U. S. DEMANDS INSULL PASSPORT

Welfare Drive Starts Tomorrow SUICIDE DEFENSE PRESENTED

This ladies and gentlemen, is COLUMBUS DAY. Christopher Columbus (Christoforo Colombo, 1451-1506), landed on what must have been Watling's Island in the Bahamas in 1492, after having sailed from Palos August 3. Before re-sailing for Spain in January he saw Cuba and placed a fort in Haiti. He wasn't in America proper, but, believe it or not, he should be credited with having discovered this continent.

We should on this Columbus day sing the praises of a very brave man. He sailed into a "sea of darkness" while people called him a half-witted fanatic. Memory of his exploit should shame those who cannot—with all the light of modern learning—look into the future with faith in the ability of man to perfect his institutions.

Columbus was not without a following, save in his own native Genoa. You will recall how he finally persuaded Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain to finance his pitifully inadequate expedition. Some say Ferdinand would put no dash but permitted Isabella to sell her jewels. At any rate, Christopher set out on the tiny Nina, Pinta, and Santa Maria, the largest ship being only 163 feet long on the deck. He went west to reach the east, and his failure was the greatest success of history.

If you like legends, remember that Columbus made a trip to Iceland while a young man and may have heard of the new world from the Northerners. This we much doubt. Give old Christopher a hand on this day presumably set aside originally by a banker. We have a lot of towns named for the "crazy man" of Columbus, the capitol of Ohio, is best known. Columbus was a map-maker. We need more of his kind to map the future.

We have yet to meet a Bullington button wearer who knows much about the life of Christopher Columbus, so we conclude that a few Pampans have taken up Jim Ferguson's system of being "agin" things. "Agin" has the same rank as a woman's "becasse". Roosevelt-Garner medallions are in such demand as to be almost unobtainable. About the only sure way to get one is to see Siler Faulkner personally at the courthouse, Texas, by the way, is among the leading states in the sale of the medallions.

This columnist is very, very proud of the responses which Pampa folk always make to appeals announced through THE NEWS. It is not the purpose of this column and this newspaper to be always a rep for something. Instead, we believe that when the people are informed their reactions will always be generous.

No better illustration is needed than that of Baker school, which has had a shower of pencils. Many of the donors were anonymous, and we regret inability to furnish the names of all who have either left pencils with THE NEWS or with Principal J. A. Meek. Baker school's cafeteria will be opened Monday to feed 42 pupils who otherwise would have no lunches. A shower of canned vegetables will be given the cafeteria on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. Those who see the Laurel-Hardy feature comedy at the LaNora are —AND A SMILE— MILWAUKEE (AP)—Andrew Wisniewski found that children are not legal tender. Summoned to court about a $35 debt to a furniture company, he offered two of his children to satisfy the creditor. "I am rich in children and nothing else," he said. The startled judge vetoed the offer and dismissed the action.

COUNSEL TOLD NOT TO LEAD HIS WITNESS

TREATH OF SWEAT-BOX VICTIM QUOTED BY CONVICT PLANNED TO KILL SELF

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 12. (AP)—A prison mate of Arthur Mallefert testified today at the trial of two former guards charged with murdering him that the New Jersey youth said shortly before he was found strangled to death in a sweat box that he would kill himself rather than remain a convict.

Corroborating previous defense testimony that Mallefert had contemplated suicide, the witness, Herbert C. Romines, Oklahoma forger serving a two-year term, testified in behalf of the two prison guards, George Courson and Solomon Higginbotham who the state charged caused the death of the young Westfield, N. J., convict.

Romines said he drove the truck on which Mallefert was brought back to the camp after his escape from a heavy barrel and his fruitless dash for freedom through the woods.

"Jersey, what in the world am I going to do with you?" Romines quoted Captain George W. Courson, one of the defendants, as saying when they brought Mallefert back to camp.

"I've done everything in my power to conquer you," he said the captain added.

"At one stage during the testimony, Judge George C. Gibbs interrupted to demand that C. A. Avriett, counsel for Courson, stop leading the witness.

Romines pointed a different picture of Mallefert in the sweat box than that described by other witnesses. He said that after the youth had been put in the punitive cell, his feet in stocks and his neck encircled by a trace chain tied to a rafter, Mallefert "lenned over and looked under the top of the sweat box and make a remark, with his hand waving across his neck, like that."

The witness then demonstrated how Mallefert waved his hand as though he would hang himself.

Need Is Outlined. The drive is necessary for a number of reasons. One is that the government requires it as a condition of obtaining supplementary federal work-relief. Another is that the machinery of finding jobs, providing hospitalization and nursing, keeping records of those helped, and investigations of applicants cannot be financed by federal money.

Were the Board to cease its work, dozens of destitute families would have to quit school, sick persons would die for lack of attention, and there would be no way of preventing begging and its attendant evils.

To Re-Organize. The Welfare Board will be reorganized when the money is raised, and its work will be supplemented by a federal relief committee headed by C. H. Walker.

Follow-up work in collecting pledges will be necessary.

