TWO-THIRDS OF VILLA ACUNA BRIDGE IS WASHED AWAY

By The Associated Press
Flood waters of the Rio Grande and its raging southwest Texas tributaries surged toward the Gulf of Mexico today, inundating towns and washing out bridges, railroad tracks and highways.

Unusually heavy rains on the watershed of the normally well-behaved border were responsible. Precipitation in some sections exceeded ten inches, while practically the entire area had more than four inches in the past three days.

Old settlers could not remember when the river had been higher. At Del Rio the international bridge leading across to the Mexican city of Villa Acuna was damaged badly. Two-thirds of the $150,000 structure was washed away. The bridge was built three years ago.

An iron bridge over Devils river, which was in flood, was carried away, disrupting highway traffic to the west. Five miles of the southern Pacific railroad track west of Del Rio was out.

Eagle Pass inundated
A surging yellow torrent overflowed the banks of the Rio Grande at Eagle Pass, inundating a large part of the American city and the Mexican city across the stream, Piedras Negras.

Residents of both cities were fleeing to high ground with their belongings. Merchants of Eagle Pass strove desperately to move their goods before they were ruined by water.

Several two-story buildings in Eagle Pass tumbled down as their foundations crumbled. In low-lying residence sections of Piedras Negras adobe houses gave away and fell in ruins.

The Rio Grande had risen to within a foot of the floor of the new million dollar highway bridge linking the border cities. Debris was crashing against its railing.

A railroad bridge one mile downstream was under water and it was feared that it might be washed away.

The Eagle Pass power and water works are being damaged.

Comedians Here for Two-Day Appearance At LaNora Theater

Honey Boy and Sassafras arrived in Pampa this afternoon from Wellington where they played last night to a full house. These popular radio stars will be seen in person on the stage of the LaNora theater today and Saturday at 8:30, 7:15 and 9:30 p. m.

Honey Boy and Sassafras are not strangers in this community. They have been heard on the air nightly from radio stations in St. Louis, Dallas, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls. Recently they began a personal appearance tour for the Griffith Amusement company. Many local persons knew the black-face comedians when they first started their radio and stage career at the old Riata theater.

Their acts here will exploit the amusing possibilities of operating a negro detective agency.

STATE FINDS MANY THINGS TO OCCUPY TIME OF GRAY COUNTY AUDITOR, ANOTHER "BUSY MAN"

R. C. WILSON

R. C. Wilson Checks All Monies As Spent

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles which will appear from time to time to familiarize readers with local office holders and civic leaders and their work.)

County Auditor R. C. Wilson was comfortably seated behind the big Monroe calculator when The NEWS representative opened a barrage of questions about the duties of the office.

"But first there was the calculator to be explained. It is a marvelous piece of electric-powered machinery which adds, subtracts, divides, and multiplies as rapidly as keys can be punched. Highly complex interest and engineering problems are made easy by this machine. The calculator is really needed. The county auditor has oversight of all books and records of the county, district and state where funds are involved. He must know the laws pertaining to all departments, the forms to be used, when reports are to be made, and it is his duty to require the following of legal requirements. When the auditor's duties were outlined in the statutes in 1925, they were relatively few compared with the scores of things which have since been added.

Passes on Bills
The auditor must secure reports on time and in good form. He must inspect all bills and payments except to jurors, and he may withhold his signature in any case where the law has been disregarded. He keeps a bond register and sees to it that all bills are paid.

Maybe it would bore the average reader to attend school openings. It doesn't this writer. There is interest in the eager faces of some of the children. The disappointment in others, the restlessness which only weeks of discipline can remove.

We have this invitation from Supt. M. L. Baze of the Hopkins Public Schools:

"We are having a public opening of the Hopkins schools next Monday morning and would be pleased to have a representative of your staff on our program. How about it?"

"Mr. Hessey is coming out, and I hope to have some one in the interest of a Parent-Teacher work. This is a personal invitation to your force to visit us at this time and at any time afterward. We have a nice motion picture projector—not the 'talkie' kind of course—and over a hundred films ordered for the year. At any time the Rex or LaNora falls to interest in you, try us a round. Ours will be free."

Now isn't that service for you? Education in that spirit will surely interest the public, of which we are a part. Mr. Baze, if we are not away on a brief vacation trip Monday we will try to attend your opening. Being on the program is something else, but since we have been on dozens of the kind before, we suppose one more would not be fatal to us and the children. We surely are going to visit you, and we will add that motion pictures for educational purposes and wholesome entertainment have our particular interest.

The slogan of the Hopkins Public Schools set our attention at once as seen on the letterheads. It is: "Education for Citizenship." Frankly, we doubt that any other kind is the function of public schools. Education is the guardian genius of democracy as Mirabeau Lamar so well said. This democratic government of ours is not going to function very well under complex modern conditions without the moral integrity and governmental intelligence which efficient education alone can give.

The enormously foolish stampedes of the public during the

GOODRICH GIVEN NOMINATION; RAYMOND ALLRED TO APPEAL

WHEELER, Sept. 2 (Sp.)—Judgment in favor of the democratic nominee for district attorney, Lewis M. Goodrich of Shamrock, was rendered yesterday afternoon by W. R. Ewing in the contest brought by Raymond Allred, incumbent.

Judge Ewing held that the number of illegal votes was obviously less than the 24-vote margin of the nominee. He also ruled that in the absence of evidence of fraud in holding the primary election in the South Pampa box, the ballot box could not be opened.

Notice of appeal was given by Allred's attorneys, Will R. Saunders and Major E. A. Simpson of Amarillo and Assistant Attorney General Neal Powers. This appeal will be given priority in the seventh court of civil appeals at Amarillo.

Goodrich and his attorneys, Reynolds & Heare of Shamrock, did not attempt to allege illegal voting for his opponent, but brought out evidence relating to the casting of the challenged ballots. Mr. Allred, all at his home, was not present

PARTISAN FIGHT ENDS DELINQUENT TAX BILL ALREADY PASSED BY SENATE

AUSTIN, Sept. 2 (AP)—The special tax relief session of the Texas legislature laid aside extra-session matters today and knocked down to consideration of emergency submitted to it by Governor R. S. Sterling.

The partisan fight over the democratic nomination for governor of Texas had been abandoned for the time being. A resolution proposing an investigation of charges of law violations and irregularities in the recent primaries was pending in the senate.

The house also was to launch a movement to authorize an investigation for an inquiry by the house had been sent to the speaker's table, but it will have to lay over until some other legislative day.

Both houses recessed to permit committees to consider bills designated to carry out the governor's recommendations that the state highway fund assume outstanding bonds issued by counties and road districts, to build roads now a part of the state system; permit insurance and building and loan concerns to participate in the benefits offered by the federal home loan banks, and proposals to otherwise relieve taxpayers of economic burdens.

Hearings were set for this afternoon before groups in both houses. The senate already had passed a law remitting interest and penalties on delinquent taxes provided they were paid on or before Dec. 31, 1932.

Parliamentary law was invoked in the house of representatives today to preclude consideration of a resolution proposing an investigation resolution presented to the house. Members refused to suspend a rule to permit it to be read and considered. The time for consideration of resolutions had expired.

It would have required a two-thirds vote to suspend the rule. The members voted 69 to 49 to suspend. Representative Duvall gave notice that the resolution would be presented on the next legislative day.

The resolution proposed a thorough inquiry into the irregular legal practices were indulged in prior to and during the primary elections held in Texas during July and August.

Rebels Surrender In Ecuador Revolt

QUITO, Ecuador, Sept. 2 (AP)—Loyalist troops forced the surrender of the last contingent of rebels against the government today and Alberto Guerrero Martinez, president of the senate, was installed as acting president of the republic.

Senor Martinez for a time in presidential chair for a time in 1924, during the illness of president Cordova. He has been active in politics many years and on at least one occasion was arrested by the ruling powers on charges of plotting their downfall.

He arrived here this afternoon with Leonardo Sotomayor, the minister of war after the rebel surrender.

LIONS DIRECTORS WILL BE HOSTS TO CLUB SOON

Officers and directors of the Pampa Lions Club last night voted to have an outdoor event next Friday evening for all members of the club and their ladies. Some scenic spot, near the city will be chosen for the site of the outdoor lunch and informal gathering. There will be no charge for the food and the directors will do the serving. This event will not take the place of the regular noon luncheon on Thursday.

JUDGES RAP LEGISLATURE

Law-Making Body "Doing What It Usually Does—Very Little," Is Claim.

AMARILLO, Sept. 2 (AP)—A charge of "lethargy" on the part of Texas legislators in acting on a proposal for the state to assume outstanding county highway bonds representing expenditures invested in state designated highways, was aired here today in the final session of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association. Judge Roy C. Archer of Austin led the discussion.

"The legislature," said Judge Archer, "is doing about what is usually done—very little." He called attention to the five bills now pending on county highway indebtedness relief and expressed belief that unless they were acted on at the present session, there would be scores of similar bills at the regular term of the legislature in January.

The county officials moved to re-adopt a group of resolutions made at the last spring convention. The resolutions, to be submitted at the regular term of the legislature, include: The elimination of district courts, changes in bus and truck laws to build roads now a part of the same basis as railroads, and the taxes levied to counties; a proposal that automobile owners pay personal property taxes on application for licenses.

Wichita Falls was chosen for the spring convention site and Judge A. O. Newman of Coleman was elected president of the association, succeeding Judge Tob K. Eplin, Abilene. Judge W. L. Helton, Canadian, was named vice-president and Judge E. L. Pitts, Lubbock, is the new secretary.

ELECTION OF MAYOR FIXED FOR NOV. 8

Squabble Is Brewing Over Proper Date

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—Certification that a vacancy exists in the post of mayor of New York and should be filled at the next general election on November 8 was sent to the board of elections today by the city clerk. The vacancy occurred with the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker last night.

Joseph V. McKee, president of the board of aldermen, who automatically succeeded to the mayoralty with Walker's resignation, took over the post today and political circles generally assumed Walker would be a candidate to fill his own unexpired term.

