LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The master of the S. S. Dartford reported this afternoon that he had sighted the airplane "The American Nurse," which took off from New York this morning on a non-stop flight to Rome, more than 400 miles east of Boston, flying over the Atlantic in clear weather.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A doctor, a veteran pilot, a girl parachutist, jumper and a wood-chuck called "Tail Wind" hopped off at 8:16 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) today to fly non-stop to Rome.

Before taking off from Floyd Bennett field on the 4,200-mile journey, Dr. Leon M. Pisculli of Yonkers, N. Y., commander of the expedition, said the plane would head out over the Atlantic at Cape Cod and fly the "Southern" route.

Talley Addition Water Problem Up Tomorrow

The regular weekly meeting of the city commission scheduled for two o'clock this afternoon was postponed until the same hour tomorrow afternoon due to the absence from the city of one of the commissioners.

What will probably be final action on supplying water to the Talley addition will come before the commission tomorrow. It has been found that the well drilled in the addition will not supply water and that the city is the only available supply. Some understanding will probably be reached whereby the long controversy will be settled for all time.

Will Close Russell Street for Awhile

North Russell street between Texas and Finch streets will be closed to traffic for the next few days while a new bridge is being built across the draw. City Manager C. L. Stine said this morning. The old bridge partially caved in this week and the city manager decided that a new one should be installed rather than the old one repaired. School trucks loaded the children use the bridge several times daily and the city manager felt that the new bridge should be built for safety sake as the school trucks are large and heavy and might break in the repaired structure. City trucks are ranging over the city streets picking up bricks, boards, glass and stones this week. The city maintainer has been completely overhauled and is ready for work on the streets after the next rain.

Plane Wrecked on Reefs of Greenland Fiord; Future of Party Uncertain.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 13 (AP)—All eight members of the party of the flying family of Hutchinsons were safe and well when they were found today by the Trawler Lord Talbot, it was reported here, but the airplane "City of Richmond" in which they set out from the United States for Europe was wrecked. The party and the machine were found on land near Itersak, Greenland.

The broken ship lay at the bottom of Itersak Valley and the travelers were found at Eker, or Ekersauk, a tiny Eskimo settlement nearby, 37 miles southwest of Anngagsalik. Fortunately for them some of the inhabitants were still there. Eker is populated during the summer and autumn but seldom during the winter.

The Lord Talbot is one of the biggest and best equipped of the Aberdeen trawler fleet but accommodations aboard the vessel are restricted and it seemed likely that it would be difficult to find room aboard her for the eight castaways.

The last boat of the season already has left Anngagsalik and if the Lord Talbot could not carry them to Iceland or some European point it would be necessary for them to spend the winter at Anngagsalik.

That would not only be trying for the Americans, particularly for the two children, but actually might involve hardship for the inhabitants of Anngagsalik, who never have

The Fort Worth and Denver railroads between Childress and Pampa in excellent condition and business is improving rapidly according to officials of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad company who arrived in Pampa last night on a tour of inspection. The party left this morning for Amarillo.

Included in the party visiting Pampa over night were Gen. John A. Hulen, general vice president, Judge J. H. Barwise, general attorney, and H. H. Durston, general executive manager, all of Fort Worth. The visit of Gen. Hulen and Judge Barwise was the first since the line was formally opened with a celebration here in July. They said they were well pleased with prospects along the line.

MISS ARLESS O'KEEFE TO DIRECT FIRST LITTLE THEATER PLAY

Two things combined to give a meeting of Little Theater members last night a good start.

The first was the scene of the meeting—the rear garden at the home of Mrs. Raymond Harrah on North First street. The next was an inspirational address by the new president, Mrs. E. M. Conley.

During the business session the membership voted to accept a constitution and by-laws which were written this week. At a previous meeting, the organization decided that governing rules used last year were not adequate. Mrs. W. F. Creney was chairman of the committee to re-write the laws.

Mrs. Julian Barrett was elected chairman of the play-reading and casting committee, and Archer Fullington, director-at-large.

It was announced that Miss Arless O'Keefe will direct the first play to be presented this season by the Little Theater. Directors, officials and Miss O'Keefe will meet at the home of Mrs. E. M. Conley tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to complete plans for presentation of the drama. Dates for try-outs and for production will be decided. Minutes of this meeting which were read last night provided that only members

ROOSEVELT IS OFF ON TRIP

Triumphal Tour of West Is Begun by Standard-Bearer of Democrats.

By WALTER T. BROWN
EN ROUTE WITH GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT, CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 13. (AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, westward bound in his quest for the presidency, was having breakfast and digesting Maine election returns when his special train passed through Cleveland today.

Mr. Roosevelt said he was pleased with the returns from Maine. He views, he said, a republican majority of "anything less than 30,000 there was a distinct democratic victory."

Traveling with Mr. Roosevelt are his daughter, Mrs. Curtis Dall; his son, James, and James' wife; Arthur Mullen, Nebraska national committee man; Joseph P. Kennedy, New York and Boston financier; Prof. Raymond Moley of Columbia university; Breckenridge Long, undersecretary of state in the Wilson administration; and U. S. Senator Harry Hawes of Missouri.

Citizens of nearly half the nation's states will hear or see the governor before the three weeks coast-to-coast campaign sweep is over. Spurred by his campaign managers' reports that the Midwest and west were favorable areas for the national ticket, the governor hoped to win enough votes there to ensure victory.

Mr. Roosevelt's name glittered in electric lights from the observation car as his special—not so elaborate as Alfred E. Smith's special of 1928—pulled out of Albany at midnight toward Ohio.

Mr. Roosevelt's first talk will be at Jefferson City, Mo., tonight.

From Jefferson City, the candidate will describe a great circle tour of the west, from Kansas City to Seattle in the far northwest, then to Los Angeles in Southern California and back through Denver to Chicago. His train will travel thru 21 states.

Arriving at Kansas City tomorrow morning, Governor Roosevelt will be joined by John N. Garner, his running mate, who will go with him to Topeka.

Deficit Found In Insull Accounts

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP)—A deficit of $226,519.976 in the accounts of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., was reported to the federal district court today by auditors for the receivers.

The auditors said they found "inconsistency in the auditing records of the company" and suggested that consistent records through the years of the investment company's operations in Insull Utility securities would have shown losses throughout the period.

The report listed assets at only $27,473,364.

George A. Cooke and Calvin Ferriss are the receivers of the one gigantic investment trust, first of the Insull houses to make its financial report to the United States district court since the Insull structure collapsed last June.

