 p. m. C. S. T. tonight) for evacuation of the 37th Chinese division from Peiping itself.

Japanese citizens poured into the legation quarter for safety. United States marines, assigned to guard the American embassy, arranged signals to warn American citizens if an outbreak occurs.

There was no indication China intends to comply with the Japanese demands. Japan has threatened a punitive expedition in north China if her ultimatum is ignored.

Both sides were believed pushing war preparations.

Great Britain's concern over the far eastern crisis was indicated at the hour of commons by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's statement he had informed Japan of Britain's "earnest hope" there would be no punitive campaign against the Chinese.

Eden said the British government was in constant touch with other powers interested in China.

Because he believed his son Shearman, 22, to be the victim of an incurable illness, Dr. Guy S. Peterkin, 66, prominent Seattle, Wash., physician, shot him through the head in what he believed to be a justifiable "mercy killing" and then took his own life with the same revolver. The double tragedy took place in Dr. Peterkin's office. A brilliant student at the University of Washington, young Peterkin suffered a nervous breakdown while traveling in Europe last year, but friends believed his condition had greatly improved. Shearman had planned to return to school in the fall.

SIX STUDENTS GET DIPLOMAS

Four boys and two girls received diplomas from Pampa High school yesterday at the close of the eight-week summer term, and nearly 450 youngsters rejoiced that vacation days are here again.

The term just closed was the best attended summer session held in Pampa. The enrollment included several students from nearby towns. All work completed in the summer school is fully accredited with the state department.

Students will have six weeks of vacation before the opening of the fall term.

BANKRUPT FEE BILL APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The Senate judiciary committee interrupted its consideration of a new court bill today to approve unanimously a bill by Senator Borah (R-Ida) to regulate receivership and bankruptcy fees.

The Borah measure would prohibit interested parties in receivership, bankruptcy or reorganization proceedings from accruing upon fees, and would forbid judges to approve fees resulting from such agreement.

Violators would be subject to a fine of $10,000 or five years in jail, or both.

Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz) said the committee was making rapid progress with the new court bill and could complete approval of the measure later today.

Talk of adjournment, meanwhile, increased. Few senators forecast an adjournment date further than Aug. 14, but Democratic leader Barkley, of Kentucky, said he still was not ready to talk details of the legislative program for closing weeks or of adjournment plans.

Some senators appeared hopeful that enactment of the court bill would bring the session to a close.

TRAXLER CAPTORS TURN DOWN STAGE CONTRACT

DURANT, Okla., July 27 (AP)—One man's conscience saved the illness of another's wife today checked the efforts of a New York producer to obtain for stage and radio the first-hand story of the shooting of Pete Traxler, Oklahoma outlaw.

Frank Trimmer, Bryan county sheriff, said he had refused when offered a six-month contract to appear on a New York stage and before the microphone to tell of his part in wounding Traxler and killing his companion, Fred Tindal.

James E. Denton, Ashe ok field worker, said he refused a similar contract offer because of the illness of his wife, who is to be operated upon here tomorrow.

Boy Crashes Runaway Airplane

The urge that seizes every boy when he stands before an airplane—to jump into the cockpit, grab the controls and roar away—became a dream realized with a near disastrous ending, pictured above, for Julius Balmut, left, 16-year-old Cleveland. He gazed hungrily at three visiting army airplanes, then suddenly climbed into one of them and roared off. At a speed of 40 miles an hour he crashed head-on into one of the other ships, smashing both. Each cost $395,000. Balmut told police he learned to fly in school. He was sent to a detention home.

Residents of northwest Pampa who some time ago petitioned the city for a paving program on North West, North Gray, North Somerville and Cook streets, last night approved before the city commission asking that the program be started soon.

They were assured that a check into possibilities of an early start would be made.

This morning City Manager C. L. Stone talked with WPA officials here and was informed that the paving project could not start until the spillover at the Recreational park dam was completed. They said that there were not enough men on the job, to justify beginning another project.

The city manager said he would take the matter up with the district WPA office immediately.

Several boys were approved at the meeting during which the commission discussed the park project and contemplated city improvement.

COOL WEATHER RELIEVES MID-WESTERN STATES

By The Associated Press

Cool weather overspreading north central states, the Great Lakes and the Ohio Valley, extended into the warm eastern areas today.

But Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said at Chicago the heat would only be temporary.

Still northwest winds, which accompanied the middle west's cool wave, impeded Lake Michigan boat travel.

A Coast Guard cutter was dispatched from Texas City, Mich., to Saginaw bay in Lake Huron, to rescue seven men on a barge which broke loose from a tug-tow boat.

A race horse was killed by lightning and eight others were knocked unconscious when an electrical storm hit the Saratoga track at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Chicago's highest official temperature yesterday was 75. New York reported 86. Escanaba, Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., had the lowest marks of the nation last night with 50.

WORKERS AND PICKETS FIGHT IN CLEVELAND

400 POLICE ON GUARD AT REPUBLIC PLANT

CLEVELAND, July 27 (AP)—Four hundred policemen stood guard today in Cleveland's steel strike riot area to bring peace—temporarily, at least—after one of the worst nights of violence in this city's history.

Republic Steel Corp. workers clashed with strikers and sympathizers near Republic's Corrigan-McKinney plant where one man was killed yesterday.

Clubs, pick-axes, iron pipes and other weapons came crashing down upon the heads of workers and pickets alike.

A union headquarters was wrecked. Glass crashed in dozens of motor cars.

A wave of vandalism, spasmodic for several weeks, swelled over other sections of the city. Newly painted houses, finished without union labor, were sprayed with stain.

Home Windows Smashed

Windows were smashed in homes of steel workers and operators of knit mills where CIO and AFL unions are engaged in a jurisdictional fight.

Police forced a crowd at the Corrigan-McKinney steel mill back two blocks from one of its main entrances, and the morning change of shifts took place with little violence except one or two cases of stone tossing.

For several hours last night rioting near the plant sent more than 60 persons to hospitals and doctors to obtain treatment for head wounds and other injuries.

Republic Steel Corporation filed a suit to enjoin mass picketing at the Corrigan-McKinney plant.

Police reported early today the rioting had been under control, as city officials moved to prevent a recurrence of the open warfare.