Though he did not state definitely that he would seek re-election, Walker said he would leave his case in the hands of the voters. This assertion was in the statement accompanying his resignation, in which he denounced the conduct of the hearing before Governor Roosevelt on various charges of misfeasance which caused his resignation.

The communication of City Clerk Michael Cruise to the board of elections, ordering the selection of Nov. 8, was sent while political leaders were predicting the situation would have to be ironed out in the courts, some holding that a new mayor could not be elected until the next regular municipal election in November, 1933, and others insisting Walker's unexpired term must be filled at the next general election.

Roosevelt Assailed

Almost as sensational as his abrupt resignation and his more-than-a-hint that he would seek re-election by running again was the Tammany mayor's undignified assault on the manner in which Gov. Roosevelt, national leader of the Democratic party, conducted his hearing.

"Un-American" — "extraordinary" — "travesty" — "mock trial" — "perjury of the executive power" — "shamelessly unfair" — "biased judge" — were some of the phrases that studded the statement he gave out on his resignation.

He announced the purpose of his resignation was to "change the venue."

"I can change it to the supreme court."

AGREE TO SEPARATE

Redy Vallee and Fay Webbe were a happy couple when this picture was taken at the time of their marriage. But today, Hymen Bushel, attorney for both the groom and Mrs. Vallee, announced that the Vallees had concluded a formal agreement of separation. Separation rumors prevalent ever since their marriage a year ago, grew stronger as Mrs. Vallee prepared to leave for the west with her parents. "As a lawyer I am not at liberty to disclose the terms of their agreement, and although I do not say that no such course will be adopted, no proceedings have been instituted to bring about a complete dissolution of their marriage," Bushel said.

ORDER TO CONSERVE GAS IN PANHANDLE FIELD EXPECTED TO BE ISSUED WITHIN WEEK

Two Plans Submitted Likely To Be Modified

Officials of the oil and gas division of the Texas Railroad commission with offices here and several producers from this field believe the commission will issue some kind of working order for gas conservation in the Panhandle field early next week following a hearing in Amarillo yesterday, attended by the entire commission.

The hearing was a continuation of one held in Austin a few weeks ago. It was attended by company engineers and land and royalty owners and gas and pipeline companies operating in the Panhandle field.

Many witnesses were introduced to show that an enormous amount of gas was going to waste by the operation of gasoline plants. Inspectors introduced testimony to show physical investments in plants.

A committee of ten men appointed recently has been studying the gas situation from every angle and two plans were presented, one of unitization and the other a type of proration but workable with the other plan.

The first plan submitted was that of the immediate relief which partook of the nature of the present plan of oil proration in this field advocating a sizable take of all gas produced, each lease partaking in the market in the proportion of its open flow to the open flow of the

MYSTERY OF BOY'S DEATH IS NOT SOLVED BY SCOUT BOARD

Findings of the executive board of the Adobe Walls council of Boy Scouts, announced after an inquiry here last night, left unanswered the impenetrable mystery of how Harry Dunlap, 14-year-old Pampa Boy Scout, fell to his death early yesterday, while returning from the summer encampment in New Mexico.

The report at the same time, revealed the care which had been exercised to prevent accidents. President A. A. Hyde, of the council presided at the hearing attended by board members and many adult leaders. The Scout officials included J. C. Phillips and A. W. Nelson of Borger, C. E. Schultze, M. K. Brown, and George E. Bales of Pampa, and S. R. Lanning of Panhandle.

DEATH BED STATEMENT MADE TO HOSPITAL PHYSICIANS

An altercation near the Narrow Gauge cafe in South Pampa about 1:30 o'clock this morning ended in the fatal shooting of John Clugey, about 40 years old, proprietor of the cafe.

Henry Carmichael, a bystander, was wounded in an arm by a stray bullet.

William Mann, a carpenter, surrendered to county officers toward dawn and preliminary hearing for him was set for 4 p. m. A charge of murder was filed against Mann by County Attorney Sherman White.

Clugey was shot three or four times, once in the right side and again in the upper right chest. The bullet apparently raged across the chest and coming out near the heart. Whether the top wounds were made by one or two bullets could not be ascertained definitely.

Clugey and Carmichael were taken to Worley Hospital in Malone for treatment. Clugey died at 5:30 a. m., after having been conscious and able to make a statement to physicians. Carmichael was able to leave the hospital after his wound was dressed.

Clugey, a resident of Pampa for about 6 years, has a brother in

"If the soldiers bonus was paid and the money scattered to all parts of the United States, it would be a big help to start our regular business cycle," said Josh Lee, professor of public speaking at the University of Oklahoma in addressing members of the Kiwanis club today.

Mr. Lee pointed out that the bonus was by no means a dole as some persons considered it, and stressed the fact that the ex-soldiers had lost far more money in pay while serving their country than the bonus would amount to. More than 25 billion dollars was spent by the United States during the world war, according to Mr. Lee, and only five per cent went to pay the officers and enlisted men of the army.

"Regardless of whether or not the bonus is paid," he continued, "it will be a low blow to erase the blackest page in the history that the soldiers had used upon them when they marched to Washington trying to get their bonus money."

Mr. Lee was introduced by Dr. Roy Webb. He stopped over in Pampa on a return from Canyon where he made an address yesterday.

Other visitors today besides Josh Lee and Dr. Webb were Kiwanians Swan and Merrill of Amarillo, C. H. Walker, and Gilmore Nunn.

However, he wouldn't tell anyone just where he intended to go until accidentally he let it slip that he was supposed to play first base for the Rose building team.

That Jack Purdin is demanding a return bout with Rob Roy, local man, declaring that he got a raw deal from an inexperienced referee at the Pis-Mor auditorium Wednesday night. Purdin says he can get Bill Henderson, mayor of Bushland, to referee the game. Rob has not signified whether he wants to beat the Floridan again or not.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—The stock market swept forward along a broad front today, in one of the most impressive upswings of the recovery. Many issues gained 2 to 6 points and advances of a point or more appeared throughout the list. The closing tone was strong. The turnover was only moderate, however, at about 3,300,000 shares.

GREENVILLE, Sept. 2 (AP)—Fire originating in an automobile dealer establishment threatened the west end of the business section of Greenville this afternoon. A general alarm brought out all of the city's fire fighting equipment in an effort to check the flames.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 2 (AP)—Shooting a course record smashing 66, five under par, George T. Dunlap Jr., former inter-collegiate champion, buried Eric McRuvie, young British golfer, 10 up, in the first half of today's 36-hole singles matches and featured another sweeping American advance in defense of the Walker cup.

AUSTIN, Sept. 2 (AP)—Senator W. A. Williamson of San Antonio introduced a bill today to permit a district judge to dismiss a criminal action on his own motion by setting out the reasons for the dismissal.

After careful questioning of all who were in charge of the camp, and especially those in charge of the truck, as well as the boys who were in the truck from which Harry Dunlap fell, we find that the truck, after stopping at Amarillo for a short time to allow the boys to get out and walk around, left Amarillo about 12:25 a. m. for Pampa. The boys were properly checked in on leaving Amarillo, and those in charge several times glanced back over the truck, using a flashlight to see if the boys were all right.

The boys testified that they curled up in the truck.

OUR INDIAN FIGHTERS

Colonel Lovell H. Jerome, who is one of the last surviving members of the Indian fighters of the old west, celebrated his 83rd birthday in New York not long ago, and remarked that modern America has lost all of its interest in Indian fights.

Colonel Jerome said, "Nobody wants to hear about the Indians any more," he said. "They're just taken for granted—except, maybe, by those who were up against them."

And this, although Custer's last fight took place little more than half a century ago, is pretty largely true; and it sets one wondering just why it should be that one of the most romantic and colorful of all phases in American history should have been so generally ignored by literature and the stage.

To be sure, there have been lots of romances written about the Indian fighters of the far west; but almost without exception they have been fifth-rate stuff, and if nobody reads them any more it is because they aren't worth reading.

Perhaps it is because it all happened so quickly. Indian warfare west of the Missouri hardly began until the 19th century had attained its majority, and the last of it was over in the nineties.

The romantic literature of the west remains to be written. The facts are there, as a brief perusal of any old-time western history will show you.

From all evidence Harry must have stood up in the truck in a partially sleepy or dazed condition, lost his balance, fell to the pavement, and soon after was struck by another car and killed.

"We, your committee, also made careful investigation as to the management of the camp, through testimony of various Boy Scouts, as well as others who were in position to know, and we find that the management took every precaution possible in the care of the boys, and rigidly enforced all rules which would tend to keep up the health of the boys and protect them from accident, and the general report of the camp was excellent."

(Continued from page 1) The second plan submitted was the unitization plan which contemplated dividing the whole field into four separate sweet gas units and two sour gas units. In this plan the gas was to be prorated in each sweet gas unit with reference to acreage, open flow and rock pressure ratio and each unit to be assigned a certain amount of the available market.

On account of the present anti-trust laws of the state, it was admitted this plan was not at present possible and much evidence was given by opponents that it would never be feasible on account of the multitude of land, lease and royalty owners whose consent would have to be gained.

Houses Washed Away A report from De Rio told of many ranch houses on the banks of the Rio Grande and its two main tributaries in that section, the Devils and Pecos rivers, being washed downstream.

Seven employees of the plant were trapped on the roof and forced to remain there all of last night. They were rescued this morning. "Most of the plant was wrecked as flood waters poured through it, but the seven men clung to the roof until rescued. Parts of the building fell but machinery was not shifted. A number of cottages around the plant were swept away."

Residents of the Laredo section were warned to prepare for high water when the flood's crest reaches there. The Rio Grande already had risen to a dangerous stage at Laredo but it was expected to go higher.

Farmers Warned. Farmers in the Rio Grande lowlands of Cameron and Hidalgo counties were warned to be prepared to evacuate tomorrow night if flood waters break over the levees.

Cameron county engineers said the greatest danger area was around Eagle Pass and Del Rio. They said flood waters lose their velocity and spread out somewhat before they reach the Brownsville sector.