The auditors asserted that "income from cash dividends and interest has been insufficient to meet operating expenses and interest charges since 1929."

These operations at a loss covered the entire period of the company's operations, the audit indicated. The investment company was formed Jan. 1, 1929 and federal Judge Walter C. Lindley appointed the receivers April 15 of this year.

Had the company's accountants followed a consistent method of showing stock dividends and other profit and loss items involving dividends, sale of stocks rights and other payments, the auditors said the balance sheet would have shown losses instead of profits from the beginning.

DEMOCRATS HOPEFUL
MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 13 (AP)—Vermont—always a republican stronghold in presidential years—faced today's primaries a little less confident of herself. The green mountain state's democrats, who presented an unopposed ticket for major offices, looked optimistically on the prospects their party made into the nominally republican majorities in Maine during yesterday's election.

Harry Lipsby of Amarillo was a Pampa visitor this morning.

SENATOR MOSES POINTS TO ELECTIONS OF 1880

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13. (AP)—Democrats elected a governor yesterday for the first time in 18 years. They also elected two of the state's delegation of three to the house of representatives.

Louis J. Brann, democratic candidate for governor, had a lead of 1,387 over Burleigh Martin, republican, as but 18 of the state's 632 precincts were unreported.

Brann, in a brief statement, saw in the large vote—it was the greatest in the history of his party—a renewed interest in government and public affairs.

Congressman Carroll L. Breed, lone republican to win, led Joseph F. Connolly by 2,077 votes when the district tabulation was completed. The 18 districts, missing in the second and third congressional districts where the democrats were ahead were so small that they could not alter the final outcome of the unofficial tally.

E. Carl Moran, Jr., democrat, had an advantage of 2,420 over John E. Nelson with four of the 213 precincts in the second district, and John G. Utterback held a lead of 1,147 over former Governor Ralph C. Brewer.

But one issue came out of the weeks of intense campaigning preceding the election—the issue of purchase of such stock in well over 5,000,000 shares, making it the second busiest day of the year.

Chile's Army Air Force Threatens To Bomb Palace

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 13. (AP)—The army air force rose in revolt today against the administration of Provisional President Carlos Davila, threatening to bomb the presidential palace or attack it with troops if he refused to resign.

The revolt was led by Colonel Arturo Merino Benitez, frequently a storm center of the air force, and its nucleus was at El Bosque, airport on the outskirts of Santiago.

The movement started a few hours after the entire cabinet resigned and President Davila succeeded in reshuffling the ministries and forming a new government.

The government closed the newspaper La Opinion because it was publishing Col. Merino's manifesto in which he declared President Davila was unpopular and had failed to follow the socialist program laid down when a revolt and two counter-revolts upset the government last July.

Censorship was placed on newspapers with the official explanation that this action was taken for their own benefit.

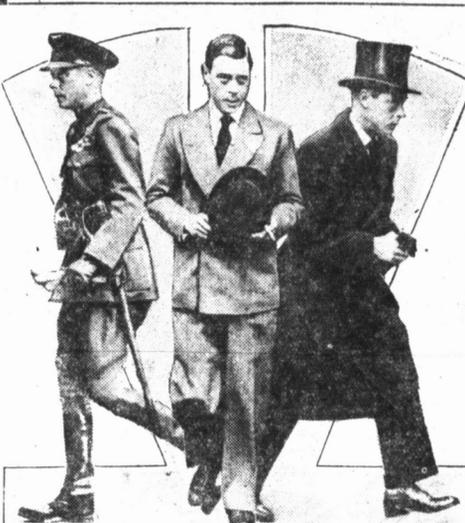

Military air forces led by Commander Merino asserted they had support of part of the Santiago army garrison and also of the navy.

This was denied by the government, which announced that both the garrison and navy remained loyal.

Colonel Arturo Merino Benitez was dismissed from the Chilean air corps last March after he had attacked government officials, foreign diplomats and foreign business organizations in a series of magazine newspaper articles.

M'LEAN ADVOCATES ROUTING OF NORTH ROAD FROM MIAMI TO HEDLEY, MISSING PAMPA

Arguments Cite City Is Without State Highway

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A recent selling movement reached a climax by midday in today's stock market and prices recovered swiftly in the afternoon trading although extreme losses of 2 to more than 10 were not fully recovered. The list slipped back a little in the late dealings, and several issues finished with net losses of 1 to more than 3 points. The final move was heavy. The turnover was well over 5,000,000 shares, making it the second busiest day of the year.

M'LEAN, Sept. 13. (AP)—The eastern Panhandle is interested in a new north and south state highway which would run from Ferris on the north plains, across the Canadian river to Miami, then by way of McLean and Hedley to Lakeview, in Hall county.

It is now necessary for residents of McLean—and almost every other town along the route—to travel up to 20 miles either east or west before they can go north or south over a state improved highway.

The proposed route would give north plains residents a direct outlet to Pampa, and then to Amarillo over the state highway No. 33. At present it is necessary for residents of Lipscomb, Ochiltree and Kansas county to go by way of Stinnett and Berger to reach either Amarillo or Pampa.

Although a county highway between McLean and Pampa is being improved, this city is without a state highway north and south. Lakeview, at the other end of the line, is on a paved county road, 12 miles from Memphis, but with no outlet in the direction of Clarendon to the north.

Proponents of the route claim that it would cross more east and west state highways than any other road of similar distance in the state, intersecting with 117, 33, 75 and 5, and federal highways 60 and 66.

VOTING IN COLORADO

DENVER, Sept. 13. (AP)—Candidates for party nominations from Uncle Sam's State Capitol today were constantly placed their political futures in the hands of some 170,000 registered voters in the Colorado primary today. A record-breaking vote was expected although the electorate appeared apathetic until late in the campaign. Thousands of new registrations have veteran politicians guessing.

Dresses and other wearing apparel, canned fruits, vegetables, meats and pickles will be on display, made by ladies of home demonstration clubs throughout the county. Miss Martha Buttrill of Clarendon, home demonstration agent of Donley county, will act as judge.

Boys of 4-H clubs throughout the county will exhibit their handy work. It will be judged by George W. Briggs, manager of the Board of City Development. Prize winning entries will be entered in the Gray county booth at the Amarillo Tri-State fair and the Dallas fair. Everyone is urged to visit the city hall during the two days and view the entries. By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer
LUBBOCK, Sept. 13. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling languished in a hotel room this afternoon surrounded by friends while the Texas state democratic convention prepared to send Mrs. Miamian A. Ferguson already a one-time governor, forward as the champion of the party.

