PAMPA TOPIC OF OUR CITY By O.E.H.

The integrity of a national party is, as long as we have the party system of elections, quite as important as that of a firm or an individual. The democratic party is in debt and in the midst of a campaign which necessitates additional expenditures. That debt is to New York interests and should be paid this year. The old faithful have carried the party through defeat; now is an opportunity for millions to help a little toward victory.

Giving is easy. Just call at the office of Siler Faulkner, democratic county chairman, at the courthouse and buy a bronze medalion bearing the profiles of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John Nance Garner. The cost is just a dollar, but that dollar is a step toward taking the party out of debt and giving America a new deal.

You are asked to join the Shareholders in America, that national democratic campaign organization. The membership certificate, given with each medalion, bears the following words: "This certifies that (name) has contributed (blank) dollars and is a member of Shareholders in America—organized to reclaim the equity of the forgotten man in America—and pledged to work and vote for Franklin Roosevelt and John N. Garner as a means of restoring the fundamental principles of true democracy upon which this country in the past has prospered. Each member of Shareholders in America is entitled to receive one share of the Roosevelt—Garner Shareholders Medalion reproduced on each certificate."

In the above we call your attention to the significant words, "TO RECLAIM THE EQUITY OF THE FORGOTTEN MAN IN AMERICA." There are millions of forgotten men in the west. Wear a medalion, which has a pin-clip, on your coat or dress and show your loyalty to the democratic principles which are the real issues of the current national campaign.

School principals tell us that many Pampa children in their schools are dependent entirely upon the Welfare Board for the food at their homes, and that in many instances this is not as plentiful as growing children need. In the coming weeks, schools will make a survey and determine the physical needs of destitute children, some of whom must have milk to regain lost weight. Literally hundreds of children, as well as adults, must depend upon the public for food this winter. Many families have borrowed to their limit, sold as much of their belongings as possible, and must fiercer look to their neighbors for help until they can find work.

One of the finest things the Welfare Board has done is to help the widows with families to keep their homes together. For every one who is able to work, never be allowed to break up homes. Anyone with a spark of Christianity in his make-up, who has a job, must rally to the aid of neighbors in need. The swarms of darkest Africa do this—we cannot do less. We can share the work and make work even if we are not able to alter economic conditions of a national scope.

This is Fire Prevention week. It should not be just another week. Plans should be laid to give work to the unemployed in such a way that a really successful clean-up week could be held. In the past, clean-up have been successful in name only. There is no reason why Pampa should not be opened in every part in exchange for the groceries and other necessities which will be provided this winter.

I HEARD--

Chief of Police John V. Andrews says he held a sale of burros this morning at the pound and had to buy them in himself. He is going to give one of them to Traffic Officer Wayne Nicholson to ride while on duty during icy weather this winter.

Coach Odus Mitchell says that Lubbock has a real football squad this year and that the Sweetwater-Lubbock score was no indication of the team the Westerners will bring to Pampa Nov. 11 for a conference game. "The kids were just frightened," coach said.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy, colder, probably frost in north and extreme west portions; freezing in the Panhandle tonight; Tuesday generally fair.

EXEMPTION OF DANGIER OIL IS CANCELLED

PRODUCTION OF PANHANDLE REDUCED TO 45,000 BARRELS

YIELD OF ALL FIELDS CUT

LIMIT COMPANY WELLS TO OUTPUT SET BY COMMISSION

AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission today issued an order cancelling all exemptions to the proration allowable in the Panhandle field.

The order specifically limited production from wells of the Dancier Oil and Refining company to the allowable set by the railroad commission.

Since the start of proration in the Panhandle field the Dancier wells have been producing in excess of their allowable under a court agreement. Dancier was the first to attack state proration in the courts.

Wells that were offsetting the Dancier company producers also had been allowed to overproduce to protect their properties from drainage.

Other operators in the field had complained against Dancier being allowed to produce in excess of the allowable, while production from their wells was held within the proration schedules.

Production Slashed
AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission today issued orders reducing the daily production for the week ending October 1.

The new orders will be effective October 15.

Production in the East Texas field will be cut to 335,000 barrels daily from the present allowable of 375,000 barrels. The new per well allowable, effective October 15, in the East Texas field will be 40 barrels per well.

Under the new schedule the total allowable production of oil in all Texas fields will be 747,898. This will not include marginal well production, however. R. D. Parker, director of the commission's oil and gas division, stated. Average daily production for the week ending October 5 was 922,160 barrels, Parker reported.

Actual production and new allowables by fields were:

Field	Actual	New Allowable
Panhandle	55,000	45,000
Van	50,000	42,500
East Texas	57,000	46,000
East Texas	375,000	335,000
West Central	30,000	21,500

Tulsa Oil Man Flies to Pampa

A giant snow-white Lockheed-Vega monoplane brought Ben Worford, Tulsa oil man, to Pampa on business this morning. The ship settled at the local airport like a swan. Frank Hover, veteran pilot, was at the controls.

The ship was equipped with a 425 h. p. motor capable of making high speed. Mr. Worford expected to complete his business this afternoon and return to Tulsa tonight.

