By the Associated Press. Reports from Tsitsihar said the provincial capital of Heilungkiang was in the grasp of the Japanese army.

A message to the Chinese Eastern railway offices at Harbin said Japanese troops had entered the walled city early this morning shortly after the last of the Chinese defenders had evacuated. General Mah Chan-Shan was reported leading his Chinese forces in orderly retreat along the Koshan railway which runs eastward from Tsitsihar.

Dispatches from Aganchi, south of Tsitsihar, said that town was quiet with 250 Chinese railway guards maintaining order.

Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the National government, announced he was going to Manchuria immediately.

In Paris, China's delegate reiterated his assertion to the League of Nations council that China will not accept direct negotiations with Japan before the Japanese army evacuates Manchuria.

TOKYO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Japan's victorious troops, reported to have swept through Anganchi across the Chinese Eastern railway to capture Tsitsihar, today were pursuing the retreating enemy toward Koku Shan Chen, 150 miles northeast of Tsitsihar, the Renjo corridor east of Harbin reported.

Neither the foreign office nor the bar office made any announcement regarding the capture of Tsitsihar although advices from Mukden said General Honjo's headquarters had confirmed reports that the Japanese entered the city this morning.

Seats to Football Game Sought as Uproar Continues

School officials are still making efforts to secure seats for the Amarillo-Lubbock football game in Amarillo Thanksgiving day. Joe M. Smith, manager of the Pampa Independent school district, has been in telephone conversation with Amarillo school officials, who say they will do their best to have some tickets sent to Pampa.

Lubbock is still clamoring for tickets and is not satisfied with the location of the tickets already received. Thousands of Amarillo fans will probably be turned away even with the additional seats that will be erected.

Pans and athletic officials here are not exactly pleased with the attitude of Amarillo in refusing to send any seats to Pampa. The Pampa school authorities sent several hundred reserve seat tickets to Amarillo when Pampa met the Westerners here. Judge Ivy E. Duncan went to Amarillo and stood well up in the line when seat sales opened and he failed to get any tickets because of the large numbers sold to individuals ahead of him.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in the Panhandle will see the Westerners and the Sandies battle.

SUICIDE IS THEORY

ALLRED WILL ATTEMPT TO GRAB STOCKS

Has Other Ammunition for Use After Attachment of Paper Fails Yesterday Through Sheriffs.

BATTLE LOOMS

Best Legal Talent Will Oppose Attorney-General and His Assistants as Conspiracy Is Urged.

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—Texas' attorney general, complaining of anti-trust law violations by 15 oil corporations and seeking to banish them from the state, has another move up his sleeve in his effort to attack stock of the Magnolia Petroleum company and the Shell Petroleum corporation.

Claiming the Standard Oil company of New York and the Shell Union Oil corporation, foreign corporations, owned by stock of Magnolia and Shell Texas companies, respectively, he issued writs of attachment and sent them to the sheriff of Dallas county for service. The allegation was that the parent companies were using the subsidiaries as a means of evading the corporation laws of Texas and to escape liabilities under the tax laws.

After the sheriff failed to find any stock, he was to return the writ for further instruction.

James V. Allred, attorney general was directing his office managers from an unknown hiding place, he had departed for an unknown destination soon after filing the writ, asking evicton and penalties aggregating $17,850,000.

Everett L. Looney, assistant attorney general, said the state had plenty of ammunition in reserve and it would take another shot soon.

"We have other avenues of getting to that stock, but we shall not announce them in advance," he said.

The sparring over attachment of stock was seen as a minor preliminary of the warmly contested litigation that is to ensue over the 33-year-old attorney general's campaign to break what he termed "a nation-wide conspiracy to control and dominate the business of marketing gasoline and petroleum products."

Amarillo's Toy Pistol Bandit Is Given 5 Years

AMARILLO, Nov. 19. (AP)—John Lesensky, Amarillo's toy pistol bandit, who staged two hijackings in as many days, pleaded guilty today and was given the minimum sentence of five years in the penitentiary.

Lesensky, who is 19, wept as he told of his holdups with a toy pistol, after he had lost his job with a local bakery.

"I live to eat, I had room rent to pay, and I wanted to go home," the youth told the jury. His parents live in Illinois.

The district attorney and the court recommended the minimum punishment. A suspended sentence can not be given for robbery in Texas, they said.