Mrs. Ferguson had been certified by the canvassing committee of the state executive committee, but she had not been formally nominated. Her nomination was expected to be made formally before the convention late tonight near the end of the convalescence.

Talking with newspaper men in his suite, the governor still insisted he ultimately would be the nominee, but he plainly was haggard and worried.

"I'll stay in there and fight for this thing," he said. He wanted to contend to the last, apparently, for the nomination.

Governor Sterling said he was "unwilling to concede the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson" and that he would not accept her nomination until the fight had been carried to the highest court in the state.

"Mrs. Ferguson has not been nominated and will not be when it is all over," the governor said. "Plans for the contest are in the hands of friends in Dallas and it is probable that proceedings will be held in Travis county court within a few days."

Sterling indicated that his fight before the convention would not develop. He would not say whether he planned to be present when Mrs. Ferguson's name is placed before the convention this afternoon. He did not attend the morning session.

When asked what his action would be in regard to the ticket should Mrs. Ferguson become the nominee, Sterling said, "that is in the future."

First Call For Broken Toys Is Made by Firemen

The Pampa Fire Department boys are ready to start work on repairing broken toys to be distributed among the poor this Christmas.

Chief Clyde Gold announced this morning. Last year the boys repaired more than 300 toys and had them distributed among poor children of the city who would not have had a Christmas otherwise.

Chief Gold said that any person having broken or soiled toys that can be repaired could bring them to the fire station or call 617 and some of the fire boys will call for the toys.

"We don't want to bother with toys that are past repair," Chief Gold said. "Last year we spent considerable time working on toys that eventually had to be thrown away. This year we want to work on toys that can be fixed so that more will be available."

A NEEDLESS HAZARD FOR CHILDREN
The explanation that "The Flying Hutchinsons" transatlantic flight will serve as a "graphic geography lesson" for their six and 8-year-old daughters hardly will strike the average American parent as justifying the risk.

It is not questioning the value of air travel to weigh the propriety of exposing children to the obvious hazards of transatlantic flying. Truth is, commercial airlines—all devoted to safety rather than sensationalism—probably would be the last to approve such an excursion.
If Colonel and Mrs. George Hutchinson want to take the risks of a 45,000-mile trip over the Arctic circle route of the North Atlantic to London, that's their privilege. But parents, the country over, are wondering if the Hutchinsons' enthusiasm for flying hadn't gone beyond reasonable bounds when they lifted Janet Lee, 6, and her sister Kathryn, 8, into the cabin of the big amphibian at New York for the hop to St. John, first leg of their projected trip to London.
"The question of hazards to the children was not raised," was the comment of Colonel Clarence Young, assistant secretary in charge of aeronautics at Washington, as he announced the Commerce Department could not and would not take steps to halt Hutchinson from attempting the flight with his wife and small daughters as companions. Hutchinson is a qualified pilot, his ship is airworthy, the load, crew and route were approved.

DOCTOR--

He said Miss Edna Newcomer, 28-year-old brunette from Williamsport, Pa., would step out of the plane with a parachute over Florence Nightingale the Joan of Arc of the nursing profession. Miss Newcomer studied nursing before she turned to parachute jumping.
William Ulrich of Mineola, N. Y., piloted the plane, named "The American Nurse," but Miss Newcomer expected to relieve him occasionally. Dr. Pisculli said he would make medical observations of the effect of a transatlantic flight on the plane's occupants, including "Tail Wind," the doctor's pet.
Weather for the flight was ideal. The men wore khaki uniforms while Miss Newcomer was all in white, except for a sparkling blue jacket.
Woodchuck Watched.
"Tail Wind," found by Dr. Pisculli on a Westchester roadway suffering from a broken leg and nursing back to health, is not going just for the ride. He is a carbon monoxide detector. Dr. Pisculli said he has a theory that some of the planes lost on transatlantic flights fell because the cabins filled with deadly gas. If "Tail Wind" shows signs of unnatural sleepiness the doctor will figure danger is near.
Besides 850 gallons of gasoline, the plane carried a hypodermic needle, a stethoscope, a shaving cut-throat razor, a signaling pistol, flare bombs, field glasses, smelling salts, tea, tablets, honey to sweeten the tea, three chickens, tomatoes, fruit, two gallons of water, lamb's wool and almond oil to stuff the ears and an aviation biscuit invented by the doctor.

Ulrich, former barnstormer and aviation instructor, planned to sight Europe first at Finisterre, on the northern tip of Spain. He is an experienced pilot with a transport license and 3,800 hours in the air to his credit. He said there was enough gasoline to last 32 hours and that he expected to reach Rome in 25 or 26.
The plane is that which Herndon and Pangborn flew around the world, but has been refurbished and renamed. Dr. Pisculli said that after landing in Rome they would visit several European cities, flying back from Ireland, in the spring.
An object of the flight, announced by Dr. Pisculli, is to encourage nurses and physicians to take up flying and parachute jumping so they may be prepared for quick emergency work in floods and other disasters. The plane carries no radio.
Committee reports were made by Clarence Kennedy, G. C. Hubbard and Jack Vance.
Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvesters spoke on the football situation and the help the club could give. He declared that he had never seen a "scrapper" bunch of boys in his life and that it was going to be a tough assignment picking a starting team. He declared that the boys realized that the citizenship was looking for them to "come through."

The authorities at Copenhagen said the Lord Talbot could not bring the Hutchinsons from Greenland and a ship would be sent from Denmark. The manager of the colony at Angmagssalik has been directed to assist the Americans in every way.

MAINE--

customary semi-weekly cabinet meeting began. Secretary Mills and Postmaster General Brown, both of whom often advise Mr. Hoover on political matters, entered a conference with the chief executive.
Democratic congressional leaders said the Maine returns forecast victory for their national ticket in November.
Senator Swanson of Virginia, the chairman of the democratic senatorial campaign committee, said: "The democratic victory in Maine is most significant and indicates determined and widespread dissatisfaction with the present administration. If the same percentages of gain made in Maine appear in the election returns from other states the electoral college will be overwhelmingly for Roosevelt and Garner and there will be a substantial democratic majority in the house and senate."
"All the information I have is that the dissatisfaction in other states is greater than in Maine and that the percentage of democratic gains will be much larger. Maine is normally a rock-ribbed republican state and it is safe to surmise the 'mobs' were able to hold down the percentage of democratic gains better than they can in other states in the November election."
Other statements followed:
Senator Harrison (D. Miss.): "It shows the republicans are through with the present order and are ready to join us for a new deal in November--the republican wisecrackers cannot laugh off the Maine results as they are worthless."
Senator Brookhart (R. Iowa): "I think George Moses, the Jimmy as the congressman at large nominee sent the convention to a demonstration that almost equalled the Ferguson outbreak.