WORKERS ARE TO MAKE PLAN THIS EVENING

QUICK CAMPAIGN WILL PUSH TOWARD $3,500

LOCAL NEED IS URGENT

GOVERNMENT REQUIRES COMMUNITIES TO RAISE MONEY

A goal of $3,500 will be kept in mind by more than forty men and women who tomorrow will launch the Welfare Board's drive for funds to take care of the sick, destitute, and unemployed persons of Pampa during the coming months.

Final plans for the drive will be made at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Chairman Jack Cunningham has called for every senator of every organization which will participate in the drive. Frank Keim heads the Rotary solicitors, John Hegy the Lions, James Todd Jr., the Kiwanians, Sid Merton the Junior chamber, Mrs. M. P. Downs the Business & Professional Women's club, and Mrs. W. C. de Cordova the Legion auxiliary.

Speakers tonight who will briefly outline various phases of the effort will include Rev. Todd, C. H. Walker, George Briggs, and Mr. Cunningham. Soliciting will begin tomorrow morning and continue intensively until the district territory is completed. It will be a community-wide program, with Alex Schneider in charge of the oil field area and Ralph Ogden, E. Bacchus, and others of LeFors organizing that vicinity.

The committees hope that those who are employed will give a day's salary or some contribution for the benefit of those who have no jobs. The business district has been split into more than a score of divisions for quick canvassing of firms. Community cooperation is requested to enable the committees to do their work thoroughly.

Especially is the presence of every solicitor urged for the organization meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

PICTURES OF INSULLS IN "EXILE"

Here is a picture of Samuel Insull and his wife in their voluntary "exile" in Paris. The fallen Chicago utility czar and his wife are shown as they strolled in Avenue Montaigne near the hotel where they had been living. Insull, after his indictment in Chicago, fled to Paris, then to Greece. His son, Samuel Insull Jr., who went to Paris shortly before his father's indictment, also is missing.

Allowable Cut Made To Insure Ratable Taking

DEMAND NOT EQUAL TO PRODUCTION OF OIL

The Texas Railroad commission ordered the Panhandle oil allowance cut to 45,000 barrels daily in order to insure ratable taking of oil from the field. J. M. McDonald, deputy supervisor of the oil and gas division of the commission for the Panhandle field, said this morning upon his return from Austin. The new order went into effect today.

The order authorizing the change from 50,000 barrels stated that "until April 1, 1933, not more than 45,000 barrels of oil daily shall be produced from the Panhandle field." "The order can be changed at any time, local representatives say.

In discussing lowering of the Panhandle allowance, it was pointed out that the demand was not equal to the allowable and that oil could not be taken ratably under the large allowable. Last week pipeline companies took only 41,000 barrels of oil daily from the Panhandle field. The Humble Oil & Refining company recently cut its takings to 90 per cent.

Under the new allowable schedule, companies are allowed to produce 14.23 per cent while the percentage under the larger allowable was 14.15.

The new summary follows: Carson county—246 wells, 98 marginal wells, 12,988 barrels potential, 3,791 barrels marginal, 241 barrels exempt, 9,047 barrels proratable oil, 5,224 barrels allowable.

Gray—786 wells, 244 marginal wells, 84,460 barrels potential, 13,294 barrels marginal, 3,108 barrels exempt, 68,058 barrels proratable oil, 26,038 barrels allowable.

Hutchinson—743 wells, 499 marginal wells, 21,511 barrels potential, 8,264 barrels marginal, 2,637 barrels exempt, 10,610 barrels proratable oil, 12,413 barrels allowable.

Moore—22 wells, 13 marginal wells, 2,697 barrels potential, 248 barrels marginal, 252 barrels exempt, 2,197 barrels proratable oil, 813 barrels allowable.

Wheeler—42 wells, 27 marginal wells, 628 barrels potential, 403 barrels marginal, 32 barrels exempt, 193 barrels proratable oil, 462 barrels allowable.

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Two Brooks field fliers, Lieutenant Joseph A. Barnes and Private Fredrick R. Douglas, were instantly killed when their plane crashed at Brooks field shortly after noon today. The plane burst into flames immediately and the bodies were cremated. The officer was attempting to land the plane at the time. For some unknown reason it crashed into electric light wires between the hangars and barracks buildings and fell, a mass of flames, into the main road.

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals held today that the optional system of wagering on horse races violated the Texas law against betting, in deciding a test case. Under the optional system one buys an option on a horse and if the horse wins the holder of the option may purchase the horse at a certain nominal sum. If the holder of the option does not care to exercise his right to buy, the owner of the horse proposes to redeem the option with cash.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 12 (AP)—Mrs. James A. Reed, wife of the former senator from Missouri, died at a hospital here today after a brief illness. Mrs. Reed was taken to the hospital last night suffering from a septic sore throat which had developed suddenly. This morning physicians announced she had contracted pneumonia. Former Senator Reed was at the bedside of his wife when she died. He had hurried home from Des Moines, cancelling a business engagement in Chicago.

Legal Work For Right of Way Is Being Completed

County Attorney Sherman White is completing legal work in connection with purchase of right-of-way on Highway 152 southwest of Pampa.

There are but a few deeds to be signed, and one condemnation suit to file.

The next task will be to purchase of right-of-way on Highway 88 south, for which the county commissioners yesterday made funds available.

