TWINKLES
Mr. Roosevelt admirably expresses the aspirations of the "common people." Too bad he cannot safely act on most of the advice coming from this same source.

Maybe there are no super-men, but the complexities of this age certainly indicate a need for such characters.

After doing other things than golfing for a year, we have the golfitis in a big way. If there is anything to the claim that practice then a vacation result in heightened skill, we'll need a few less figures for our score next summer.

The younger generation is the most "forgotten" of all, but it's lucky—it doesn't have to pay the taxes.

Bulls are coming up around our house—nature provides the best source of a new deal for those in a position to accept it.

Somehow, we wish Japan would lose a battle once in a while. Those fellows are the Bobby Joneses of those oriental riffs tournaments they've been having for a year or so.

OLD AMERICAN GAME.
It is a custom of no recent origin to dissect cabinet choices of the president. This game is well begun, with the lame ducks and republicans making a few comments.

ONE-MAN REGIME.
Although John Garner will be an important adviser of the new president, there is evidence that in picking his cabinet Mr. Roosevelt chose men of ability—and one who man without the reputation and fame which would give them power successfully to oppose administration moves if they chose.

PROFESSIONAL STAFF.
Yet President Roosevelt will be one of the most advised of men. His predilection to seek advice will probably become as famous as President Hoover was for appointing commissions.

Optimism Prevails At Jaysee Meeting

Members of the Junior chamber of commerce heard optimistic talks on economics, together with explanations of why Texas was obliged to follow other states in declaring a financial moratorium.

TIME TO KEEP OUR FAITH

Pampa firms and individuals are "carrying on" with a truly western fortitude.

Needling no moratoriums, the people of this community and the strong bank are compelled to be good "neighbors" and to accept temporary inconvenience in order that a national difficulty may be adjusted.

We know of no people which should be calmer in the face of such difficulties than western folk and particularly the oil fraternity.

Faith is the key to the whole situation—faith in the nation, the state, and the community.

Chairman John I. Bradley said that business of much importance is to be transacted, hence a full attendance of the directors is vital.

TREASURY TO PERMIT SCRIP AFTER FRIDAY

HEAVY PENALTIES MAY BE INFLICTED ON HOARDERS

LEGISLATION IS PLANNED

SOME RESTRICTIONS ON DEPOSITS LIFTED BY WOODIN

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7. (AP)—The treasury today authorized a guarded reopening of the nation's banks and the issuance after Friday of clearing house certificates, or scrip, to be used in place of money.

The scrip would be based on sound assets of clearing house or similar associations and would be pro-rated among creditors or depositors.

NO LOCAL OPENING
While the U. S. treasury department was issuing a string of moratorium modifications to the press today, the First National bank here had not been officially advised of the rulings and officers were awaiting these before taking any action.

THE text of the new banking regulations will be found on page 5.

Roosevelt and congress leaders turned this afternoon to the mapping out of legislation which they expect will restore the nation's business to an even keel.

The new president started work on his message to the special session of congress which meets Thursday.

Already he had conferred with Secretary Woodin of the treasury, whose order this morning lifted some restrictions on the banks, and it was expected his message would outline several bank reforms which he and his advisers have discussed.

A prominent democrat, declining to be quoted, said leaders were considering legislation which would inflict a heavy tax or severe penalties on hoarders.

NEW YORK, March 7. (AP)—Dow, Jones & Co. said today that latest banking developments "point to the probability that the plan to issue clearing house scrip to the public here will be scrapped and a program evolved for meeting the situation without the use of such emergency cash."

THOSE WHO SERVE: It was interesting to read the other day that the Great Western Railway of England lost a crack express train in a blizzard—lost it when the train got stuck in snow drifts on its way to London in one of the worst storms England has known in years.

Even more interesting, though, was the news of what the passengers on the train did when it finally got to London. The news dispatches relate that "passengers rushed forward to the locomotive and congratulated the engineer for getting them through. One woman kissed him.

This, to be sure, was no more than fair. But it is the sort of thing that seldom happens to railroad engineers, or to any other of those skilled technicians on whose devotion, endurance and ability the lives of travelers depend. It ought to happen often, but it doesn't.

Probably there is not a reader of this newspaper who has not at some time made a trip by train, steamer, by bus or by airplane at a time when the elements were actively hostile. But is there one reader who went out of his way, after it was over, to shake the hand of the engineer—or the captain, the driver or the pilot—and thank him for getting him through safely?

We take the work those men do for granted. We climb aboard a train on a cold, nasty night when the air is filled with flying snow and the thermometer registers zero weather, and we snuggle down comfortably in a berth and drop off to sleep with nothing to disturb us, and when morning comes we stroll into the diner for a hot breakfast and wonder idly if the train is going to be a bit late.

And through it all we hardly give a thought to the man up in the cap, peering out into the blinding night and holding the train to its course in spite of the weather. Nor do we consider the other men who helped get us in safely—the signalmen, the dispatchers, the track walkers and so on, who fought the storm while we slept cozily in a warm berth.

That, of course, was their job. They got paid for it. But they deserve at least a passing thought from us, whom they serve. These English passengers were exceptional in that they remembered it.

