TWINKLES
The West Foster grouch, found smoking and semi-dozing in the warm sun yesterday, refused to be quoted. He was so nearly "out of character" that he thought it best to be silent. A warm sun has wondrous ways.

Note on fee system: After the study of exorbitant fee charges by public officials began in Texas, over half a million dollars. The fat fee cow is at last starting to go dry, but legislative action will be necessary to complete the process.

Congress evidently is a place where one not a lawmaker must brandish a gun to get a word in edgewise.

Pity poor Amarillo—with Pampa and Lubbock tugging at her for the Thanksgiving date on the grid-iron next year. The Amarillo chamber of commerce is reported to be having special sessions about the dilemma. We'd like for Texas Tech to help us out a bit by scheduling a Thanksgiving game at Lubbock next year!

Percy, the office mouse, has returned to the office for the winter. He says that since the federal relief crews cleaned up the alleys, he will have to lean on us for a bit of cheese every week.

THAT BIG PARTY
Children of this territory are thinking a lot about the annual Pampa Daily NEWS-La Nora theater Christmas party which this year will be at 10 a. m. of December 24. Manager George Limerick of La Nora has obtained the Boy Friends in "Love Pains" Zazu Pitts and Thelma Todd in "On the Loose" and a clever comic cartoon, "Wine Out," for the big juvenile occasion. Eats, too, will be handed out by Santa Claus, who has promised to be present. Candy and fruit, 6 reels of funny pictures, and Santa Claus—all free to children of 14 years of age and under. Pampa Lions will help stage the party. Don't forget!

WIFE VS. HUSBAND
On Monday, this column quoted another paper's mention of a preacher's sermon on the place of women in the home. Mrs. J. R. Henry called us to ask that more of the pertinent Scripture be quoted.

Without delving into the theological phases of the subject, we will say that what the preacher evidently did not read concerns the duty of a husband to love his wife as himself. Not only would many wives be astonished should this happen, but they would be very willing to obey the first part of the Scriptures. Mrs. Henry remarked pointedly. The feminine part of our household warns us that all our women readers will be offered if we quote the Scriptures concerning women's duty to regard their husbands as the head of their homes, but in quoting we do so in the spirit of education, and not criticism of any woman reader.

From the fifth chapter of Ephesians:
22. Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord.

Christmas Customs From Foreign Lands

In Denmark, the Christmas tree is not disclosed to the children until they scamper home from vesper services on Christmas Eve. Then for an hour they dance about the tree with their elders, singing carols before opening the presents the Gnomes have brought.

SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

SHELL PRICE REVERTS BACK TO OLD FIGURE

OIL STRUCTURES WILL BE SAME AS THAT OF STANDARD

FOLLOWS TEXAS' LEAD

TOP OF $1 BEING PAID FOR MID-CONTINENT CRUDE

HOUSTON, Dec. 15. (AP)—The Humble Oil and Refining company today announced sweeping reductions in crude oil prices generally posted by other major buyers. Humble cut Gray to a low of 56 cents and a high of 68 cents.

THE Standard Oil Co. announced today it will revert to the crude oil purchasing price maintained by the Standard Oil companies of Indiana and New Jersey. This ranges from 76 cents to $1 a barrel for mid-continent crude.

The price varies somewhat from the new schedule posted yesterday by the Texas corporation and is the same as the general scale in effect last summer.

Predictions were freely published that other independents would join the movement, given important impetus by the Texas company yesterday afternoon, for a recession from the $1.12 top price which was posted by virtually all but the Standard concerns two months ago.

The refinery market, both in Chicago and on the midcontinent, has been weakening steadily in the last two months and plant owners say they have been unable to recover sufficient revenue to justify the higher postings. Oil reached a $1.12 top on October 15, the Sun Oil Co. in Texas starting the movement, but the Standard companies never have joined it. A month ago some of the smaller purchasers began cutting back to the old $1 top. Since then there were three price scales, including the Texas company's postings of yesterday, which was considerable confusion among individual producers as to just what price they will get. It was noted the Texas postings were lower in some fields than the prices maintained by the Standards.

Pythian Knights Elect Officers Tuesday Night

Officers of the Knight of Pythias lodge for the coming year will be elected at a meeting in the Castle hall in the city hall Tuesday night. A nominating committee composed of R. L. Edmondson, Dr. C. H. Schutke, Ray Bernard Ernest Gee, and Ray Wilson was appointed at a meeting Tuesday night. The third rank drill team went through its work as part of the program.