Chief concern at Brownsville centered on the San Juan river, which flows into the Rio Grande from Mexico above Rio Grande city. The stream was reported to have risen 11 feet since last night. It was still rising.

West Texas Officials Urge Bond Relief

AMARILLO, Sept. 2. (AP)—West Texas county judges and commissioners considered further problems of taxing and finance at their semi-annual convention here today.

Yesterday the association wired members of the state legislature to urge speedy enactment of the present special session of measures by which the state would assume county debt, road district highway bonds, county tax levies must be fixed September 12. About 150 delegates were here from 46 counties.

WILDCAT BLOWS IN BAY CITY, Sept. 2. (AP)—A crew was at work today trying to bring the wild Stoddard No. 1 oil well under control. The well blew in wild Wednesday. Its flow was estimated at 2,500 barrels of oil daily with possibly 30,000,000 cubic feet of gas. The crew pumped mud into the well in an effort to stop the flow. The well is eight miles southwest of Bay City.

PICKETS ARRESTED

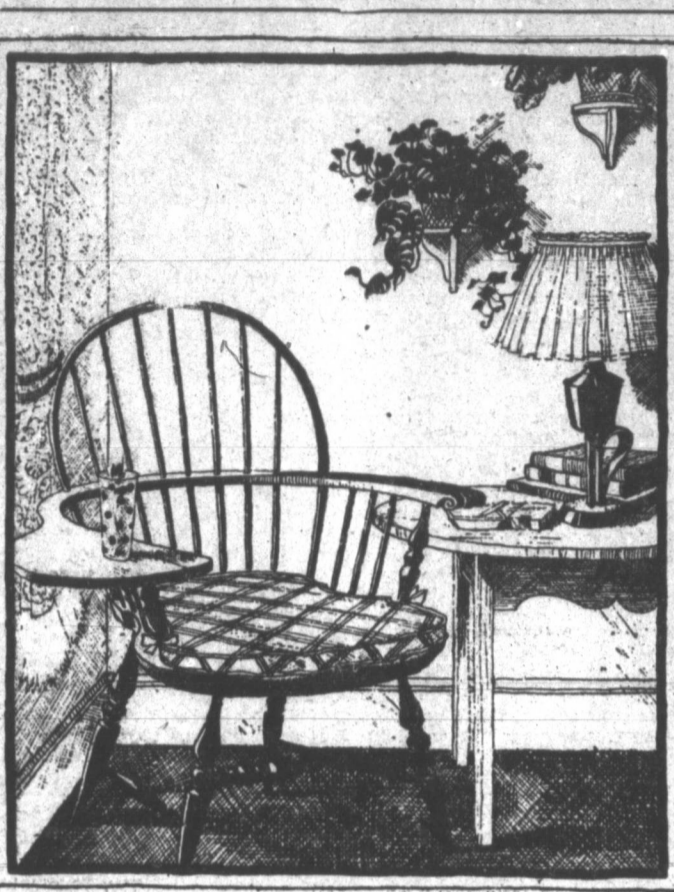

MCALISTER, Okla., Sept. 2. (AP)—Numerous arrests were made in the southeastern Oklahoma coal strike area today on a contempt of court attachment resulting from alleged continued picketing of the property of the Pittsburg-McAlester Mining company at Pittsburg. Five men were in jail here; two others had been arrested and sixteen others were sought.

DALLAS, Sept. 2. (AP)—J. C. Seigfried, 34, of Dalhart, fell beneath the wheels of a freight train he was trying to board in the railroad yards here early today. His left foot was badly mangled. He was traveling in company with his uncle, George McFadden.

Miss Hazel Rains, superintendent of Pampa hospital, returned yesterday from a vacation spent in Tulsa and the Ozarks.

THRIFTIEST HOMES MAY BE GAY

Chair pads and lamp shades help to renew the homes.

Copyright, 1932, by The McCall Company for Pampa Daily News.

If this list to be a thrifty autumn, at least it can be a gay one in the home.

It is surprising how much exciting change can be achieved in the appearance of the house without spending more than a few dollars—and often even that isn't necessary.

Look around and you will probably find a dozen things to do to

Dishes That Are "Different" Will Be Result of Recipes Given Here

DENTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—Did you ever get so tired of the routine of cooking and preparing meals that you solemnly wished for an idea from some place? Just in case you find yourself in that sort of predicament sometime, the following recipes are given. Try them to brighten up the day's menu.

ORANGE CRUELERS: Beat 2 eggs without separating. Add 1/2 c granulated sugar and 1/4 c whole milk. 2 c flour, 1/2 t salt, 1 t cream of tartar, 1/2 t soda. Add grated rind of one orange and mix to a dough. Roll small amount at a time to thin sheet. Cut into rounds. Put 1/4 t marmalade on each piece and cover with another round. Press edges together and fry in deep fat.

PECAN NUT CAKE: 1/2 c butter, 2 c white sugar, 1 c milk, 2 c pecan nut meats cut up, 3 c flour, 3 t baking powder, white of 8 eggs or 4 whole eggs. Cream butter and sugar; add milk and flour to which baking powder has been added alternately; then add egg whites and pecan meats. Bake in a loaf preferably in a stew pan. Most people prefer this cake without icing.

HONEY DROPS: 2 eggs well beaten, 1 c brown sugar, 1 c nut meats, 1/4 c flour, 1 t baking powder, salt. Mix ingredients in order given, adding salt and baking powder to flour. Bake in muffin pans for 15-20 minutes.

CAKE DOUGHNUTS: 2 c sugar, 3 eggs, 2 t melted butter, 1 c sweet milk, 2 pint hot mashed potatoes, 6 c flour, 4 t baking powder, flavoring, 1/2 t salt. Make into roll dough and cut with round cutter. Fry in deep fat.

SOUR CREAM CAKE: 1 c sour cream, 1 c sugar, 1/2 c molasses, 2 eggs, 2 c flour, 1 t soda, 1 t cinnamon, 1/2 t nutmeg, 1 t cinnamon, 1 c raisins, and currants. (1 t vanilla may be substituted for spices).

COFFEE CAKE: (Splendid substitute for fruit cake): 1 c sugar and 1 c butter creamed together; add molasses and yolks of 4 eggs well beaten. To 1/2 c flour, sifted, add 2 t each of cloves, nutmeg, and cinnamon. Add 4 level teaspoons baking powder and sift into cake batter, adding alternately with the liquid which is one c strong coffee. Fruit used is raisins, currants, dates or any two of these. Cut up seeded raisins, wash currants and cut up dates. There should be 1 1/2 to 2 c fruit. Sprinkle with 1 c flour and add to cake batter. Beat thoroughly and, last, add well beaten whites of 4 eggs. Bake in a stew pan at least an hour. This cake keeps well; hence, the large recipe is most satisfactory.

PUMPKIN PIE: (flaky pastry)—2 c flour, 1 t salt, 2-3 c crisco or lard; cold water. Sift flour and salt and out in 4 T fat with knife and fork. Add just enough water to make a roll dough. Roll out on board. Dot with fat, using 1 T. Fold ends to center and fold again. Roll

Aged Texas Woman Hikes To Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—A gray-haired grand motherly woman of 64 from Texas is among the latest hitch-hiking visitors to the nation's capital.

The broad blocks separating Washington's point of interest did not weary Mrs. Jane Yates of Fort Worth, as she set about sightseeing today, for not only had she come on foot—spelled by a few rides, of course—all the way from home, but had made the trip by way of Niagara Falls and New York.

Mrs. Yates says she is without funds.

She's planning to walk back to Texas.

R. E. Wade of LeFors was dismissed from Pampa hospital this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Baxter have returned from a trip to points in central Texas.

CHURCH'S LOSS IN POWER TOLD BY EVANGELIST

YOUNG PEOPLE NUMBER 61 AT SPECIAL SERVICE

Between 1,200 and 1,500 persons gathered for the B. B. Crimm revival service last evening in the West Kingsmill tabernacle, the attendance being unusually large for a week-day service.

Attendance at the young people's service conducted by H. M. Powell also was increased, there being 61 persons present. Miss Marjorie Tucker will be in charge of the 7 o'clock service for young people this evening and Mrs. T. P. Morton has been asked to give an impressive reading, "The Angelus."

Using the story of Sampson as his text, Evangelist Crimm spoke on reasons why the church has lost much of its power. He said in part: "The church has lost in power first because the ministers have lost their power and have become professional men-pleasers rather than God-pleasers. Various organizations of the church today have been given first place and preaching of the Word has been sidetracked. The spirit of super-denominationalism is prominent. There is too little harmony and cooperation and too much division and strife. There is a breaking down of the standard of righteous living."

The subject for this evening at 8 o'clock will be "God's Plan of Redemption."

Texas' Location At World's Fair Is One of Best

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 2. (AP)—The location of the Texas building at the Century of Progress World's Fair at Chicago is one of the best on Exposition grounds and will provide ample space for the Texas exhibit and also an out-door space for semi-tropical garden, according to James C. Kennedy, general chairman of the Texas World's Fair commission, who is now in Chicago with General Manager E. H. Whitehead and Porter A. Whaley, secretary-treasurer of the commission.

Details of the space to be utilized and the character of the Texas exhibit are being worked out by the Texas commissioners with officials of the World's Fair and definite steps will be taken immediately upon the return of the Texas commissioners toward assembling the Texas exhibit.

The plan for raising the necessary $150,000 for assembling and maintaining the Texas exhibit during the 180 days of the fair from June 1, 1933, have been worked out and this feature of the work is going steadily forward.

We are greatly encouraged by the ready response of Texans from all parts of the state to aid in this task," Mr. Kennedy said. "We know it is stupendous effort but Texas can not afford to do other than take advantage of this opportunity to place the unlimited possibilities and resources of Texas before the forty million or more persons who will visit this World's Fair," he said.

My Beauty Hint

By CONSTANCE CUMMINGS

Exercise that puts one through a real work-out is my idea of a good beauty-builder.

That is why I like tennis—so well that when I'm not working on a picture I play regularly three or four times a week. Nothing makes one feel more fit than a swift game of tennis. Tennis is excellent for the circulation.