Boos greeted the name of Sterling P. Strong of Dallas as an at-large congressman.
LUBBOCK, Sept. 13. (AP)—Texas democrats today cheered a former woman governor, and the party nominee for governor, and went into a remarkable demonstration for a young man who bears the name of a former distinguished United States senator—Joseph Weldon Bailey.
Charles G. McDonald of Wichita Falls, temporary chairman and keynote, brought forth a burst of approval when he praised the national party presidential candidates.
The Fergusons—Mrs. Miriam A. and James E.—were in their glory today. It wasn't the first time they had bowed to the plaudits of the people, for each of them had served as chief executive of the state.
Young Bailey, nominee for congressman-at-large, got a demonstration almost as genuine and spontaneous as the multitude handed to the Fergusons. His big hand came when his name was read out at the national party presidential candidates.
McDonald's vigorous expressions in favor of the national party and praising the victory of Mrs. Ferguson fell upon friendly ears.
When he mentioned "our next candidate," Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, there was a great ovation. Delegates stood on chairs and cheered, hats went into the air. It was only one of a series of outbursts for the woman candidate.
Tom Love Boosed
"The noblest Roman of them all, James E. Ferguson," said McDonald and that touched off an outburst even more vigorous than those before it.
There wasn't much room for Gov. R. S. Sterling's friends in the enthusiastic Ferguson convention. The governor, defeated by Mrs. Ferguson in a close race, was in town, but he did not come into the convention hall, although he announced yesterday he would "meet Jim Ferguson on the floor of the convention and fight it out with him for the nomination. He claimed he had received a majority of the "legal votes cast."
When names of proposed committeemen were read to the convention there was alternate applause and boos, depending on the political complexion of the person mentioned.
Names of Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls, a Sterling advocate, and of former Senator Thomas Love of Dallas, leader in the 1928 bolt against the democratic presidential nominees, were jeered long and loud.

WOMEN DISPOSE OF ROTARIAN THREAT IN 13 TO 12 GAME

HURLER DRAIN CINGHES TILT FOR FEMALES

ROTARY ALIBI IS 'LOOK AT THE MEN IN THE FIELD'

Members of the Pampa Business and Professional Women's play-ground ball team will eat off the Rotary club by right of a 13 to 12 victory over the clubmen at Magnolia park yesterday afternoon. The game was a swiftest for the first four innings but lightened for the rest of the game.

Lingquist went the route for the clubmen but was inclined to be wild. He was hit freely but his support cracked at times to add to his trouble. C. Miller started for the clubwomen but was hit regularly and went to the bench in the fourth and Drain went to the mound. He allowed only one hit, good for four bases, to Odus Mitchell for the only hit while he was in the box.

Knowing that the Rotarians would "set up a holler" when Drain's ball started across the plate "Rotarians" Hoare called the plate "Rotarians" Jimmie Coburn to back him in his decisions and it took both to call the game amidst a barrage of kicks.

Kiwianians, led by Paul LeBeau with a megaphone, sat on the side lines and yelled for the clubwomen who had defeated the Kiwianians the previous week. Manager Raymond Acklam was behind the bat for the "weaker sex" who triumphed again over the males.

D. Heiskell and Solomon, with three hits and two runs led the attack for the clubwomen. Adelle Stone scored three runs on two hits. Acklam and Miller each hit for four bases. Louise Dunn provided the fielding feat of the day when she went high in the air to take a line drive over third base one-handed. Hazel Kentling and Celia Mitchell each had two home runs and a double was in front of the Rotary attack. Myers, McCullough and Foster got two safeties each, one of Foster's going for four bases. The fielding of Perkins, Odus Mitchell and Smith was outstanding for the clubmen.

Before taking the field the Rotary management stated that he thought his wife was to play the Business and Professional women but in looking over the team he decided that the women couldn't get out to life game. He counted four club members in the line-up and almost decided to "protest" the game.

The teams:

B. & P. W.—H. Kentling, D. Heiskell, W. Heiskell, R. Acklam, A. Stone, Solomon, C. Miller, L. Dunn, M. Cee, M. Williams and H. Drain.

Rotarians—H. G. Myers, N. McCullough, G. Bessie, O. Mitchell, T. Perkins, M. D. Odus, Schwartz, T. Foster, T. Lively, and Lingquist.

ONE WIN WILL GET YANKS IN

Victory Over Cleveland Today Will Clinch Pennant For New York Club.

By GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer

The opposition willing, today promised to bring the end of the long, dusty trail Manager Joe McCarthy and his Yankees have trod on the way to pennantville.

A victory over the Cleveland Indians today and the Yanks are "in." Failing that, the Ruppert rifles can lose and still sew up the American league flag providing the Athletics and Senators also are tenn for a couple of falls in the west.

The Yanks assured themselves at least a tie by yesterday's 12-inning triumph over Cleveland, 8 to 3. They scored five times after two were out in the last inning.

Washington scored its ninth consecutive victory, defeating Chicago, 9 to 3, with Alvin Crowder pitching. Lefty Grove was in fine fettle and the Athletics thumped Detroit, 7 to 1. It was his 23rd victory.

The Brooklyn Dodgers gave no aid and comfort to the Cubs' cause in the National league when they beat the Leaders, 4 to 3. The setback reduced Chicago's lead to five games over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who were trimming the Phillies, 4 to 2, the league's only other engagement.

A triple from the bat of Ben Chapman and a home run by Bill Dickey were the deciding blows in the 12-inning Cleveland-Yankee game. Chapman's hit clearing loaded bases and Dickey's rind trip blow sending Ben home ahead of him for the five runs that sank the Indians.

Dickey's homer incidentally was the first by a visiting player into the stadium of the New Cleveland park, just another record credited to McCarthy's gang of sluggers.

If the Yankees do close the books today they will present their manager with a record of his very own. He will become the first man to pilot a pennant winner in each major league. His previous success was with the Chicago Cubs, whom he now stands a good chance of meeting in the world series.

