

CLAIM POISON WAS IN MEDICINE

A legislator, with a map before him, has written a bill re-defining the judicial districts in the Panhandle. Maps are deceiving.

Gray, Wheeler, and Hemphill counties would be placed in the 84th district. Judge E. J. Pickens lives at Canadian and Judge W. R. Erving has just moved to Pampa. Obviously, one of them would have to move or resign under the new plan. The compactness of the districts, about the only factor considered by the legislator, would be served no more by the proposed arrangement than by the present one.

The problem, of course, is to place Gray and Hutchinson counties in separate districts. Geographically, Gray, Carson, and Hutchinson could be one compact district. A little figuring will show that business is too heavy in these counties for one court. But with roads being improved, automobiles and trains make it possible to travel from Hemphill to Hansford or Hutchinson with little inconvenience. Be-cause Judge Erving traveled over all nine counties of the old 31st district when travel was much more difficult than now. District judges make fine citizens; it is to be hoped that Pampa may retain the two who now live here.

The absolute necessity of administering welfare benefits only to the worthy is shown in numerous instances. It is no reflection upon the worthy that there are some individuals who seek to use charity as a means for avoiding work. There are a few families in every community which manage to avoid work. Cotton picking time being employment for many happy families. Others avoid farmers looking for hands.

There are a few families in most communities without scruples in asking for relief from every charity organization in town, and on the same day. This racketeering can be prevented only by coordinating the work of all agencies. There is not enough aid to permit such waste. The unworthy usually make the most noise when refused what they demand, while those greatly in need are usually the most silent. Misrepresentations are sometimes carried to persons not doing welfare work. One recent instance involved a local family which claimed no help had been received despite dire need. The Welfare Board records showed that on dozens of occasions the family had obtained either groceries or clothing.

Similarly, persons passing thru the country attempt to obtain meals and gasoline from the various towns on their route. Few Welfare Boards now help transients, but the reaction of disappointed applicants is often violent. "I've got two big feet and if you won't help me I'll kick in a show-off and help myself," is a sample of the attitude sometimes displayed.

High school band members, whose work for their school is no less commendable than that of the Harvesters, are working hard at plans to obtain some kind of uniforms for the Amarillo game. They realize that they need uniforms, a drum major, and practice in marching. But they are willing to make every responsible sacrifice. With their personal changing constantly, it is difficult to keep the band together and in uniform, but they are going to make an attempt. They will, of course, have to have some financial assistance, the source of which is not yet known. The appearance of a band is, in this age of radio and practiced musical ears, nearly as important as tone quality. But a high school band is hard pressed for funds unless it has an "angel."

Best spoken words of the century: "Do not choose to run."

Mr. and Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle will attend the ball game in Canyon tonight.

Illinois Cheers Roosevelt's Promise of Farm Relief

WOULD RAISE PRICES FARM CROPS FIRST

PROMISES TO REDUCE FARMERS' BURDEN OF TAXES

FLAYS SELFISH BANKS

MERCY MUST BE SHOWN MORTGAGE-RIDDEN FARMERS

By F. G. VOSBURGH, Associated Press Staff Writer. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 21 (AP)—Under the arching roof of Springfield's big arsenal, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt took his stand today to launch an appeal for the support of Illinois in his campaign for the presidency.

Before the democratic nominee entered, the wide auditorium, hung with flags and bunting, was nearly filled to its capacity of 10,000. An eager buzz of conversation filled the hall. At the front were hung large pictures of Governor Roosevelt and his running mate, Speaker John N. Garner.

On the platform back of the speaker's stand were seated democratic leaders of the state. The meeting, set for 11 a. m., was behind schedule in getting under way as the governor did not leave his special train until about a half hour after its arrival in the downtown section and then set out by automobile to visit the Abraham Lincoln tomb.

Roosevelt advanced a three-point program for agricultural relief.

"The three great steps which we must take," he said, "are, first, the federal government owes it to agriculture to see that it gets a fair price for its products. That means that the price of farm products must be raised above the present pitifully low levels to which they have fallen.

"A properly adjusted tariff can do much in this direction, but the present tariff policies of the republican administration are precisely the opposite. Pending the relief that will be afforded by properly adjusted tariff policy, measures must be taken to give the farmer immediate tariff benefit. This

Will Prosecute Those Who Sell Gas Illegally

An intensive campaign on the part of the state and of county officers to stop gasoline "bootlegging" in the Panhandle is being brought to a point where prosecutions can begin in county courts.

Forty-five complaints have been prepared in the counties of Carson, Gray, and Hutchinson. Of these, 34 are in Carson, 7 in Gray, and 4 in Hutchinson. Because of the federal tax now involved, federal operators will take part in investigations which will continue.

It is claimed that much of the gasoline being sold without a permit of the state tax is made with rube stills of small capacity. Some "drip" gasoline is being sold also, it is reported.

State and county officers point out that school's share of the tax on a truck tank of gasoline in proportion to a school. This fact alone is sufficient to arouse public indignation, they add.

The offenders are subject to heavy fines and a maximum jail sentence of six months.

LUBBOCK CITIZENS MAY ARM THEMSELVES, BUT STATE LAW RESTRICTS PISTOL CARRYING

Statutes Reveal Right of Citizens to Wage War on Offenders, Though Proof Of Exemption Difficult

The example of Lubbock people in arming themselves against felonious assaults, such as robberies in which the robbers are violent toward their victims, has aroused considerable interest here.

Pistol carrying ordinarily is frowned upon because of slayings which have resulted from the practice in instances where, had no pistols been handy, less violent outcomes would have occurred. But Lubbock citizens, including the district judge, were aroused to a point where they "declared war" on the hijackers and murderers, a temporary condition.

The law provides that "homicide is justifiable when inflicted for the purpose of preventing murder, rape, robbery, maiming, disfiguring, castration, arson, burglary and theft at night, or when inflicted upon a person or persons who are found armed with deadly weapons and in disguise in the night time on premises not his or their own, whether the homicide be committed by the party about to be injured or by another in his behalf, when the killing takes place under the following circumstances:

"1. It must reasonably appear by the acts or by words coupled with the acts of the person killed that it was the purpose and intent of such person to commit one of the offenses above named.

"2. The killing must take place while the person killed was in the act of committing the offense, or after some act done by him showing evidently an intent to commit such offense.

"3. It must take place before the offense committed by the party killed is actually completed, except that in case of rape the ravisher may be killed at any time before he has escaped from the presence of his victim, and except also in the cases herein enumerated.

"4. Where the killing takes place to prevent the murder of some other person.

BIGGER ATTENDANCE EVERY DAY MAKES PANHANDLE HORSE RACE EVENT FINANCIALLY SUCCESSFUL

Thursday Races Are Enjoyed By Many Pampans

Panhandle's first experiment with big-time horse-racing has proved a success in point of attendance, assuring financial success. The crowd the first day was not large, financially speaking, but on Wednesday and Thursday, the bleachers were full and cars full of people filled every bit of parking space around the splendid race track. Panhandle has learned that residents of this section like horse-racing and will pay to see it.

The promoters, M. B. Davidson, C. E. Deah, Judge Asbery A. Callaghan, Frank Ellis, had the backing of every business man of Panhandle in their enterprise. Another racing meet is planned for next spring. The races drew 140 of the best horses in the southwest, middle west and main states of Colorado and Nevada.

Many Pampans who attended the races yesterday used adjectives in the superlative degree in praising the races.

In the first race, a three-eighths of a mile battle, Eugene D. owned by George Wilcox, Pawhuska, Okla., won the money in 33 seconds.

Oil Operators Oppose Hearing On Game Date

Panhandle Oil Operators are Objecting Strenuously to the Oil Hearing Set for Here Oct. 29

They claim that they are going to Amarillo to see the Harvesters and the Sandies play football, hearing or no hearing.

Several members have notified the Railroad commission of the important game and suggested that the hearing be recessed at noon and re-opened the following Monday morning. No answer has been received here.

The hearing is to continue the study of conservation and prevention of waste of crude petroleum and natural gas in the Panhandle district. It has been set for 10 a. m., Oct. 29, in the city auditorium. Owners and operators of wells making water will present applications for exemption from production orders. Each request will be studied by the commission. The new allowable, issued this month does not exempt water wells.

The gas situation in the Panhandle field will come in for considerable attention. Some means of ratable taking will be worked on.

TRIANGLE COSTS THREE LIVES

DEFENSE SAYS WOMAN TOOK HER OWN LIFE

PHYSICIAN SAYS NERVE MIXTURE CONTAINED DEADLY POISON

ENOUGH TO KILL WIFE

JUROR ILL; RECESS IS ORDERED UNTIL TOMORROW

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 21 (AP)—Judge W. J. Crump today ordered a recess in the murder trial of the Rev. S. A. Berrie, charged with poisoning his first wife, until tomorrow morning due to continued illness of a juror.

In the case the juror, W. L. Puckett, remains indisposed tomorrow the case will be recessed until Monday morning, Judge Crump announced.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 31 (AP)—While a sick juror forced a halt today in the Rev. S. A. Berrie's murder trial, his attorneys disclosed intended evidence which they believe will show a deadly poison was present in a "nerve medicine" used by the preacher's first wife prior to her death last March.

It was announced Dr. Robert M. Isham had made a written statement to the defense counsel concerning his analysis of a small amount of the preparation. He said poison was present in quantities "more than sufficient to cause death."

The research chemist, the attorneys announced, would testify later today if W. L. Puckett, the ailing juror, is able to return to the jury box. His testimony is intended to refute the state's charge that the preacher obtained poison and killed his wife.

Meanwhile, Judge W. J. Crump was told the juror was too ill to go to lunch. He awaited a later report.

"He apparently is too sick to continue and it is probable he will not be able to be here this afternoon," said the juror.

Meanwhile, the preacher, who married a pretty young Sunday school teacher soon after the first Mrs. Berrie's death, expressed chagrin at the delay. He says he is a

AMUSEMENT HALLS ARE ASKED TO SHOW WHY THEY SHOULD NOT BE ENJOINED BY STATE

Five Operators Are Asked to Show Defense

Operators of five amusement establishments of Gray county must appear in district court Monday to show cause why their establishments should not be closed by temporary injunction under the state law prohibiting "pool halls"

The three Pampa clubs will be considered by the court Monday at 10 a. m., the hour of the hearing having been postponed from 1:30 p. m. today. A hearing will be held at 1:30 p. m. Monday to consider petitions for injunctions against "pool halls" in LePore and McLean, the state having alleged that one exists in each of these towns.

The complaints, signed by J. L. Strope, foreman of the grand jury, and filed by County Attorney Sherman White, are based on the allegation that operators of the amusement organizations permit playing of games for hire. The law prohibits operation of pool halls which are frequented by transients and others not bona fide members of an amusement club, and for whose playing a charge is made.