Many local citizens drove to the airport to see the ship, one of the latest put out by the Lockheed-Vega company from the Detroit shops. The top of the wing was painted a silver color which glistened in the sun as the ship banked.

Relief Drive to Be Business-like

The drive for funds to maintain the Welfare Board in operation will be staged on a business-like basis if the plans of Chairman Jack Cunningham are adopted.

He believes that if the solicitors know all the facts and are able to explain them clearly, the public will be glad to cooperate. The organization of civic club soliciting committees will take place Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

BALKS AT WIFE'S DRESS BILL

Clarence Budington Kelland thinks something ought to be done about merchants who let women run their husbands into debt. So the noted author, shown here with his wife, is resisting a suit brought against him by a firm of New York dressmakers who charge that he owes them $3,313 for clothes purchased by Mrs. Kelland. Kelland refuses to pay on the ground that the things his wife bought were not necessary beyond the $7,000 provision he made for her in the period covered by the dressmaker's bill.

COUNTY AGENT AND FOUR CLUB BOYS LEAVE TODAY FOR DALLAS FOR ANNUAL 4-H ENCAMPMENT

Trip Expenses Paid By Civic Clubs And B. C. D.

County Agent Ralph Thomas and four very happy 4-H club boys left early today for Dallas, where they will attend the state fair and attend the 4-H educational encampment for three days. They will return Friday.

The boys were Curtis Schaefer of Jericho, Horace Johnson of Alameda, J. H. Whitsett of LeFors, and Winifred Quales of southeast Gray county.

The boys' traveling expenses were paid by the Rotary club, Lions club, Kiwanis club, and Board of City Development. Their expenses at the encampment will be paid by the fair management. The boys were chosen because of the excellence of their club work.

Constable Shoots Man at Panhandle

City officers arrested four men on charges of drunkenness over the week-end. One paid his fine yesterday morning and was released, but the other three are in jail, "laying out" their $13.50 fines. Several arrests were also made for traffic violations.

The officers received word this morning to be on the look-out for a tall man wearing a leather coat and no hat. The man was wounded while tampering with an automobile in Panhandle last night. The Panhandle constable hit the man as he jumped into a car parked near the one where he was first seen, and blood was discovered after he fled.

Local physicians are asked to be on the look-out for the man and should he call at an office for medical treatment they are asked to call Chief of Police Jno. V. Andrews. Justice court records show a few arrests for vagrancy over the week-end, and one for drunkenness.

Mr. and Mrs. Ermen E. Smith of Amarillo spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. H. F. Barnhart.

SAMUEL INSULL DETAINED AT ATHENS BUT BECAUSE OF DEFECT IN PASSPORT PAPERS

Report Son Carried $75,000 To Father in Paris From United States.

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 10. (AP)—Police said Samuel Insull, former utilities magnate who is wanted in Chicago on charges of embezzlement and larceny, was detained today merely because his papers were not in order and that he must be released within 48 hours unless his arrest for extradition is authorized.

The first explanation of Mr. Insull's detention was that it had been requested by the American legation. Legation officials, however, said police acted solely on their own initiative.

It was explained police cannot hold any person more than 48 hours in connection with defective papers. In the meantime police took possession of Mr. Insull's passport in order to examine it. They may be authorized to arrest him pending an extradition application by American authorities.

CONVICT SAYS MEN 'FRAMED' SUICIDE TALE

TRUSTY CLAIMS GUARD GOT HIS HELP IN FIXING STORY

STATES ALIBI INVENTED

VICTIM BEATEN WITH A HEAVY RUBBER HOSE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 10. (AP)—Bob Blake, former head trusty at the Sunbeam prison camp, testified today that George Courson, one of two former prison camp officials for murder in the sweat box death of Arthur Mallefert entered his second week.

Meanwhile, Judge George Couper Gibbs, presiding, ordered suitable transportation available by noon to take members of the jury to the Sunbeam camp where Mallefert, a young New Jersey convict, was found strangled to death in stocks with a chain about his neck last June.

Blake also testified he had seen Courson beat Mallefert with a heavy rubber hose prior to the youth's death.

The witness said after Mallefert died, Courson asked him to obtain Mrs. Mallefert's address.

"I got it," declared Blake, "then Captain Courson told me: 'Bob, there's liable to be some trouble over this.'"

"Yes, Cap'n, it is a pretty tight spot," Blake said he replied. "He told me to go in and get him five or six witnesses who might be able to clear him at the trial."

"I did. After I went out I told Courson I thought he had a story that would hold water.

"I said Snyder is going to testify. At this juncture the defense raised a volley of objections against the jury hearing this portion of Blake's testimony.

The court ruled the testimony was admissible.

Blake then resumed, saying he told Courson that "Snyder is going to testify that if it comes to trial that Jersey (Mallefert) told him he was going to commit suicide that night."

Courson agreed. The witness said they "framed" it so Snyder was to tell how Jersey demonstrated in the box how he was going to commit suicide.

"Several others of us were going to corroborate it."

"Courson said 'all right, what am I supposed to say?'"

"I told him just to back up that story. He agreed."

"When the coroner came, he just looked at the body and said it was a plain case of suicide."