The Cubs' downfall may be laid to Johnny Frederick, who retired from strenuous competition this year to sit on the bench and every now and then hit a home run when Manager Max Carey asked him to. It was the last half of the ninth. Glenn Wright was on base, the Cubs were a run ahead, so he smacked one of Burieligh Grimes' offerings against the right field screen to settle the argument. It was Frederick's sixth home run as a pinch hitter this season, beating the old record by three.

Paul Warner's home run in the first inning with his brother, Lloyd, on base, helped the Pirates make a clean sweep of the three game series with the Phillies, the team that has been the hardest for them to beat this season. Bill Swift went the route for the Bucs.

STEERS LEAVE TODAY FOR BEAUMONT GAMES

DALLAS, Sept. 13. (AP)—Confident of defeating Beaumont in three out of the first four games, Manager Elmer Morse and twenty Dallas Steers embarked today for Beaumont. Tomorrow they will meet the Exporters in the first of a five-game series for the Texas league pennant and the right to play Chattanooga in the annual Dixie series.

There was no actual practice today for the Steers. They met at the ball park, went into a "skull session" on the weakness of the Beaumont hitters, packed their bags and left.

Of the series, Manager Morse said: "If Murray wins the first game, the series will be over. If Murray loses, we will battle them just that much harder."

Murray, in ten starts against Beaumont this season, has cashed in with nine victories. Zeke Bonura, giant Dallas first sacker who has been big reason to the Exporters all season, said: "I'll give them one game, but that's all. We've got to get this thing over so we can start for Chattanooga." In practice yesterday, Zeke belted a pair of homers and ceased hitting with the remark that he had better save a few for the Beaumont park.

Because of their two consecutive doubleheaders Saturday and Sunday, the Exporters were allowed to go fishing or do as they pleased yesterday at Beaumont. They had their final workout scheduled today. Beaumont is not in the best of condition. Paul Easterling, who led the league in runs batted in and was second in home runs, is suffering from an ankle sprain but will be ready to play. Fred Tauby, perhaps the best money player on the club, is nursing a charley horse.

Manager Del Baker has not definitely announced his starting pitcher, but it probably will be Izzy Goldstein who has won his only two starts against Dallas. If not Goldstein, Sandy Herring will get the call.

The contending clubs have decided against a descriptive play-by-play broadcast of the games by radio stations in the cities where the games are being played. This means no "home" games are to be broadcast.

On the "road" games, it will be permissible for WRR at Dallas, station of 500 watts or less, to broadcast the games played in Beaumont, and the Beaumont 500 watt station at Dallas. The limit of 500 watts is stipulated with the view of prohibiting the big radio stations from bringing about through broadcast what would be equivalent to a "home" broadcast. Any descriptive service furnished to newspapers must be accepted by the newspapers for publication only and not for broadcast over their radio stations.

The first two games of the series will be played at Beaumont. Friday will be an off-day. The series will be resumed Saturday and Sunday at Dallas. If a fifth game necessary, the loss of a coin will determine the site. Steve Basil, Ziggy Sears and Jim Calloway will umpire the series.

Kentucky Youth Leads Marathon Amateur Golfers

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—The United States amateur golf championship today appeared even more a youngsters' show than it was a year ago, with eight newcomers, paced by Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, among the first dozen as the big event moved into the second 18-hole qualifying round.

Fischer, the 20-year-old national intercollegiate champion, was two shots in front with a 69, one under par, as the 154 starters opened their final drive over the five farms course for the 32 qualifying positions in Wednesday's match play.

Close behind came Jack Westland of Chicago, runner-up in the 1931 tournament, with a 71, while five players had 72—Bill Blaney of West Newton, Mass., the veteran George Voigt of New York, D. W. Armstrong of Lancaster, Pa., Johnny Goodwin of Omaha and nineteen-year-old Charles Yates of Atlanta. A flock of players making their debut in the national were grouped among those with 73's.

With forty-seven players having scores of 76 or better there was the prospect of a two or three way tie for the medals as was the case last year, and that 152 or 153 might be the border line score for participation in the match play.

May of the well-advertised stars, including champion Francis Ouimet of Boston, who had 78; half of the American and virtually all of the British Walker cup members, as well as four of the same former champions entered, were in precarious positions.

Bill Howell of Richmond, a semi-finalist in 1931, apparently had blown himself out with his 83 yesterday, while Don Moe of Portland, Ore., faced the necessity of almost a perfect round to offset his 80. Charles Sever of Los Angeles with 75, and Gus Moreland of Dallas, who had 76, were in better spots.

An architect has designed an airplane landing field to be built on top of two London railway stations to provide a central place in the heart of the city to serve both rail and air travelers.

Golf course greens in and near Oklahoma City were reported in the worst condition in years this summer.

Backfield Still Big Problem At Harvester Field

Day by day the Harvesters are gradually rounding into a better looking football team but the question is can a winning combination be uncovered in time to do any good? Coach Argus Fox' line looks plenty good because he had all the material in the world to choose from and most of the lettermen back are linemen.

The backfield situation looks hopeless one day and a little brighter the next. The fullback position is one that is worrying coaches and is one that is worrying coaches and fans. Captain Jim Pool looked the best bet for the fullback job yesterday afternoon during a hard scrimmage and if he keeps up the good work he will have a permanent job this fall. Miles Margaugh and Wayne Kelley should be good relief men and both can punt.

The boys are fast getting into condition. Most of them are obeying training orders to the last ditch and they will be the boys who will come out on top at the end, coaches declare. "Condition is what counts in the long run," Coach Mitchell said yesterday. "If a boy is in good physical and mental condition he will grasp plays and remember them much better than the boy who breaks training."

Coach Warren Moore of the Gorillas was on the field yesterday looking over his prospects. The squad will be divided within the next day or two. The Gorillas will be the smallest and inexperienced this year but look like a bunch of determined boys. They work with the Harvesters and are not afraid to tackle the big fellows or to be tackled. They are in excellent condition, not a one being injured to date.

Hard practice sessions and scrimmages will be in order until the last day before the opening game which will be Sept. 30 with Clovis.

Frankie Barrett, former Pacific Coast league shortstop, is planning to make his home in Oklahoma City.

NEWS AND FACULTY WILL PLAY OFF PROTESTED GAME FRIDAY

Clubs Wrangle Over Who Should Play Next Game

Another big argument has come up to mar the peace and quietness of the civic club baseball tournament and the Kiwanians have fired the latest gun in the war. They claim that they should not have to play the Rotarians, winners over the Lions last Wednesday, because the Lions won a previous game from the Rotarians which leaves the two teams at loggerheads.