E. A. Ford of Amarillo was a Pampa visitor this morning.

MUSIC AND IMPERSONATIONS FEATURE SHAMROCK PROGRAM

An evening of fun, music, good food, and fellowship resulted from the inter-city assembly of Shamrock and Pampa Lions and ladies at the Schneider hotel last evening.

With Clayton Heare as toastmaster, the Shamrock club presented J. B. Clark, who extended the greetings of his club and responded to the previous welcome by John Sturgeon, president of the Pampa club.

A high point in the entertainment program was a series of vocal solos and duets by Miss Laverne Taylor and Billy Joe Hatcher, accompanied by Mrs. Inez Hatcher. The young soloists sang in an exceptionally pleasing manner, in voices mellow and vibrant and unafraid. Their duets were no less popular. They were followed by A. N. Hibbourn, whose impersonations of a political speaker and a dandy preacher, in make-up, were enthusiastically received. Judge Clark gave the serious address of the evening, a talk on the meaning of Lionsism.

Other entertainment included "a family affair," by Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilder, and a very well told story by 7-year-old Mary Jane Griffin, a pupil of Baker school here.

Roy Bourland and W. A. Bratton, members of the local club, were presented. Keys in token of their work in increasing the membership of their organization.

The Shamrock delegation was headed by President H. B. Mundy. About 115 persons were seated in the dining room.

SLAYER OF TWO OFFICERS IS SOUGHT

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 21 (AP)—Search for the man who fatally wounded two peace officers in the Sulphur river bottoms 30 miles from here was intensified today.

Deputies Sheriff Marvin Beaman and J. C. Crain were shot Wednesday night when they sought to question occupants of a truck which they thought carried liquor. Beaman died instantly; Crain, in a hospital last night.

Officers found three or four gallons of whiskey in the truck and arrested a girl, her brother and their father, who were riding in the truck with the man sought in connection with the shooting. Four other men, one the owner of the truck, also were held as material witnesses.

STAND HAND OF DEATH

Dr. William J. Mayo believes that mankind is coming appreciably nearer to the day when there will be no "unnecessary" deaths.

In a speech at St. Paul, the famous Minnesota physician points out that the number of diseases which can be cured is constantly increasing, and remarks that the advance in the fight against sickness in the last decade is "little short of miraculous."

So, once again, a great medical scientist has given us a new and welcome hope. But it is his phraseology that attracts attention, somehow; that little expression, "unnecessary deaths," sums up so graphically mankind's long fight against an enemy that is certain to win in the end.

What it implies, of course, is something that even a small child knows—that death is inevitable for everyone, and that even the wisest doctor cannot, after all, do more than postpone something that is bound to happen eventually.

But that perfectly obvious and inescapable truth is one to which the race has never quite succeeded in getting reconciled.

All of our churches, most of our great art, are simply expressions of a pathetic, wistful human feeling that death is, or ought to be, something that can be conquered. We can never quite accept the knowledge that we were born to die. The race's noblest moments have grown out of that deep yearning for a life that can go on and on.

And yet, when we stop to think, it is so clear that it is the "unnecessary" death that causes the most of our suffering.

The death of a small child, so unbelievably hard to bear; the death of a young man who has just begun to show promise of great achievement; the death of one who has just reached the height of his powers and who has a fine work to do; the death of a loved person with whom one has just started to explore the inexpressible richness of human devotion—these are the tragedies that darken life the most.

If we could once know that death could be made to wait until its season had come, its final arrival would not look so appalling. And it is this fear prospect which Dr. Mayo has held out to us.

person, it shall not be deemed that the murder is completed so long as the offender is still inflicting violence on the mortal wound may have been given.

"5. If homicide takes place in preventing a robbery, it is justifiable if done while the robber is in the presence of the robbery or is flying with the property taken by him.

"6. In cases of maiming, disfiguring, or castration, the homicide may take place at any time while the offender is mistreating with violence the person injured, though he may have completed the offense.

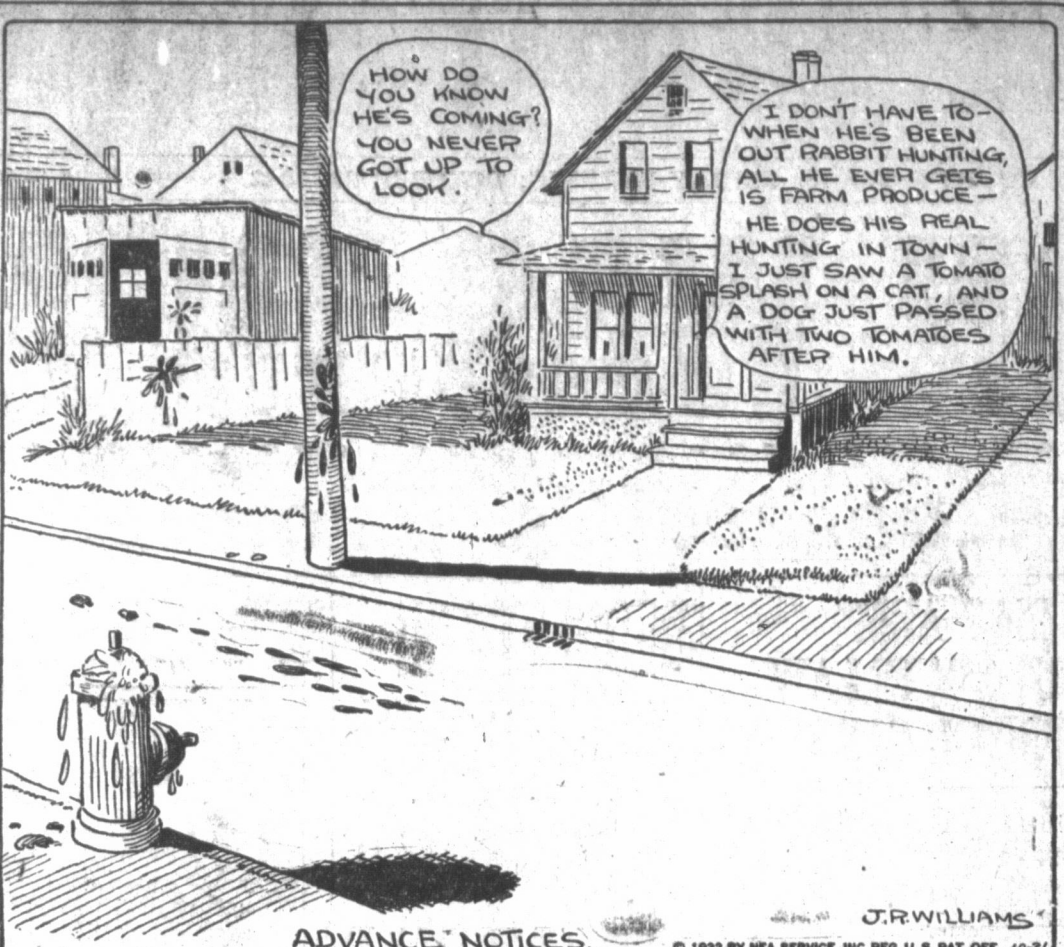

"7. In case of arson the homicide may be inflicted while the offender is in or at the building or other place before the destruction of the same.

"8. In case of burglary and theft by night, the homicide is justifiable at any time while the offender is in the building or at the place where the theft is committed, or is within the reach of gunshot from such place or building.

"9. When the party slain in disguise is engaged in any attempt by word, gesture, or otherwise to alarm some other person or persons and put them in bodily fear."

Interpretations of the statutes "show that the apprehension upon which a legitimate killing is based must be reasonable, and not merely conjectured because of the presence of an intruder. The killing of a mere trespasser is unjustifiable under the law, but may be done if such trespasser is stealing or leaving with stolen property, it was held in one case. Exceptions have been made by the law, however, in such things as robbing watermelon patches, where homicide was held not justifiable.

Courts have held in other homicide decisions that simple assault is no grounds for a slaying unless the assault is such as to make the victim fear for his life.

The right to obtain a pistol and carry it at home or in a place of business is a constitutional guarantee about which there are many restrictions. The Texas statute in this regard provides that "whoever shall carry on or about his person, saddle, or in his saddle bags any pistol, dirk, dagger, slung-shot, sword cane, spear, or knuckles, any metal or any hard substance, bowie knife, or any other knife manufactured or sold for the purpose of offense or defense, shall be punished by fine not less than $100 nor more than $500 or by confinement in jail for not less than one month nor more than one year."

A traveler may carry a pistol in his car, but one who makes short, irregular trips is not legally a traveler. Carrying a pistol while hunting has been held illegal. A pistol may be carried while taking to home or store a sum of money in ordinary course of business. A person cannot carry lawfully a pistol into an assembly of persons, although they are on his property. The burden of proof, after detection, is on the defendant to show exemption from prosecution. Persons guilty of carrying a concealed weapon may be arrested without warrant.

heavy load of taxation which today weighs upon him. This load is made up of three parts, the local, state and national units. At Pittsburgh I outlined the position of the democratic party, and my position on the question of the honest balancing of the federal budget and the imperative need of immediate economy in national expenditures. I also reiterate now my promise to exert all available influence in the position as the president of the United States toward the reduction of all state and local taxes.

He charged that some of the Joint Stock Land banks "have pursued a policy of destructive selfishness contrary to the spirit and purpose of the Farm Loan Act."

Saying President Hoover in his Des Moines address "took occasion to disclaim responsibility for the policies of these joint stock land banks," he asserted that "for this failure to enforce the law, the president and his administration are to blame."

"I propose," he said, "that these powers of the federal farm board (to exercise general supervisory authority over the federal land banks, National Farm associations and Joint Stock Land banks) shall be fully exercised to the end that this distressing situation shall be immediately remedied and to the end that the enlightened purposes of the democratic created farm loan act shall be fully carried out."

New Mexico Senator Supports Roosevelt

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 21 (AP)—Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, in a statement issued thru the National Progressive league, characterized Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as "an idealist who has sought to put his ideals into practice."

"The attack upon Governor Roosevelt for his championship of the 'forgotten man' was to my mind ridiculous. We have reached a sorry stage in the history of American democracy if a political leader who speaks out boldly for the rights and interests of the rank and file of our people, when they are assailed, is to be branded as a demagogue."

Naval Holiday Pact Extended To March, 1933

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The United States has agreed to an extension until March 1, 1933, of the Naval holiday agreement which was due to expire November 1.

Formal notification of this agreement to the extension will be sent without delay to Geneva.

The state department will issue an explanation of its reasons for the extension.

This agreement to cessation in rival building did not apply to ships which were already laid down when the holiday went into effect the first of last November, but forbade the construction of any ships not already in progress. It did not prevent the replacement of existing ships.

