SESSION IS LIKELY TO EXTEND TO THIRTY DAYS

AUSTIN, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Texas legislature made definite progress today toward relieving the taxpayers in counties which bonded themselves to help build state highways.

A bill by Senator W. R. Poage of Waco, designed to bring this about, was given a favorable report by the senate committee on highways and motor traffic.

While the governor did not expect the session to last more than two weeks, the legislature has asked him to submit the question of reductions in salaries of state employees, and that, if submitted, likely would prolong the session to its maximum of thirty days.

The legislators finally agreed to (See RELIEF BILL, Page 8)

SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

WALL STREET IS OPTIMISTIC

Rosy Rumors Are That Stock Business Will Improve After Labor Day.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Optimism ran high in the financial markets today, and after seeing stocks move to new average peaks for the year Wall street shut up shop until next Tuesday morning.

It was a busy morning on the New York stock exchange, the street was in a decidedly bullish mood and even though many traders were wary for an extended week the session was one of the year's most active.

Extreme advances were somewhat reduced by late profit-taking, but the market closed strongly and the composite kept by Standard Statistics company, embracing 90 representative issues finished at $72, a new 1932 high and a level that represented recovery of about half the ground lost between price levels existing a year ago and the bear market lows of June.

Steel and utility stocks were leaders, although the entire market was strong. Continued strength of cotton, which had net gains of 70 to 85 cents a bale, a rise of 3/4 to 1 1/4 cents a bushel in wheat and a quiet advance in bonds were other contributions to the day's record.

TAX OPINIONS EMPHASIZED

Roosevelt Favors Reduction Of Farmers' and Little Fellows' Taxes.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 3 (AP)—The relief of farmers, particularly those affecting the farmer, the small home owner and the railroad, was emphasized by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight in a presidential campaign address before Connecticut democrats.

Declaring there is need everywhere for a "concentrated attention upon local government," the democratic nominee for president asserted there should be a nationwide effort to effect substantial tax relief.

"The relieving of this is our first responsibility in restoring his economic well-being," the nominee said. "The fundamental way, this problem is the source of much of our present distress. The mortgages on our farms and the foreclosures thereon burden our banks, which strains the entire credit structure of the country."

MAN QUIZZED IN LINDBERGH BABY'S DEATH

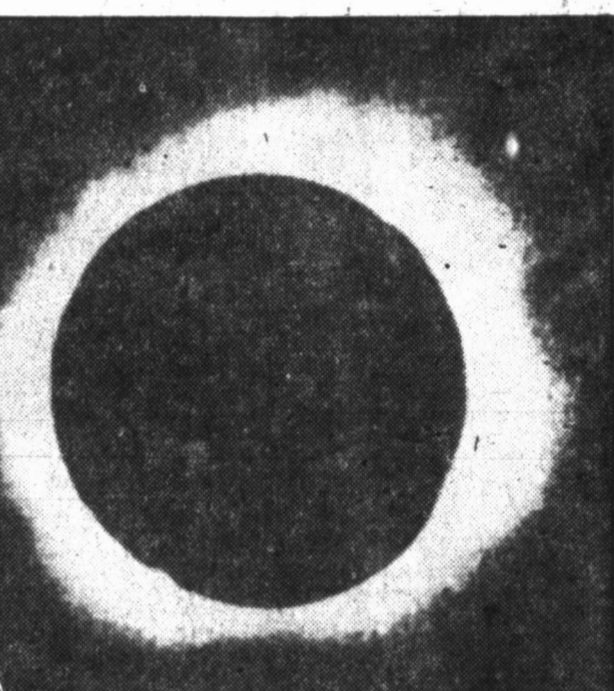

Justice Department Will Continue Questioning

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP)—Sheriff Ira McCloskey of Clearfield county tonight announced a man describing himself as Garrett Schenck, Hopewell, N. J., fish merchant, is being quizzed in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case.

McCloskey said he and other officers found Schenck this afternoon in an abandoned farm house four miles from Somerset. The sheriff detained two of three men who kept guard over Schenck also were being quizzed.

McCloskey stated Schenck was taken from his fish wagon in Hopewell 76 days ago by a private investigator of Johnstown, Pa. The latter's own initiative, and brought to a mountain cabin near Dubois.

A prominent local man, not given to exaggeration, reported yesterday that there were fully 2,000 persons at the revival one night during the last week.

BRIDGE SPANS COLLAPSE: 15 WASHED AWAY

FLOOD REACHES CREST

CITIES ON RIO GRANDE RIVER DEVASTATED BY HIGH WATER

LAREDO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Between 10 and 15 persons were missing tonight as a result of the collapse of two spans of the international railroad bridge here during one of the greatest floods in the history of the Rio Grande in the history of Laredo.

Persons who saw the great bridge buckle and disappear beneath the pounding water said a woman was in the group of 15 to 20 people who had been standing on the structure and who were thrown struggling into the flood.

Attempts were made to shoot lines to the men with bows and arrows and to send a boat down stream attached to a rope. Inflated inner tubes of automobile tires were cast into the stream, and it was believed they reached the trio on the drift.

When official returns from 184 counties, out of 254, were tabulated, Mrs. Ferguson showed a gross gain of 1,007 votes, which, added to her unofficial majority, boosted her lead above 3,000.

In most counties, the official returns differed only slightly from the unofficial figures. In Gregg county, however, Mrs. Ferguson gained 620 votes. In Montgomery county, Sterling gained 287 votes.

REGRETTABLE AS WAS THE DEATH of Harry Dunlap, the Pampa Boy Scout killed in a mysterious fall from a truck, the accident should not be interpreted in a way derogatory to the program of Scouting.

Ordinarily, a boy in Scout work is safer than in most other activities. Isolated exceptions are inevitable and only prove the rule that the Boy Scout movement is very much worthwhile.

These facts do not lessen our sympathy for the parents of Scout Dunlap. He was budding into the flower of youth, and the way ahead was full of promise.

The Special Session. It has been the history of special sessions at Austin that enough subjects were debated to occupy a regular session.

The reason for this situation is not hard to see. There are always problems which need solving. The regular sessions are provided for the purpose of considering them.

It is unfortunate that the bitterness of the recent gubernatorial campaign was inherited by the special session.

It will occur to many that the democratic fight over the nomination for governor is not yet within the scope of the legislature.

Welcome, Teachers. Silent campuses will be alive with youngsters tomorrow. Life is just a little brighter, one's outlook a bit younger, with the younger generation back in school.

Education must continue. It is something which cannot be hoarded. It is worthless unless used. It takes time to enrich young minds, to build mature judgment without dulling interest, to educate for citizenship.

So we welcome the opening of school, the return of the teachers, the toning of public thinking with the enthusiasm of youth.

School's opening, footballs are flying, cooler weather is approaching—let's throw off the lethargy of summer and enjoy active life for the benefit of ourselves and our neighbors!

