Seventy-Seven Banks In Dallas Federal Reserve District Are Open

TWINKLES
Speaking of moratoriums, a local attorney says he is going to be forced to change from civil to criminal practice if the legislature passes bills recently introduced. Truly, one man's meat is another's poison.

Percy, the office mouse, is a thorough-going communist, but he warns that even in his "government" the stronger is apt to get the biggest portion. But, on the other hand, doesn't the biggest, strongest consumer really need the bigger portion?

Which reminds us of the crack made by a fellow physics student who, told by the teacher to raise a window, suggested that the Pampian could do the task with a lesser expenditure of energy, being smaller and burning fewer calories per movement.

Mrs. Gushaway, we hear, won't let Pa rob Junior's bank. Reason: Mrs. Gushaway is going to need those dimes to buy a bride price this week, which she thinks is more important than Pa's chewing tobacco—Ma's quite a shark at auction.

Minor musing: When we are forced to eat dull pickles, we take on that same flat mood. We're something of a human chameleon with regard to what we eat, and the music we hear. Only that martial music makes us pensive and sad melodies make us cheerful.

PLEASE, return to this columnist the pair of beam-rammed spectacles lost by a friend near the Pla-Mor auditorium. We have a reward for the finder.

SCHOOLS SAVED
Observers at Austin believe the attack upon the colleges has failed. The senate committee quickly killed a bill which would have eliminated eight colleges. But drastic economies, amounting to 25 per cent or more, are being effected by the schools. That is more than most other state departments will likely show. The people still believe, evidently, that education is the proper and indeed major function of government, apart from administrative details.

THAT GAS TAX
Close consideration is being given a bill which would levy a tax of 2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas. An exemption clause relieving the first 150 million feet for each producer was inserted in the expectation that it would relieve Texas consumers. It is a long way from Austin to the Panhandle. By long distance the tax plan may appear sound. It does not so appear near the wells. In the first place, the tax is entirely too high, and too near the market value of the fuel to landowners and lease holders. The effect might be either to drive down the price to nearly nothing or cause the market to collapse as soon as a substitute source could be tapped. In either event, the Panhandle gas land owners would suffer loss of the pittance they now are being given.

ALREADY ONE TAX
Natural gas already pays a gross production tax. The backers of the bill point to the fact that 81 per cent of the gas marketed from this area goes to the middle western cities and beyond. The proposed tax would yield, based on 1932 consumption, about $1,700,000 annually, compared to about $120,000 paid in gross receipts levies last year. There is this additional fact: If the exporters of our fuel do not grant a fair price, they could be taxed out.

EXCHANGE TO BE REOPENED ON WEDNESDAY

AT LEAST 1,000 BANKS OVER NATION RESUME BUSINESS TODAY

SIXTY-SIX OPEN TODAY

MEMBERS OF NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE NOTIFIED

NEW YORK, March 14. (P)—The New York stock exchange today directed all members to be ready to resume business tomorrow.

DALLAS, March 14. (P)—Seventy-seven banks in 11 cities of the 11th Federal Reserve district were open today under state and federal licenses.

The list was made up of 42 Federal Reserve banks and 35 state banks. Of that number 37 national banks and 29 state banks opened for the first time today, the others of both classifications having resumed normal business yesterday in Dallas, the key city of 11th reserve district. James Shaw, Texas banking commissioner, last night made public a list of state banks in other cities which would reopen as soon as the secretary of the treasury authorized the corresponding Federal Reserve banks to reopen.

Groom Band To Give Concert At Grandview

When Groom's famous little band plays a benefit concert at Grandview next Saturday night, a delegation of Pampa citizens will be in the audience.

Arrangements for the program were made today through the efforts of the Junior chamber of commerce.

Half the proceeds will be given to the band and the other half to the Blue-bonnet club of women.

Plans for the event were announced at today's Jaycee luncheon. The program, in charge of Robert Knox, included cowboy songs by small F. H. Meskimen Jr., piano solos by Miss Lucille Douglas, and a talk on banking by J. O. Gillham.

Mr. Gillham said it was not likely that the Federal Reserve system could license the local bank for opening by tomorrow, but that such a license would be issued soon.

Jaycee directors will have their weekly luncheon next Monday.

Local Labor Will Build Pampa P. O. Contractor Says

County Judge C. E. Cary, who wrote to the Stubbard Construction company of Detroit urging that local labor be used in construction of the Pampa federal building, was assured in a reply received today that such would be done.

The company makes a practice, the letter said, of using insofar as possible the labor available in the territory where contracts are received.

No mention was made of the date of beginning work.

PAMPA BANK, TOO, RECEIVING LARGE AMOUNT OF GOLD WHICH HAS NOT BEEN IN CIRCULATION

Date of Opening Not Known, But Will Be Soon

There's gold on these plains, and it's flowing into the First National bank.

More than $500 in the golden treasure was taken to the local bank yesterday. Some of it obviously had been collected for years. Much of it had never been seen before by the bankers. Every deposit of the precious metal with its federal reserve system, America is not off the gold standard, and that's one reason why the government needs the gold.

The Pampa bank is prepared to open on short notice. Since Amarillo banks and those of a number of other clearing house cities in Texas could not be issued licenses by today, the date of the opening of the Pampa bank, which is in another class—this not being a clearing house city—is likely to be postponed a few days yet.

Pampa residents, learning that the government is taking its time in order to open the sound banks without restrictions on deposits, are more patient than many people expected. The ingenuity of citizens and merchants has made the inconveniences, irksome. Optimism for the future is high, and hoarding is a very unpopular sport.

COORDINATED SYSTEM OF WELFARE AID IS GOAL

DR. W. PURVIANCE, longtime local physician and former mayor, yesterday was appointed Gray county health officer.

The appointment, ordinarily made soon after January 1, was deferred because of the necessity for expanding the work of the health officer and increasing the compensation. In ordinary times, the health officer looks after county prisoners, the insane, and contagious diseases, and is paid about $300 a year. In re-

ACQUIRING RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR ROAD IN CITY TO BE DISCUSSED AT JOINT MEETING OF 2 BOARDS

Commissioners Hope To Iron Out All Differences

Gray county commissioners have invited the city commission to a joint meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to discuss securing of the right-of-way for highway 33 through the city—lack of which is acknowledged to be retarding road building by the state.

County Judge C. E. Cary and Commissioner W. W. Wilson met with the city commission last evening and discussed the problem at length. It developed that there was a difference of opinion between the city officials and the older members of the county court, H. G. McClesky and John R. White, as to a verbal agreement of long standing. The commissioners understood that the city would provide the right-of-way through the city limits, while city commissioners said they had offered only that portion between Hobart and Brown streets.

The right-of-way needed includes widening of Brown and Frederic streets and on through the Finley-Bank addition.

Webb To Escort Legion Head To Amarillo Friday

Dr. R. A. Webb, 5th division commander of the American Legion will go to Guymon, Okla., to meet Louis A. Johnson, national commander, and escort him to Amarillo, where on Friday evening at the municipal auditorium he will address Legionnaires of the Panhandle. Many Pampa veterans will be in the audience.

The Legion party will move to Amarillo from Guymon by way of Perryton, where Commander Johnson, who is of Indianapolis, will speak on the evening of March 16.

On Friday morning the group will stop briefly at Borger then go to Amarillo for a parade of veterans during the noon hour. State Commander Carl Nesbitt of Minneapolis will be among the distinguished guests.

City Commission Is Drafting New Taxi Ordinance

An ordinance providing for licensing for those who operate vehicles carrying persons for hire, calling for an insurance policy, and providing a penalty for violation, has passed a second reading by the city commission.

If there are any objections, the commission would like to know of them before the next weekly session on Monday.

The ordinance provides for a $10 license fee annually, liability insurance ranging from $5,000 on damage to property to $20,000 for injuries to persons. The violation of the ordinance would be misdemeanor rank, with fines ranging from $5 to $200, each day's operation being a separate offense.

Julian Mable of St. Louis is here on business for a few days.

ECONOMY PLAN LIKELY TO BE AMENDED SOME

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS IN APPROVAL BUT FREE TO CHANGE BILL

BLANTON IS RECONCILED

HOUSE SCHEDULED TO ACT ON BEER THIS AFTERNOON

WASHINGTON, March 14. (P)—The house of representatives sped beer legislation for quick passage this afternoon, not a voice being raised in objection to taking the bill up.

Only a majority vote was required under the procedure, and the membership apparently took the result as a foregone conclusion.

There was more interest in whether senate democratic leaders will succeed in plans to have it send the 3.2 per cent bill to the White House for signing into law by the weekend.

House galleries were only partly filled. When the vote was taken to pass a similar bill last December 21, standing room was at a premium.

