WMA SEEKS SUPREME COURT AID

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY BY O.E.H.

If you are planning an event involving very many individuals, let The NEWS announce it as soon as the plans are made.

Taxes are not very high measured by an average for the last decade, but they are high when contrasted with ability to pay.

We are often impressed with the juvenile spirit of male teachers. By this we mean their happy outlook, their optimism, their ability to enjoy life.

Only once in the period since 1885 has rainfall in the Sweetwater exceeded 40 inches for a year.

King Cotton may be enthroned this year. With the farm board holding its supply off the market, the price is ranging a little above the cost of production.

Speaking of school teachers again, we call attention to the fact that they are long-suffering and astonishingly patient in the face of tribulations.

Note to you Rotarians: Why-daye mean challenging us Lions again before meeting those Kiwanians? Are you afraid of them?

Bargain hunting that very common American custom, has become a major sport in recent months. With falling prices carrying prices of necessities ever lower, the merchant and customer have had a merry time watching prices rather than quality.

M. J. Delaney and son, H. B. Delaney of Dallas, are Pampa visitors today.

DEPUTIES ARE TURNED BACK BY 500 MEN

OFFICERS ATTEMPT TO ESCORT LIVESTOCK TRUCKS

FARMERS WIN SKIRMISH

STONES HURLED AFTER SHERIFF AND HIS 100 ASSISTANTS

STOUX CITY, Ia., Sept. 7. (P)—Nearly 100 Plymouth county deputy sheriffs, armed with shot-guns, pistols and clubs, were turned back by a crowd of 500 farm holiday strikers today when the officers made an attempt to escort 22 truckloads of livestock through the picket lines at James, Iowa, near here.

The cattle truckers, from northwestern Iowa, assembled at the LeMay ball park this morning and asked Sheriff Ralph Rippey to provide an escort through the picket lines. Rippey assembled all available men, swore them in as deputies, armed them with firearms, pool cues and baseball bats, and started for James.

The deputies, in four trucks, preceded the caravan of 22 livestock trucks. When they reached James, they were halted by the group of angry farmers, who had placed heavy timbers on the highway. The farmers, members of the National Farmers' Holiday association, seek higher produce prices by trying to keep produce from markets.

Rippey alighted from the first truck and ordered his men to remove the barrier, at the same time threatening to shoot any one who interfered.

The strikers then turned the trucks around and ordered the officers to return to Lemars. There (See STRIKERS, Page 2)

I HEARD-- C. H. "Hub" Walker telling a number of Jaysees last night upon his return from McLean why they backed Sherman White for county attorney the first time and why they supported him for re-election. It was this way—McLean was mad at Pampa for moving the court house. They voted for his re-election so they wouldn't have him on their hands again.

That Bill Ragsdale started back to school this morning after declaring he was through, finished, etc.

E. M. Conley say that the only time to catch fish in New Mexico was during the dark of the moon—at least that is what he was told and he believed the informant because his catch was almost nil.

LIONS WILL PRESENT ANOTHER MINSTREL AND MUSICAL REVUE Another Lions club musical revue and minstrel will be offered the public during the early winter, it has been decided by the board of directors.

LEGION POST WILL CARRY ITS MEETINGS TO COMMUNITIES OF THIS AREA—BAND WILL PLAY

Will Assist NEWS in Operating Big Score Board

Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion will carry its meetings to the veterans in the neighboring communities instead of asking them to come to Pampa each time.

This decision, made last night, included the proposition that the American Legion band would also make the trips in a bus now available to the post. The Legion launched, at the same time, a membership drive headed by Frank Thomas. The annual dues was reduced from $5 a year to $3.50, and it was announced that no further reduction would be made.

The post voted to cooperate with the Pampa Daily NEWS in operating a world series score-board. The board will be electrically operated according to the instant report of the Associated Press at The NEWS building.

J. M. Turner was appointed adjutant, L. O. Johnson was made publicity officer, and E. O. Smith was named color bearer. D. W. Thurman was appointed historian and service officer. Frank Thomas will be chairman of the house committee.

It is expected that future meetings will be featured by addresses of such notables as Josh Lee and Marvin Jones.

B. C. D. FIXES LUNCHEON DAY FOR ENTRANTS Achievement Exhibits To Be Displayed In City Hall

Women entrants in the Achievement Day event here September 14 and 15 will be luncheon guests of the Board of City Development on the first day.

There will be a short program in connection with the luncheon. Probably not less than 75 Gray county club women will be present, according to Miss Ruby Adams, home demonstrator. A program for the entire day will be announced soon.

Exhibits will be placed in the basement of the city hall, where shelves will be placed. The public will be invited to see the canned goods and clothing made by women of the clubs. The women will wear badges. Citizens will be urged to extend them a special welcome.

Backed by a large majority in both houses of the Mexican Congress, General Abelardo L. Rodriguez, above, secretary of war, has succeeded to the presidency following the resignation of Pascual Ortiz Rubio.

ACTRESS WILL BE CALLED TO BARE EVENTS

STAR TO TESTIFY AT INQUEST HEARING TOMORROW

BROTHER WILL ARRIVE

PHYSICIAN WIRES HE KNOWS CAUSE OF SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7. (P)—Definite announcement was made by police today that Jean Harlow, screen actress, will be subpoenaed as a witness for the inquest tomorrow into the apparent suicide of her husband, Paul Bren.

Inspector David Davidson said he would subpoena 11 other witnesses, including Henry Bern, a brother of Paul, expected to arrive tonight from the east.

Meanwhile, physicians and friends of the actress were understood to be keeping a close watch over her to avert anything else like her rush toward a balcony in her mother's home yesterday. No one seemed to know definitely whether Miss Harlow actually intended to leap from the ten-foot balcony or merely happened toward it in one of several outbursts of hysteria over her husband's death.

Questioned for a long time by detectives late yesterday, the actress declared herself unable to offer any definite reason that Bern would kill himself.

Since police have decided there was no doubt of suicide, the questioning of Miss Harlow yesterday and the inquest tomorrow are more (See WOMAN, Page 2)

Arrests Made in Beer Raids by County Officers

Charges of possessing intoxicating liquor were filed against W. H. Tothman and Grace Adair yesterday following two beer raids by Constable Frank Jordan and Hugh Mumford, his assistant. The defendants made bonds of $500.

Other records in justice courts include two vagrancy charges, one for disturbing the peace, one for assault, and one for attempted assault.

A charge of carrying a pistol was filed by County Attorney Sherman White against Olivia Jackson, negro.