The game, followed by a cold shower and perhaps a good boiled dinner (I for one do not diet), makes me feel fine.

Crisp, home-made pickles have a quality and deliciousness all their own and most housewives like to have a few jars in their preserve cupboard.

The secret of pickle making lies in obtaining a correct bacterial action and preventing the bacterial action which causes spoilage and softening. Salt has been found to be the most efficient agent for this purpose and every recipe for pickles uses salt in some form in large amounts.

Gherkins
Two quarts small cucumbers, 2 cups salt, 2 quarts boiling water, 2 quarts pickling spices, 2 teaspoons powdered alum, 2 cups brown sugar, 1-2 cup sliced horseradish root.

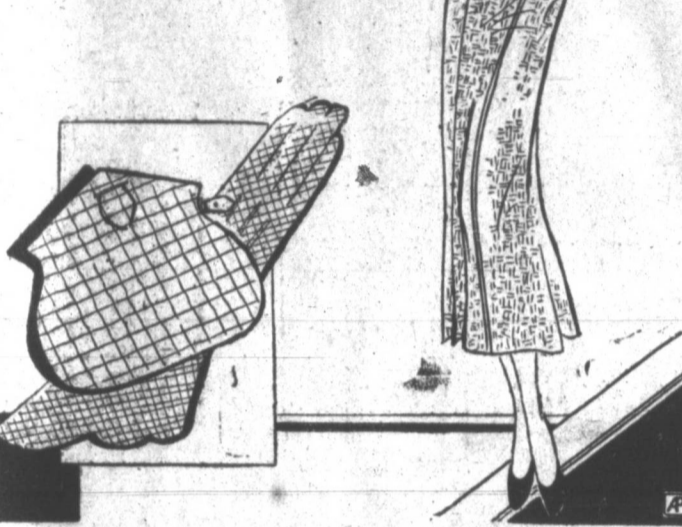

Choose very small cucumbers of uniform size. Be very careful not to bruise or mar the cucumbers. Wash carefully and pat dry between towels. Put into a deep crock and pour over brine made by dissolving salt in boiling water. Let stand twenty-four hours and drain off brine. Bring to boiling point and pour over cucumbers. Combine vinegar, 1 teaspoon powdered alum.

DINNER: Broiled filets of fish, tartar sauce, broasting potatoes, creamed celery, stuffed pepper salad, peach short-cake, coffee.

Raskob Daughter To Enter Yacht Race

CENTERTVILLE, Md., Sept. 2. (AP)—A slip of a girl will match her 17 years of youth and experience of sailing the waters of the Chesapeake Bay against the veteran crewmen of the International Star Class Yacht Racing association regatta to be sailed off Southport, Conn., Sept. 16 to 23.

She is Miss Patsy Raskob of Pioneer Point Farms, near here, daughter of John J. Raskob, former chairman of the democratic national committee.

Miss Raskob will be the only representative of Maryland's two largest fleets of the star class to stack up against the premier racing yachtsmen of the world in the annual five-race series of the association. Her crew will be 18-year-old Mason Shehan Jr., of Easton, Maryland, with her star "Ripple," won the championship of the eastern short-fleet association to gain the right to challenge in the internationals.

JAYSEES AND DANCIGER WIN GAMES BY 3 TO 1 SCORES

OLSEN ALLOWS SANTA FE ONE CLEAN BINGLE

BETTER TYPE OF BALL INDICATED BY CLOSE SCORES

Teams in the Pampa playground ball league can dish up real games even though the season has just gotten under way. It was proved yesterday afternoon when the Santa Fe hits, Joe Santa Fe hitting, allowed only two hits while his support was making three errors. The Santa Fe got only eight players on the paths while the Jaysees got 10 men on base.

The railroad boys collected only one clean hit off the delivery of Clarence Olsen but his teammates made five errors to cut down the Santa Fe hits. Joe Santa Fe hitting, allowed only two hits while his support was making three errors. The Santa Fe got only eight players on the paths while the Jaysees got 10 men on base.

Robert Woodward was the pick of the Jaysees fielders while Rayburn Burke starred for the Santa Fe. Danciger Wins Again

Sensational fielding by Roy Bourland and Dick Hughes kept the Danciger boys from running up a score on the Rose building and the game ended 3 to 1. The refinery got 10 hits off Miller but he kept them well delivered. All the Rose boys could do was get five bingles off Geppelt who has been pitching great ball lately.

Jones for the refinery and Cretney had a regular catchers battle with honors about even. Bourland and Hughes both made circus catches to save the day. Riley Myers and Parkinson played steady ball for Danciger. Hits were split scattered by both pitchers and men on bases seldom.

Promising Backfield Man Suffers Broken Jaw In Scrimmage

The first major injury of the present football season was reported yesterday afternoon when Bert Stevens showed up with a broken jaw and several teeth loose. Bert was injured during scrimmage Wednesday night, but it was believed he had just bruised his face.

Dr. H. H. Hicks reported the jaw broken in three places and that it would be about six weeks before Bert will be able to get into the game. His loss will be keenly felt as Bert had a chance at being one of the backfield stars this season. He was showing up well handling the ball and his speed was pleasing to watch.

"Aw, heck, this won't keep me out very long," Bert remarked yesterday afternoon through closed teeth, but coaches declared that he would not get back in the game until it was absolutely safe.

The first scrimmage was declared a success as the boys came thru with little soreness and with plenty of wind. The ball carrying, blocking and tackling was weak but coaches desired to see condition rather than ability. Yesterday afternoon another light scrimmage took place with a couple of news plays being inserted.

The squad is being gradually divided and the boys are getting accustomed to their places. Every boy is trying out for the position where he is anxious to play and if he makes good he will be where he desires. If he fails he will be tried in other positions until his place is found.

Rob Roy Loses 7 Pounds In Match

Wrestling fans who don't believe that Rob Roy puts out his best when wrestling are absolutely wrong and figures can prove it. When a fellow loses as much weight as Rob did Wednesday night when he wrestled Jack Furdin, the Florida hurricane, he is going places.

Rob weighed Wednesday afternoon on a tested pair of scales and he tipped 167 pounds with his clothes on. Yesterday afternoon, and Rob had eaten three square meals, he weighed only 160 pounds on the same scales.

Figure it out for yourself. If that Pampa boy didn't lose about 10 pounds in a few days, he is not a wrestler. He is just a fat man. Rob is going places.

The card for Wednesday night has not been arranged but it will be another top-notch, promoters declare.

TITLE SERIES BEGINS TODAY

Dallas Goes To Beaumont To Determine Second Half Pennant Race

The most crucial series of the season was on the Texas League schedule today, bringing together the League leading Beaumont Exporters and the second place Dallas Steers in a four-game series that promised to determine the second half championship. The Steers invaded Beaumont one game behind. A double-header was scheduled today, a single game to morrow and the same Sunday.

The Exporters prepared for the Dallas invasion by testing their defense and offense yesterday in beating Fort Worth 12 to 1. The big guns of the league leaders clouted fourteen hits behind the four-hit pitching of Jelly Collier to smother the Cats.

Dallas gained confidence for the Beaumont series by beating Houston, 5 to 4. Brilliant relief hurling by Oscar Fuhr, venerable southpaw, kept the Steers within one game of Beaumont. Fuhr relieved Minogus with the tying run on base and none out.

In the only other game yesterday, Galveston beat Longview, 6 to 3. Lefty Darrow turned in his fourteenth win this season.

San Antonio and Tyler were rained out.

KIWANIS AND LIONS CLUBS BATTLE TODAY
Noisy Claims Attach Interest To Long-Awaited Tilt

An old baseball feud will be settled this afternoon when the Kiwanis and Lions club ball teams clash at Magnolia park. The game is set for 4:30 o'clock but it will probably be a little late in getting under way as several business men on both teams will be late in arriving on the scene.

Mayor Bill Bratton, Lions hurler, will have to take plenty of time to warm up the old right as it is getting stiff with age. So to speak, Ernie Ross, opposing hurler, will also need time as he is not as young as he used to be. Ernie has been a former leaguer of some note.

TEXAS LEAGUE'S MOST VALUABLE PLAYER FROM NEW YORK GHETTO

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

From the New York Ghetto to the most valuable player in the Texas League. If one likes a dash of romance in sports, he will probably thrill at Hank Greenberg's short and successful baseball career.

The Beaumont first sacker will have an extra hundred dollars to spend on the new shoes when he returns this fall to the sidewalks of New York. He won the extra centenary note yesterday when Texas League sports editors and writers voted him the most valuable player this season in the Texas League. Sixteen players received votes. In addition to the hundred dollars, Greenberg received a handsome trophy contributed by Charles Mangold of Dallas, an enthusiastic Texas League fan.

Hank, who leads the league in home runs and is second in runs batted in, can give thanks that it was sport editors and writers instead of Texas league managers who voted. Bernie James, the diminutive Dallas second baseman who leads the league in doubles, stolen bases and runs scored, was the choice of most Texas league pilots for the most valuable award. James was second to Greenberg with seventeen votes against eighteen for Hank.

If Manager Del Baker of Beaumont had his choice, it probably would be Paul "Pound-Em" Eastering, one of the most popular players in the league, who leads the league in runs batted in. That's a mogul's best selling talk to a major league scout—that "RBI" column in a player's record, and this boy Eastering can really drive tallies across home plate. There are other fine Texas leaguers who just missed being the most valuable. Maybe if the "also rans" will go to New York this fall, Greenberg might spend the century on them showing the the Empire State building.

Twenty Wins.
Six Texas league pitchers won 20 or more games last season and hardly more than six will win 20 or more this year. Last season, "Dizzy" Dean led with 26 victories. He was trailed by Dick McCabe and George Payne with 22 wins each. Earl Carleton, Leon Chagnon and George Murray won 20 each.

Carleton, Denan and Chagnon are pitching in the big show this year. George Murray has 21 victories to his credit so far this year in Dallas. Oscar Fuhr has won 20 for the Steers. Luke Hamlin recently won his 20th game for Beaumont. Thor-mahlen of Galveston with 19 wins; Rowe of Beaumont with 18, and Whitworth of Fort Worth with 18 are the other pitchers who have a chance to equal or exceed the magic number this season.

