Police Have Theory That Woman Choked Pretty Blond To Death

"I know you," we said, kidding Supt. R. B. Fisher. "That's funny; I don't know myself," he countered and hung up the phone.

If Amarillo will agree to play Pampa on next Thanksgiving in Pampa, fans of this section will be served and Pampa's finances will be greatly enhanced. Will Amarillo be generous enough to share this date with us? We ask you, AND AMARILLO.

"WASN'T THE DEPRESSION TERRIBLE!" says Phil Pond, interrupting our reverie. "Go tell that to the West Foster group," we replied.

Sometimes we wonder why columnists run thumb-nail pictures of themselves. We had one of the things made; now we don't have the nerve to inflict it upon the public—which we hadn't intended to do, anyway.

Our friend Floyd Studer, amateurologist, has a nifty talk entitled "Testimony of the Rocks." Wonder if he got the material interviewing the political "in?"

WE'RE WAITING!
While we are waiting for a Fergusonite to show up, we might as well pass on a little information about the likelihood of a bitter Ferguson-highway commission fight in the courts. Article 5967, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, is as follows: All state officers appointed by the governor, where the mode of their removal is not otherwise provided by law, may be removed by him for good and sufficient cause, to be spread on the records of his office, and to be reported by him to the next session of the legislature. Since Cone Johnson's term ends February 15, the Fergusonists would have only to remove one other member arbitrarily and "for cause" to have a two-thirds majority. Under these conditions, Chairman W. R. Ely, would doubtless resign.

Ferguson's suit against the highway commission may be intended to lay the predicate for a "for cause" removal of Ely, to open the battle. Friends of Ferguson believe that he will "raise heaven and earth" to get control of the state highway commission. Memories of Jim's commissions in the past will lead many prominent Texans to fight him to the well known "last ditch." Another Ferguson move is that to elect highway commissioners, rather than appoint them.

We promised a bit on the new basketball rules. Here are some statements to worry you for a day or so: The new rules make the double-referee play of officiating particularly necessary this year.

Note this rule: When a team gains possession of the ball in its own back court, that team must advance the ball over the center line within a period of 10 seconds, unless the ball, while out of control of the team, touches or is touched by an opponent. In the latter event, a new play results and the ten-second period begins again when possession of the ball is regained in the key.

MRS. BUCHANAN HURT IN FIGHT BETWEEN GUESTS

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP)—Trying to reconstruct the death scene in the apartment where Mrs. Leona Smiley Buchanan, slender and pretty 28-year-old blond, was throttled, the police today evolved a theory that she was the victim of another woman.

They held that no man would have taken time to write a camouflage note and repair it with a pin after having torn it. The note, "so you don't love me, eh?" was printed in block letters on the back of a laundry slip. The note had been placed carefully on a dresser and weighed with a pair of celluloid dice.

The police said they found a bottle which had contained whiskey, two glasses and a cigarette tray with the burned stubs of several cigarettes alongside the bed in Mrs. Buchanan's apartment. Nearby lay the nude and bruised body of the

National Guard to Fight Fund Slash

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP)—Pinch hitters of the national guard with blood in their eyes hurried to Washington today to staff off, if possible, a threatened cut of approximately one-half in militia drill appropriations.

Ready to go to bat, a score or more members of the national guard association were en route with the president—Brigadier General Claude V. Birkhead, of San Antonio, Texas—and others already here, primed with what they consider potent arguments.

Nearly 180,000 officers and men in more than 3,000 communities scattered throughout the country would be affected by economy plans before the budget bureau to lop off something like $5,000,000 from the state militia funds.

U. S. DEBT HAS SHOT UP THREE BILLION IN YEAR

Deficit at End of 5 Months This Year Is Enormous

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP)—The government ended five months of its 1933 fiscal year on November 30 with a deficit of $751,311,422 and a gross public debt of $20,806,013,836.

The gross debt had increased more than $3,000,000,000 since November 30, 1931, when it amounted to $17,310,026,954.

The debt compared with a pre-war debt on March 31, 1917, of $1,282,044,346 and the peak war debt on August 31, 1919, of $26,596,701,648.

During the five months of the present year the government has collected from all sources $680,894,115 and has spent $1,432,205,593.

The new taxes levied in the billion dollar tax bill have caused miscellaneous internal revenue to increase approximately $73,000,000 over last year, bringing in a total of $314,320,195.

The actual gain in these taxes, however, was offset by a drop of $155,000,000 in income taxes collected in five months of their year as compared to the same period a year ago.

America Got Jump on Europe Despite Intrigue and Jealousy.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP)—Announcement that an American company had solved the problem of building super-planes capable of passenger service between the hemispheres has brought into the open a long smouldering international struggle for world supremacy in the air.

Incident to the announcement of the proposed monsters of the ocean air lanes, it was learned today that the preliminary groundwork was carried on with every safeguard of secrecy, and yet all the cautious mystery has not prevented happenings suggestive of sinister international intrigue.

For years the struggle to determine which nation would eventually rule the realm above the clouds has gone steadily forward.

The British have extended airlines to Karachi and to Cape Town, the French to India, the Dutch to Batavia, the Russians to Kamchatka, Germany the pioneer in South America, has in operation the nucleus of a service across China. Pan American Airways has perfected a service linking the three Americas.

Every one of these great air services has in effect been but a determined step toward an eventual link-

GREGG'S SANITY ISSUE BEFORE BANKER'S JURY

DEFENDANT CLAIMS HE WAS VICTIM OF MALADY

INSANITY IS QUESTION

GOVERNMENT SAYS HE WAS CONSCIOUS OF WRONG-DOING

HOUSTON, Dec. 2. (AP)—A federal court jury today convicted John Gregg, president of the defunct Merchants' National bank at Brownsville, on all 12 counts of an indictment charging widespread violation of the national banking laws. Judge J. C. Wilson said sentence would be passed at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

HOUSTON, Dec. 2. (AP)—The case of John Gregg, accused of conspiracy to misapply $250,000 in funds of the defunct Merchants' National bank of Brownsville, went to the jury in federal court at 10:35 a. m. today.

Judge J. C. Wilson delivered an oral charge, telling the jurors the important question of fact was as to whether or not the former bank president was sane, as the government contended, or insane as the defense contended, at the time of his alleged offenses against the banking law.

"The defendant," said Judge Wilson, "would be regarded as insane if it were found his mind had been impaired to the extent he was incapable of understanding the nature and quality of these acts charged against him—in other words, if he did not understand they were wrong."

The 12 counts charged Gregg with entry, misapplication and conspiracy to misapply.

The Merchants National bank, which was regarded as the biggest in the lower Rio Grande valley, collapsed last March, some months after it had been consolidated with the First National bank of Brownsville.

The trial got under way last Monday.

The government witnesses pictured Gregg as an unusually shrewd and acute banker conscious of wrong doing and on one occasion having told fellow bankers:

"Well, I guess I might as well go on and serve my term and get through with it."

The defense showed a contrasting picture, describing Gregg as a man who had suffered great pain for years from a rare and incurable bone disease which finally wrecked him mentally and physically and left him incapable of fully understanding the nature of his acts.

ing of the hemispheres. And now America, ahead of all the others, has first gone beyond that step.