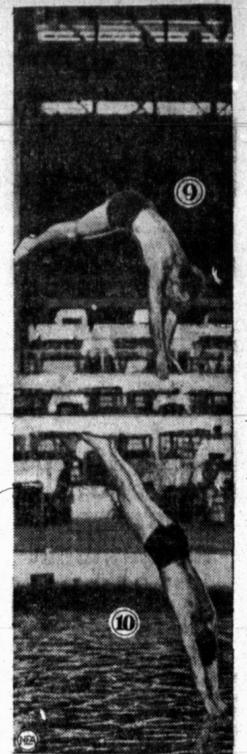

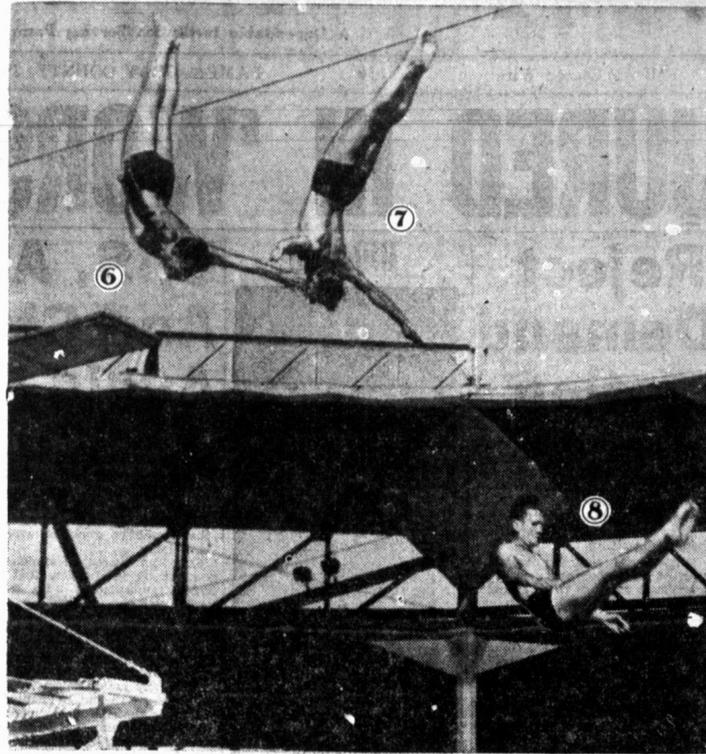

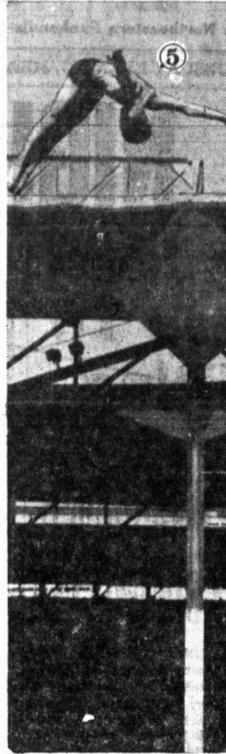

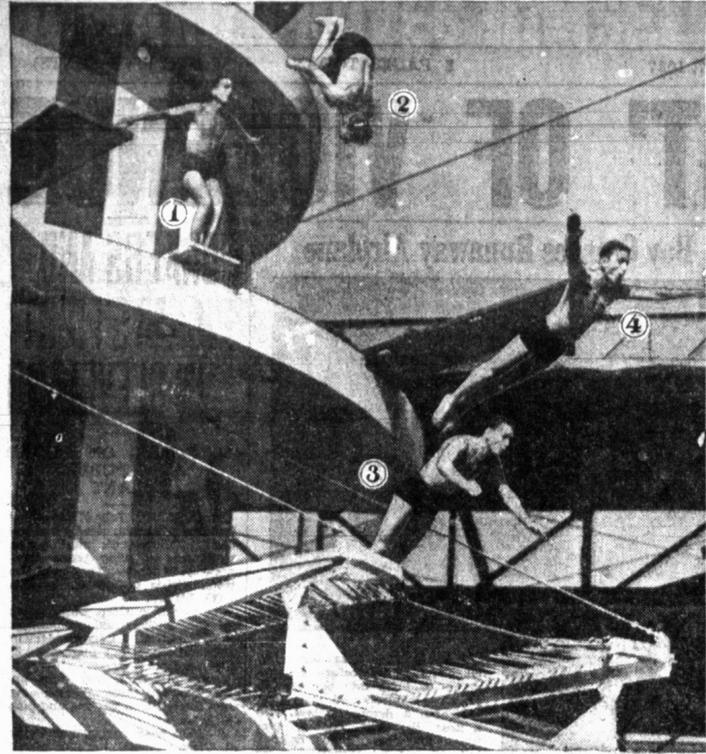

2-Day Shift Asked

Police Captain James E. Ferris announced all persons seen with weapons of any kind would be arrested.

Assistant Safety Director Robert W. Chamberlin asking Republic officials to abandon the night shift change, placing the plant on a two-shift day, while police chief George J. Matowitz cancelled all police vacations.

Mayor Harold H. Burton and Sheriff Martin L. O'Donnell said they would not require national guard troops.

HOWARD PROVES HIMSELF WORLD'S GREATEST DIVER IN TRICKY PLUNGE

By RICHARD McCANN,
NEA Service Sports Writer.

CLEVELAND, July 19.—Sam Howard, who is causing such a splash in the show business with his fancy driving here in Billy Rose's Aquacade at the Great Lakes Exposition, was a professional diver at the age of 4.

Sam's father and older brother dared little Sam to jump into a muddy creek on the outskirts of their home town Houston. Sammy was afraid. He wouldn't jump in. "I'll give you a nickel, Sammy, if you will," coaxed Papa Howard.

Sammy gulped back his fears and hurled himself from the low bank into the water.

That humble, clumsy little three-foot-or-so dive was the beginning of the greatest series of diving this country has ever seen, even including the plain and fancy diving which occurred on Primo Carnera's first tour of the tank towers.

The little boy who was afraid to jump off a three-foot bank into a shallow stream has grown into a slim young man who has thrown himself off a 100-foot tower into a five-foot tub, and is now concerned with performing the trickiest, most complex, most dangerous dives ever attempted.

Howard Steals Show.

The visiting Elks come to Rose's musical water extravaganza to take a gander at Eleanor Holm Jarrett and Johnny Weissmuller and they go away talking about Howard. That is, they go away talking about him if they have gotten their breath back.

Howard's main event is breathtaking and you can't do it justice putting it into words. He poises himself on a 35-foot platform, jumps off into a full gainer somersault, drops feet first onto a strip of canvas stretched as taut as a drum, bounds up and out 55 feet—going into a swan dive, on route, then winds and unwinds his little body in and out of a two-and-a-half somersault.

You'd think all those gyrations would satisfy everybody that Mr. Howard does just about everything one poor mortal could do in one dive. But he hasn't satisfied everybody—he hasn't satisfied himself. "I'm practicing now to rebound a greater distance."

He doesn't always knife the water perfectly. Sometimes the canvas isn't stretched tight enough, sometimes it is stretched too tight, and he doesn't rebound the proper distance and his timing is messed up. On these occasions Mr. Howard bruises himself the same as if somebody came up and swatted him with a two-by-four.

These little crack-ups explain the array of arnica, liniments, adhesive tape, gauze bandage, and such that you find on Mr. Howard's dressing table. "That," says he, waving at the medical supplies, "is my make-up."

Circus Performer at 13.

Fortunately, however, Mr. Howard has never been seriously injured. Once, in Chicago, he broke his nose when he kicked himself in the face with his knee doing a somersault. Another time he chipped an ankle when he struck a springboard.

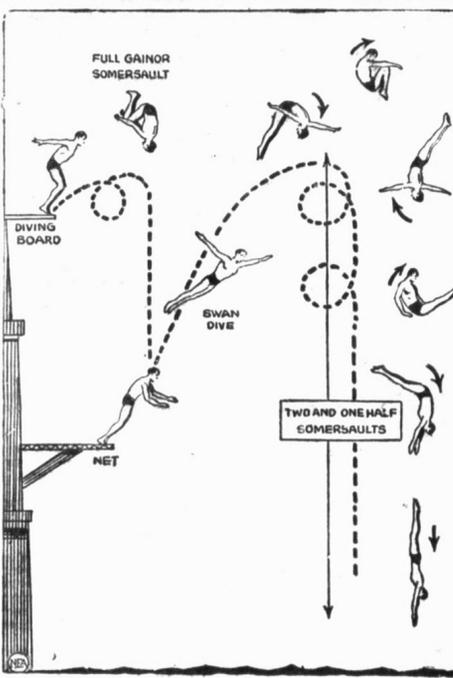

Unlike most divers, Mr. Howard's hearing has not been damaged by his continual plunging. "I bathe my ears in alcohol after each performance."

Mr. Howard, who is 30 now, was a circus driver 17 years ago. He had the pleasant job of jumping off a 100-foot tower into a five-foot tank 15 feet in diameter.

One night, at Luling, Texas, failed as Howard dropped from the tower. "There was a strong wind blowing," says he, "and I was terrified that I would be blown off the course and land outside the tank."

As you may have gathered, high-diving is hardly the most healthful of sports. "Four or five of these fellows are killed each year," says Howard. "And all of them are painfully bruised each time they dive. They can't help striking the bottom no matter how quickly they arch their bodies."

Professional divers of all sorts are poorly paid. Some of the carnival

PRESSURE ON WHITE SOX AND GIANTS ON THEIR ROAD TRIPS

(By The Associated Press)

As the Giants opened a thirteen game tour of the west and the White Sox began a twelve game swing through the east, the pressure today definitely on these second place teams in the major league races.

The champion Giants, battling to regain first place, squared off against the St. Louis Cardinals with a two-game gap between them and the leading Cubs. The Sox, trying manfully for their first bunting since 1919, opened a three game series at Washington with a five-game chasm between them and the top riding Yanks.

Bill Terry's troupe went into the west with a badly patched lineup. Mickey Haskin, filling in at shortstop for Demon Dick Bartell, has committed fielding lapses that were excusable, but hardly helpful, and has come nowhere near equaling Bartell's ability to deliver timely hits.

Harry Danning has wielded a potent war club as filler-inner for catcher Gus Mancuso but the ailing Mancuso knows best how to jockey the Terry pitching staff.

That staff has been weakened by the illness of Slick Castelman and the undependability of Hal Schumacher.

The White Sox are all sound of wind and limb and getting unexpectedly good results from a squad that has scarcely any "big names." The champion Yankees on their home grounds have won 27 games, tied one, and lost only seven—scoring 16 of those victories, against five defeats, in their clashes with the four western clubs.