Sheriff's activities include a raid in which 50 bottles of beer were seized and 14 gallons of brewing beverage destroyed. A warrant was held for a suspect.

The sheriff was investigating the theft of chickens, household goods, and radio batteries from a house on the Skelly-Schafer lease northwest of here. The occupant was on a vacation when the loss was discovered by a farm boss, who entered the residence to use a telephone. The building had been ransacked and contents scattered over the floors.

AMERICAN GIRL SLAIN IN ALPS

The body of Jerane Iberschoff, above, 21-year-old Smith College student of Cleveland, O., has been found near a road in the Swiss Alps.

Police said she had been attacked and murdered. Miss Iberschoff was on a student tour of Europe, and was making a bicycle trip through the mountains.

The executive committee meets at Lubbock next Monday and the convention will assemble on Tuesday.

James E. Ferguson, husband of the gubernatorial candidate, who, semi-official returns showed, had obtained a majority of the votes cast as between her and Gov. Ross Sterling for the nomination, said the proceeding was to insure functioning of the party executive committee according to law.

"This action was taken in view of the public statement of the governor that he would be nominated at Lubbock and that he would be elected governor," Ferguson said.

WELFARE BOARD WILL CLOSE OCTOBER 15 UNLESS PLEDGES ARE PAID OR NEW PLAN MADE

Agency Has Enough Money to Stay Open Month

The Pampa Welfare Board has enough money in the bank to operate another month, and if additional funds are not available by Oct. 15, the Board will close its agency in the basement of the city hall on that date, Alex Schneider, chairman, announced yesterday.

A total of $1,500 in pledges has not been paid. If this amount were collected, the Board could operate several months longer. If these pledges are not paid by Oct. 15, or if other plans are not made, it will be compelled to close down.

Mr. Schneider said, "A Welfare Board cannot operate without funds. After that date our next move must be decided by the citizens of Pampa."

Although the situation is not as acute as it was a year ago, there are still several hundred persons who are dependent upon the board for food, clothing, and medical attention. Practically all of the clothing distributed by the Board is given by residents of the city. It is well known, Mr. Schneider said, that providing food for the destitute is only a small part of the Board's work. Personal attention, morale building, and serving as the citizens of the town, including physicians and other welfare organizations, are duties of the welfare worker.

MANDAMUS ASKS FOR REGULAR CANVASS AT CONVENTION

STERLING CLAIMS CITED

ONE WHO GETS MOST VOTES IS ELECTED, JIM SAYS

AUSTIN, Sept. 7. (P)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, apparent democratic nominee for governor of Texas, today sought help of the supreme court in an effort to have the vote of the August primary canvassed and the result declared according to state election laws.

She filed an application for mandamus to compel W. C. Huggins, chairman, and the members of the state democratic executive committee to tabulate the returns according to reports made to them and recommend the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes to the state party convention as the nominee.

The court ordered the petition for application set down for hearing next Friday.

The executive committee meets at Lubbock next Monday and the convention will assemble on Tuesday.

James E. Ferguson, husband of the gubernatorial candidate, who, semi-official returns showed, had obtained a majority of the votes cast as between her and Gov. Ross Sterling for the nomination, said the proceeding was to insure functioning of the party executive committee according to law.

"This action was taken in view of the public statement of the governor that he would be nominated at Lubbock and that he would be elected governor," Ferguson said.

Bond Relief Bill Would Save Gray County $600,000

Gray county officials are watching with more than ordinary interest the action of the legislature in attempting to relieve counties of the burden of helping to build state highways.

As passed in the house by an overwhelming majority, the bill would not affect the cost of right-of-way and part of the engineering expense. Nevertheless, the plan would likely mean a saving of about $600,000 to taxpayers were it carried out consistently until bonds taken over were retired.

County Auditor R. C. Wilson has several ways in mind to recommend handling county bond matters if the Sterling highway plan is finally adopted. He has for several years had a bond retirement plan which graduates the requirement according to the estimated future valuations. The same idea would be applied to bonds not taken over by the state, and would lighten the burden upon taxpayers.

North Highway Advocates Meet Here Sept. 14 Representatives of towns wishing a bridge across the Canadian river north of here will meet in Pampa September 14 to discuss plans.

The session, called by the Pampa Board of City Development, will likely include a luncheon.

LATE NEWS

DALLAS, Sept. 7. (P)—Prediction that the controversy over the democratic gubernatorial nomination would be thrown into the courts within a few days, for a recount of ballots cast in that race in the runoff primary was made today by former state senator, Thomas B. Love, supporter of Gov. R. S. Sterling.

AUSTIN, Sept. 7. (P)—The Texas senate state affairs committee voted today, 9 to 6, to postpone indefinitely a resolution calling for a senate committee investigation of the recent democratic primary.

Tax Levy Action Started by City Preliminary work in starting of levying on personal property to satisfy tax claims was being done today by A. M. Teed, city attorney.

As soon as J. H. Blythe, tax assessor, is free of assisting the board of equalization, he and Mr. Teed will start making the levies.

Suits to collect tax claims against real estate also will be filed in district court. The city commission delayed its Tuesday session to today.

JAYSEES WILL START LUNCHEON MEETINGS AND PROGRAM TO INVOLVE EVERY MEMBER

Advertising Committee Will Reject or Approve Schemes Presented Merchants. Pampa will have another luncheon club soon when the Junior Chamber of Commerce starts the series of luncheon meetings voted last night in a dinner meeting at the Scheider hotel.

The organization will affiliate with the national organization and launch a program of work which will involve every member, it was announced by President J. M. Collins. The body also, with the assistance of the Pampa Business Men's association, will form a secret advertising committee to pass on schemes presented to the merchants. This committee will either approve or reject the advertising plans. The purpose is to eliminate the fly-by-night advertising peddlers who prey on merchants and other citizens, not giving value and often not keeping promises.

A committee to work out plans for this project is composed of Clarence Kennedy, H. L. Polley, W. T. Fraser, George Limerick, John Osborne, Harry Walker, and G. C. Hubbard. It will meet at the Business Men's association office Thursday at 9 a. m.

OUR WANDERING YOUTHS

Problem of boys well settled but without proper activities to steer their energies into useful and harmless channels are well known.

Comparatively little attention, however, is given to that "aimless army" of young men and boys who wander from pillar to post, never being sure of a meal and shelter, but contributing large numbers to the army of law breakers.