AN EXAMPLE FOR MARATHONERS. Seven New Jersey youngsters have just tried basking in fame and found they didn't think much of it.

The seven were Johnny Donito, aged 13, and six of his friends who undertook to prove that Johnny's self-made coaster wagon was just as durable as any handsome, highly varnished coaster bought at a store.

At first it was a lot of fun. Presently—just as in a regular marathon—the boys became tired. It occurred to Johnny Donito that, even if his coaster did set a record, by the time he had won the wagon would be badly used up, maybe worn out.

Most of the seven were 13 years old or younger, but they have set an example their elders would do well to follow. The hundreds of adults all over the country quick to adopt each new whim of the exhibitionist—

ABOUT NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES. NEW YORK—The most exhilarating experience of the year in New York is feeling the first touch of autumn in the air.

Always there comes a day in August, following upon a spell of insufferable heat, when the suggestion of fall is unmistakable. That fine, brisk quality in the air revivifies a wilted populace.

This year are added to the usual autumnal promises the faint bellow of the bulls wending their uncertain way back to the stock market and the thrill of the most interesting political race in many a year.

New York is a fall town—a winter town. Spring brings only the yearning to be away from it. The approach of autumn makes one feel glad and fortunate to be here.

Carroll's Crow. Earl Carroll drew a grumble out of Broadway's idle when he explained his whole importation of foreign talent for the new "Vanities."

"American playgoers, and especially those of New York, have become quite familiar with the work of every recognized American comedian now before the public.

The local gang insists there's plenty of American talent going begging which never has had the chance to stand a test. They argue that Carroll's English "names" don't mean much to American audiences, anyway.

When you stop to think that Gus Edwards pulled out of the mountain of raw American talent such names as Lillian Lorraine, Rose Ponselle, Mitzi Mayfair Jessel, Jackie Cooper, Lila Lee and a couple of dozen others, it may appear that it would pay our other managers to do more scouting at home, they say.

Cooper's Fiery Love. The first great love of Courtney Ryley Cooper's life was the fire eating lady with the old Cook and Barrett show. He was about 16, she was 45. Cooper's rival was the tattooed man and, to complicate matters, the boy was his assistant.

A star tattooed on his arm is the author's constant reminder of that romance and his first experience with a circus.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—It was a grim and determined group of business and industrial leaders who gathered in Washington to attend President Hoover's national economic conference.

In that new and magnificent room in the department of commerce building where they drafted a program looking to the stimulation of business activity and employment, an atmosphere of seriousness seemed to prevail at all times.

Doors were even locked at one time, adding to that general effect. Newsmen were told beforehand that they could take their choice—enter and stay until the doors were unlocked or remain outside.

Serious Business. Little humor showed itself in the remarks of the various speakers. There was just no place for it. The job before them was too serious, too tremendous for any attempt at levity.

That is, until that lanky and friendly New Yorker—Owen D. Young—arose to speak.

Young had been telling the conference that the prime purpose of the coordinated drive of business and government was to make more jobs. He also had been deploring and warning against pessimism so general among the American people toward the economic ills of their country.

He Tells A Story. In the midst of his talk, a twinkle appeared in his eyes.

"I can no better illustrate what I mean," he said, "than to tell you a story I heard recently.

"A man hard hit by business reverses met a friend of his one day and began to bemoan his plight, me so."

"I am so badly in debt," he said. "My debts worry me."

"Come, come," said the friend. "Cheer up. It does not pay to be so depressed. Just imagine what you could do if you had all the money in the world."

"But my debts," he moaned. "My debts. They are worrying me to death."

"Now, now," the friend repeated. Tell me, just what would you do if you had all the money in the world?"

REVIEWS and NEWS OF CURRENT BOOKS

"I LIKE THE DEPRESSION," by Henry Ansley. Published by the Bobbs-Merrill company. 128 pp. $1.00.

"A reviewer must never handle a book for his own education; if he isn't acquainted with some particular subject, have some other reviewer handle the book."

There is nothing new set forth in this book; there is nothing considered that we've never thought of before, BUT virtually every word of the little dissertation puts down in black and white some realization which we've all been wanting to say, but couldn't.

After recommending the book very highly for entertainment, and adding that it also has lots of everyday philosophy and "horse sense" behind every courageous conviction, I'll have to admit that as a review, this is being very poorly handled. I was too well acquainted with, and thought too much of, the author to be considering points of rhetoric and construction.

The author was frank—honestly American—genuine. His book is all of these, besides containing a message that is timely, inspiring, and above all readable. Henry Ansley opens a vista that is tremendous in his homespun way. He has made his contribution to contemporary civilization; he has passed on, but his message will remain. It has the power to change many a life from winter to spring—a most opportune book for these times.

"TWO SOLDIERS AND A LADY," by H. S. Reid. Published by Dutton and company. 288 pp. $3.50. It is not unusual for some book companies to publish five or six consecutive "flops"; Dutton & company, however, does an unusual thing if it publishes a book that falls completely. In this book, Dutton and Company have done the "unusual."

The book may not be a failure, but it most assuredly won't be popular generally. For students of 17th Century history, the publication is a boon; for it isn't quite as dry as a history text-book, and the few historical lines along which it goes are nicely dramatized. One more thing may be said in favor of the book; its characterization is above the average. For a book, however, whose main claim to fame is the study of characters, it isn't outstanding.

The publisher, in my estimation, made a bad guess, but they at least deserve the space for a jacket review. This is what THEY say about their book, so kindly don't credit your editor.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD—Vivienne Osborne stepped out of a dream—a dream sequence, I might explain—the other day and before the director called her back to work under a blond had come back to Hollywood so soon after leaving the town cold.

Fittingly for a dream sequence, Vivienne looked like one herself, her brown hair under a blond wig and her brown eyes misty with excitement, as they were supposed to be, for the scene she had just done was her "great triumph" as a concert singer under the baton of Maestro Leo Carillo.

The triumph is all the dream of Carillo, who is second fiddle in a cabaret orchestra where Vivienne is an entertainer, but it makes a nice scene, anyway.

Vivienne Osborne came from the stage in May of last year under contract to Paramount, and after one or two pictures was loaned to Warner Bros., where she had roles in "The Famous Ferguson Case" and in "Two Seconds."

Parts Didn't Suit. In the latter film she played the part of a woman who led to the downfall of Edward G. Robinson, a totally unsympathetic character. And then she left Hollywood.

"It was the kind of parts I was getting. I like variety, I've played everything on the stage from blank verse tragedy to farce comedy, but it didn't seem to matter out here. One hussy, between two other sympathetic characters, would have been fine. But it looked as if I'd be a screen she-devil permanently if I stayed, so I went back to my farm in Connecticut and prepared to go back to the stage."