SENS DEFEAT YANKS 6 TO 2

Washington Has Chance To Win Series Today And Tomorrow

By HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer
To the Washington Senators may fall the honor of being the only club in the circuit able to take the season's series from the New York Yankees, heirs-apparent to the American league throne.

The Yankees already have clinched the 22-game series with Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago and Boston and can get no worse than a tie with Philadelphia. But with 20 games already in the records, they have gained no better than a draw with Washington at 15 victories apiece. Single games today and tomorrow will give the Senators a chance to win the series.

Washington won its tenth decision over the Yankees yesterday, 6-2. Alvin Crowder gave up only five hits until one was out in the ninth. Then he handed walks to Ben Chagnon and Lynn Larry. A pinch single by Charley Ruffing sent one run over and a fielder's choice accounted for the other. The Senators meanwhile had hit Herb Pennock and Ed Wells at opportune moments.

In the only other major league game, the Athletics nosed out Detroit, 5-4. Al Simmons and Bing Miller clouted home runs off Tom Bridges in the sixth frame, each time with a man on base, to provide the winning margin.

WALKER TEAM LACKS THREE POINTS OF WINNING TROPHY

Texan And Californian Beat British Champions In Six To Five Victory.

The well-blended American Walker cup team lacked early today but three points for its seventh consecutive victory over Great Britain's greatest amateur golfers. It had eight chances to obtain a winning margin in the 36-hole singles matches at the country club.

The Britons, who have not been successful in this international play since it was inaugurated in 1922, suffered their most humiliating setback of the series in yesterday's 36-hole Scotch foursomes.

Although Francis Ouimet, national amateur title and team captain, was experimenting with new blood, he and his men completely routed the challengers.

George Vogt and Jess Sweetser, the lead-off pair, dribbled the Hartley brothers, Rex and Lister, 7 and 6, and Ouimet, who combined with young George T. Dulap, Jr., of New York, was equally effective against John Stout and John Burke, the long-hitting Anglo-Irish pair.

Even the outstanding British combination of Captain Tony Torrance and John DeForest, the current British champion, were swept back by the rush made by the American recruits. Guy Mowbray of Dallas and Charley Seaver of Los Angeles, for a 6 to 5 victory.

The closest shave the American team received was the 5 to 4 victory turned in by Don Moe of Portland, Oregon, and Billy Howell of Richmond, over Eric McCruvie and Eric Fiddian.

FAIR PROSPECTS GOOD
ROBY, Sept. 2 (AP)—Due to bountiful crops and gardens, it is expected that exhibits at the Fisher County fair to be held here Sept. 30 and October 1 will surpass anything ever assembled here. The county has the best all-around crop prospect in her history, and livestock also are exceptionally good.

Big Re-Financing Program To Be Announced Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—The treasury department is expected to announce early next week a big re-financing program, variously estimated from $1,000,000,000 to $1,400,000,000.

The operation is made necessary through the maturing September 15 of two short term obligations totalling $712,500,000; possible requirements $250,000,000 for the reconstruction corporation; a possible $200,000,000 for the optional public construction program in the relief act; $100,000,000 for general expenses, and probably $125,000,000 for the home loan bank system.

What nature the re-financing will take can not be ascertained at the treasury. Secretary Mills is slated to return to Washington from New York Labor Day to make known the plans. But it was reported in some quarters the operation would be a combination of long term and short term financing.

At present, the general fund deficit is $395,981,000 and the balance $343,380,000.

Meanwhile the treasury has received the first semi-annual repayment to the federal land revolving fund. It amounted to $100,800 and came from 10 of the 12 banks in the system.

The fund grows out of the $125,000,000 emergency capital stock subscription congress authorized in January to enable the banks to further assist farm loan associations in granting loans to farm buyers.

It reflects a $403,520 stock subscription by national farm loan associations and amounts to five per cent of the total loans they have made through the system from Jan. 1 to June 30.

Under the farm loan act, 25 per cent of the stock subscriptions from the farm loan associations goes toward retiring government owned stock. As the government is repaid, the money goes into a revolving fund from which the 12 banks may draw.

Wilkins Plans Trip To Europe

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, the arctic explorer who dashed for the north pole in the submarine Nautilus in 1931, has been in Oslo arranging for a possible new under-water attack on the pole next year.

To Use Smaller "Sub."

Sir Hubert, who came to Oslo to confer with Professor Harald Svedrup, one of his companions on last year's expedition, says that he will use a new submarine only half the size of the Nautilus and carrying a crew of 10.

It is expected that the new vessel will be much easier to handle than the Nautilus. The machinery will not be so complicated and therefore less affected by the cold.

Shaped Like Airship.

The submarine, to be built either in England or Germany, will be 120 feet long, whereas the Nautilus was 150 feet long. The new craft, shaped much like an airship, will have an engine developing 250 to 350 h.p. The cost of the submarine will be about $100,000.

Sir Hubert estimates that the building of the submarine will take about six months, and that the expedition may be ready for a start in 1933. Part of the crew will be Norwegians, because of their experience in the Arctic. Sir Hubert hopes that Professor Svedrup will take part in the expedition as scientific leader.

To Make Observations.

The object of the expedition will be not only to cross the north pole under the ice, but to reach a point between the north pole and Alaska, where scientific observations can be made.

NEW COINS FOR BELGRADE.

BELGRADE (AP)—Seven carloads of 10-dinar silver pieces coined at the British mint for Yugoslavia have arrived from London. They will be pumped into circulation to replace 200,000,000 dinars of paper money.

Striking Farmers Compromise With State Governors

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 2. (AP)—Peace reigned along all fronts of the now suspended farm strike today while leaders of the movement sought gubernatorial aid to further their fight for higher produce prices.

Proclamations from the governors of Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, and Minnesota, calling on farmers to withhold their produce from the market, were suggested to the executives of the affected states by Woodbury county members of the farmers' holiday association who offered to withdraw their pickets from the highways if such action is taken.

The suggestion was made to Milo Reno, head of the holiday association, in a telegram, copies of which were sent to the governors. Reno approved of the idea and said the gubernatorial proclamations and withdrawal of pickets "would do it to prepare for the conference of governors of midwest states September 9."

The governors' conference which is scheduled to be held in Sioux City, Ia., will seek means to settle differences between farmers and produce buyers over prices and bring the holiday movement to a conclusion. To date governors Turner of Iowa, White of Ohio, Olson of Minnesota, and Shafer of North Dakota have indicated they will attend or be represented at the meeting.

The strike situation was quiet last night with the exception of one arrest at Omaha in connection with picketing activities.

Pioneers Attend T-Anchor Roundup

CANYON, Sept. 2. (AP)—The 11th annual Old-Time Cowpunchers Round-Up at the famous old T-Anchor brand headquarters near here was held September 1.

John Arnot of Amarillo, president of the round-up, sent out invitations to "every person who punched cattle or worked on a ranch on or before December 31, 1895, his wife and children and their wives and husbands, or the widow of a deceased member."

The grounds were open the night preceding the round-up, and those who cared to camp were permitted to do so. Several hundred persons, including the Panhandle's pioneers, attended.

The usual expensive barbecue was not held this year, but a "depression basket picnic" was spread instead. Every family was requested to bring a basket of "grub."

The real purpose of the round-up was to get the pioneer cowboys together and let them talk over old times. Arnot said.

James M. Williams of Kingsmill was in the city this morning.

First Sheriff of Texas Is Buried At Nacogdoches

NACOGDOCHES, Sept. 2. (AP)—Dave Rusk, first sheriff ever elected in the Texas Republic, was buried here, his last resting place being in Oak Grove cemetery, and over which stands a small monument. He was a brother of General Thomas J. Rusk and with his brother and one or two others carried Sam Houston from the San Jacinto battlefield and placed him aboard a vessel that took him to New Orleans for surgical treatment. Rusk served as the first sheriff of the Republic, and was re-elected regularly until Texas came into the Union. His commissions were signed as follows:

July 31, 1837 by Sam Houston, at Old Washington on the Brazos; February 4, 1839, signed by President Lamar in Houston; November 22, 1845, by Anson Jones at Austin; March 29, 1841, by Lamar. After going out of the office of sheriff Rusk was president of the board of land commissioners at Nacogdoches, and later owned and operated a ferry on the Angelina river. He died in 1867.

D. 1932 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 3247, wherein E. M. Millard is Plaintiff and Lola Millard is Defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action being as follows:

SYNOPSIS: While buying a gown for the dinner which Ferdinand Francis is giving herself and her friend, Nan is observed by the new girl, Jervis, who is hiding. She has overheard Robert Leonard talking about the dinner. She has seen Jervis. Although Nan and Jervis are married and Nan has a husband, she is sure she knows she represents to him only the means by which he has secured his position. She is sure that she is the former Lucie, Rosemond Cavan, who was fearful for Jervis, who is late.

Chapter 11

IS HER SECRET SAFE?
THE last stroke of eight died away and left Nan shivering. She couldn't go on standing on the doorstep. She must do something, but she didn't know what.

She moved, and just as if her movement had broken into a set space, a car drew up at the curb. Jervis jumped out, and at the sight of him Nan knew how frightened she had been.

"I'm so sorry to have kept you waiting. I'm rightfully late, but I had to go back."

She said something—she had no idea of what it was—and then they were in the taxi, and she was staring out of the window and trying to quiet the beating of her heart.

Just for an instant she caught sight of the edge of a handbag where his left cuff slipped back. She was ready to swear that it had not been there this afternoon.

She got herself quiet, and turned round on him.

"What made you so late?" I thought something had happened."

"Well, something did happen." She took a breath. "My tie wouldn't tie."

"Nan looked at the tie. It had a very ordinary appearance. Her eyes, suddenly bright, gave him the lie."

"What has been happening?"

"Happening!" His eyes met hers with a lint of distance and a hint of mockery.

"Yes."

"The distance went; the mockery remained."

"First news bulletin, copyright restored?"

"Yes."

"Barometric pressure—" said Jervis.