It was explained in official quarters this afternoon that the extension until March 1 for the purpose of giving the disarmament conference, which will resume its sessions at Geneva in February, an opportunity to reach a settlement of Naval reductions.

Ontario Prison Still In Disorder

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 21 (AP)—More than 200 mutinous prisoners, besieged in two corridors of the Fortsmouth penitentiary, yelled curses at the guards, while good conduct inmates were marched from cell tiers in the main building to the new women's penitentiary not far off and inside the prison walls.

The mutineers threw the prison into turmoil last night when they broke from the dormitories where they were confined and liberated other prisoners from two cell blocks. Troops were called out and there was some shooting, but the men barricaded themselves in the corridors and the shooting stopped.

This afternoon the prison officials moved the good conduct men and prepared to round up the rioters and place them in the vacated cells.

It was understood that the officials blamed over-crowding for the trouble. The penitentiary has accommodations for only 750 men, but 906 prisoners are there.

Armstrong Assails Jim and Creager

GILMER, Oct. 21 (AP)—George W. Armstrong, independent candidate for governor, in the first of ten addresses in his campaign today, told his listeners that the money power was behind the other gubernatorial candidates and expressed his views on national politics.

Armstrong declared it would be better for the governor's office to be vacant than for James E. Ferguson to control it through his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the democratic nominee, or for R. B. Creager to control it through Orville Ballington, choice of the republican party.

The independent candidate spoke in favor of establishment of a state reserve bank to act as a depository for state funds.

A. A. U. FOCUSES ITS ATTENTION ON COMING PLAY

DINNER GIVEN AT SCHNEIDER FOR MEMBERS

SPIRIT OF HALLOWE'EN EMPHASIZED IN GATHERING

The club room of the Schneider hotel was alive with the spirit of Halloween last evening when the Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women held a dinner meeting.

Tall yellow tapers, black cats, and place cards contributed to the seasonable effect, and each table was centered with autumn leaves in which rested a Halloween lantern filled with yellow chrysanthemums. At each place was a boutonniere of fall flowers.

After an enjoyable dinner, Mrs. C. E. Will, president, presided for a brief business session.

"Ghost House," the play sponsored by the A. A. U. for presentation Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week, was discussed with the idea of making it one of the outstanding events of the year. Ticket sales have been good.

Following the business session, Roy W. Tinsley, accomplished violinist, delighted the group with three numbers. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. May Foreman Carr.

Miss Arless O'Keefe, teacher of Dramatics in Pampa high school, presented an amusing one-act play, "The Bathroom Door." Characters included the following: Young man, Clinton Evans; prima donna, Helen Joan Woodrum; old lady, Nina Fisher; elderly gentleman, Charles Bourland; Boots, Charles Smith.

The following persons attended the function: Mesdames J. B. Massa, J. A. Meek, R. E. Kolner, C. A. Clark, C. T. Hunkapillar, Tom E. Simmons, Archie Cole, A. N. Dille, Jr., L. K. Stout, John H. Moyer, Harry Marbaugh, Lamar Jones, T. E. Rose, B. W. Ferris, Ben H. Stover, H. V. Patterson, R. Earl O'Keefe, E. C. Will, and Briscoe Pratt.

Misses Ruth Siddons, Marie Carter, Wilena May, Helen Martin, Mary Idelle Cox, Kathryn Vincent, Fannie May, Louise Durrenberger, Josephine Thomas, Wilma Chapman, Violet Durrett, Flo Perry, Alma Ruth Schulke, Josephine Cariker, Madge Rusak, Charlotte Embry, John Kelly Housels, and three guests, Mrs. May Foreman Carr, Miss Agnes Anderson, director of "Ghost House," and Roy W. Tinsley.

Parents, Teachers Of County to Meet

A number of Pampa parents and teachers will go to Laketon tomorrow for a luncheon meeting of the Gray county council of Parents-Teacher associations. The meeting will be attended by about 100 persons.

Pampans Attend District Music Meeting Today

Several Pampans went to Amarillo today to attend the opening of the annual convention of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Music Clubs Mrs. Philip Wolfe, president, and Mrs. W. A. Bratton, director, are delegates of the Treble Clef club, and Mrs. May Foreman Carr, a member of the same club, will appear on the fine arts program this evening.

AMARILLO, Oct. 21—A Junior day will be held for the first time during the annual convention of the federated music clubs of the district.

Saturday morning will be given over to the problems of the junior clubs and the children will give a program Saturday afternoon at the Folk Street Methodist church.

Representatives from 43 counties will be present for the convention, says Mrs. E. B. Graham, district president. More than a score arrived last night to hear the initial concert of the Panhandle's first civic symphony orchestra in the municipal auditorium last night.

The first general session of the convention will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel of the church. Reports from the clubs and from the officers will be made.

A barbecue at the Upchurch ranch will be given at 6 o'clock. At 8 o'clock this evening the fine arts program will be given in the church chapel. The public is invited to attend by Mrs. George Williams, chairman.

Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, senior club business will be completed. Mrs. S. E. Fish, president of the Potter County Federation of Women, will speak.

At 10:30 o'clock the junior club business will be taken up. A luncheon at noon for delegates will be given in the Episcopal church. In the afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock the children's fine arts program will be given.

Mrs. Lester Blakemore is general convention chairman.

Typhus Victim Recovering From Rebel Flea Bite

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—A rebellious flea put Dr. R. E. Dyer at bed with typhus fever, but failed to stop his experiments for controlling the disease.

Haggard and weak, but convalescing, Dr. Dyer now gives instructions for continuing typhus tests to assistants who come to his bedside in the Navy hospital and laboratories of the National Institute of Health just next door.

That is where Dr. Dyer has been doing his typhus research for the Public Health Service, and where he contracted the disease while grinding infected fleas into serum.

He works also with rabbits, rats and guinea pigs and his consultation is important since a single slip in the care of a flea colony on a rat has been known to destroy the results of a test months in the making, and then it has to be done all over again.

Often Dr. Dyer has stayed home from week-end trips in order to personally feed his fleas by a system he developed.

"We've been calling the type of typhus we have in this country mild," he said today to a fellow public health physician. "Where do we get that word 'mild'?"

SWAG AGAIN IS IN FAVOR

Lamp shades and windows respond to swag treatment.

By MARGERY TAYLOR Copyright, 1932 By The McCall Company For The NEWS

The swag is one of the most interesting evidences that decorative fashion is turning from broad, bold color effects to design details and motifs.

Revived with late eighteenth century and empire effects, actual fabric swags are used for window valances and for lounge effects on chairs and stools.

For elaborate effects, the best edge finish is ball fringe, cotton or silk, depending on the fabric. Delightful effects can be obtained with swags and cascades all lined in a contrasting color. The most popular are the classic urn-shaped lamp bases and for these, the shades may have swags or festoons painted or pasted on or pricked into them.

For the more modest bathroom window, the swag is just right. Chintz, oilcloth, or other washable material is best adapted for this and only a short cascade is needed for finishing.

The new chintzes with their printed shirred fabric effects may be forgiven their artificiality because of their amusing effects.

In some wallpaper with the new motif, the swag is limited to the border. In others, the effect of a shirred Austrian shade is achieved with a wide stripe.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

By observing certain precautions and rules it is possible to serve consistently good coffee. The blend, the choice of the coffee itself, method of procedure and accuracy are important factors in the brewing of coffee.

When purchasing coffee, the blend—which in these days is determined largely by the brand name—is of first importance. Without good coffee to begin with, you cannot hope to secure a delicious beverage. Experts originate the various brands or blends on the market, and the mixture is calculated to please individual tastes.

The roasting of the coffee berry brings out the flavor and makes the berry brittle enough to grind. There are several different degrees of roasts—heavy or dark, light, medium, Italian and French. As might be expected, the degree of roasting affects the flavor and color of the beverage.

Grinding is done so that all the possible flavor can be drawn into the finished cup of coffee. The method of making the beverage determines the grind chosen.

If good coffee is to be assured every time it is made, the care of the coffee pot is most important. It should be emptied as soon as possible after using, to prevent discoloration. Wash it thoroughly in clean, hot soapy water and rinse it thoroughly in lots of clear boiling water. Wipe dry with a clean towel and let remain open to air. A stale odor which affects the flavor of the beverage develops if coffee pot is kept closed. The pot which is used only occasionally should be washed and rinsed early in the day and allowed to air thoroughly. Scald it again just before making the coffee.

No matter how you make your coffee, by boiling, steeping, percolating or drip method, both coffee and water must be measured and the boiling, steeping or percolating stopped at the proper time. The drip method requires only the precaution of keeping the beverage hot until ready to serve.

Another important point in coffee making is the necessity of serving coffee as soon as possible after it is made. The longer it is kept hot the more flavor it loses.

While the exact proportion of coffee to use in the making depends upon the brand and individual taste, two tablespoons of ground coffee to one measuring cup of water makes a beverage agreeable to the average taste. Two-thirds of a measuring cup is calculated as a serving of coffee. Consequently four measuring cups of water will make enough coffee for six servings.

Tomorrow's Menu BREAKFAST: Grapes, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs, crisp toast, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON: Noodle soup, cottage cheese and carrot sandwich, canned cherries, vanilla cookies, milk, tea. DINNER: Baked and stuffed shoulder of veal, mashed potatoes, gravy, pumpkin patty cakes, celery and cabbage salad, green tomato pie, milk, coffee.

Famous Shipper Of Galveston Dies

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Word was received here today that J. H. W. Steels, who for a score of years dominated Louisiana and Texas Gulf ports in shipping and cotton, had died Tuesday in retirement on his ranch near San Diego, Calif. He was nearly 70 years old.

Born in Alabama, he moved with his parents here in his youth and started as a railroad clerk, later becoming a dynamic figure in the cotton and shipping worlds. Familiarly known as Harvey Steele, he accumulated two fortunes.

He first became wealthy through his control of large cotton and grain bookings at New Orleans and Galveston, the only important Texas and Louisiana Gulf ports of that time. While residing at Galveston, his first fortune was wiped out in the hurricane of 1900. He escaped the storm on foot carrying his wife in his arms.

MRS. KLEBERG DIES AUSTIN, Oct. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Mathilde Elise Kleberg, 78, widow of the late Judge Rudolph Kleberg, died here last night. Burial was planned for today. The Kleberg family is prominent in South Texas. Judge Kleberg had served the Cuero district as congressman several years. He died eight years ago.