LET'S DEATH SENTENCE

LAMESA, Nov. 19. (AP)—Ira McKee, 32, convicted in June, 1930, for the alleged slaying of W. R. Billingsley, a Spangenberg merchant, was given the death sentence today by Judge Gordon B. McGuire. His date of execution was set for Jan. 8, 1932. It was the first death penalty ever administered in a Dawson county court.

Man Kills Couple and Then Self in Triangle Affair

DENISON, Okla., Nov. 19. (AP)—Thomas Wheeler, 34, shot and killed himself early today not long after slaying Mrs. Blanche Scheidegger, 34, who had spanned his attentions, and her husband Russell C. Scheidegger, 35.

Wheeler's body was found lying beside his automobile in which he had chided passengers of two counties for nearly three hours after the Scheideggers were shot down on a downtown street.

Beside the body were two guns he had used—a .22 caliber revolver with which Scheidegger had been killed and a shotgun which had been fired at Mrs. Scheidegger.

The Scheideggers' 12-year-old son, Russell Jr., who was walking home with them from a motion picture show, said Wheeler drove up beside them, jumped out and shot Mrs. Scheidegger.

As she fell, her husband sprang toward Wheeler and shouted "save you," only to be instantly killed with another shot—this time from the revolver. Mrs. Eugene Remick, a neighbor, was slightly wounded by scattering shot.

Wheeler raced away toward Cadiz, 25 miles away, but was turned back near there by a sheriff's posse. He escaped and headed back to Denison but found all roads there heavily guarded. Facing capture, he stopped his machine near the city, got out and shot himself in the heart with the shotgun, according to coroner J. F. Lewis.

Man Confesses to Palestine Robbery

PALESTINE, Nov. 19. (AP)—Norman York, detective, today recovered a money bag containing $8,368, hidden in a compartment under the cashier's desk of the First National bank of Palestine. The money was that which was supposed to have been taken from the bank late yesterday by a robber.

Officials said they had obtained a confession from one of the two men arrested. The confession, officers said, implicated a bank employee and was expected to clear up a previous robbery of the bank, which occurred March 28.

PALESTINE, Nov. 19. (AP)—Police said today they had obtained a confession from one of two men arrested shortly after the First National bank of Palestine was robbed of $8,000 yesterday.

The men were questioned throughout the night and officials said the confession obtained just before dawn, implicated the second man. None of the loot had been recovered although officials said they planned to take such action later in the day.

Last March a robber escaped with several thousand dollars from the same bank.

A man walked into the bank about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and herded five employees into the vault. They were: C. L. Huismit, president; Porter Cooper, cashier; O. L. Pounds, assistant cashier; Miss Helen Gilliam, bookkeeper, and Miss Grace Officer, clerk. He was arrested a short time later.

The men, all masked, armed, wearing rubber gloves and talking light-heartedly, asked the banker's wife to prepare supper for them and announced they had come to stay all night.

As they sat down to the meal, the men told Woodworth they would accompany him to the bank this morning and rob it.

AN ALIBI GIVEN

Man Implicated by Doomed Redskin Probably to Be Released by Rangers Who Arrested Him.

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—A last-minute story told by Chief Red Wing, condemned to die in the electric chair for child murder, that another had committed the crime for which he was convicted, has not panned out.

William W. Sterling, adjutant general of Texas, said today a man held for questioning by Texas rangers on strength of the Indian's claim, probably would be released this afternoon.

The man Red Wing named as the actual slayer of Angelina Cavazos, two-year-old Cuban girl, brutally murdered at New Braunfels a year ago, was held in the Travis county jail last night.

"Red Wing's story has failed to pan out," Adjutant General Sterling said. "Close questioning of the man he accused and other evidence has about convinced us that the story was a fabrication. The man Red Wing would pin the crime on seems to have a perfect alibi."

Gets Reprieve

Gov. R. S. Sterling reprieved the Indian on the eve of his execution until Nov. 30 to permit rangers to investigate the condemned man's story.

Red Wing was a member of the same show troupe with which the slain child's parents traveled. Angelina disappeared from her bed while her mother were doing their act in a tent theater. Her body was found several days later. Her skull had been crushed with a rock.

Red Wing confessed he committed the crime but recently repudiated that admission.

Courts Conflict; Cases Delayed

A vagrancy case is being tried in county court today. It is a case transferred from justice court. Activity in county court has been confined to small cases this week, due to the inability of attorneys to be present.