Retiring officers will be Virgil Hill, chancellor commander; R. C. Wilson, vice chancellor commander; Emis Jordan, prelate; Ray Bernard, master of works; Bob Watson, keeper of records and seals; Ernest Gee, master of finance; Clara Coffin, master of exchequer; R. L. Edmondson, master at arms; Kirt Chester, inner guard; Tracy Cary, outer guard.

A D. Price of Miami was in the city this morning.

I HEARD--

That little Frances Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufe Thompson, knows her dignitaries. When the teacher asked the class yesterday if they could name an important man who came from Ireland, Frances immediately informed the teacher that Frank Spelman was one.

That George Limerick, manager of the La Nora theater, has installed a parcel check room in the theater where patrons may check their Christmas parcels and not have to worry about holding them.

C. P. Buckler, Mayor Bill Bratton, and M. K. Brown wondering if their being the guest of Dan Gribben at the A. P. L. banquet the other night had anything to do with the Texas company's reducing the price of crude oil. The declared that they would rather have paid their own way than have Dan make up the difference by reducing the price of crude.

PAMPANS FAVOR 160-ACRE UNIT PLAN TO CONTROL PRODUCTION OF GAS IN PANHANDLE FIELDS

Date for Poultry Show To Be Fixed In Session Tonight

Whether Pampa will have a poultry show next month will likely be decided this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Poultry raisers, County Agent Ralph Thomas, J. L. Lester, teacher of vocational agriculture, Travis Lively of the U. C. D. agricultural committee, and others interested are asked to meet tonight to discuss the subject.

Ordinarily held in December, this year's show was delayed for lack of prize money, but interest is so keen that several enthusiasts believe a show can be held in January.

Wheat Saved By Heavy Snowfall Farmers State

Snowfall, which filled car tracks last night, continued steadily this morning although the temperature was hovering near the freezing mark instead of the zero mark as it did for several days recently. Farmers expressed the opinion that the snow had saved their wheat. The drought and freezes had the wheat growers worried, but the snow will carry the wheat through the rest of the year and most of January.

Wheat acreage in this immediate area is about normal although plantings west and southwest of here were much below the average.

WILL ELECT MONDAY

Members of the Board of City Development and newly appointed members will convene at the city hall Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Among the business to be transacted will likely be election of officers for the coming year. For the most part, these will be chosen from within the board.

WEST TEXAS: Rain in extreme south and snow or rain in central and north portions tonight, probably clearing Friday morning, continued cold.

New Oil Hearing Set For Dec. 28

CALL MEETING OF OPERATORS IN ALL FIELDS

DISA TISFACTION IN EAST TEXAS AREA CAUSES ACTION

ALLOWABLE PROTESTED

WHOLE COMMISSION IN AGREEMENT ON HEARING

AUSTIN, Dec. 15. (AP)—The Texas Railroad commission today called a hearing of oil operators in the East Texas pool and in all other Texas fields for Austin on December 28 to discuss proration and other problems.

There has been considerable dissatisfaction over the maximum field allowable fixed for East Texas at 325,000 barrels daily effective Dec. 1 and later altered to 310,000 barrels beginning December 10.

Prior to the December 1 order, production had been on a straight per well basis, but the newest regulation was based on a combination per well, bottom hole pressure and acreage arrangement.

Allowables for all fields in Texas were fixed as of December 1, all based on evidence adduced at astate wide hearing under a new conservation law enacted by a special session of the legislature to give the Railroad commission, regulator of oil and gas production in the state, authority to consider market demand as well as physical waste in curtailing the output of petroleum.

The new hearing was decided on at a conference of the entire membership of the commission.

R. D. Parker, chief oil and gas supervisor of the regulatory agency, said that the commission found that nominations made by some of the purchasers of last month had been "repeated."

Parker said the purchasers found they could not make the well connections, as anticipated.

"There wasn't anything to do, but to call another hearing and obtain definite commitments," Parker said.

Gas Overcomes Four in Family

Mrs. W. L. Nichols and two daughters, Clella and Opal, and son A. D., were overcome by gas yesterday morning at their home, 604 South Regd street. They were discovered by Mr. Nichols, who had been out of the house only a short time. Mrs. Nichols had tried to reach the telephone but fainted as she reached for it. The children were in another room.

Clella is a member of the girls' basketball team at high school. She was still under a physician's care this morning. Other members of the family were able to be up. Gas was found to be leaking from a connection in the all and also from a gas stove.