According to the Literary Digest, the number of homeless lads reaches the half million mark and is seldom below 300,000. These self-made outcasts get started on the "roads" and highways in various ways.

Some cities allow the boys to remain not longer than 24 hours. When they become ill, the care they get is but a sample of humanity's inhumanity to man.

ANGLE ON THE "TWO JOBS" CLAUSE

Broken homes—separation of husbands and wives and in some cases divorce—are resulting, according to a Washington dispatch, from the "married persons" clause of the government's new economy act.

The departure to separate dwellings and the opening of divorce proceedings have taken place because the notices of discharge state that if the marital status of employees changes they may retain their jobs.

This is worth attention because the question of employing married women has arisen in city and state offices, schools and industries throughout the country.

Among the cases cited by this organization are a husband earning $1917 and a wife $1248 who contribute support to 14 people; another husband earning $1900 and wife earning $1640 who are buying a home they will lose if their income is reduced.

The situation appears to be another in which that which seems to be for the general good works hardship in individual cases. Perhaps a means can be devised to make exceptions when the need warrants.

Here is one more indication that the ills of our complicated economic life today can not be cured by remedies effective 20 years ago.

He asserted that he had obtained information and evidence that convinced him thousands of persons ineligible to participate had taken part in the democratic primaries.

Ferguson explained that his court action was taken to insure compliance with the election laws in the matter of canvassing the primary election returns and reporting to the convention.

"In view of the undisputed returns which show that my wife received a clear majority of something over 3800 votes, and in view of the statement of the governor and political associates, that my wife shall not be nominated, she has brought this action to make sure that the democratic executive committee performs its duty and functions under the law to declare the person nominated who has received the highest number of votes in the primary," Ferguson said in a statement.

"This action does not deprive or attempt to deprive anybody of their privilege to file a contest in the manner prescribed by law to test the validity of any votes cast in the primary."

"This action was brought to permit the executive committee to exercise its function and duty under the law, and not to be interfered with by any gratuitous intermeddling of any factions."

With an effort to restrain his emotion, Bern continued: "I know how my friends knew it. He did not conceal anything. He lived openly."

To insure regularity, Governor Sterling's friends were preparing to contest the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson should the executive committee and the convention declare her the nominee on face of the returns.

He claimed he had obtained a majority of the votes 'legally cast.'

Rio Grande Flood Breaking Levees

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 7 (AP)—The crest of the Rio Grande flood surged past Hidalgo today, inundating a vast area in the lowlands and breaking levees along its banks.

High water was pouring through scores of breaks on the Mexican side of the river and swirling across the thousands of acres of land. As the water backed up against the banks of the floodways in Hidalgo county, there were two breaks, one south of Mission and one south of McAllen.

The mission break was about 30 feet wide. Army aviators who returned to Brownsville after a survey said they did not think it could be stopped. There was some chance of filling the gap near McAllen.

Water was backing up around Hidalgo and it appeared the community would be isolated. Hidalgo was the only town on the American side of the river which had been flooded.

On the Mexican side, the situation was much worse. Reynosa was almost surrounded by high water. Capote, Madeiro and San Manuel were partially under water. Other had water a foot or two deep in them.

The Brownsville weather bureau issued a bulletin today predicting that the crest of the rise would reach Mercedes tomorrow and Brownsville the following day.

were fist fights between strikers and deputies. As the trucks proceeded back toward Lemars, the strikers hurled stones, bricks and other missiles and several deputies, struck on the head, fell to the floor of the rear truck. It was thought that they were not seriously injured.

After proceeding a short distance, Sheriff Rippey stopped his truck at the side of the road, climbed on top and shouted to the farmers a request to refrain from violence and open defiance of the law.

In reply, the strikers said they intended to remain peaceful as long as no attempts were made to run the blockade.

A STUDY OF RUSSIA - - - Its Human Side

All is not work in Russia—there's play, physical culture and family life, too. Collectivized farming—industrial, co-operatives—mass production—these are the things usually associated with the new Russia. But there's a more human side of Soviet life that includes such things as the training of youths, supervised play for children, competitive games and recreation for the older persons. These are revealed in the picture studies above. First is seen a meeting of tractor workers (top) during a lull in their labors on a farm in the Black Earth region. One of the tractorists leads the others in a study hour. The youth at left is an armed worker on the march during a physical training period at Dynamo stadium in Moscow.

Demonstrations play a big part in Soviet life, but this time young communists halt their marching long enough for a bit of play. They are seen tossing a girl into the air. From here the scene shifts to Zags, the marriage registration bureau, for a glimpse of weddings the Soviet way. Getting married is a simple matter—you merely register. One couple is seen being married while another couple awaits its turn. Next the camera looks in on a horse racing meet at Moscow. There are derbies—crowds—excitement—just as in other countries. Three spectators cast interested eyes on the horses as they come around the track. In the center is Comrade Kossyiev, secretary general of the central committee of the Soviet Union.

It's a big day for children when they go to Children's town at the Park of Culture and Rest in Moscow. The park was designed not only to give parents a chance to rest while their children play, but also to educate the boys and girls. Five hundred children visit the park each day for supervised play. The two above seem to be content at a table game. Playtime is over, and mother wending her way home dances in the Moscow shop windows. Dolls take the eye of the child while bright handicraft interests the mother. Even though Russia is a nation of workers with little money to spend, shop windows are decorated attractively, some of them being veritable museums of jewelry, china, bric-a-brac, silks and cosmetics.

'Who But Hoover' Is Republicans' Campaign Slogan

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP)—An average of 35 persons a week write or telephone republican campaign headquarters here that they think "Who but Hoover" would be a very apt campaign slogan.

The republican leaders think so, in fact they adopted it many weeks ago. But still the letters, many of them hinting that financial remuneration would be acceptable, continue to pour in.

About 5,000 slogans have been submitted to various state and national republican campaign offices since the June 1st. Some of the slogans writers represent advertising or printing companies looking for business, but the majority of them just thought them up at dinner.

The man who claims to have coined the famous phrase, "keep 'em coming," in 1924 is back with another suggestion. He is William H. McManisters of Cambridge, Mass., and this year he submitted "Who but Hoover" to the republican party. "I mean, thank Hoover," explains the man, "but Hoover has ended the depression."

The slogan, "don't swap horses in the middle of the stream," has been suggested. Another suggests "change doctors in a crisis." "Don't rock the boat" and "don't drop the pilot."