The Yanks, though, have been dare-devils get only $25 weekly and the Olympic fancy diving champions don't get much more than that. "But," says Howard, who is the highest-priced of them all, "I think things are going to be much better now that Mr. Rose has popularized musical water shows."

Howard is married and don't you think that it was quite appropriate that he should take unto himself as a bride Helen Hayden, the granddaughter of Steve Brodie?

having their share of pitching troubles with a staff that at the moment doesn't extend far beyond Lefty Gomez and Charley Ruffing.

INDIANS LOSE 4TH STRAIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Two tight games and two loose affairs marked play in the Texas league last night.

Galveston rallied in the ninth to take a 3 to 2 contest from the loop-leading Oklahoma City Indians in the initial game of a series. It was the fourth straight loss for the Indians.

With two out in the 10th, the Tulsa Oilers uncorked a two-run rally to defeat Houston 3 to 2 in a bang-up pitcher's battle between Cevogros of the Buffs and Twardy of the Oilers.

Dallas reaped revenge on San Antonio for a humiliating defeat the night before by plastering the Missions 14 to 5. The Padres, however, moved into fourth place in the standings through Fort Worth's 11 to 6 defeat by Beaumont.

QUALIFYING FOR GOLF MEET WILL CLOSE ON SUNDAY

Qualifying for the Pampa Country Club handicap golf tournament will close Sunday with play starting the following day. First round must be finished by the following Sunday so that second round of play can begin on August 9. Entry fee is 50 cents.

Players will be allowed to qualify during games with the Shamrock

Sam Howard, world professional diver, is various stages of his three-in-one dive, one of the features of Billy Rose's Aquacade at the Great Lakes Exposition in Cleveland. (1) Howard is poised on the diving board 35 feet above the water, (2) he does a full gainer somersault, (3) he hits feet first on the taut tarpaulin, (4) he comes up and flies out into a swan dive, (5-6-7-8-9) he flips into a series of two-and-one-half somersaults, and (10) knives the water with hardly a ripple.

HORNSBY WILL PLAY FIRST IN DENVER MEET

DENVER, July 27 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby had all the answers today except one.

He would like an answer to a want-ad something like this:

"At liberty—Experienced baseball manager. Will handle major league team. References."

Hornsby blew into Denver last night to be first baseman for the Denver Bay Refiners in the Denver Post's annual semi-pro baseball tournament opening Thursday, and he used a big grin to show how he felt about losing his $20,000 a year job as manager for the St. Louis Browns.

"I was canned because I bet on the horses," he laughed, and went on from there.

Bob Feller?

"The kid needs control and must obtain it before developing into a really great star."

Joe DiMaggio?

"A fine ball player but he has a weakness—a fire ball through his letters on the inside."

"Sure I like to play the horses. I put over a pretty good bet on a limit horse and the bookies advertised it. Barnes (Donald L. Barnes, the Browns president) heard about it. He probably figured this Hornsby guy was responsible for a poor ball club because he happens to bet on the nags. My betting never lost a game for the Browns."

Polish Tennis Star Wins First American Match

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 27 (AP)—Jadwiga Jedzejowska's family were not a bit nostalgic when she took the edge off the net game of the perennial Polish women's singles champion.

After winning her first match on American soil yesterday in the Sea Bright lawn tennis and cricket club's 50th annual tournament, the husky 24-year-old Warsaw girl revealed her parents warned her she would be "very lonely" in the United States.

"People have been so nice to me since my arrival here," Miss Jedzejowska said, "that I haven't had time to be alone or to get homesick."

The gallery deserted 19 other courts to watch her sweep aside Edith Clark of Washington with the loss of only one game.

Miss Clark was utterly outclassed by the almost masculine attack of the Polish girl who holds three victories over Alice Marble, top-seeded in the women's field. The U. S. champion anticipates her fourth meeting with Miss Jedzejowska this week.

Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles, first seeded, reached the third round by defeating Henry M. Culey of Santa Barbara, Calif., 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Wilmer Allison defeated William Robertson, of Pasadena, Calif., 7-5, 6-2, and Robert Kemrah, a fellow townsman, 6-3, 6-2.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

POODLE (LO) (Hn.) (P)—Don't talk to P. B. Rees about lightning striking in the same place. A loose metal strip on an underpass will be ripped through the fender of his auto. Eighteen months ago, at the same place, at the same hour, while he was traveling in the same direction, the same accident happened. Neither time was Rees injured.

Texas Company Becomes City League Champions

The Texas company softball team became the City league champions last night with a 15 to 11 victory over Skelly, their toughest rivals. In the other game, Standind spotted Phillips five runs in the first inning and then came back to beat the 66 boys, 8 to 6, and eliminate them from the Industrial playoff.

With a record of 20 victories against one loss, a one-run defeat by Skelly, the Texas company team has the most enviable record of any team in the district. The team is well balanced all the way around with a couple of dependable mound artists. The Texas 10 will meet the winner of the Industrial league playoff in a City Championship series following the district tournament which begins Thursday night.

"I was canned because I bet on the horses," he laughed, and went on from there.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BREITZ

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—Looks like the boys down in Wall Street can start getting out the ticker tape for Don Budge & Co. . . . the Yankees blew into town with a fine case of the jitters. . . . Tommy Farr has Mike Jacobs talking to himself because the Welshman refuses to wear a headgear while training. . . . Incidentally, Tommy and Joe Louis get their first peek at each other today when they formally sign up before the boxing commission. . . . Van Mungo will have his tonsils snipped today.

Steve Markiewicz of Worcester, Mass., wants to be the first to nominate Joe DiMaggio and Lou Fette of the Bees as the most valuable players in the two majors. . . . O. K. Butch. . . . Back in April a St. Louis baseball writer he Pressy Don Barnes of the Browns, Rogers Hornsby wouldn't last out the season as manager. . . . Barnes fired Hornsby the other day and paid up.

Latest from Max Schmeling is he'll be over in October to fight Louis if Joe wins Farr. Zack Wheat, the old Brooklyn swatter, now runs a fishing camp at Chingquepan Springs, Mo. . . . The Hon. George Herman Ruth is having considerable trouble with his putting and he don't mean maybe. . . . Still thinks the Cubs are a cinch in the nation's.

Art Fletcher, Yankee coach, is doing the best job of jockeying in the American league. . . . he had young Bob Feller so high, the umpires had to go out and ask Art to lay off. . . . Red Face Dept.: In Chicago last Saturday night, Postmaster General Farley called Joe McCarthy and asked for a ticket to Sunday's doubleheader. . . . McCarthy, half asleep, thought he was being ribbed by a baseball writer and told the postmaster general where to get off. . . . Imagine his surprise when Mr. Farley visited the Yankee bench the next afternoon and apologized for calling up so late. . . . If Mike Jacobs really wants an opponent for Henry Armstrong, Jackie Wilson of Pittsburgh is available.

LAW IS LAW

RISIN GSTAR (P)—Rising Star has only one traffic light, but it gets full use out of it. The city fire truck came dashing up to the light. The light turned red. The truck screeched to a halt, dashed on when the signal changed.

BIRD FISHER

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Clarence Schuff, fishing for trout, caught a live heron. The bird dived into a creek and came up with the minnow Schuff was casting. Unable to free itself from the hook, the bird struggled in the air until Schuff captured it.

STORM KNOCKS OUT 8 HORSES AT SARATOGA

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 27 (AP)—Max Hirsch's challenge for Saratoga's rich stakes has been weakened as the result of a freak electrical storm which yesterday knocked out eight of his horses, three of them highly regarded.

The storm killed W. B. Kilmer's little known two-year-old, Ohio Vire, and felled Down Play from Robert Kleberg's King ranch, Mrs. Julia M. Loft's Mossawre, Mrs. Parker Corning's Thanksgiving and five others.

Down Play, champion three year old filly of the year, won the Acorn and Coaching Club Oaks at Belmont park before traveling west to take the American Derby. Mossawre is highly regarded among the three-year-olds while in Thanksgiving the veteran trainer has a promising candidate for juvenile honors.

Hirsch said it would be two or three days before he'll be able to determine whether the shock will have any serious effect on his horses.

"When the lightning struck I was having lunch in my kitchen close to the barn. I felt something strike my foot and guessed what it was. When the trainer reached the stable, the stricken animals were staggering about and falling in the yard."

"They looked like a lot of drunk horses," he said.

NOTHING ELSE HAPPENED—THIS WAS ENOUGH

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The wind seems to have had a grudge against William Hall, service manager for a used car lot. A tiny "twister," very rare at Colorado Springs, dipped down on the lot and tore a few things apart.