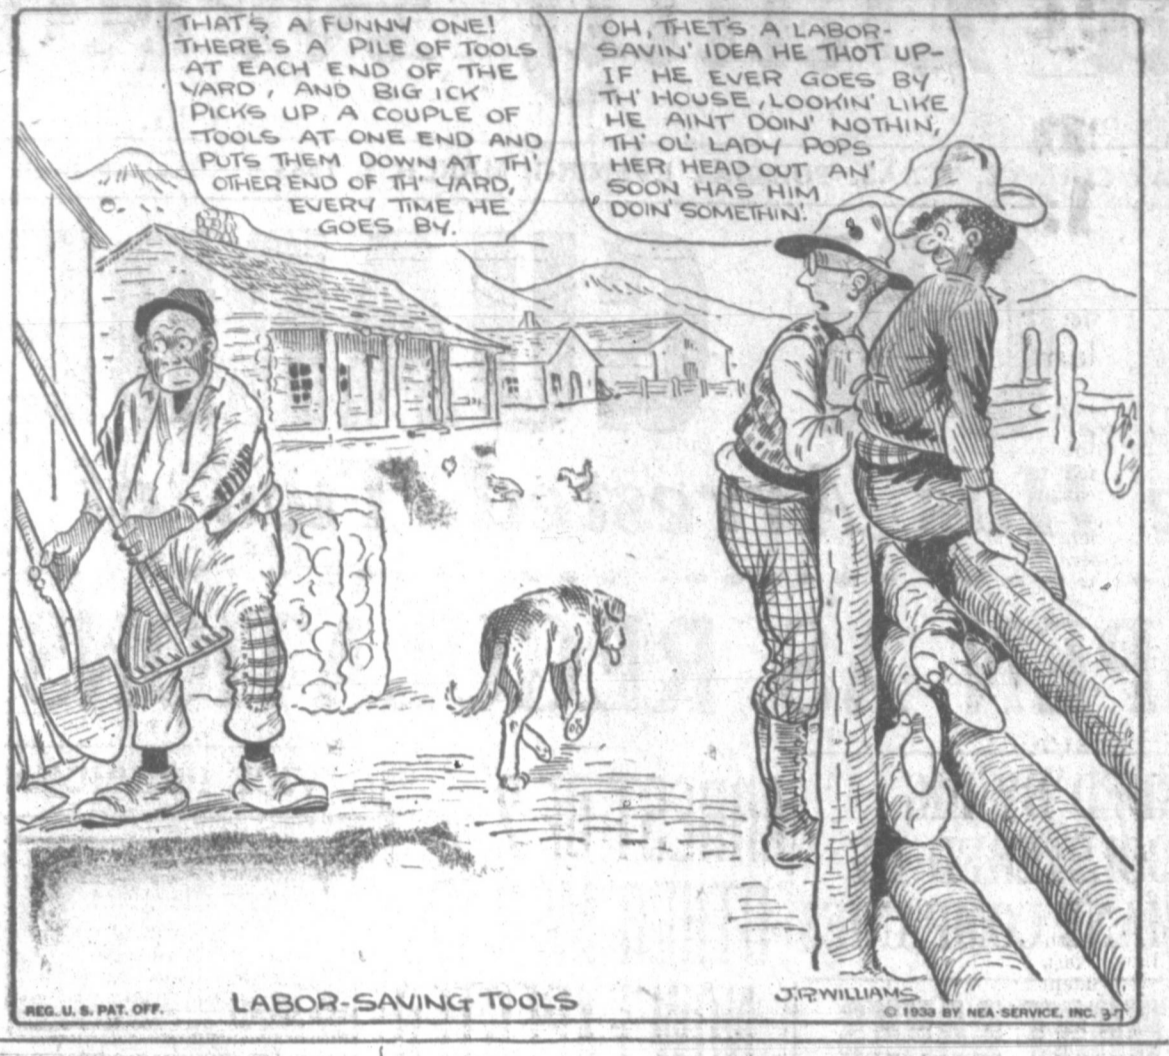

High school seniors who are starting themes on "We have left the bay and the ocean lies before us" might find it a good idea to rig up a breeches buoy with the family larder before casting off all hawsers.

Garden pests soon will be putting in their appearance—lean over the back fence to remind you that you didn't seem to have very good luck with the tomatoes last year.

It's becoming increasingly hard for fathers to work their sons way through college. So far-reaching is the vogue for realism in the theater that there's nothing reserved anymore except the seats.

Our traditions should be kept in mind in working out international co-operation, says the new secretary of state. Off hand, it might seem that world co-operation has the habit of encountering traditional obstacles.

VALIANT DUST by Percival Christopher Wren "DEAUSTE"

SYNOPSIS: Raisul, son of the Emir of Morocco and remote Mekezen, has made Jules Mallignat drunk so he could marry Jules' mother, she suggests the marriage consider it a joke. The older woman contemptuously locks Margaret in a room while she goes to a temple of intrigue, mostly against France, and involving not only the Moors of Mekezen, but even Major Voltaire's French Foreign Legion, encamped near by.

Chapter 23. BEWARE OF RAISUL. "THAT Raisul!" continued El Isa Beth el Ain. "He is without conscience, heart, soul or bowels of compassion. Raisul fears neither man, nor beast, nor fiend, nor Allah himself. Raisul is a devil incarnate, and would spit upon the beard of the Prophet."

"Hey, Lady Mother," yawned Jules. "Let's talk about Raisul, shall we?" "I am talking about Raisul," "No!"

"And I say, beware of Raisul. Plead to him, consider him, and please him in everything. For, before long, he will rule this Castle and this town of Mekezen and this Country of the Guh—and, some day, he will rule Morocco."

"Even now, when orders are given, the voice is the voice of the Kaid but the words are the words of Raisul. And Zainub, his mother, has influence with him—much influence. If the Kaid ceased to indulge Raisul, to obey Raisul, if the Kaid thwarted him in any matter upon which he had set his heart, and Raisul decided that his father had lived long enough, Zainub would help Raisul."

"If Raisul brought poison, saying, with that smile of his, 'This will give the Kaid, my father, wonderful dreams—long, long dreams; Zainub would put it in his coffee, or his wine.'"

"Scherharazade, my soul, you're getting morbid. These things positively are not done now a days. You're old-fashioned, absolutely Victorian."