Peasant Leader Again Premier Of Roumania

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Oct. 21. (AP)—Dr. Iuliu Maniu, veteran leader of the Roumanian Peasant party—who once went into a frowning retirement of silence, some of his friends said, because of the presence in Roumania of the red-haired King Carol—was sworn in here as head of the new cabinet by the king. The veteran former premier, who was head of the government when Carol suddenly returned from his Paris exile more than two years ago, succeeded in forming a cabinet last night, after a political squabble which lasted all week. He was called by King Carol last week from his native transylvania to solve the crisis that developed out of the quarrel between former premier Vaida-Voevod and Nicholas Tulescu, former ambassador to Great Britain. Vaida-Voevod had refused to accept M. Titulescu as foreign minister and the latter refused to accept the former's recent treaty of non-aggression with Soviet Russia. While Dr. Maniu maintained his strict policy of silence in retirement last year, Premier Nicholas Jorga and King Carol were entering a precarious economic period in which things became more and more difficult for the wielders of power.

By O. W. "RED" Severance (Written For The Associated Press) The late Knute Rockne, immortal coach of Notre Dame, had an uncanny ability of instilling confidence into his men by allowing them to work their way out of a tight spot without his advice. But if it seemed that nothing short of advice from the coach's bench could save a game, Rockne could be depended upon to send in a substitute with the desired information.

This last predicament faced the Ramblers in their 1928 Rose Bowl game against Stanford as the great Ernie Nevers, All-America fullback, ploughed through the Ramblers' line for gain after gain. Jim Crowley, now coach at Michigan State College, was then one of the Four Horsemen. "We couldn't stop Nevers that day," Crowley said. "He would crack through one side for five yards and then hit the other side for six more. We would pick ourselves off the ground and look over at the sidelines, hoping Rock would send in somebody to tell us what was wrong with our defense. "Finally Nevers brought the ball down to the three yard line. Then our prayers were answered. Out from the sidelines dashed a big sophomore named McMullen, so excited at playing before 75,000 people he forgot whose place he was to take and simply told the referee, "I'm for Notre Dame." "But we knew he was bringing information from Rock that would break up that one-man drive if it were possible to break it up. "We held Nevers on the first play, called time out and huddled around McMullen to hear the news that would strengthen our defense. "Stammering and stuttering, he finally gulped: 'B-boys, R-R-Rock said th-the trouble wa-was—" "Yes, go on," we yelled. "He said th-the trouble was that you're no-no-not stopping th-that Nevers." "And the funny part," Crowley ended, "good old McMullen threw Nevers for a loss on the next three plays and Stanford lost the ball on downs." TO VOTE IT STRAIGHT TYLER, Oct. 21. (AP)—In reply to a query from Maury Hughes of Dallas, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner, issued a statement today in which he said he would vote the straight democratic ticket in his November election, from constable to president.

Many issues of stock fell from 2 to 5 points in an unaccountable squall of selling the earlier hours of today's trading.

Roy Marshall will see the game between the Pampa Harvesters and the Canyon Yearlings tonight in Canyon.

HARVESTERS TO PLAY WEST TEXAS FRESHMAN TOIGHT

FIVE EXES DUE TO FACE BOYS IN CANYON FIGHT

PAMPA MUST WIN TO STACK UP WITH AMARILLO

The Pampa Harvesters and the Canyon college freshmen will meet their feud under the lights at Buffalo stadium at 8 o'clock tonight. The green and gold clad Harvesters left here shortly after noon with a full squad. Two members of the team will not be in the game, however. H. L. Ledrick and Philip Powell will be out with injuries.

Rufus Walker, injured in the game with Plainview last Saturday, will probably start the game despite his bad ankle. The other tackle job, formerly in the hands of Powell, 205 pounds, will be filled by Hoot Fungling, 178 pounds, and former center. It is doubtful if Powell will be able to play in the Amarillo game Oct. 29.

The starting Harvesters backfield will be in doubt until after the workout on Buffalo field. The soft bermuda grass may allow Lloyd Hamilton to bark signals, and if that is the case the right halfback position will develop into a battle between Sam Turner, Bert Stevens, Miles Marbaugh, Clinton Adair, and Preston Owens. If Hamilton cannot start the game, Turner will call signals and the rest of the boys will be left for the starting assignment.

The line will be the same as usual with the exception of Fullingim in Powell's place. Patton and Kelley will be at ends, Walker and Fullingim, tackles, Schmidt and Nelson, guards, and Green, center.

The Harvesters will be opposed by a much stronger team than the one they defeated 24 to 0 by the Amarillo Sandies two weeks ago. The freshmen will have the services of Albert Lard and Durwood Martindale, two of the fastest backfield men ever developed by the local school, and Lloyd Moore, a great end. The local boys enrolled at Canyon Tuesday. The Freshmen captain will be Ralph Poe, center and captain of the 1931 Harvesters. Other well known Panhandle high school stars will round out the line eleven.

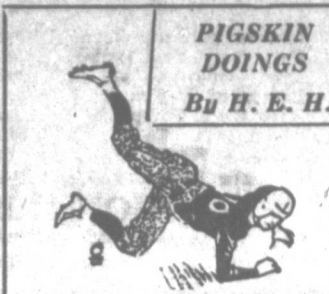

Hundreds of Pampa citizens plan to attend the important game. Admission will be 50 cents. There will be no reserved seats. Students will be admitted for 25 cents.

Last year the Harvesters defeated the Freshmen, 37 to 6. It was the first time the green and gold line had been crossed. Clarendon has already been across this year.

GOES TO DALLAS

George Briggs left for Dallas last night to attend a session of commercial executives. He is a member of the board of directors.

Specify Pampa-made products.

"I guess ole Pinky Powell and I will have to look for new places on that team or else go back to the Gorillas," H. L. "Chicken Creek" Ledrick was heard to remark yesterday afternoon while the Harvesters were polishing up their offensive for tonight.

The boys are looking better than at any time this season and railbirds believe a working combination has been found. Ledrick has been out of the game for the last two weeks with an ankle injury, while Powell was hurt in the Plainview game last Saturday. Ledrick is one of the headiest quarterbacks in the district, and Powell is the kind of lineman that can hardly be taken out of a play.

The game tonight should develop into a Harvesters scrimmage with the 1932 green and gold in the majority. Four ex-Harvesters will see service for the Canyon college Freshmen. They will be Ralph Poe, Albert Lard, Durwood Martindale, and Lloyd Moore. Coach Mitchell has changed a few plays that the exes were familiar with and substituted some variations so that the opposition will not know what is going to happen. The game is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 50 cents.

The Southwest conference race this week is interesting and a few upsets may be recorded. However, all eyes will be focused on the Texas-Rice tilt at Houston. Last year the gentlemen from Rice came out on top 7 to 0. If Ernie Koy's son should let him play the result may be different this year.

Following are games for this week with last year's scores:

- T. C. U. (38) vs. Austin College (0), Fort Worth.
- A. & M. (33) vs. Baylor (7), Waco.
- S. M. U. (19) vs. Centenary (0), Dallas.
- Arkansas (6) vs. Louisiana (13), Shreveport.
- Texas (0) vs. Rice (7), Houston.

Ross to Battle Battalino Tonight

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Barney Ross, young Chicago contender for the world lightweight championship, will have an opportunity tonight to demonstrate how well he is equipped with title qualifications. He is undertaking a ten-round bout with Bat Battalino, former featherweight champion, at the Chicago stadium.

Although he has engaged in less than 40 professional fights, Ross has made important progress recently, a knockout over Frankie Petrolle, and a ten-round decision over the veteran, Ray Miller, being his most noteworthy achievements. A sharp puncher and fine boxer, Ross will have plenty of opportunity to express himself against the gnarly-featured Battalino.

Jefferson Coach Denies Charge Of Professionalism

"Why not," writes in a sports editor of a Texas daily, "give us the complete roster and playing experience of the Jefferson university team of Dallas, and let us see for ourselves why they are undefeated and untied this season."

Shown the letter, Coach Nick Dobbs, who is having a difficult time arranging games, was glad to furnish the roster and data on his players. Dobbs wants it understood that the few college varsity men on his team are regular students at Jefferson university law school where all are taking full time courses in law. "And," explained Dobbs, "they are just as eligible as any man at West Point or the Naval Academy."

The Jefferson roster follows: Downes—Georgia, three years. Rose—Georgia, three years. Hambrick, Georgia, two years. White, Georgia, one year. Malone, North Texas Teachers, two years. Carter, Austin college, three years. Adams, Abilene Christian college, two years. Bean, Baylor university, one year. Wheeler, Newberry college, one year.

Williams, Elon college, one year. Minnehan, Hammit, Cook, Eberhardt, Miles, Hill, Gravelly, Collins, Price, Jacoby, McLemore and Livingston all have played academy football or freshman football at college.

Blair, Siler, Kelley, Morris, Bird, Leonard, Nelson, Ranson, McCrimmon, Feck Hackney, Miller, Dobbs, Mitchell, Martin and T. Hambrick are all high school graduates getting their first college experience.

Regarding charges of professionalism on his club, Coach Dobbs said: "That is absolutely untrue. Carter is the only man on the border of that charge. He once signed a contract to play baseball with Fort Worth but never made the grade, and never played elsewhere to my knowledge. As for paying the players, boy that's a laugh, for I am having a hard time drawing my own salary, and the school is far in the red for equipment."

Grid Stars Are Proud Fathers

Two proud fathers are playing football in the Southwest conference. When Bohn Hillard, University of Texas halfback, raced wild against the University of Oklahoma Saturday to score a pair of touchdowns he probably was celebrating the arrival of a son born last week in the Nix hospital at San Antonio. The youngster's name is Bohn Hillard, Jr., and how he must have kicked his feet and gurgled when he heard his "old man" was running wild against the Sooners.

Madison Pruitt, all-conference end of 1931 with Texas Christian, never scored a touchdown Saturday against Texas A. and M., but he did contribute a defensive and offensive game in celebrating of a baby girl born on Friday, a day previous to the Aggie game. With Hillard and Pruitt proud fathers, there is danger a few Southwest conference coaches may suddenly find themselves in a defensive and offensive game in coaching boys who have sons and daughters.

The quarterback barked out the series play signals and everything started perfectly, with "Jim" gaining three yards over right tackle on the first down.

Northwestern lined up quickly—Ernie Koy's son standing in his accustomed position at left half, a wide grin on his face over the three-yard gain.

The awful stillness warning him that something was amiss, "Jim" suddenly remembered the second part of the play, dropped to the ground and screamed: "Ow—ow! I'm hurt!"

The referee blew his whistle, and the second part of the "sure fire" series still remains to be played.

Bowling Scores

CLASS B

Four teams in the City Bowling league, class B, rolled at the Pampa Bowling alleys last night with the Jaycees taking three straight from the Phillips Petroleum company, while the Texas company of Kinesmill was winning two out of three from the Kiwanian club.