It picked up a sign advertising the used cars and carried it three blocks, dropping it on the sidewalk.

Hall happened to be underneath and his own sign fractured his hand.

It was the only damage that occurred in the city.

DANEY AND SEMINOLE TEAM WILL PLAY HERE TONIGHT AND TOMORROW

OILERS DROP ANOTHER TILT TO CEMENTERS

Lee Daney and the Seminole, Okla., Redbirds will be here tonight and tomorrow night for games with the Pampa Oilers who dropped another game to the Halliburton Cementers at Duncan, Okla., last night, 12 to 7. The Cementers jumped into an early lead and then went untried until the last inning when they finished up with a five-run spurge and then choked an Oiler rally.

Victim of the Cementers' wrath was Dale Mills who lasted until the last inning when Sam Dalley took over to retire the slugging Cementers. The mighty bats of Welch, Lowell and Sloan crashed a total of nine base hits out of the 17 collected by the visitors.

Eddie Sain of the mighty bat tried to pull the Oilers out of the hole with a triple, double and single on the trips to the plate. Beason bed off a double and single. Beason also had a big night affair, handling 11 chances with only one error.

Robbers of the game were Fred Brickell of the Oilers, who leaped high in the air and crashed into the left field fence to take Cliff's fly ball with the bases loaded, and Holley of the Cementers who took a skyride to snare one of Brickell's liners over second.

Halliburton opened the game with a four hit barrage good for three runs in the first inning and a three run salvo for four runs in the third. Then Mills got his curve ball working and the Cementers were sent back without another run until the ninth. The Oilers picked off one in the second, another in the third with a pair in the eighth and three in the ninth when Roy took over the hurling assignment.

The Oilers were without Sammy Baugh which necessitated Carl Beason going back to short and Pitcher Hutton to right field.

The Redbirds will be enroute to the Denver Post tournament when they stop off here for a couple of games. Up to date, the Redbirds have 42 wins against 27 losses against some of the strongest teams in Oklahoma.

Probable batting order will be: Vemie "Spec" Johnson, left field; Bennie Warren, 2b; Eph Lobaugh, first base; Eph Lobaugh, third base; Hap Allen, second base; Gene Bryant, center field; Boots Holder, right field. Pitchers will include Lee Daney, Andy Bednar, Earl Huckleberry, Ernie Hinkle, Ed Hinkle, and possibly Valde Eaves. Morris Card will be the utility man.

The Oilers will have Sam Scalling back in uniform. Leo Boudurant, a newcomer, is also expected to be ready for the game which will require Manager Fred Brickell changing his lineup and batting order.

PAROLE BOARD REFUSES CLEMENCY FOR SLAYER

AUSTIN, July 27 (AP)—The Board of Pardons and Paroles today declined to recommend clemency for George Patton, aged farmer, sentenced to die in the electric chair Friday for slaying Mrs. Carrie McGhee in 1932.

Under Texas law Gov. James V. Allred may grant only one reprieve without recommendation of the board.

The body of Mrs. McGhee, together with those of her husband and two children were found in the same grave on the Patton farm in an isolated place north of Athens.

The board said that after interviewing Patton and reading letters of trial officers, it was "unanimously of the opinion the facts amply justify the verdict."

FIRE AT EXPOSITION
DALLAS, July 27 (AP)—Pleasure seekers were given another sort of thrill last night when fire broke out in the hostess house of the Lone Star Gas company on the Pan American Exposition grounds. The damage amounted to $3,000.

JUNIOR SINGLES BRACKET IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT CHANGED

Several changes have been made in the first round pairings of the City closed tennis tournament being sponsored by the Pampa Daily News and Summer Recreation program. A couple of entries "got away" from the scheduling committee necessitating the changes.

The entire junior singles bracket had to be changed when it was found that a senior entry had gotten in the junior list. The name of a girls singles player was missed in the bracketing.

New junior singles pairings follow:
W. Saunders vs R. Duvall.

Joe Crisler vs Jack Brown.
Howard Jensen vs Jeff Pirtle.

In the senior singles, Francis Smith and Don Hughes will play for the right to meet G. R. Roberts in the first round of play. All other matches will stand.

The change in the women's singles will pit Pauline McKay against Wilma Abernathy for the right to play Opal Summers in the first round.

All first round matches must be completed by Friday night. A list of pairings will be posted at the courts and players should enter the results of their matches after each series of play.

Chapter XI
Monday: Was I mad last night? All Mrs. Fenwick wanted was an audience and I had to sit and listen to her talk about some new idea she's got in her head. Why had she to pick on me? Wanted to go to bed early for we had a hectic day ahead. . . . four special luncheon parties and three big dinners. . . . and I'm worried about Peter. . . . he seems as though he had something on his mind. . . . wonder if his worries have any connection with his haunted house. . . . Jigger hasn't brought him a puppy yet. . . . did he really expect a man like that to keep his promise? I did not.

Picked up the newspapers when Cal brought them in this afternoon. . . . first thing that caught my eye was a paragraph about Roger. He's just received a contract from some automobile concern to design new interiors for saloons. We used to talk a lot about the opportunities Roger could find for the development of his own business. . . . so he's getting ahead just as we planned. . . . does Angela inspire him, I wonder? Next thing I noticed was a headline about the Ace-High club. . . . closed indefinitely. . . . hints that Rocco has disappeared. . . . does that mean Angela's vanished too?

Tess has decided to marry Jimmy, although as Lora says, the season's not over yet and some wonderful catch might appear! Tess declares every girl should marry. . . . that it's far better to have a man working for you than to struggle along alone. . . . and as you get older it's harder to get jobs. . . . old age seems far away. . . . still, when I marry Dick I won't have to worry about anything. . . . I'll have all the money I can ever use.

Saw something in The Crow's Nest about Rocco. . . . evidently he's in some mess. . . . "difficulties" with the law. . . . the police. . . . must check up on that in tomorrow's paper. Never had a minute for my trip to the haunted house (for I've made up my mind to go there and look things up). It must be a queer place if the friends of Jigger and whoever lives with him always call there at night.

The most exciting event of the day happened in the forenoon. Mrs. Fenwick sent for me when I was out in the garden getting some flowers. . . . "Leave everything at once and go to Miss Pegler's cottage," she said, and she was all "fluttery" like she gets when she's very excited. . . . "What's happened?" I asked, for not having heard a word from Dick, I felt it must concern him. . . . "I can't tell you. . . . I'm afraid the hold lady has some bad news for you."

As I hurried along the private path to her cottage a thousand questions rose in my mind. . . . but always the words of Miss Pegler's lawyer echoed in my ears. "If we can fix this matter in time, but I doubt it." . . . I wondered at the time what he meant. . . . I wondered more now.

The maid showed me into Miss Pegler's boudoir. . . . I was shocked at the old lady's appearance. . . . it was only a few days since I'd seen her. . . . now she looked shrunken and old. . . . all her "up and coming" spirit crushed. . . . I hurried toward her. She took me in her arms. "Oh, my dear," she said, and her voice shook with emotion, "that I should ever live to see this day. . . . Dick that I want to talk in time, but I doubt it." . . . I'd wondered at the time what he meant. . . . I wondered more now.

35 UAW OFFICE GIRLS IN DETROIT JOIN CIO

DETROIT, July 27 (AP)—Unionization of 35 girl file clerks and stenographers employed at International headquarters of the United Automobile Workers of America put George F. Addes on the other side of the conference table today. Addes is secretary-treasurer of the UAW. The girls served notice on him yesterday that they, too, had joined the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Addes announced "we'll meet their demands." He said he hadn't read the list carefully but that it would be discussed in detail at a meeting with the UAWA on the employers' side of the tables and the girls on the other.

Striking Truckers And Meat Packers Will Finish Fight
BUFFALO, N. Y., July 27 (AP)—Retail food merchants rationed their supplies to harassed housewives today as striking truckers and meat packers planned a finish fight for a closed shop.

Grocery truck drivers strengthened picket lines around 44 wholesale houses and packers, faced a stalemate in negotiations at least until Wednesday as supplies of eggs, butter and poultry dwindled.

Butchers estimated meat supplies would last only three days.

Hugh Thompson, Committee for Industrial Organization regional director, refused to negotiate with representatives of four strike-closed meat packing establishments when they advised him they had no authority to sign a union contract.

The Iowa corn crop has had an on-the-farm value of more than $200,000,000 in each of 18 years since 1912.