Lindbergh Pushed Proposal
Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan American, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, head of that company's technical staff, have announced the letting of contracts for the engineering work on two types of giant planes capable of flying the ocean air lines between America and Europe and America and Asia.

Back of this announcement lies the story of secrecy and intrigue.

Some 18 months ago Pan American sent to six manufacturers specifications for what Col. Lindbergh and his associates considered the ideal plane for trans-oceanic flight with passengers and freight. The manufacturers took one astonished look and came in to make lugubrious reports.

"It can't be done," they said. "Why not?" asked the Lindbergh staff.

"Well, it never has been done."

CONGRESS WILL PAY NO ATTENTION TO WAR DEBT NOTES OF EUROPE, GARNER PREDICTS

'May Not Be Necessary To Reply' Says Secretary Stimson.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP)—A flat prediction that congress will not act to relieve America's war debtors was made today by Speaker Garner.

At about the same time, Secretary Stimson at the White House told newspapermen it may not be necessary to reply to the latest notes from Great Britain and France asking suspension respectively of $95,550,000 and $20,000,000 due in less than two weeks.

"Congress is not going to change the situation," the democratic vice-president-elect told reporters.

"I said to Mr. Hoover, when I went down at the White House a week or so ago, that the sooner the European nations realized the United States expects to be paid the better off the whole world will be," Garner added.

"I still think that."

"They (the debtor nations) may continue to talk about it all they please, but congress won't do anything about it. We have the right."

REFUSAL WOULD MAKE FOR 'MORE CHAOS AND MISERY'

PARIS, Dec. 2. (AP)—The second French note requesting postponement of the war debt payment due the United States in December noted with satisfaction today that President Hoover was disposed to recommend to congress a new examination of the debt question as a whole.

The French text of the note which had previously been sent to Washington was made public shortly after noon today and renewed the request for suspension of the $20,000,000 in interest.

In closing the document says that:

Outlets For Oil In Panhandle Are Hard to Obtain

It is becoming increasingly hard to secure outlets for oil in the Panhandle field, according to local officials of the oil and gas division of the Texas Railroad commission.

Regardless of the laws and rules made by the commission, it is impossible to make purchasers take oil when they cannot dispose of it.

The ratable taking plan to curtail production and cut waste has not been completed in every detail, but is nearing a final solution.

Pipeline companies cannot take new production because of an over supply, and they cannot afford to spend thousands of dollars putting in connections and out waste production that they do not need, they announced when approached to take new production.

Little harm results from new production where connections have previously been arranged, but it does cut down the allowable from other wells.

There is considerable activity in the field, with Gray county in the lead with more than 15 drilling locations.

LONG TERM OF COURT ENDS IN ANOTHER WEEK

Two-Week Session of 114th Court To Open Monday

Business of local courts will draw to an end next week, except for the opening of the 114th district court Monday for a 2-week, non-jury term.

It will be non-jury week for the last week of the 31st district court, but default judgments will be taken, probably several pleas of guilty heard, and the grand jury will meet to consider a case or two and write its report.

A presiding judge must be elected by the bar for the 114th district court because of the illness of Judge Clifford Braly. A light docket will be opened.

With County Attorney Sherman White giving his time to the suit of Alex Smith against Gray county in 31st district court, Judge S. D. Stennis' county court is considering civil suits and judgments. The jury list for the third and last week of county court opening Monday is as follows:

Jim Dale; Alannred; W. M. Fulton; Alannred; Ennis Jones; Laketon; C. G. Hill; Alannred; F. J. Prescans; Miami; J. E. Anderson; LeFors; H. G. Blake; LeFors; G. T. McLean; LeFors; F. R. ### HINDENBURG ASKS 'MYSTERY MAN' TO FORM NEW CABINET

Von Schleicher, Army Head, Named Chancellor of German Republic.

BERLIN, Dec. 2. (AP)—President von Hindenburg today asked General Kurt von Schleicher, "mystery man" in German politics and at present the defense minister, to form a cabinet for the republic.

General von Schleicher has been regarded as the almost certain choice for the chancellorship ever since Chancellor Franz von Papen's junker government stepped out after last month's election.

The general was summoned to the president's study this morning, and after a conference he walked out with a mandate to form a government.

If successful, he was commissioned to occupy the chancellorship himself, instead of the defense ministry he held during von Papen's tenure of government by decree.

In the von Papen cabinet, however, General von Schleicher was looked upon as the power behind the government in his "key" ministry.

SANTA GOES REALISTIC!

Realism, according to the merchants, is the dominant note in Christmas toys this year.

No matter what you buy for your youngster, you can get a pretty exact copy of something that is in daily use in the grown-up world.

If you are buying for your little daughter, you can buy a diminutive electric stove on which she can really cook diminutive meals; or you can buy a doll's house with all the modern equipment of a regular home, or a doll which wears genuine Paris frocks, not to mention beach pajamas and bathing suits.

If you are buying for a boy, you can get a miniature railroad which differs from the kind you yourself ride on only in that it is smaller; you can buy a structural steel set with which a member of the iron worker's union could feel perfectly at home, or a toy store outfit which has a sure enough cash register and a shelfful of perfectly edible canned goods.

All of these things, of course, are fit to make childhood's heart thump madly, and the child who gets a satisfactory assortment of such possessions is a lucky youngster indeed. But to some of us, who grew up in a time when children's playthings were not half so elaborate, this layout seems almost too good to be true.

In the old days, if you were a boy and wanted a toy train, you got one crudely made out of cast iron. It had no tracks, and you pushed it by hand; and, on the whole, you were perfectly satisfied with it. Or, if you were a girl and wanted a toy stove, you got a gadget similiarly made of cast iron, and you never dreamed of really cooking anything on it. You just pretended, as your brother did when he chug-chugged his train over the carpet; and usually you were tickled to death with it.

For the power of a child's imagination is something the toy makers frequently overlook. A toy doesn't need to be a perfect copy. Childhood's make-believe can give it attributes its makers never imagined. A toy that looks imperfect in the shop window can become a direct passport to happiness when a youngster's imagination gets busy on it.

the back court. When a team has advanced the ball over the center line, this team may not return the ball to its back court until:

- 1. A try for goal has been made; or
2. A jump ball at center or elsewhere has taken place; or
3. An out-of-bounds award has been made; or
4. The ball has been recovered from the possession of opponents.

When a team gains possession of the ball in its front court as a result of 1, 2, 3, or 4, above, it may cause the ball to go back over the center line only once. The penalty for breaking this rule is loss of the ball out of bounds.

Another rule provides that a player shall not "withhold the ball from play for more than 3 seconds while standing in his free throw line with his back to the basket." Bouncing the ball in such a position is "withholding the ball from play."

"One thousand and one," said by the referee to himself, constitutes a second under the rules.

AVOID THE DANGER OF CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Overcomes This Condition Safely and Pleasantly

The first signs of constipation may be headaches, tired feelings, sallow complexion, sleeplessness, loss of appetite. If neglected, constipation may seriously impair health.

Today, you can banish constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action similar to leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, and gently clears out the intestinal wastes.

Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of common constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appealing recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Lions Attend to Routine Business

Routine business was transacted by Pampa Lions at their luncheon yesterday, with consideration of feeding the less fortunate children as the main discussion.

Principal J. A. Meek of Baker school reported that the demand was growing, but that public donations, added to help given by the civic clubs, had enabled the cafeterias to keep going.

The meeting will be a review of the past gatherings with interesting talks by men prominent in scouting. Troop sponsorship will be discussed and members of all troop committees in this section are urged to attend.

The Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the Adobe Walls council, will talk on the duties of the sponsor institution and the great honor, Chris Martin will discuss the duties of the troop committee, outlining their responsibility and the need of visiting their troops.

F. E. Smith, scoutmaster of the training school, will speak on the duties of the scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster with the necessary qualifications. The Rev. James Todd, Jr., chairman of the council and city court of honor, will explain the board or review and court of honor work.

Recognition will be given those who attended the four meetings.

Planters To Be Banquet Guests

Members of the Woodrow Wilson Planters football team will be guests of the pep squad at a banquet in the first grade room at Woodrow Wilson school Thursday afternoon between 5 and 6 p. m.

The banquet will be served on the small tables and there will be a short program. The pep squad is well organized and follows the team to all games.

A regular schedule between teams of the four ward schools will be started within the next two weeks.

PLEA—

The reception which will be given the request is awaited with confidence by the French government, which realizes all of the consequences which the decision of the president of the United States may have for improving or making worse the tragic situation resulting from the world war.

As for the recommendations of the American president, which was contained in his original reply to the French request for postponement, the communication said that from the French viewpoint this implied the president believed such a study seemed necessary.

It was added that France realizes a reduction of Europe's debts to the United States would react on the American economic situation.

WOMEN PLAN TO MAKE 500 KIDDIES HAPPY CHRISTMAS

ORGANIZATIONS OF ALL KINDS ASKED TO AID

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE IS PROJECT CONSIDERED

To make 500 children happy this Christmas season was the ambitious undertaking discussed yesterday by the women's church federation at a meeting held in the Presbyterian church annex.

It is by means of a community Christmas tree that the women hope to reach their goal. The tree will be held Saturday morning, Dec. 24 at 10 o'clock, the place to be announced later.

Cooperation of all types of organizations—civic clubs, study clubs, Sunday school organizations, and particularly missionary societies and auxiliaries—is requested, and all who will agree to aid are asked to notify Mrs. W. H. Davis, manager of the Welfare Board. The organizations may also submit lists of boys and girls they wish to have gifts from the tree. The Salvation Army has volunteered to assist.

Mrs. Davis, acting chairman, presided at the meeting. She stated that she had counted 500 children ranging in age from infancy to the age of 15 years, each of whom should be remembered with a toy or other gift.

Mrs. L. H. Sullins and Mrs. George Walstead were asked to make inquiries regarding cost and amount of trolley necessary to make stocks for fruit, candy, and nuts, and Mrs. Siler Faulkner was asked to interview the American Legion regarding a suitable tree.

Delegates to the federation not able to attend sent substitutes, these substitutes being Mrs. Dave Pope of the Presbyterian, Mrs. George Walstead of the Methodist, Mrs. L. H. Sullins of the Catholic, Mrs. W. D. Benton of the First Baptist, Mrs. C. G. Gold of the Episcopal, and Mrs. L. C. Walters of the Church of Christ.

Another meeting will be held Dec. 9 at 3 o'clock in the Presbyterian annex.

"Remember Poor Children," Plead Kiddies in Santa Letters; Some Suggest Prices for Their Gifts

Business conditions of the last two years have meant lessons for the kiddies as well as for grown-ups. Even their Santa Claus letters show that they are money-conscious. Some of the children specify the prices they think Santa should pay for their gifts—and scores of them add such statements as this: "And Santa, please don't forget the poor children."

Santa letters continue to arrive each day and will be printed between now and Christmas. Some of them follow:

Dear Santa Claus: How is the jolly old fellow, and how is Mrs. Santa Claus? If the snow isn't too deep, I hope you will bring me a violin that costs 75 cents and one pair of skates. But don't forget the poor people. Best wishes, JANET MILLER, Woodrow Wilson school.

Dear Santa Claus: How are you, old fellow? And how is Mrs. Santa Claus? I am a little girl in the third grade at Woodrow Wilson school, and am 9 years old. How are your reindeer? And how is the weather up at the North Pole? I have a little sister 9 months old, so please bring her a toy dog, a doll, and rattle. Please bring me a cornet and a bat and a ball. And hope you have enough toys to supply everybody. Best wishes, LOIS BENTON.

Dear Santa: I am writing you a letter for what I want for Christmas. I want a football, a policeman's outfit, and blackboard, and a truck with rubber tires. And don't forget Bernard and Stanley, please. JACK OTTERBACK, Come to 422 N. Yeager, P. S. I'm five years old.

Dear Santa: Be sure to come to Pampa. I want a cowboy suit and a watch. With love, HOMER MARTIN.

Dear Santa Claus: I read in the paper about you coming to Pampa, and I want to see you. I am 3 years old and I want a tricycle, a little car, a fiddle, and some fruit, nuts, and candy. I want an airplane, too. I will have my stocking hanging up Christmas night, and I want you to fill it up. Yours truly, BILL JEAN SMITH.

Dear Santa Claus: I am surely glad you are coming to town. I am sure that I will see you. I want a quilt, doll, high chair, bed, buggy, and plenty of fruit, nuts, and candy.

DORCAS CLASS GROUP MAKES MANY VISITS

MRS. BONNIE ROSE IS HOME HOSTESS TO MEMBERS

One hundred forty-three visits were made last month by members of the Dorcas class, First Baptist church, according to the report made at a business and social meeting yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bonnie Rose.

Other reports included the following: 37 telephone calls, 12 cards, 5 trays, 7 new members, 5 substitute teachers.

Mrs. Tom E. Rose offered her resignation as teacher, saying that other church duties made it inadvisable for her to continue teaching.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster addressed the group, games were played, and special music by Mrs. Marvin Lewis and Mrs. McKeicher was enjoyed.

Cherry pie topped with whipped cream was served with coffee by the four hostesses, Mesdames R. E. Lentz, McKeicher, Bonnie Rose, and Ova White. Guests were Mesdames Marvin Lewis, O. L. Beatty, Tracy Willis, Jack Stern, H. M. Lester, I. H. Goodman, Dee Campbell, R. Emory Smith, E. C. Hazzard, L. P. Ward, W. R. Chafin, Felix J. Stalls, B. Barrett, Eunice Young, Grady Frazier, Bill Seawright, Vernon L. Dickinson, S. O. Garner, W. R. Bell, E. L. Anderson, G. C. Malone, M. P. Downs, J. Powell Wething, H. L. Groves, and Tom E. Rose.

Local War Records Are Preserved by Legion Auxiliary

A permanent record of the world war service of many Pampa families is contained in the membership files of Pampa unit of the American Legion auxiliary, according to Mrs. L. M. Spicer, unit secretary.