"Is your wrist broken?"

"Certainly not. Why should it be?"

"Barometric pressure," suggested Nan.

"Nothing so original."

"Please tell me."

"There's nothing to tell."

"How did you hurt your wrist?"

Jervis leaned back into his corner of the taxi.

"You might say I had bumped it against a coincidence."

"What sort of coincidence?" said Nan in a whisper.

"A very neat one," said Jervis—"very neat and neat. You warn me against a villain in a taxi. I proceeded to get into the taxi by subway—"

"I'm afraid," he said, "of account of the waiting, but because our agreeable conversation didn't leave me time to walk, I see Page. I walk up gratefully to the house and put on my best tail coat. I then stroll along the street to the cab-rack, and just as I'm turning the corner a car swerves to avoid a dog and sends me spinning. If I hadn't seen him out of the tail of my eye and jumped for it, I'm afraid you'd have had to dine telé-telé with F.F."

"Are you hurt?" said Nan quickly and irresponsibly.

"The tail coat is a wreck. That's what made me late. I had to fall back on my reserve, which really won't stand daylight."

"Your arm—" said Nan.

"A messy cut," efficiently bandaged by Jervis, who would be perfectly happy if I would arrange to have a minor accident once or twice a week to keep his hand in."

"It was a great performer with a first aid kit in the war, and complains that he's getting rusty. He juttles rather under protest."

"Did you see the driver of the car that knocked you over?"

"I did not," said Jervis. "I saw nothing except a lot of very nice colored stars, and when I stopped seeing them, there was no driver to see."

"He didn't stop?"

"He did not."

"And you call that a coincidence?"

Quarry Murders
Reported Solved
In Confession

LIMA, O., Sept. 2. (AP)—One of the most baffling crimes in Ohio history, the "Quarry murders" of Earl Truesdale, 20, and his sweetheart, Thelma Woods, 18, was solved today, police said, by the alleged confession of Loren Ellsworth Truesdale, Earl's 23-year-old brother.

The elder brother was arrested by private detectives last night and gave the alleged confession, officers said, in the presence of his mother and father. Jealousy caused by rivalry in love was described as the motive.

The younger Truesdale and Miss Woods were slain the evening of Memorial Day, 1931. Their bodies, weighted with stones, were found several days later in an abandoned water-filled stone quarry at the outskirts of this city.

Loren's confession to the officers said, told of meeting Earl and Miss Woods in downtown Lima the night of the crime. They bought some liquor, the confession said, and then drove to the quarry.

There, the brothers argued about the girl and Loren got a hammer and struck Earl on the head. "He had taken several girls away from me," Loren was quoted as explaining.

Leaving the younger brother dying, Loren returned to the girl and when he told her what he had done she threatened to report him. The confession said he then struck her with the hammer, and attempted to conceal the killings by sinking the bodies in the quarry.

Stocks Rise 100 Per Cent During
Last Two Months

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—A rise in stock prices of almost 100 per cent, accompanied by no increase in brokers' loans of consequence, is one of the phenomena of the extraordinary past two months in the New York stock exchange.

The fact stocks could achieve without important increase in the marginal trading has been widely advanced as one of the market's most bullish aspects.

While the total quoted value of shares listed in the exchange, as measured by price indices, have appreciated some $12,000,000,000 from their lows of early July, the latest weekly brokers' loan statement shows a total only $14,000,000 above the July low.

The most obvious explanation of the sweeping advance, unaccompanied by an important increase in loans, would be that there had been heavy buying of stocks for which full payment was made in cash. While there is some difference of opinion in Wall Street as to the extent of this buying, even skeptics are inclined to agree it has been substantial.

In this connection, some brokers have reported clear indications of an extensive flow of hoarded cash into securities.

It is also acknowledged that there has been considerable buying for cash for foreign account. British and Scottish investment were reported substantial buyers in the earlier stages of the advance.

Irregularities In Voting Cited by
Thomas B. Love

DALLAS, Sept. 2. (AP)—Thomas B. Love, former state senator, sent a communication today to State Senator George Puri at Austin in which he expressed the opinion that the public welfare "imperatively demands an immediate and thorough legislative investigation of illegal voting in this year's primary elections, including a recount of the ballots, regardless of cost."

In his communication, which he asked Puri to have read to the state senate, Love said, "This statement is based on the fact, among others, that I have been reliably informed by one of the oldest and most reputable newspaper men in Texas that his newspaper is in possession of bogus certificates of exemption which were printed in a Dallas printing office and used in this year's primaries."

"In one voting box in last Saturday's primary 200 absentee ballots were cast and counted, all from the same small town in a distant county. At the same box more than 500 votes were cast and counted by persons not on the poll tax list, on affidavits, most of them sworn to before the same notary public."

"A regular racket of systematic voting on absentee ballots through the county clerk's office was maintained."

but the county has lent a grader for recent use. Since there are more than 400 miles of dirt roads in precinct 2, the county will need its full equipment for a considerable time as the result of the rain.

The city alone has about 75 miles of dirt streets to maintain. Street crews had not completed cleaning of bar-ditches when the heavy rain fell.

WHEAT ACTIVE

CHICAGO, Sept. 2. (AP)—Upturns in stocks and cotton and advances in wheat prices at Liverpool gave Chicago grains an upward trend at the start today. Buying orders were numerous and short sellers were forced to cover commitments hurriedly.

Wheat opened 1/4 to 1/2 cents higher and later held around these figures. Corn started 1/4 to 3/8 up and then steadied.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2. (AP)—Cotton opened firm and active from Liverpool cables came in 21 to 23 penny points better than due which was equivalent to 43 to 46 American points. First trades were shown gains of 23 to 24 points which was not a full response to the strength of Liverpool. The market eased off 7 points right after the start or realizing but soon rallied again owing to much rain in the belt and to a rumor that a prominent private authority estimated the crop at only 10,779,000 bales. October traded as high as $8.60 and December at $8.78 or 25 to 30 points above yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour the market was firm at the highs and seemed to be trending upward.

Following the activity of the first hour, the market became somewhat quieter but continued very steady, supported by bullish private crop estimates and much rain in the eastern belt. Early in the second hour October advanced to 8.63 and December to 8.80 or 38 points above yesterday's close. Near mid-session prices eased off 5 to 5 points from the top on some realizing, but the undertone continued very steady. Two private crop estimates were issued, one of 10,775,000 bales and the other of 11,098,000 bales. Both were considered bullish.

Jayaees' Regular Monthly Luncheon
Is Tuesday Night

Junior chamber of commerce directors will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the B. C. D. rooms to discuss several matters to be presented at the next regular meeting Tuesday night in the Schneider hotel dining room. Business and pleasure will be held during the luncheon meeting. President Jim Collins has issued a call for every member to be present.

The board was scheduled to meet yesterday afternoon, but conflicting meetings made it impossible to have a quorum present. President Collins wishes every director present tonight.

An interesting program is being arranged for Tuesday night. The business to be transacted will not in any way interfere with the entertainment of the meeting. Business will be transacted because of the last meeting being postponed on account of absence of members on vacations and business trips.

Reservations should be made with the hotel before noon Tuesday. The price will be only 50 cents.

Hearing on Oil
Values Completed

Hearings on oil valuations by Tom Cain and J. C. Cobb, employees of the Texas Y. Pickett company which has the contract to assess the oil valuations of Gray county, were concluded last night.

Although it is obvious that the total valuations of oil royalty properties will be considerably less than last year, no totals are yet available. Much detailed work remains to be done on the rolls.

The county commissioners will resume hearings September 6 on other Gray county property. The rolls will be completed and the rate fixed probably some time in October. Cain and Cobb went from here to LeFors where they will work on the assessing of all properties in the LeFors Independent school district.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School Lesson for September 4.

General Topic: Evils of Intemperance.
Scripture Lesson: Isaiah 5:11-16, 22, 23.

1. Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that tarry late into the night, till wine inflame them!

2. And the harp and the lute, the tabret and the pipe, and wine, are in their feasts; but they regard not the work of Jehovah, neither have they considered the operation of his hands.

3. Therefore my people are gone into captivity for lack of knowledge; and their honorable men are famished, and their multitude are parched with thirst.

4. Therefore Sheol hath enlarged its desire, and opened its mouth without measure; and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth among them, descend into it.

5. And the mean man is bowed down, and the great man is humbled, and the eyes of the lofty are humbled:

6. But Jehovah of hosts is exalted in justice, and God the Holy One is sanctified in righteousness.

7. Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink;

8. That justify the wicked for a bribe, and take away the righteousness of the righteous on his hip!

9. Golden Text: Drink no wine nor strong drink—Lev. 10:9.

Time: Isaiah's early prophecies (Beetler) were about B. C. 766. He died about B. C. 679.

Place: Isaiah's home was Jerusalem.

Introduction.

We turn aside from our studies of the experiences of Israel in the wilderness to hear the message of Isaiah as he faces frankly and boldly the moral corruption of the Israel of a later day, and points out the inevitable consequences. It is a message of mingled tenderness and severity; one feels, indeed, that if Isaiah had loved Israel less and had been less conscious of God's love for it, he would have been less severe.

Isaiah was a patriot who prized character, justice, righteousness in times of peace, and gave himself to the noble task of leading these social evils—monopoly, greed, drunkenness, political and judicial corruptions, luxury—that must lead to national disaster. And that is the kind of patriot sorely needed in America today, men and women who do not believe that a corrupt, greedy, unprincipled and lawless citizenship can maintain a strong and secure nation.

Isaiah and His Book.

Isaiah is quite generally regarded as the greatest of the Old Testament prophets. He was the son of Amos (not Amos, the prophet), was influential in the court, and was the intimate friend and counsellor of kings, especially of the great King Hezekiah. He was the most Messianic of the prophets, seeing more clearly than any others the coming of the Son of God, and the nature of his person and work. His prophecies as noble and elevated as has ever been written, rising to the most sublime heights, and combining all elements of literary skill. The verses chosen for our lesson are from the earliest group of his prophecies, and are mainly descriptive of the vices and sins of the upper classes in which Isaiah moved, the leaders of state in his day.