District court is in session at many of the attorneys are present in that court. Judge S. D. Stentz has set several rather important cases and suits for next week. Several orders of arrests have been issued for parties whose cases were set for today and who failed to appear in court.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Hollyce Sellers Hinkle

Is there any connection with being an Episcopalian and possessing the art of making good cookies? The best cookies we ever ate were made by Episcopallians and the black walnut ice-box cookies brought into the office yesterday by Mrs. S. F. Thornton were the best yet. The orange marmalade which was brought with them could not, we believe, be improved on by the most skillful French chef.

The goodies were samples of the type of articles to be sold Saturday in the bazaar to be sponsored by the Episcopal auxiliary to the Southwestern Public Service company. Perhaps after the bazaar Mrs. Thornton can be persuaded to give us the recipe.

Such articles as prepared by the Episcopal women would make the daintiest of inexpensive Christmas gifts. Over the round jar for the golden marmalade was tied a square of yellow cellophane paper which reflected its colored shadow on the table whenever it was touched by strong light. Through the top could be seen an attractive design of gold and red. The cookies were wrapped with clear cellophane paper and tied with red Christmas cord.

One Christmas a business girl gave to her fellow-workers an attractive jar of marmalade similar to those prepared by the church women. Accompanying each jar was a clever desire to help eat the delicacy at some future date. As a result, the other girls entertained with a series of Sunday morning breakfasts for all of the other feminine employees. All accepted the plan with enthusiasm.

It looks as if we're gaining favorable recognition abroad. Flaming New York, a book by a Frenchman, J. Joseph-Renaud, portrays American girls as beautiful, honest, tight-hearted, devoted to their husbands, and agreeable. What's more Signora Grandi likes America so much that she plans to send her little son to school here next year. Maybe we're not of such a bad sort, after all.

Speaking of Christmas, the season will be a cheerful one if the prediction of Mrs. Ruth D. Maurer, New York beauty specialist, is fulfilled. Winter styles, Mrs. Maurer asserted, will be in a modified version of the Second Empire mode, with most of the best points retained. "Colors will remain slim and graceful," she said. "Hats will be comparatively small, shoes will be trimmed, and coats will be graced with shawl-like collars. And makeup must blend with the rest of the ensemble. Complexions will be lighter and very feminine in their coloring. An aura of cheer will be the dominating effect."

Couple Held on Cruelty Charge

CANTON, N. Y., Nov. 19. (AP)—William McNamara and his wife, Lila, were held here today for Vermont authorities who had sought them on charges they tortured 7-year-old Irene Pasno, deserted in a Rutland, Vt., boarding house.

The pair was arrested at Massena, N. Y., yesterday by state police.

The girl, badly bruised by what authorities said were cruelties of the McNamaras, was found in Rutland last month. She said "Bill" used to burn her with lighted cigarettes and swing her by the ears and charged her with other forms of cruelty.

The McNamaras were accused also of having kidnapped the child from her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pasno of Jacksonville, Fla.

TREND OF LITERATURE: A list was compiled the other day of the best sellers of the last thirty years. It reveals much about the trend of American life.

Book were simple. They dealt with emotions that hadn't acquired a veneer of sophistication. Life wasn't complex in those tales. For the most part books were erected on love and sacrifice and honor.

But another influence crept in just before 1915. Industry was growing larger. It was fast becoming a predominating force in American social life.

Both Tarkington used it in "The Turmoil." Smoky skies of American cities were as interesting as the drama of love over which the two young people fought on a more or less industrial basis.

But "Seventeen" was a return to pure, unalloyed enjoyment of the wistfulness that goes with youth. It was life itself, unhampered by outside restriction.

And then suddenly literature wasn't afraid to look at the hidden side of life. It decided not only to talk about the things that people do, and their consequences, but to give the reasons for the actions.

Instead of telling a story about a certain group of people it chose cross-sections of life itself. It had a lesson to teach. The fact that John married Mary was interesting but not important.

"Main Street," "Elmer Gantry," "If Winter Comes," "So Big" . . . the list began to look as though the authors were living intensively as well as extensively.

And literature, while it may not be as quietly enjoyable, is considerably more instructive. That is—if you want to be instructed.

Death Penalty Is Asked in Kentucky

MT. STERLING, Ky., Nov. 19. (AP)—The commonwealth plans to seek the death penalty in the case of William Burnett, Harlan county coal miner on trial here on a charge of slaying Jesse Pace, Harlan county deputy sheriff.