Courson beat Mallefert with a piece of hose such "as is used in coupling box cars," Blake said.

The day after the whipping, Blake declared "Courson told me to stay around the camp, that he might need me."

He said Courson left and returned with a barrel which was placed on Mallefert.

CONVICT WITNESSES FOR STATE BREAK JAIL; JURY WILL VISIT SCENE OF SWEAT-BOX DEATH

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 10. (AP)—Two state witnesses, long term convicts who staged a sensational escape yesterday, were hunted today as the trial of two former prison camp officials for murder in the sweat box death of Arthur Mallefert entered its second week.

FIVE MILLION FEET OF GAS FLOWING OIL

THIRD LARGE PRODUCER OF POOL COMPLETED THIS YEAR

ANOTHER IS NEAR WASH

WILLIAMS NO. 12 NEAR PAY AND HAS SHOW OF GAS

Gray county's biggest oil producer of this year was brought in by the Skelly Oil company yesterday on the Saunders lease southeast of LeFors.

The company's No. 6 Saunders, 330 feet each way from the south and east corner of section 4 block 1, ACH & B survey, made 5,622 barrels on an 21-hour test which ended at 9 o'clock this morning.

Pay was found at 2,657 feet in the granite wash formation, and the hole was bottomed at 2,695 feet. The well is flowing natural with 5,000,000 feet of gas. The oil is being taken by the Phillips Petroleum company.

The test may flow five days without being affected by proration.

The new producer is the third large well brought in this year in same pool. The Texas company got two good wells in adjoining sections.

The Texas company's No. 12 Williams in section 7, block 1, was drilling at 2,635 feet with a show of gas this morning. Pay was expected this afternoon.

Skelly also has its No. 7 Saunders in Section 4 drilling at 150 feet.

Despite a decreased allowable and a cut in the price of crude oil by the Phillips Petroleum company, several wells in the county are drilling near the pay.

AMERICAN ENGINEER HONORED AS SOVIET WONDER IS OPENED

By STANLEY RICHARDSON
Associated Press Correspondent
DNEIPROSTROY, U. S. S. R., Oct. 10. (AP)—Soviet Russia celebrated today a major achievement of the five year plan with the official opening of its gigantic hydro-electric plant here designed as the largest in the world.

Headed by representatives of the government and communist party leaders, thousands of persons crowded the site of the new power development to hear officials of the commissariat of heavy industry announce the beginning of operations of the country's most ambitious industrial project as current was turned on from the powerful generators.

Special trains were run here from all parts of the country so that as many citizens as possible could see at first hand the famed soviet contribution to the electrification of Russia, which was Lenin's basic plan for industrializing the nation.

Designed and constructed by American engineers and equipped with American machinery, the opening of the great electric station two months ahead of schedule marked a personal triumph for Colonel Hugh L. Cooper, of New York, whose firm had the contract for the project and who personally supervised it from the beginning five years ago until the government accepted the plant a month ago.

For his firm's work on the plant, the government decided to confer on Colonel Cooper the order of the Red Star, making him the first foreigner to receive the decoration, given only for outstanding achievements were awarded the order of Lenin for unusual contributions to "socialist construction."

Colonel Cooper was given a prominent part in today's ceremonies, together with A. V. Winter, who was head of the soviet administration of the project and who was made a member of the soviet academy of sciences in recognition of his services at Dneprostroy.

Returned showed he lost to Mrs. Ferguson by approximately 4,000 votes in the August democratic runoff primary but his contest suit, alleging fraud, claimed nearly 50,000 votes were cast illegally in Mrs. Ferguson's favor. The answer filed on behalf of Mrs. Ferguson likewise claimed many illegal votes were cast for the governor.

After the court ordered her name placed on the ballot Saturday however, she issued a statement expressing hope that "the intense interest incident to this, as well as other political campaigns, will cease" and that "everybody will now turn their attention to a democratic victory, state and national, in November."

"Knowing Jim's record and having declared it to the people of Texas, I would consider an act of positive dishonor to cast my vote to put the government of Texas in his hands," Governor Sterling explained.

Registration of unemployed men and women in Pampa and immediate vicinity will start tomorrow in the basement of the city hall. Mrs. W. H. Davis, manager of the Welfare Board, will be in charge.

Jobless persons are urged to register at the earliest possible time so that a check can be made before the application for Federal relief is mailed.

A similar registration was made last year, but another one is required now.

Should Pampa's welfare drive be successful, the Federal aid will be granted. The money received from the government will be used to give unemployed men work, and it will be necessary to have the names of all unemployed people so that an even distribution of work can be made. Money to be raised locally will be used to care for the poor until such time as the Federal appropriation is received. The amount of the government money to be given Pampa and vicinity is not known.

The local agency is without funds and unless the response to the drive is sufficient, the board will have to close its doors. The drive will start Thursday morning with about 40 workers. Jack Cunningham will be in charge.

Mrs. Labe Coss of Tulsa, Okla., is visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Barnes for a few days.

Governor Sterling Announces He Will Not Vote for 'Ma' Ferguson

DALLAS, Oct. 10. (AP)—The bitter wounds of intra-party democratic strife in Texas were laid open again today after Governor R. S. Sterling's announcement that he would not support the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for governor in the November 8 election.