When the bill was taken up today, Representative Blanton (D., Texas), a prohibitionist, said "if this bill could be stopped by objection to unanimous consent it would be, but I realize it can't be stopped."

Representative Cullen (D., N. Y.), assistant party leader, took charge of the bill.

It was agreed to allow the drys half of the debate time, to be controlled by Representatives Ragon (D., Ark.) and Crowther (R., N. Y.).

Representative Treadway (R., Mass.), was in charge of the republican anti-prohibitionists time.

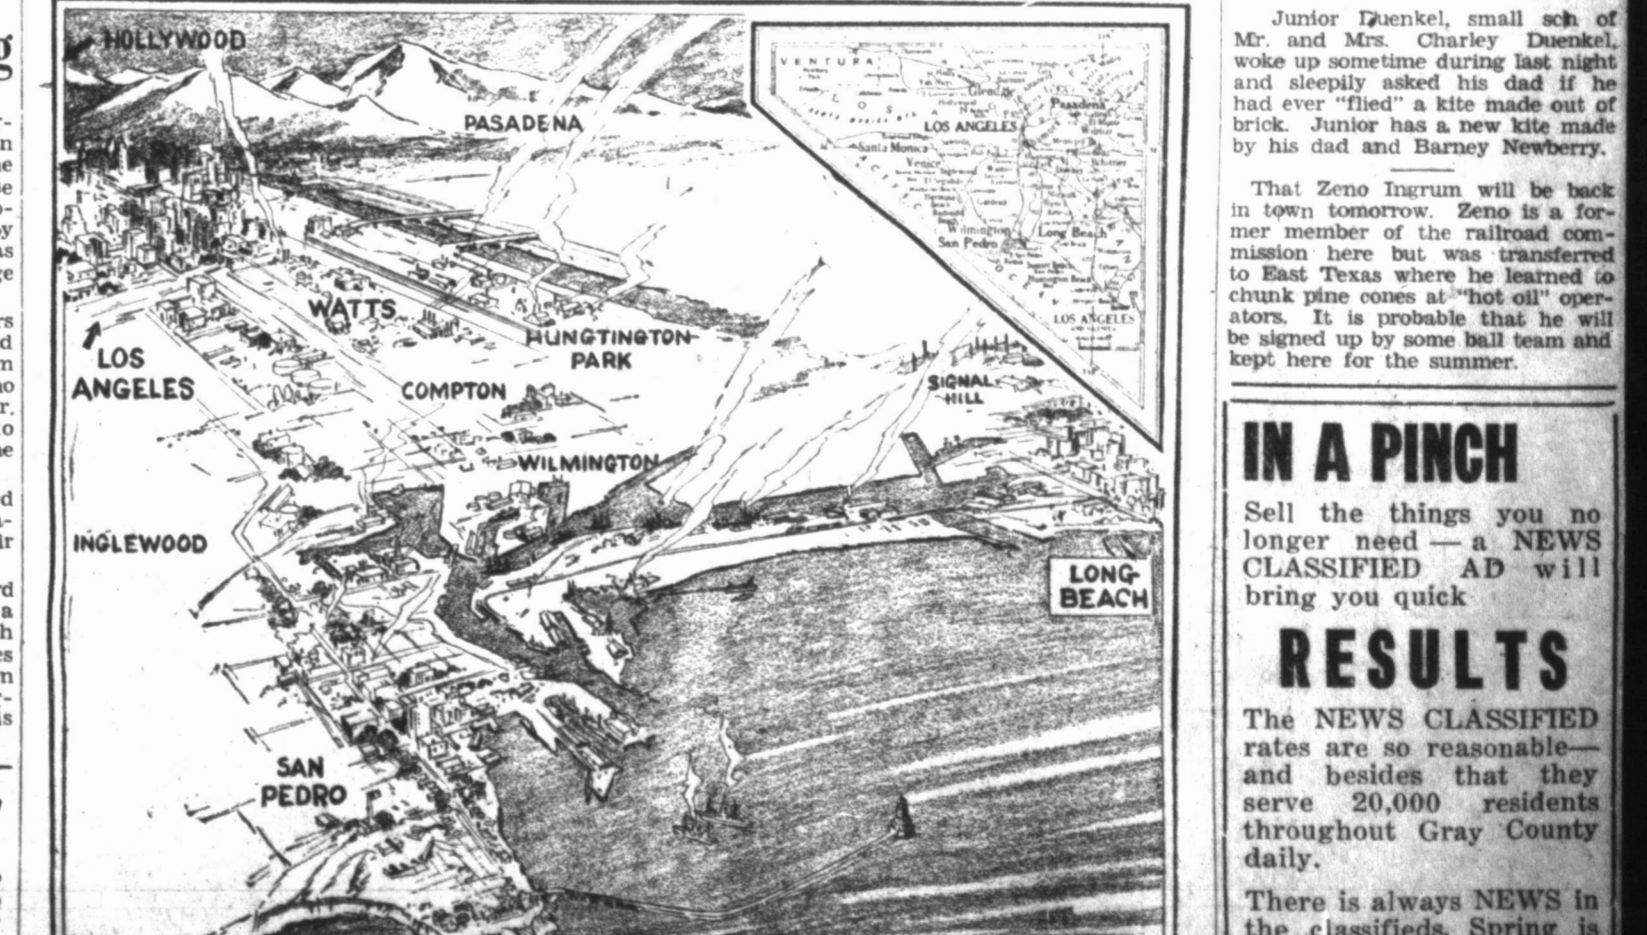

Cullen estimated the measure would yield up to $150,000,000 in taxes and provide work for 500,000.

WASHINGTON, March 14. (P)—Republican leaders pledged support to the administration's economy bill today as the senate headed for a vote on the proposed power for President Roosevelt to cut veterans' benefits and federal pay more than half a billion dollars.

WHERE CALIFORNIA EARTHQUAKE DID DAMAGE

THIS BIRD'S EYE view map shows the rich industrial area of Los Angeles and Long Beach, where a series of earthquakes dealt death and destruction. Long Beach, with 143,000 population, suffered the heaviest death toll and many of its fine buildings and residences were reported in wreckage. The earth shocks did great material damage and cost lives also in San Pedro, man-made harbor for Los Angeles, and in nearby Los Angeles suburbs. Los Angeles proper, twenty miles from Long Beach, escaped heavy material damage but reported many casualties from falling buildings. Artist Joe King's map shows the affected area and the suburbs reported most damaged. The smaller map shows the relation of the most affected area to other environs of Los Angeles.

SANITY AGAIN PREVAILS

The Texas senate has done the proper thing in refusing to eliminate eight state teachers colleges. The Chronicle has contended consistently for a reorganization of state higher education in Texas, and it hailed the recommendations of the legislative committee on economy and organization with interest. But it has come to the conclusion that now is no time for the legislature to attempt a sweeping reorganization of these colleges, even though the plan offered seemed a sound one, since the atmosphere at Austin is not now conducive to constructive and unbiased effort in behalf of education. We ought not to remake any of our fundamental institutions while abnormal fears and hysterias prevail.

But aside from that, The Chronicle has come to the conclusion that the plan to eliminate the teachers colleges is itself bad. These colleges have much more to say for themselves than seems to have been said. Gradually they are getting their case before the public, but the attraction of public interest at a time like this is very difficult. They need more time to reach the public.

Spokesmen for these colleges make out a good case. They have the facts to show how they serve the youth of the sections in which they are located. They can convince you that these youth would not otherwise be served; that talk of diverting them to central institutions is vain.

In fact, they convince you that the Griffenhagen experts who wrote the recommendation now before the legislature paid no more attention to Texas sentiment and Texas psychology and Texas realities in framing their views concerning the colleges than they did in telling us what to do about the confederate home for women, or about the Texas highway system.

The friends of the Texas teacher colleges should be given a more extensive hearing before the people of Texas. The legislature may well require severe economies of their institutions at this time, but sweeping changes, if any are to be made, should be left to the future.—Houston Chronicle.

'The Queen City Of The Plains'

—GEORGE TYNG

Gray county, including Pampa, LeFors, McLennan, Alameda, Laketon and the other communities, has a spotless record that is as clean as the cleanest as far as its participation in the World War is concerned. One reason for this was because of the caliber of men on the draft board which in general handled all the various attitudes of citizens toward the war.

This board comprised Siler Faulkner, W. S. Copeland, and Dr. W. C. Montgomery. At that time, Mr. Faulkner lived at LeFors, as did Mr. Copeland who was sheriff. LeFors was the county seat. Mr. Faulkner, a long-time resident of the county, has served several terms as county judge. He is one of the best-known and most popular citizens of the county. Always he has been a zealot in working for the welfare of the county. Practically numberless are the boards, committees and commissions on which he has served sincerely and without pay, and with a public-minded spirit that compels the admiration of those who know him.