Spicer is adding additional records by the names of auxiliary members who are being enrolled for 1933. The application form of every member lists the war service of members of her family and becomes a permanent part of the auxiliary records.

"The auxiliary membership records will become of increasing value as the world war recedes further into history, the secretary pointed out. They very probably will be used by descendants of world war veterans to establish eligibility for honorary organizations based on war service. They also will provide a wealth of detailed information for historians and biographers of the future."

Women who are members of the auxiliary run no risk of losing official record of their family's war service. In addition to the record kept in the files of the local unit, copies are sent to state and national headquarters of the auxiliary where they are permanently preserved.

PERSONALS

Recent Miami visitors to Pampa were Mrs. H. Russell, Mrs. E. C. Finch, Carl Lafin, and O. L. Clatterbaugh. The latter underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Archer Chesher of Miami was a Pampa visitor yesterday.

Miss Joanne Thomson of Canadiana shopped and visited friends here yesterday.

C. L. Carruth of Miami is in the city today.

Mrs. R. E. Partridge and daughter, Victoria Rader of Wichita, Kan., visited in Amarillo Thursday.

M. F. "Stormy" Jordan underwent an operation at Pampa hospital last night. He was reported doing nicely this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morrow are the parents of an 8½-pound daughter born at Pampa hospital Wednesday. Mr. Morrow is with the De Luxe cleaners.

Rev. Hyde Gives Talk at Meeting of Association

Sam Houston Parent-Teacher, association met at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the school. Rev. A. A. Hyde spoke on "Spiritual Training," said the three principal places where a child receives such training were home, Sunday school, church, and school, and that a child's spirituality was either made or marred in many cases before it entered day school.

Mrs. Irvin Cole played a piano solo, Wallehupp's "Valse Styrienne." Miss Lillian Mullinax's room presented a play, "Elf and the Shoemaker." Miss Jewel Montague's room won the prize for the most present, nine mothers, and one grandmother attending.

The book committee reported $95 in the treasury. Ninety books have been bought. The association expressed appreciation for work done by the book committee, which was headed by Mrs. V. E. Fatheree.

NEWS Is Praised for Its Publicity About Big Game

High praise for the services of the Pampa Daily NEWS in presenting daily publicity about the Fat-Lean football game which yesterday netted the American Association of University Women a substantial sum for the group's scholarship fund was given by Mrs. E. C. Will, president, and Mrs. C. E. Simmons, publicity chairman.

"It was the best publicity ever given to one of our projects and we certainly wish the public to know that we appreciate 'The NEWS,'" Mrs. Simmons said.

"We also wish every person and every organization which contributed to the success of the event to know that our organization is very, very grateful."

Association Has $100 As Result of Fat-Lean Game

More than $100 was realized by the American Association of University Women from the fat-lean ball game yesterday afternoon at Harvester park. The money will be placed in the scholarship fund, will be used at the close of school for giving a college scholarship to some worthy girl receiving her high school certificate.

Plans are being made for three dances, this money also to be placed in the scholarship fund. The first one will be a Christmas dance Dec. 29 at the Schneider hotel. The next regular meeting will be on Dec. 15, and bulletins for the meeting will be ready about Dec. 12.

Members of the association expressed hearty appreciation for the support given them in sponsoring the ball game.

God as Creator Will Be Studied By Church Group

"God the Only Cause and Creator" will be the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, December 4.

The Golden Text is from Psalm 75: "Unto thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks; for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare."

Included with other passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from Matthew 8: "And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever. And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them. When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils; and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick."

The lesson-sermon will also include citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; among these will be the following: "Christian Science brings to the body the sunlight of truth, which invigorates and purifies. Christian Science acts as an alternative, neutralizing error with truth. It changes the secretions, expels humors, dissolves tumors, relaxes rigid muscles, restores carious bones to soundness. The effect of this Science is to stir the human mind to a change of base, on which it may yield to the harmony of the divine Mind" (p. 162).

Mrs. Shill Gives Three-Table Party

Miss Ester Shill entertained with three tables of bridge Tuesday evening with Mrs. Charles Modgling and Bob Cecil winning high score.

A salad course was served to Misses Gladys Modgling, Ruth Shill, Marge Modgling, Irene Chandler, and Elen Mason; Bill Thomas, Bob Cecil, Ralph Sloan, Dr. Howse, Roy Wilmesmier, and Micky Prigmore.

GOING TO SPERMAN
Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stowell are planning to spend the week-end with relatives in Spearman.

EL PASO MAN TO SPEAK AT LOCAL CHURCH

WILL FILL PULPIT AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH ON SUNDAY

Dr. Henry Van Valkenburgh of El Paso, and former pastor of the First Methodist church of that city, will fill the pulpit of the First Christian church Sunday at 11 a. m. Dr. Van Valkenburgh is a recognized preacher and platform speaker of ability, with wide experience, and a special student of social problems, being a member of the National Social Science Honor society of Phi Gamma Mu. He is now lecturing as a specialist on the subject of the prohibition question. He thinks logically, respecting the opinions of those who differ with him.

His subject at the preaching hour will be "God's Hour in American History."

PROMISING PAMPA CAGERS TO PLAY BRONCHOS TO NIGHT

VETERANS OF 2 CLUBS ASSURE SWIFT BATTLE

GIRLS TO PLAY WHITE DEER IN SECOND ENCOUNTER

The first basketball game of the 1932 season will be played at the high school gymnasium tonight, starting at 7:30 o'clock. The opening game will be between the Harvesters and the Clarendon Bronchos. The second game, one hour later, will see the girls' teams from Pampa high and White Deer.

Both Pampa and Clarendon will take the floor with veteran teams and although it is early in the season, the game should be one of the best. The Harvesters have five veterans back this season and they have been working for the past two weeks without a break.

They are not hitting the basket with mid-season regularity but have showed enough to promise fans plenty of points during the season. They are playing a new formation to meet the changes in the rules and the game will be much faster than in past years. One of the changes that will speed the game reads that the team with the ball must advance it past the center of the court within 10 seconds or lose possession of the ball. A black line now divides the court in half.

The rule will do away with stalling. The old rule called "legal blocking" but which had little meaning is called "seizing" under the new ruling and allows an offensive player to cut an opponent off from the player with the ball so long as he doesn't touch his opponent.

The probable starting line-up will be Woodward and Marbaugh, forward, Fullinm, center, W. Kelley and Patton, guards.

Coach Harry Kelley has not selected his starting line-up.

PITTSBURGH IS GIVEN BID FOR GAME IN ROSE BOWL

PANTHERS AFFORDED OPPORTUNITY TO GET REVENGE

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2. (AP)—Pittsburgh's great football team has been given its chance for revenge.

With startling suddenness came the announcement that the Panthers, unbeaten in 10 games but twice tied, had accepted the University of Southern California's invitation to play in the eighth annual Rose tournament game at Pasadena, Jan. 2.

It was an opportunity for Coach Jock Sutherland's eleven to atone for the most decisive defeat ever written into the annals of the grid war for the west, the Big Ten conference was about to amend its anti-post season rule to give the unbeaten and untied Wolverines a chance to accept the invitation Southern California was willing to tender.