Lefty Freshour of Phillips rolled high three games with 573 pins. Roff of the Kiwanians had high game when he toppled 237 pins in the last game.

Many of the bowlers were rolling their first games and scores were not high. Every man on the floor showed much promise and before the league race is much advanced all should be strong contenders.

Two other teams are scheduled to roll Monday night. They have not been definitely named, however.

Law Book Gives Man New Trial

BEAUMONT, Oct. 21. (AP)—Convicted on evidence of a shoe heel print, Sam Giacoma was saved from serving a 12-year prison sentence by reason of a law book.

Giacoma was found guilty in criminal district court of burglary, and the book was an expensive textbook, which he carried with him for sakekeeping. He said the book was not opened by himself or by any other juror during the trial.

Judge R. L. Murray granted Giacomona a new trial.

Fergusons Will Take Stump Again

By The Associated Press

Speech-making in the gubernatorial campaign, decidedly one sided since the last primary with the Fergusons resting and the opponents on the stump, will assume a balance tomorrow.

In joint addresses at San Antonio, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband, James E. Ferguson, will begin a platform drive which they hope will place Mrs. Ferguson once more in the governor's chair.

The democratic nominee will receive the active backing of the party organization. Maury Hughes of Dallas, chairman of the state executive committee, has said as much and taken steps to give point to his words.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Ferguson's opponents, Otville Ballington of Wichita Falls, republican candidate, and George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth, independent candidate, continue their pleas to voters.

HEREFORDS TO MARKET

DALHART, Oct. 21. (AP)—With 303 head of choice Hereford heifers, weighing from 232 to 351 pounds, James Lutes, well-known Hereford breeder of near Dalhart, topped the Kansas City market recently. Mr. Lutes is credited with being the first in Texas to start full feeding on a grain ration. He finishes the steer end of his crop this way each year.

STEEDS' FIGHT AT HOUSTON IS 'CRUCIAL' TILT

CHANCES OF ONE FOR TITLE WILL BE SHATTERED

By BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

Tomorrow afternoon at Houston, the University of Texas Longhorns will make their present season Southwest conference debut. Their gridiron opponents will be the Rice Institute Owls, who appeared in the role of a conference championship unit last October 8 at Dallas when they beat Southern Methodist, 1931 conference champions 13 to 6. Tomorrow evening at dusk, the championship aspiration of Texas or Rice will be obliterated.

It doesn't matter that Texas A. and M. Baylor will engage in a conference game at Waco; that the University of Arkansas will play the intersected non-conference game against Louisiana State at Shreveport; that Texas Christian battles Austin college in a non-conference game at Fort Worth, or that Southern Methodist and Centenary meet in non-conference game Saturday night at Dallas. The only important thing to conference followers on tomorrow's program is that Texas plays Rice, and that in 1930 and 1931, Rice beat Texas, 6 to 0, and 7 to 0.

Arkansas Southern Methodist, Arkansas and M. Baylor have met recent conference defeats. Only Texas Christian, Rice and Texas are at the top, and Texas has not played a conference game.

With a 65 to 0 victory over Missouri and a 27 to 10 decision over Oklahoma, within two weeks the morale of the Longhorns is high. The only shadow of gloom on the Texas campus hovers around Ernest Koy, giant fullback and leading conference scorer with 38 points, who has a sore arm and shoulder. Bohn Hillard, the starting selection who galloped for two touchdowns against Oklahoma, has been groomed for a sensational day against Rice. As usual, the Texans will rely on power to crush through the Rice defense.

Through with lengthy practice sessions, the Owls have their eyes wide-open and ready for their game of games, Fay Lagow and Lou Hassell, who have been out of Rice's line-up because of injuries, are back in condition and eager to play. Hassell was an all-conference selection last season. Lagow is ranked as the greatest lineman at Rice this year.

Coach Jack Meagher's fast, elusive backs, Vic Driscoll, Tom Driscoll and Jap Thrasher, are ready with their Notre Dame shift. A complete sell-out has been reported for this game.

With five regulars on the injured list, Texas A. and M. probably will find a tough assignment at Waco against Baylor. Both clubs lost conference games last week. Texas Christian beat the Aggies, 17 to 0, and Arkansas stopped Baylor, 20 to 6. The Aggies' job will be to stop Baylor's passing. Baylor's job will be to stop Frentny Domingue, brilliant Aggie halfback.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs, who defeated Syracuse university, 16 to 8, at Syracuse last week, realize they face stubborn opposition Saturday night in Centenary college. The Mustangs plan to shoot the works to achieve victory mostly because Centenary recently defeated a conference member, the University of Arkansas, 13 to 0, at Fayetteville. Centenary halfback who has a sprained wrist, both clubs are in excellent condition.

The University of Arkansas goes to Shreveport for its 27th annual game against Louisiana State. The powerful Louisiana club, coached by Cliff Jones is favored to win.

Texas Christian reserves are expected to play most of the game against Austin college at Fort Worth.

Winning Every Game Not Good For Grid Team

Metzenthin, chairman of the athletic council of the University of Texas, doesn't believe that a football team that wins all its games every year is good for a school or its students and wouldn't send his son to a college that boasted a winning combination each season.

Metzenthin, who was one of the first football coaches at the University of Texas and is professor of Germanic languages, opined there was "something rotten in Denmark" when a school placed a victorious football team in the field each year. He also was of the opinion that efforts to win football games detracted from other objectives and three school activities out of balance.

One of Metzenthin's hopes is to see a $1 top price for football tickets in the near future. He is planning on a $2 top price next year, if other conference teams will agree Metzenthin led in the fight last year that resulted in reduction of the highest priced seats from $3 to $2.50.

"I would rather see 40,000 persons in the stadium at $1 than 20,000 persons at $3," Metzenthin said, adding that too many free tickets were issued to each game.

Poor Showing Is Made By Schaaf Against Unknown

BOSTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The fistic tobogganist appears well greased for Ernie Schaaf, Winston.

This once-promising youngster took a long rest after a disastrous summer season, during which he was beaten by Stanley Poreda and Max Baer, and last night he tried to get back into his winning stride against Unknown Winston, a negro battler from Hartford.

Schaaf weighed 206 pounds, 23 more than Winston, but put on such a sorry showing that he finished on the short end of a divided decision. The Boston viking was slow and sluggish.

He fought without the advice of champion Jack Sharkey, his co-manager, who was unwilling to give up a Nova Scotia hunting trip to second his protege, thus lending credence to the reports that he and Ernie are on unfriendly terms. There were many times during the bruising struggle against Winston when a verbal battle between Sharkey might have whipped Schaaf into point-gaining action.

This battle, which drew a capacity crowd of 12,000 to the arena, was a return engagement. Early in the summer Schaaf clashed with Winston at Springfield and gained a technical knockout verdict after being out-boxed in the early rounds.

Gorillas Play At Canadian Today

The high school Gorilla football team was in Canadian this afternoon meeting the tough Canadian Wildcates and gaining a technical knockout verdict after being out-boxed in the early rounds.

Coach Warren Moore took his full squad and hoped to come back with a Wildcat skin under his arm. He has been working his boys hard this week and has them looking stronger than in previous encounters.

Canadian has a good Class B team and the local boys will be a little outclassed in the river city. However, the little fellows from Pampa always fight hard against stiff competition. They are gradually building up their knowledge of football and when they get a chance to make the Harvesters squad next season they should give several regulars real competition.

Kiwanians Issue Bowling Challenge

Fred Cullum of the Kiwanian club has issued a challenge to either the Lions club or the Rotary club, or both for that matter, to a bowling game with the losers paying. Joe Landry of the Pampa Bowling alleys will donate the use of the alleys and the money will be turned over to the cafeteria fund of one or both clubs.

The time of the games will be left to the club or clubs accepting the challenge, but the Kiwanians would like it to be soon so that the money can be put into use as soon as possible. Good teams can be assembled by all the clubs, and close games are expected if the challenge is accepted.

The three civic clubs recently started a cafeteria fund to help feed needy children.

GAME PLAYED BUT OUTCOME IS QUESTIONED

PHILLIPS TEAM LEADS 6-5 BUT FACULTY CLAIMS TILT

The Faculty and Phillips ended their scheduled game in the City Playground ball league in the dark last night with the winner in doubt until rules can be diagnosed and a ruling given. The Faculty had the game sewed up 5 and 2 going into the sixth inning, which ended with two men out and the score 6 and 5 in favor of Phillips.

If playground ball rules are interpreted the same as baseball, the score reverts back to the even inning, which would give the Faculty the game, 5 and 2.

Phillips was minus her two best hurlers, but Lefty Freshour of hard ball fame took the mound and pitched great ball. He was opposed by the league's leading hurler, Patrick of the Faculty. The Faculty outfield of Sone, Gordon, and Herod worked like clock-work to save many sure scores. The infield, however, was erratic.

The Phillips offensive was working nicely, but was the defense that held the score down. The teachers opened up with two runs in the first inning and added one in the rest of the first five innings. Phillips scored in the second and third.

Hits were scarce on both sides. The win given to Phillips would give that team the second half of the schedule, while a loss would put the race in a three-way tie with Danciger being the third team.

Longworth Wins Open Golf Title Of Cotton States

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 21. (AP)—One stroke ahead at the fall of night was the margin by which Ted Longworth, of Texarkana, Texas, last night won the 1932 title of cotton states open golf championship.

Longworth, who plays with the Pensacola, won all 27 holes in the second annual tournament at the Jackson country club and the tie called for a playoff.

The pair agreed to continue 18 holes further, or to play until darkness fell over the course to decide the winner of the tournament.

Both were playing close to the hole on the extra nine holes and Longworth had one stroke advantage after the seventh green.

There they agreed that one more hole could be played in the gathering shadows. They halved the eighth hole, settling the match in favor of the Texan. Congratulations were exchanged over a great tournament and the titles and runner-up split the $1,000 prize money between them.

The two leading cards follow:

Longworth	73	88	72	74	297
Penna	75	86	74	70	295

The Playoff:

Longworth	455	447
Penna	554	533

FLIER TAKES OFF

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 21. (AP)—James Wedell of Patterson, Pa., took off at 10:55 a. m. today for Ottawa, Ont., to start a projected one day flight to Washington, D. C. and Mexico City. He had been held here for three days because of bad weather.

DIES IN CRASH

WHARTON, Tex., Oct. 21. (AP)—Infant suffered in an automobile accident near Wharton today. The child proved fatal yesterday for Edward F. Comegys of Oklahoma City.