The Kiwanians defeated the Lions after the roaring men had won the first game from the Rotarians and now the Kiwanians think they should sit back after announcing that they would take the winner of last week's game. Now they want to get without further the two old opponents to play another game, says managers of the two nines.

"Those Kiwanians are just afraid of us and want to practice another week," said Travis Lively, manager of the Rotarians yesterday afternoon when he was informed that the Kiwanians want a play-off before they meet the winner. "Of course we can beat the Lions again and then beat the Kiwanians but they challenged the winner of last week's game and it is who they are going to get without further beating about the bush."

The Lions have not reported their decision. It will probably be taken up at the next regular meeting.

Teams Anxious To Prove Superiority and Hot Battle Is Assured.

The NEWS and Faculty playground ball teams will play off a protested game at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Magnolia park if it was decided last night after the league president and team managers had voted that the NEWS protest was justified. The protest in question was the opening game of the season between the two teams, won by the Faculty.

Arguments by both managers were heard at a meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms with President C. E. Roff presiding. Several other questions that have confronted teams were discussed and settled at the meeting. Names of new players were turned in to the president and they will be eligible to play this afternoon unless there is a transfer and the managers do not come to an agreement before that time.

There will be no quarter asked and none given when the Faculty and the newsmen clash Friday afternoon. Both nines will be at full strength for the clash. A win for either team will mean much in the league standing.

Names of additional players turned in last night follows:

Faculty—Savage and Bradley. NEWS—Caddy and Hoskinson. Rose Building—Ruey Morgan. Janclair—George Sharum and Paul Sharum. Santa Fe—Lefty Fuller and Lee Boden. Jayvees—Jim Kolb, Eugene Neaf, Red Camel, Tinnie Stokes, Clinton Adair, Clarence Butler and Wayne Nicholson (if released by Rose Building).

Babe Ruth is shown in bed following his "stomach ache heard around the world" in 1925, one of the first of his spectacular collapses. ## MUELLER'S SPECIALTY WILL REALLY PUT ONE TO SLEEP

Doc Mueller, the famous Chiropractic headlock specialist, will be in Pampa tomorrow night to wrestle Rob Roy, local favorite, in the main event. Mueller has been looking for a chance to show Pampa wrestling fans his famous "sleep hold" but he wanted a top-notch to try it on so he has selected Roy as being the logical man.

The preliminary will bring Andy Gump and Don Jones together. The semi-final bout has not been arranged but it will be a good one.

Mueller tried his famous hold on Tom Horner of the Amarillo NEWS-GLOBE staff and this is what Horner has to say:

I knew I was falling, but I could do nothing about it.

That, in short, is the best description I can give of the sensation I experienced yesterday afternoon, when Doc Mueller, San Antonio wrestler, put his famous "sleep-producing" hold on me.

Promoter Dutch Mantell brought Mueller to the editorial offices of The News yesterday to demonstrate the hold on a disinterested party.

The duties of a cub reporter are many and varied but this was the first time I had ever been called upon to be a subject for a wrestler.

The doctor placed his fingertips at the back of my neck close to the spinal column, and his thumbs to the side of my neck. When he applied pressure, noticed no effects. In fact, I began to think that this so-called "sleep producer" was a lot of hooey. There was no muzzie pain, just pressure; no strangulation. I was talking to Doc when I went out.

I was saying: "Just now does this work, Doc?" And I heard the roar of an electric fan gradually growing louder. Everything went black. As Mueller remarked, I started falling to the floor, apparently rather slowly. I could see the floor coming up to meet me, and I knew I was due to land any pronto, but I really didn't care a lot. Mantell caught me just before I hit.

Mueller's hold has no ill effects. Other than a slight tingling sensation which persisted for 10 minutes, I was all right when they put me on my feet.

Personally, I see no reason why

TERRY DUE TO BOSS GIANTS FOR 2 YEARS

LINEUP OF TEAM WILL LIKELY UNDERGO CHANGES

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. (AP)—Bill Terry is going to get a chance to see what he can do with a team of his own making.

The Memphis slugger, who succeeded John McGraw as manager of the New York Giants in June, has signed a two-year contract, covering the 1933 and 1934 seasons. Terms, it was said, were "satisfactory" both to Terry and President Charles Stoneham.

The baseball world will watch with more than a little interest Terry's efforts to reorganize a club that was in seventh place today after one of the most disastrous seasons any Giant team ever has experienced.

That the big first baseman is dissatisfied with the makeup of the team is well known. He has indicated that only three or four players can be regarded as certain of their places.

The Giants were in last place with 17 victories and 23 defeats, an average of .425, when McGraw quit. Under Terry's handling there has been only a slight improvement—47 victories and 52 defeats, an average of .475. They were in last place when McGraw quit and had small hopes of rising any higher than sixth, if that, before the season ended.

As Mueller remarked, I started falling to the floor, apparently rather slowly. I could see the floor coming up to meet me, and I knew I was due to land any pronto, but I really didn't care a lot. Mantell caught me just before I hit.

Mueller's hold has no ill effects. Other than a slight tingling sensation which persisted for 10 minutes, I was all right when they put me on my feet.

Personally, I see no reason why

Garbo's Stockholm Fans Disappointed

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 13. (AP)—Greta Garbo's home town movie fans expressed disappointment last night when she did not attend the premiere showing of the film "Susan Lennox". Her mother, brother and sister-in-law, however, were among the capacity audience which included the American minister. The newspaper criticisms of the film praised highly Miss Garbo's attractiveness and "mysteriously touching appearance," and added some remarks on "the tragedy of her popularity."

Gandhi Will Starve Again for India

LONDON, Sept. 13. (AP)—In declining to starve to death unless Britain revokes the communal settlement just outlined for India, Mahatma Gandhi is "speaking in a language the Indian people understand." Londoners best acquainted with India said today.

The Mahatma announced yesterday he would refuse all food after September 20 unless the government came to terms.

Lord Irwin, who preceded Lord Willingdon as Viceroy of India, told American newspaper men at a luncheon last summer:

"If I were to get out in the hallway of the new government buildings at Delhi, squat down on the floor and refuse to eat a bite until the Indian civil disobedience movement came to terms, the trouble would be over in a few days."

"Of course before those few days could elapse my liberal, conservative and labor colleagues in London would send for me to come home and have a padded cell waiting for me on my arrival."

POONA, India, Sept. 13. (AP)—As the very time the Mahatma Gandhi's ultimatum was made public in Great Britain the Mahatma himself was setting in an improvised dentist's chair in Yeroda prison, having finishing touches put to a new set of teeth.