Back To Hollywood. One week later she was on a plane bound for Hollywood again; Joseph I. Schnitzer, now producing independently for Radio release, had wired her an offer of this part in "Second Fiddle."

"I start out well enough," says Vivienne, "and even if I do end up as usual, I'm a human character, and the part gives me a chance to show versatility."

"As long as I can get parts like that, or more varied, I'm going to stay here; otherwise I'll be going east again, or prove on the stage that I can act more than one kind of role. Producers usually won't believe that until they've seen for themselves."

Considering she has been on the stage, in stock, since she was 5 years old, she probably knows what she can do. Her roles have ranged, indeed, from the island girl of "Aloma of the South Seas" to the cultured court lady of "The Three Musketeers."

Club Boys Will Resume Meetings

With the opening of schools of Gray county, the club boys directed by Ralph Thomas, county agent, will resume their meetings.

The boys will have a big part in the county's competition at the Tri-State fair. Last year they won most of the prizes in cotton and corn. South plains grain sorghums have been taking most of the honors. The boys will give special attention in the fall to poultry culling and feeding.

Several of the lads will attend the state fair as a result of doing the best club work.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE. (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington.)

The democratic drive in the west to be marked by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's September swing, puts a good deal of emphasis on the purely mathematical aspects of the electoral college.

Those who discuss politics at the corner grocery store—and in many other places—seem a little uncertain, in view of the reapportionment of 1932, whether there is any prospect that the democrats can win by carrying the south and most of the west, and losing all or nearly all the east.

The answer is that such an outcome would be entirely possible, so far as the figures are concerned. But it is equally true that such an outcome would be very unusual and the possibility is being discussed now only because these are unusual times.

The change in apportionment in the electoral college, based on the 1930 census, has not greatly altered the sectional balance since the unusual case of 1916, when Wilson lost all the east except two of the smaller states and on top of that lost nine other states in the mid-west, northwest, far west and border groups, and still was elected over Hughes.

1916 Election A Classic. It is worth recalling just what happened in 1916, both because that election has become a classic, and because the democratic movement is so much of their energy now in the same sections where they won 16 years ago.

In that year the democratic ticket lost one border state, West Virginia. Starting west from the Pennsylvania-Ohio line, it lost Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa and Oregon. From the Pennsylvania-Ohio line east, it lost everything except Maryland and New Hampshire. Yet, with a combination of southern and western strength, Wilson had 277 electoral votes, and Hughes only 254.

Comparing the 1916 electoral allotment with that of 1932, the old southern states suffer a net loss of two votes; the border states suffer a net loss of six votes; the northern states, from Ohio west, show a net gain of seven votes; and the east, beginning with Pennsylvania, shows a net gain of one vote.

These changes are not large enough to make much difference.

Tradition Broken. The other side of the picture—which certainly cannot be disregarded—is that 1916 was completely out of accord with the well-established lessons of experience.

Until that time it had come to be almost an axiom that no democrat even could be elected without carrying New York. Even though he did carry it in 1876, Tilden lost the Presidency.

There is no intention here to draw conclusions as to what will happen in 1932. The Democratic claims at this juncture include several eastern states.

But it is timely to observe that those democratic leaders who favor concentration on the west and south, and neglect of the east, are playing for the chance that tradition again will be broken—a long chance—but not necessarily an impossible one.

Bank Kept Open In Unique Way At Levelland

LEVELLAND, Sept. 3. (AP)—How the mayor of Levelland declared a three-day holiday for a weed-cutting campaign, while the citizens of the town drummed up business to keep their bank from closing was told in a recent story in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

The crisis, during which every business house in the town closed for three days, has been passed almost a year now, the bank is in good condition and deposits are growing steadily, so the story has been made public for the first time.

About the middle of last September, John Doyle, president of the First National bank, realized that his bank had been the victim of a quiet "run" for several days, the story said. Deposits had dropped the month of August and cash was getting low.

Doyle is reported to have called in his business associates and explained the crisis that faced them. When they agreed to work with him to save the community's only banking institution, he called on the mayor to issue a proclamation closing business for three days. During that time the business men circulated an agreement which was signed by every depositor, each signer pledging himself not to withdraw more than five per cent of his balance any one day for 30 days.

When the bank opened on the fourth day deposits had climbed more than $22,000. They are $30,000 larger now than they were one year ago.

Doyle gives the credit for saving his bank to the weed-cutting proclamation and the subsequent holiday during which few weeds were cut but many were trampled by workers seeking cash for the bank.

$30 Bounty Finishes Wolves. BRADY.—A $50 bounty on wolf scalps offered by the McCulloch county Wolf club has finally driven the animals out of the region. Not a scalp has been brought in for more than a year, although nearly 700 have been "cashed" in since 1922. Blockmen estimate this investment saved $700,000 worth of livestock.

GOD'S CALL IS SUBJECT USED BY EVANGELIST

CRIMM'S SERMON ON FRIDAY HEARD BY 1,500

Evangelist B. B. Crimm's sermon on "God's Call of Redemption" Sunday evening was heard by a crowd of 1,500 persons, and the choir which sang 100 verses, was filled.

Mr. Crimm is conducting services each evening in the tabernacle on W. Kingsmill.

The group of young people at the 7 o'clock service also was increased, there being 67 in attendance.

"The Master is here and calling for thee," a passage of scripture which reads: "I am the vine, ye are the branches; he that abideth in me, and I in him, he that bringeth forth much fruit to the glory of the Father; he that abideth not in me, he that gathereth not to himself, he that bringeth forth nothing; he that gathereth not to himself, he that gathereth nothing."

"A sinner is dead in his trespasses and sin and has no power to come to God unless quickened by God's Spirit. Many in the churches are dead, having never experienced the regenerating work and power of God's Spirit. They do good works, say prayers, give money, but this does not mean conversion. Churches have prospered miserably because of their greed in counting numbers, and are largely responsible for the present condition. God is under obligation to call every person to repentance, and after calling once he has met his responsibility. There is such a thing as sinning away one's day of grace.

The evangelist appealed to those present to bear the Spirit's first call and pointed out danger and folly in delay.

Stewardship was the subject discussed Saturday night.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock Mr. Crimm will speak on "The Coming of Christ and this evening at 8 o'clock his subject will be "Pampano Sold to the Devil."

Prairie Chicken Season Closes At Dusk Tonight

The prairie chicken season closes at dusk tonight after four days. Local hunters have been "on the go" since sunup Thursday morning and many report success. Hemphill county seemed to be the most popular hunting ground.

C. W. Turrell and Ernest Thompson, members of the Texas Railroad commission passed through here yesterday to hunt in Hemphill county.

T. D. Hobart, Clyde Fatherson and Lynn Boyd hunted on the Hobart ranch on the Washita and brought in 20 chickens. Mr. Boyd pulled the prize shot of the day when he brought two chickens with one shot at a distance of more than 100 feet. Mr. Boyd drew a head on a chicken which rose up ahead of him and as he fired another crossed in front of his sight. Both dropped dead without flutter.