As champions of the Pacific Coast conference, the Trojans officially were invited three days ago. Pittsburgh was given the invitation over undefeated and unscored on Colgate on the basis of its showing through a rugged schedule which the Trojans play outstanding teams from coast to coast.

In a statement following a meeting of the Southern California athletic board of control, Willis O. Hunter, athletic director, said: "Recognizing that there were several outstanding teams to be considered, the Trojan officials were motivated in their choice by the extremely difficult and representative schedule that the Pittsburgh team has so successfully completed this season."

Hunter admitted that Colgate's Red Raiders were given serious consideration.

The appearance of Pittsburgh will be its third in Rose tournament play and the fourth on the West Coast. With Glenn (Pop) Warner the coach, the Panthers came west in 1922 and decisively beat Stanford. Six years later Stanford invited Pitt to play in the Rose Bowl and the former eleven won 7 to 6. Again in 1930 the Trojans extended the invitation, with the invaders losing 47 to 14 because of Coach Howard Jones' team's superb passing attack.

Southern California has defended the West three times with uninterrupted success. The Trojans beat Penn State, 14 to 3, in 1922. The second game saw the defeat of Pitt and last New Year's day Tulane was turned back, 21 to 12.

Scientists Think They Have Found Athletic Vitamin

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP)—Proof that there is an athletic vitamin is announced by two English scientists, H. Munro, and G. Pugh Smith, of the University of Birmingham.

They took the muscles of frogs that were reared on the standard diet and caused them to take artificial exercise by attaching electric wires to the nerves, thereby stimulating the muscles to contract and relax in regular athletic fashion.

Next they fed these fatigued muscles to the larvae of blow flies. To other larvae they fed "rested" frog muscles. The larvae which ate the "exercised" muscles grew larger than their brothers. The average excess weight was 9 per cent.

"Muscular exercise," says the report explaining in nature, the British Science Journal, what probably happens, "results in development of the muscles concerned, and it influences other parts of the body. A metabolic product of muscular activity is probably responsible for the increased muscle size, and it is possible that such a hormone may circulate in the blood and stimulate other organs."

Estes Scents Plot To Wreck Stability Of Oil Industry

TYLER, Dec. 2. (AP)—Carl L. Estes, publisher of the Tyler Courier-Times and the Tyler Morning Telegraph, today sent a telegram to James V. Alfred, state attorney general, charging that two oil companies were engaged in a conspiracy "to wreck the stability of the oil industry for selfish purposes in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas."

Mr. Estes named the companies in his telegram to Mr. Alfred, asserting he was convinced of the conspiracy "beyond question of doubt" after "five weeks of intensive investigation."

"We stand ready to give you several nice leads and otherwise render every possible co-operation in a thorough investigation which I request that you launch at once in the interest of the masses of the people of this state," said the Estes telegram to Alfred.

"The interests of Texas' great army of school children, whose education is made possible in large part by funds derived from oil and allied industries, if nothing more, is sufficient for you to thoroughly probe to the bottom the action of these two huge oil companies since Oct. 14."

PATTON NEW GRID CAPTAIN

Harvester End Will Pilot 1933 Team; Voting Is Spirited.

Jess Patton, star end on the Harvester football team this season, will captain the green and gold clad team during the 1933 football season. Players eligible to vote on the 1933 leader met last night and after a spirited evening voted Patton into the captaincy.

Other members receiving votes were Dick Sullins, Miles Marbaugh, Orville Heiskell and Hoot Fullinm.

Patton has been a popular member of the team for the past two years. He played nearly every minute during the season just past. He is a fighter and a leader and the team could not be under a more popular and capable player next year. Jess has two more years of football. He is on the mention list of all-conference end along with Wayne Kesley who played the other end position.

ALL SOUTHWEST MYTHICAL TEAM SHOWS 7 FROGS

THREE POSITIONS GO TO LONGHORNS AND ONE TO BAYLOR

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer. DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP)—Picked through the Associated Press annual consensus by twenty-three conference sports editors and writers, this year's authoritative summary of the outstanding Southwest conference football players perhaps is the most unusual in conference history.

Only three teams furnished the composite team, and to put the Texas Christian university of Fort Worth, 1932 conference champion

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP)—The All-Southwest conference football team as selected for the Associated Press by twenty-three conference sports editors and writers, each a close observer of this year's championship race and of its players, follows:

and unbeaten for the season, contributed 7 of the 11 choices.

It was a landslide for the "line of lines," that Texas Christian forward wall that averages 200 pounds to the man and 6 feet 1 inch in height. It was the consensus that the Texas Christian line was going to carry the composite election from the start. Only two backs were close. J. W. Townsend, Texas Christian center, had to put on a burst of speed to nose out Willis Nolan of the Texas A. & M. Aggies. Townsend finished five points in front. "Cheese" Cook of the University of Texas gave Lon Evans of Texas Christian a hard fight for a guard position, but Evans led from the start and finished four votes in front. All other positions on the mythical selection were practically monopolized by such stars as Ben Boswell, Johnny Vaught, Foster Howell, Madison Pruitt, Blannard Spearman, Bohn Hilliard, Harrison Stafford, and Ernest Koy.

Richard "Red" Oliver, Texas Christian halfback, who scored more touchdowns than any other Texas Christian back and who was second in conference scoring, received only seven votes for a backfield position.

Harrison Stafford, Bohn Hilliard, Ernest Koy, and Blannard Spearman made a complete run-away of the backfield race. McCaulley of Rice, even more popular in the votes than Oliver of Texas Christian were the only other backs getting as many as two votes.

Frank James, Baylor's elongated 190-pound wing who ranks as one of the best punters in the conference along with being a fine defensive and offensive player, easily won from all opposition for the left end job. James played star football all season on a weak Baylor team. Madison Pruitt, veteran wingman for Texas Christian, was even more popular in the votes than James for the right end job. Pruitt is mainly a defensive end, but ranks above any other in the conference.

Vaught All-American Prospect.

There was never any doubt but that Captain Johnny Vaught of Texas Christian would gain a guard position. Alert, smart, aggressive, he is in reality an all-American candidate.

Harrison Stafford of the conference's greatest bid for an all-American backfield position, had no competition for right halfback. This mighty man in the University of Texas backfield who can do everything, but is a master at blocking, running and interference, leading the leather and catching passes, led the entire field in popular votes.

Bohn Hilliard, the elusive broken field runner of the University of Texas who made a number of long runs this season for touchdowns, had no trouble winning the other halfback position. Hilliard's chief stock in trade is carrying the ball, but he is also one of the best punters in the conference.

The fullback position belonged to Ernest Koy, University of Texas fullback, from the very start. Koy, line runner, passer, and blocker, ranks as one of the greatest of many great conference fullbacks.

American Makes Debut at Opera

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP)—Richard Bonelli, American-born baritone, who might have been a mechanical engineer, will appear at the Metropolitan opera house for the first time tonight in Verdi's "La Traviata." The deep-throated baritone, whose birthplace was Port Byron, N. Y., will sing the role of Vicario Germont.

Bonelli is one of five additional ballie singers engaged by the Metropolitan for the 1932-33 season.