Now It Can Be Told
The quality of the sincere patriotism of Mr. Faulkner, Mr. Copeland and Dr. Montgomery, was illustrated in the fact that they served on the draft board during the war and did not ask for and did not receive any financial remuneration for any sort. There were only three other draft boards in Texas with such a record, and Gray county sent more men to the war than the three other counties combined. The three Gray county men did not publish that fact; they did not brag from the house-tops; they left it with their own consciences. In fact, information that they served without pay was not known until recently, by many outside the war department. This fact may always be a source of pride to patriotic citizens of the county.

The First Two
In all, Pampa and Gray county sent between one hundred and two hundred men to the war; however, the greatest number did not come from Pampa, but from every part of the county. It must be remembered that in 1917-18, McLennan was larger than Pampa, and the McLennan community was more densely settled than this immediate area. The first two men who enlisted from Gray were Atlas Stallings and John Hollis. Both came from the east part of the county around Laketon. The first call that was sent out was for two men from every county in the state. They made preparation at the camp to handle the bodies of soldier boys that were to come later.

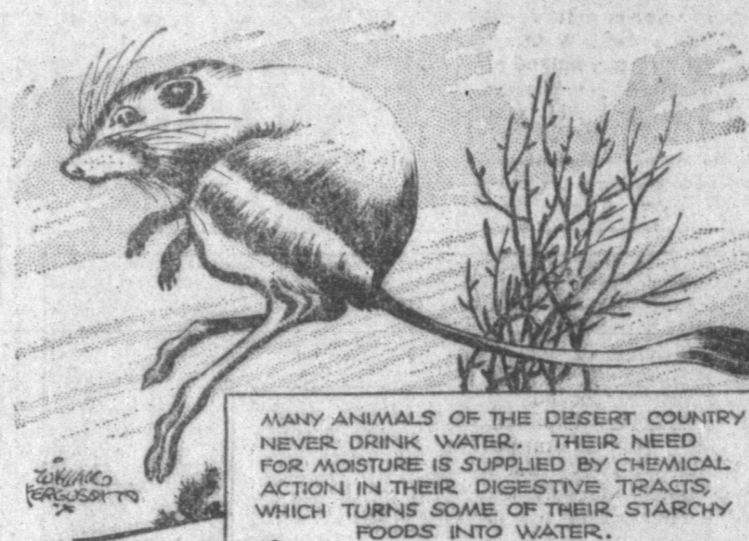

In the next detachment, around 20 men were sent to Camp Travis at San Antonio. About 10 of that number were from Pampa. Two of the boys were George Kerley and Albert Crossman for whom the Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion was named. Both died while in the army. The boys left for training camp at Alameda and were given a big send-off by citizens from all over Gray county. Many Pampans remember the trip. Dr. Purviance in particular because he drove to Pampa without lights. M. K. Brown and other remember an incident of the trip concerned with stalling in a certain sand-bed. Among the boys who went in that first detachment was Ed-ward Vicars who became a first lieutenant in the army. Thereafter, another delegation of about 20 boys were sent to the training camps. From then on, the men were dribbled out in twos and threes. Only one was ever returned and thereby having a fat.

Could't Fool Those Doctors!
His name was Ezra Turner and he lived down the river below LeFors. A short time before he got his call, he suffered a sprained ankle while riding a horse. He appeared before the board and said he thought he was well enough to go and the board sent him. His injury, however, did not appear as bad to him and the board as it did to the camp surgeons, almost

Florida Chain Store Tax Held Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—The supreme court, clearing from its docket a number of long-pending cases, today held illegal the Florida chain store tax, upheld the Interstate Commerce commission on reducing petroleum rates to

North Dakota and Western Minnesota, and approved the contempt conviction of a juror who caused mistrial in the celebrated Foshy case.

There was sharp dissent in the court over the majority decision that the Florida tax should not stand because it discriminated between big chains and little ones.

In the oil rate case it sustained an order, fought by the railroads which permitted Midcontinent Oil to enter the two states on a competitive basis with petroleum from Wyoming.

The Foshy case upheld a verdict against Mrs. Genevieve A. Clark of Minneapolis, who served on the jury which tried W. B. Foshy and other utility leaders on a charge of using the mails to defraud, caused a mistrial by holding out alone against a verdict of guilty, and then was found to have been once employed by Foshy. She had withheld this information when the jury was chosen.

In another important decision the court held that funds held in trust for world war veterans in banks which fail, have no priority over the claims of other depositors.

A further decision on oil upheld the commissioner of internal revenue's ruling that oil income from lands leased from municipalities is subject to federal tax.

The court also held that capital expenditures for drilling costs in producing oil are, under the 1926 revenue act, returnable to federal taxpayers through depletion allowances.

Three Hundred Billion Dollar Suit Has Failed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Mar. 14. (AP)—The three hundred billion suit of a local attorney against the secretary of the treasury and federal reserve banks has failed.

The Arkansas supreme court today sustained the Pulaski Chancery (Little Rock) court in holding that Oscar Winn's cross suit against the treasurer and federal reserve system was not relative to the original suit, which was to foreclose some of Winn's property here.

The Prudential Life Insurance company sued to foreclose on a mortgage it held, and Winn filed a cross-complaint naming former secretary of the treasury Ogden L. Mills and the federal reserve board as defendants, and asking the court to force them to "return to the people" $300,000,000 in interest and debt "wrongly extorted from the government and the people."

Hoover's Speech Writer Succumbs

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—French Strother, the man who supplied President Hoover with much of the ammunition for his speeches, died in a Washington hospital yesterday of pneumonia. He contracted a cold at the inauguration on March 4.

Strother technically was "administrative assistant" to President Hoover.

Born in Marshall, Missouri, on October 5, 1883, he started newspaper work before he was 19, beginning as a reporter on the Fresno, California, Republican. He was on the staff, managing editor and associate editor of World's Work magazine.

Besides Mrs. Strother, he is survived by a son, French Jr., 10.

'Red Berlin' Is Extinct Phrase As Nazis Win

BERLIN, March 14. (AP)—Chancellor Hitler's Nazis and their allies, the nationalists, were more firmly entrenched in power than ever today after a wholesale turnover of municipal and communal office-holders in Prussia, comprising two-thirds of Germany.

The socialist and communist parties, whose chief strength has been in the city and town councils of the nation's largest state, suffered even greater losses than in the Reichstag and Prussian diet elections of a week ago.

The government parties not only won an overwhelming majority of 200,000 town and district offices but, through them, complete control of the Prussian diet through the state's council—the boast of communists for several years—became an extinct phrase in fact. The capital went over to the Nazis and Nationalists, with the latter making their biggest gains in this city.

Britain Lifts Arms Embargo

LONDON, March 14. (AP)—Great Britain has decided to remove its embargo on the shipment of arms to China and Japan, Stanley Baldwin informed parliament today.

He explained that the embargo announced last month was of a provisional nature, pending an opportunity for international consultation.

"Since then," he said, "the prime minister and the foreign secretary have had an opportunity to discuss the matter with representatives of various other countries, and have now informed us that in their opinion there is no prospect for any international agreement on the subject in the near future."

"Under these circumstances no useful purpose would be served by maintaining an embargo observed by this country alone."

Hi! And Knapp Defend West Texas Colleges In Hearing

REFORMS ARE ADVOCATED BY AMARILLO MAN

DUPLICATION COURSES CRITICIZED BY GULEKE

AUSTIN, March 14 (P)—Hearings were started last night before a joint meeting of the house and senate education committees on a bill to reorganize the state's system of higher education. They will continue through tonight and tomorrow night.

Under the bill, the boards of regents of the several institutions would be abolished and all institutions of higher education placed under a "state board of regents."

The University of Texas would be maintained as a first class university, specializing in the last two years and in graduate work.

Texas A. & M. would be retained as a four year senior college and graduate school while Texas Tech, College of Industrial Arts and the North Texas State Teachers college would serve as senior four year colleges.

The remainder of the state colleges, including the junior agricultural colleges and the College of Mines and Metallurgy at El Paso would be reorganized into junior colleges of the first class.

J. O. Guleke, who headed a committee of the state board of education investigating college condition and requirements recommended that many reforms be ordered in the system. Guleke said that seven institutions were teaching courses in engineering, although there were facilities at A. & M. to teach virtually all engineering students without additional expenses.

The place occupied by Texas Tech of Lubbock in the educational system was defended by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president. Knapp said officials at this school were constantly working out economies and adjusting their budget to meet needs. He said that eleven full-time professors recently were discharged and that further economies were planned and would be placed into effect in the immediate future.

Dr. Knapp challenged the accuracy of the report of the legislative committee on efficiency and economy which criticized Texas Tech. The report stated Tech had diverted its attention from the purposes for which it was established—that of a technical school—and had become one of the best teachers colleges in the state. Knapp produced data to show that a high percentage of the students were awarded degrees in technical subjects.