Slogan writers have written and submitted hundreds of slogans expressing their faith in republican and Hooverian proposals to bring back prosperity. Among them are "Hoover will pull us through," "Hoover headed for prosperity with Hoover," "down and up again with Hoover," "the worst is over; let's go with Hoover."

Then there are the catch-phrase writers. An Iowa suggested "vote for who's over." An artist submitted a banner portraying an owl with very large eyes saying "Ho-Ho-Hoover."

Sport Slants

BY ALAN GOULD

The craze for staging comeback campaigns, started by Jack Dempsey and inaugurated by Benny Leonard, has overwhelmed a surprisingly large number of veterans in other divisions with the usual results.

Dempsey, still comparatively young when he came out of retirement to beat Jack Sharkey a few years ago and stage the "long count" demonstration with Gene Tunney in Chicago, was not so young when he started his four round exhibitions last spring. Still, in comparison with the ancient greats such as Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons, who shamed 40 and still could fight champions, Dempsey was a callow youth at 35.

Leonard at 36, is staging the most surprising of all comeback campaigns. The old master of the lightweights, linked with Joe Gans among the 135 pounds immortals, really seems to have captured the youth that once lost, usually is lost forever in the ring.

Two Squeaked Fast

The latest recruits are Johnny Dundee, who fought Leonard a dozen times and always got a shade the worst of it, and old Harry Wills, once the Black Menace of the heavyweights.

Dundee is older than Leonard. Twice previously he tried to come back. And twice, the last time after Tony Zanzoneri hacked and rode him high for rounding the venerable Scotch Wop listened to the advice of friends and withdrew again to the sidelines.

But he couldn't stay there. He came out again a few weeks ago at a small club and there was a rough, unknown youngster waiting him. Johnny did the best he could. But he took a licking, and another comeback died.

Wills, well over 40 and a woolly figure, enlisted in the National Guard so as to be able to box in the armories in New York. He was hammered around in his first effort. "He won't be back."

Even Tendler Tries

Spurred on by Leonard's game effort, Lew Tendler, another old rival, thought he'd like to try again, but got no farther than the thought. Jimmy Slatery, still young, but robbed of all his old time skill as a light heavyweight by injudicious living, climbed through the ropes once more in Buffalo and was knocked out.

But two of the warriors of the era when Leonard, Dundee, Tendler, Wills, Slatery and Dempsey knew their greatest fame still carry on in triumph.

Old Dave Shade, the bounding one, took over an ambitious youngster up in New England a few nights ago. Mickey Walker is the second of the ancients to carry on in grand fashion. Mickey fights Max Schmelling the middle of September. They can't seem to keep him down.

In back of at least two comebacks, those of Leonard and Dundee, contributor to Dempsey's enforced return, and for a time a possible reason for Gene Tunney staging another offensive, stands the specter of Wall Street.

All lost heavily in the crash of the markets and prosperity, Leonard's fortune, estimated at $500,000, was wiped out. So there are no illusions in Benny's mind. He's fighting now to eat. So far he has accumulated another $65,000, reward of a torturous training campaign, and 21 fights with youngsters who ten years ago couldn't have carried his water bucket.

'As Maine Goes'—Barometer of Nation Watched

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 7 (AP)—In a campaign in which the prohibition issue has been stressed by several candidates, republican and democratic leaders marshaled their forces today for the final drive before the state election next Monday.

A governor, three congressmen, members of the state legislature and county officers are to be elected.

Although leaders of both parties have had little to say about the oft-repeated phrase "as Maine goes, so goes the nation," they have evidenced their interest by the manner in which they have tossed out-of-staters into the fray.

As rock-ribbed as its coastline in its allegiance to the republican party, Maine frequently in previous contests has heard itself described as political barometer, a legendary attribute not entirely supported by figures.

In all the congressional contests "the issue of prohibition is clear-cut," with Congressmen Carroll L. Beedy and John Nelson and former Governor Ralph O. Brewster, republican candidates, contending the voters of the state have not indicated they favor any change.

Their democratic opponents—Joseph E. F. Connolly, Edward C. Moran, Jr., and John G. Utterback—are out-and-out repealists.

Lowry F. Brown, democratic nominee for governor, also favors repeal, but Burleigh Martin, republican, has been non-committal.

Germany Will Arm Regardless

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—General Kurt von Schleicher, who startled Europe recently by asserting that Germany is not granted equality of arms she will arm anyway, told the press he meant what he said.

Emphasizing his remarks with vigorous gestures, the minister of defense declared in an interview of Koenigsberg that Germany "under all circumstances will do what is necessary for her defense."

"No longer will we stand for being treated like a second-class nation," he said.

The national government is ready to defend East Prussia to the last man, he told the correspondents, asserting that munitions and other materials necessary for the defense of that territory can be brought there by sea if needed.

East Prussia was separated from Prussia proper under the Versailles treaty by creation of the Polish corridor.

Registrar Dies

WAXAHACHIE, Sept. 7 (AP)—Funeral services were arranged today for H. L. Williamson, business manager and registrar at Trinity university here. He died of a heart attack at his home here yesterday. Williamson also was president of the Waxahachie chamber of commerce and a member of the city council. He was survived by his widow.

Busy days of early autumn make the home-maker eager for shortcuts in the preparation of meals. Simple desserts that take almost no time to make but are festive looking will answer the sweet problem.

While any of the following desserts can be made entirely with home-made ice and cakes, they can also be made with commercial products with excellent results. The ready-to-use materials are a great convenience and time-saver, for no preliminary preparation is required.

Chocolate cream roll is one of the easiest desserts to make, but it has the effect of being elaborate and tricky. It can be served within an hour after making or it can be frozen in the refrigerator for ten hours or longer. You simply spread chocolate wafers with sweetened whipped cream and pile them in a tall stack. About sixteen wafers will be needed for a family of four. Two-thirds to three-fourths cup whipping cream will make enough after it is whipped to spread over the wafers, and cover the tops and sides of the rolls. When ready to serve, cut in slices diagonally in order to show the layer effect. Ginger wafers can be used in place of chocolate if a spicy effect is wanted.

An attractive way to serve fresh fruit and cake is to spread the top and sides of plain cup cakes with jelly. Sprinkle with shredded coconut and top with whipped cream. Arrange a circle of sliced peaches or other fruit around the base of the cake.

If you like to serve your desserts in one large form rather than individual service, this same idea can be carried out with a sponge cake or angel food. Cover top and

Douglas' Novel In Demand at Library

The book most in demand at the Pampa library is "Magnificent Obsession," by Lloyd C. Douglas.