GOAL NEARLY REACHED

The Red Cross roll call goal of $750 today lacked $18 of the total amount, according to Farris Oden, chairman of the drive. Cash and pledges are slowly raising the total near the goal, and it is believed that the "over the top" signal will be given soon.

His hospital attendants reported Bowen injured less seriously than Montee at the time they were received at the hospital. Bowen was conscious and was able to give some details of the crash. After transferring their patient back and land at Jericho, 40 miles west of Amarillo, they were given a lift to the hospital.

HUNGER FOR KNOWLEDGE The ordinary conception of a college student is a picture of a gay young man in a coonskin coat who is out to have a delightful time and on whose shoulders the woes of the world can find no resting place at all.

There are such collegians, of course, and they are just as big a pain in the neck as popular fancy supposes. But once in a while you see a little story from some campus or other which indicates that such chaps don't, after all, really represent the average undergraduate.

Such a story came from the University of Michigan not long ago, when Dean Joseph A. Bursley revealed that scores of youngsters at that institution are wearing old clothes, living in cold rooms and going without food in order that they may continue their studies.

"Every few days," he said, "there comes to my office the report of some student who is living in an attic on $1.50 a week, on milk and bread or crackers, with an occasional can of beans."

These are the youngsters who set out to get an education and discovered that the depression had left them without funds. They aren't the kind that gives up without a struggle, and they aren't in college to have a good time; so they plug along, ruining their health and showing a brave endurance that would do credit to fully-grown men and women, in the hope that they can somehow finish their studies and fit themselves for honorable places in the outside world.

To read of them is to feel rather apologetic for the slurs we so frequently cast at the collegian. For these youngsters, obviously, aren't of the rah-rah, coonskin coat strip. They have nothing to do with the luxurious fraternity houses or the glittering proms or the football specials. They are in college to make something of themselves, and they are willing to make all kinds of sacrifices to do it.

And in the long run they are more truly representative of the college world than are these lads in coonskin coats. They are the people who, in years to come, will justify the colleges' existence.

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

Physician For Giants Shot In Strange Manner

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (AP)—Dr. William J. Walsh, widely known physician to the New York Giants baseball club, lay near death today, the victim of an attack by an ex-convict, who shouted, "I'm desperate," as he fired three bullets into the doctor's abdomen.

The assailant, variously known as John William Wilson, Victor, and Frank Madden, fled from the physician's office, only to be cornered and killed by police and a friend of the doctor.

Walsh said the motive for the crime was robbery. Tuesday night, a man describing himself as John William Wilson telephoned Walsh at his office on Riverside Drive, saying he was bringing a critically ill brother to the office.

Fearing it might be a case of wounded gangsters, Dr. Walsh asked police protection. Two policemen went to the office but Wilson failed to appear.

Last night a man rushed into the office, pushed past the physician's secretary and fired three shots into Walsh.

"George, I've been shot," Walsh gasped to George F. Murphy, a friend, who was in an adjoining x-ray room.

Murphy seized a revolver and checked the fleeing assailant. Two policemen joined him. Trading shots with the fugitive, they saw him take refuge in a parked taxicab. Shooting as they approached the cab, they found the man's lifeless body on the floorboards. There were seven bullets in it.

of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church, and he is the saviour of the body.

24. Therefore as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their husbands in everything. But let us read further:

25. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it.

28. So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself.

31. For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh.

33. Let every one of you in particular so love his wife even as himself; and the wife see that she reverence her husband.

OUR OLD COUNTRY This Panhandle-Plains country of ours is pretty old. Evidently once the bottom of a sea, its soil and sub-surface show that it was once and settled upon this area, building strata slowly and trapping the oil for whose possession we are so fortunate. . . . A Texas company employee confides to us that a perfect fossil was found in the No. 6 Davis well near LeFlore, at a depth of about 2600 feet. It was taken out with a core drill and has been preserved. Evidence of shell-fish life, half a mile below the surface is indicative of the passing of so many years that we wouldn't attempt to name how many millions. The youth of the Panhandle in contrast with the great age of our soil is surprisingly brief.