Bonelli studied music and attained notice in Europe, singing at the Monte Carlo opera house, in Italy, Germany, France and later in Havana, Cuba. In 1925 he went to the Chicago Civic Opera company.

FATS AND LEANS BUBBLE AND CREAK TO TIE IN CRAZY TILT

Football As She Is Played By Experts Convulses Large Crowd.

By IGNATZ IGGINBOTTOM.

It's all over as far as the fans are concerned, but how about the brave and fearless Tains and Fats who battled for the cause of the A. A. U. W. scholarship fund on Harvester park yesterday afternoon to a 13 to 13 tie?

There were sore heads, sore arms, sore shoulders, sore legs, etc., this morning but everyone was happy. More than 400 enthusiastic fans followed the G. C. Malone ambulance carrying players to the field after a parade through the business section with the high school band and pep squad leading. The pep squad was divided into two sections, one for the Fats, leading a nice little red porker, and one for the leans, with a great big billy goat. The band also divided for the occasion and the band and pep squads put on displays at the half.

There were many surprised faces in the audience when they saw C. P. Buckler, Lynn Boyd, DeLea Vicars, Marshall Oden, C. A. Clark, Neal Bean, Aaron Meek, and a few others in uniform, cavorting around the field like a bunch of youngsters, punting, passing, and even drop kicking.

And then the line-up, after the Fats had been presented with a fine burro. On the Fat backfield were H. Otto Studer, calling signals, L. L. Sone, Dub Williams, and John Hessey while the opposing backfield was composed of Dr. H. H. Hicks, quarterback; Lynn Boyd, C. P. Buckler, and S. A. Burns.

Poor Stomach.

The Fats kicked off to the Leans and Hicks returned the ball to mid-field before being brought down by Studer. On the first play Boyd landed in the middle of Hoare's anatomy and was blown for a loss. Buckler than tore through the line for a long gain when the Leans opened a big hole in the Fat forward wall. Big Aaron Meek knifed through to slam Buckler for a loss but Hicks picked up 15 yards when the Lean forward wall opened another gaping hole. The Fats couldn't get close to the ground and the little fellows sifted under and up, with the result a nice hole for the backs to go through. Two more

National Corn Husking Contest Is Shown in Daily NEWSreel Here

The 9th Annual National Corn Husking contest, better known as the Corn Belt Derby, staged in Henry county, Ill., to determine the country's most expert shucker and heaver of corn from the growing stalk to the waiting wagon, is shown in all its exciting phases in the current issue of the Pampa Daily NEWS-Universal Newsreel. Graham McNamee, ace of radio announcers and the screen's Talking Reporter, details the spirited competition and presents the winner, Carl Seler of Knox county, Ill., to the screen public at La Nora theater.

Nine states are represented in the mid-west farm Olympics. Each man has six long rows of standing corn to pick and husk. At the height of the contest, the men attain the remarkable speed of 45 ears a minute. Seler, a south-paw "hook" husker, rolls up a total of 36.89 bushels in 90 a new world's title. Fifty thousand spectators see the race, large galleries following each contest. The event is the outstanding efficiency dreds of shore-front homes and flood entire villages. Highlights of the Notre Dame-Northwestern football game and the Yale-Princeton battle, including the sensational 98-yard run by Melinkovich on the opening kick-off for Notre Dame's first touchdown, and the brilliant plays by Lassone of Yale and Kadlec of Princeton that resulted in the 7-7 score, are shown. The final hunger march and demonstration in London; an impressive children's ceremony in Japan; Saquiel Insull, Jr., besieged by reporters upon his arrival in Chicago; the departure by airplane of Princess Ingrid of Sweden after her significant visit to England; and views of New Jersey's famous tin elephant, a huge beach resort curiosity now celebrating its 50th anniversary, make worth-while additions to the reel.

Local Group To Attend Session Of Methodists

Mrs. Joe Shelton, Mrs. Horace McBee, Mrs. C. A. Long, and Mrs. H. T. Whigham will leave tomorrow morning for Memphis, where they will attend a district meeting of Methodist Women's Missionary societies.

Mrs. McBee will take part on the program, giving an illustrated lecture on "Korea, the Land of the Dawn," a book studied by the local society. A good conference report will be given by the local women.

Among prominent women attending will be Mrs. Nat G. Rollins of Abilene, president of the North-west Texas conference.

FATS-LEANS--

line plunges put the ball on the Fat 15-yard line but Dr. R. M. Johnson, Fat end, recovered a fumble and the Fats went into action.

On a fake pass Studer waddled the ball to the 40-yard line before brought down by the speedy Boyd at safety. Williams then rolled more yardage and Sone and Hesse followed with steam roller drives. The big fellows were skirting the ends instead of trying to go thru the Thin forward line. The Leans finally held and the ball went over. Both sides punted and tried passes but the quarter ended without a score. Captain Dan McGrew of the Fats sent in several substitutes for the second quarter, including J. O. Gillham, George Limerick, and Russ Acklam, and on the first play, C. A. Clark, 275-pound guard, who had played a whale of a game, recovered a fumble and raced 30 yards for a touchdown. Sone added the extra point by faking a place kick and then running the end like a jackrabbit.

Leg Saved Off. Thin substitutes then started a determined march and a long pass was completed to Norman. Little S. A. Burns then took the ball on his 25-yard line and raced through a bevy of Fats for a touchdown. Hicks passed for the extra point. Neither team could get anywhere during the rest of the period and Lon Blanscet's shotgun boomed out the half. A sad accident happened in the third quarter when C. P. Buckler suffered a leg injury that necessitated removal of the limb on the field. Dr. W. Purviance wielded the knife and saw and Buckler was removed in a Malone ambulance while Dr. Purviance threw the missing member on the sidelines. It learned later that the wrong leg had been amputated.

The Fats forged to the front in the third quarter when George W. Briggs, Joe Lazarus, Weldon Wilson, and Tommy White went into the affray. They started a concentrated march up the field which ended when White sprinted 20 yards for a touchdown, but failed to add the extra point.

Fisher, Jess Stalls, Robt Robertson, and Sam Fenberg were led into the affray in the last quarter by Gilmore Nunn, who relieved Hicks at quarterback, and the Thins started a spread formation off which they threw passes, bucked and finally the fleet-footed Nunn broke loose and raced 45 yards for a touchdown. He had reached the 10-yard line with Roy Bourland, star Fat end, on his heels when the sheriff's shotgun boomed forth. Bot were blown over the goal line. The extra point was never made.

Many other notables were on the field of battle. One of the Lard brothers pulled a hip loose but Odus Mitchell slipped it back into place. The coach appeared on the field as referee in basketball regalia with a pair of football shoes about five sizes too large. When he penalized a side he would put heel to toe and go five steps. Argus while Sheriff Lon L. Blanscet held Fox and Warren Moore were other members of the officiating body the watch and gun.

Scanning New Books

NEW YORK—With almost too much modesty T. E. Shaw remarks in the preface to his latest work that the twenty-eighth translation of "The Odyssey" into English is scarcely a literary event.

Because it is a literary event, and quite likely the translator knows it as well as anybody else, Mr. Shaw (alias "Lawrence of Arabia") makes it one by the premise upon which he based his work—namely, that the book is a novel and should be translated as such. And into prose, of course.