College students were advised by their instructors in English to read the book during the summer if possible. It has been off the shelves constantly. Another very popular novel is "Job," by Joseph Roth.

Last month's most popular book locally was "Galloway Orchard," by Claire Spencer.

Estimates on the cost of a large list of the latest fiction are being awaited. The novels will be ordered immediately after the estimates of various publishers and jobbers are received.

Interest of adults in current fiction is growing rapidly.

Scanning New Books

By JOHN SELBY

NEW YORK.—There is a definite political cast to the week in spite of the fact that, as always, the presses spouted two novels to one of anything else.

To begin with, the week's chief biography is about Senator Albert J. Beveridge, and it's by Claude O. Bowers. Bowers' (or anybody else) would be hard put to make a nice and interesting biography on this subject; he had, however, collected an astonishing heap of information, which he sets out in "Beveridge and the Progressive Era" with unperpetrated mien and unchallenged exactitude.

And, to continue, H. L. Mencken turns out as amusing a piece on our political conventions as even Mr. Mencken's faithful followers have a right to expect. The content is reprinted from his "American Mercury" and from the Baltimore Sun, but "Making a President" is no less fresh for that reason.

The revelations of the three major Seabury investigations in New York are told in condensed form by William B. and John B. Northrop, brothers and authors of "The Insistence of Office."

Something New.

W. R. Burnett's novel entitled "The Giant Swine" immortalizes a good many trivial residents of what he calls Middleburg. O. Remarking when it became necessary to describe a piece of music, Burnett merely printed the music, which might be called the best literary trick of the week.

There is a light novel by James Laver called "Nymph Errant" a quiet and quite irresistible one by LeRoy MacLeod called "The Years of Peace" and a naive piece by C. M. Hamilton called "The Gilded Halo" which is immovably in the tradition of Mr. Hamilton and the English book trade as well.

Durant's Symposium

Seized with a desire to know why a large group of prominent persons didn't commit suicide, WILL DURANT sent them questionnaires. The replies constitute his new book "On the Meaning of Life," and although they shed little light on the central subject, they do illuminate several diverse minds quite amazingly. So the result is good after all.

Business Last Half of August 'Shade Better'

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The bright spots on the economic horizon appeared in the last half of August, according to reports of 115 trade and industry publications throughout the United States.

The consensus, as recorded by Associated business papers, Inc. New York, was that "business in the last half of August average shade better than in the preceding fortnight."

The editors reported building construction the last two weeks of August showed a number of large enterprises starting, but building had not yet responded to the encouragement of easier financing and low costs.

In the steel industry, it was a inquiry and sales of raw material were active while interest in lashed products lagged, thus reversing the sequence that followed 1921 depression. Oil refineries heavy orders for domestic fuel, stocks were lower and prices high, and gasoline consumption also equalled that of 1931.

Sales of automobiles, in some instances, were declared to be as good as those in July.

The editorial investigators particularly impressed with the "bright spots" were the healthy improvement in handloomed products of cotton, wool and rayon again moving slightly. It was added, however, that department stores have a far felt not definite benefit "because retail prices remain ridiculous low."

The publishers stated that advertising volume was running at level in some classes of media, increases less than seasonal in others, and indications that the point in volume had been passed.

BUSY YEAR IS OUTLINED FOR PAMPA LITTLE THEATER

PUBLIC PLAYS WILL NUMBER FOUR IN YEAR

PERFORMANCES OF ONE ACT WILL BE GIVEN FOR MEMBERS

Under the able guidance of Mrs. E. M. Conley as president, the Pampa Little Theater plans to start work immediately for the winter season, it was announced today.

The first membership meeting will be held next Monday night at a place to be announced later, but the board of directors will have met before this so as to be in a position to offer something of interest to the entire membership from the start. All members from last year, and all interested in Little Theater work for the coming year are urged to be present next Monday night.

The Little Theater plans to offer to Pampa audiences one more play this year than last, making a total of four. The plays have not been selected, but several are under consideration. The playreading committee has been at work all summer so as to be in a position to offer to Pampa the best possible in dramatic work. One or two especially are very difficult pieces, having been presented only by some of the largest playhouse organizations in the country.

Much stress will be laid this year upon the one-act plays to be presented to the Little Theater membership throughout the year. In this way it is hoped to discover the best talent available for the largest public performances. By this procedure, also, each Little Theater member who so wishes will be given opportunities to work in several different capacities.

The board of directors consists of the following officers: President, Mrs. E. M. Conley; vice-president, W. O. Workman; secretary, Emily Smith; treasurer, Mrs. H. D. Keys; program chairman, Miss Louise Barton; parliamentary, Mrs. Warren Creney; property chairman, Mrs. Raymond W. Harrah; house manager, I. A. Freeman; publicity manager, Dick Hughes; play-reading chairman, Mrs. E. S. Lawrence; membership chairman, Mrs. H. H. Hicks.

The offices of casting director and director-at-large are vacant. Jack Foster having resigned from the former office, and Morris Johnson from the latter. These places probably will be filled at the next meeting.

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP FOR COTTON GROWERS

Higher Prices Pay Bills and Buy Necessities

By J. W. DAVIS

ATLANTA, Sept. 7. (AP)—The general storekeeper, the tax collector and the country preacher are among those who will benefit most in the south from the increased price of cotton.

Nine-cent cotton has caused the farmer's business barometer to forecast "better times" ahead, and he looks to the coming of fall with much more confidence than he did back in June when spot cotton sank to less than five cents, farm leaders say.

Not only does the increased price of cotton promise to give him more money for his crop, but authorization by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of a loan of $50,000,000 to cooperative bodies has added another hope. That means the farmer may borrow money on his cotton and hold it until market conditions are stabilized.

There are at least three classes of cotton farmers: the big planter with big acreage, big crops and big expense; the farmer who does not depend entirely upon cotton; and the 40-acre-and-mule tenant farmer, who knows nothing but cotton. It is perhaps the middle class which will derive the most direct benefit from the higher price, and he is the one most likely to spend his money.

He will go to the general store and pay his fertilizer bill, pay an installment on his furniture or a musical instrument, buy a barrel of sugar, a bolt of calico, some overalls, school books and pay the preacher, state farm officials point out.

Many rural churches still are served by the "circuit rider" type of preacher, and rural churches regard their obligations to the minister binding as their notes at the bank.