The dentist has been a frequent visitor to the prisoner because the Mahatma has made several dentures for the Mahatma only to have them discarded.

The Mahatma's plan to "fast until death" unless British communal election plans are abandoned was expected to bring about his release from prison. Similar fasts were reported as saying they would send him to Sabiamati Ashram, his residence near Ahmedabad.

DINNER ANNOUNCED

The Methodist Missionary societies will entertain all ladies of the First Methodist church with a birthday dinner in the church basement at 1 o'clock Monday, September 26.

TO BECOME BRIDE OF JOHN D. 3RD

The wedding of Miss Blanchette Hooker (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eion H. Hooker of Greenwich, Conn., and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is to take place in the fall. Their engagement has just been announced. Young Rockefeller, bearer of a name famed in American finance, is associated with his father in business and philanthropic organizations.

OUT-OF-TOWN PASTORS HEAR GRIMM PREACH

EVANGELIST WILL TALK ON 'EXCUSES' THIS EVENING

That the question of how to inherit eternal life is vital for hereafter, was demonstrated last night in a powerful sermon by Rev. E. B. Grimm at the tabernacle. He declared that one could go wrong on many questions of life such as politics, church membership, and baptism, and suffer little consequences, but the question of inheriting eternal life was paramount.

At last night's services, a rousing song service led by H. M. Powell, musical director and young people's worker, visiting pastors, Rev. Hicks of Panhandle and Rev. Johnson of Berger were introduced. Other visitors were welcomed. Rev. Hicks was called on for prayer.

"The way of the cross leads home," the evangelist said. "The Lord's Supper, baptism, has no more to do with salvation than Moses' bull. God has gone out of his way to make plain the matter of salvation. The rich young ruler who asked the question 'What must I do in order to inherit eternal life?' was an anxious seeker. Christ declared he lacked one thing. And if we analyze it we discover it was a complete, definite surrender to the will of God."

"Jesus did not mean to bankrupt the rich young ruler, but wanted him to surrender all to the will of God. Between every soul and God there is a contested point. It may be riches, or the love of worldly pleasures, or the can't-leave-everything-known-today-and-yet-go-to-hell. Surrendered will is the only thing God demands."

The evangelist then discussed a scriptural reading, second chapter of Acts, 38 v. He stated that to properly interpret Scripture one must know three things: first, who is speaking; second, what he is speaking about; third, who he is speaking to. The Jews in this instance refused to accept the new order of things and in order to be saved, one must seek a contest with God's will but must come with a complete surrendered will. Saul or Paul was a man of stubborn will and on the way to Damascus Christ spoke to him.

"Saul became deeply convicted of his sins but was not truly converted until after he reached Damascus. It was here he made the complete definite surrender and as a result found salvation. Those who have studied the life of Paul realize there must have come a tremendous change in his life for he had been the persecutor of the Christians. The sum was to be divided between Baker and Horace Mann schools. J. A. Meek, principal of Baker school, expressed his thanks to the donor this morning.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS Nan is convinced the man she has lurking near the Weare country home during the storm was Robert Leonard and that his presence means danger for her husband. She knows Jervis would ridicule the idea. As Nan and Jervis approach the deep tidal gully next morning Bran Jervis' dog, becomes agitated and refuses to enter the bridge. Jervis tries to force the dog across but Nan, sensing something is wrong, jumps on the bridge to block her husband. Then there is a terrifying crash.

Chapter 20

A SERIOUS QUARREL

Nan did not hear the crack of breaking timber, because it was lost in the roar of the fall, but she felt the shuddering jar of it. The bridge seemed to be wrenched beneath her.

She did hear Jervis' shout, and she felt his grasp like an iron clamp upon her shoulder. She thought she screamed, and the spray and the foam and the cold water upon her face and her hands, and her breast. She swung giddily above the torrent, and there was nothing between her and the pool below—a long, long way below.

The bridge was gone—everything was gone. She swung giddily a frightful noise in her ears, and the water falling about her. She had no thought for why she did not fall. She swung to and fro. It was all a confusion, like the broken bits of a dream.

And then suddenly she came shuddering out of the dream, to hear Jervis' voice above her:

"Can you lift your arm?"

The sound of the words had reached her before, but not their sense. She made a slow, weak effort to raise her right arm, but something clamped it down.

Then Jervis' voice again:

"You—lift—arm."

She tried, reached up, and felt his grasp her wrist. Then she was being drawn up, slowly, dreadfully slowly, while the noise of the falling, churning water seemed to be right inside her head. She couldn't seem able to think. The moment went on interminably.

Then she felt a scraping sensation across her shoulders and back, the feel of something solid beneath her. Something went round and round in her head. She grasped and struggled to sit up. She felt as if she had been wrenched in two. She got up on her knees panting.

The middle of the bridge was gone. A yard away the broken timbers stuck out over empty space. On her left Jervis was getting up, his hand on the ground against her and licked her cheek. She caught him about the neck and struggled up.

"Are you—all right?"

She nodded, holding Bran tight. And added in a fluttering voice that was much less audible than she meant it to be:

"What happened?"

Jervis said harshly, "The bridge broke."

She said, "I went—down."

He threw her a curious look. It was almost as if he accused her—an angry look.

"You might have been killed."

"You saved me."

"I grabbed your shoulder. We came down together."

Nan's heart contracted. She might have pulled him over—she might so easily have pulled him over. The words said themselves along the gully.

"I might have pulled you over!"

"You very nearly did. If I hadn't come down full length before the bridge actually fell, we should both have gone with it. As it was, I managed to hang on, and old Bran took hold of my coat and pulled me up. He was worth it. I got a good haul of your dress, and thank goodness the stuff was strong!"

"Was it a long time? It felt very long."

"No. I couldn't have held you for more than a moment. It felt as if up your left arm, and I got hold of it, but if it hadn't been for Bran, I don't think I could have got you up."

At the sound of his name Bran thrust his head under his master's hand, jerking it up. Nan felt an icy chill of his coat and pulled down the path. Her knees shook a little, and before she had taken half a dozen steps Jervis' hand was on her arm.

"You're a bit shaky."

"A little. It's nothing."

"They came out of the trees, but instead of climbing the slope they followed the easier gradient of the path. The sound of the fall receded. After walking silently for some time Jervis burst out with a sudden:

"I can't understand it."

Nan wondered if he felt the accusing leap of her pulses.