BIRDS HELPED IN AMERICA'S DISCOVERY! COLUMBUS CHANGED HIS COURSE AND FOLLOWED THE LINE OF FLIGHT OF MIGRATING BIRDS, AND IT WAS THE SIGHTING OF LAND BIRDS THAT GAVE THE DISCOURAGED SAILORS THE HEART TO GO ON. COLUMBUS, by changing his course to correspond with the line of flight of the migrating birds, shortened his route to land by 200 miles, eventually landing in the Bahama Islands. At the time the birds were first seen, Columbus was some 650 miles from the Bahamas. His men were on the verge of mutiny, through fear and superstition, but the sight of the birds changed their spirits entirely.

Wichita Company To Open Malone Furniture Store

The Wichita Wholesale Furniture company of Wichita, Kan., has purchased the assets of the G. C. Malone Furniture company here and will open for business in the same location Saturday morning. L. C. Jackson, secretary of the company, completed arrangements yesterday. He signed a three-year lease on the building, owned by L. N. McCullough and J. E. Murfee.

The new Pampa firm has connections with 20 of the leading jobbers of the country and has buying power of more than $20,000,000.

Guy E. McTaggart, manager of the G. C. Malone company for the past two years, will remain in charge of the store. The balance of the personnel will be the same as formerly. Mr. McTaggart said this morning.

Cub-Yank Games Shown at LaNora Theater in Pampa Daily Newsreel

The debacle at Chicago, the last thrilling act in the diamond drama as the Yankees took the fourth, and final game in the 1932 World Series, is described play-by-play in the current issue on the Pampa Daily NEWS-Universal Newsreel, by Graham McNamee, famous radio sports announcer and the screen's talking reporter, at the La Nora theater.

The whirlwind start of the Cubs in the first inning, pushing four runs across the plate, is the highlight of the series for Chicago fans. The steady charge of the Yankees gradually sinks the hopes of the vast throng in the Windy City stadium, as run-after-run piles up until the Cubs' lead is wiped out, and then relegated to oblivion. The superiority of the American League winners is apparent at every stage of the contest, after the opening inning.

McNamee reports many other interesting and important events, among them the momentous pronouncement by the Inquiry Committee of the League of Nations concerning the true stage of affairs in Manchuria. The surveillance of the Commission's movements in Manchukuo by Japanese officers is a striking sight of the investigation. Impressive scenes of the observance by American Jews of the Hebrew New Year's Day, with the many picturesque customs which have come down from antiquity, and views of Federal Prohibition agents destroying 10,000 gallons of liquor in New Jersey, also are shown in the reel.

Paul M. Gallicotte of Portland, Ore., "confesses" that he planted the Preparedness Parade bomb in San Francisco in 1916 for which Tom Mooney is now in prison for life, and describes his movements with diagrams and by re-enacting for the newsreel his "planting" the loaded suitcase. An odd substitute for cash, a special script called "oyster money" issued by the chamber of commerce in Raymond, Wash., and scenes showing increased activity in various industrial plants speeded up as a result of steadily growing orders, make interesting additions to the reel.

JAUNTY VELVET CAPS SMART FOR EVENING

WASHINGTON (AP)—Small and snappy velvet caps are smart with summer evening gowns. Mrs. Ogden Mills wears one in blue to match the blue flowers on her gown of leah chiffon.

Its jaunty air is accentuated by a little V-shaped buckle of brilliants above one eye. Her friend, Rep. Ruth Baker Pratt of New York, wore an unornamented cap of black velvet with a flowered chiffon gown.

Steps to Increase Longevity Told

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Medical science, which has increased the average life span from less than 20 to more than 58 years, must depend upon continued scientific research and public education to lengthen life still further, Dr. George W. Crile, noted Cleveland surgeon, told an audience at the community health meeting of the American college of surgeons here last night.

Dr. Crile listed as necessary achievements in further progress the control and mastery of remaining infectious diseases, especially pneumonia; understanding of the factors leading to diabetes and diseases of the heart and blood vessels; and the solving of the mystery of cancer and its cure.

"That ache in your back" when not due to injury, may come from too much work or too little, too hard play or lack of exercise, Dr. Philip H. Krauscher of Chicago informed the gathering.

"Some people are too thin and have backache because the nerves and bones are not covered sufficiently with fat," he explained. "Others are too fat and carrying about the extra weight gives them backache."

HUNGRY INSECTS

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—Attaches of the courthouse complain they are going "buggy" trying to save their status and stationery from the gnawing hunger of pernicious pests. Insects with appetite for posters, pamphlets and papers of all kinds are causing courthouse clerks to lock their stamps in strong boxes.

Roosevelt Tour Through Indiana Is Triumphant

By F. G. VOSBURGH
Associated Press Staff Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 21. (AP)—Charges of republican "intimidation," promises of aid for the coal mining industry and farmer, new pledges to seek added revenue by legalizing beer—these were campaign weapons of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today as he pushed on toward the middle west and south.

Speeding out of Indiana, which he hailed as "not even in the doubtful class," the democratic presidential nominee expressed a determination if elected to undertake "stabilization" of the coal industry by "common sense" methods.

To the crowds swarming about the observation platform of his special train at Terre Haute last night, he declared he felt "very strongly" that "a new administration in this country will bring back the level of farm prices and can do much to aid the coal industry."

"I'm not going to appoint a lot of commissioners when I go to Washington," he said. "But I'm going to undertake to get the coal industry stabilized and not just have a lot of talk."

When he campaigned in the same region in 1920 "at the close of the Wilson administration," he said, "most of the coal mines in this part of the state were in operation, most of the farms were able to pay their taxes and keep their farms."

"I am afraid that if now I traveled through this part of the state, he added, "I would see a different picture."

Entering Illinois, he said at Mattoon that the only question in his mind was whether he would receive the larger majority in that state or in his own native New York.

Before a huge open air throng estimated by police at between 50,000 and 75,000, the New York governor at Indianapolis a few hours earlier referred to the "propaganda of fear" which "dangles the old ghost of panic before our eyes."

Claims Record In Learning to Fly

A new record for speed in learning to operate an airplane is claimed for G. V. Parker, son of Mrs. A. E. Arnold of this city.

Mr. Parker, 26 years old, is an aviation student in Long Beach, Calif. He had an NB-8 training ship during his first lesson, made 12 practice landings at his second lesson, and soloed during his third after having had one hour and 18 minutes in the air. The average time for soloing is after 8 hours of practice.

Farker's brother, Jim Parker, was killed near here a few weeks ago in an oil field accident.

Campaign CHEERLEADERS

Snappiest of the republican "cheerleaders" is the debonair secretary of war, Patrick J. Hurley.

Tall, smartly roomed and engaging, this cabinet member is a striking platform speaker. Wealthy, possessed of a distinguished war record and a talent for entertaining, he has been high among the younger generation of republican stalwarts.

Hurley's political fortunes are tied closely to those of his chief, who is a product of the Hoover administration in national politics, he has been one of the its doughtiest champions.

When the republican - democratic emergency period" was terminated last winter, the 49-year-old secretary of war was the first to open fire on democratic critics of the administration. The past summer he launched his campaign work in characteristic fashion by leasing an airplane for three months. He does considerable reading and writing aboard ship.

The Oklahoman is considered one of the chief republican cannoners in the final battle for ballots. He is a "hit 'em hammer and ton" campaigner who apparently enjoys exchanging oratorical wallops with the fiercest of the democratic foe-men.

Garner Recalls Promises Made By Hoover in 1928

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—In Speaker Garner's opinion, President Hoover must tell the country "why the promises which he made in other days have not been carried out."

"Mr. Hoover must go more than apologize for things as they are," Garner said last night in a formal statement. "He must answer on his record."

The democratic vice-presidential candidate quoted from both the 1928 and 1932 campaign address of the president. He said in part: "Mr. Hoover cannot disregard the fact, which the country well knows, that he does not start with a clean slate in any discussion of the present nation-wide unemployment and distress. He must say why the promises which he made in other days have not been carried out. This he very carefully avoided."

"I find only one 1928 statement by which Mr. Hoover in his recent utterances still stands in part. This statement was made in Newark in 1928 when he said: 'The measure of our national prosperity, or our stability, or our hope of further progress at this time, is a measure of what we may risk through a change in present policies.'"

"Mr. Hoover, no doubt, would like to strike from that sentence today the reference to national prosperity."

English Rector Is Ousted From Church

NORWICH, Eng., Oct. 21. (AP)—Rev. H. F. Davidson, rector of Bliffley, was declared today removed, deposed and degraded from the offices of priest and deacon of the Church of England as a result of his conviction last July on charges of immoral conduct involving a number of young women.

The sentence was pronounced before the high altar by the Bishop of Norwich, who brought the charges against the rector.

It followed a previous declaration by the bishop in the Norwich consistory court depriving the rector of all his ecclesiastical promotions in the diocese.

Before the first sentence was pronounced, Rev. Davidson, in a long speech declared his innocence "in the sight of God" and said he intended to begin a campaign for reform of the procedure of the consistory court.

Kansas Governor Accuses Doherty And Newspapers

PITTSBURG, Kan., Oct. 21. (AP)—Accusations and denials were hurled across the Kansas political front today following charges by Gov. Harry H. Woodring that an "agent" for Henry L. Doherty, utility magnate, had spent approximately $75,000 in less than a year. "To destroy the confidence of the people in my administration."

The democratic nominee for reelection, who met with resistance from the Doherty interests in his efforts to obtain lower gas rates for Kansas consumers, made the charges last night in a campaign address here.

Declaring that every assertion he made was "backed by sworn testimony of eye-witnesses and photostatic copies of the record," Governor Woodring said a "big brown envelope" containing $1,100 had been handed by Doherty's "agent" to an attorney for Dr. John R. Brinkley, independent candidate for governor. He also charged that payments had been made to the Kansas City (Mo.) Journal-Post and

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: PROBLEMS OF THE MODERN HOME.

Scripture Lesson: Josh. 24:12, 15; Eph. 6:1-9.

Josh. 24:14. Now therefore fear Jehovah, and serve him in sincerity and in truth; and put away the gods which your fathers served beyond the River, and in Egypt, and serve ye Jehovah.

15. And if it seem evil unto you to serve Jehovah, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell; but as for me and my house, we will serve Jehovah.

Eph. 6:1. Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right.

2. Honor thy father and mother (which is the first commandment with promise).

3. And ye masters, do the same things unto them, and forbear threatening; knowing that he who is both their Master and yours is in heaven, and there is no respect of persons with him.

Golden Text: As for me and my house, we will serve Jehovah.—Josh. 24:15.