The governor's appeal from a district court ruling which had dismissed his suit contesting Mrs. Ferguson's nomination was denied Saturday by the state supreme court.

Yesterday the governor said he was "unwilling to cast a vote to turn the state over to Mrs. Ferguson and her husband." Ex-Governor James E. Ferguson.

"Knowing Jim's record and having declared it to the people of Texas, I would consider an act of positive dishonor to cast my vote to put the government of Texas in his hands," Governor Sterling explained.

A DECLARATION OF WAR

Peter Molyneux has every appearance of placidity for print, of framing his thoughts in well-considered addition to the habit, born of long years of writing words of unacerbative intent. A declaration of war, therefore, coming from this calm and self-contained personality, is likely to prove of interest to all Texas journalism. Indeed, since the crusade against the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the interest of rescuing the sepulchre of the Texas centennial amendment from the infidel, the Knight of the Golden Fountain Pen will be followed afar off by a goodly company of onlookers to see what the outcome may be.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce officially holds that "Although the Texas centennial is a worthy and patriotic project, your committee nevertheless feels that in view of the present plight of taxpayers this proposed state expenditure should be opposed." Over against this Mr. Molyneux believes that "There is only one reason why Texans should hold a centennial celebration, and that is because they have a glorious past and because they hold it in genuine reverence." Having joined battle Mr. Molyneux remarks in his Texas Weekly:

I don't relish such a fight; I think the gentlemen of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have made a colossal blunder in starting it, but now that it has been started, I for one am in favor of fighting to the limit. The odds are in favor of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, for even with every powerful influence in the state lined up for it the centennial amendment was in danger. With the opposition of the West Texas body its defeat is practically certain. But I think the leaders of that organization will know that they have been in a real fight before it is over, and unfortunately for the good of the section it represents and the good of the state as a whole, there is danger that it will not come out undamaged. And as I see it, if it wins and succeeds in defeating the amendment, its youngest member will no live to see the day it will cease to regret that victory."

Mr. Molyneux says that "Our forefathers settled the wilderness in the midst of one depression and established a free government in the midst of another." But it may turn out that test of our appreciation of their fortitude and virtue will have to show itself in voluntary contribution to a centennial memorial instead of in the enactment of a statute compelling such contribution both of the willing and of the unwilling. Even if the Molyneux combat fails to unhorse the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the interest of the latter, it may inspire the grater generosity from private purses for the benefit of the event about which he would rally our loyalty and support.—Dallas NEWS.

WHERE MUSEUMS FAIL

Mussolini's Rome is getting ready for a big celebration in the fall of 1937. That will be the 2000th anniversary of the birth of the Emperor Augustus, and a great exhibition will be held to show precisely what Roman life was like in the Augustan period.

There will be maps, models, pictures, relics, plaster of paris displays, wax figures and so on, and the idea is that anyone who sees them will know just what things looked like, on the streets and in the home, in the Rome of the first Caesars.

What features of life today will historians of a far-distant future pick out as typical, anyhow?

Beyond a doubt there will be exhibits of machinery—everything from machine tool lathes to automobiles, from movie sound cameras to submarines. There will be exhibits to show how we amused ourselves—reproductions of vast stadia, no doubt, plaster casts of baseball and football players in action, relief maps of golf courses, and so on.

Probably there will be models of big city apartment houses, models of skyscrapers, models of street cars during the rush hour jam, models of factories, of railway yards, of steel mills, of coal mines and of lumber camps—and the folk of 3900 A. D. will peer at them, and wag their heads, and wonder how on earth we managed to live happily among such devices, and thank their stars they live in a more enlightened age.

But they probably will come no closer to getting a real understanding of everyday life in 1932 than we can come to an understanding of everyday life in the Rome of Caesar Augustus.

For the things that color the lives of people most intimately aren't the things you can reproduce in a museum. Wax models and plaster casts can't reproduce the joy that parents get from their children, or the mysterious beauty of old age, or the way two youngsters feel when they start life together in a three-room flat, or the silent heroism of unnumbered humble bread-winners.

The enduring things and the important things have to be guessed at. You can't make mechanical copies of them.

It all sounds like an interesting stunt; and one if forced to wonder if, some day centuries in the future, someone won't feel impelled to put on a similar exhibition showing what life in the 20th century America was like.

generally understood—there is no room here for any more jobless families. Every community must care for its own. The relief dispensed here must be given only after thorough investigation of the necessity for it and the worthiness of the recipient. If this is done, and work is given, instead of charity, the program will be dignified and one that well-meaning jobless men and women can accept.

Society can be inconceivably cruel in its thoughtlessness. There are exceptional cases when the test of residence cannot in mercy be applied. We quote from a newspaper in a neighboring Oklahoma town:

"Two hours after she had been released from the city jail and told to 'Get out of town,' an 18-year-old girl became the mother of a baby in (name deleted) hospital. The baby, a perfectly normal, 7-pound child, is yawning and stretching in a warm bed at the hospital and is being given the best of attention. The girl was arrested when a medical kit belonging to a local doctor was found in the box car in which she was sleeping. She said she was an orphan, en route to Fort Worth. Although she told officers she was ill, she was released and told to get out of town. She collapsed after walking a block and passers-by called an ambulance. She wore a ragged pair of overalls, a shirt, and a man's cap and shoes. No money was found in her belongings."