Work on hard-surfacing of county roads must wait until the bond market improves, which will not be until the opinion of many—until the legislature quits offering "relief" in the form of remission of interest and penalties on taxes.

ALLOWABLE RAISED

TYLER, Oct. 12 (AP)—R. D. Parker, oil and gas supervisor for the state railroad commission, in making public revised figures for production of oil production in Texas, said today the cut would be 130,000 barrels instead of 117,000 barrels as first reported from Austin.

DISCOVERY IS CELEBRATED

Columbus Saw New World Shores 440 Years Ago Today.

By DON J. KIRKLEY WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Thrust valiantly forward as if aware silver lay just a wave ahead, the silver sails of two dot-like caravels and a pin-point flagship bobbed on the Atlantic 440 years ago today just off the shore of Guanahani Island.

By an unwavering hope that the world was round and that to the west waited Indian riches, Christopher Columbus aboard the Santa Maria fought bobbed on the mutiny of his men, swelling after 36 days at sea from the Canary Islands without a trace of land.

A lookout raised the victory cry as the low-lying bank thought to be clouds off the bow became distinguishable as land. There on that small island—probably what is known today as Watling Island—was the climax of the voyage that was to open a treasure chest far richer than India and form the key that unlocked the western hemisphere.

These the European first set foot on the soil of the Americas. Columbus on that same voyage discovered Cuba and Haiti. He made several other trips to the west after the triumphant return to Palos, from the first cruise on March 15, 1493, and broken in health returned to Spain to die May 20, 1506.

To pay him honor now, the 21 independent republics that grew up in the world he discovered are seeking to build at Santo Domingo—the first permanent Christian settlement in the new world—a colossal lighthouse.

Twenty of the 21 carved themselves from the vast colonial empire that Spain built up at the end of the route Columbus traveled, through the Pan-American union in Washington. They are joining the United States in plans for the combined memorial in the Dominican republic. Special Columbus ceremonies were the order of today at the union here.

Fifty Jobless Register in Day

Only 50 unemployed men had registered with the Welfare Board in the basement of the city hall up to noon today. Registration started at noon yesterday.

The names will be used in giving men work during the winter if Pampa gets a portion of the federal money appropriated for relief. A welfare drive will start tomorrow morning in order that Pampa may report her share in taking care of the situation locally. The amount of federal relief is based on the way Pampa tries to take care of the situation.

Unemployed men and women in Pampa and the immediate vicinity are urged to register immediately.

LEGATION IS ORDERED TO HOLD PAPERS

IF DOCUMENT IS GIVEN UP HE WILL BE ISOLATED CANNOT LEAVE GREECE

INSULL CAN REFUSE TO SURRENDER HIS PASSPORT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The state department has instructed the American legation in Athens to take up the passport of Samuel Insull, Sr.

The department this afternoon had not received word whether Insull was willing to surrender the document, however.

Without a passport, it would be impossible for him to enter any other country.

Consequently, if he surrenders his documents, state department officials believe he will be isolated in Greece.

Officials refused to discuss what further step will be taken in case Insull refuses to yield his passport.

Under the system of "taking up" a passport, the American consulates abroad are instructed to take over the document from the holder. In the event the holder refuses to surrender it, it would be taken up the next time he applied for a renewal of his passport at a consulate.

M. Romano, one of the principal lawyers of Athens and president of the Greek order of advocates, has been retained by Insull to take charge of the defense.

It was learned that Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, telephoning from Loutraki where he is enjoying a holiday, ordered the interior department to insure strict application of the law.

Insull's original plan was to stay here about three months, he said, but he indicated he intended to remain now at least until after the elections in the United States.

Burden and Low Read Papers at A. P. I. Meeting

Two of the most interesting speakers heard since the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute was organized were read to a large gathering in the city hall auditorium last night by O. R. Burden of the Texas Pipe Line company of Wichita Falls and B. C. Low of the Humble Oil & Refining company. In discussing pipeline construction and operation, Mr. Burden gave a graphic description of the methods, both old and new, used in constructing pipelines across country. He mentioned the equipment needed for the construction of a line and the order in which they are used for the best speed. His description of the work itself and the machinery used was particularly constructive. He told of the construction of the Texas-Empire 36-inch pipeline in East Texas, 400 miles long, which was built in 30 days. It was necessary to purchase the right-of-way, the material, and build the stations within that time and the job was completed on schedule.

Mr. Low told of the various methods used in treating oil in readiness for pipe line acceptance, and the actual delivery of the oil and its progress through the lines to its destination with the handling at the acceptance end of the line. He stressed the work of the gauger and his many duties. He paid high tribute to the production department pumper who is the company's witness to all transactions. He told of the appreciation of the way Panhandle pumpers and gaugers did the work and co-operated with everyone.

A discussion followed the two papers.

Ewing Considers Suit Judgment

Judge W. R. Ewing has under advisement but will probably not render before Monday the judgment in the suit of the First National bank of Tulsa against the Operators Royalty & Producing company to foreclose a mortgage secured by properties in several states. Supply houses as intervenors had reached an agreement yesterday with the exception of the Cypress Tank company, which claimed a prior lien. Testimony on this point was heard by the judge.