The jury was selected and 14 witnesses heard at day and night sessions yesterday, leaving only six prosecution witnesses to be heard today. One of these was heard yesterday but the state decided to recall him.

Burnett is charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Deputy Pace at Everts, Harlan county, April 17. Pace was slain when he and other deputies went to Everts to arrest several men on charges of banding and confederating. Eleven other men are to be tried here on murder charges arising from a gun battle at Everts a month later in which four men were killed.

EXTENT OF CANVASS FOR RED CROSS IS UNCERTAIN

stated they intended to hold the city until it was assured that the Chinese forces under General Mah Chan-Shan had been scattered so widely as to make any chance for attack impossible.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 19. (AP)—Official dispatches from Tsihsihar received here today said the formal occupation of the city by the Japanese was begun at 10 a. m. today, following the Japanese drive yesterday in which the Chinese army under General Mah Chan-Shan was routed.

Chinese prisoners taken by the Japanese said General Mah Chan-Shan told them only that they were opposed to the forces of Chang-Hai-peng, General Mah's rival, and that they were ignorant of the nationality of their foes until the Japanese took the first line trenches, after which the retreat began.

Citizens Flee: As a result of the fighting, thousands of Chinese civilians along the Chinese Eastern railway were leaving their homes today, deserting all their belongings and fleeing for safety in all directions.

The bitter cold continued today. Thermometers at Tsihsihar station registered 20 degrees below zero centigrade. A strong icy, north wind swept down from Northern Manchuria.

TOKYO, Nov. 19. (AP)—The Japanese government today instructed its ambassador at Moscow to convey to Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, a friendly warning regarding the danger of serious complications if Russia should send troops into North Manchuria.

The ambassador was charged at the same time to reassure the Soviet foreign commissar that no damage was done to the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern railway during yesterday's offensive in the Anganchi area.

Russia Blamed: A Japanese charge that Russia is "partially responsible" for hostilities in Manchuria was on its way to Moscow today.

MOSCOW, Nov. 19. (AP)—The reported occupation of Tsihsihar in Manchuria by the Japanese is bound to cause concern to the Soviet government because it involved crossing of the Chinese Eastern railway, jointly owned by China and Soviet Russia.

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 19. (AP)—Thousands of Chinese students abandoned their classes today and began organized solicitation for funds to assist General Mah Chan-Shan, commander of the Chinese forces in Manchuria.

They scattered throughout the city and into the foreign concessions, carrying banners with anti-Japanese slogans and soliciting all passersby. In some cases they were belligerent toward those who declined to contribute but foreign police who patrolled the streets refrained from interfering.

Reports from various other places in the Yangtze valley said widespread efforts were under way to obtain funds to finance the purchase of supplies and ammunition for the Manchurian army.

Cite Violations: NANKING, Nov. 19. (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Nanking government, announced today he was proceeding immediately to Manchuria. The Nanking government has cabled the League of Nations council at Paris a series of complaints supporting charges of treaty violation by the Japanese. The following

Final Reports Just Starting to Come In—Phillips Co. Group 100 Per Cent.

Delay of workers in turning final reports prevented an accurate estimate of the progress of the Red Cross roll call today. The Rev. C. E. Lancaster asked his solicitors to complete their canvassing as soon as possible.

The canvassing forces were increased today by volunteers from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, to which Rev. Lancaster appealed last night.

The American Legion team, consisting of Clyde Garner, J. W. Murphy, E. T. Broughton, and Jack Osgood, completed its drive last night, turning in 68 members. This team was assigned the south oil fields and LeFors.

The Legion team reported that the gasoline department of the Phillips Petroleum company went 100 per cent, with the assistance of C. A. Thorn and Mr. Bassett, officials of the company, who offered every cooperation. The Legionnaires had lunch yesterday at LeFors.

"provocative actions" were listed: 1—Illegal stationing of Japanese troops in Manchuria. The Chinese estimate that there are now 23,000 Japanese soldiers and officers there.

2—Illegal stationing of police attached to Japanese consulates in Chinese territory. 3—Assaults on Chinese nationals by Japanese police.

4—Arrest of Chinese officials by Japanese police. 5—Destruction by the Japanese of Chinese government offices.

6—Holding of Japanese military maneuvers in Chinese cities. 7—Interference with the transport of Chinese military forces.

8—Establishing of post offices along the South Manchurian railway. 9—Levying of illegal taxes along the South Manchurian railway.