Harold Ely, 275-pound tackle on the Chicago Bears pro football team, is being referred to as the "heaviest active football player in the world." He played at the University of Iowa.

RECOMMENDED FOR SANDWICHES

Observance of Week of Fire Prevention Opens Today

ARE STRESSED BY WOMEN OF GRAY COUNTY

RECIPES ARE OFFERED BE DEMONSTRATION AGENT HERE

Club women of Gray county are preparing sandwiches for the month. Miss Ruby Adams, demonstration agent, points out that green vegetables are better ingredients for children than the more popular sweet stuffs.

Various vegetables, such as cabbage, celery, cucumbers, onions, carrots, and beets may be combined, seasoned and canned ready for using in sandwich fillings. All of these except the beets may be raw. Cooking the beets gives them a better color. Both beets and carrots are most desirable when grated but the others may be chopped fine.

In addition to salt, pepper, sugar, and the vinegar in which the vegetables are canned, any of the following seasonings may be selected according to taste: Peppers, green and red, tarragon, horse radish, parsley, mustard, white mustard, cloves, cinnamon, allspice.

Butter Suggested.

When ready to make the sandwiches creamed butter will be found to serve as a good binder for the mixture. It is appetizing and will save the trouble of having to butter the bread. Boiled cockles salad dressing also acts as a satisfactory binder. The following recipe has been satisfactory for vegetable relish:

One cup sweet red pepper, chopped fine; 1 cup small white onions, chopped fine; 1 cup cucumbers, chopped fine; 2 cups cabbage, chopped fine; 1/2 cup celery, chopped fine; 1/4 cup sugar; 2 tablespoons salt; 2 cups vinegar.

Cut open the peppers, remove the seeds and white sections, and chop. After chopping the other vegetables, combine all of them with the seasoning and mix well. Then place rubbers on one pint sterilized glass-topped jars and pack the mixture into them rather loosely, filling within an inch of the top, add the vinegar and pour it over the relish to fill the jars. Put is on without clamping.

Have enough hot water in wash bottle sterilizer so that it will extend at least one inch above the tops of the jars. Place the hot jar in the hot water. Heat the water boiling and boil 10 minutes. Then d the jar and remove from the boiler.

Other Recipes Given.

Other mixtures such as the following may be used:

1/2 cup green peppers chopped fine; 2 cups cabbage chopped fine; 1/2 cup onion chopped fine; 1/2 cup celery, chopped fine; 1/4 cup sugar; 1/2 teaspoon mustard; 2 1/2 teaspoons salt; 2 cups vinegar.

1 cup green peppers chopped fine; 1 cup green tomatoes chopped fine; 2 cups cucumbers chopped fine; 1/2 cup celery chopped fine; 1/2 cup white onions chopped fine; 1/4 cup brown sugar; 1 teaspoon mustard seed; 1/4 teaspoon cloves; 3/4 tablespoons salt; vinegar; 1/2 teaspoon mustard.

1 cup green peppers chopped fine; 1 cup white onions chopped fine; 1 cup cabbage chopped fine; 1/2 cup carrots grated; 1 cup brown sugar; 1/2 teaspoon mustard; 2 cups salt; 2 cups vinegar.

Wheat Crackers.

finely ground whole wheat, 7 tablespoons water. Mix dients and cut in fat with utter. Add sufficient water to a stiff dough. Roll the to 3/8 inches and bake at 425. This will make about 20.

White flour may be substituted for the whole wheat.

recipe is the following: 1/2 cup whole wheat flour; 1/2 cup salt; 6 tablespoons water; 3 tablespoons solid fat; 3 tablespoons soda; 2 molasses. Mix the dry and cut in the fat with utter. Mix the molasses and stir into the dry. Spread the mixture on a sheet. Cut into squares and bake at 425.

My Beauty Hint

CAROLE LOMBARD

Although I think make-up is very essential to beauty, my hint is not to overdo it.

In daytime, I use a powder of equal parts beige and flesh tints; a tea-rose shade of rouge and a very pale rose lipstick. I never use mascara or eye pencil when going to shop or out walking.

For evening, a powder four shades darker is my favorite. I use no cheek rouge, but my lipstick is heavier. I use a carmen red. At night I also use violet eyelid shadow and dark blue mascara, lengthening my eyebrows slightly with a blue pencil.

CHILDREN WILL WORK HARD TO PREVENT FIRE

CLEAN UP ACTIVITY IN HOME AND SCHOOL IS PLANNED

Pampa's children, always prominent in the observance of special days and weeks, will have no small part in making the observance of national fire prevention week an outstanding success in Pampa.

Scores of school pupils, including the high school pep squad and band, were to participate in the fire prevention parade this afternoon at 3 o'clock in order to impress upon the public the need of taking definite steps to prevent fires.