"Don't say that, my dear. But I must tell you the rest of this terrible story. Jigger, the man for whom Dick was working, had to take to cover and shortly after we arrived Dick ran across him here. After that he hounded him all the time. . . . if only Dick had told me everything I would have helped him. However, a friend of his. . . . a young designer. . . . Roger. I believe he called him though I never knew his last name. . . . warned him that Jigger's friend, Rocco, had planned to have him kidnaped as he was in desperate straits for money. . . . oh, there are so many angles to the whole thing, that I could talk to you for long enough. I don't know if I can ever forgive myself for saying you to moving here. . . . all I can do for you now, my dear, is to settle an income on you. . . . and, though he is my nephew, and no doubt you loved him, there is only one thing to do—forget him."

"Oh, Miss Pegler, you mustn't think of giving me any money. You are not to blame. . . . the fact that Dick may yet make you proud of him."

Walking home my spirits felt lighter than they had for many a day. In spite of my grief for the old lady and her troubles, my heart was singing. . . . what she had said. Rocco and Roger assured me Roger did not consider Rocco his friend, otherwise he would have aided and abetted him to kidnap Dick.

There were no trips to the village tonight. . . . after the special dinner parties to one felt like being, so when I went upstairs I stopped for a minute in Tess' room, sampled some of the candy Jimmy had sent her. . . . noticed some newspapers at the foot of her bed.

"Going to read all these tonight?" I asked. . . . "No, I got a magazine from Big Kate. . . . guess I'll read that. Take all the papers if you want them."

I did, and glanced at the headlines for I fear my knowledge of world affairs grows less and less daily, for our talk is usually restricted to local gossip supplied by Cal and the rest of the staff. . . . I really feel perfectly acquainted with all the village celebrities.

Turned at once to The Crow's Nest when I reached my room. After reading a few issues of the paper began to wonder if Rocco pays the columnist for all the boasts he gives Angela's romance with Roger. . . . wonder how Roger feels about those squibs. . . . wonder if he registers any protest against the gossip's barrage.

Tried to banish Roger from my thoughts. . . . the hints of the hints given in this column. . . . then I realized what Dick's tricks had done to me. . . . my economic problems loomed before me. . . . no wealthy marriage now would make things easy for me. . . . what does Fate hold for me now?

GUST JOHNSON LEGALLY WINS MAT CLASSIC

Wrestling fans who like the going scientific had things pretty much their own way last night when Gust Johnson won the main event from John Nemanic in a speedy exhibition which saw many an illegal hold used.

Failure of Buck Lipscomb to take the mat in the semi-final was somewhat of a disappointment to fans but they got a real kick out of a David and Goliath battle between Little Tex Hagar and big, burly Senior El Pulpo. Lipscomb failed to pass a physician's examination and was ordered to a hospital for treatment of a badly torn knee. He was admitted to an Amarillo hospital where he will be confined for several weeks.

The rougher met his doom when he tangled with Joe Kopecky the other night. The rougher met his doom when he tangled with Joe Kopecky the other night. The rougher met his doom when he tangled with Joe Kopecky the other night.

El Pulpo toyed with Hagar for a while before discovering he was playing with dynamite. The little fellow dealt the Mexican plenty of misery with elbows to the jaw, fly-kicks and arm holds. The big fellow finally got nasty and smothered Hagar in 18 minutes.

Showing dazzling speed and scientific knowledge, Tarzan Krause, the deaf mute, gave weight to Ole Erickson in the preliminary and battled to a draw. Krause gave probably the greatest exhibition of speed and skill of the year.

Nearly every hold in the wrestling game was used in the first fall of the main event before Johnson came up with a Japanese crab hold to force Nemanic to pat the mat in 21 minutes.

The smaller Nemanic tore into Johnson like a tiger in the second fall and took over in eight minutes with a double toe hold. Nemanic showed his old time speed in winning the fall. He was injured three weeks ago when enroute to Pampa to wrestle and had not yet gained back his full strength.

Johnson plodded away in the last fall, still sticking to science, to win in 14 minutes with a body cover which followed headlocks and slams. It was rumored at the arena last night that Cliff Chambers, promoter, would bring Frank Cruz, the Frankenstein of the mat, to Pampa next week.

30 BODIES RECOVERED IN EARTHQUAKE RUINS

MEXICO CITY, July 27 (AP)—Workmen today picked through piles of debris to recover 30 bodies and public buildings in Vera Cruz, the Puebla states to reckon the cost of Sunday night's earthquake. At least 30 bodies had been recovered.

Stricken telephone and telegraph lines still rendered a complete survey impossible. Piecemeal reports indicated, however, that Matlansa, Vera Cruz, was hardest hit with 16 dead and more than 70 injured counted up to last night. Many were still missing.

Half the buildings of that town of 8,000 were reported leveled. Scores—perhaps hundreds—of residents in the area most severely affected by the tremor were in hospitals or hasty improvised first aid stations.

19 HOTELS CLOSED FOR 88TH DAY IN 'FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 (AP)—Striking hotel workers who voted heavily for acceptance of a compromise settlement plan returned to picket lines today as new labor difficulties kept 19 major hostels closed for the 88th day.

The odd situation, involving unions not on strike, arose late yesterday while six striking groups were voting 1,531 to 613 in favor of a peace plan worked out during weeks of negotiation.

Operators and union representatives expressed belief agreements might be worked out to permit reopening of the strike-bound buildings tomorrow.

Union engineers, laundry workers and hotel operators were unsuccessful in negotiating new contracts, and operators said they could see little gain in attempting to reopen in the face of possible new strikes.

The striking groups, comprising culinary workers and clerks and office workers, were jubilant over their peace terms.

Under the proposal, union demands for higher wages and a 40 hour week will be submitted to arbitration. The employers granted recognition but no preferential hiring to the union representing clerks and office workers.

WAGE-HOUR BILL VOTE BY THURSDAY FORECAST

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Administration leaders forecast today a senate vote on the wage and hour bill by Thursday despite new attempts to amend it.

Exponents of anti-lynching legislation said they again would submit the Wagner-Van Nuys bill to the senate, this time as a rider to the labor standards measure.

Senator Copeland (D-Ny.) submitted the anti-lynching measure yesterday as an amendment to the McCarran train limit bill. The amendment was tabled before the train bill was passed.

Proposals by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) to increase responsibility of labor unions through amendments to the wage-hour bill, also may prolong debate.

The wage-hour bill would give a five-man labor standards board power to fix minimum wages no higher than 40 cents an hour and a maximum work week no shorter than 40 hours for each industry engaged in interstate commerce.

Goods manufactured in violation of the board's orders and those produced by child labor would be barred from interstate commerce. The age limit for children is 16; for those in hazardous industries, 18.

550 AMATEURS WILL COMPETE IN QUALIFYING

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—Although two qualifying rounds have been played, the scramble for places in the National amateur golf championship starts in earnest today with 550 Simon purrs competing on 28 courses scattered throughout the nation for the remaining 153 berths in the title competition.

The championship will be played over the Alderwood Country club course, Portland, Ore., Aug. 23-28. The second of the two early qual-tying tournaments was held at Canton, Mass., yesterday. Six golfers, led by Edward P. Martin of Wayland, Mass., qualified in a high wind that rocketed scores well above par. Martin's 74-76-150 paced a field of 18, smallest to seek New England qualifying honors in the history of the amateur championship.

The six were added to the 14 who qualified at Tacoma, Wash., last Friday. Two Walker cup players of 1936, Scotty Campbell and Harry Glivan, were among the Tacoma survivors.

Six former champions, including Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, last year's winner, are eligible automatically.

tive fields, at Detroit, where there are 14 entries with six places available.

OUT OF TOWNERS LEAD IN DALLAS TOURNAMENT

DALLAS, July 27 (AP)—Out of towners had charge of the Dallas open tennis tournament today, Ed Lindsey, Oklahoma strategist, leading the march into the third round.

Lindsey used cunning as well as smashing strokes to dispose of J. D. Peterson, veteran Dallas player, 6-1, 6-1, in the first round and then eliminate New Barnes, Terrell youngster, 6-3, 6-2.

Jack Smith, the Fort Worth netter who holds titles in every division of play in his home city, easily advanced to the third round with wins over Edgar Shulls of McKinney and Sidney Moore of Lubbock.

A PARENT'S DUTY

An outstanding feature of the present generation's effort to reach the shining goal of the "better life" is the trend to be more realistic toward social relations. Therefore, it is strange that one unsavory by-product of our bustling era should not have been brought severely to task long ago.