Mississippi Optimistic

"Mississippi farmers will be in excellent financial shape this fall if they can dispose of their crop at 9 cents," said J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture. "The crop has been raised on a cheaper basis than any in the past 20 years. Holton reported that only 75,000 tons of fertilizers were used in Mississippi this year, compared with 400,000 tons last year. Picking of the state's crop has just started, and little has reached the market yet. Holton said, however, that the Mississippi crop has been increased a potential $2,000,000 in value since the June low.

Seth P. Storrs, Alabama commissioner of agriculture, said farmers in that state were just beginning to realize on their cotton. "They will pay debts first," he said, "then they are going to start buying. It will put a lot of money in circulation we were not expecting."

Can Pay For Labor

"The rise in cotton prices increases the purchasing power of the farmer and enables him to buy some supplies of which he is badly in need," said J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture. "He is able to pay more for picking and other labor. In some instances Texas pickers are being paid twice the wages paid early in the season. Louisiana farmers, asserted Commissioner Harry D. Wilson, are feeling much encouraged over the advanced price of cotton, which puts them in a position to begin liquidating their debts and buy necessary clothing, equipment and supplies.

"The farmer," said Wilson, "is the greatest spender of all, and when he has buying power his money is put in more channels than that of any other class."

Arthur D. Jones, head of the Georgia bureau of marketing, himself a cotton farmer with a 200-acre crop, said Georgia farmers would utilize the increased value of their cotton to liquidate debts from which few of them have been free since 1920. They will pay delinquent taxes and make needed repairs.

Business men of Charleston, S. C., reported a general increase in business with a better feeling among farmers in August.

Miss Velma Long has returned after visiting her sister, Miss Hiram J. Collins of Ada, Okla. Her mother, Mrs. J. J. Long, and son, Herschell, joined her during her stay in Oklahoma and returned with her Saturday.

With the price of cotton higher, growers of the crop in the south look to the coming of fall and winter with more optimism than they did a year ago. They see an opportunity to pay their bills and taxes, and buy needed articles. A bale of cotton has nearly doubled in price since June.

Committee Named For Making Red Cross Garments

Upon arrival of the Red Cross cloth requisitioned by the Pampa chapter, local women will begin making garments to be given to the poor and needy of Pampa. It was decided at a meeting of the Red Cross chapter in the city hall last night. City Manager C. L. Stine has offered the city engineers' room in the city hall as a sewing room.

J. B. Brown, manager of the Singer Sewing Machine company here, will lend the chapter six sewing machines. Thread, buttons, and other necessities will be supplied by the chapter.

Miss I. O. Hendricks of St. Louis, Red Cross representative who is visiting here, told the members that it was necessary to cut the allowance to 20 yards to the family, the cloth to supplement the clothing the chapters get from contributions. She said that Congress specified that the clothing go to the needy families only. She declared that this work is the greatest undertaken since the World War and that it would take the co-operation of everyone to put over the program.

Mrs. Baker Henry, Mrs. J. B. Massa, Mrs. J. S. Wynne, Mrs. W. A. Gray, Mrs. E. C. Will, and Miss Ruby Adams were named on a committee to look after the sewing. Other committees will be appointed later.

The date of the 1932 Red Cross drive was set for November 19.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Purviance and daughter, June, returned yesterday from Illinois where they visited relatives. Mrs. Purviance and Janice spent a month with relatives. Dr. Purviance has been away the past two weeks. "Sell your corn, because Illinois has more than it knows what to do with," Dr. Purviance says.

My Beauty Hint

By DOROTHY WILSON
Many people have the habit, as I have, of raising their eyebrows when they talk and thereby creating the skin. The right massage, if done, is helpful to attain a smooth forehead.

At bedtime after cleansing my face I apply massage cream and massage for five minutes. I place the middle finger of each hand at the bridge of my nose and draw them upward and outward, repeating several times. Then I begin an up-and-down massage with both middle fingers from the right side of the forehead across to the left. The massage should be gentle and light.

Finally I wipe off excess cream and pat on astringent skin tonic.

GOD'S REMEDY FOR SIN TOLD BY EVANGELIST

"END OF RAINBOW" IS TO BE DISCUSSED THIS EVENING

More than two thousand persons heard Evangelist B. E. Cram discuss God's remedy for sin in the W. Kingsmill avenue tabernacle last evening.

The evangelist launched into his sermon by stating how foolish it was to discuss the divinity of Christ. "It would be just as impossible," he said, "to write the history of the world leaving out the dominant characters as it would be to write the history of humanity leaving out Christ."

He continued: "Just as scientists are attempting to make easy a birth into this world so spiritual scientists are seeking to make easy the new birth, or spiritual birth."

"The new birth is absolutely fundamental to Christianity, and when we seek to take away the supernatural from religion we have robbed God, for God himself is supernatural."

"There are those who question the Word of God and the many miracles, such as the stories of Cain and Jonah. These limit the working power of God. We accept the mysterious things of the material world and refuse to accept the mysteries of God. Christ used the wind as an illustration.

"The thing for humanity to do is to repent of sin and to accept Christ and his atoning blood and God and the Holy Spirit will take care of the new birth."

The evangelist then related the story of Moses lifting up the serpent as a cure for the affliction of the children of Israel. "Just so surely," he said, "the uplifted Christ and his atoning blood is the remedy for the sin-sick souls of men. His atoning death and shed blood is God's remedy for sin. A personal faith in him and his atonement brings salvation."

Mr. Cram then dramatically related the story of Christ and his crucifixion. "The End of the Rainbow" will be the subject tonight. Nolan Harris will be in charge of the young people's service at 7 o'clock.

HOW'S your HEALTH?

Diabetes Facts—1.

The term diabetes is derived from the Greek, in which language it means a siphon.

Diabetes mellitus was applied to the disease which it describes, because an increase in the secretion of urine is characteristic.

One of the two conditions to which the term diabetes refers is called diabetes insipidus and the other diabetes mellitus. Insipidus means tasteless, and mellitus means honey-like or sweet.

When the term diabetes alone is used, it is usually meant to indicate the mellitus variety, so named because of the presence of sugar in the urine.

Diabetes is widely prevalent. It has been estimated that there are more than a million persons suffering from diabetes in the United States. This disease appears to be peculiarly prevalent among the Jews.

Geographically, diabetes appears to be more prevalent in New England and in the districts around New York, in California, in Oregon and the midwest, including Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Missouri.

The disease is most common in persons between the ages of 30 and 40. It appears in the next order of frequency in those between 20 and 30. It is less common in the age groups over 50 and even more rare in children under 10.

Diabetes in the younger age groups, however, is usually more severe. There appears to be higher prevalence among males than among females.