So the new translation has been made without parade of erudition, without hypocritical reverence, as a rich and alive and moving story.

That is not so simple as it sounds, quite likely a translation into verse would have been easier. Paradoxically, Shaw's is usually more poetic than most of the poetic versions, and, freed of an artificial metrical swing, it has all the more room for the broader give and take of the story and its emotional values.

Posthumous Fame
D. H. Lawrence has come into a larger fame since death than ever had before it, recent literary reasons thereof being the publication of his own letters, Catherine Carswell's "The Savage Pilgrimage" and now Lawrence's "Etruscan Places."

Very likely Lawrence's interest in the Etruscan towns and tombs flowered into a book because he felt himself one with the ancient philosophies of their builders. The frankness of their physical lives, the freedom with which they translated their emotional attitudes into the arts could scarcely fail to fascinate the author of "Lady Chatterley's Lover" and "Sons and Lovers."

A new and (in the future) indispensable biography of Mary Stuart comes from Herbert, Gorman in time to give the many who are fascinated by Elizabethan England a happy Christmas. There are dozens of points in "The Scottish Queen" deserving mention; of them one is most important.

Mr. Gorman has abjured the temptation to take a stand on the letters of the "Silver Casket," preferring to put the case for and against Mary from parallel documents out of other fields. He is frank enough to declare his "emotional" belief that Mary was innocent of Elizabeth's charges, that Elizabeth was essentially malevolent and that John Knox was a monomaniac and therefore insane. For those wishing to begin the winter with a giggle, a good many of them, there is Bruce Bairnsather's "Laughing Through the Orient." There is no more rewarding field for the practised "kicker" than the complacent East, and who shall say Bairnsfather is not a practised "kicker"?

A PATH TO PARADISE

by Coningsly DAWSON

SYNOPSIS: Defeated in their plans to put Olive to work for his wife's former husband, Dicky, Santa and Dicky remain friends. Dicky, who puts himself into the role of family friend, and although Olive coolly reminds Dicky that he has brought home work from the office, Dicky settles back in his chair and declares that he will talk with Santa until the rain stops. Olive feels himself dismissed.

Chapter 35

SANTA GETS A THRILL

IN THE library across the hall, which was little better than an alcove, Olive raised the flap of the desk and spread his papers. The earnest murmur of voices pursued him. What on earth could Santa and Dicky find to talk about?

He listened. Words were indistinguishable. Brittle laughter! Across the years the peculiar pitch of that laugh roused memories. It was Santa's hunting cry. She had invariably employed it in her flap per days when she was luring a fresh victim to the slaughter. Conversation droned again. Heavens, why be jealous? It was as much his fault as hers that she was stuck there alone with Dak.

Meanwhile Santa was experiencing a new thrill in conducting a tete-a-tete with this forbidden man. He had known her every heart-throb. It was curious to reflect that she had given herself to him to the strains of priestly music.

Now to show him courtesy bordered on liaison. Pulses of emotion were stirring. She gazed at him with wistfulness, her lips saying one thing, her brain dramatizing another.

A pause occurred.
"It is to laugh," he ventured.
"How?"
"These hands that once caressed you."

"Dicky, be sane or I'll throw you out."
He sighed sentimentally.
"So many things to remind me. You. Myself. The furniture. Only the room is different."

"My husband is different."
"Don't you ever regret, Santa?"
"Not noticeably."
"I do."

"Don't believe you. I'm not the least bit interested."
He bent forward.
"That's not true. You're having the time of your young life. If I'd been a former beau you'd be interested; whereas you and I vowed ourselves to become one flesh. We'll remain a part of each other as long as we remain above ground."

His blue eyes pierced, explored, exposed her. She could summon Olive. It seemed wiser to handle the situation without his help.

Lighting a cigarette, she became the composed young woman of fashion-plates.
"You're an idiot," she blew a puff of smoke.
"Don't I mean anything?"
"No more than last year's frock."

Flinging his hands abroad, in a superlatively foreign gesture, Dicky relaxed.
"So the rose still has thorns! You're the kind of woman who never ought to have married. I wonder whether Olive has found that out?"

"Ask him," Santa suggested.
"No, I wouldn't rob him of his pathetic faith in you. You'll do that."
"Why so certain?"

She gaped as though he were a crystal-gazer. She hadn't the least respect for any of his opinions, yet his pretensions to be able to read her fortune fascinated.

"Because you're no mystery to me, my dear."
She was startled to hear him employ that familiar form of address. It gave her the sensation that she was back in Chicago.

"You see I lived with you, quarrelled with you, loved you for a year," he continued. "It was the quarrelling that taught me so much. To pretend that we have reticences is lunacy. I know you from every angle."

"Then let's scrap reticences." She flicked her ash. "Portrait of a wife by her divorced husband! Shoot."

"I'm not vindictive." He hesitated.
"That's all right. You're going to hurt me. I don't mind if you can teach me which of my faults to avoid. I fooled myself that I gave you everything, just as I'm fooling myself that I give Olive everything. Olive's an idealist. He'll never be content with less. I may be starving him—"

"You are. If you weren't, you wouldn't have said it."
"How do you know?" She strove to keep her tone inconsequential.
"Can you bear the truth? You must have noticed last night how between me and your present husband a bond of sympathy was almost instantly established. You explained it on Olive's side when you said he was sorry for me. I fell for him for precisely the same reason. But why should we feel sorry for each other?"

"I'm not as dumb as all that," she smiled. "You've both had me for a wife."

"Quite so. If you were to remarry a hundred times, you couldn't change your personality. You've a man's brain in a woman's body. Somewhere deep in your subconsciousness you resent not having been born a man. You refuse to follow. You're uncooperative. You disguise your high-handedness by attributing unselfish motives. You're always attempting to remold your husband of the moment to the more perfect image of yourself."

"If I'm as horrid as all that, how did I attract you?"
"Ah!" He rubbed his hands. "Your feminine body conquers your masculine brain on occasions. It takes sex appeal, plays the kitten, drives men crazy. You're only disappointing to the particular man who owns you."

"Poor Dicky! You would say that."
"You think I'm decrying your values because I've lost you. On the contrary, I treasure two exquisite memories: the night you accepted me and the day you divorced me. The kindest of these was—"

"You spoke just now," she interrupted, "of wives being disappointing. It's a foolish question. You've done nothing but ill-wish me. In your opinion, from the little you've seen of Olive—"

"She lowered her voice and jerked her head in the direction of the library. "Do you consider that he's disappointed?"
"Santa!" He assumed an expression of shocked dignity.

"But you've been discussing Olive all evening. You've hinted and implied."
Olive entered.

"Hello, Dak! Thought you'd gone. It's stopped raining."
Dicky looked up mildly.
"We got into an argument. We always did. It's been quite like old times. I've been maintaining that the modern girl is unmarriageable."

Olive approached his wife.
"Here's one who isn't."
As his arm slipped about her, Santa became normal.

"Dicky's bitter."
When the door had closed behind their guest, Olive drew her into the library.
"That chap's haunted."
"Later, in bed, Santa demanded, "How haunted?"
"By you."