Gems of Peril

BEGIN HERE TODAY: Rich old Mrs. Jupiter is robbed and murdered during the excitement party she gave for her secretary, Mary Harkness.

"Let it lay," he said, under his breath. "I want to keep Welcome on the doormat here, and as long as I owe him money Jack will let me in. I've got a hunch Jack is going to get one of his periodic mads on at newspaperman in general, and me in particular, after tonight. Every once in a while he gets the notion that it's the newspapermen that are to blame for all his troubles, and refuses to let one on the premises. I don't want that to happen right now."

Mike would have moved off, but Bowen detained him. "Is that him?" he asked softly. "Yes, Yes, I tell him. Thank you!" Mike answered, making significant facial contortions, and palming a coin Bowen handed him. He hurried away before any more could be said.

SO one of those men was the Fly! Mary had become adept in reading Mike's peculiar form of sign language, and no wonder, for his pantomime was more exaggerated than subtle. As an actor, Mike was pretty much of a "mugger."

Dirk said, "Ready?" Mary, powdering her nose, nodded. "All right, Gloria," Bowen said meaningfully. They all got up and moved toward the door, Dirk leading, Mary following, and Bowen bringing up the rear. Mike leaped into action with exaggerated haste, coming forward to open the door and said, "Good night."

Once outside, Mary sagged against Dirk's arm. But when he looked at her sharply, in quick fear that she was about to faint, he saw that she was shaking with silent laughter. Hysterical! He gripped her arm tightly and snarled at Bowen, "I hope to God you're satisfied!"

"Honey, I'm not having hysterics, honest!" Mary giggled. "It's just the let-down. I never was so thrilled in my life! Wouldn't have missed it for anything!"

"Perhaps it will amuse you to know there was nothing to miss," Dirk said sharply. "You don't believe all this claptrap, do you? Three drummers from Terre Haute or some such place, making the rounds of the speakeasies, and you let this clown lead you a wild story about murderers and jewel-robbers. You've been reading too much Edgar Wallace, Bowen. Keep it to yourself after this, will you?"

Bowen turned white, but whether with anger or shame, Mary could not tell. "Have it your own way," he said quietly. "Good night, Miss Harkness. If there's ever anything I can do—" He lifted his hat. Undecided what to say or do, Mary kept discreetly silent, but her eyes pleaded an apology.

Dirk gripped Mary's arm and led her to the curb where his coupe stood. Several car-lengths away stood Bowen's rattletrap. He started to go toward it, then turned and came up to the coupe and leaned through the open window. "Got a gun?" he asked.

"No, Al Capone, I have not," he said. "And what of it?" With a quick gesture Bowen drew an automatic out of his pocket and handed it into the car, but first. Even Dirk was touched, disconcerted, for a minute. Then he said with good-natured scorn, "Oh, keep it! What if somebody does plug me? You'll get a good story."

Bowen's temper gave way. "I don't give a damn what happens to you," he said roughly. "But you've got a woman with you, remember. Take this whether you want it or not."

HE shoved the gun into Dirk's lap and swung off. As they moved down the street, Bowen's little tin-can of a car began to shiver and roar and give off explosions like a Fourth of July rocket. When they turned into Broadway, Mary looked out the back window and saw it turn, also, apparently following them. It was easily picked out in the traffic, for its top was up—a flimsy, "one-man" top which had apparently been added to its accoutrements since she rode in it. Her curtains were all drawn against the rain.

Something about that grotesque equipage and its owner wrung Mary's heart and anger flooded her. "I think you're a beast!" she said to Dirk. "You shouldn't have talked to him like that! Maybe Mike lied to him, but I'm sure he didn't mean to lie to us!"

"Mike? Who's Mike?" "Mike?" Mary told him what she knew of Mike, and explained that he owed Bowen for favors done in the past. "You mean," Dirk said slowly, meaningfully, "that all this so-called evidence he's got that a man named the Fly (he grimaced and mumbled, "more Edgar Wallace") robbed that house, killed Mrs. Jupiter and then ran your brother down presumably to keep him from telling, is the word of a double-starred yegg like that waiter?"

"Put that way, it did sound rather thin. Mary was rebelliously silent. Her state of mind was hard to explain, even to herself. She loved Dirk so much that just his physical presence beside her in the car, the touch of his coat-sleeve, his casual glance, weakened all her forces of mind and body. He dominated her and she could not help herself. . . . and so calm, so utterly sure of himself and of the rightness of all he was and stood for.