KEYS HEADS ORGANIZATION OF BUSINESS MEN WHICH WILL PROMOTE SPECIAL DAYS

Committee is Elected to Put Plans Before Firms and To Finance Arrangements

Pampa merchants, assembled at the city hall last night to discuss PAMPA DAY and other projects, agreed unanimously to band together to promote the interests of the city and elected H. D. Keys as their chairman.

A steering committee composed of unanimity among business men, and a better realization of how to make Pampa a popular city. It was agreed that the trade success of special days was a secondary consideration, since trade inevitably follows on other days if visitors are made to feel welcome.

Another meeting will be called after the committee has worked out its plan. Studies will be made of plans in use in other cities of the Southwest.

Mr. Keys and F. S. Browne, George Limerick, Henry Gerhard, and H. L. Poley was chosen. This committee will work out details for future events and will draft a plan to distribute widely the cost of promoting special days.

It was decided to offer cash awards to supplement the entertainment, instead of having auctions of merchandise. Many of those present made talks urging the need for more good will enterprises, more

Need For Relief Funds Cited at Rotary Meeting

There are at least 125 families in Pampa today who would starve were it not for the Pampa Welfare association or some other relief agency.

These facts were brought out in a report today by Mrs. W. H. Davis, manager of the welfare board in a talk before the Rotary club.

"We have handled 2,125 families in less than two years. Every one of these has been investigated," said Mrs. Davis.

Making the streets safer is not merely a question of passing laws. It is an academic question in the sense that citizens must know the laws, the reasons for them, and the best means for encouraging the children to observe traffic regulations.

Hijacking Victim Wounded on Head

Two hi-jackers, answering the description of the two men who robbed T. S. McWhorter of Shantrock west of Pampa Sunday night, held up Earl Hall, employe at the Magnolia carbon black east of the city last night about 11:30 o'clock and robbed him of $9 in cash.

TOM LEWIS AND PEACOCK REVUE PLEASING REX THEATER CROWDS

Pampa theater goers are saying complimentary things about the Peacock Revue which is at the Rex for an indefinite period.

A comely chorus, stepping lively between scenes of the farce comedies, is a favorite but unobtrusive feature.

Bobby Whalen, tenor soloist, has one of the best voices heard on local stages in many a day. He divides popularity with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewis, whose management assures wholesome productions.

The usual films are shown in addition to the revue. A complete change of program will be provided today both by the movie director and the revue manager.

HUSKING BRONCHOS HOLD HARVESTERS TO 7-6 SCORE

FUMBLES NEAR GOAL CHANGE GAME RESULT

PAMPA LACKS SCORING PUNCH; DEFENSIVE PLAY POOR

Still sore and bruised from their battle with the Berger Bulldogs in a concrete and a little cocky because, the Pampa Harvesters had considerable trouble defeating the last Clarendon high school Bronchos here yesterday afternoon by a 7 to 6 score. The Harvesters had several opportunities to score but lost the ball on fumbles.

The Harvesters made 16 first downs to 11 for the visitors, with 10 of them in the first half without a score. Clarendon proved strongest in the third quarter with five first-downs to the Harvesters two. The six and gold scored in the end of the third quarter when Poole took the ball across on a 12-yard jaunt. He then placed the try for extra point between the uprights for the margin of victory.

Whitehook, Hudson, and Andis combined to carry the ball most effectively for the Harvesters. Sullivan and Turner made several nice plays through the line on spinning and criss-cross plays. Poole and Marbaugh powerhoused through several times but fumbles were costly.

The right side of the Harvester line leaked badly on several occasions. The usually reliable Bantam, and missed many tackles, as also did Kelley on the other end. Hudson, Whitehook, and Andis were the big ground gainers for the Bronchos. Fullback Boles was used little. Many times Hudson broke through for first downs, dragging several Harvesters who tried to stop him by tackling high. He is one of the most powerful men seen in action this year. Andis and Whitehook are fast and tricky. Martin, left end, and O'Neil, tackle, were outstanding linemen on the field. Their tackling was low and hard.

The game was needed badly as the Harvesters have to meet the fast Philview Bulldogs here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. They will be put through two stiff workouts before the game Saturday, coaches said last night.

Salsbury is hurt.

The Salsbury suffered a badly injured leg during the game and may be lost to the Harvesters for some time. Sammy Turner got a bad cut on his head, playing without a headgear, which has become a habit with some of the Harvesters. Walton Head received a bad bump on his head before the game which will be collided with Siler Faulkner, who was accepting a pass in practice.

The Harvesters took the kickoff and made three first downs in rapid succession before trying a student pass which was intercepted on Clarendon's 20-yard line. Hudson then showed some of the prettiest plugging of the game by making a 12-yard gain and following with a 18-yard plunge. The Bronchos then lost 20 yards when Harvesters broke through and nailed the ball carrier on three straight attempts.

The game developed into a kicking duel, both lines holding after a first down on several occasions. Then Dick Sullins broke through for 28 yards to place the ball on Clarendon's 12-yard line and the quarter. Turner carried it to the 1-yard line but fumbled and Clarendon recovered. Then started a game of punting by the Bronchos and ball carrying by the Harvesters with the Bronchos holding near their goal line. The Bronchos had 50 punt against the wind and the ball never left their territory during the quarter. The Harvesters were held on the 10-yard line twice and on the 12-yard line three times.