But the children's work will not stop with the parade. In every school and in almost every subject the spirit of the week will be emphasized, and pupils will be urged to clean up not only the school premises but their homes as well.

In Junior high school the home room programs, which will be given tomorrow will emphasize the fire prevention theme, and on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock a play based on fire destruction will be given under the direction of Miss Opal Cox. The Kiwanis club also will be in charge of a part of the safety program for the chapel program.

English assignments based on fire prevention, and fire drills will complete the Junior high observance.

High school English teachers also are making assignments based on fire prevention, and all teachers are urging clean-up work and care in preventing fire.

Principal A. L. Patrick of Sam Houston school stated that in the lesson plans in his school were incorporated the fire prevention theme. The children also are reading fire prevention literature, and are making posters based on the same idea.

In every subject at Horace Mann school this week the fire prevention theme will be used. Even in Arithmetic, the idea will be used by showing, through figures, the cost of fires. Stories will be told, posters will be made, fire drills will be conducted, and the necessity of clean-up work will be stressed.

Fire prevention playlets will be given in the various rooms at Baker school during the language periods, a typical presentation being "The Arrest of Carelessness" planned for the third grade. At Baker school posters will be made, compositions will be written, fire drills will be held, and the children will be urged to clean up home premises. One recess period last week was spent in cleaning the school grounds.

Woodrow Wilson school likewise is stressing fire prevention in all classes. Children of this school have gained remarkable speed in leaving the building during a fire drill.

FUTURE QUEEN OF SWEDEN

The castle fortress at Coburg (above) will shelter scores of royal persons October 20 when Princess Sibylle, daughter of the dual house of Sax-Coburg-Gotha, marries Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden. The two are shown below smiling happily as they face their regal future.

COBURG, Germany (AP)—This ancient city of 25,000 is concentrating its energies upon plans for October 20 when Princess Sibylle of Sax-Coburg-Gotha is to wed Prince Adolf, heir-presumptive to the throne of Sweden.

A joint committee of steel helmets and nazis has cooperated with the marshal of the dual court in mapping welcomes to King Gustav V of Sweden, grandfather of the bridegroom; the Prince of Wales and 50 other royal guests.

Two of these guests, Ferdinand, ex-king of Bulgaria, and Grand Duke Cyril, pretender to the Russian throne, reside here.

The local police will post a guard of honor at Coburg castle, high above the city, where the wedding breakfast will be given.

The night before the rites, the populace will demonstrate its affection for the princess. A torchlight procession will wind its way to a large meadow where the wedding company will be entertained by a male chorus, a speech by the burgomaster, athletics and fireworks.

The marriage ceremony has been set for 11:30 a. m. at the Protestant City Church of St. Mortiz. The bridal procession will approach it through the sloping gardens of the castle and between lines of civic societies. At the church portals members of a ladies' patriotic society of which the bride is a member, will shower the couple with flowers.

As the young people exchange rings, a salute of 25 guns will boom. Then, as they emerge from the

GRAY COUNTY CREAMERY

SYNOPSIS: Nan Weare's only aid in solving the mystery of her husband's disappearance, Ferdinand Francis has dashed away on the track of a slender clue. Nan, fearing the worst for Jervis, again questions the hostile housekeeper, Mrs. Mellish. After a severe clash of wills, Nan forces Mrs. Mellish to admit that she saw Jervis' door open at 3 o'clock the night he disappeared.

Chapter 43

WAS JERVIS TWO-FACED?
The black curtain that had fallen between Tuesday night and Wednesday morning would be lifted; Nan was about to get a glimpse of what lay behind it, from the hostile housekeeper.

"I shut the door," said Mrs. Mellish, "and came away up to my room and made my cup of tea."

Nan straightened herself again. She had leaned forward involuntarily to catch the first glimpse of what was behind that curtain.

There was no glimpse. She choked down her sick disappointment and forced her voice.

"You didn't see Mr. Jervis?"
"No, ma'am."

Nan caught the tone of relief. Now why should Mrs. Mellish be relieved? She hadn't seen Jervis. Why should she be relieved about that? The next question was across her lips before she knew that she was going to ask it.

"Whom did you see?"
Mrs. Mellish was so much startled that her hand closed on the linen handkerchief and crumpled its neat folds.

"I went up to my room, and I made my cup of tea," she said; but her voice had lost its balance; it hurried over one word, and dragged on another.

Nan gave her no time.
"You saw someone. Whom did you see?"

"I blew my candle out, and I shut the door."
"You blew out your candle. Mr. Jervis' door was open. Did you see a light? Was there a light in Mr. Jervis' room?"

Mrs. Mellish looked up, and down again.
"There might have been."

A tingling triumph came up in Nan. So keen was her sense that more lay behind Mrs. Mellish's laconic reply that she scarcely heard the clamorous telephone bell for which she had listened so long and carefully. Mrs. Mellish half rose from the chair in which Nan had forced her to sit.

Nan, the stream of her thought at last cut into by the shrill bell, motioned her to remain seated. She ran to the telephone, lifted the receiver. Was it Jervis? Francis?

"No Alfred, I'll take the call. Get off the wire."
Nan strained for the timbre of the voice at the other end. At first she could hear nothing, as if the caller and become confused.