But some traitorous part of herself persisted in believing that in his own way Bowen was right, also. Might there not be depths of life of which the select and exclusive Ruyters had no knowledge? Might there not be truth even in a "yegg" like Mike, if the claims of friendship demanded it?

And if she had ever been sure of anything in her life, she was positive that none of those men had been a drummer from Terre Haute, or anything like it. What had happened was clear enough—Jack Shay, still mulling over the significance of that afternoon's taxi crash, of which the select and exclusive Ruyters had no knowledge? Might there not be truth even in a "yegg" like Mike, if the claims of friendship demanded it?

BIG GUNS TO BE OBSOLETE

So Says Man Who Aids in Developing Robot to Guide Plane.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—"Big Guns" scoffed Elmer A. Sperry Jr. "They'll play a minor role in military tactics of the future. The flying bomb is the thing."

Sperry, who at 38 has the enthusiasm of a stripling, explained today how the robot pilot, developed by his famous father with the admiring son helping, will revolutionize warfare if the world is ever afflicted with another war.

Meanwhile, it is being devoted to peacetime uses. The Eastern Air transport today officially sets it to work flying air liners between New York and the south.

"A flying bomb or aerial torpedo," Sperry declared, "is the cheapest way to deliver a ton of explosive to an objective. A gun is the most expensive."

"Say you want to destroy an ammunition depot 500 miles away. A big gun couldn't do it, but an aerial torpedo could. You'd simply fit a cheap plane with a robot pilot and some other gadgets and load it with explosive. Then on a dark night, it would take off by itself, with another plane following, controlling it by radio."

"When the flying bomb reached the depot, down it would plunge, blowing everything off the map. Then the human pilot could fly back and sit down to breakfast."

The robot pilot, an essential feature of such a bomb, was developed through the years of the elder Sperry who died in 1930.

Widow Held For Slaying Husband

PEKIN, Ill., Nov. 19. (AP)—Mrs. Alice Mason, 50-year-old widow of Delavan, Ill., was held today on charges that she killed her husband, John, a year ago and her daughter, Mildred, 12, last August, with poison.

States' Attorney Louis Dunkelberg, who said she signed a statement last night admitting the slayings, announced the case would be presented to the county grand jury immediately after it convenes today.

Dunkelberg quoted Mrs. Mason as charging that the poison was given her by Dr. B. M. Barringer. He expressed doubt, however, if the physician took a part in the alleged crime.

The announcement of Mrs. Mason's confession was made several hours after the coroner's jury ordered her held to the grand jury on a charge of murdering her daughter. The widow was arrested early yesterday after Dr. Willard D. McNally, Chicago toxicologist, reported to Coroner A. E. Allen he had found sufficient poison in the girl's viscera to kill several persons. She died Aug. 9, ostensibly from peritonitis.

Not many days later Harold, Mrs. Mason's 18-year-old son, became ill. He is now recovering. Mrs. Mason carried $1,000 insurance on Mildred, her husband and Harold, officials said.

HAS SLEEPING SICKNESS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19. (AP)—Unconscious for 30 days, a victim of sleeping sickness, Dr. A. J. Berresheim, 50, Louisville surgeon, is being kept alive by constant injection into his veins of a fluid containing dextrose which serves as his food. Attending physicians said he cannot live much longer. Most sleeping sickness victims die within two weeks after contracting the disease, they said.

Walker to Plead For Tom Mooney

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—The mayor of New York will plead before the governor of California next Wednesday for the freedom of Tom Mooney, 45 years a prisoner at San Quentin.

A telegram yesterday from "Mother Mooney" that brought tears to Mayor "Jimmy" Walker's eyes was the final plea which moved him to offer his services in behalf of the labor leader who once was sentenced to death and who now is serving a life sentence.

Mooney was convicted in connection with the Preparedness day parade bombing in San Francisco July 26, 1916. The continual efforts in Mooney's behalf in the intervening years have made him probably the best known convict in America.

Previously the mayor had declined personal appeals by Mooney himself and by Mooney's counsel, Frank P. Walsh, but it was the telegram from the 80-year-old mother, however that apparently led Mayor Walker agree to make the trip to the California capital.

He made it plain today he will appear as private citizen and lawyer and not as the mayor of New York. He will receive no fee and will pay his own expenses.

MORE LIBERAL RESERVE ACT IS TO BE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Bank commissioners in a majority of the states have informed Senator Vandenberg they approve liberalization of the federal reserve act.