Many studies lead to the conclusion that there is an hereditary factor in diabetes.

Thus, it is not rare to find that the parents or grandparents of the individual with diabetes also suffered from the disease.

WARM-WEATHER DESSERTS ARE OFFERED POSSIBILITIES MANY

DENTON, Sept. 7.—One of the greatest opportunities for the wise use of the refrigerator for the preparation of warm weather desserts, the most popular and universal of frozen desserts is ice cream, and it may be varied to such an extent that it never becomes unpalatable. Bavarian creams and ices are being substituted quite prevalently for ice cream. Bavarian creams require little work and are easily chilled. Apricot bavarian cream may be quite a popular luncheon dessert.

Breakfast: Puffed wheat, whole milk, bacon, toast, strawberry preserves, coffee.
Lunch: Cheese fondue, black-eyed peas, pickled beets, frozen fruit salad, iced tea.
Dinner: Veal loaf, buttered okra, creamed asparagus, cucumber salad, lemon sherbet, cocktails.

Breakfast: Cantaloupe, bran, whole milk, toast, peach preserves, iced coffee.
Lunch: Deviled eggs, string beans, graham bread, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, apricot bavarian cream, iced tea.

Recipes
Apricot ice: 1-2 c apricot pulp, 1 t gelatin, 1-2 c lemon juice, 1 t cold water, 1-3 c sugar, 2 eggs. Mix apricot pulp, lemon juice and sugar with egg yolks. Cook over slow fire. Add soaked gelatin and pour mixture over whites of beaten eggs. Set in pan of ice and beat until the mixture holds its shape. Turn into one large mold and chill. Any fruit or fruit juice may be used.
Pineapple Mousse: 2 c cream, 1 small c grated pineapple and 1-2 pte. gelatin; 1-2 c cold water, 1 c sugar. Soak the gelatin in cold water for 15 minutes. Add sugar and pineapple and bring to boiling point. Cool to the coagulating point and add to whipped cream. Place in chilled mold and pack according to general directions.
Baked custard: 2 c scalded milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 c sugar, 1 t flavoring, 1-2 t salt, vanilla or mapleine.
Beat eggs slightly to mix. Add sugar, salt and milk; add mapleine and pour into buttered custard cups. Set in pan of cold water and bake in slow oven 30-40 minutes until firm.

Chilly bears and cookies were served at the close of the afternoon to Mrs. C. A. Long, teacher, and the following members: Misses Mary Cox, Billie Noel, Charlotte Embry, Jean Ragsdale, Beulah Lane, Ruth Siddons, Naomi Owen, Cleon Fendrick, La Verne Ballard, Mary Burch, Lorene Nicholson, Floy Stanard, Geneva McFarling, and Mrs. C. M. Whittle.

Miss Lorene Nicholson was awarded a prize at the close of a series of contests, and Miss Ruth Siddons was presented a booby prize.

The meeting was held at the home of Miss Jean Ragsdale, 520 W. Kingsmill, with Misses Cleo Fendrick, Beulah Lane, and La Verne Ballard as hostesses. Garden flowers made attractive decorations for the rooms.

The Dorcas class of the Central Baptist church held a business session Monday afternoon at the church. The members showed much enthusiasm in their adoption of the "Pollyanna friend" plan. Each member is to show special courtesies to her "Pollyanna friend."

Schenck Freed by Justice Department

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the justice department's bureau of investigation said today a federal inquiry had disclosed no connection between the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., and Garet Schenck, Howell, N. J., fish peddler.

Schenck claimed he was held a prisoner in a mountain cabin near Johnstown, Pa., for 76 days by a private investigator in the Lindbergh case before Johnstown police effected his release.

"We are withdrawing from the Schenck case because our agents have found no federal law violated, either by Schenck or by those accused of kidnaping him," Hoover said.

Nothing Venture by Patricia Wentworth

(FOR PMS, SEPTEMBER 7) SYNOPSIS Jervis Weare has refused money to Rosamund Carew, his former fiancee, who threw him over in an attempt to cheat him of a fortune. Ferdinand Francis has recognized Nan Weare, Jervis' wife, as the girl who ten years before saved Jervis' life; Nan needs an ally, and tells Ferdinand that Rosamund's friend, Robert Leonard, has tried to kill her husband. She is tortured with worry because Jervis refuses to believe he is in danger.

Chapter 15 A GIRL WITH GRIT "Jervis was going down to swim. Nan Weare told Ferdinand Francis, eager because at last she had found a trusting listener in whom to confide her gnawing fears. He went behind those rocks, where the pool was. It was ten years ago."