Introduction

"In this third lesson on the family we face again the responsibility of parents in preserving the unity of the home and placing it upon a high plane of religion and morality. In the passage from Paul, Eph. 6, the relationships in the home are set forth and the Christian motive of love is involved at every point. It is to be hoped that in these studies we shall see very clearly that in our Christian religion there is a distinctive feature of the family. The home is the place for Christian training because it is there that it is the most naturally given and retained. This is true because the child mind is the most receptive and because the child takes its instruction from the parents in the home, and without raising any barriers against belief; and then most of all because at this period the child will receive most of its teaching without conscious effort, as it filters in upon it from the speech of its elders, even when the child is asleep, and from the instruction in the real Christian home, the child will assimilate some of our profoundest spiritual ideas as naturally as the violets drink in the dew-drops on a May morning."—President Martyn Summerbell.

Joshua's Farewell Address

These two verses are taken from Joshua's farewell address to the people whom he had served so long and so well. The aged leader, the successor of Moses, the conqueror of Canaan for the chosen people, had brought the nation together at Shechem, in the heart of the country, to hear his last words. At Shechem Abraham had first halted when he made his immortal pioneer journey from Mesopotamia. There he received promises from God, and on Mounts Ebal and Gerizim near Shechem, in the presence of the people, had been pronounced soon after Joshua entered the land, and the people had given assent to them. Joshua's address began with a rehearsal, in God's words, of the history of the Israelites, through the days of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, then on to the oppression in Egypt, the deliverance of the exodus, the wilderness wanderings, and the driving out of the idolatrous tribes from the promised land which the Israelites had now, in large measure, made their own. Since God had led them through their long history, had he not a right to call on them to serve him?

Firm Stand for Jehovah

"As for me and my house, we will serve Jehovah," Joshua called the people together, reviewed before them their history which was full of the grace of Jehovah, issued his challenge to them to make a definite choice, and finally sought to turn the tide in favor of truth and righteousness by those immortal words, "As for me and my house we will serve Jehovah." v. 15. The result was that as one man the people followed their great and courageous leader. "Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that had known all the works of the Lord, that he had done for Israel." This stirring event teaches us, first, the power of consecrated and courageous leadership. Israel is not the only people that ever needed it. We need it today in our churches and communities, an outspoken leadership of men and women of exalted character, who will voice the highest ideals of religion and morals.

Joshua's Care for Family

We are struck by Joshua's sense of responsibility for his household and the authority with which he spoke for them. Our families are no longer under a patriarchal absolutism, but, as we noted in last week's lesson, that ought not to mean chaos or division or the absence of authority. There is a moral, as well as a legal authority. Love is as powerful as coercion. And so we cannot pass by Joshua's inclusion of his family in his thought and purpose. His wife and children were his moral charge, his first responsibility. Many of us may learn a lesson from Joshua's word: "As for me and my house."

Epistle to the Ephesians

Ephesians shares with Romans the glory of being Paul's greatest writing. The Epistle was written during the apostle's first imprisonment in Rome, and was sent primarily to the church in the great city of Asia Minor where Paul remained longer than in any other place more than three years; but also it was evidently intended as a circular letter, to be passed around among the churches of the nearby cities. It emphasizes the unity which should characterize Christians, and sets forth in sentences of the most exalted eloquence the purpose of God in the history of the world. The special sphere in which the unity of Christians is to be shown is the home, so that Paul deals with this theme at the close of the Epistle, first, at the conclusion of chapter 5, speaking of the instruction in Christ in the home, and going on, in the first nine verses of the concluding chapter, to discuss the relations of the other members of the household.

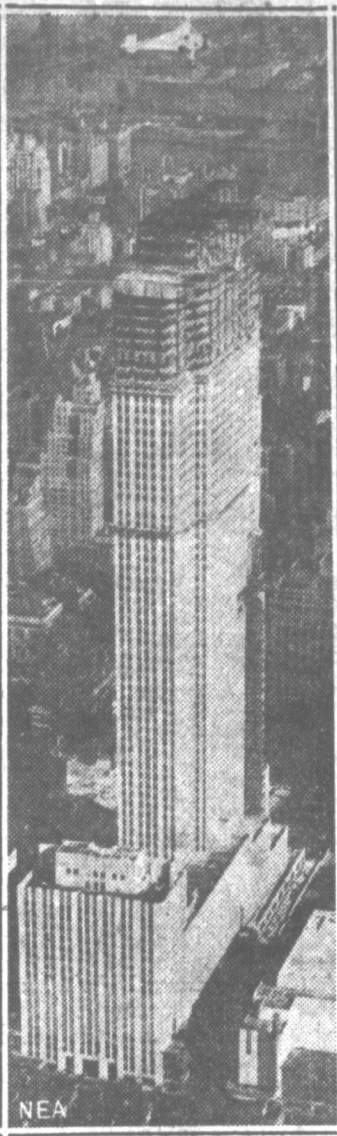

Duty of Children to Parents

"Honor thy father and mother (which is the first commandment with promise)." Parents who are to be honored, and the apostle is dealing with that sacred relationship, and the child's recognition of it. "It is not the mere outward act of obedience that is here required from us,—it is honor,—a large word, embracing many particular duties of inward respect, outward reverence, and every kind of real service. Yes, children, you must obey your parents; you must wait upon them, when you grow old enough; you must perform such services for them as they may stand in need of, you must assist them in all things to the utmost of your power. In old age and sickness you must do your best to make them comfortable, not grumbling at the task, not thinking it wearisome, but rather rejoicing that you have an opportunity of showing your gratitude to your parents, by nursing and taking care of them in their old age, in return for all the care and nursing which you received from them in your infancy. This, and nothing short of this, is honoring your father and your mother."—Rev. Augustus W. Hare.

Duty of Parents to Children

"And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath." God demands of you parents that you treat your children reasonably, not with the tyranny of mere authority, but with tenderness and justice."—Rev. William Bathgate, D. D. It is for parents to command and children to obey, but the parents' command must be reasonable and tactful, not harsh and nagging. "Domestic obedience is somewhat at a discount, it is to be feared, in this generation in most classes of society; and this is a very grave peril. Parents, wealthy as well as poor, are very commonly disposed to make school-mistresses do the work of discipline for them, while they retain for themselves the privilege of spoiling their children. St. Paul's admonition to parents is full of wisdom: they are not to provoke their children so that they become bad-tempered."—Bishop Charles Gore.

LARGEST

There it is—the biggest office building in the world! This picture was taken as the last girder was placed atop the central structure of the $250,000,000 Rockefeller Center development in New York. Seventy stories, and more than 800 feet in height, it is not the tallest skyscraper but has the most office space.

The olive growing industry, founded 160 years ago in California, returned $25,000,000 to planters and packers this year.

Husband and Wife

Before the day of Christianity, and in more or less degree until now, public law made the woman subject to the man. Christianity emphasized the mutuality of married life, and transformed the meaning of "subjection" by the Christian motive and the sense of the sacredness of the marriage union which made husband and wife indissolubly one in the bond of love. In the same breath with which Paul spoke of subjection, he spoke of love. The husband must love his wife "as Christ loved the church and gave himself for it," and surely there would be no burden or personal degradation, or suffering, to be subject to a love like that. Lordship and subjection were forgotten in an atmosphere of mutuality.

What is "Home"?

"Home is a world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in." "Home is a blossom of which heaven is the fruit." "Home is the father's kingdom, the children's paradise, the mother's world."

Election Party Heads Urged By Alfred E. Smith

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith, plunging into the heat of the national campaign, declares that the "bright star" guiding the nation into a "harbor and haven of repose is complete and full democratic victory in November."

Cheers echoed in the Tammany wigwam here as the former governor, making his first speech of the national drive, spoke the names of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Speaker John N. Garner. He said:

"I have been privileged in the past—and from a democratic standpoint I think the leaders of the party will still extend me the privilege of speaking on behalf of the rank and file of our great party in this city—to know that the loyalty, the devotion of the great democratic organization of this city will be exerted to the last degree in favor of the election of Roosevelt and Garner."

A crowd that jammed the auditorium in Tammany headquarters and spilled over into the streets laughed and cheered as the former governor jibed at the republicans as taking advantage of the "open season on business" and praised the democratic record.

Four Thousand Cured of Cancer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21. (AP)—More than 4,000 authenticated cases of cancer cure, by means of surgery, radium treatment or both, were reported by distinguished specialists to a session of the clinical congress of the American college of surgeons here.

Added to the 1,263 cases already registered with the college and more than 3,000 others revealed by an incomplete survey of medical literature, these made a total of approximately 8,500 known cures in the United States and Canada.

In each instance the patient treated was alive and well after five years, the period during which it is assumed the disease would reappear if not eradicated.

The symposium of the curability of cancer, during which the cases were reported, was intended to impress upon doctors—and indirectly upon the public—the existence of well-established methods whereby cancer may be cured if diagnosed and treated in time.

Foreign Subsidies, Weaken Missions, Committee States

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—The appraisal commission sent to the far east by seven protestant denominations which donate $15,000,000 annually to mission work reported today that its survey showed subsidy of mission churches by home churches had introduced "an element of commercialism into the very inner courts of the church."

This report was one of a series being issued by the commission on its findings concerning mission conditions in China, Japan, India, and Burma.

"It is doubtful whether any single thing," it read, "has brought weakness in life and morale to the missionary church to the same extent

Texas Gets Three More Votes In Electoral College In Elections

By KARL M. SCHROEDER
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Shifts in the electoral power of 22 states and the prospect of agitation for direct election of president have raised the electoral college to a new prominence in political argumentation.

Senator Norris of Nebraska has just introduced the system as "anti-qualified and useless," and predicted that Congress before long will see an attempt to abolish the method by which every president has been formally chosen since George Washington back in 1789.

A constitutional amendment would be necessary, since the present method was written into that document by the convention which framed it. Under its provision on November 8, presidential electors will be selected by direct vote in each state—each state electing a number equal to its seats in Congress—for a national aggregate of 691.

In each state the electors will vote the second Monday in January, certify their ballots and send them to Washington, with each state vote going as a unit for the candidate favored by a majority of the state electors.

Majority Necessary
 Here on the second Wednesday in February the ballots will be counted by the president of the senate in the presence of both the house and senate. Only then will the official result of the election be made known.

A majority of the electoral college votes, or 296, is necessary to elect a president.

Through reapportionment of the house of representatives, the electoral power of 32 states has been changed by the transfer of 27 votes, as compared with 1928.

As the constitution fixes the number of senators at 100 for each state, changes in electoral college votes strength are based upon house reapportionment, predicated upon population. Reapportionment is required each ten years, under the constitution.

On the basis of the 1930 census, 27 seats in the house were transferred from 21 to 11 states. There is no unanimity as to whether or how the changes will benefit one party or another.

States gaining electoral college votes and the number follows:
 California, 5; Michigan, 4; Texas, 3; New York, New Jersey and Ohio, two each; Connecticut, Florida, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Washington, one each.

States Losing Votes
 States losing electoral votes:
 Missouri, 3; Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky and Pennsylvania, two each; Alabama, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, and Wisconsin, one each.