Here Coronado searched for the fabulous Cities of Cibola and the Gran Quivira. Then the Pueblo and Nomadic Indians were in possession. Theirs was one of the highest of the Indian civilizations and was a survival of a much older and greater civilization. Frijoles canyon, Cheaco canyon

Mrs. Lodely muttered sympathetically and lit another cigarette. She wished she could remember that this was a house lying under the shadow of death, but Lionel Quentin had been so many months dying and the disaster of the firm's the Cliff Dwellings, Inscription Rock and the ruins of many ancient Indian cities make New Mexico the richest state in the Union for archaeological study and exploration. "Its natural beauty and scenic wonders attract artists and tourists alike. The high plateaus, rugged canyons, snow-capped mountains, the White Sands, the ruins of ancient cities, and Carlsbad Caverns with their huge chambers of indescribable beauty, repay fully the many visitors of the state.

"New Mexico was the scene of many colorful stories of the early West—of the Santa Fe Trail, connecting line between two civilizations; and Kit Carson, scout and Indian hunter Geronimo, leader of the Apaches; Billy the Kid, gunman and desperado.

"What I want to know is, what are we going to do? I mean, all Sam and I have got is my little income that I've been spending on myself. It won't go anywhere. Why, it isn't three hundred a year and Mark's doctor's fees have come to nearly that before now!"

"Still, you are fortunate in having it," said Mrs. Quentin, her eyes upon the distant window.

"Haven't you—you don't mind my asking—haven't you anything at all of your own?"

"Nothing. Less, even, than Lionel thinks."

"How'd you mean?"

"I mean that I lied to him the other day," explained Mrs. Quentin, her dark head still motionless against the back of the seat.

"You see, I once had a young cousin, before his death he needed a loan, and he insisted on giving me as part security some shares he held in a South African enterprise. Oh, I think I saw news becomings! No, it's only the shadow of the apple-tree."

"Was it a gold-mine?" Mrs. Lodely gave the short, high laugh with which she usually covered embarrassment and interest.

Mrs. Quentin and Mrs. Lodely endured each other.

She sat sniffing damply for nearly half an hour and was about to go in search of a strong cup of tea when her maid approached her, thumbing an envelope. Mrs. Cane threw up her hands.

"How many times have I told you, Annie, to bring in letters on a tray? And if it's a telegram—yes, I see it is—you'll simply have to get on your things and take it after Mr. Cane. He's told me that he wants all telegrams brought to him at once, wherever he is."

"And where he master to, then, ma'am?"

"Gone up to see Mr. Quentin on Upper Mallard hill. He'll be walking slowly, he has Miss Lella with him. If you hurry, you may overtake him yet."

In a garden full of late roses, Mrs. Quentin and Mrs. Lodely sat enduring each other.

Mrs. Lodely endured Mrs. Quentin as the wife of her husband's senior partner, as an unsociable neighbor and as a bookish, reserved woman whom in years she would never learn to know.

Mrs. Quentin endured Mrs. Lodely simply as a noise; a maddening noise that persisted somewhere beyond the circle of her dedicated thoughts.

"Do change places with me," urged Mrs. Lodely for the third time. "You ought to be relaxing comfortably after not sleeping at all for two nights."

"Thank you, but I would rather not move," refused Mrs. Quentin, also for the third time. "I can see Lionel's window from here and as soon as the nurse draws up the blind it will mean he is awake and wanting me and I must run in. If you will excuse me."

Mrs. Lodely muttered sympathetically and lit another cigarette. She wished she could remember that this was a house lying under the shadow of death, but Lionel Quentin had been so many months dying and the disaster of the firm's Can't see telegram, tomorrow, arouses Mrs. Lodely's curiosity.

JUST ONE OF MANY HAPPENINGS IN EVERY DAY LIFE OF "ARMY" OFFICER IN MEETING PUBLIC

"Say, Mister, is this the Salvation Army Ha? I gotta fellow who sure going to freeze to death unless you can take him. Are you the captain of this Army around here?"

"Yes," said the captain, "what can we do for you and where's your man you're talking about?"

"Why, he's right here; says he's 81 years, got no money and no folks but he's trying to get down to Shreveport, La., where he just located a sister-in-law who will help him through the winter if he can just get there. She told him she had no money she could send but she'd give him shelter for the winter and something to eat to keep him from starving to death, and let him die a natural one."

"Well," says the captain, "had anything to eat today? Come right in; we'll fix you up something warm and we'll put a mattress right down here in this warm floor—that's the best we can do and you can have a good night's rest."