"Don't hang up. What is it?" Nan begged.
"This is Smith's grocery," a voice began. "Your order was delivered."

Nan replaced the receiver wearily, caught up again her give and take with Mrs. Mellish. She must take hold of herself.

"There was a light—you saw it! What else did you see?"
"I couldn't hardly say." The words were almost inaudible.

"You must say," said Nan.
"I'd rather you didn't ask me, ma'am."

"I'm afraid you must say what you saw."
Why didn't she want to? What was she hiding?

Mrs. Mellish rallied her dignity. "It's best for all parties if you'd let me go now, ma'am."

"You must say what you saw," said Nan.
Mrs. Mellish made a curious sort of jerking movement.

"Well then, I did see someone—and I wouldn't have mentioned it if I hadn't been driven. There's never been no evil speaking, lying, nor slandering in my kitchen—no, nor in my housekeeper's room neither. But if you will have it, ma'am—"

"Yes, I will have it," said Nan.
"Well then—I saw Miss Rosamund."

So the curtain had hidden Rosamund. Nan did not know what she had expected, but it was not this. The shock had numbed feeling, but it left her voice quiet and level.

"You saw Miss Rosamund. Will you tell me just what you did see?"
Mrs. Mellish put the linen handkerchief to her chin for a moment, and then to either temple. The moisture stood on her pale skin.

"I blew out my candle, and so soon as it was out, I could see there was a light somewhere. And I looked round the crack of the door—and there was Mr. Jervis' door open and a light in the room, and Miss Rosamund coming out with a suit-case in her hand. And just as I looked, the light went out, and I shut the door quick and come away."

Nan sat there pale and straight. She had brought this humiliation on herself. Mrs. Mellish would have spared her, but she had forced her

The Campaign Puzzle

Study Past State-by-State Votes in Making Your Forecast

California's vote for president in 1928:
Hoover, 1,162,323.
Smith, 614,365.

California's weight in this year's national election is considerably greater than it was in 1928, the state's representation in the electoral college being increased from 13 to 22.

The state is regarded as "normally" republican, although it cast its votes for Cleveland (D.) in 1892, for Theodore Roosevelt (D.) in 1912 and for Wilson (D.) in 1916. Eight of its 10 governors since 1850 have been republicans.

Herbert Hoover's California citizenship, his party's advocacy of a protective tariff for agricultural products and his wartime relief work were credited with responsibility for his heavy majority over Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

In the gubernatorial election of 1930, James Rolph, Jr. (R.) defeated Milton E. Young (D.) by a vote of 999,393 to 333,973. Political observers have disagreed as to the significance of registration figures, which in August of this year showed a loss of 38,308 for the republicans, as compared with 1928, and a gain for the democrats of 435,496. Republican leaders have replied to these figures by pointing to the presidential primaries last spring in which President Hoover, unopposed, polled a greater popular vote than the total for all three democratic candidates for the nomination.

Iowa's vote for president in 1928:
Hoover, 623,570.
Smith, 379,311.

Iowa has cast its vote for a democratic presidential candidate but once in the last 60 years, and that was in 1912, when the progressive party divided the republican vote.

The state this year has 11 electoral votes instead of the 13 it possessed in 1928. Farm relief and prohibition received major attention in the Hoover-Smith campaign of 1928. Iowa usually has been counted among the strongly dry states. The state election of 1930 found Iowa again choosing a republican state administration, as it had done for many years. Dan W. Turner (R.) received 414,536 votes against 184,721 for Fred P. Hagemann (D.). Turner's campaign was based on a ninelike tax and general tax revision program. He is a candidate for re-election this fall, his opponent being Clyde L. Herring, democratic nominee.

IOWA
ELECTORAL VOTES—11
IN 1928:
HOOVER—623,570
SMITH—379,311

The farmers' strike, the upset of Senator Smith W. Brookhart, insurgent republican, by Henry Field in the primaries last spring, and his recent decision to run as an independent are recent developments in the Iowa situation the effects of which political observers are still attempting to weigh. Agricultural relief and economic programs have provided the outstanding national issues of this year's campaign in Iowa.

Rhode Island's vote for president in 1928:
Smith, 118,973.
Hoover, 117,527.

Rhode Island gave its electoral votes to Alfred E. Smith by a narrow margin in 1928, but elected at the same time a republican congressional delegate, a republican U. S. senator and a republican general assembly.

Only once before since 1876 had Rhode Island cast its votes for a democratic presidential candidate. It voted for Wilson in 1912. This year Rhode Island has four electoral votes instead of its former five. Smith's personal popularity and his stand on prohibition were credited with playing a large part in this 1928 victory.

In the state elections of 1930, Jesse H. Metcalf (R.) was re-elected to the United States senate by a plurality of 2,515 over former Senator Peter G. Gerry (D.) and Governor Norman S. Case (R.) was elected governor by a plurality of 3,682.

In the current campaign, political observers are attempting to analyze the significance of an increase of 23,000 in the number of "registry" voters. Voters in this classification (as distinguished from voters in the real estate classification) had reached a new high record of 185,830 when the books closed in June, and some observers believe that the new voters may hold the balance of power.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Cotton had a steady opening today with only moderate trading. Liverpool came in better than due and first trades here showed gains of 9 to 15 points. December further improved after the start to 6.65, bringing that delivery to the extra advance of 15 points above Saturday's close.