Brent is smart.

The Bronchos stole the third quarter although the Harvesters looked better than earlier in the game. Hudson and Whitehook did considerable ball carrying for the Bulldogs. Patton was put out of the game for roughing, but Pampa failed to draw a penalty of half the distance to their goal line.

Clarendon worked on the right side of the Pampa line which gave repeatedly for gains. The Harvester backfield started clicking late in the quarter. Sullins, Marbaugh and Turner carried the ball to the 12-yard line where Poole carried it across in one play.

After the kickoff, Andis made the prettiest run of the game when he went for 30 yards through the Harvesters secondary without interference. The ball was on Pampa's 39-yard line at the quarter.

Whitehook and Andis combined on two passes and a run to place the ball on Pampa's 20-yard line, but Sullins then intercepted a pass and threw the day. Undaunted, the Bronchos held and Pampa's punt was short. The Clarendon boys then started a march up the field which ended across the goal line. Whitehook and Hudson carried the ball 20 yards on three plays and Andis took it the remaining 12 yards on two plays. The pass for extra point failed.

Pampa took the kickoff and started down the field, helped by Managers For Pirates, Red Sox and Cincinnati Not Yet Selected.

By HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—The signing of Joseph Vincent McCarthy to a three-year contract as manager of the New York Yankees leaves only three major league managerial posts still to be filled.

At least one of these is virtually certain to be filled by the list with the probable appointment of George Gibson as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He amazed the experts by finishing second in the national league race this year.

There is more than a little doubt, however, with regard to the managerial jobs open with the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox. The release of Dan Howley left the Cincinnati post wide open.

The situation at Boston is a little different. Marty McManus, veteran second baseman of the team during the 1932 campaign after the resignation of John (Shano) Collins, but whether he will be given a contract for the full 1933 season still was open to question.

Connie Mack, of course, is a fixture with the Philadelphia Athletics, and Bert Strotton of the Philadelphia and Bill Killefer of the St. Louis Browns have just signed three-year contracts, and Bill Terry, a two-year agreement with the New York Giants.

GRINS FROM THE GRID

to hear from one of his own players an expert opinion on Hickman's line and wreak devastation in the New York backfield. Hickman's huge, squat form appeared in the thick of almost every play.

And though convinced of Hickman's greatness, the coach wanted ability.

Coach Robert A. Higgins of Penn State tells the story of an episode that took place in the New York university dressing room just after Tennessee had administered a 14-0 drubbing to the Violets.

Throughout the game, "Chick" Meehan, N. Y. U. coach, had watched Herman Hickman, Tennessee's great guard, break through the Leaning over one of the exhausted linesmen, the coach asked, "Tell me, just how good is this Hickman?"

Came this startling reply: "Well, I'll tell you, coach. He's just this good. In the third quarter he called me a dam' Yankee and I made believe I never heard him."

SOONERS AND STEERS RENEW OLD GRID FEUD

RECORDS OF BOTH ARE GOOD ON EVE STATE FAIR BATTLE

DALLAS, Oct. 12—Renewing their ancient grid feud which has now reached its twenty-seventh year, the Sooners of the University of Oklahoma and the Longhorns of the University of Texas meet here Saturday in the week's outstanding inter-sectional game. The Oklahoma-Texas series is a regular feature of the State fair.

Through decisive victories in their games last Saturday, both the Steers and the Sooners proved themselves dangerous opposition for any team and allayed fears that Saturday's contest, like the 1931 game, would be another meeting of the "weak sisters." Last year neither team was able to score a touchdown and a field goal by Ox Blanton gave Texas an unimpressive 3-0 win.

Playing on foreign soil last Saturday against the Kansas Jayhawkers, the Oklahoma Sooners showed the most deadly brand of blocking and tackling seen in the Big Six in recent years while soundly trouncing their opponents 21-6. Bob Dunlap, Sooner field general, contributed two touchdowns and a goal from placement; Bill Pange added a third counter after a long run through the entire Kansas assemblage. This win placed the Sooners in a tie with the champion Nebraska Cornhuskers in the Big Six race.

But if the Sooners' play was outstanding Saturday, the Longhorns' performance was almost unbelievable. They had been thoroughly whipped a week before by the Centenary Gentlemen, 13-6, and Texas partisans were praying for a one-touchdown victory over Missouri and were pretty shaky about that. Then

Ex-Harvesters at Texas Colleges

Word comes from Fort Worth that Joe Freeman and Paul Hill, graduates of Pampa high school 1931, are playing regularly on the Texas Christian freshman team this fall.

Big Paul is filling tackle job with Joe beside him at guard. The two of them are looking good, it is reported.

At Dallas, Don Salsbury is playing at half-back position for the Southern Methodist university freshmen. He started out as a blocking halfback, but his ball carrying ability was noted and he is toting the pigskin as well as blocking now.

Albert Lard has been ill with malaria fever in a Baton Rouge hospital and has not played much football for Louisiana State freshmen.