Other hunters also reported several unusual experiences.

Japan To Take Over Manchuria September 15

TOKYO, Sept. 3.—Japan will undertake the internal and external defense of the new Manchurian state, Manchukuo under the terms of a basic treaty to be signed between the two governments before Sept. 15.

This was revealed today by the foreign office, "which announced there were no secret clauses" in the document. The pact will give Japan right to station troops throughout the new state and a military convention will be signed later covering that phase of relations.

The agreement will provide a definite alliance between the governments and a guarantee of mutual respect for territorial sovereignty. It will be submitted to the principal foreign powers in advance.

As soon as the treaty has been signed, Manchukuo will automatically obtain Japanese recognition and Gen. Nohyoshi Muto, who has been designated to affix Japan's signature, will become ambassador with full powers. General Muto now is in Mukden.

The treaty probably will be submitted to the Japanese privy council next week and approved by the emperor before General Muto proceeds to Changchun, the Manchukuo capital, for the formal ceremony of signing.

Southwest Conference To Start Drilling For Grid Wars Sept. 10

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

The curtain on Southwest Conference football practice will go up September 10 when seven conference members start preparations for the fall campaign.

An examination of the coaching list reveals that all the head mentors of last season will be in command again this fall.

Fred C. Thomson is ready to start his fourth year at the University of Arkansas where he will have J. L. Erwin, a tackle, as his captain. Thomson expects a squad of thirty-five men.

Clyde Littlefield, who has served 12 years as coach of athletics at the University of Texas, is ready to begin his sixth season as coach of the Orange and white football aggregation. Clyde will start practice with an estimated squad of sixty-five. Ernie Koy and Wilson Cook will be his co-captains.

Going to Texas Christian university in the fall of 1929, Coach Francis Schmidt is ready for another arduous year. He expects a squad of forty hokies when he signals for practice to start. It will be Jennings seventh year as director of football at Baylor.

Leaving Texas Christian and going to Texas A. & M. on September 1, 1929, Coach Matty Bell of the Aggies has summoned forty-five players for initial practice. Jimmy Arton of Farmersville will be Bell's quarterback and captain.

Jack Meagher and his Notre Dame system have been at Rice for three years and are ready to start the fourth. Meagher has invited forty-two candidates to learn his football system. Tom Dineen, a hard driving fullback, will be captain of "The Owls."

It was in 1923 that Ray Morrison signed to coach at Southern Methodist, and this fall will find him still on the job with the red and white. The Mustang squad will have approximately fifty candidates. Howard Sprague, a giant half back, has been elected S. M. U. captain.

Steps for economy in connection with football organizations, have been taken at Rice and reduced the coaching staff by two men. A. & M. will have one less freshman coach. The University of Texas economy program calls for a reduction in buying equipment, furnishing transportation as cheaply as possible and not making any new improvements this fall.

The same policies of last year will prevail at Baylor, Texas Christian, Arkansas and Southern Methodist.

For coaches, players and fans, September 10 will be a red and white day for the third of boot against the ball will be heard again.

Gar Wood Winner Harmsworth Race

DETROIT, Sept. 3.—The jinx that for more than a decade has dogged every foreign quest for the Harmsworth trophy settled on the White Hull of Miss England III today and snatched away what seemed to be an almost certain victory in the first heat of that speedboat classic. The veteran, Gar Wood, who had trailed as much as a mile and a half most of the way, came from behind and coasted to an easy victory.

For more than 25 miles of the 76-mile course, Kay Don, the British speed king, had led Wood, driving his Miss America "X" over the salt-swept and choppy course in Lake St. Clair. Then something happened. Don's speed suddenly dropped from 79.20 statute miles an hour to the fourth lap to 49.661 miles an hour in the final circling of the course.

Wood, meanwhile, had stepped up his speed in the fourth lap, overtook the British Challenger in the fifth and final lap and won. Thrilled down to 73.57 miles an hour, Miss England III finished nearly three minutes behind the Defender.

Don, after the race, explained that his hydroplane began slipping huge quantities of water, that one of her two 12-cylinder motors went out of commission and that carburetor trouble developed.

Wood said: "We ran the race just as we planned. It went off just as we figured."

Wrestling Card Is Not Yet Arranged

Wednesday's wrestling card has not been arranged. Two men are expected to demand matches here, and Rob Roy has been named the man to take the choice of promoters. Jack Purdin of Florida is demanding a return bout, while George "Whiskers" Ligisky also is wanting a crack at the Pampa flash.

Roy defeated Purdin here last week, but the Florida Hurricane claims that he was "siped" out of the decision. He claims that Roy fanned him before he got through the ropes and that his shoulders were not on the mat when Referee James Getcher patted Roy's back. Purdin started a fight after the decision and Dutch Mantell had to rettle the argument.

Roy says he is ready for all comers and the fans agree with him. He is the sensation of the season since his return from the Pacific coast. He has won his last 26 matches.

W. M. Lewright and B. L. Parker represented the plaintiff, and Willis Luder and Studer, the defendants. Mr. Parker made his maiden speech before a district court jury in the case.

CLEM CALHOUN HERE
 Clem Calhoun, Amarillo attorney was here Friday, and was said to have been retained to defend the men held in the robbing and kidnapping of Danciger refinery employees recently.

Mrs. T. D. Bertrand of White Deer shopped here yesterday.

J. S. McLaughlin of Miami was in the city Saturday.

Residents Used Most Water of Year in August

City water users increased their demands in August to the largest totals of the season and attained a daily average of 1,092,419 gallons. The total for the month pumped was 32,935,009 gallons.

The city uses much water on its lawns and the park, and also has a list of churches and benevolent organizations which receive free water. There were 1084 water connections yesterday. Nearly every house on the north side of the Santa Fe tracks is connected. Houses have been in keen demand since mid-summer.

F. E. Townsend, making a careful check of sewer connections, has found 108 not recorded for billing.

During last month the city police department made 143 arrests, including 20 for vagrancy, 42 for intoxication, 2 for assault, 15 for disturbance on the peace, 16 for speeding, 20 for other traffic offenses, and 17 for investigation.

Nine police court cases were disposed of. Fines assessed totaled $1216.50, and of this amount $696.50 was collected in cash. Prisoners worked a total of 33 days on streets, 23 in cleaning the floors, and served 79½ days in jail. They were served 286 meals.

In the health department, the records show 10 dairy inspections, 5 dairy farm inspections, 17 restaurant inspections, 21 meat market and slaughter house inspections, 42 inspection of private premises, 7 milk analyses, 5 food analyses, 6 water analyses, 3 t. b. tests, and 21 meat sample tests.