"I have dwelt in the dark rooms of this Castle for a quarter of a century, my son, and I . . ."

"Want a change, darling. You want a week end at Brighton. . . . and I know what I know. Listen to me, Jules, my son, that your days may be long upon the earth, and those of your dear father, my husband and lord, also. I say to you now, and I say to you daily, even though you come to hate the sound of my voice."

"Raisul rules; beware of Raisul; offend him not; obey him, please him and placate him."

"And why all this fuss, just now, oh, my mother?" "My son, never be a knave, but oh, ten thousand times, I say, never be a fool. Listen. This Raisul, your cousin, the son of my brother, is not only the greatest of knaves, but so clever that he thinks all other men are fools. He thinks you are a fool. He made a fool of you last night. He made you drunk."

"Well, that amused me more than it did him," smiled Jules Mallignat. "Did it?" inquired his mother dryly. "Well, he made you drink, for your father, watching, saw. And in that, my son, you were a fool."

"I certainly gathered in a head and a mouth my love, and that was a foolish thing to do."

"That is nothing. . . ."

"Oh, is it?" "Nothing, and less than nothing. You were a fool in that you let Raisul make a fool of you. . . . You let Raisul get the upper hand and take the higher ground. It is not for sultans to make viziers drunk, and mock them and despise them, and get the better of them."

"It is for viziers to make sultans drunk and bend them to their will; obtain mastery and influence and power over them; make sultans sign what viziers have written; make sultans say what viziers think; it is for viziers to guide them and lead them and drive them and ride them, as the weakest man can ride the strongest stallion, or the swiftest camel."

"Let not this Raisul make you drunk again, or I'll come of it—great ill in great matters, as well as little ill in little things."

Lady El Isa Beth el Ain paused in the torrent of her speech and in her fanning of her son. "A little ill hath already befallen," she said quietly. "If you call this head a little ill . . ."

Jules' mother succeeds in impressing him with her story, tomorrow.

PRICE BOOST MIGHT FOLLOW BANK HOLIDAY

GOODS AND COMMODITY ADVANCES TAKEN AS GOOD SIGN

NEW YORK, March 7. (AP)—The experts, like jigsaw puzzle pieces, are missing, trying to figure out whether the bank holiday doesn't mark the beginning of economic recovery.

Some saw, in advancing commodity and foodstuffs prices, indications of a possible mild inflation with a boost in the price level. This might, they felt, begin by putting money into the hands of farmers and thence stimulate industry toward the return of happier days.

Many markets were closed, however, and other unsettled factors prevented a general picture of the picture together. All they could do was receive the news from market centers and try to relate it to the general situation.

Among the news yesterday were the following items:
 As Chicago cash wheat advances 2 and 2 1/2 cents; cash corn was steady at 1/4 to 3/4 advances; cattle sold from 25 to 50 cents higher; hogs surged 10 to 25, reaching a $4.05 top, and sheep sold for 25 to 50 cents more per hundredweight. Provisions were sharply higher.

At New York, raw sugar rose to three cents a pound, trading in other provisions being quiet. Raw cotton prices rose sharply in the outside market.

Chicago observers said higher prices were due to orders to close the market and exchange and the Chicago cash wheat market. An uptick at New York in wholesale prices on some foodstuffs, which had as yet slight if any effect in retail prices, was attributed to several factors.

The farmers described as the reluctance of farmers to ship under unsettled conditions; their belief that they might receive higher prices later; and the demands of dealers seeking to insure adequate supplies for customers.

Butter receipts at New York dropped and the price of butter fell, taken as an index of the trend of butter prices, rose a cent a pound to 17 1/2. Eggs also sold higher at wholesale.

voyaging, plus a big measure of luck, Mr. Roosevelt may steer the nation into comparative normalcy before the next election. If he does not, we see the elements of distrust and distaste even exceeding those Mr. Hoover knows so well.

ELEVEN-MAN CABINET

Mr. Hoover had 10 men in his cabinet. Mr. Roosevelt is adding an eleventh person in Lewis William Douglas of Arizona, director of the budget. If promises of drastic reduction of governmental cost are carried out, Mr. Douglas will be the most hated man in the cabinet and the most important. He will represent economy in government.

Two other members of the cabinet, with rather divergent views as to economic, may give reason for discord. William H. Woodin of the treasury represents business as it is done in big time circles. He stands for a balanced budget and sound currency. He is not likely to agree with Wright Patman's projects. Henry A. Wallace of agriculture is a young radical, exponent of the domestic allotment plan, and likely foe of Woodin and of Douglas on farm issues.

AN INSPIRED CHOICE

At this writing, Senator Cordell Hull as secretary of state seems to be the class of the alert, but not brilliant cabinet. He understands international finance at a time when the secretary should understand it thoroughly. He compares favorably with Bryan, Lansing, Coby, Hughes, Kellogg, and Stimson.

Mr. Walsh's place, filled temporarily by Cummings, is still unsettled in the department of justice. Secretaries Swanson and Dern will handle the military well in peacetime—the war and naval departments are self-operative on the whole—while the postmaster generalship will find Mr. Farley an able executive. Secretary Wilbur will be following the chances wrought by Harold Ickes (pronounced Ickus) of Chicago, the Roosevelt appointee whose uncertain party affiliations are taken as a subtle indication of the new president's wish to thank the progressive republicans.

Daniel C. Roper of commerce is slated for a barrage of criticism because he doesn't measure up to the nation's idea of what it needs at this time. He is no Strauss, no Lamont, no Hoover—yet.

PEIPING, March 7. (AP)—Twenty miles north of Koupeikow Chang Hsiao-Liang's army is making its last stand against the Japanese pushing toward the Great Wall of China from Jehol City. Chinese headquarters said this afternoon. Koupeikow is just inside the wall, 65 miles northeast of here and 50 miles from Jehol. There is a pass through the wall at that point.