The report of the committee that it cost $2,645 to educate a full time student in engineering at Tech was challenged by Dr. Knapp, who said the cost was $663. The committee reported that it cost $1,500 to educate a music student whereas the cost was only $316, he said.

The Teachers colleges were defended by Dr. J. A. Hill of the West Texas State Teachers college. Dr. Hill asserted the teachers colleges trained teachers better than the University of Texas and A. & M. and that their abolition would not promote either the educational standards of the state or prove economical.

Chapter 29

FOUND WANTING

JULES MALIGNI struck an attitude, and "registered" shock. "I'll kill him. . . I'll shoot him. . . I'll break his neck. . ."

"Hush, don't be silly. It's you who are exaggerating now," insisted Margaret. "Perhaps he'd had more wine than was good for him. Listen, Jules. . ."

"I'm not making a complaint against Ralsul. I mean I'm not bringing an accusation against him and asking you to punish him. I don't want vengeance, or any nonsense of that sort. I simply can't and won't be left alone, while we are here. I don't want you to quarrel with Ralsul, but I do want you to grasp the situation, and understand it without exaggerating it."

"The scoundrel! I'll kill him," repeated Jules, clenching his fists and scowling ferociously. "I'll break every bone in his body."

"Did it ring, quite true?" Margaret searched her husband's face in poignant anxiety.

Certainly his last throes had been uttered with less violence and vigor.

But no, why should she think such a thing? Doubtless he had realized, even while he spoke, that his hands were tied by her presence there in the Mekazen country. . .

"Of course Jules was thinking of her safety rather than of his desire for vengeance."

That was why one got the impression that he did not quite mean what he said, and that he was playing a part. Even in the midst of his righteous indignation, he had remembered that, for his wife's sake, he dared not punish Ralsul.

"You'd like to, I know." "Like to!" cried Jules.

"I mean, you are jutting to horse whip him, Jules; but your hands are tied—while we are in the Mekazen country. We are absolutely in his power. So don't talk about punishing him—don't even think about it."

"Perhaps you are right," acquiesced Jules. "Of course you're right. We are in his power."

"Don't think about punishing him," repeated Margaret. "Think about getting away, and about preventing anything of the sort happening again. You mustn't give him the chance of dragging you again, and you mustn't leave me alone, Jules."

"I don't see how I can prevent his. . ." began Jules.

"But of course you can," interrupted Margaret. "If you don't sit drinking with him, or eat with him in his own apartments."

"And I'm afraid you'll have to be left alone sometimes, my dear. Be reasonable. I can't be inside the castle always."

"It's night-time I'm thinking about, more."

"I may have—I certainly shall have to be away for days at a time, perhaps weeks at a time, before very long."

"Jules!" "Margaret!" mocked Jules. "Look here, Jules, if you've really got to go out of this place before we can leave it for good, I'm coming with you. I'm quite as strong as you are."

"You are? Then you can manage Ralsul all right, I should think, without all this fuss."

"What I meant was, I have as much endurance as you, and can ride as far, and rough it as well. Did I make any complaint on the journey down here? And we roughed it pretty well then?"

"That was different. We were traveling at leisure then—like tourists—with a young caravan and in reasonable safety. This would be different—without the Kaid's protection and an escort and guides. We should be in enemy country, among all sorts of trouble: raiders, robbers, hostile tribesmen. Bedouin, Touarog. If you fell into the hands of some of those birds, you'd wish Ralsul had got you."

"If you leave this castle, Jules, I'm coming with you—unless Ralsul goes with you, that is."

"D'you suppose Ralsul's going where I tell him?" "No, I suppose you're going where Ralsul tells you to go. If he goes on some expeditions and you go with him, I don't stay here, provided a definite date is fixed for our return to England and that it is the earliest possible date."

"But one thing is absolutely certain. I don't stay another night alone in this room, if Ralsul is in the castle. You wouldn't ask me to, would you, Jules?" "Oh, Lord, don't make all the At las mountains out of a mole-hill. Ralsul won't do it again. And anyhow, you can bolt your door, in the future, if I'm not here."

'Ma' Introduces Mortgage Issue To Legislature

AUSTIN, March 14 (P)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today sent a message to the legislature dealing with the moratorium proclaimed on trial courts entering money judgments during the existing banking emergency.

She suggested that the legislature consider "the question of a moratorium of all trial courts exercising jurisdiction within the states of Texas in the matter of foreclosure under final judgment of causes of action based on mortgages, deeds of trust and other liens wherein the recovery of the property or foreclosure of liens is sought."

"While I realize there may be serious legal questions involved, yet the present state of affairs is so desperate that I deem it my duty to bring the matter to your attention," the governor said.

"In the same broad spirit of humility which has brought about the cooperating powers of the government to aid the financial institutions of the state, I think that equal attention should be given to protect the real estate and other property owners of the state."

The NEWS has been asked to assist city officers in locating Mrs. C. W. Poole. Anyone knowing her whereabouts is urged to get in touch with Chief of Police Jno. V. Andrews or the Western Union office here. They have a death message for her.

The message was addressed to Mrs. C. W. Poole, Route 1, Box 44, Pampa, Texas, but no one by that name has been found on the route, although a careful check was made last night after the telegram was received.

The message is signed, "Alice."

Little Girl Back From Big City Is Now Lapp Heroine

By The Associated Press STOCKHOLM—In far lapland, little Inga Kuoiljokk, quaint Lapp maiden, whose father is a mighty bear hunter, can now sit before an open fire and make him listen while she tells of adventures of her own.

For a week Inga stood in Stockholm's largest department store, resplendent in her dress with silver buckles, moccasins and red woolen stockings, and taught housewives how to cook reindeer meat.

To Inga it was romance. She was summoned to Stockholm by the king's lord-lieutenant to assist in a "reindeer week" campaign. The herds of the Lapps had grown too fast and large numbers had to be killed. Stockholmers were asked to eat more reindeer meat and Inga helped in the propaganda.

The result was that more reindeer meat was consumed here in a week than is normally sold in a half a year, with a profit to the Nomad Lapps. Inga, with pink ribbons flowing from her jet-black hair, has returned to her people a heroine.

ORGANDY FASHIONS NEW EVENING GOWN WASHINGTON, March 14 (P)—Organdy added a springlike touch to the gown worn by Mrs. Roy St. Lewis, wife of the former assistant attorney general. The gown was white crepe with a cape of white organdy trimmed with flowers and fastening in front with rhinestone buttons.

Mrs. R. H. Tucker underwent a minor operation in Worley hospital yesterday morning. She will be dismissed today.

Papal Delegate At Washington Named Cardinal

VATICAN CITY, March 14 (P)—Pope Plus presided yesterday over a consistory for the first time in nearly three years and created six new cardinals. They are:

Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, until now apostolic delegate at Washington. Jean Marie Rodrigue Villeneuve, archbishop of Quebec, Canada. Angelo Maria Dolci, until now apostolic nunzio to Rumania. Theodore Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, Austria. Marullio Fossati, archbishop of Turin.

In this holy year consistory, one of the most colorful ceremonies of the Roman Catholic church, the pontiff also nominated three cardinals to open the holy doors of three Rome basilicas at the same time that he inaugurates the holy year, April 1, by opening the holy door of St. Peter's. They are:

Cardinal Pignatelli di Belmonte for St. Paul's basilica. Cardinal Marchetti-Selvaggiana for St. John Lateran. Cardinal Geretti, who for eight years was auditor of the apostolic delegation at Washington, for St. Mary Major.

The pope also nominated two additional cardinals to be created at a future consistory. Their names were reserved.

When Pope Benedict XV established the apostolic delegation in Japan, Archibishop Fumasoni Biondi became the first apostolic delegate to that nation. He remained in Japan until he was called to Washington December, 1922, to substitute Monsignor Bonzano, who was created cardinal. He has been in Washington ever since, as the direct representative of the pope. Most of the matters concerning the Roman Catholic church in America have been passed on to the pope through his hands.

Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi, accepting elevation to the sacred college, declared in a speech that the pope's nomination of him was an indication "of how proud he is of his children in the United States and what

First Accurate Information On Quakes Secured

WASHINGTON, March 14 (P)—The California earthquake has given scientists their first accurate, first-hand knowledge of just how the ground shakes during an earthquake. It may lead to prevention of earthquake disasters in the future.

The coast and geodetic survey announced today that all four of its earthquake-recording instruments in the zone of the California quake had made satisfactory records of the first shocks and were continuing to record subsequent shocks as they occurred.

Records of actual ground movements, made by the instruments, are intended primarily for use by engineers in designing building that will resist earthquake shocks.