Interesting Recipes for Canning Are Offered by Miss Ruby Adams, Home Demonstration Agent

CLUB MEMBERS PREPARING FOR WINTER DAYS

"LIVE AT HOME" STILL IS POLICY OF WOMEN

"Live at home," the policy employed by members of Gray county home demonstration club women last year insured many bounteous meals during the winter, and indications are that the women plan to repeat the plan this year.

Canning demonstrations are given by Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent, at well-attended meetings, and the women themselves are offering many practical suggestions.

Following are two recipes offered by Miss Adams which are proving popular:

Green Tomato Mince-meat

1 peck green tomatoes, 3 pounds of brown sugar, 2 pounds raisins, 1 pound suet, or cocoanut, 2 table-spoons salt, 1-2 cup water, 2 tea-spoonsful ground cinnamon, 1 tea-spoonsful ground cloves, 2 tea-spoonsful nutmeg, 3 cupfuls chopped apples (if desired), 3 lemons, thinly sliced after yellow is grated off).

Chop or slice tomatoes thinly, or put them through a food chopper. Sprinkle salt over them and allow to stand for an hour. Drain well, cover with cold water, and place over the fire and boil for 5 minutes. Drain off all the liquid by pressing the tomatoes as dry as possible. Add the suet or cocoanut and the 1-2 cup water. Return to the fire and simmer for 30 minutes. Stir in the sugar and boil until dissolved; then add spices and boil rapidly for about 20 minutes or until thick. Pack hot and process (25 minutes until boiling water). One pint mince meat or enough for one large pie can be made 2 quarts of tomatoes.

Okra and Tomato Gumbo

4 tablespoons butter or bacon dripping, 1 pint chopped onions, 2 quarts fresh tomatoes (cut in quarters), 1 quart okra (sliced), 4 teaspoons salt or to taste, 2 pepper pods with out seeds, 3 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 bay leaf (crushed).

Heat the fat, brown lightly the onions and okra. Add the bay leaf, parsley, chopped tomatoes and pepper pods. Allow this mixture to steam in a covered pan for five minutes. While hot fill No. 2 sterilized cans to within 1-2 inch of the top. Seal and process at 10 pounds pressure for 50 minutes. Clean and label cans before storing.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Will Be Observed By Royal Neighbors When Program Is Held Tuesday Evening

Prairie Camp No. 4917, Royal Neighbors of America, will have a program commemorating its 25th anniversary Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the basement of the First Baptist church.

An important feature of the evening will be the initiation of a class of 25 new members into the organization. Special recognition will be given members of long standing, and three women, Mrs. Nels Waldberg, Mrs. Ellen Chapman, and Mrs. C. T. Mullen, will be presented 25-year emblems, each member having belonged to the organization 25 years.

The members of the degree staff have been practicing and are prepared to demonstrate the ritualistic work in an impressive way, with Mrs. Ida M. Anderson, orator, presiding.

Mrs. Emma J. Brannon of Denison, district deputy, who has been in Pampa securing the class of new members, will be present to assist with the work. Legion Auxiliary Members Increase

The American Legion auxiliary will go into its national convention at Portland, Oregon, next month with more than 400,000 members enrolled. Mrs. Al Lawson president of the Pampa unit of the auxiliary, is announced.

When the national membership books were closed for the convention a total of 401,977 members had paid dues for 1932, within 2,500 of the total enrolled on the same date last year.

Twenty-three of the auxiliary's 32 departments already have made membership gains over their entire 1931 enrollments, and of these eight have exceeded their 1932 membership quotas.

"The maintenance of the auxiliary's membership within a few thousand of its high record during this year when heavy losses have been suffered by many organizations is a remarkable achievement," Mrs. Lawson said. "It demonstrates forcefully that the opportunities for patriotic service offered by the auxiliary have strong appeal to the women of America."

Claude Williams, McLean attorney, was here on business Saturday.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES OF 1932 PLAN AUTUMN LIFE ON CAMPUS AS NEW EXPERIENCE

OTHERS LOOK FORWARD WITH MUCH INTEREST TO RENEWING COLLEGE ACQUAINTANCES; MANY ARE TO LEAVE PAMPA NEXT WEEK

College days are just ahead and with them will come the long-to-be-remembered thrills of college clothes, sports, new friendships, and even "exams." Many 1932 high school graduates are looking to college attendance as a new experience, and students are eager to renew the life on the campus which they left in June for a period of rest.

Miss Eloise Lane, because of her outstanding scholarship, character, personality, and usefulness before she was graduated at Pampa high school with the class of '32, was awarded a college scholarship by the Pampa branch of the American association of University Women.

Since that time she has moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lane, to Belton, where she will attend Baylor college. She will continue her study of music in addition to her literary work.

Miss Florence Cooley, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. O. Cooley, has not made definite plans regarding college attendance, but she is considering a course of study at Wayland college, Plainview.

Miss Ethel Simpson will be a pre-medical student in the University of Oklahoma. Last year she looked over work at West Texas Teachers college and has been employed at Pampa hospital during the summer.

Donald Zimmerman will not attend college the first semester, but will attend the University of Oklahoma during the second semester.

Delbert Larch, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Larch, will attend the University of Oklahoma.

Local Teachers Will Be Guests

All public school teachers of Pampa and the wives and husbands of those who are married are invited to attend a party Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Christian church. SAN SABA, Sept. 3(P)—A dynamic explosion today killed John Edwards, prominent rancher, and seriously injured Bill Rousell, his brother-in-law, at the Edwards ranch 20 miles from San Saba.

DISLIKES TRANSFER RULE

The father of an Oklahoma youth is much disappointed that his son, a senior, will not be able to play football with the Harvesters because of the one-year transfer rule.

The family has moved here with an oil company and had no previous contact with the local school. Since this is the son's last year in his school, his football career is over unless he goes to college.

Friday night was quiet here, only a few drunks disturbing the peace and dignity of the city.

Meat Cutting and Terracing Popular

Ralph Thomas, county agent, believes that terracing and meat cutting will be two of the most popular activities next fall in Gray county.

Last year about 3,000 acres of land was terraced, mostly in the south and east parts of the county. About the same acreage will be terraced in the next few months.

Fifty beaves were prepared for canning last fall and winter. The results were so satisfactory that even more meat cutting is anticipated for the coming months.

Recent control will get the attention of the agent, who with J. M. Hill of the federal biological survey will make war on prairie dogs in November.

CHICKENS BAGGED

Three prairie chickens were bagged by John Studer and Dr. V. E. von Brunow on a hunting trip in Hemphill county Friday. The two hunters saw only five chickens until they were returning home. Then it was too dark to shoot them.

TEXAN TAKES TENNIS MATCH

English Star Plays in Shorts and Floppy Hat; Vines, Cochet Waiting.