To make a long story short—the man who brought the old gentleman to the Army hall was a citizen of this town and the man who had no place to go was the old man without a cent and hungry. The Salvation Army officer took him in, registered his name, looked into the records of the applicant, and found him once to have been a very prosperous man in his day in a town in Oklahoma and had owned land and a house in Texas. Had been in business, raised a large family, had at one time held a teacher's license of Texas and Oklahoma, had given liberally to all civic and charitable organizations when he was financially able, but—sickness came along, wiped out his family one by one. His property and ready cash began to dwindle down and finally went to nothing. He became destitute—no money, no home, no people, but a sister-in-law by marriage who herself is old now and is dividing her little home so he can just die natural, as she put it. This old man was not a bun or a tramp as is termed, but an unfortunate, a man who had given his younger days to the betterment of his community. Conditions changed, life changed and the old man found he had no home. What was he to do. The thing that thousands upon thousands are doing today—that is, trying to hang on to life, find encouragement, a warm place to sleep, enough food to keep from starving—just struggling along, having faith in people and hope for a better day.

At 5:30 o'clock the next morning the Army officer was plodding along carrying an old suit case in one hand leading an old man with another, taking him to the depot where they had promised to see that

DeLuxe Damaged Little by Blaze

Little damage resulted from a fire which broke out in the boiler room at the DeLuxe Cleaners yesterday afternoon. The fire was first noticed by Fire Chief Clyde Gold who was standing in the doorway at the fire station.

He called some of the members of the department and they took the Ford chemical truck to the scene and had almost reached the fire before it was discovered by others. The boiler room is separate from the main building and there was no possible chance of the fire spreading.

SON IS NAMED
John Henry is the name given to the 7-pound son born this week to Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Dunaway.

"he gets a ride."

"Say," said the old man, "I tried to pick up a ride on the highway, but they were just-a-going so fast they could not see my white hair and that I was too old to kill 'em for their car or money, and when they'd get passed then it just was a bit too late, and you know I've had to walk most all the way, folks air just naturally scared to death of so much knocking-in-the-head going on. I'm glad I made this house O' God though, cause God He always cares for ye if ye'll just let him. You see I know'd I'd fros plum to death if that man in town of yours had not brought me here, and I ust give to the Army and all the others needing it in the days for the depression came along, and now ye are caring for me and know God shore is going to bless you for this night's lodging ye gave me and totting my suitcase down here in the cold for old man like I am and tottering along. I just might have slipped down and broke a leg or arm and then I could not have gone on to Shreveport for the winter. See, my sister-in-law hasn't any money but she has a shelter for me and some chickens and a cow and has put up some fruit and vegetables and then it's not so cold down there so long at a time and walking is the only way I have of getting there. I'm no bun or tramp, just an old man and no place to go and no money to live on. I want's had a son something like you and he was a good boy too and I know he'd be mighty glad to know ye took his old pappy in and kept him for the night. I guess them folks in heaven do know what the Army is doing here, cause its part of Heaven itself. The record of this man is on file in the Salvation Army offices. There are many like it.

Fifty-four unemployed men started shoveling snow off city streets and cleaning drain ditches this morning as part of the federal relief program in Pampa. They will be paid in cash and grocery slips Saturday, as also will men who worked the first three days of the week.

The work is being done in anticipation of the melting of the snow. The men were placed through Charlie Mullen, who is in charge of unemployment relief.

Snowy Weather Slows Up Work In Oil Fields

Activities in the oilfields have been slowed considerably because of the weather, companies report. It has been found almost impossible to keep belts on wheels in pumping wells and also on drilling wells, of which there are 15 active ones in this county.

Pipe line companies are encountering difficulty with flow lines paraffining. Many water lines froze and some broke, necessitating digging up considerable lengths of pipe.

Roads through the field are still in fair condition and trucks and cars are not encountering much difficulty. However, should a wind come up, traffic would probably be at a standstill throughout the field.

Gasoline and carbon plants are operating without difficulty.

The Rev. N. B. Moon of Miami was admitted to Worley hospital for treatment yesterday afternoon. He was brought to the hospital in a Stephenson ambulance.

Years of experience enabled postmaster Martin to tell whether a child's letter contains its own thoughts, or has been dictated by parents.

Santa Claus, Ind., gained worldwide fame less than ten years ago. It all started when a California stamp collector suggested to postmaster Martin, who has been on the job thirty years, that the name of the village be changed from the one word "Santa Claus" to "Santa Claus." The place is almost 90 years old.

Last year, so much mail was sent here for re-mailing that a movement was started in Washington to rename the postoffice. So many protests were made, however, with newspapers writing editorials about it and people writing letters, that the effort was abandoned.

Santa Claus still is on the map.