COACH INJURED

ROCKDALE, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP)—Coach Swindell of the Milano school football team was in serious condition in a Cameron hospital today, two players were badly injured and others of a squad of 18 men were hurt last night when the truck in which they rode overturned near Rockdale, after striking a cow. Vernon Holderbrandt suffered a broken arm and collar bone and George Johnson, a broken leg.

"Marse Joe," who never played a major league game in his life and yet has managed pennant winners in both big circuits, was understood to have been given a substantial increase in salary. It was said the new contract called for at least $100,000 for the next three years.

KOPECKY YEARNING TO SPOIL BROCK'S GOOD LOOKS TONIGHT

College Boy May Be Able To Show Cotton Picker How To Use Fists.

Eddie Brock of Centralia, Wash., is in the Panhandle and his appearance before the public will be at the Pla-Mor auditorium tonight when he meets Sir Joseph Kopecky of Taylor, one of the toughest and toughest maulers in the business today. Brock is a former football star for Washington State university and a well known boxer. He has been wrestling for several years with phenomenal success.

Sir Joseph has been looking for an easy match until he slipped into the Armory in Amarillo yesterday afternoon and saw Brock pitch off his workout. The tough cotton-picker went away wondering what he was going to stagger up against in Pampa. Brock slung a couple of big fellows around with apparent ease and then slapped them down with pretty holds that made the eyes of his audience stick out.

Kopecky needs no introduction to a Pampa audience. He may use his fists and crawl through the ropes to the dislike of the audience but he is a crowd pleaser of the first degree and Kopecky can wrestle and he knows a few more tricks than any of the other fellows. That is why he is so far up the ladder today.

Old Farmer Vance will meet Roy Welch of Berger in the semi-final bout on the card. The veteran doesn't like young upstarts, as he classes the rising generation, and is going to show Welch how the game was worked in the olden days or so he thinks. Welch has always had an idea of his own on that matter and the old timer is liable to get a big surprise.

A good opening bout will start at 8:30 o'clock. Tickets are going fast and 100 more reserve seats are being installed for the big match.

When Georgia Tech invades Florida November 19, it will be the first time the Golden Tornado has played football on the Gator campus.

Golfers Urged to Play Round In Tourney Quickly

Winners in the first round of the Country club invitation golf tournament are not playing their second round quickly enough and when Sunday comes they will be left out in the cold, tournament officials declare. The matches must go into the finals Sunday unless players agree to play 35 holes and that arrangement must be agreeable to both.

Two matches should be played in each flight during the week and only three matches had been completed up to last night. Tournament officials were not in possession of the scores this morning.

Prizes will be awarded winners after a driving contest Sunday afternoon. Games have been the closest of any tournament to date.

"SEE TEXAS FIRST," URGE EL PROGRESSO MEMBERS

DESCRIBE BOTH BEAUTY, LEGEND OF BIG STATE

LIQUOR PROBLEM ALSO IS DISCUSSED AT GATHERING

Before going abroad, one should take advantage of seeing his own county, state, and country. It was pointed out in an interesting program at a meeting of El Progreso club yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George Briggs.

Mrs. W. Purviance, vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. J. M. McDonald, and the meeting was opened with roll call, answered by each member's presidential choice and reason for the choice. It was learned there were slightly more democrats than republicans in the group and that several members, although republicans, were supporters of Roosevelt.

A letter from Mrs. J. A. Hill, district president, was read, in which the club was asked to conform with the state constitution by electing officers in the odd years for two-year terms, in order that confusion in sending state and national literature might be lessened.

It was announced that all federated clubs of the city were to give their penny banks to Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar by the last meeting in October, each club being asked to fill at least one bank, representing a contribution of $3.05 to the permanent headquarters building at Austin. The district contributing the greatest sum by Nov. 8 will be awarded $600.

New Member Present

Mrs. W. R. Ewing was welcomed as a new member. She is district chairman of public welfare and has held numerous other district offices.

Mrs. Pearl Sweet, program leader, incorporated in her talk the following facts:

"There are 265,896 square miles in Texas. The distance from El Paso to Texarkana is the same as the distance from New York to Chicago. The distance from Brownsville to Texline is the same as from Washington, D. C. to Tampa, Fla.

"Texas has the largest ranch, the finest farm home, the largest oil field, and the highest bridge in the world. With every historic spot, there is a legend."

She told of the legend of the bluebonnet, and recounted Mexican legends, the story of the Alamo and of other old missions, and the legend of a Texas cowboy. She also stated that the statue of a cowboy was placed in Austin in memory of Texas pioneers.

"Texas," said Mrs. Sweet, "is noted for oil as well as for the 'three C's'—cows, cotton, and coal."

Repeal

Mrs. James Tohn, Jr. gave, in the form of a debate, pro and con discussions on the repeal of the 18th amendment.

In speaking against repeal, she said: "The 18th amendment is the great child-savings act ever promulgated. This is a machine age, and machines and whisky will not mix. Since the passage of the 18th amendment poverty has decreased, ranks of the middle classes, with bank balances, home ownership, possession of labor-saving devices, and ownership of radios and automobiles, have increased, and attendance in schools and colleges has increased."