By GAYLE TALBOT.
 Associated Press Sports Writer.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3. (AP)—The great Ellsworth Vines Jr., and the great Henri Cochet, tennis "Titans" of two continents, sat around in the shade today while 28 lesser lights were being polished off in the preliminary round of the 1932 national championships.

Neither did any player perform who threatens to break into what is supposed to be strictly a private feud between them or, if there were any of today's winners capable of upsetting Ellsworth and Henri, they didn't have to play that brand of tennis. It was rather dull going, the formality of reducing the field for the big stuff starting Monday.

Most of the excitement of today's round was supplied by Henry W. "Bunny" Austin, England's main hope, who burst into the stadium in flannel "shorts," and exploiting a floppy white and green hat.

Official Non-Committal.

Tournament officials withheld their comment, but there was much conjecture whether they would encourage Austin in his sartorial leanings if even he reached the semifinals or finals.

Cochet declared the ankle, injured slightly the other day at Seabright, is sound again and he will be in top shape for his first match Monday with Jake Hess of Texas.

Austin, shorts and all, joined six other seeded players in wading thru the opening round. Austin disposed of Cecil Metz a surprised young man from Memphis, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1. His teammate Ted Avory, defeated Fran Godtitz, Wilkesbarre, Pa., 6-2, 6-2.

Wilmier Allison of Austin, Texas, seeded next to Vines on the domestic list, eliminated Giles Verstraten, New York, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3.

Clifford Allison of Austin, seeded next to Vines on the domestic list, eliminated Giles Berstraten, New York, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3.

Chifford Sutter, intercollegiate champion, New Orleans, defeated Frank Flula, Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1; and Sidney Wood Jr., New York put out Arnold Jones, Providence, R. I., 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Takeo Kuwabara, champion of Japan, smashed David O'Loughlin, Pittsburgh, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

Frankie Parker, the 16-year old Milwaukee youngster, turned back Sadakazu, Onda, New York, 6-3, 7-5, 6-1.

OILERS SHUT OUT SCRIBES

Phillips Lays It On NEWS Men 9-0; Four Regulars Missing.

The Phillips playground ball team hopped on a crippled NEWS team at Phillips camp in the South Field Friday afternoon and won a 9 to 0 decision. The Pampa boys were without the services of four regulars and had to substitute restlessly.

Carter had errorless support and not a NEWS player got past second base and only three got that far. The papermen committed seven errors behind Hoare, who allowed the Phillips sluggers nine scattered hits.

Phillips scored three times in the first inning on two singles and three errors. One was added in the second and three more in the fourth. The final two runs were made in the sixth and were earned when Crites singled with two out and was followed by Carter, who was safe on a fluke hit.

The playing of Crites, Newsome, Mallow, and Romine was outstanding for Phillips. They took everything that came their way without a bobble. Carter was hit freely but his support was air tight. The NEWS boys apparently can't get used to hitting into ten men.

Bill Regsdale, on first base for The NEWS, was the outstanding player of the game. The little fellow took everything that came his way besides being the only member of his nine to get two hits and a walk for the first perfect day at bat since the season opened. The other NEWS hits were divided among Wagner, Sturgeon, Dillman, and Hoare.

Dillman and Wagner made some nice pegs to cut off runs at home.

Romine and Christian were the only Phillips players to get more than one hit, and Crites was the only player to score two runs.

Sturgeon and Gibson were opposing catchers and honors were about even.

LIONS BEATEN BY KIWANIS IN 5-7 GAME

OVER-CONFIDENT CLUB VICTIMS OF VOSS' HURLING

The unexpected happened at Magnolia park Friday afternoon when the Kiwanis club baseball team defeated the Lions club 7 to 5. Fresh from a win over the Rotary club, the roaring gentlemen entered the game confident of another win, but they failed to reckon on the superb hurling of Ernie Voss of the Kiwanians.

The former big leaguer had the Lions popping-up to the infield until several of his teammates had to leave the game with sore necks. His support made many errors, which accounted for the Lions runs.

Mayor Bill Bratton, formerly of the Sporth league, started in the box for the Lions but his arm, injured in the Lyons-Rotary game, gave way and he had to give his place to Harry Kelley, who acquitted himself with great credit. Three Kiwanians whiffed the come in a row in the fourth inning. Only three Lions fanned.

The hardest batters were in the Kiwanis razing squad of Dan McGrew, Edwin Vickers, Pete Post, and Paul LeBeuf, her hero. The Lions whooping squad was in charge of Hub Walker, with Henry Wilder, J. O. Gillham, and John Sturgeon assisting. Honors went to the Kiwanis boys because of their ability to carry a tune, especially about "Mayor Bill ain't what he used to be," etc.

Lions Score First

The real battle of the game appeared to be between Dr. R. A. Webb at third for the Lions and Frank Carter in the same position for the opposition. Harry Grove, Fred Thompson, and Howard Buckingham were the real ball players for the Kiwanians, while Roy Boulard, Art Teet and Walter Sill played heads-up ball for the Lions.

The Lions started off with four runs in the first inning and another in the third. The Kiwanians scored three in the first, two in the second and one in each of the fifth

TEN MORE BOYS WILL REPORT FOR GRID PRACTICE MONDAY

Umpires Wanted For Playground Ball Loop Clubs

WANTED: Umpires for the Pampa Playground ball league. With the exception of one or two men, no really competent umpires have been seen this season. Several games have been won and lost on umpires' decisions already, and it is the desire of the league officials to have competent officials.

It will be impossible to pay umpires, but if there are any men in the city who are anxious to promote the sport in Pampa, they are urged to turn their names into The NEWS' sports department.

The season will last until late in October. There are eight teams in the league and although the season has just opened, the teams are playing mid-season ball.

Umpires will be much safer in a playground ball game than in hard ball.

Pacific Coast conference football teams will play six night games this season.

Eddie Anderson, third son of Coach Frank Anderson, will play quarterback at Oglethorpe university this fall.

and sixth innings. Selby and Buckingham, with two runs each, led the Kiwanis batting attack. Grove, Dr. Johnson and Voss added the rest of the runs. Kelley, Hicks, Bratton, Besland, and Webb scored for the Lions.

Umpire Rayburn Burke was "in hot water" from the first ball thrown. It was impossible to please everyone and even the side-line coaches were butting in. George Eriggs named the Kiwanis club the "Mutual Admiration society" after the disaster.

A large crowd witnessed the game. Funds were divided between the crippled children's funds of the two clubs.

Some mighty fine baseball material was uncovered during the game. Teams planning to organize next year should get several signatures on the dotted line this fall.

Coach Mitchell Will Start Playing Men At Positions This Week.

At least 10 more candidates for positions on the Harvester football team will be out for practice tomorrow afternoon. Coach Odus Mitchell and Argus Fox said after the first day of enrollment at Pampa high school. That number of boys who registered yesterday indicated that they would ask for uniforms.