President Attends Walsh's Funeral

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Urgent cares of state were laid aside today while America's officialdom gathered at the flowerbanked bier of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana in the senate chamber to pay him a last reverent tribute.

President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet—in which Walsh would have sat had he lived—headed the list of notables who sat silently near the silvered bronze casket and joined his widow in mourning his passing.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor, The NEWS:
 We urge every person to give full cooperation in the taking of the present school census.

Mrs. J. H. Blythe is the enumerator who will be six years old or under eighteen years of age on September 1, 1933. In enumerating these children, age is all that counts.

Children born on or before September 1, 1915, or after September 1, 1927, must not be enumerated.

For each child of school age in the district the state will pay probably $16.00. This the apportionment made for the past year, but the sum for 1933-34 session has not been set.

We desire very much to get the names of children who expect to leave soon, especially those who will leave before Mrs. Blythe can reach them.

R. B. FISHER,
 Superintendent.

SPENDS MUCH IN TEXAS

The B. F. Goodrich company, Akron, Ohio spent $164,789 in the purchase of raw and manufactured materials from various industries and producers in Texas during 1932, according to a national survey recently completed.

The amount does not include total expenditures of Goodrich in Texas, the report shows, for Goodrich payrolls in the state are not included in tabulation.

Principal factories and offices of the Goodrich company in Akron, and the company also operates a factory in Los Angeles, California, and Martha Mills Inc., a fabric mill at Silvertown, Georgia.

Youngberg was under arrest at Chamberlain, S. D.

Police said that $1,400 had been found in the possession of the wife of one of the suspects held. They said they believed this money was part of the ransom paid for the release of Boettcher.

A suspect in the case, arrested at Chamberlain, S. D., cut his throat and wrists with a safety razor in jail last night. The man refused to give officers any information last night, but was said to have admitted this morning he was involved in the kidnaping plot.

Chief of Police A. T. Clark said Boettcher was held more than two weeks had been located by authorities in the hills of South Dakota near Mitchell, S. D.

As the kidnapers brought the broker back to Denver to release him last Wednesday, he managed to slip the blindfold off his eyes two or three times long enough to see buildings and other things along the way.

While going through or near Torrington, Wyo., he saw the name of the town on the side of a building. This one bit of information went a long way toward helping police to clear up the case.

Holiday Extended: AUSTIN, March 7. (AP)—Shaw, Texas banking commu er, today issued a proclamation tending the financial moratorium in this state to end including 9 to coincide with the national holidays.

Under Shaw's original edict Texas moratorium would have ended tonight. In his latest proclamation he adopted the rules prepared by the federal government apply to all state banks.

These embraced Secretary V. in's recent stipulation that national and state banks can remain open to pay out money for wages and necessary current expenses for maintaining employ and other essential purposes.

Shaw said in his proclamation approved by Governor Miriam Ferguson, that "while, as a matter of fact, conditions in Texas warrant the cessation of business such as we have, still the national scope of the financial disaster makes it necessary that we implicitly all orders of the secretary of the United States, in full of the whole financial structure, first be returned to normal as far as possible."

DANCING ON GLASS

ILLUSION:
 In India, the fakirs present a spectacle to tourists. Two lovely performers, great boards and lamp chimneys before the eyes of the audience, and throw the jagged pieces into a box already filled with broken glass. They step barefooted into the box and do an Oriental dance in the glass without injury.

EXPLANATION:
 The performers toughen their feet in a strong solution of alum water and thoroughly rub them with pulverized resin before they appear. They throw the freshly broken glass around the edges of the platform. The glass on which they actually do dance is very thick, heavy, and filed or ground so that the sharp edges are rounded off. The girls just pretend to dance on the sharp glass.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED

...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

One of the tricks of cigarette advertising is to pretend that "Heat Treatment" is an exclusive process, making one cigarette better than any other.

EXPLANATION: All cigarette manufacturers use heat treatment. It is a routine process of manufacture. The first Camel cigarette ever made was manufactured under the heat-treating process. Every one of the billion Camels produced since has received the necessary heat treatment.

Harsh, raw tobaccos require sieve processing under high temperatures. The more expensive tobaccos which are naturally mild, call for a moderate application of heat treatment never can make inferior tobacco good.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is the most important statement ever made in a cigarette advertisement. Weigh its words. Consider what it means. Then try Camels.

BUSINESS WOMEN SPONSOR ACTIVITIES OF BO-KNOT CLUB

ONE of the most worthwhile endeavors of the Business and Professional Women's club is the sponsoring of the Bo-Knot club.

Shown above, an organization for Junior high school girls. The club is composed of 130 girls. Mrs. M. P. Downs is advisor for the girls.

MARY DOUGLAS WINS CONTEST

BUSINESS CLUB IS IN SPONSOR OF ESSAY WRITING

For Mary Douglas, who won first place among the Bo-Knot girls in a thrift essay contest sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club, a small savings account was started by the senior club. The contest was conducted during Thrift week. Mary, age 13, makes excellent grades in her school work and is recognized as a leader among her class mates. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Douglas.

The essay follows:

By MARY DOUGLAS.
Webster defines thrift as economical management or frugality. We can begin to practice thrift when we are very young and continue to do so throughout our lives. There are many ways in which we may practice thrift.

We may start a savings bank account. Many children save small pennies, nickels, dimes, or what amount they have. This teaches them to save their money not only when they are children and have pennies, but also when they are grown and have dollars.

The French are very thrifty people. They plant trees that will produce shade and food. They save the Mulberry leaves and use them for fertilizer.

In Japan the people save the Mulberry leaves and feed them to the silk worms.