That is the matter of abductions, beatings and attacks perpetrated on children. Criminals who create this problem usually invite the gullible boy or girl into a car and start out for a ride which often ends in tragedy. An ice cream cone or some other little favor may be the bait for the trap.

Prisons and asylums will take care of the guilty person after he is caught. But often that is too late to repair the damage. The fight must start with education of children to the dangers of quick friendships with strangers. And there is no one better fitted for that fight than parents themselves.

Most every good precept that arms a child for his battle with the world is taught by the father or the mother. Why should this one be left out of the curriculum?

'DEFENSIVE' WAR TOOLS

It is interesting to hear what John W. Currell of Washington, inventor of a wartime aerial bomb, has to say for his contribution to war-making. "I don't feel at all proud of my work," he is quoted, "but someone has to work for national defense."

Unfortunately, Mr. Currell didn't go ahead to explain definitely why he considers the aerial bomb a defense weapon.

Madrid, Spain, proving ground for new fighting machines, seems to afford proof that aerial bombs are main offensive weapons. Bombed almost daily by Rebel planes, its only defense has been anti-aircraft guns and planes armed with machine guns. It has not yet been proved practical to drop aerial bombs on a fast-moving target.

It may be granted that someone has to work for the national defense. But it's ticklish work staying within bounds. For war has a knack of taking our best intentions and shaping them to its own ends.

Washington Letter

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON — Debate on the Supreme Court has offered a grand opportunity for young fellows in congress to display their leadership.

Senator Minton of Indiana, of the class of 1934, glorified in the date and displayed keen ability at that most difficult senatorial feat, the give and take on the floor. It is no kindergarten trick to stand on the floor and fence with a half dozen senators, all picked with information and caustic retorts.

Minton could do it, although seasoned by but two years in the senate. At times he did it almost too well and flavored his debate with an occasional sub-caliber jibe.

Senator Schwelbach of Washington occupied a quiet sector during initial stages of debate but got in on some of the heckling. He had received his filibuster training earlier. It was he who organized the "Young Turks" who broke Huey Long's filibuster.

Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, while no youngster in age or politics, is another of the class of 1934 who, like Minton and Schwelbach, donned his armor to war for the court bill. Guffey waxed scholarly and cited cases and precedents, although few before and fewer since suspected him of such deep research into the doings of the court in 150 years past.

But Guffey recognized his limitations in the give and take of debate and prefaced his speech with a warning that he would allow no interruptions while he read his prepared piece. He didn't. But Wheeler of Montana and his cohorts were laying for him when he finished and soon had the Pennsylvania on the ropes. Ultimately he sat down in the face of a barrage of questions, declining to answer them.

Senator Burke of Nebraska, also of the class of 1934, was the principal "youngster" trying out his mettle on the side of the opposition ranking almost with the senatorial veteran, Wheeler of Montana, in the volume of his attack. But Burke is a kindly soul, and parries where he might thrust.

The shining light among the fighting youngsters in the house is that voluble Texan, Maury Maverick. He grabbed the ball early in the game by tearing off a copy of the court bill as it came from the White House, signing his own name to it and flinging it into the hopper.

Since then he has written and spoken for the bill and organized a following. He persistently denounces any assertion that the people are against the measure. Members of congress who oppose the bill, he says, won't come back.

Incidentally that is a risk any youngster takes in "getting his neck out" on a basic issue such as the court bill. History records that a number of youngsters who went in over their heads for the League of Nations subsequently lost their pants.

TEX'S TOPICS

The old, old story of impetuous youth, necking parties and so-called high life among the younger set was unfolded here the other night when principals in one such party related details surrounding a whirlwind love affair between a married man and a young girl which ended in the courts with the young man being held on a bigamy charge. Liquor, youth and a full moon were the stimulants in this particular case. All three ingredients, when mixed together, served to concoct a potion entirely too potent for those directly involved.

Today the young man waits in a jail cell for the county grand jury to act on his case. Marrying another girl when he already has a wife and child, he has learned to his sorrow, is a serious offense. The deluded young woman still professes love for the man who fooled her, but she must feel—under it all—that he doesn't have exactly all the attributes that society demands. Hers is a case of plunging blindly into an affair that had nothing at all to offer when the glamour of infatuation faded. The pit into which this young couple tripped, ought to serve as an object lesson to many others. It should make them take a second thought before they leap. But, one doubts if it will.

A grammarian says the correct plural of teaspoonful is teaspoonfuls, but it will still be hard for anyone to swallow. A Lockport, N. Y., policeman saved a robin from choking to death, but how did he know it wasn't the one that started those "first one of the spring" rumors? Headline says grain market says, affording a bond of sympathy for the young housewife trying to avoid that very thing with the biscuits.

For fellows still hunting evidence that prosperity has returned, Iowans suggest that they stalk this summer's tall corn. Philadelphians are considering a municipal crisis. It seems the city is the only one in the nation without a sea monster. The Grand Canyon of the Colorado river is the longest and deepest canyon in the world. In some places, it is more than a mile deep. The kangaroo hops 25 feet and can clear nine-foot fences.

The eyes of Texas seem to be turning "backward" as the Most Perfect Back Contest" to be staged in Galveston on the afternoon and night of Aug. 14—in line with its summer round of festivities—continues to gain greater momentum. This event—the first of its kind ever held in the south—is sponsored by the Galveston Beach association, which years ago originated the International Pageants of Pulchritude, bringing into the limelight such movie celebrities as Joan Blondell and the late Dorothy Dell.

With an award of $300,000, a brozen plaque, and possible movie honors awaiting the winner, applications from throughout the state and elsewhere continue to pour into association headquarters. All girls ranging in ages from 18 to 30, furnishing character references, are eligible. Final deadline for registrations has been set for Aug. 12. Surely, there ought to be a Pampa back or two in this contest. Both events will be held in the open and free to the public. In the afternoon, all candidates, wearing sports dresses, will be judged for posture. At night, dressed in simple backless evening gowns, they will be graded for general physical analysis and perfect back formation.

Eminent newspaper executives and artists have been invited to act as judges. In view of the fact that the State Chiropractic association—a body numbering 700—happens to be holding its annual meeting on the same date of contest. Dr. F. F. Charlton, president, has also been invited to participate in the judging. A loan of one of the most modern X-ray machines, to help expedite in the scientific analysis, is being made here by Dr. M. M. Mihovil. With bathing suits taboo and the contest staged so as not to interfere with any denominational church services, a precedent has already been set in winning the support of conservative citizens, association officials pointed out.

Banks in England employ nearly 15,000 women, but no jester would dare accuse them all of being tellers. A St. Louis milk route wagon is pulled by a zebra. This severely tests the aim of alarm clock tossers, as a camouflage, moving target is hard to hit. Night club bouncing these days is getting to be just as common as an old shoe.

A common cure for headaches in post Civil War days was brown paper, soaked in vinegar, and wrapped around the forehead. Only female wasps, ants, and bees can sting. For the stinging weapons in these insects are only transformed egg-laying organs. Skunk cabbage has flowers, fruit and leaves, but each grows at different seasons of the year and is gone before the other appears.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—New York in tabloid must necessarily fly the big names, but it is the youngsters, the kids on the way up, who hint today what Broadway and 52nd street will be like tomorrow. Let's amble over to the milky white way and see for ourselves.

Nena: Slender and supple as a willow. She's Spanish and has talented feet. But her English seldom goes beyond "Some day I die" and "Phooey on war!" Such pessimism in one so young is inexplicable, but her anti-combat attitude is explained. War in Spain has skyrocketed the cost of all those things she likes in Seville. Especially castanets, which she needs in her dancing. Quite unexpectedly she broke one of her castanets the other night. It cracked into a thousand pieces, and to get a new, authentic, Spanish, imported one, she was compelled to shell out $25. "Phooey," she says. "Phooey on war!"

Fred: This red head doesn't know whether to become another Fred Astaire or merely to command admiration through the medium of his verse. "What's to stop me?" he yelps, and means it, in the enthusiasm of his first job. He gets $30 a week for hoofing and his 19 years. "Nothing, Fred, except that poets go hungry and there aren't any more Astaires. If there were the craze would die down." Fred is really very adept at shuffling his feet, but he's still somewhat shy of the Astaire standard. Despite as he points out, the similarity of their first names. Still you never can tell. Nobody knew Astaire would be what he is, when he was Fred's age, except, of course, Fred himself.

Jean: A grand young actress and the daughter of a famous artist. Pretty, too. Last seen on Broadway in the revue, "New Faces." She's from Ohio, where her family is well known. Closest to Simone Simon is that part of her named Lee. Frederick Joan Blondell and Ruth Pursley are inseparable, at the studio and socially.