"He did it," she said.

Jervis stopped dead and swung her round to face him.

"What's that?"

He still held her by the elbow, and his grasp felt rough and strong.

"He did it."

"What are you talking about?"

"The bridge?"

"You've got to say what you mean!"

"What do you mean? Whom did you see?"

"Robert Leonard."

He let go of her so suddenly that she felt as if he had pushed her away. There was an angry color under his dark skin.

"We've got to have this out! You've got to say what you mean!"

"Yes, Jervis. I woke up in the night—something waked me—I don't know what it was. Then I heard Bran howling."

"You heard Bran?"—with angry suspicion.

"He was walking up and down the stairs and called him. He came into the room, and we both looked out of the window. He was very excited. I thought it was because there was a storm coming up."

"You seem to think he's a 'Pekinese'! He doesn't mind storms."

"I know he doesn't. It wasn't the storm he was minding."

"No—I suppose it was Leonard!" Nothing could have been more incredulous than his voice; his eyes held a hint of fierce amusement.

Nan lifted her head.

"Yes, Bran is cleverer than you are—he knows when there's danger and he wouldn't go on to the bridge."

Jervis laughed angrily.

"Well—he was minding Leonard? And then, I suppose you both saw him!"

"I did. I don't know if Bran did. I don't think he's good by seeing—he's got something else."

"You saw Leonard?"

"Yes, I did."

"Where?"

"Where the path goes into the trees."

"From your window! In the middle of the night!"

"Yes—I did. The moon went in, and there was a flash of lightning. I could see everything very clearly, and I saw Robert Leonard. I did see him."

Jervis' manner changed; it became colder and lost its rough edge.

"I'm afraid you have rather an obsession about Leonard. I hope you won't go about saying this sort of thing to anyone else—it might get you into trouble. You see, it's quite impossible that you could have recognized him at that distance by a flash of lightning."

"I did recognize him," said Nan. She began to walk on towards the house. Jervis came up with her.

"A man you've seen once!" He said in a taunting tone.

"I've seen him more than once—and I should know him wherever I saw him."

He gave an angry jerk of the shoulder and walked on in silence. The path entered a thicket, and presently came out upon the lawn. Before they came to the house Jervis spoke again.

"What have you got against Leonard?"

She looked at him with a direct simplicity.

"He wants to kill you."

Jervis was startled clean out of his angry impetuosity.

"You can't possibly mean a thing like that!"

"I do mean it."

"You can't! I don't like the man—but it's a perfectly foolish thing to say about anyone without proof."

Nan looked away. There was a note of appeal in his voice that weakened her. She took a step towards the house.

"You've no proof," said Jervis. She looked back over her shoulder for a moment without proof.

"The bridge fell," she said. She went into the house.

Nan stands by her guns tomorrow, although it means defying the man she loves.

GRAINS TOTTER

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (P)—All around setbacks here in grain values early today followed weakness of securities and cotton, as well as sharp downturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool. Reports from Liverpool said price breaks there resulted from pressure to sell Canadian wheat. Opening ¼-1% lower, Chicago wheat futures held near to the initial range. Corn started ½ down and continued weak, September and December establishing a new low price record for the season.

Recoveries of 1 to 2 points were numerous and some were of larger proportions. After dropping 6, Union Pacific rebounded 5 but was unable to hold its gain. Recent pool favorites were heavily sold.

A wide range of excuses for the setback was mentioned in brokerage quarters, political as well as economic, but the explanation most commonly offered in conservative banking quarters was that the market had gone ahead too fast and speculative situation. At the day's

COTTON OPENING ACTIVE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13 (P)—Cotton opened very active today but prices were weak. Liverpool came in at 13 to 15 penny points worse than the day and first trades here showed losses of 12 to 15 points. Prices continued to ease after the opening on rather liberal hedge-selling and further long liquidation and October dropped to 7.41, December to 7.54 and January to 7.57, or 24 to 26 points down from yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour, prices rallied slightly on satisfied shorts covering.

Storm warnings for a tropical disturbance in the Gulf apparently had no effect on the market.

STOCKS ON DOWN GRADE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (P)—The stock market was washed down a steep incline by a torrent of selling in the earlier hours of trading today but it showed some inclination to climb back as the selling subsided after midday.

Losses of 2 to more than 10 points were about half recovered in many instances after midday but the recovery was not well maintained and the market remained highly unsettled. Selling was general throughout the markets, with bonds, cotton, wheat and other commodities under pressure, although the most severe recession was in shares, where the break was the most drastic of 1932.

Stocks off about 4 to 6 points at the worst included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse, American Smelting Eastman, Coca Cola, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Union Pacific, American Can, Bethlehem, North American, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, American Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B, Youngstown, Allied Chemical, and others. Radio lost 3, and General Electric more than 4 points.

Recoveries of 1 to 2 points were numerous and some were of larger proportions. After dropping 6, Union Pacific rebounded 5 but was unable to hold its gain. Recent pool favorites were heavily sold.

A wide range of excuses for the setback was mentioned in brokerage quarters, political as well as economic, but the explanation most commonly offered in conservative banking quarters was that the market had gone ahead too fast and speculative situation. At the day's low prices, the market had lost about one-third of the extreme rise from July to September. Chart readers explained that the market could lose perhaps half of the rise without exceeding the limits of what might prove to have been merely a technical reaction, although a loss of a third of an upswing might well constitute a good technical shut-out.

LEAGUE DUEL ON

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 13 (P)—The fight for the Western league season championship shifted to Oklahoma City today after the Tulsa Oilers won two straight games on their home diamond. Charley Wood's three-hit pitching and the extra base hitting of Floyd Young, Oiler shortstopper, gave Tulsa the second victory yesterday, 6 to 4. Young hit two home runs, a double and a single.

BLEASE VS. SMITH

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 13 (P)—Veteran challenged veteran at today's democratic senatorial primary. Senator E. D. Smith has been in the senate for 24 years. He was opposed for renomination by Cole Blease, a former senator and former governor. Neither received a majority in the primary two weeks ago, thus necessitating today's primary, which is equivalent to election.

CHARGES FRAUD

SEATTLE, Sept. 13 (P)—A charge by Mayor John F. Dore of Seattle that 1,000 persons registered here fraudulently and his threat to prosecute them if they attempted to vote nullified interest in the Washington primary today. Dore campaigned against Senator Wesley L. Jones, author of the "five and ten" liquor law, and against Governor Roland H. Hartley, both of whom seek republican renomination.