"What were you doing?" asked Francis. "I was sitting on the beach," said Nan with her chin in the air. "There was a way down the low cliffs just beyond me. A man came down and went across to the rocks where Jervis was. I didn't see his face. I think he was walking on the cliff and saw Jervis and came down. He went behind the rocks, and in about five minutes I saw him again. He was walking straight to another path up the cliff, before Ferdinand came to Croyde Head. He went up that. I saw him half way up it. I never saw his face at all. 'Go on,' said Ferdinand. 'I waited a long time. The tide began to come up. I wondered where he was. I slipped up on to the path and looked out to sea, but I couldn't find him. The rocks hid the pool—I want you to remember that—I don't think anyone on the cliff could have seen it.' Mr. Francis nodded. 'That's true. I got frightened about Jervis. I went down to the pool, and he was lying half in and half out of it with his head bleeding and the tide coming in. The water was up to his shoulders. If I hadn't come then, he would have been drowned. If you hadn't come later, we should both have been drowned.' 'What are you meaning?' asked Francis. 'That man went behind the rocks and came out again,' said Nan rather breathlessly. 'Now what do you mean by that?' 'You know what I mean—but I don't mind saying it. I mean that the man went behind those rocks because he knew that Jervis was there and that they couldn't be seen from the cliff. I mean that he picked up a bit of rock and struck Jervis with it and went away and left him there with the tide coming in. 'I can't prove that, you know.' 'Of course I can't,' said Nan. 'But you can be sure of lots of things you can't prove.' 'That's so. But you didn't see him strike Jervis, you didn't even see his face; and now you say he is the Robert Leonard who is with Miss Carew tonight?' Nan nodded. 'Let me go on. After you'd got us out of the pool you went to get help, and I stayed with Jervis. As soon as I heard you coming back, I got away up the cliff path. You see, Cynthia, and I were down at Croyde with an aunt, and we were going back to town by the afternoon train. I got into a most frightful row when I turned up at our cottage dripping wet with my dress and my arm cut. I was bundled into dry things, and we just caught the train. 'And afterwards I was ill—I believe I was very ill—and all the time I kept seeing that man, and Jervis in the pool. I want you to understand now that I could recognize him ten years afterwards. He was printed into my mind.' Ferdinand saw her eyes darken in a face that had lost all its colour. 'You say you recognized him,' he said. 'She gave another of those quick looks.' 'Yes—at once. There was a photograph in Jervis' study. It didn't show his face; it showed him walking away from me, just as I'd seen him in my mind all those years. I recognized him at once, and Jervis told me his name.' 'Ten years is a long time,' said Ferdinand, 'and there's a good proverb about letting sleeping dogs lie.' 'They're not sleeping,' said Nan. 'He tried to kill Jervis ten years ago, and he tried to kill him again today.' 'That's a whole heap more interesting!' he said. 'I'm listening.' Again Nan found it difficult to begin, and, as before, she plunged. 'I saw Robert Leonard get out of a taxi. He was with Rosamund Carew. She went into the house.' 'What, today?' 'Yes, today. She went in; but he came back and spoke to the driver. I was on the other side of the taxi. I wasn't trying to listen, but I didn't want them to see me. Robert Leonard said, 'It's the four-fifteen. You'll have to hurry. He's sure to walk because he's got a craze for exercise.' 'No names?' 'The shook her head. 'No.' 'What made you think—?' 'I didn't at first. Let me tell you. The driver said, 'Suppose he takes a taxi?' And Robert Leonard said, 'You must just do the best you can.' He said he wasn't as keen on the job as he had been. 'And Robert Leonard said, 'What's a couple of months for dangerous driving?' And the driver said it might be a lot more than that, but he'd do it because he was a man of his word. 'Is that all?' asked Francis. 'No,' said Nan. She held her voice steady with all her might. 'I met Jervis. I told him, and he wouldn't believe me; but because he was late for his appointment with Mr. Pave he went by subway instead of walking. He would have walked. And when he came out of his house on his way here, a taxi knocked him down. He saw it coming and

Democrats Have Taken No Action On 1932 Slogan

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—An estimated 50,000 have written or come in person to democratic national headquarters to tell how they think Franklin D. Roosevelt can be elected president with the help of their special brand of slogan, song or knock-knock. The out-of-towners are mostly content to write, or telegraph, but a large per centage of idea-inflamed New Yorkers come right into headquarters to demonstrate. And that's where Ralph Hitchcock comes in. He listens to their songs, rolls their slogans over his tongue, looks at their cartoons, blinks non-committally at some of the strange inventions, and thanks one and all for their interest.

Filing cabinets in Hitchcock's office are crammed with the offerings, including such engines of propaganda as a transparent cake of soap enclosing a picture of the democratic candidate and a tricky little gadget that is supposed to speak for itself, a rose on a piece of felt. Some of the suggested slogans are: 'Vote for Roosevelt and roast beef.' 'Reject Roosevelt. Deject the public.' 'Make everything rosy with Roosevelt.' 'Vote for Roosevelt and results.' 'Rejoice with Roosevelt.' 'Forget Roosevelt on election day and you forget yourself.'

WON MARATHON FOR GIRL

The water was wet, and very cold, but George Blagden, right of Memphis, Tenn., didn't mind. He got some very pretty encouragement from a host that moved alongside of him as he won the Canadian National 15-mile marathon swim and $7,500 in first money at Toronto. The encouragement was Miss Gladys Lathbury, left, also a swimmer, from Philadelphia. Blagden swam the distance in 7 hours 19 minutes 32.3 seconds, almost 25 minutes under the previous record. This picture speaks of romance, but Gladys says there is no wedding bells in sight.

DALLAS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Final returns to the Texas election bureau gave Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson a majority of 3,870 votes over R. B. Sterling for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. The bureau last night tabulated returns from the 13 counties which were late in sending reports after last Saturday's canvass of the vote by county committees. The final figures were: Mrs. Ferguson 477,844; Governor Sterling 473,974.

Certainty of a Grand Slam by TOM O'NEILL. A valuable friend and ally, the success of which his partner felt was certain, is among the accomplishments of Bob Murray of Ely Culbertson's staff. Many contracts to make grand slams have been defeated by distributional freaks, such as bunched trump or a void in an adversary's hand. So, great is the risk that many tournament players never try to make grand slams.

Panhandle Man Bound While Ice Plant Is Robbed

PANHANDLE, Sept. 7 (SP)—Frank Branson, night worker in the ice plant here, was tied by a telephone pole and blindfolded after two masked men had held him up and robbed the ice company early this morning. Branson was tied with steel wire and blindfolded with a piece of canvas found in the plant. When the men left Branson tied to the pole near the stockyards, they warned him not to yell for help. It took him nearly two hours to free himself. The men drove off in an automobile. Mr. Branson believes he can identify the man who held the gun on him but he failed to get any description of the other man.

Henri Cochet Is Drawing Crowds To Net Tourney

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Henri Cochet may or may not be the world's greatest tennis player at the moment, but there can be slight doubt the marvelous little Frenchman tops them all as a box office draw. For three days now the big stadium at Forest Hills has been comfortably filled with spectators and hundreds more have spilled on to the outlying courts, all having paid a pretty stiff price for the privilege of watching what was bound to be an indifferent tennis in the opening rounds of the national championships.

COTTON OPENS STEADY

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady today with a fair volume of trading. Although Liverpool came in only about as due, first trades here showed gains of 8 to 12 points, due to shorts covering in advance of the government crop report due tomorrow. As New York did not respond as fully as expected to the local rally and as some pre-bureau liquidation developed prices eased after the start to 8.87 for October and 9.02 for December, or 5 to 9 points down from the opening figures. This reaction attracted some fresh buying and prices rallied again 2 to 3 points from the lows. There seemed to be a disposition to support the market around the nine-cent level for December. The market rallied early in the second hour owing to the weekly weather and crop summary claiming that the weather the past week had been unfavorable for cotton. This caused October to advance to 8.94 and December to 9.12, or 7 to 10 points above the early lows and 9 to 14 points above yesterday's closing.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 7 (AP)—Hubert Johnson Jenkins, electrical engineer, brought his son home to Louisville after taking him from the boy's grandmother's home in Dallas. Jenkins, covered the 40 miles in 3 1/2 hours. He took the ten-year-old son to his home in the highlands in the eastern part of the city.