If you want to know anything about Carole Lombard, you go to Madalyn Fields, or Fieldsie. Fieldsie will tell you if she thinks it is any of your business. And Dot Ponedel probably knows more about Marlene Dietrich than anybody in Hollywood, except Marlene. Kasha and Lee and Ruth and Fieldsie and Dot—all of them prove you don't have to be famous to be counted a friend of the famous. Lee is Joan Crawford's stand-in, her ex-sister-in-law. When Kasha's marriage to Joan's brother Hal crashed, Kasha's friendship with Joan survived and flourished.

And Kasha's little girl is Joan's favorite. Will tell you if she thinks it is any of your business. Lee is Joan Crawford's stand-in, her ex-sister-in-law. When Kasha's marriage to Joan's brother Hal crashed, Kasha's friendship with Joan survived and flourished.

Lee Frederick is a script clerk. She met Simone when the actress went to work in "Under Two Flags." Simone didn't finish the picture, but out of it came a lasting friendship with Lee. The story is that it started with a memorable fight. Simone was temperamental, and Lee didn't like Temperament. Lee told Simone off. Now Simone tells Lee every thing.

Ruth Pursley is Joan Blondell's hairdresser. They met when Joan first came to Hollywood. When Joan married Dick Powell, it was Ruth who was made of honor. Lee rather surprised Hollywood, accustomed to screen stars selecting other screen stars to share the spotlight on such occasions. But it didn't surprise Ruth, nor Joan. They're regular people. Both once worked on Marlene.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Do you remember Beverly May? She was the horse that broke a leg at the shoulder at the race meet here in June. She stumbled and fell in front of the grandstand as she was coming down the home stretch. It was one of the saddest moments of the race meet. People forgot the money they lost or won, or the money they could have won if—Everybody left like crying and you could hear people saying, "Oh." At the moment many felt no race was worth the pretty baby filly's leg. But the crowd felt easier when word was circulated that she would not have to be shot, and that she would eventually recover and be used as a brood mare. Well, do you know what happened to Beverly May? She was sold to a local man, and recovery has been slow. She has been kept in a trailer since that day, standing on three legs. Naturally the continuous standing left her haggard and thin. Like people who are sick she has a bad color. She was kept in a trailer because her owner had no place else to keep her. Yesterday Beverly May looked more comfortable in a stable at the race tracks where she was taken. She switched from one leg to the other, and hopped about. Her shaggy mane and tail seemed to take on vitality.

How's Your Health?

INFANTS' EARS

By DR. IAGO GILDSTON

Infants' ears differ from those of adults in that they apparently are more open to invasion by infectious processes. Consequently middle ear disease is common among infants. The conditions is frequently overlooked and neglected. The results are permanent damage, sometimes death. The prevention of these disastrous consequences depends to a large extent upon the vigilance of the parents. It is the mother who must sense when something is wrong with her baby. Unfortunately, however, disease of the middle ear in infants does not always give rise to symptoms pointing to the ear as the seat of trouble. Quite often the only trouble noticed is with the gastrointestinal tract. The complaint is then diagnosed as diarrhea, vomiting or dysentery. The blame is placed on something the child ate. The diet is altered, and everyone has a false sense of assurance. To escape this it is imperative that everyone charged with the care of infants should realize that gastrointestinal disturbances, in the very young especially, are nondescript symptoms. Like fever, they may be due to a score of morbid conditions. A gastric upset in a child or infant is not "a simple gastric upset" until all other possible causes have been ruled out. Every infant suffering from vomiting or diarrhea and even when it is "off its food," This should include inspection of its ear drums for evidences of inflammation, bulging, etc. No examination of a child is complete (not even a routine examination given the healthy child) without a thorough inspection of the ears. Furthermore, when there is doubt, parents should not delay consenting to an exploratory puncture of the ear drum. The operation is not dangerous, and need not be painful. The drum will heal promptly. If there is an infectious process present, it will open a way for the discharge of the accumulating pus. Dietrich's makeup, but quit. Dot Ponedel, the make-up girl, got along with Marlene better. Dot made up Dietrich for her first Hollywood test, and has been with her ever since. If she's assigned to other stars while Dietrich's making a picture, Dot gets up earlier to finish the others and be free for Marlene. Stays on the set with her, and even gives her evenings to prepare Marlene for special evening events. Marlene does things like this: selects gifts personally when Dot is furnishing a house. Sends her own doctor when Dot is ill. Presents elaborate gifts on the slightest provocation. And likes her for herself, which some people think is nicer than gifts. Fieldsie and Carole Lombard were Stinnett bathing beauties together. When Carole forged ahead in films the first thing she did was put Fieldsie under a long-term verbal contract as secretary. Fieldsie lives at Carole's house, takes care of her income and interests, and makes Lombard worry about her because she works so much. Carole won't let her diet (Fieldsie's a little on the portly side) but that's the only item on which they disagree. Fieldsie gets as much kick out of Carole's success as she used to get out of her own. Like the other girls, she's happy to share the confidences if not the fame of her employer.

Book a Day

By BRUCE CATTON

Through the medium of a child's thoughts, Mrs. M. E. DeLafield in her book, "Nothing is Safe" (Harper's, $2.50), portrays the havoc wrought in the life of children by the divorce of their parents. And she does a splendid job of it.

Julia, 10, is the slightly precocious heroine of this modern novel, but it is her pale, taciturn brother, Terry, 12, who will command the sympathy of readers.

Children of a well-to-do English couple who have been divorced, Julia and Terry are shunted back and forth among the homes of their father and his new wife; their mother and bluff "Uncle" Tom, her new mate; and their grandparents.

Spirited, independent and a good sport, Julia tries to make the best of her new way of living, but the task of acting as a buffer between her neurotically sensitive brother and his relatives, none of whom understand him, constantly disturbs her.

And as for Terry himself, the bewildering new conditions and the thoughtless taunts of his stepfather cause him to draw deeper into his shell until at last he is in a sad mental plight.

All in all, by using Julia's perspective, Mrs. DeLafield succeeds in painting a stirring picture of what the separation of parents can mean to children; and of how youngsters can suffer through the lack of understanding elders.

In a gentle way, this author has helped buttress the argument that parents should think twice before leaping into the divorce courts—G. P.

In the future there will be smaller families, later marriages and more divorces. —Dr. William F. Ogburn, of the University of Chicago.

LONE HUNTER FILLS MUSEUM WITH BIG GAME SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — ONE man's gun has filled an entire museum here with African game.

The hunter is Leslie Simson of Oakland, born the heir to a vast Spanish land grant in California. Later he became a successful mining engineer in South Africa.

In 1910 Simson retired from business and for more than two decades roamed the lonely places of Africa. His trophies constitute possibly the finest personal collection of African fauna in the world.

To house a part of them he gave $150,000 toward erecting the Simson African hall for the California Academy of Sciences here, now open to the public. Enough game to fill two similar halls awaits suitable housing.

The group entitled African Water Hole, executed by Frank Tose, curator of the academy, is one of the largest museum display ever created.

Surrounded by mementoes of years in the jungle, Bachelor Simson lives with a lone Japanese servant on a hill overlooking San Francisco bay.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

A cold meat pie wins warm praise. It's not empty praise, either. Veal and ham see to that.

Jellied Meat Pie

(8 servings—enough for the two-table dinner.)
One and one-half pounds shoulder of veal, 1-4 pound smoked ham, 1 stalk celery, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2-3 cups diced celery, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 hard cooked eggs, 1 teaspoon plain gelatin; for pastry—1-2 cups pastry flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 cup butter or other shortening, about 4 tablespoons ice water.

Over low flame, place 1-2 quart saucepan containing veal, ham, celery stalk, salt and pepper and enough hot water to cover. Put on cover and simmer 1-2 hours until meat is tender. Remove celery stalk and cut meat into small pieces. Add diced celery, onion, parsley, butter and lemon juice to saucepan, and then cut up meat. Turn into greased 1 1/2 quart glass casserole. The liquid should be about 1-2 inch below the top of the meat. Drain off excess stock. Add enough water to the excess stock to make 2-3 cup of liquid. Keep this for use later.

Slice eggs and arrange in row around side of casserole. Arrange remaining slices of egg over top of meat. Make pastry. Measure flour and sift all dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening until pieces are about size of small peas. With fork, mix in enough ice water to make flour hold together. Form into a ball and roll out lightly to over top of casserole. Cut slashes through dough to allow steam to escape. Place dough cover meat and trim off the edge. Bake until crust is nicely browned in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 45 minutes. Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Heat reserved stock. Add dissolved gelatin. Make small hole in top of baked pie crust and funnel in the gelatin-stock liquid until it barely touches bottom of crust. Chill thoroughly and serve.