COMMUNITY'S TREE PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

MRS. R. S. LAWRENCE WILL TAKE ROLE IN PLAYLET

Mrs. R. S. Lawrence will take the role of the mother and Doris Lane and Ernest Cella, the children, in the community Christmas tree program the evening of Dec. 23 in the city auditorium. The story of the nativity is to be told.

Practically every organization in Pampa is cooperating in an attempt to provide gifts for at least 500 of the less fortunate children. In the Welfare Board office already is a big box containing about 20 attractive new toys, gifts of the Twentieth Century Culture club. Another box contains dolls, some of them having provided many hours of fun for other Pampa children. With the aid of a paint brush and a few scraps of material to make clothing, these dolls may be transformed into tops which will be cherished by the needy children.

Parents wishing their children to be remembered with gifts are requested to secure tickets from the Welfare Board as soon as possible.

OIL-GAS--

mission should be fair to all. It is the duty of the body to do justice in all decisions, but it wouldn't be justice if a decision were rendered that would close the gasoline plants of the Borger field.

"Fernicious legislation seems to be the continuous foe of this community. We have to be on constant guard against it. If it isn't the carbon black industry it is the oil or gas industry that is fighting proposed legislation that might bring about its annihilation in this state. The fate of Borger lies in the hands of diverse governmental organizations that might bring about this community's doom. Annihilation of the industry in this section would mean near-annihilation of Borger. That's why we must be constantly on the alert to do everything possible to prevent legislation that would tend to annihilate local industry." Members of the local office of the Railroad commission say that their plan is for the protection of the existing gasoline and carbon black manufacturer, as well as others. It would preserve the field and extend its life many years. It would give the manufacturer gas he is not now getting and would in no way prove a detriment. An excess of gas is being taken from one section and little from another, whereas a unit plan would regulate the flow but not decrease it in any way. It would also provide an outlet for sour gas for carbon black manufacture. None of the present legitimate production will be curtailed and more connections will be available through either plan.

Excellent cooperation to date was reported by Mrs. Rainey. In discussing the work, Treasurer J. O. Gillham said, "the Salvation Army program should appeal to every citizen. Unless one has taken pains to investigate, he is likely to get the wrong idea about the work of this great organization, whose motto is a stirring challenge to every individual. This motto, 'Others,' hardly needs comment. 'The Salvation Army program for the betterment of mankind through a more wholesome atmosphere and its direct and effective methods of relief for physical distress, cause it to become an indispensable adjunct to our social life, and its program will, in my opinion, reward us in the future with a better, happier, and more prosperous people. Let us help others by helping the Salvation Army.'

Congressman Has Apple Red to Core

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 15. (AP)—You've heard of "red" apples and apples with "rosy cheeks," but where can anyone get an apple that's red all the way to the core? Offhand, University of Minnesota farm school professors will tell you "they know of only one place and that is on Congressman-Elect F. H. Shoemaker, farmer-laborer. Twelve years of amateur experimenting—Burbanking as he terms it—in his backyard at Appleton, Wis., where he used to live, produced a russet apple with red pulp.

DEBTS--

President Lebrun this evening that he would try to form a new government.

By The Associated Press: Nearly one hundred million dollars of war debt instalments were marked paid today in Washington. Six nations honored their obligation while five others defaulted.

In Paris, Premier Herriot, overthrown because of his desperate attempt to persuade parliament to pay the $20,000,000 due the United States, refused to form a new ministry. With the internal crisis, passing of the payment day went almost unobserved there.

When London, with no ceremony, announced the transfer of $95,550,000 in gold to American credit, the populace responded with patriotic thrill to flaring headlines that "Britain pays."

Berlin reacted to the French default with newspaper declarations that France had broken the sanctity of treaties and in one instance that Germany was no longer morally bound to comply with the Versailles treaty.

TAKES NO LOSSES

WEIMAR, Dec. 15. (AP)—Hubert Heller, young farmer, has made a discovery. He has found a crop that pays right now, lowered commodity markets notwithstanding. Heller, weary of seeing the cotton and corn markets sink, decided to plant five-sixths of one acre in sorghum cane. He produced two crops, which made 250 gallons of molasses he sells at 90 cents per gallon.

The undercarriage was ripped away as they landed and the big plane plowed on for 100 yards before nosing over. The pilots and the motors of the plane were thrown clear of the wreckage. Harold English, owner of the airport, said today that he was flying in 30 miles east of the field about the same time the air liner crashed, and that he found it necessary to