A Favored Nation.

The first seven verses of our chapter (Isaiah 5) contain a skillfully drawn picture of Israel as the vineyard of Jehovah. There is the story of one who with great anticipation planted a vineyard on a fertile hill; he built a fence about it, took all hindering stones out of it, planted the choicest vines, and built a protective tower in the midst, and also a winepress. Such was the preparation, but when the harvest time came the vineyard brought forth wild or ill-smelling grapes, and there was nothing to be done but to destroy it! That, said Isaiah, is Israel and the men of Judah, God had blessed them beyond measure, and yet "they looked for justice, but behold oppression; for righteousness, but behold a cry." Such a failure to rise to the responsibilities of such blessing could be followed only by a strong arraignment and severest judgment.

WILD GRAPES vs. 2, 4.

The rest of this great chapter (verses 6-30) describes a number of the sins of the nation and their consequences in national calamity. Among these wild grapes were (1) greed expressing itself in the monopolization of land which was a great source of wealth; (2) drunkenness with its accompanying revelry and waste. Commenting upon these evils, George Adam Smith says: "It is with remarkable persistence that in every civilization the two main passions of the human heart, love of wealth and love of pleasure, the instinct to gather and the instinct to squander, have sought precisely these two forms denominated by Isaiah in which to work their social havoc—appropriation of the soil and indulgence in strong drink. Every civilized community develops sooner or later its liquor question and its liquor question." We are concerned particularly in this lesson with the liquor evil and its fruits.

Evil of Drunkenness vs. 11-13.

The prophet viewed with greatest alarm the wide-spread evil of drunkenness with its waste and debauchery. How it led men in fetters he set forth vividly in the picture of men rising up early in the morning to follow strong drink, and tarrying late at night until they are inflamed by wine-drinking, drinking, drinking, drinking, their revelry with ribald music. It was a scene of conscienceless self-indulgence, of waste of time, money and manhood, of indulgences and pleasures that stirred the baser passions, and undermined the very foundations of the nation. "The crusade against drink is not the novel thing that many imagine who have seen its late revival among ourselves. In ancient times there was scarcely a state in which prohibitive legislation of the most stringent kind was not attempted, and generally carried out with a thoroughness more possible under despots than where, as with us, the slow consent of public opinion is necessary."—George Adam Smith.

Sheol, v. 14.

"Therefore Sheol hath enlarged its desire, and opened its mouth without measure." Sheol in Hebrew is the same as the Greek Hades, the unseen world, the place of the dead. Isaiah pictures it as a ravenous monster, its maw open, eager to swallow up the infatuated, godless people. In God's way is life, but the wages of sin is always and everywhere death. If the drunkard could only realize the black emptiness in which all his orgies are sure to end! If he would only learn from the many experiences of others! If he would only be warned in time! "But Jehovah of hosts," v. 16. Jehovah Sabaoth, the God of the armies of heaven, forever undefeated, "is exalted in justice." His unworthy people will be debased because of their disobedience, but that very punishment will exact his righteous judgments, of which they had been warned, and which would have saved them if they had given heed.

Picture of Divine Wrath. 5:20-30.

"The remainder of this powerful chapter is a terrifying picture of the wrath of God against the ungodly. Isaiah compares that anger to a devouring fire, to a decay at the root, to a blasting of the blossom, to a blow from a mighty fist, to an earthquake shaking the mountains, to an awful force filling the streets with dead bodies. Then there is an awe-inspiring picture of the coming of the Assyrians to drag the people off to exile, their swift rush from the ends of the earth, their vigor and violence, their sharp arrows, their bent bows, their dashing horses, their whirling chariot wheels, their roaring like the roaring of lions or like the fierce waves of the sea, and the darkening of the sky as they approach like a tempest." Such shall be the ruin of the land that rebels against the Almighty, and such, we may say, is the destruction that awaits any country that yields itself to the ruin of intoxication.

"If the enemies of good government were making and selling a concoction that would poison our pigs and colts and calves and chickens for money, the militant manhood and womanhood of America would not stop it. And when we begin to love our boys and girls as well we love our domestic animals and our selfish appetites, then we will consecrate ourselves anew to their protection and set for them a safe example in refraining from the illicit use of intoxicants anywhere and everywhere."—Hon William D. Upshur.

National Prohibition.

"The Eighteenth amendment to our national constitution was not the first experiment with the liquor problem in America. Free manufacture and sale; regulation by license; local option; state prohibition; were in turn expressions of the growing conviction of the corrupting influence of the liquor traffic in national life. The Eighteenth amendment came after a century of agitation; after thirty-three states had adopted state-wide prohibition; after 85 per cent of the counties, 90 per cent of the townships, 75 per cent of the villages were 'dry.' Of the population, 68.3 per cent, and of the land area of the United States, 95.4 per cent were already under prohibition." "It was adopted after full and free public discussion, in the face of determined and powerful opposition by larger majorities and greater unanimity in congress and in the 46 states, which ratified it than any other amendment." (Encycl. Brit. 14th edition.) It was not "put over."

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Jago Goldston, Academy of Medicine

DERMATITIS VENENATA

Dermatitis venenata means dermatitis, skin inflammation, venenata, due to venous or irritating substances.

There are many agents that can produce this type of dermatitis. Some are of a physical or mechanical nature. In this group are included x-rays, ultra violet rays, heat rays and sun rays.

Chemical agents, too, frequently cause dermatitis venenata. Included are the chemical excretions and secretions of insects such as mosquitoes and of other living things, as for example, jelly fish.

Minerals such as mercury and sulphur, petroleum and its tar derivatives, vegetable and plant extracts and other chemical products may all cause inflammatory reactions of the skin.

Many occupations expose workers to a variety of chemical and physical agents known to give rise to dermatitis. Photographers, dyers, printers, perfumers, barbers, jewelers and physicians are among those whose daily occupations expose them to irritants and who may suffer dermatitis.

The number of individual substances which may cause skin inflammations is very large. There are more than 70 common plants, contact with which may cause inflammation of the skin.

While all of these substances are irritating to a degree, they do not affect all persons alike. There is usually an underlying sensitiveness in the skin of the individual which contributes to the provocation of an inflammatory reaction.

Thus many people wear their watches on the wrist, using a leather strap and only a few suffer skin irritations therefrom. Some physicians may use an antiseptic solution on their hands while others become acutely sick when employing the same antiseptic.

Most instances of dermatitis venenata are diagnosed by the circumscript involvement of the skin, which usually corresponds to the exposed parts.

Garcia Library Draws Scholars During Summer

AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—The fact that in the Garcia Library at the University of Texas is to be found at least and most valuable collection of material pertaining to Santa Anna, Mexican general, in existence has drawn numerous scholars interested in Santa Anna to that institution for research. During this summer, there have been two outstanding students of Mexican history engaged in work among the Mexican archives in the Garcia collection, both studying Santa Anna. One of these was F. C. Hanaghan, newspaperman who contributes, among other publications, to the New York TIMES and the NEW YORK TRIBUNE. Mr. Hanaghan spent two months this summer in gathering material for a popular life of Santa Anna from the Garcia Library. Before coming to the University, he studied for several months in Mexico, in Washington and in the New York public library. At each institution he was advised to come to the University of Texas Garcia collection.

In the Garcia collection is to be found more than one thousand pages of manuscript material pertaining to General Santa Anna, including letters, pronouncements, manifestos and other documents, as well as his last private memoirs. At least 150 volumes of printed matter covering various phases of Santa Anna's career are in the library, besides many indirect references to him.

The nerve-racking finish of the great eight-oared crew race by which the Golden Bears of California snatched world supremacy for the United States from the bow of a fast-moving Italian shell, is shown in all its thrilling details in the current issue of the Pampa Daily News-Universal Newsreel. The screen's talking reporter describes the race and other exciting Olympic events with breath-taking enthusiasm at La Noca.

The dogged fight of the U. S. crew as it creeps up inch by inch to overtake and nose out the smooth-running Italian boat, and the heroic efforts of the eight oarsmen and their coxswain as the stroke rises to an unbelievable 44 per minute, comprise a screen epic that will long be remembered. Eleanor Helm's victory for the American colors in the 100-meter back-stroke swim is another high-light of the Olympic scene in this newsreel. Also, the world's record springboard diving of Georgia Coleman and the title-winning high diving of little Dorothy Boynton, both daughters of California, are to be seen in all their grace and skill.

The Talking Reporter describes other interesting and important events in the current newsreel, among them the hectic scenes in the Chicago wheat pit as the Board of Trade members defy the U. S. closing order. Peter B. Carey, president of the exchange, issues a challenge to the Farm Board as his fellow grain operators buy and sell in a frenzy of excitement.

SHAW PLAY FOR MOSCOW MOSCOW

MOSCOW (AP)—Translation has been begun here of George Bernard Shaw's latest play, "Too True to Be Good," which is to be produced here during the coming theatrical season. The author expressed the wish that it be produced in the "real bolshevik manner."

The newsreel also presents the selection by a jury of eminent Europeans, of a 19-year-old Turkish girl, Miss Keriman Abalis, as the world's champion beauty, in the international pulchritude contest at Spa, Belgium, and an interesting demonstration of a new device which will trap persons turning in false fire-alarms. The invention is being tried out in Toledo and is heralded as a boon to firemen.

Striking scenes showing a revival in U. S. shipping and the country's export trade, as well as evidences of increased activity in many lines of industry, together with the re-employment of many mill and factory workers, make a worth-while addition to the reel.

State Welfare Division Gives New Opportunities To Children

With the appointment of Mrs. Nettie S. Myers of Henrietta, Texas, as an assistant in the state division of child welfare, the personnel of the division is complete and a program of organization and education is well under way. This department was created by the legislature of 1931, to enforce all laws of Texas for the protection of defective, illegitimate, dependent, and neglected children of this state. Its function is to work closely with the county child welfare boards which, under the provision of the law, are organized by the Commissioners' courts and which consist of seven members from various sections of the county.

This department also cooperates with Juvenile Courts in planning for children coming to the attention of the court, and with child placement agencies.