Most families have budgets. A certain amount of the income is spent for food, clothing, shelter, and other things. The budget is so planned that the needed amount of nourishment is bought for the least amount of money possible. The amount of money that is left after expenses are paid is saved.

Franklin said, "If you would know the value of money, go and try to borrow some; for he that goes a borrowing, goes a sorrowing." Do not get into debt for anything unless it is absolutely necessary. If you do not have enough money to buy something, wait until you do have the money.

Thrift does not mean only the saving of money, but the saving of time as well. We do not use a horse and buggy to go from one place to another, but we use an automobile, train or airplane instead.

The child who guards his health is forming habits of thrift that will mean happiness in his future life. "You wish to waste no opportunities for a life-work, prevent you from wasting your life."

One of our richest men said, "Thrift is such a simple thing—and means so much. It is the foundation of success in business, of contentment in society." Many people who did not practice thrift before this depression find that they would not be in the financial condition that they are in if they had begun to practice thrift when they were children. We overlook many of the simple things that mean so much.

So we might say that thrift is the saving of money, time, health, and opportunity.

Bo-Knot Club Grows From Group of 29 to 130 Girls; Business Women Direct Activities of Organization

The Bo-Knot club, sponsored by the local Business and Professional Women's club, was organized in Junior high school in February, 1931, with 29 charter members. The organizing of such a club came as a recommendation from Mrs. C. A. Clark, who was then Miss Esther Thompson, a teacher in Junior high. The name Bo-Knot was chosen because the bow knot represents the beauty of the life of a worth-while girl.

The council of teachers for the first year was Miss Juanita McAlister, Miss Esther Thompson, Miss Lottie Gibson, and Miss Margaret Jones. The committee from the Business and Professional Women's club who worked with the Bo-Knots was Mrs. D. E. Robinson, Mrs. Frank Foster and Mrs. Frank Keehn.

The standards of the club are centered on the words Measure Up with the following motto:
Master all subject matter to the best of my ability.
Select desirable associates.
Always be on time.
Stand for clean sports.
Use mental, moral, and physical ability.
Read only good literature.
Effective service where possible.
Use consideration for others.

ALL SOUTHLAND HOPES TO RAISE $80,000 DURING WEEK

THAT First Baptist W. M. S. members were actively engaged in personal service work during January and February was shown in an incomplete report given at a meeting at the church yesterday afternoon. The meeting was the first of a series for the observance of week of prayer.

At thousands of Conoco stations and dealers, old cars are being re-born. Presto! They start at a spark. Z-z-z-z-z! They're away like a flash. The new, bronze, high-test gas does it. It's the talk of the nation today.

Volatility has been jumped way up. This gasoline is almost self-vaporizing. In the cylinder its vapor floats lightly; so dry, so sensitive that one spark sets it aflame. Higher octane rating gives it improved anti-knock quality; makes the motor fire evenly; makes power flow like the deep, swift current of a stream.

All this, plus long mileage, costs not a penny more. Why not put "wings" on YOUR car? Drive in; fill the tank; step out in a great big way.

TRADE GOODS FOR TICKETS

Assorted Merchandise Buys Serious Fight Fans Seats In Balcony.

By EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, March 7. (AP)—It should have been a lot of fun, this idea of waiting boxing all the way back to the days of barter.

But there were instead 500 serious men and boys from an end of Manhattan Island to the other today who had swapped some article of value for a night of fistic entertainment in stuffy old St. Nicholas rink.

You got quite a shock if you came to laugh at New York's first advertised display of barter, the semi-finals of the annual golden gloves amateur boxing tournament in the rink last night, where some minor possession, valued at 50 cents, plus five cents in cash for the government war tax, would buy a seat in the balcony.

Boys who had dug into mothers' canned goods supply; men who had sacrificed a tool of their trade; shopkeepers who dragged trade goods down from their shelves; and men who had dug around the house until they found 50 cents worth of negotiable goods poured in a steady stream past the surprised box office.

There was everything from frankfurters to a mattress, that bought two tickets. One fish dealer brought a four-pound pike, another several pounds of cut fish. A butcher turned in two pounds of meat with a couple of chops.

Most of it ran far above the 50-cent value. Every bit of it was offered in deadly earnest. Nothing was refused. And if a fellow was a little short, he came in just the same.

"Sure," said one fellow seriously, a carpenter by trade. "And this is only a start. Tomorrow the rest of my things may go for food, or rent."

DALLAS INFIELD IS WORRYING MORSE AS MUCH AS HURLERS

Holland Predicts Women And Children Will Be Given Free Admittance.

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

When the Dallas Steers start spring training March 15, Manager Hap Morse will have a worry about second base where Ray Morehart and Cecil Stewart will compete. Morse is authority for the statement that Bubber Jonnard will be first string catcher, Zeke Bonura, the regular first sacker, Lou Brown, regular shortstop, and Ernie Holman, regular third sacker. Ray Morehart has the inside track for the second base job because of his natural hitting ability.

If Stewart fails to make the grade against Morehart, he probably will be returned to the Tulsa Oilers where he played last season.

But where Morse has only one infield worry, he has plenty of sleepless nights in the office because of lack of outfield and pitching material. Eno Radcliff is the only outfielder who is sure of a job. Not only is Morse sure of his infield but he believes it will be just a shade better than any other in the league.

A Forecast. Jack Holland, owner of the Oklahoma City Indians, evidently believes that sooner or later the Texas league will allow women and children free admittance at practically all home games. This is a privilege Sol Dreyfuss of the Dallas club has been fighting for.

In his speech at the Houston Texas league meeting, Holland complimented the women present at the banquet for their interest in baseball.

"It is good to see that women are taking such a keen interest in our game," he said. "There is a fellow sitting at this table who is waiting a fight for free admittance to women and children at all home games. The league can't see such a move possible, but I believe this young man from Dallas is right and that sooner or later he will win his point."