The addition will bring the number of candidates to 75 boys. More equipment has been ordered. Every suit on hand has been issued. Other boys eligible for football are expected to register the first three days of this week.

Coaches will start organizing their team sometime this week, it was learned yesterday. The boys have been working in any position they desired while coaches have been watching them to see what natural ability they have.

Coach Warren Moore arrived Friday afternoon and will take charge of the Gorillas, starting tomorrow afternoon. About one third of the boys out for practice will be shifted to the Gorilla squad during the week. Others will be sent to the junior squad for experience as practice advances.

The boys punted, passed, carried the ball, and scrimmaged Friday afternoon for more than two hours. Practice will be held tomorrow afternoon despite the fact that it is a holiday. As coach Mitchell says, "It will be labor day."

Few railbirds have expressed themselves on the team outlook in days. They are sitting back and wondering for the first time in several years. The boys are inexperienced, slow, and comparatively green and it will take some time before anything will be known as to who will compose the first string.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3. (AP)—Two dramatic ninth inning home runs by Jimmy Fox and Eric McNair today gave the Athletics a 4-3 victory and a clean sweep of the three games with the Boston Red Sox.

The rousing finish gave Lefty Grove the better of a pitching argument with Dusty Rhodes. Saving Grove from defeat, it gave him his 22nd triumph of the year against nine losses.

Fox hit two home runs, clubbing his first in the second inning. He is now only nine behind Babe Ruth's 1927 record.

DAHLIAS IN HESSEY YARD ARE FINE SPECIMEN THAT REQUIRED YEARS OF SELECTION, CULTURE

Double Petunias Are Attractive at Front

By ARCHER FULLINGIM The writer visited the residence of Supt. John E. Hessey and Mrs. Hessey on Mary Ellen street for the purpose of seeing the Hessey's dahlias, but he remained to look at other things.

It took Mr. Hessey several years to grow the dahlias that are now in bloom at his place. The first year the blooms were rather scrawny. On succeeding years they were larger and richer. This year, the blossoms would not be out of place in a California, Washington or Oregon yard—the states where dahlias thrive best.

First Mr. Hessey obtained good tubs, and then he put to use the knowledge he had learned in culture and soil preparation. A part of the Hessey flower garden is devoted exclusively to dahlias, and undoubtedly the judges in the recent annual and garden contest considered the beauty of the large orchid and white dahlias before they awarded it second place.

The garden at the rear of the house is well laid-out. There is a gold fish pond near the center. In the center of the pond is a white metal swan which some would like and others would not. In well-arranged patterns in the garden are petunias, phlox, pansies, zinnias, snapdragons, verbenas, paint brush, canterbury bells, periwinkles, callias, geraniums. There are three rose gardens, and a climbing rose on the back fence.

The front yard is properly devoted to a grass lawn, trees along the sidewalk, shrubs and flowers around the house. The garden walk is bordered with lilacs. Flowers around the house are the front and sides include petunias, phlox, pansies, etc.

Near the front entrance Mr. Hessey has a variety of double petunias that is particularly rich in color and frilled in texture.

on such things as the right political membership society and the proper way to handle money. The tendency is away from the formal disciplinary courses, such as Latin and algebra. When the depression has definitely passed, there will be a swing toward the arts and sciences, for these things bring us pleasure.

Mr. Wiggins said that in the schools he had observed that much emphasis was placed on physical education during the worst of the depression was placed on the arts. "And rightfully so," he said. "It looks as if the 5-day week and the shorter working day are just ahead, and it is necessary that we learn to make proper use of our leisure time. Education is a process of adjustment which takes place thru a series of adaptations, and it is the business of society to find out what the essential adaptations are."

"Democracy demands that secondary education must not suffer from the depression," said Dr. Wiggins. "If there must be a sacrifice, it should be in higher education."

Both men observed that much emphasis was placed on physical training. Both noted also more freedom in classroom discussion, a greater tendency to allow boys and girls to form their own opinions regardless of opinions of instructors.

"More and better schooling for less money is to be the slogan for this year in the Pampa schools," said Mr. Fisher. "A few more children will be placed in each room. School days will be longer, with rest periods more frequent. Teacher and school officials are ready to make sacrifices to uphold educational standards in Pampa."

Damage in Millions

An aged Mexican woman was known to have been drowned at Eagle Pass, further upstream, when the flood swept into her home. Whether other lives were lost as the river swirled over up-river territory was in doubt. An army plane flew over an area eight miles above and below Laredo and reported seeing no persons in trees or on other elevations above the water.

Damage from the flood was estimated at millions of dollars for the entire flood area. In Nuevo Laredo, where several blocks of adobe houses were inundated, losses were large. Bodies of sheep and cattle floating downstream indicated ranchmen suffered considerable loss.

The fact the water began rising during the day, enabling thousands of people to seek higher ground probably accounted for the small loss of life. Nevertheless, many rescues were reported from both sides of the river.

Highway Laredo was cut off from highway traffic, the flood extended only a block or two into the city from the international bridge. By cutting off traffic over a small stream inside the city, it threatened to make travel between the residential and business areas impossible.

Meanwhile, residents of lowlands in Hidalgo county, in the path of the flood, began evacuating their farms for fear the elaborate levee system might not hold the water. A relief station was established by the Hidalgo county Red Cross at the first floodway south of McAllen.

A bulletin issued by the weather bureau at Brownsville forecast that the Rio Grande would enter the floodways of Hidalgo county near Mission and Hidalgo by Monday night or Tuesday morning. In the same bulletin, the prediction was made that the river would reach the 35-foot stage at Rio Grande City by noon or afternoon Monday, a stage one foot higher than attained in the June, 1922, flood.

Another Bridge Threatened. Two army planes from Brooks field, San Antonio, arrived in Brownsville this afternoon and one continued to McAllen. On an observation flight, the planes reported that the river already had left its banks at the Los Ebanos, a Mexican ranch in the western end of Hidalgo county near Mission. They reported that the river was bankfull from Brownsville to a point above Mission.

At Roma, the international bridge was being bolstered with sand bags. The river was at the 27-foot stage around the field just above. No. 4 between Rio Grande City and Laredo was closed to traffic by the state highway department.

Italian Youth Is Stunt Sensation Of Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23 (AP)—An Italian youth with a smile as wholesome as Lindbergh's is the stunning sensation of the national air races.

He is Lieut. Andrea Zotti, whose stunts begin, end, or are wholly made up of maneuvers with his plane upside down.

In his native country, the 25-year-old lieutenant, who has been flying for only four years, is commander of the Escadrille Folle, a squadron that specializes in inverted aerial acrobatics.

Taking off in normal fashion, he soon turns the wheels towards the sky and, hauling head downward, waves to the air race spectators as he begins a series of wide circles around the field.