The NEWS has been asked to assist city officers in locating Mrs. C. W. Poole. Anyone knowing her whereabouts is urged to get in touch with Chief of Police Jno. V. ILLUSION: A large packing case is exhibited on a raised platform. A young woman climbs into the box. Head, hands and feet protrude, and are held by spectators while the magician takes a crosscut saw and, with the help of an assistant, saws through the center of the box and apparently through the woman.

EXPLANATION: There are many explanations for this illusion. One method of performing this illusion requires the presence of two girls in the box. One girl curls up in the left half of the box with her head and hands protruding, giving the effect you see illustrated above. The other girl is doubled up in the right half of the box, with only her feet showing. Nobody is sawed in half.

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

Cigarette advertising, too, has its tricks. Consider the illusion that "Flavor" can be achieved by some kind of magical hocus-pocus in manufacturing.

EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring. The blending of various tobaccos. And the quality of the tobaccos themselves.

Quality is by far the most important. Domestic cigarette tobaccos vary in price from 5¢ a pound up to 40¢ a pound. Imported tobaccos vary from 50¢ a pound to $1.15.

No wonder, then, that cigarettes differ in taste—since distinctive, pleasing flavor depends so largely upon the blending of the costlier tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Try Camels. Give your taste a chance to sense the subtle difference that lies in costlier tobaccos... a difference that means all the world in smoking pleasure... in pure, unalloyed satisfaction.

CHURCH WOMEN SPEND MONDAY AFTERNOON IN STUDY

MANY ATTEND MEETINGS OF METHODISTS

STUDY, BUSINESS, AND SOCIAL HOURS ARE CONDUCTED

STUDY, BUSINESS, and social activities held the attention of First Methodist W. M. S. circles yesterday afternoon. Each meeting was well-attended.

Mrs. Albert Wood, chairman of Circle 1, directed the group in its regular meeting at the church.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar presided over an interesting round-table discussion in which the study of China was concluded. She was assisted by Mesdames S. C. Evans, C. R. Nelson, W. M. Kretz, Luther Peterson, J. E. Ward and L. N. Atchison, each of these women giving a thorough discussion of the many problems of China.

Mrs. Carl Boston gave a helpful book review of "Good Earth," written by Pearl Buck.

Mrs. S. S. Sheppard and Mrs. J. L. Nunn were visitors with the group. The following members were present for the study hour and business session: Mesdames L. N. Atchison, Ralph Chism, C. Evans, Joe Hodge, C. T. Hunkapillar, Paul Jensen, W. M. Kretz, C. R. Nelson, Luther Peterson, Geo. Walstad, C. E. Ward, D. E. Whitteberg, H. L. Wilder, Albert Wood, C. R. Price, and C. S. Boston.

Mrs. Purviance Leads

Members of Circle 2 met in the home of Mrs. Horace McBeck to continue the study of the book, "Lady Fourth Daughter."

Mrs. Purviance gave an inspiring devotional lesson, and also directed the group in a question and answer bee. Mrs. H. T. Wohlgenuth gave a ten-minute talk on the subject "Training Our Shavers." Mrs. A. A. Kelly told How The Shavers Are Trained. In an interesting story, Mrs. John B. Hessey told of the Great Wall of China. Mrs. Horace McBeck discussed Schools in Manchuria.

Following a short business session the hostess served a delicious angel food cake and hot coffee. Mrs. John Dickson was welcomed as a visitor. Members in attendance were: Mesdames F. P. Reid, J. R. Evans, C. E. Waller, H. H. Boyington, A. A. Kelly, O. H. Booth, W. H. Peters, Lee Harrah, W. H. Hamilton, J. E. Ward, M. M. Robinson, R. K. Elkins, Fred Cary, W. Purviance, Roy Tinsley, Roger McConnell, C. T. Nicholson, H. T. Wohlgenuth and John B. Hessey.

What Should be Done in March for Home Flower Garden Told by Mrs. Jim White; Is Speaker Before Club

ENTERTAIN

(Editor's note: In the following discussion Mrs. Jim White tells what should be done during this month toward raising a flower garden. She used the same subject in speaking to the Pampa Garden club last Friday morning.)

By MRS. JIM WHITE

The first step which should be taken in March gardening is to put the ground in good condition and disinfest it. A good disinfectant is a solution of 1 pint 40 per cent formaldehyde to 25 gallons of water. The soil should be loosened to a depth of 10 inches, and the solution should be applied at the rate of 1 gallon per square foot. The soil should be left undisturbed for 24 hours, and should then be forked over and well aerated. Seed should not be sown for at least a week after treatment.

As the days become warmer, some of the winter mulch should be taken from your beds. This is not to start them growing but to keep the ground from over-heating and starting growth prematurely. This job should be done on a cloudy day.

Planting of gladiolas, dahlias, cannas, lily bulbs, and tube roses can be done any time this month. Roses early this month should be given an application of commercial plant food. They should be pruned and cultivated well. Shrubbery should be pruned, and all broken, dead, straggling and diseased limbs should be removed. Plant all kinds of shrubbery, hedges, evergreens, fruit trees, bush fruits, grapes, and dormant roses as soon as frost is out of the ground. If the weather is dry, abundantly water the evergreens planted this month or last fall. Divide and reset Ghastia, dahlies, chrysanthemums, and similar flowers.

Hardy annual seeds can go in the ground any time. Among the bachelor's buttons are found some of the clearest blues of the annual gardens. Petunias, stocks, cosmos, marigolds, and phlox are among the old reliables. Poppies are among the gayest of the annuals but demand repeated sowings if the season is to last very long.

Few annuals are richer in color than nasturtiums, which received much publicity last year with the introduction of the new double variety golden gleam. A bright rce verberna, beauty of Oxford, also is new this year.

Among annual vines, the cardinal climber is one of the best. Start early indoors and soak the seeds in warm water a few hours before planting.

The heavenly blue moon flower or morning glory is an excellent climber, and this year a new semi-double one in deep rose is offered.

With few exceptions, single packets of any variety are sufficient for the average garden. It is seldom, however, that the average gardeners produce anywhere near all the plants possible from a packet of seed. Poor soil, neglect to water, and planting too deep are frequent causes of poor results, and we think the trouble is in the seed.

LUNCHEON IS GIVEN CIRCLE OF BAPTISTS

SOCIAL HOUR HELD IN HONOR OF MRS. SOLOMON

SOCIAL PERIODS had a place in three circle meetings held by First Baptist W. M. S. groups yesterday afternoon. Each group also spent a portion of the afternoon in study.

Spiritual Conquests of the Southwest, a book dealing with the beginnings of missionary work done in Texas by various denominations, was studied under the direction of Mrs. Clifford Solomon when Circle 1 met in the home of Mrs. E. M. Dear.

As the meeting came on Mrs. Solomon's birthday, a social period was enjoyed, and angel food cake and tea were served to Mesdames K. T. May, Bill Martin, J. F. Reynolds, J. B. Chisum, Clifford Solomon, C. L. Stephens, T. W. Jamison, A. H. Greene, H. E. Crocker, and the hostess.

Mrs. Morton Teaches

Mrs. T. F. Morton taught a lesson from How and Why of W. M. U. Service at a meeting of Circle 2 in the home of Mrs. A. L. Prigmore. Mrs. G. H. Schulkey led the devotionals.

During a social hour, refreshments were served to Mesdames Tom Perkins, Mary Binford, Robert Lee Banks, V. L. Pruitt, Dee Campbell, V. F. Hoover, J. A. Meek, T. P. Morton, E. F. Brake, C. H. Schulkey, P. O. Anderson, Cash, and the hostess.

Circle 4 attended a luncheon served in the home of Mrs. D. B. Jameson.

The devotional, led by Mrs. J. A. Arwood, was followed by a lesson from the book In Royal Service, directed by Mrs. C. E. Lancaster. Various phases of the book were discussed by Mesdames W. B. Henry, T. L. Anderson, and H. C. Wilkie.

Those attending were Mesdames W. M. Bodenheimer, Hugh Ellis, J. C. Barnard, W. B. Henry, J. A. Arwood, T. L. Anderson, Oscar Baker, C. E. Lancaster, C. H. Covington, Martha Williams, H. C. Wilkie, and Misses Dorothy Erwin and Lois Cook.

"Angel" Comes To Bless Local Home

(Editor's note: The word "angel" has been the fervent term used by many a mother for her baby. But few, perhaps, could explain the reason in such beautiful language as did Mrs. Sam Carlton in the following lines.)