Dreyfuss made a talk at the meeting again urging Texas league club owners to adopt a resolution admitting women and children free but no action was taken on his suggestion.

"The club owners can laugh at me now," connected Dreyfuss, "and tell me that I am green in the ways of baseball, but sooner or later I will have the laugh on them, for sometime in the future they will give my plan more serious consideration and adopt it."

MARBAUGH IS ELECTED CAGE TEAM CAPTAIN

BOYS TO PLAY GAMES TO DETERMINE SUPERIORITY

Miles Marbaugh, elongated south-paw forward who led his team in scoring in the season just closed, was elected captain of the Harvester 1934 basketball squad last evening.

Orville Heiskell was close second in the election.

The election marked the close of a dinner given the basketball boys by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marbaugh. Special guests were Supt. and Mrs. R. B. Fisher, Principal and Mrs. L. L. Scene, and Coach and Mrs. Odus Mitchell.

In the course of the evening, arguments developed as to the strength of the remaining athletes as opposed to the boys who are soon to graduate. As a result, the rival groups will play a basketball game and a football game before the end of this term to settle the debate.

The main purpose of the evening, however, was eating, and in this the boys were about equal. The delicious meal disappeared rapidly as the boys complimented the cooking by disposing of everything placed before them.

Bridge, dominoes, and other games were played.

Prospects Good For Track Team; Training Starts

Coach Odus Mitchell decided yesterday afternoon that the wind was too strong for track and field men to start training, but he issued suits and let the boys warm-up around the gymnasium for an hour. They went through setting-up exercises and leg limbering stunts.

The boys were scheduled to be at Harvester park this afternoon at 3 o'clock to start hard and steady work, weather permitting. The coach ran out of uniform after he had issued to 18 boys and the rest will have to wait a day or two. The squad gives promise of being one of the largest and best in many years.

There will be six or eight letter-men available and for the first time in two years the field material looks promising. Sprinters should not give the coach any trouble. Well known boys as Dick Sullivan, Bert Stevens, Leon Robinson, Orville Heiskell, and Robert O'Keefe ready, that department should be taken care of. Boyington, Frost, and Seeds should be able to handle the distance races if no other material shows up.

In the field department there will be Wayne Kelley, Marbaugh, Woodward, O'Keefe, Adair, Green, Heard and others. Heard, Green, and Marbaugh will probably be weight men, while the other boys will look after the jumping events.

The first meet of the season will be March 18 with Amarillo coming to Pampa.

AT THE SPRING TRAINING CAMPS

BILOXI, Miss., March 7. (AP)—In the words of Sam Rice, "the best ball club ever to represent Washington" today got down to business.

Boostered by the arrival late yesterday of Heinie Manush, Joe Croft and his ball players faced the first week of intensive work. Confident in their fielding ability, Joe is bent upon bringing his boys up a few notches in the batting percentage bracket this season.

LOS ANGELES, March 7. (AP)—Despite two defeats by the Cubs, Manager Bill Terry announces himself much encouraged by the showing of his New York Giants.

Terry was especially pleased by the excellent play of his rookie infielders, Blondy Ryan and Byrne James, and the fine pitching of Johnny Salveson and Al Smith.

Ryan's work at shortstop was so good that Terry is considering moving Travis Jackson to third base where speed is not so essential.

Uniforms Given 25 Experienced Grid Aspirants

Uniforms were given to 25 experienced football boys yesterday afternoon and the rest of the boys were to be fitted this afternoon before practice at 3 o'clock. Assistant Coach Angus Fox hopes to be able to keep at least 60 of the inexperienced boys out for the entire spring training period.

Most of the lettermen who will be back this fall will start track and field practice this afternoon under Coach Odus Mitchell. However, they will take a firing of football immediately after the season for the thin-glads is over.

The boys who received uniforms yesterday were all members of the Gorilla squad last year. They have a thorough knowledge of the Harvester style of play and should adapt themselves immediately. Coach Warren Moore of the Gorillas used the Harvester system.

The coaches believe that by the time intramural games start the boys will be well enough along with the training that the promising ones will shine and the coaches will have a chance to figure out how the team will balance this fall. The intramural games will give coaches a chance to see all the boys in action against strong competition.

The boys will practice on the Sam Houston playground for the first week or two.

H. A. Guldredge of Dallas was a Pampa visitor yesterday.

E. G. Nott of Abilene is visiting friends here this week.

W. P. Strong of Tulsa is transacting business here for a few days.

T. C. Delaney, Dallas oilman, is in Pampa for a few days.

PHILLIPS' HENRYS AND CALIFORNIA CLUBS WIN GAMES

West Texas Teachers, Canyon, 36, Alva, Okla., Teachers, 28.

Second round scores, National A. A. U. basketball tournament, Kansas City: Central Missouri Teachers college, Warrensburg, Mo., 36, Brown Paper Mills, Shreveport, La., 30.

KANSAS CITY, March 7. (AP)—Twenty-six teams, including all the favorites, set out today on a 13-games program in the A. A. U. national basketball tournament, seeking to catch up with the California contenders and Phillips university of Elmhurst, Okla., which have already advanced to the third round.

The Wichita Henry's, who have won the championship the last three years, led the march of the stronger aggregations into the second round last night with a 38-14 triumph over the White Cigar cagers from Joliet, Illinois.

The title-holders, as adept and aggressive as ever, play a second round game at 8 o'clock tonight with the Ascension club of Minneapolis, which drew a first round bye.

Other headlines on the night program are contests between the strong Denver Pies and the Westchester American Bakery of Little Rock, Ark., and the Hutchinson, Kan., Renos; Southern Kansas State Lines of Kansas City and Rath's Blackhawks of Waterloo, Iowa, and Rockhurst college, Kansas City, and Bethany college, Lindberg, Kansas.