The following argument was given for repeal: "In keeping the amendment as it stands, we are following the line of least resistance and are developing in children a liquor conscience. Three out of five pictures shown on the screen show some form of drinking, and this drinking is presented in a charming light. Children will get the impression that the law is not after the offenders who have money or position. Liquor hypocrisy will be developed. Also remember that the love of easy money is the root of all evil."

The hostess served mince meat pie and coffee.

OUTFIT WORN BY COUNTESS

Far accessory ensembles stand out on the fall and winter style horizon. Chanel uses a leopard Russian cap, belt, collar and leopard gloves to accent this ensemble of beige wool. The costume is worn by Comtesse de la Falaise.

Miss Dorothy Schilling, accompanied by Miss Esther Stark, favored the club with two selections.

Factory Run by 170 Girls Does Good Business

DUBLIN, Oct. 12. (AP)—The cheerful clack of machinery bids defiance to depression in a Dublin factory which is run by 170 working girls.

Situated in a humble little street, the factory exists only for the manufacture of rosary beads, and the proprietor is a grandnephew of the famous Irish patriot and author, John Mitchel.

The business is unique in Ireland. The girls who work in the factory elect a council every year and they decide wages, hours, and working conditions.

They know the profits and expenses and they see the books. Each girl has as much of a vote as the proprietor.

The hooves of nearly every head of cattle slaughtered in Ireland come to the little mill in Waterford street. High speed machinery turns them into the horn beads that have a sale the world over.

Profits are substantial, working conditions satisfactory. The girls say they are happy.

Inventor of Rim For Wheels Dies

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—Louis Henry Perlman, who built a fortune from a fit of irritation, is dead.

During an automobile trip in 1900, he had to change four tires and inflate each with a hand pump. The experience so disgusted him that he invented the demountable rim for auto wheels.

Mr. Perlman, who was 70, died Monday in Flushing where he had a home. He also had a dwelling at Montross, N. Y.

Tony Cazoneri To Fight Frankie Petrolle Tonight

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—If the weather, which seems at times to have been invented for the sole purpose of vexing the promoters of outdoor boxing shows, relents long enough, Tony Cazoneri, lightweight champion, gets his first shot of the season at the Petrolle family tonight.

Cazoneri is slated to face Frankie, the junior member of the Petrolle clan, in the feature bout of the charity program at Ebbetts field. His title is not at stake but it will be next month when he takes on the elder brother, Billy Petrolle.

The program, already postponed once by rain and somewhat damaged by substitutions, boasts four 10-round bouts and two champions. Maxie Rosenbloom, recognized in New York as light heavyweight title holder, faces Jack Redman, South Bend, Ind., negro in another non-title bout; Arthur Hutchiek, premising New York heavyweight, faces Walter Cobb of Baltimore and Jack Rosenberg takes on Paulie Walker, Trenton, N. J., middleweight, in a fourth ten.

Nothing Venture

SYNOPSIS: Suffering from high blood pressure, comes to his senses in a dark tidal cave, threatened momentarily by the steady rise of the tide. A flash of light appears; Robert Leonard, his captor, comes to taunt him. Only a short distance away Jervis' distracted wife Nan searches frantically for him.

Chapter 45
"I PREFER YOU DEAD"

Rising above Jervis was a sheer and unclimbable rock. The light came up to the ledge where Leonard stood. It was a mere sill like a wide door-step, with the mouth of the passage rising in an irregular arch above it. Leonard swung the light round past his own shoulder and let the beam play on a half open iron gate, heavy, rusty, and strong. Closed, it would fill the arch. A new chain and padlock dangled at its edge; the light picked out the bright steel links. Then the torch was set down again. "Get that?" said Leonard. "No getting up without a ladder. The ladder's up here, and it'll stay here until we come to terms. Now—what about business?"

"What do you want?" said Jervis. "Now you're talking. I's not so much a question of what I want because I've already told you that you'd suit me best dead—it's a case of what sort of compromise I'm willing to make. You ought to be glad I'm willing to compromise at all."

"Well, if you're not going to ask me why it would be money in my pocket if you insist on drowning, I'll tell you all the same, because I'd sooner have all the cards on the table. Mine are all ace, so I don't mind showing them. If you're dead, Rosamund gets Weare and the cash—and what Rosamund gets I get. You see, she couldn't marry you the other day, because she was married already. We've been married 13 years."

"What do you want?" said Jervis. "A hundred fifty thousand dollars," said Robert Leonard. "Talk sense!" said Jervis contemptuously. The sum staggered him.

"Sense?" said Leonard. "I'm giving you your life. If I look that gate behind me and leave you here, I get Weare and a million, don't I? I'm asking you a seventh—I might take the whole. I've only got to leave you here."

"Then why don't you?" said Jervis. "He really wanted to know. If Leonard was married to Rosamund, it was quite obvious that Jervis Weare was worth a good deal more to him dead than alive. Leonard had put the matter in a nutshell. Only why didn't he crack the nut—why any hesitation about leaving Jervis to drown? He felt quite unable to credit Leonard with a quail of conscience."

life, and she's prepared to go bail that you'll ans up and hold your tongue. So you see, that makes the whole thing perfectly simple. "You give your word—I drive you over to the junction—you put up any story you like to account for your absence—and not later than tomorrow you buzz up to town and tell old Page you've decided to settle 150 thousand on Rosamund. It's as easy as falling off a log."