Here's a totally different cooling thought. For a cold beverage during the bridge game, use three tablespoons of following mixture to each glass and fill up with carbonated water and garnish with sprig of fresh mint.

Clove-Lemon Syrup
One pint water, 1-2 cups lemon juice, 1 teaspoon whole cloves, 2 cups sugar.
Mix ingredients in saucepan. Bring slowly to boiling point. Boil exactly 2 minutes. Cool and strain. Keep in covered glass jar in refrigerator.

A song opened the meeting, followed by a prayer by Mrs. McEwing. Mrs. Horace McBee thanked members for gifts sent her during a recent illness. NEW DEAL TO BE ISSUE IN NEW YORK ELECTION

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—A brewing revolt in its pro-New Deal wing today threatened Tammany Hall's support of United States senator Royal S. Copeland in his quest for the mayorship of New York City.

Out of respect for its dead chief, James J. Dooling, who died yesterday of apoplexy, sub-leaders declared a surface truce until Thursday in the task of picking his successor.

But battle lines were forming quietly, and one of the chief issues was whether the Hall would stand firm behind Copeland, a critic of the Roosevelt administration, or switch to Grover A. Whalen, one-time police commissioner, a strong New Dealer.

Chief candidates for Dooling's post, temporarily held by William K. Kennally, were representative Christopher D. Sullivan of the second assembly district and U. S. Marshal John J. Kelly.

Copeland's strongest hopes of retaining the support recently voted him by the Tammany executive committee lay in the behind-the-scenes aid of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, a bitter New Deal foe, and a neutral group within the wigwam.

GARNET REEVES BACK FROM MINNESOTA TRIP

Manager Garnet Reeves, of the Board of City Development, returned last night from Rochester, Minn., where his mother, Mrs. Mildred Reeves of Lubbock, recently underwent a major operation at Mayo Brothers clinic. Mrs. Reeves and another son, Sam Reeves of Lubbock, accompanied him home.

While in Rochester, Mr. Reeves saw Professor Auguste Piccard make his last flight with a cluster of large balloons. The flight was sponsored by the Rochester Kiwanis club. A few days after the flight Mr. Reeves attended a Kiwanis club luncheon at which Professor Piccard was the principal speaker.

The professor said that his flight ended in disaster, from fire, when hydrogen released from the balloons exploded as he attempted to keep his craft from landing in the Mississippi river. He declared that his idea of a group of balloons rather than one large bag for stratosphere flight was feasible.

Southwestern Summer Costumes

The desert country of the southwest blossoms out with the newest contribution to the American fashion picture—frocks and ensembles made of the familiar bandanas and blue denim of the ranch hands. Designed and made in Santa Fe, N. Mex., the lovely summer costumes sketched are a printed sports model (left) made from two colorful bandanas; a white dress (center) with a bandana bolero and matching sash, collar and stitching; a faded blue denim ensemble (right) finished with silver buttons hand-made by the Indians.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART,

To counteract the drying effects on the hair of overdoes of sunshine, try weekly hot oil treatments and begin right away to brush vigorously for at least ten minutes every night. In a few weeks you'll be considering a new fall permanent, and you might as well realize that permanent waves are twice as satisfactory if hair is in proper condition. In other words, it ought to be shiny, healthy and free from dandruff.

The night before you intend to shampoo, brush hair carefully, cover head with a thick towel which has been dipped in very hot water and wrung quite dry. This warms the scalp and makes it absorb oil more readily. Now part hair in sections and using a tiny cotton pad, cover every inch of scalp with warm olive oil. If ends are dry and brittle, oil them too. Pin a towel around your head and leave the oil on all night. Next day, shampoo in the usual manner.

Persistent brushing will cure a mild case of dandruff, and it tends to bring out the natural oils in the hair, of course. A bit of massage helps, too. Simply place elbows on a table, resting head in hands, then manipulate and gently pinch scalp. Be sure to move scalp—not fingertips. It's a good idea to massage in this manner after hot oil has been applied.

Always use a liquid shampoo and be sure to rinse four or five times, preferably with a small hand spray. Gray-haired women who wish to make their gray locks a snowy white can add a little bluing to the final rinsing water. It is best, however, to consult a reputable hairdresser before attempting this at home. After he has examined your scalp and hair, he can tell you exactly how much bluing to use.

Incidentally, if the men in your family are bothered with dandruff or seem to be getting slightly bald, do try to persuade them to stop soaking their heads in water under the shower and wetting their hair before each combing. Get them small, black mannish-looking shower caps and advise special scalp tonic instead of water for the combing process. Furthermore, the tonic ought to be poured on, then massaged in briskly. Friction and manipulation of the scalp will eliminate dry cuticle and white flakes of dandruff which often are scattered on their collars and shoulders.

Mexican Consul Protests Scene in Dallas Show

DALLAS, July 27 (AP)—A virgin on the sacrificial altar in the "Cavalcade of the Americas" at the greater Texas and Pan American Exposition drew a protest today from Adolfo Dominguez, Mexican consul.

The scene, as presented last night was one where an Aztec priest sacrifices a virgin.

"Aztecs never sacrificed women, only men—warriors," asserted Dominguez.

The Cavalcade is sacrificing historical authenticity for showmanship," said Ernesto J. Canales, director of Latin American participation in the Exposition. "I believe, however, that the Exposition will not wish to hurt the feelings of its neighbor country, and will make the change."

Dirigibles Found Wanting by Navy

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—A high navy officer told the house naval committee today his department could not recommend, at this time, further expenditures for building and operation of dirigibles for military purposes.

Citing the navy's "disastrous experiences" with dirigibles, Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of operations, said the department had found lighter-than-aircraft "wanting."

Charles Edison, assistant navy secretary testified that Secretary Swanson was endeavoring to formulate a policy in regard to such aircraft.

The committee had under consideration of a bill to authorize a $3,000,000 airship to replace the Los Angeles, which was retired as obsolete.

Three navy airships—the Shenandoah, the Akron and the Macon—were destroyed in flight, with heavy loss of life in the case of the first two.

Repay Nazis? 800 CHINESE ANNIHILATED BY JAPANESE

After observing the activities of "Friends of New Germany" in the U. S., Rev. L. M. Birkhead, above, of Kansas City, has asked for a special visa to visit Germany and organize branches of the "Friends of Democracy" there.

Previous gossip had the governor being made a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet and being named to the proposed new federal judgeship for the southern district of Texas.

Many persons in Austin are offering odds that Allred will serve out his term and won't run for another. They believe a good chance exists he will oppose Tom Connally for the United States Senate in 1940.

Recent capitol talk has been that the legislature's tax-raising session probably will begin in late September instead of shortly after Labor Day.

In a press conference recently Gov. Allred said the meeting would have to begin before the end of September if the lawmakers were to be here two full sessions and still back home for Thanksgiving.

Some doubt that the lawmakers will complete the tax job in one 30-day session. If they do the Governor perhaps will submit state regulation of public utilities at a second meeting.

Should the Governor set back the legislature's convening time it would be solely a concession to the September heat.

TIENTSIN, July 27 (AP)-A regiment of 800 Chinese soldiers was reported by Japanese commanders today to have been "virtually annihilated" in a battle with Japanese troops East of Peiping.

A Japanese military communique said the clash, lasting several hours before remnants of the Chinese forces fled, was provoked when the Chinese resisted disarming.

The first of the two ultimataums issued by the Japanese army and the Domei (Japanese) News Agency. Neutral observers here accepted those versions with reserve although they recognized that such a development was possible in the acutely tense North China situation.

The Japanese high command indicated punitive action was being deferred because "powerful forces continue to operate seeking peace and conciliation."

When the Chinese refused to lay down their arms at Tunchow, about 12 miles east of Peiping, Domei reported the Japanese attacked with the support of bombing planes.

The agency estimated 500 Chinese were killed and wounded among 10 Japanese, including one officer, killed and wounded.

Japanese censorship of all outgoing and incoming mail here was clamped down.

Highways and railroads were clogged with movements of Japanese troops and war materials flooding to the front. Farm land north of Tientsin was prepared for use as an emergency landing field.

Possible new uses of cotton include: floor coverings, moulting material, insulation, wall coverings, roofing felt, book paper and tracing cloth.