Final games were programmed for this morning and four more for the afternoon. Playing in the afternoon against Kansas Wesleyan will be the Diamond Oilers of Tulsa, Okla., Missouri Valley A. A. U. champions.

The Alva, Okla., Teachers were scheduled to meet the West Texas Teachers of Canyon at 1 p. m.

The California teams, spectators today while the others go through their second round tests, had no difficulty cruising through the second round games between teams which got underway the first via the bye. Pasadena's Majors routed the Ada, Okla., Teachers, 57-26, and the Johnson Floors of Los Angeles ousted Omaha university, 44-29. In the other second round engagement interspersed between first round contests yesterday, Phillips university turned back Midland college of Fremont, Neb., 25-24, in the first defeat the Nebraskans have suffered this season.

Texas History To Be Stressed At Hi-Y Meeting

The theme for this week's meeting of the Hi-Y club is "Texas." Every boy is supposed to give one interesting fact about Texas history, and several topics on different Texas heroes have been assigned.

A series of basketball games have been scheduled with the Amarillo club, but there have been no definite arrangements made regarding the time that the games will be played, although it is certain that the games will be played here.

Notable Nothings Of P. H. S.

By the Nimble Nit-Wits.
Don't steal this book, my little lad. For a dollar eighty it cost my dad. And when you die, the Lord will say, "What made you steal that book away?"

And when you answer, "I don't know."
The Lord will say, "Please stop below."

AUTHOR UNKNOWN.
While snooting the snooter overheard the following story:

A man whose son was an applicant for a position in the civil service, but who had been repeatedly "turned down," said: "It's hard luck, but Bill has missed that civil service again. It looks like they just won't have him, that's all."

Friend: "What was the trouble?"
Man: "Well, he was kinder poor at spellin' and geography, an' he didn't do too well in arithmetic."
Friend: "What's he going to do about it?"

Man: "I don't know. Times are not good for us, an' I reckon he'll have to go back to school teachin'."

A poem was sent to the snooter, who doesn't care much for classics. The title of the contribution was "Why Am I Alive?" In returning the poem, the snooter wrote: "Because you sent this by mail instead of delivering it in person."

While in court the other day, Siler Faulkner was asked the following question: "Who was driving when you collided with this car?"
Siler replied: "Nobody; we were all in the back seat."

After a particularly hard exam in chemistry the other day, Mrs. Alexander made this statement: "Everyone pass his paper to the front of the row with carbon paper, under each, and I'll correct all the errors in just a jiffy!"

While playing tennis the other day, Tom Rose was overheard by a specially severe old lady. Then asked what boys that use bad language grew up to be. Tom replied: "Why, they grow up and play football."

Last year the doctors told Curtis to stop smoking or he'd get feeble-minded. (He should've stopped.)

As usual the wanderer butted into affairs in the halls. He reports that:

Richmond Easton was seen promising to autograph certain girls' books to decorate the front pages. Gerdes Schmidt looks mighty proud of his standing in the popularity contest, but Harry Nelson feels slightly embarrassed.

Miss Perry was discovered studying the rules of the popularity contest. (Wonder who he is?)
Ray Eldridge is always busy on his studies. He wants to play football next year.

If all the writers on the Little Harvester were laid end to end, they might reach the door.
Mr. Lester says he and Kate Smith would be good business partners; they could squeeze out a lot of competition between them.

"The favorite song heard in the halls in these days of moratoriums is 'Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?'
Hazel Baker is a decided red-head, in fact she decided last night.

DID YOU KNOW? High School's Revue Will Be Held March 10

The senior class is to have a party March 16.

The juniors are progressing quite well on their play, which is to be "No Trespassing."

Elections will be held next Monday to determine the most popular boy and girl of each class.

The registrar's office has just released the enrollment statistics for the last six weeks period. There are a total of 896 boys and girls enrolled in the school. Of these 142 are seniors and 120 have filed for graduation.

Of course some of these will not graduate, but the majority will compose this year's graduating class.

Fred Johnson, star debater on the high school team, is still absent because of illness in the family but will return in the very near future.

Miss Cox claims that her home room is exceptionally smart. It has more students on the honor roll than any other room in school.

The debate girls won second place in the Lions club debate tournament last week-end and the boys were defeated only by the winners of the cup.

Spring Sports Contestants In Literary Events Being Selected

With the county interscholastic league meet less than a month off, work has begun in earnest in all the literary events. The meet will be held in Pampa on March 31 and April 1.

Eliminations in senior declamation were held yesterday afternoon, and Florence Sue Dodson was declared the winner among the girls. Reed Clarke, Henry Fullum, and Clovis Green will compete again next week for the boys.

The debaters have been getting in some good training at various tournaments and practice debates. Opal Denson and Yedda Stein are the girls' team. The boys out of debate are Charles Frost, Reed Clarke, and Fred Johnson.

Those interested in trying out for typing practice at 8:15 each morning are Rachel Cross, Bernice Moss, Alice Reedy, Helen Joan Woodrum, Ed Whittenberg, John Greenlee, Ruth Slaughter, Sam Turner, Edna Zmontony, Jack Boyington, Margaret Beck, and Iris Gillis.

Those interested in trying out for the bookkeeping teams have not begun regular practice yet but will start work soon. Miss McQuinn has received a letter from Panuah inviting the high school to enter in the tournament for commercial students there in March. The high school will be represented in bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand. The following are interested in making the shorthand team: Hildred Brake, Virginia Mason, Myrtle Faye Gilbert, Opal Denson, Mildred Holt, Florida Freeman, Iris Gillis, and Jean Hyde.

Eliminations have already been held in the essay writing contest, and Jim Bob Johnson, a junior, will represent the high school.