Jervis leaned against the rock. He was thinking hard. It had been in his mind that when the tide rose he could hold on to the iron bars which divided the inner and outer caves. If the bars didn't reach to the roof, he might get over when the water was high enough; and, once in the outer cave, he would have a pretty good chance of getting away when the flood went down.

He could float for hours in this warm water with the bars to hold on to. He reckoned that the water would be up to his waist in another half hour or so. He might have to hold on for five or six hours. Well, he ought to be able to do that. "Thinking it over?" said Robert Leonard. "You've not got too much time. Better speed up the thinking machine!"

He picked up the torch again and sent the beam glittering down upon the pool. There wasn't a pool any longer; there was one smooth blackness of water—and the edge of it was level with the rock on which Jervis stood. The light shifted and showed that smooth blackness everywhere. It came back again and rested upon the edge of the rock a yard away from his feet. It showed the water and the rock in a silver ring; and as Jervis looked at the ring, the water lifted very gently and flowed over the rock. The beam swung upwards, and the torch was set down again.

The light had never touched the bars. Did they go up to the roof—or didn't they? "Well, are you going to come to terms?" said Robert Leonard. Jervis said, "No," almost absently. His mind was on the bars and the question of whether it would be possible to get over them and into the outer cave. He could do it if there was a space. But was there a space? He became aware that Leonard was swearing at him. "Do you mean that 'No,' you fool?"

"Oh yes." "If being absent and a bit dreamy was the way to annoy Leonard, then Jervis was prepared to go on being dreamy till all was blue. It was less wearing than letting oneself go—less—easier—too easy. He found himself on his hands and knees in an inch or two of water. He must have turned giddy. Leonard's voice echoed above him in the dark.

"All right—you've had your chance. If you won't see it, that lets me out. You've only stay obstinate, and I scoop the lot. Driven, and be damned to you!" The gate at the mouth of the passage banged with a violent metallic sound that filled the cave with clanging echoes. Jervis sat in two inches of water, and waited for the noise to stop. Unemployed Find Man-Made 'Coal Mine' Near River

ST. PAUL, Oct. 12 (AP)—Employed and unemployed men and women mined "black gold" on a man-made placer today on the Mississippi river bank. It was a coke rush and as it continued it was every "prospector" for himself with a full bin for the winter the reward for energetic wielding of pick and shovel. There was no staking of claims. No superintendent of operations and the "miners" came in droves on bicycles, automobiles, trucks, coasters, wagons, and on foot, some carrying sacks, others lugging baskets. But all with containers of some kind. The "strike" was made at a point on the river bank where a gas plant of a nearby automobile assembly plant discharged the waste from coal after gas and tar had been extracted. That started six years ago. The other day a man, wandering along the bank looking for wood for a stove, espied bits of coke cropping out of the ground. An inspection led to active operations and he filled his bins before confiding the secret to a friend.

STATESMAN DIES GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 12 (AP)—Death has removed another congressional veteran, former U. S. Senator William Alden Smith, who became the ranking member on numerous important committees during his 13 years in the house and 12 years in the senate.

Jervis tries to swim over the bars, tomorrow. Will he fail?

IN THE BAG STAN LAUREL OLIVER HARDY "Pack Up Your Troubles" M-G-A Goldwyn-Meyer presents STARTS THURSDAY

JOAN CRAWFORD OFTEN FORCED TO FIGHT FOR HER SERIOUS ROLES

From her earliest days in pictures it was Joan Crawford's ambition to play serious dramatic roles. The reception afforded her starring film, "Possessed," resulted in Miss Crawford's selection for the dramatic role of Flaemmchen in "Grand Hotel," all-star production closing at the La Nora theater to-night. Hollywood officials have a way of granting starn requests when the public supports the demand, and the film public evidently likes the vivacious Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress as well in character romances as in the flapper roles in which she scored her many prior successes.

Went Back to Jazz "The parts I had in 'Grand Hotel,' 'Letty Lynton' and 'Possessed' were to me the most interesting of anything I've done," explained Miss Crawford in a recent chat. "It was quite a struggle to get the people at the coast to let me try a different type of role in 'Paid,' which was adapted from 'Within the Law.' The picture was successful but still they weren't sure that I should be given any more serious dramatic parts. I went back to the jazz type of thing in 'This Modern Age' and then I had the good fortune to get the assignment of 'Possessed.' "I don't mean that I haven't liked parts like 'Our Modern Maidens' and 'Dance Dance Dance.' I only mean that my chief ambition, from the days when I got my start in musical comedy, was to do more serious character roles. And first I had to convince people that I could do them."

Marriage and Career Emphatic denial of the old-time theory that marriage frequently impedes a screen player's career is made by Miss Crawford, who points to the record of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and herself (since their nuptials) to prove that neither party has derived aught but good effects from the alliance. "Marriages of this type can never be harmful," she said. "If both parties are congenial and both interested in their own careers it ought to be doubly stimulating to compete with each other and it also ought to provide a common bond of sympathy and mutual effort. The only time a marriage to another player can injure a picture player is when the two aren't congenial or one of them has his eyes set on getting out of the movies instead of making good pictures."