This advance was due partly to the better cables but mainly to covering by satisfied shorts and to a natural recovery after the recent sharp decline. Later in the first hour the market appeared easier and December dropped to 6.06 and March to 6.74, or 5 to 6 points under the opening highs.

The impression prevailed among traders that the weak effect of the government report on Saturday for a crop of 11,425,000 bales had been discounted by the considerable decline in prices prior to the publication of the report.

WHEAT DROPS
CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Wheat values tended downward early today, influenced by setbacks in Liverpool quotations and by a sharp increase of the amount of wheat afloat for Europe. Unfavorable weather conditions tended to strengthen corn prices.

Opening quotations for 3-8 lower, wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started unchanged to 3-8 higher and subsequently rose all around. Wheat closed nervous, 1/4-1/2 under Saturday's finish, corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, soybeans unchanged to 1/4 off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

COTTON STEADY
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 5 points up. Sales 2,048; low middleline 6.00; middling 6.55; good middling 6.90; receipts 7,006; stock 937,814.

Brock Wrestles In Gridiron Style

Eddie Brock the boy from Washington state, who will meet Joe Kopecky at the Pla-Mor auditorium Wednesday night is reported to be plenty good with his "dukes" to say nothing of his football tackle, stiff arm and Sonnenberg, learned while playing football four years for Washington.

Sir Joe is due to have his hands full and Pampans will be on hand to see the handsome lad try and tame the wildcat from Taylor. Joe is one of the craftiest and toughest maulers in the game today. He usually subdues his opponents with sly wallops and illegal holds and then pins them. A topnotch referee will be the third man in the ring to see that the Washington boy gets a square deal.

Rob Roy, back from Amarillo this morning saw Brock work out and reports him to be a wonder. "That boy is about the sweetest looking proposition I have ever seen," declared Rob. "He is a looker but that doesn't stop him from being one sweet wrestler."

No Buyers for Gray Bond Issue

Gray county commissioners opened a "bill paying session" this morning. Transfer of funds to permit paying for right-of-way on highways 152 and 38 was contemplated, the money to be repaid later.

There was no solution in sight for obtaining funds with which to complete the Pampa-Peters paving. Bids originally asked on $300,000 worth of paving bonds will not be received. With no buyers in sight, it was deemed detrimental to the county's interests to proceed with the attempt to sell at this time.

Japanese Will Battle Bandits In Manchuria

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Oct. 10 (AP)—Determined to obliterate Chinese irregulars and bandits in Southern Manchuria before winter comes, the Japanese army today launched an intensive drive on a wide front against 30,000 insurgents who have challenged the authority of the Manchukuo government.

Apparently the irregulars already were aware of the impending campaign, for thousands of them were reported in flight before the Japanese advance. Even so the Japanese authorities said, the rebels will have a most difficult time escaping because the whole Korean border is closed against them.

Probably they will take refuge in the forest and mountains where the rigorous winter will make it almost impossible for them to live. The Japanese intend to starve them out, declared Rob. "He is a looker but that doesn't stop him from being one sweet wrestler."

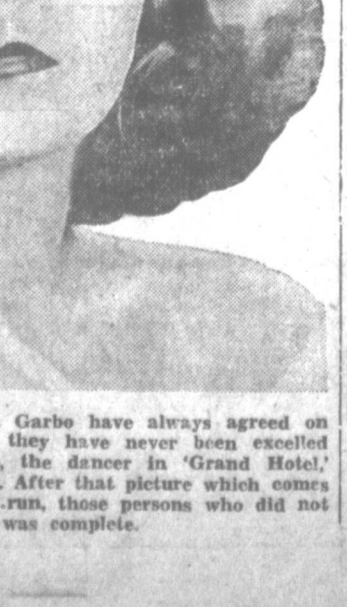

In this new campaign there are congressional officials here, informed the Japanese intend to use bombing planes, requested that the greatest care be exercised to refrain from bombing American Catholic and Protestant missions operating in the area under attack, notably at Tung-hua, Kirin, Linkiang and Antung. All the American missions will fly the American flag.

The missionaries themselves cannot abandon their posts even under fire, for they have explicit instructions to remain with their flocks in time of danger, rescuing them if necessary and performing the functions of the church.

In taking reprisals against Chinese irregulars for a recent attack on Puchun, a Japanese detachment killed several hundred noncombatants and accidentally dropped bombs in an American missionary compound, but no Americans were wounded.

County Commissioners John White of Laketon, M. M. Newman of McLean, and H. G. McCleskey of Prentiss 3 drove here today to attend the regular session of commissioners court.

GARBO, THE DIVINE

Cinema critics and devotees of Greta Garbo have always agreed on her performance to the effect that they have never been excited by the screen. Garbo, as Grunskaya, the dancer in "Grand Hotel," gave the best appearance of her career. After that picture which comes to the LaNora Sunday, for a four-day run, those persons who did not like her were converted. Her conquest was complete.