The proposals submitted were: To admit to rediscount certain bonds and warrants of states, counties and cities, and other tax districts, and to create under proper safeguards a temporary emergency rediscount privilege covering any sound assets in a solvent bank.

Bank commissioners voted in 25 states while six approved with reservations. Four voted yes on part of the proposal and no on the other part of the proposal and no on the other part. New Jersey, California, and Minnesota rejected the plan and 10 states were either noncommittal or did not reply.

Most of Robber Gang Now Dead

DETROIT, Nov. 19. (AP)—James Overstreet, whose 9-year career as a bank robber appears destined to end in the Macomb county circuit court, told detectives today that most of the 19 members of the gang which he organized in St. Louis in 1922 are either dead or in prison.

Overstreet and his friend, James McCoy, will be taken to Mc... Clemens, Overstreet told officers how he organized the gang in the Missouri city and embarked on a career of robbery which netted him $150,000. He indicated he preferred to plead guilty to bank robbery in Michigan to facing extradition to other states which want him on similar charges.

Sitting in police headquarters awaiting his transfer to Mc... Clemens, Overstreet told officers how he organized the gang in the Missouri city and embarked on a career of robbery which netted him $150,000. He indicated he preferred to plead guilty to bank robbery in Michigan to facing extradition to other states which want him on similar charges.

Overstreet told how he and his gang robbed 10 Illinois banks in 1924 and how an attempt to rob a mail train at Salem, Ill., with six other men met with failure and the capture of some of the gang.

"It was a tip-off," he explained.

BIG TAX ON LIQUOR

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—A production tax increase of 250 and 300 per cent on products of high alcoholic content was announced by the treasury department, on order of the president, today.

The taxes on native drinks, such as aguardiente, mescal and tequila was elevated from 18 to 20 centavos per quart to 45 and 60 and the tax of whiskey was fixed at two pesos per quart.

New York Italian Has Slight Edge

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—A real championship battle was in sight today as Tony Ganzoni and Kid Chocolate waited for their 15-round fight in Madison Square garden to follow in the evening.

Tony holds the synthetic junior welterweight crown as well as the lightweight title, which is the real object of the battle, and will risk them both. In return, it seems likely he will get a chance at the junior lightweight championship which Chocolate won from Benny Bass a short time ago.

The New York Italian has been a slight favorite but as the time for the battle approached public opinion seemed to be swinging toward the Cuban "Kid."

Peasant Welfare First in France

PARIS, Nov. 19. (AP)—Pierre Laval, farmer and stock-raiser, stands ready to offer his country's cooperation in solving the world's economic troubles but at the same time, for him, the welfare of the French peasant comes first.

"Peasants' toil must be remunerative," the farmer-premier told the Union of Economic Interests yesterday, explaining that France, "an essentially sound nation," would join in efforts to solve world economic troubles, but that her exports must be defended and her home markets protected at a time when no one thought of lowering customs barriers.

It Sounds Fishy but We'll Make No Check on 1,500-Year Figures

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 19. (AP)—Last Sunday an Omaha newspaper told about Dr. Leopold Bauer of Austria, depositing a shilling in the Bank of England, at London, with instructions that his will would contain the provision that the shilling was to remain in the bank at interest for 1,500 years.

Then, wrote Dr. Bauer, the bank was to step out and "buy the American continent and a few other things it might want."

The idea intrigued E. V. Gustafson, former Council Bluffs city clerk, and he immediately went into a huddle with himself.

Gustafson emerged from the huddle last night and delivered the information that at the end of 1,500 years, supposing the shilling to be worth 25 cents and the interest 5 per cent and rounded semi-annually the total deposit would be: Four thousand fifty-one octillions, five hundred eleven septillions, eight hundred seventy-two sextillions, three hundred eleven quintillions, seven hundred seventy quadrillions, seven hundred sixty-four trillions, eight hundred ninety-six billions, three hundred ninety million, five hundred ninety thousand, three hundred twenty-three dollars and twenty cents.

HICCOUGHS LIGHTER

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 19. (AP)—Hiccoughs continued to wrack Ira A. King, Mansfield garage owner, today, but physicians for the first time held out hope for his recovery. He was reported "holding his own" and physicians believed the hiccoughing stage, now in its 12th day, would pass away as he regains his strength.

The oldest woman in Chicago, Miss Mary Hogan, died recently. She was 105 years old.