On March 13th there was a strange and unusual commotion in heaven. A little angel, with big brown eyes and the softest of white wings, asked Saint Peter to let him out of the Pearly Gates. The good Saint hesitated. He loathed to lose so sweet a creature, but when the angel told him he would come back some time, the gate was opened a trifle, and the treasure crept out. Of course he came right down to earth, and peering anxiously round, he found no pleasanter, easier home than that of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carlton. It was early in the morning and so he slipped quietly in through the door, and snuggling up close to the lady, said "I am a little angel, and you must be very good to me. I will stay with you always; when you are old and weak you will be glad the little angel came to you."

Mrs. Carlton bade the stranger angel welcome. And just then Dr. Wild happened to pass the house and heard sweet music that he knew could only come from heaven. So he went in and saw the little angel on the couch. In a moment his keen lancet clipped off the wings of the little angel and they have flown back to heaven alone. "This is too precious a treasure to lose," said the doctor. "We must keep him with us always," and so the little angel stays, a joy to the home he has found on earth, and a pride to those whom he will, God willing, call father and mother.

Let us hope all angels in heaven may not so miss their absent cherub that they will say, "Come back."

Social Life at White House to Be Very Simple

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday announced that she and the wives of cabinet members had agreed, after talking the matter over, to make the White House social program as simple as possible.

Mrs. Roosevelt added, however, that the annual White House garden party to disabled veterans and the Easter egg rolling would be held as usual.

She said no formal at home days would be observed before fall and that no formal garden parties would be held.

"We decided that because of the conditions at the present time, none of us cared to have any more formal social things than were absolutely necessary," she said.

Dorcas Class Will Give Party Tonight

The party to be given by the Dorcas class, Central Baptist church, this evening will be in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. W. O. Cooley, 447 Carr street, instead of in the W. W. Hughes home, as was formerly announced. The Young Men's Bible class and the Madonna class are invited to attend.

Mrs. A. L. Reamsnyder of Roxana was a Pampa shopper yesterday.

But when the summons comes, let it come from the lips of the father and mother on the confines of the beautiful, away over there in the Beyond.

PIANO RECITAL PLEASURES GROUP

VERY YOUNG PUPILS ON PROGRAM; PLAY WITH EASE

With the opening recital of the May Foreman Carr school of music last evening, an appreciative audience heard a program which might have done credit to much older performers. This evening the public is invited to attend the concert to be given at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock by the advanced students.

Three of Mrs. Philip Wolfe's students of voice, Mrs. Earl Thomason, contralto, and Miss Dorothy Dodd, and Mrs. J. W. Garman Jr., soprano, will assist.

Little Shirley Mae Sone, daughter of Principal and Mrs. L. L. Sone, and little Earl Jay O'Keefe, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Earl O'Keefe, distinguished themselves as possessing promising talent. In fact, almost note-perfect renditions were given by the little performers.

Margery McCollum, recently of Amarillo, was an interesting performer and received much comment.

Those not on the inside of the "workings" of a school of music, Mrs. Carr said, would doubtless be incredulous were they told how much time it takes to prepare a concert for public presentation. The amount of labor expended would seem out of proportion with the good derived therefrom were it not for the fact that it is worthwhile from an educational standpoint. She said further: "Those who have studied music seriously will tell you that in difficulty it rivals mathematics or any language. Music study develops the memory, accuracy, quick thought, obedience, cooperation, and individual initiative. Add to this the emotional value, and I know of no other school of study of which so much can be said. The new system which the high school has adopted of awarding credit for work done in music will no doubt be responsible for marked increase in musical activity during the coming year."

Picnic Given for Group on Sunday

A group of boys and girls went to Hoover for a picnic and hike on Sunday afternoon. They included Audrey Holmes, Le Verne Smart, Harold Holmes, Lillian Smart, Lloyd Stevens, Ethel Hamilton, Lloyd Hamilton, Alzada Gilcrease, Henry Will Fullingim, Ella Harmon, Dick Sullins, Georgiana Gray, Kenneth Solomon, Hattie Margaret Harwell, Marie Moore, Arnie Caldwell, Miles Marbaugh, Alline Gregory, Roy Johnson, Chaperones were Mrs. Barney Clayton, Mrs. W. A. Gray, and Mrs. O. L. Beaty.

WRESTLING MATCH AND 4 FISTIC BOOTS ON LEGION CARD

KITCHENS TO FIGHT BLAKE OF CHILDRESS

MICHAEL TO GRAPPLE OLD RIVAL, TEX THROWER

A finish wrestling match and four boxing bouts have been arranged by Matchmaker Andy Andrews for the second American Legion Athletic show in the Pampa auditorium tomorrow night. Some of the best boys in this territory will be seen in action during the evening. Motorium prices will prevail.

Red Michael, local wrestler, will go to a finish with his old rival, Tex Thrower, Borger ice man. Fans who witnessed the match last week will remember the excitement that was crowded into 12 minutes before the redhead took the single fall. This week it will be the best two falls out of three to the winner.

Pampa fans will see an improved K. O. Kitchens in action in the 8-round boxing exhibition of the evening. The former Miami boy will meet Rip Blake of Childress. Kitchens has been boxing in Fort Worth but has come near home for some bouts. Blake is also known in Pampa.

Joe Vernon has been matched with Jimmie Stevens of Borger in a 6-round bout. Both are about the same size and in good condition. Pampa's favorite, Skeet Sherrod, will make a come-back during the evening when he tangles with Paul Humbert of Wichita. Skeet will be remembered as a hard hitting, fast-stepping youngster who is not afraid to mix things.

The boy who made the big hit with the crowd last week, Virgil Eckroat of Clayton, will be in the ring again but this time against Emil Stubbgen, local youth.

Admission will be 40 cents general admission and 75 cents ringside seats. Women and children will be admitted for 25 cents general admission and 40 cents ringside.

Col. Lea And Son Arrested In Tennessee

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., March 14 (AP)—Within a few minutes after they had been arrested here today, Colonel Luke Lea, Nashville publisher and former United States senator, and his son, Luke Lea, Jr., were granted a writ of habeas corpus by County Judge John T. Cunningham, who set the hearing for Monday.

Judge Cunningham denied application for bond.

The arrests were made on a warrant signed by Governor Hill Meader, who several weeks ago honored a requisition from the governor of North Carolina. The Leas were convicted at Asheville in August, 1931, of conspiracy to violate state banking laws in connection with the failure of Central Bank and Trust company.

Colonel Lea was sentenced to serve six to ten years and Lea, Jr., was given the option of paying $25,000 in fines and costs or serving two to six years in prison.

Earl Blair of Wichita Falls is visiting here for a few days.

Walter Mount of St. Louis transacted business here yesterday.

ATTRACTION TO BE AT L'NORA

ONE OF THE HIGH SPOTS of the show of Willard the Wizard at the LaNora theater will be the levitation trick, illustrated above. A woman is made to float about in mid-air. Willard will open a week's engagement at the theater tomorrow, and at noon will give a free demonstration in front of the LaNora.

HEALTH OFFICER OF LONG BEACH CONDEMNS FALSE RADIO REPORTS

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 14 (AP)—Colonel Charles W. Decker, city health officer of Los Angeles and medical coordinator for the quake stricken area, today issued an announcement condemning false radio reports.

"There is no epidemic. There is no danger of such a thing. Water, sanitation, hospitalization and all forms of relief are safely provided, and adequately administered under orderly control."

The ugly unfounded rumors spread by quacking radio announcers starting soon after the first earthquake shock Friday night in the broadcast of terrorizing messages of tidal waves, vast death lists, famine, pestilence and horrors that could be conjured only in a general admission and 75 cents ringside seats. Women and children will be admitted for 25 cents general admission and 40 cents ringside.

"There is no cause for alarm. Any alarmist reports should be discounted. My sanitary engineers, through the entire district, report that the domestic water supply has been chlorinated and is safe."

TRACK-FIELD ELIMINATIONS WILL BE HELD

Participants in meet Saturday to be selected

Eliminations to see who will represent the local high school Saturday when the Amarillo Sandies come here for a dual track and field meet will start at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Harvester park. The distance events, some of the dashes and the field events that take the most stamina and strength will be on the program for tomorrow, with the rest of the eliminations set for Thursday afternoon.

The boys picked to defend the school laurels Saturday will not necessarily be the ones who will take part in the county meet or other challenge events. All the boys will continue to workout afternoons and it is expected that some of the new boys who are not expected to make pins on the first trials will come to the front later in the season and make good men.

The team has been practicing only a week and, as a result, members are not in the best of condition and the new boys have not had time to perfect their form in running and jumping. Coach Ous Mitchell is working hard getting his prospects in the best possible condition in the short time available. He is instructing the new boys in the way to hold the body, how to lengthen their stride and the advantage of a good start. Conditioning of the experienced members is being stressed.

The track at Harvester park is being completed and should be in excellent condition by Saturday. It will mark the first time that fans can sit on the football stands and see nearly every event on the card. The field will be kept clear so that every race and field event will be in view of all fans. The opening gun will be fired at 2:30 o'clock.