In event any candidate lacks a majority when the electoral votes are formally counted in the senate, the president would be elected by the house of representatives and the vice-president by the senate.

Only twice has this happened. In those instances, in 1800 the house elected Thomas Jefferson and in 1824 John Quincy Adams.

While an elector is not legally required to support his state's candidate, when he formally casts his ballot, not once in the history of parties is now known any elector failed to do so.

In his Philadelphia speech, Senator Norris noted that ordinarily "the discretion which it is intended presidential electors should have been taken away." He listed public sentiment and organization of parties as causes, and contended the system "enables political machines to practically deprive the people of the country of a right to the selection of a chief magistrate."

Whereas originally electors of each state sent one set of certified ballots to the president of the senate by special messenger, and another by mail, a third to the secretary of state and a fourth to the federal judge in the district in which the ballots were cast, under a change in the law in 1928 all are now transmitted by registered mail.

SEVENTEEN SKELETONS OF RACE THAT FLOURISHED ABOUT 4,000 YEARS AGO FOUND AT ABILENE

By FRANK GRIMES
 Editor Abilene Reporter
 ABILENE, Oct. 21. (AP)—Skeletal remains of a long-headed race which flourished and died on the wind-swept hills and dunes of West Texas long before the time of Christ will be on display here next Saturday for examination by delegates attending the annual convention of the Texas Archaeological and Paleontological society.

Skulls of seventeen men, women and children that had lain in burial mounds so long that calcification had become complete.

The first burial discovered consisted of a sack of broken and charred bones found under a flat rock about three feet below the surface of the ground. The oval shape of the mass indicated that the bones had been enclosed in a sack, the last vestige of which had disappeared.

Dogs Uncover Bones
 Ten skeletons were found in one mound and five in another. The size of the larger burying was accidentally revealed when farmers of the vicinity, out rabbit-hunting, chased three rabbits into a hole. In digging out the hole, the dogs uncovered a bone, which brought on an investigation. The diggers were puzzled by the fact that five of the skeletons had no lower jaw. All the burials were of the flexed type—that is, the bodies had the knees drawn up, and were placed on their sides facing the east. This method as well as cremation was practiced by the Basketmakers.

An eighteenth skeleton found in the same site, but at lesser depth was that of a more modern, round-headed type. An arrow-head of comparatively recent type was found imbedded in the chest-rib area, a reminder of some long-ago violence.

Very few ornaments and artifacts were found. One wrist bone of an ancient warrior bore a curious ornament either of shell or some white stone. Another had around the neck three hollow bird bones with incised decorations. Five mussel shells, three staghorn flint flakers, a grindstone and a small flint scraper were the only other objects uncovered.

The society will have an all-day session here Saturday and will hear papers read by various members prominent in archaeological, paleontological and kindred sciences in the southwest.

Will Makes 'Em Laugh Way Down In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 21. (AP)—Will Rogers, who was the guest of the American colony at a dinner here, said he was "America's gift to those who didn't see the Prince of Wales."

"I'm here to lower the tariff," the humorist said. "Argentina exports wheat, meat and piglets, and the United States puts a tariff on the woping two."

He recalled how he came to Argentina in 1901, with money he earned selling cattle, and found himself unable to hold a job as an Argentine cowboy. He lived in Buenos Aires until his money was all gone, he said, then worked his way to Africa on a cattle boat and joined a wild west show.

Introducing Manuel Adrada, Argentine polo star, he predicted the Argentine team would win the International matches next month.

"What," he asked, "can a bunch of Yale boys do against this gorilla?"

He left today by airplane for Brazil en route back to the United States.

A PATH TO PARADISE

by Coningsby DAWSON

SYNOPSIS: Clive, driving wildly through the night to Santa, reviews his situation. He loves Santa, daughter of his guardian, Eric Dawn, whom his mother jilted in favor of the handsome man who became his father. Partly through jealousy of Clive, Santa's mother has kept Santa in Europe, where she has become an irresponsible expert at leading men on to make fools of themselves. Now she has telegraphed Clive, on vacation at Cape Cod, to go to her at once. At last she is ready to settle down to marriage with him, Clive feels sure.

from public gaze by flowering shrubs and rose-covered pergolas. Turning in at the next drive, he came to a halt with a flourish beneath the smiling windows. Springing out, he tooted his horn accidentally.

Before he could knock a uniformed maid had opened. She appeared to take his arrival casually. During her service with the Dawns she had seen so many of these gay young Giant-Killers. The ogre's treasure was still intact—and the spry young Jacks, where were they?

Miss Santa was on the courts playing tennis. With a grateful grin he signified that he would go to her. At this point his romantic imaginings received a box on the ears; her voice floated to him through the brooding stillness, addressing someone as "Dicky, darling." The box on the ears was quickly followed by a blow between the eyes—the vision of her insolently cool young figure as she kept a perspiring opponent on the run by her carefully placed shots.

"But, Dicky, darling, you ought to have got that one; I made it specially easy for you."

Pushing open the door in the wire behind her, Clive entered. This Dicky person was a new one—a striking contrast to the college boys who had constituted her previous captives. He was aristocratic—self-assured. He bore a faint resemblance to Albert, King of the Belgians—blond, well set up, blue-eyed. Fresh-complexioned, 30-odd. He was obviously a good sport, for he was making a jest of his own clumsiness.

"You must come riding with me. I'm a wizard on horseback."

"So much to learn about each other," she chaffed him.

Clive concealed his chagrin by scouting Santa's balls. Meanwhile she lapsed into French, which the man across the net spoke with equal fluency. As far as Clive was concerned, most of what they said was lost.

Suddenly, with premeditated abruptness she flung down her racket. "Gather up the balls, Dicky, and carry them to the house. Clive and I will be with you in a second."

She led the way to a little wood where an arbor stood beside the swimming-pool. The omen was propitious.

"Get rid of him," Clive whispered. "Rid of whom?"

"The foreigner."

"He's an awful dear and as much American as you are."

Having seated herself in the arbor, she smiled angelically.

"Nice old thing."

She shot him a melting glance. This time he described his symptoms more eloquently, rising to poetic heights. This sacred day. The arbor sacred. The swimming-pool sacred. The wood a shrine. And to meet thus after all their wandering. (She being eighteen; he four years her senior!) The solemnity of the moment.

"And I can't live without you."

"But, darling," she protested, stroking his hand. "Except for our last parting you've always been most comfortable."

Their fingers intertwined. Hers twitched and fluttered. Unsurprised and smiling, she came to him without a struggle. He stooped, drinking in her eyes. The white lids fell like shutters. Her lips pouted.

"Noses do get in the way." Her bubbling laugh recalled him. "Feel better now, don't you?"

He felt exultant.

"I saw at once what was the matter with you," she continued. "You've not kissed a girl for ages. Now let's be sensible. Why do you think I sent for you?"

"Because you've been hungry for me the way I've been hungry for you."

She shook her head, not exactly in denial.

"I always miss you, Clive. But that wasn't why. It was because I've done something. I was afraid you might hear it second-hand. Clive, dear, I'm engaged."

They sat so silent that they could almost hear the tinkle of the sunshine.

"You're disappointed in me."

"Don't be absurd." There was rough tenderness in his voice. "I'm thinking what's best to be done. Is this engagement official? What I mean is have your parents consented?"

"Mummy has. In a way she made it. Daddy's been told, if that's what you call consenting."

"Who is the poor sucker?"

She shrugged her delicate shoulders.

"Sucker's not complimentary. He's my late partner at tennis."

"Good grief, Santa! What kind of a mother have you?"

"What's the matter with Mummy?" she asked on the defensive.

"Nearly everything," he blurted. "Put yourself in her place and suppose you had a daughter. Wouldn't you rather see her single forever than the wife of a man nearly old enough to be her father?"

"Don't exaggerate, Clive. He's only fourteen years older than I am."

"Only! Then's only six years younger than your mother. She must be crazy."

"You've got it wrong, Clive. I'm following my instinct—doing what I consider wise."

"Consider, again," he snapped. "Let me ask one question. Do you love him?"

"No girl's so dumb as to marry for love nowadays."

"Then for what?"

"Companionship."

He withdrew his arm.

New Research On Parrot Fever Is To Be Commenced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Parrot fever laboratory in Southern California where science may explore mysteries of this disease so new but dramatic in history, is planned by the public health service.

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings of the service, in announcing this today said Secretary Mills had allotted $10,000 to further research in psittacosis out of a treasury fund for preventing the spread of epidemic diseases.

Dr. H. E. Hasseltine, one of two Washington psittacosis research experts whose blood was used in the successful convalescent serum treatment of Mrs. William E. Borah in Boise, Idaho, has been assigned to make the study.

Balanced Diet Is Provided for Children Hit by Unemployment

Thirty-one children are receiving free balanced lunches at Baker school as a result of opening of the cafeteria Monday.

These children are those who, because of unemployment, would have wholly inadequate meals, or no meals at all, at the noon hours. The list is expected to be increased soon.

Balanced menus, changed each day, have been prepared. One menu includes soup, turnip greens, macaroni and cheese, baked apples, bread, and milk. Another includes bread, milk, and meat at this time.

A third is composed of baked beans, spinach, custard, milk, and bread. Yesterday the meal consisted of meat sandwiches, carrot-raisin salad, hot chocolate, oranges, and whole-wheat bread. Today there was, to be boiled liver, scalloped cabbage, baked apples, bread, and milk.

A $5 gift has been received from the Sam Houston P. T. A. Alex Schneider is furnishing free soup. The cafeteria is in need of dried fruits, bread, and meats at this time.

Wilson's First War Secretary Is Dead

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., Oct. 21. (AP)—The death of Lindley M. Garrison, former secretary of war, recalled here his sharp disagreement with Woodrow Wilson over national defense problems and sudden resignation from that president's cabinet in 1916.

During his 68 years he served both as New Jersey state official and in Washington.

Wilson made Garrison's acquaintance in New Jersey, where he was vice chancellor from 1904 to 1913. During the latter part of this time Wilson was governor, and when he went to the White House he put Garrison at the head of the war department.

Chapter 4 ENTER DICK DAK

Spick and span after a bath at his club and a telephone call to Santa, Clive got out on the last lap of his long drive from Cape Cod to the Dawn country place in New Jersey.

The Dawn butler had told him Santa was out, and he had suspected a white lie. This time, however, he thought he divined her motive. Preliminary speech would spoil the high ecstasy of their impending drama. Like all lovers, Clive was listening to an ambush.

After an hour's drive through lovely summer country defaced by advertisements and hot-dog stands, he came to a village that was truly rural. At its far end in a green oasis of shaven lawns grew up a cool white house, immaculate as a yacht at anchor, partly screened