Preliminary work of the child welfare division has already been accomplished. There are four qualified women in charge of this work. Three months ago, Mrs. Violet S. Greenhill was appointed chief of the division, and she now has two assistants as provided for in the law creating the department. Miss Helen Hardy of Carrizo Springs, Texas, and Mrs. Nettie S. Myers of Henrietta, Texas. Miss Hardy has had excellent training and experience in child welfare work, both in Texas and in Chicago, in addition to which she was associated during the past two years with the Alameda state child welfare department. Mrs. Myers has done child welfare work in the northwest section of the state of Texas. Mrs. Louise W. Warnken, formerly with the state department of health, is now with the child welfare division, and will continue the supervision of licensed homes for children in Texas.

Work Outlined

The problem before the department is one of enormous proportions due to the size of the state and the lack of information on the part of citizens and organizations as to the function of the department. The child welfare division is not intended to replace any chartered organization or to duplicate the effort of any agency already at work, but to work with all available sources at hand wherever there is need, and opportunity for service to neglected and dependent children. The problem of caring for children rests with the various counties of the state, and with the families. The object in view is to keep children in their own homes, whenever possible and to improve these homes, to supervise the distribution of mother's aid pensions, to plan medical and educational care for handicapped children, to investigate cases for adoption to help the child to get the right kind of start in life.

"As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined" is applicable here. A child is entitled to a fair chance to equip himself for good citizenship. Compulsory education is a very fine and essential thing, but it does not go far enough. The child must be fed, clothed and given good home environment, if we are to expect anything of the adult. For years we have studied the problems of the farms and appropriated money for preserving and bettering our products. For years we have looked after the health of our cattle and protected them against disease and ticks. Texas can do no finer piece of work now than to keep a watchful eye over her children—future citizens of this state—seeing to it that equal chances prevail for good health, education and home environment for every child that is mentally and physically fit and for those unfortunate who are not. Homes are provided by the state for their care and comfort.

Every citizen should be cognizant of the work which the child wel-

Moby Dick, salty but not dispirited, was hauled into the lifeboat while passengers lined the deck rail cheering.

Storm Damage Slight In Mobile And at Gulfport

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 2 (AP)—The government weather bureau here said today the tropical disturbance which blew in from the Bahamas struck southwest of Mobile between 1 and 2 a. m. Tuesday morning and was moving in a north-northeasterly direction with greatly diminishing force.

The wind reached its highest velocity of 52 miles an hour in Mobile proper between 11 o'clock and midnight, the bureau announced, leaving only slight damage. The greatest damage was caused by falling limbs blown from trees.

The barometer went up from 29.21 at 1:45 a. m. to a reading of 29.47 at 7 a. m.

At Bayou La Batre and Codelin fishing centers in the southwest part of the county, a high tide had sent a sheet of water over streets this morning. High winds hit Bayou La Batre during the night but little damage was reported.

Mobile river, which empties into Mobile bay, was running high this morning with sections of the waterfront submerged.

GULFPORT, Miss., Sept. 1 (AP)—Sharp gusty winds swept the Mississippi and Alabama coasts early today as the tropical disturbance apparently passed inland from the gulf a short distance east of Pascagoula, Miss.

Diminishing winds and a rising barometer, however, indicated a slackening of the storm's intensity.

The northwest wind reached a velocity of 50 to 60 miles an hour here and at other gulf points early this morning but the blow had diminished to 35 or 40 miles an hour at 7 a. m. The barometer at that hour registered 29.46 as compared with 29.34 at 2:30 a. m.

Vet Ejection Termed Brutal

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 2 (AP)—The thirty-third encampment of the veterans of foreign wars termed the army's rout of bonus seekers from Washington, D. C., as "criminally brutal."

The convention Wednesday unanimously adopted a resolution "solemn protest" against the use last July of "charging cavalry, drawn sabres, fixed bayonets, with guns loaded and ready to shoot, with tanks (whose use in the United States would prohibit in times of war) against unarmed men, women and children weakened by hunger and unemployment."

The resolution, introduced by Joseph Carl Thomson of New York City, past state commander of New York, was adopted with shouts of approval that drowned Commandant-in-Chief David D. Deane's suggestion it be referred to committee.

The resolution stated "the president summoned the United States army to rout and maim a pitiful and inoffensive crowd of ragged and unarmed bonusers."

The veterans of foreign wars were advised by the resolution to remember "the veteran's strongest weapon of defense is the ballot."

WIFE-SLAYERS COMPETE FOR HONORS IN MUSIC
SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Two strange figures have just sat for the annual pianoforte examinations of the Australian Music board. Both are murderers, serving life sentences in the penitentiary at Goulburn. Each killed his wife.

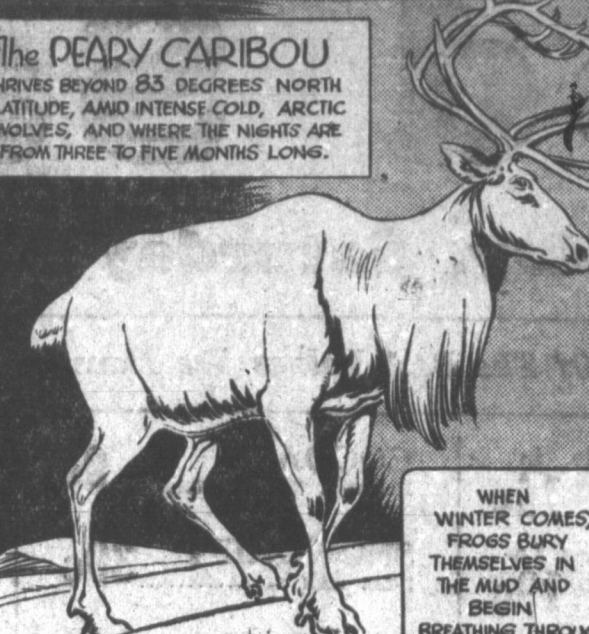

They competed with hundreds of other candidates, playing over their set pieces and submitting papers on the theory of music.

Their theoretical knowledge was mainly acquired from such books on music as the prison library has to offer.

— THIS CURIOUS WORLD —

The PEARY CARIBOU
THRIVES BEYOND 85 DEGREES NORTH LATITUDE, AMID INTENSE COLD, ARCTIC WOLVES, AND WHERE THE NIGHTS ARE FROM THREE TO FIVE MONTHS LONG.

WHEN WINTER COMES, FROGS BURY THEMSELVES IN THE MUD AND BEGIN BREATHING THROUGH THEIR SKINS, INSTEAD OF THEIR NOSTRILS.

The COLUMBIA RIVER
FLOWS 1400 MILES TO REACH THE PACIFIC OCEAN, AT A POINT ONLY ABOUT 450 MILES FROM WHERE THE RIVER ORIGINATES.

THE PEARY CARIBOU, like many other animals of the far north, is snow white. It inhabits Ellesmere Island, and the extreme northern portion of Greenland, and feeds on lichens and other dwarf vegetation of the region.

THE SKIN of a frog is exceedingly thin and delicate, and contains a fine network of blood vessels. When the frog's nostrils close up for the winter, the skin carries on the work of breathing.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE.

President Hoover's continued attitude of aloofness from the details of the republican campaign surprises no one who knows his personal inclinations and the pressure of his official duties.

Of course he need not be expected to put politics entirely away from him; no president ever has done that in a presidential year or out of it. But it may be accepted that he will be less active than many of his predecessors in the usual maneuvers of a re-election campaign and will leave the minutiae of minor strategy to others.

No one who has seen him at close range expects him, for instance, to enter into anything like a joint dinner or anyone else. Nothing is likely to change his determination to make bate with his democratic opponent few speeches. He may be counted on to stick close to Washington and to the problems of the present administration.

These factors come as near to being absolute certainties as anything can be in politics.

Follows Party Tradition.

There are several reasons for this, some political and some personal.

On the political side there is the standing rule that the place for republican presidential candidates is at home. Republican presidential practices do not run to swings round the circle nor to intensive disputation with the opposition. In his present course Mr. Hoover is following a party tradition which has been fruitful of many victories, in the past. McKinley and Harding, with their "front porch" campaigns, followed that tradition to the White House. Coolidge followed it when he was a candidate for re-election, eight years ago, to the extent of wholly ignoring the direct questions of his opponent.

The classic example on the other side is Hughes, who in 1916 stumped the country and left his White House chances buried behind him in far-off California.

Mr. Hoover himself followed the tradition to a large degree in his first campaign. His speeches were comparatively few and never featured by give-and-take argument.

Busy Times For Him.

The personal reasons behind the present Hoover policy arise from two considerations.

In the first place, the hurry-burry of politics has little attraction for him. Only in later years of his life has he had any direct contact with it, and he never has appeared quite at home on the hustings. Probably his most unpleasant memories of the presidency will revolve about the annoyances and exasperations he has experienced with politics.

How will all of this affect his chances in November?

In the second place, he has so mapped out his work as president that he has literally almost no time for anything else. He gets far down into detail in the handling of many public problems. He talks over national affairs with a constant stream of callers.

His hours of sleep and of exercise are strictly limited, and on many of his week end trips to the Rapidan camp he takes along those with whom he wants to talk business.

Everyone is entitled to his guess, but no one need expect the president to change his ways.

Some politicians think the picture of a president busy at his desk, refusing to be embroiled in partisan clamor, will appeal strongly to country in this time of stress.

Others argue that traditions of other years are worthless; that the voters are likely to look on Mr. Hoover as somewhat "snooty" and to prefer a candidate who climbs down into the arena and gives and takes hard blows.

MULES INCREASE
DALHART, Sept. 2 (AP)—The horse and mule population of Dallas county is one thing that has not declined since 1921. The county has 252 more horses and mules now than it had then, records show.

There was a loss of more than 400 in 1930, but the loss was regained the following year and the number is greater now than ever before.

COW MOTHERS LAMBS
TUCUMCARI, N. M., Sept. 2 (AP)—A cow owned by Juan Romero is mothering four lambs in addition to her own offspring.