Forty-One Killed In Theater Fire

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, March 14 (AP)—Forty-one persons were killed and 70 were gravely injured last night in a theater at the town of Ahualulco, not far from here.

A high tension wire was short circuited, causing a fire in the Hidalgo theater while a motion picture performance was in progress. The panic stricken audience stampeded for the doors and 20 were trampled to death. Twenty others were electrocuted when the wire dropped across a hand rail along the front of the gallery.

The delegation headed by Mr. Bentley included W. E. Bogan and R. R. Cook of McLean and W. J. Ball and J. P. Elm of Alameda. They were particularly interested in seeing the state complete the hard-surfacing of highway 75 and highway 88. It was agreed that the delay was endangering the projects on which it is hoped to obtain state and federal aid.

Some of those present believed that the county should pay what much greater losses than this state abandon designation of highway 88 and turn it to the county for maintenance.

BEFORE AND AFTERCURRENCY EXPANSION

HOW NEW MONEY GETS INTO CIRCULATION:
1. BANK TAKES US BONDS AND OTHER COLLATERAL TO FEDERAL RESERVE
2. FEDERAL RESERVE GIVES MONEY FOR BONDS.
3. BANK GIVES MONEY TO DEPOSITORS.

CONTROLLED currency expansion as distinguished from mere "printed press" money is looked to as a means of making up a part for the shrinkage in the nation's total money, both that in circulation and in the form of bank deposits, indicated above. The sketch below indicates how currency may be expanded and yet have a substantial backing.

A bank's deposits are increased largely by loans. Thus if Mr. A deposits $10,000 in the bank, the bank lends $5,000 of it to Mr. B. Mr. B redeposits it, and the bank's deposits are now $15,000. If the bank lends, say, $2,000 to Mr. C, which is also redeposited, the deposits now are $17,000.

This process on a nationwide scale may go too far with the result that money is diverted to speculation and bad loans are made. When Deflation Begins

When the speculation gets out of hand and the bank attempts to collect the bad ones, deflation sets in, and the reverse of the policy described in the foregoing begins. If the loans are held down, there is no inflation, or, at least, the inflation is not harmful. Thus inflation of credit may be good or bad. In 1928 there was credit inflation, but it did not go beyond the nation's needs.

Inflation or deflation of the credit supply is always going on according to the needs of business. Likewise money in circulation varies in time, but not so widely as credit—bank deposits.

In 1929 bank deposits were $55,200,000,000; money in circulation, $4,700,000,000; a total money supply of $59,900,000,000. A large part of the bank deposits had been invested and re-invested beyond a safe point; to a point, that is, where there was a credit

DETROIT MANAGER TRYING TO PLAY GREENBERG AT THIRD

Langford To Play Outfield With Dallas Steers This Season, Probably.

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer. Elton "Slim" Em Sam" Langford probably will patrol one of the Dallas outfields this season. Dallas did not plan to bring Langford to camp mainly because he asked permission to free lance for a managerial job in some small league.

Langford failed to find a pilot's job and since he is a hitter and a fair outfielder, he not only will join the Steers in spring training but probably will remain to help in the pennant fight.

Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers is working Hank Greenberg at third base. By profession Greenberg is a first sacker. He is 64 and weighs 200 pounds. Harris' theory that Greenberg can play third base may prove correct but Texas league players who watched the tall New York boy play first base last year for Beaumont claim Hank will never make the grade at the hot corner.

Manager Hopp Morse of Dallas and Walter Morris, business manager of the Fort Worth Cats, claim Greenberg is too large to play third and that Harris is wasting time and talent trying to develop a natural first sacker into a third baseman.

The latest on "Ripper" Radcliff, hard-hitting Dallas outfielder, is that he unfolded his 1933 contract, looked at the salary reduction and left for his home in Oklahoma to forget baseball. Radcliff spent the winter in Dallas and had planned to stay on and be the first in spring camp.

Bob Tarleton, vice president of the Dallas Steers, has not heard from Radcliff. He admitted hearing of the "Ripper" leaving for Oklahoma but beyond that knows nothing about the plans of his right fielder.

Walter Morris believes the Texas league's most colorful player this season will be George Washington, the Clinton Fort Worth outfielder, to have Washington ready for straight-through duty in the outfield, Manager Walter Holke has ordered him to report at Mineral Wells with the pitchers and catchers.

Washington was one of the league's leading hitters last season. He was sold to the Chicago White Sox but instead of reporting went fishing and made the Sox officials so mad they refused to go through with the deal.

BANKING SUSPENDED ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. March 14 (AP)—Banking in New Mexico today remained in a state of virtual suspension while bankers awaited authorization from Washington to resume normal business operations.

DODGER PLANS ARE NOT BUILT AROUND VANCE

MANAGER IS DEVOTING ATTENTION TO 3 NEW HURLERS

(NOTE: This is second of series of stories analyzing major league baseball club's prospects for the 1933 season.)

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Writer. In the process of reconstruction under Maximilian Carey, the Brooklyn Dodgers disposed of one of their novel acquisitions, Babe Herman, and subsequently advanced a notch in the National league standing to third place. They have now discarded the most famous of all their player landmarks, Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, and already won the claim of their leadership by being 25 per cent stronger for the 1933 pennant hunt.

For the first time in ten seasons, the Brooklyn pitching staff is not being built around Vance, the burly redhead who hurled for years as the fireball king of the National league. Now past 40, Vance's holdout demands have been turned over to the Cardinals while Manager Carey devotes much of his attention to a trio of pitching additions, Ray Beeg from the Phillies, Walter Beck, who won 27 games for Memphis last year, and Owen Carroll, one-time ace of Clevelander hurlers at Holy Cross.

None of this trio will make the fans of Flatbush forget the great Dazzy but they should combine to give the club more effectiveness in the box than it had last season.

Beeg, who won 18 and lost 12 with the fourth place Phillies, posted as good a record as Vance and has the advantage of being 12 years younger. Dazzy won 12 and lost 11 in 1932 but he was out of commission with a sore arm the latter part of the campaign, just when the Dodgers needed him most. This was one of the big reasons why the team finished nine games behind the champion Cubs.

Beck, a 200-pounder, has impressed camp followers at Miami as being ripe for a regular job. He has speed, a good curve, change of pace, and a consistent control. He will be 27 years old in April and is well beyond the ordinary recruit stage. He looked good in his first test against the Athletics.

Van Mungo, the young fast ball star who won 18 games last year; Watson (Lefty) Clark, Hollis Thurston, and Freddy Helms will round out the starting staff. The daddy of all the big-league pitchers, 47-year-old John Piesus Quinn, will again shoulder the principal relief burden.

Outside the box, speed is not among Dodger assets, but Carey has finally obtained the insurance he needed by acquiring the veteran Joe Judge from Washington to play first base, if Del Bissenette fails to recover completely from the leg injury that kept him out all last season. Bissenette's batting eye, however, as seen as ever but it is doubtful if his under-pinning can stand the strain of a full season. This should give Judge a good chance to see what he can do with National league pitching after 18 years in the American league.

Of the two principal holdouts, third baseman Joe Stripp seems more essential to the success of Dodger operations than the rotund slugger, Hack Wilson. Stripp is needed to round out an infield including Captain Glenn Wright at short and Tony Ciesnelle at second base. If and when he signs, Wilson will have to tangle with Johnny Frederick for the job in right field, flanking Danny Taylor in center and Frank O'Doul, the league's batting champion, in left.

For reserve duty, there is "Jake" Flowers as an understudy for either Wright or Stripp, with Clyde Sukeforth and the veteran Val Pleinich, assisting Tampa Al Lopez behind the bat.

Banker Returns From Inaugural At Washington

Returning Sunday from Washington, where he attended the presidential inauguration, B. E. Finley is telling his friends interesting things he learned while away.

The local banker was fortunate in being very near the presidential party, where he had a close-up view of hundreds of the nation's notables. He said that, although there was a huge crowd and much formal splendor at the inaugural, the ceremonies were carried out with mild precision and little sustained applause. The new president, however, was constantly cheered in the parade, and throughout the journey through the street he smiled his famous smile and waved to the throngs.

The Walsh funeral lent a note of sadness to the occasion, and as the local men returned by way of Ohio and Chicago, the funeral for Mayor Anton Cermak was in progress.

Mr. Finley returned with renewed faith in Pampa and thankfulness that he lived away from the densely populous cities, where problems are great and even more unsurmountable as to unemployment than in Texas. Chicago and Detroit have the gravest problems. At Pittsburgh, the Pampa questioner, the citizens about Andrew Mellon, and learned that the former secretary of the treasury has many friends there, many enemies. He is the chief contributor to the community chest and other welfare activities.