His skill makes the maneuver look simple but, in his own words, "the most difficult thing I do is to go around the field upside down."

Next hardest, he classed, is the inverted spin—one of the most dangerous maneuvers in aviation stunting.

"Hope that no more lives would be lost was raised by the fact the river appeared to have reached its crest. It remained at the 53-foot stage for about two hours, the highest stage ever attained here, then began receding slightly.

SYNOPSIS: Nan wears a dress which she took for her husband Jervis during the winter. She believes that today, for the second time, Jervis would have tried to murder her. Jervis laughs at the idea. She does not seem to know that as a child, ten years ago, she saved him from Leonard's first attempt, and she is afraid to tell him. F.F. is a man of color, and she is afraid to tell him.

the waiter's eye, saw something which attracted his attention. He gazed with frank interest at a table set against the wall on the far side of the room. Two people had just risen from it, a man and a woman. Mr. Francis gave his whole-hearted attention to the woman.

A BATTLE OF WITS

NAN said "Please tell me," and heard her voice hoarse and stammering. Ferdinand couldn't know—he couldn't know anything. And if he did—no, he couldn't—she couldn't face it—she couldn't, now, with Jervis looking at her. No, he wasn't looking at her, he was looking with a half-frowning tolerance at F.F. and F.F. was saying:

"Don't look so frightened—he got out of it all right, thanks to the pluckiest kid I've ever run across." He hung round on Jervis. "Did you ever find out who she was?"

Jervis said "No." Nan leaned forward with her elbows on the table and her chin in her cupped hands. The movement was purely instinctive. Her heart was beating and her lips trembling. She pressed hard with one of her fingers against the corner of her mouth.

"Well then, Mrs. Wear, you shall hear the story."

"It won't interest her," said Jervis.

"Oh, please tell me," Nan begged quite steadily. Her grey eyes were dark. They met F.F.'s dancing question-mark with a certain soft dignity.

He knew her—and he knew that Jervis didn't know.

She dropped her chin on her hand again, and waited for what he was going to do with his knowledge.

"You shall have the exclusive story," Jervis doesn't want to listen to it, he can't leave us. Now, let me see—(F.F.—ten—F.F.) be ten years ago. Yes, exactly ten, because it was August, and I'd gone down to Crofton—well, I can't remember just why I had gone down, but there I was, and being there, I went for a hike along the beach and he nearly as possible got out off by the tide."

"How many thousand words does this run to, F.F.?" said Jervis.

Ferdinand took no notice. He went dramatically on, retelling the story of Nan's rescue, and of his own part in it. Nan appeared to listen with all her faculties, her concentration a mass of hiding her nervousness. Her mind skipped away for a moment when it returned, F.F. was saying:

"The last wave broke clean over her head, and the return of it cut her wrist to the bone against the rock. I should say she'd a scar there she'd never lose. And all she said when I pulled her out was, 'Is he alive?' Extraordinary, what?"

"The scar was on Nan's left arm, these twelve below the elbow. She moved naturally as F.F.'s bright eyes swept her face. The movement took her back, turned her towards Jervis, dropped her hands into her lap, and did the small white scar against the cloudy grey of her frock. She caught a queer remembering look on Jervis' face."

"F.F. was speaking to him. 'Pity you never found out who she was.' The queer look deepened. 'Is it a pity? I—don't—know," he said slowly."

Nan heard her own voice with surprise. She had not meant to speak, but she heard herself say: "You would rather not know her, really?"

"As before, something passed between them—a curious flash of understanding. Then he said with a short laugh:

"Well, it would be rather difficult to live up to that sort of beginning—wouldn't it?"

She nodded slowly and gravely. "Now, that's just fear. You're afraid of meeting that plucky girl, not because you wouldn't know what to say to her, but because you'd know very well, and you'd be afraid of rushing into words which you'd never be able to think of again without blushing scarlet." He turned to Nan, his gazer head on one side, his eyes snapping. "Jervis is very romantic—but it's a secret vice—he considers it 'indelicate.'"

It was perhaps a minute later that Mr. Francis, looking round to catch

F.F.'s admiration rose to enthusiasm.

"Too marvelous!" he repeated. "Do you see her—over there against the wall?"

Jervis Wear had seen her twenty minutes ago. It was like Rosamund to be facing the music—he couldn't still admit that in her. She was with Robert Leonard. Was she facing the music? Or had she perhaps counted on meeting nobody who would know her? A bit of folly, that; for nowadays even anyone is not to be counted upon, since anyone may turn up from anywhere at any moment.

He smiled slightly as he glanced about the room. Already, as they came in, he had returned an interested bow from Mrs. Manning Temple. From where he was sitting he could see at least half a dozen people whom he knew—old James Mulroy, a very competent and industrious gossip; Janet Tetterley, his nearest neighbor and a far-away cousin on his mother's side; the Carters—Norie Carter, pop-eyed with interest; and Mrs. Melliker, with Enid who was to have been one of Rosamund's bridesmaids.

With a faintly sardonic gleam in his eye he turned from Enid to watch Rosamund. She spoke smilingly over her shoulder to Leonard and moved clear of the table. He looked away from her to Nan. She was sitting back in her chair, and he was watching Rosamund Carter. Jervis looked at her, and for the first time, really saw her.

It was as if Rosamund had flung him a challenge, and he must look to his weapon. From the first, Nan had been a weapon against Rosamund. Now, in this public place, there came the first encounter.

He looked to see how his weapon would serve him, and was faintly startled. She was sitting back in her chair. A pretty turn of the neck and a graceful pose—that was what he saw first. And, directly upon that, he received the strongest impression of youth. Rosamund and he were nearly of an age, Rosamund a few months the elder.

Nan, sitting there, with her eyes wide, her lips a little apart, and a flush on her cheeks, had the air of a child. Rosamund was a beautiful woman. Nan had freshness and grace, a direct gaze, a young round chin, and on occasion a dimple. Her hands lay in her lap. The direct gaze was fixed with interest and admiration on Rosamund, but the interest and admiration were alike tinged with something else. Jervis did not know what the something was. It drew her brows together and put a faintly distressed curve upon her mouth.

He looked where she was gazing, and saw Rosamund and Robert coming towards them. Something inside him laughed—a hard, angry laugh. The challenge was to be pressed. And how dramatically clever! It could be pressed into rudeness, it could be pressed into rudeness, it could be pressed into rudeness.

Rosamund arose on with Robert Leonard at her shoulder. Nan's lips parted wistfully, her heart sank. She was so very beautiful. Her hair went back in a smooth gold wave from her brow to the nape of her neck, where it broke into tiny curls that were caught in a dull gold slide. She moved as if she knew how beautiful she was; her eyes held the certainty of it.

She stopped at the empty side of the table, touched it with a hand that wore one big sapphire, and sent a faintly smiling look across it.

"Well, Jervis!" she said.