Miss O'Keefe has made a call for those interested in the sub-junior declamation contest, which is open to students who are fifteen or under; eliminations will be held in another week.

The final contest in spelling has been held, but the winners have not yet been announced.

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

Elsie Johnson, Anna Mae Flesher, Bertou Doucette, Harlan Martin, Myrtle Faye Gilbert, Iris Gillis, Charles Frost.

Everybody in the music department is working on the high school revue.

THE United States was built by speculation and for that reason proper speculation should not be subjected to governmental regulation, Richard F. Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, told members of the Senate stock market investigating committee. He is shown above as he testified.

Spring Sports Draw Numerous Participants

After having lost rather decisively to Lamessa, the Harvesters have put away their basketball suits and turned to spring sports.

Track has been receiving relatively little attention, but is now coming into its own, and predictions are being made that we will have one of the best teams in our history. The dual meet to be held here on March 18 with Amarillo, the Clarendon meet, the county meet, and others are to be met with very little training considering the time the other towns have been practicing.

Spring football is getting considerable attention, and our prospects have brightened, even though we will have only one first string man back for next year.

Tennis is being practiced every day by a group of hard working boys and girls that promise to produce some very presentable teams. Mr. Gordon is coaching tennis and urges all interested to come out.

The girls have mostly turned to volleyball, and daily afternoon practices are being held. The squad is large and rather unwieldy, but Mr. Lester is showing fair generalship.

The golf team has arranged contests with Plainview, Amarillo, and other nearby towns.

Charles C. Cook, local attorney, was admitted to Pampa hospital for treatment yesterday. His condition was much improved this morning.

Mrs. C. L. Smith and son left Worley hospital this morning. Judge E. F. Ritchie of Miami is here on business.

Calvary Baptist Church To Move

Having given up its present location, the Calvary Baptist church has purchased lots one and one-half blocks south of the Lone Star Boiler and Welding works and will move a building to the new site in the near future.

The church has suspended its winter meeting, and prayer service on Wednesday evening will be at the home of the pastor, the Rev. J. L. Ratcliff, 1001 S. Barnes.

Busy Bee B. Y. P. U. Attends Gay Picnic

A picnic lunch was spread at a spot near Pampa, and many games were enjoyed by the Busy Bee B. Y. P. U., First Baptist church, Saturday evening. The group returned after about two hours of fun.

Those present were La Verne Covington, Glynn Covington, Catherine Chisum, Walta Jean Workman, Margaret Covington, Betty Sue Johnson, Joy Stine, Donnie Stine, Billy K. Coombes, Jerry Lane Hancock, Kenneth Johnson, Jack Johnson, Wesley Francis, Cressa Francis, Koma Jo Johnson, Ruth Matheny, Ruth Stocum, Mrs. C. C. Matheny, and Mrs. Frank Johnson.

High School Celebrates March 2 With Play, 'Texas Under Six Flags'

The high school celebrated Texas Independence day with appropriate ceremonies last Thursday.

As most people know, ninety-seven years ago last Thursday the people of Texas declared themselves independent of Mexico and organized the Republic of Texas. This was on March 2, 1836.

The junior high gave a very beautiful pageant representing Texas under six flags and the types of customs prevalent at various times during Texas history. Highlights of our state's history were outlined and summarized.

At the conclusion of the Texas day ceremonies the dramatics classes presented a play, "Teddy's First Dress Suit," in which Jack Boyington was featured as Teddy, being supported by Ethel Mae Blair, Hildred Brake, and Leon Robinson. The play was a farce with every minute crack-ful of laughter at Teddy's desire to get into the bathroom and wash himself so he could get into his "brand new dress suit." Seldom has a play been so thoroughly enjoyed by a high school audience.

Regarding the meeting, the Rev. J. J. Johnson, pastor, said: "We had a wonderful success last week. We are asking all of the white friends to attend these services. You have a standing invitation."

Bo-Knot Club To Present Program

The Bo-Knot club, Junior high school organization sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club, will have charge of the chapel program at the school March 15.

Including on the program will be the Bo-Knot club song by members; talk on what the club is, Ruby Sealie; chorus, Bo-Knot members; one-act play, Sing Song of Seniors, by seven girls.

The officers of the club are: President, Janice Purviance; vice-president, Bettie Jane Blythe; secretary, Hazel Bath; reporter, Ross Lawson Williams. Others who served as presidents of the club are Juliet Jane Canfield and Claudia Atteberry.

Mrs. J. H. Greene. It was pointed out that Baptists do home mission work with many nationalities—Indians, Spanish-speaking people, mountain people, Italian and French people, Jews, negroes, and English-speaking people in the canal zone. Southern Baptists have set a goal of $80,000 to be raised this week for home mission work. It was stated also that to inform the people regarding home mission work, "for an informed people is an inspired people."

Mrs. J. A. Meek presided for the business session, during which plans were made for beautifying the church lawn. Those who have been asked to notify Mrs. L. H. Greene or Mrs. W. D. Benton. It was voted to limit the church nursery to children under school age.

Those at the meeting were Messdames R. W. Tucker, W. D. Benton, Joe R. Foster, T. B. Jameson, J. A. Meek, J. B. Chisum, E. P. Drake, J. G. Barnard, C. L. Stephens, G. H. The business women also give the girls a party each year.

The membership has steadily grown until it now numbers about 130. Very interesting programs have been given on club ideals, vocations, local civic activities, great women, leisure time, the Christmas theme and a special mothers program.

The officers of the club are: President, Janice Purviance; vice-president, Bettie Jane Blythe; secretary, Hazel Bath; reporter, Ross Lawson Williams. Others who served as presidents of the club are Juliet Jane Canfield and Claudia Atteberry.