PREPARING TO OPEN NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—With banking facilities restored to virtually a normal basis here and in many other cities, Wall Street's interest today turned toward resumption of trading in the security and commodity markets, perhaps on Thursday.

Plans for reopening the New York stock exchange were progressing, it was said, and some activities of the exchange were being restored.

The Little Harvester

Vol. 2. PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL, MARCH 14, 1933. NO. 23

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES ELECT 8 MOST POPULAR STUDENTS; FINAL BALLOT TO BE HELD ON MONDAY

Interest ran high yesterday when classes elected their most popular girl and boy from the candidates named last week. An election will be held next week to choose the most popular boy and girl in school.

Marjorie Butler, sweet, demure, and lovely, was chosen the most popular girl by the seniors, and Henry Will (Hoot) Fullingim, tall basketball star, the most popular boy.

The juniors likewise named an outstanding athlete, Miles Marbaugh, as their most popular boy, and Loraine Noel, class president, as their most popular girl.

Sophomore gentlemen at least prefer blondes, for they named blue-eyed, fair-haired Alene Gregory as their choice. Harry Barnett was chosen as most popular sophomore boy.

Evelyn Nash, a decided brunette, was the favorite freshman girl, and Scott Mullins, class president, was named most popular freshman boy.

The election yesterday was solely within classes. Next Monday an open election will be held to choose from these eight candidates the most popular girl and the most popular boy in school. Students may vote then irrespective of classes.

The main purpose of the Little Harvester in prompting the contest is to stimulate class spirit. School authorities have agreed that friends of the candidates may make campaign speeches for them in assembly, study halls, and home rooms, to be held now and election time if they wish.

Pictures of the winners in the popularity contest will appear in The Little Harvester at an early date.

TODAY IS FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF LITTLE HARVESTER; ELOISE LANE REVIEWS YEAR'S EFFORTS

Today's issue commemorates the first issue of The Little Harvester. At present the only publication of Pampa High School, Eloise Lane, assistant editor of last year's Little Harvester, who is now attending Baylor-Belton, has sent us the following account of its organization, history, and purpose:

After representatives to the Student Council had been elected in the spring of 1932, those members resolved to make some contribution to Pampa high school in order to carry out the purpose of the council, "to promote school spirit, to provide opportunity for student cooperation in school government, to promote training in citizenship, and to better school conditions in every way possible."

As financial conditions made it impossible for Pampa high school to have an annual, the council members decided that they could render a real service to the school by recording available some kind of a record of school news, so that the students might have a complete account of the important events of the school year. Under the direction of Therman Harris, sponsor of the Student Council, and through the kind cooperation of the Pampa Daily News, it was arranged that the Student Council might have a section in each Tuesday's NEWS devoted to school events. Since the publication of this weekly record of school news was to fulfill in a small measure the functions of a regular HARVESTER, the council members voted to call the paper The Little Harvester.

The first edition of The Little Harvester was published in The NEWS on March 15, 1932. That first edition was doubtless read with pleasure by many students; however, it was probably read with special pride and delight by Louise Walstaff, Parks Brumley, Loraine Noel, Harlan Martin, Jean Hyde, Yedda Stein, Henry Will Fullingim, and Phillin Powell. For those particular students had worked hard to produce the first Little Harvester.

In the same week that the first Little Harvester appeared the Student Council elected a staff for 1932, which consisted of the following officers: Editor, Henry Will Fullingim; first assistant editor, Eloise Lane; second assistant editor, Jean Hyde. Plans were also made for different reporters to be appointed each week to assist in preparing the paper.

This staff and the various reporters, together with other students, prepared ten editions of The Little Harvester in the spring of 1932. Nine of the editions contained a calendar of important past events as well as a more complete account of present events, but the tenth edition was devoted to the senior class and contained the senior class history, class prophecy, and other articles of interest to the seniors of 1932.

In the fall of 1932, Miss Fannie May organized a journalism club to continue the work begun by the Student Council. The journalism club elected a staff of the following officers: Editor-in-chief, Wilks Chapman

Declarimors For League Contest Are Announced

Reed Clarke, Ella Faye O'Keefe, and J. G. McConnell were selected yesterday to represent the school in the Interscholastic League declamation contest here March 31. One other contestant, Florence Sue Dodson, was chosen last week.

Reed Clarke, senior boy declaimer, won with "Society and the Payroll." Clavis Green was named second. Florence Sue Dodson, who won district last year and went to state, will again represent Pampa high school in the senior girls' division, this time saying "Society and the Payroll." Adale Smith, who declaimed in the Panhandle Speech Arts Tournament, won second place.

Sub-senior declamation is a new division in high school this year. Ella Faye O'Keefe, giving "The Old Wash Place," will represent Pampa high school in the girls' division, and J. G. McConnell, who won first place in the county for junior high last year, will be the sub-senior boy, saying "The Old Wash Place." Erline McKinney and Robert Neal won second places in the girls' and boys' divisions, respectively.

All literary events of the Gray County Interscholastic League meet will be held in Pampa on March 31.

Pampa Debaters Will Compete In Childress Event

Pampa debaters have been kept busy lately. Two debates with White Deer are scheduled for this evening at 4 o'clock in the high school library, the Pampa boys upholding the negative and the girls the affirmative.

This week-end the teams will go to Childress to the West Texas Debate Tournament to compete with teams from Fort Worth westward. Reed Clarke, Fred Johnson, Opal Denson, and Yedda Stein will represent P. H. S. in this tournament. The coach, Miss Fannie May, will accompany the teams.

Last Thursday Reed Clarke and Fred Johnson talked to the Lions club, explaining extemporaneously both sides of the question.

In the annual contest debates with Amarillo last Wednesday, Chas. Frost and Reed Clarke upholding the affirmative, defeated Amarillo. The girls, debating the same side, lost by a two to one decision.

Notable Nothings Of P. H. S.

By the Nimble Nit-Wits. They sat alone in the moonlight. And she soothed his troubled brow. "Dearest, I know my life's been fast, But I'm on my last lap now."

—Wet Hen. Women are funny things. The other day one was asked to make an outline for her autobiography; she wrote the following:

I. Safety pins.
II. Hair pins.
III. Safety pins.
V. Rolling pins.

According to observations, there are such things as Famous Last Words but "Well, I know I promised to go with you, but my cousin is coming and you know how it is," are probably the most common.

And then there's the R. O. T. C. officer that said, "But I am at attention, sir; it's the uniform that's at ease."

The snooping snooper may be dumb but he says that he has never seen a skyscraper at work.

A certain doctor from a neighboring city was lecturing in chapel one day. During his speech he made the following statement: "I've been operating for twenty years, and I've never had a complaint. What do you think that proves?"

"That dumb dame Ruth Reynolds replied: "That dead men tell no tales."

Wayne Kelley read a sign on a tombstone "Not dead but sleeping" and then remarked, "Well, he ain't fooling nobody but himself."

Fish may eat sardines, but how do they get them out of the cans? A fortune teller told Ervin Henderson that long noses ran in his family and he was inclined to be a blowhard.

George Keahey bought a new hat the other day and the story has just come to light. It is:

"How much is this hat?"
"Fifteen dollars, sir."
"Where are the holes?"
"Who holes?"
"The holes for the jackass that would pay that much for it."
IT'S BUSINESS LIKE TODAY'S THAT MAKES BUSINESS LIKE TODAY'S LIKE BUSINESS LIKE TODAY'S!

GOLF MATCHES SATURDAY

Last Saturday Amarillo and Childress defeated the Pampa high school golf club. Amarillo will come here next Saturday morning for a return match. The teams play Saturday morning so that they will be finished before the track meet in the afternoon.

CAGE GAMES TONIGHT

The Pampa Hi-Y boys will play in basketball games with Amarillo junior and senior Hi-Y clubs tonight in the high school gym. Everyone is invited, and no admission will be charged. The Pampa boys will play a return game with Amarillo soon.

F. G. Cecil was dismissed from Pampa hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Harris King was taken to her home in McLean yesterday. She had been a patient in Worley hospital.

Japanese Report 300 Chinese Slain In Fight At Wall

CHINCHOW, Manchuria, March 14. (AP)—Japanese reports said today 300 Chinese were killed in a battle which lasted all day at Hsifengkow, one of the passes in the great wall of China.

The Japanese casualties were listed as 13 killed and 31 wounded.

It appeared more likely that the Japanese troops fighting for possession of ancient wall passages would cross into undisputed Chinese territory in order to achieve this purpose. Indications were the Japanese command probably would decide such action necessary and send their troops into North China proper to attack Chinese on the south side of the wall.

Major General Heijiro Hattori's brigade, which worked southward to the wall from Lingyuan, in central Jehol, engaged in yesterday's battle.