"Well, I think he's horrid. Keep him away from me. I'm ashamed that I was ever married to him."
"Of course you are. But I'm tired."

Kissing her, he turned his back. Having waited till he was asleep, she placed her arm about him and lay wondering whether it was true that she was the sort of woman who never ought to have married.

Next morning, partly to disguise her state of mind, partly to test Olive's tenderness, she feigned a headache.
"Darling, oughtn't I to call a doctor?"
"It's nothing, Olive."
"But heaps of diseases start with headaches."

"It's nerves, Olive. That discussion about whether I should learn typewriting and then about moving to the country didn't help matters."
"I was a brute, darling. Try some aspirin and a cold pack on your forehead."

After he'd pulled down the blinds and left for business, she sat up rumpling her hair.
"Road to heaven, you're a faker, but he still cares for you."

What a simpleton she'd been to listen to Dicky! One prophesies the thing he desires. He wanted her marriage to Olive to be a failure. It would restore his self-esteem. Olive had been right: it had been a mistake to re-cultivate a divorced husband. The day she had taken Olive she should have burned her boats behind her.

She would burn them now. Determination galvanized her. By the time Olive returned that evening, the situation which her tactlessness had created should be terminated. Having rested, she telephoned Dicky.

A carefully trained, cautiously modulated voice replied.
"Mr. Dak is engaged. Any message?"
"But I have to speak with him. Please tell him that Santa is on the wire."

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Living With People of Other Races.

Scripture Lesson: John 4:1-10; Acts 10:30-35.

5. So he cometh to a city of Samaria, called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph;

6. And Jacob's well was there, Jesus therefore, being wearied with his journey, sat thus by the well. It was about the sixth hour.

7. There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink.

8. For his disciples were gone away into the city to buy food.

9. The Samaritan woman therefore saith unto him, How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, who am a Samaritan woman? (For Jews have no dealing with Samaritans.)

10. Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water.

11. And she saith, Sir, thou hast more than four days ago, until this hour, I was keeping the ninth hour of prayer in my house; and behold, a man stood before me in bright apparel.

12. And she saith, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine alms are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

13. Send thee therefore to Joppa, and call unto thee Simon, who is surnamed Peter; he lodgeth in the house of Simon a tanner, by the sea side.

14. Forthwith therefore I sent to thee; and thou hast well done that thou art come. Now therefore we are all here present in the sight of God, to hear all things that have been commanded thee of the Lord.

15. And Peter opened his mouth, and said, of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons:

16. But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to him.

17. Gold Text: Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons.—Acts 10:34.

Introduction

"Jesus sets himself to seek every type of character and draw them to himself. Think of Nicodemus of the chapter before this, John 3:1-21, and the woman of this—hemispheres separate them."—Annie Richardson Kennedy.

"Christianity is pure democracy. It assumes that men can and will, if properly inspired and instructed, bring their lives under the sway of religious ideals, law, beatitudes."—Rev. Frank J. Goodwin.

"Since Jesus knew the Samaritan woman better than she knew herself, he broke all traditions. Prejudice fled before his approaching step."—Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, D. D.

Jesus had completed his first ministry in Judea, the first year of his ministry, and is now on his way to Galilee. He must pass through Samaria, the land of a people of mixed race. The Samaritans were descendants of the idolatrous Assyrians, sent into central Palestine by their rulers to take the place of Jews who were carried into captivity by the victorious Assyrians (2 Kings 17:24). They intermarried with the Jews, but accepted only in part the faith of the chosen people, holding in the main to their idolatrous beliefs and practices; hated of their orthodox kinspeople. As Jesus reached by Jacob's well, near Sychar, a Samaritan woman came to draw water. He went over the barriers of racial prejudices and social conventions to speak to this woman and to make request of her for a drink of water.

Jesus and the Samaritan Woman

"There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink." v. 7. One of the best ways of making friends with anyone is not to bestow a favor, but to ask one.

In this incident Jesus breaks down three walls that even his disciples were not yet willing to go over. He entered into conversation with a woman. He talked with a woman who was a sinner. Even worse from the viewpoint of a Jew, this woman was a Samaritan. Jesus took issue with the thought and conviction of his day in the place of honor and privilege he gave to womanhood; and womanhood owes nearly all that it now possesses to the gospel of Jesus Christ. Jesus on more than one occasion spoke words of hope and brought a message of forgiveness and restoration to a sinful woman. And always, by life and word, was he rebuking the sin of racial hatred.

A Foreigner Seeking Christ

Much light is thrown on our subject by the familiar story of how Peter, the strict Jew, and Cornelius, the Roman centurion, the first in Joppa and the second at a distance in Caesarea, both received divine communications which brought them together, and led to the conversion of the centurion and all his household. Peter's vision of the great sheet let down from heaven, full of all sorts of creatures, some allowed for eating by Jewish laws and some forbidden, is a picture (like the "melting-pot") of the many races and nationalities peopling our country.

When the strict Jew, Peter, protested that nothing unlawful, "common and unclean," had ever passed his lips, said, "What God hath cleansed, make not thou common," he was giving an admonition to our land, that we are to make only one distinction among persons, namely, those that have received the divine cleansing, and those that have not. Only the latter will be rejected by God. It was this truth which brought Peter, the strict Jew, to enter the house of Cornelius, whom a few days before he would have regarded as a heathen outcast, to enter whose home would be pollution, and preach Christ to the household and friends of the centurion there awaiting him.

Jesus' Galilean Disciples. One by One Jesus believed in personal evangelism. Often do we find him speaking face to face with one person or with a small company of people. By this method of approach he won those who were of the inner circle of his disciples; and thus he won many by personal contacts and he counted it well worth while to "win one" to pour out his own soul in the effort to reach and to save one man or one woman. And, as in the case of the sinful woman of Samaria, Jesus never saw any "hopeless case."

Preparing Hearer and Preacher

In the incident of Cornelius and Peter, we have a revelation of God's methods of work. Cornelius was made ready to hear, and the messenger was prepared for the opportunity to preach. Although two men are separated from each other by more than a day's journey and are strangers one to the other, God is speaking to each and is preparing each for the blessing that is to come. And Peter received as great a blessing as did Cornelius.

All Nations Are One Great Family Acts 17:26

"Paul's famous address on Mars' Hill in Athens was before the council of the Areopagus, sitting to judge the orthodoxy of foreign teachers. In that city, full of statues and altars, and temples erected with consummate art but perpetuating foul idolatries, Paul had found an altar of the unknown God. He talked with a woman who was a sinner. Even worse from the viewpoint of a Jew, this woman was a Samaritan. Jesus took issue with the thought and conviction of his day in the place of honor and privilege he gave to womanhood; and womanhood owes nearly all that it now possesses to the gospel of Jesus Christ. Jesus on more than one occasion spoke words of hope and brought a message of forgiveness and restoration to a sinful woman. And always, by life and word, was he rebuking the sin of racial hatred.

Laredo Area Is Promoting Citrus

LAREDO, Dec. 2. (P)—Thousands of additional citrus fruit trees are being set out in the Laredo territory this year. The work began in the early fall and will continue throughout the winter and spring seasons.

While the production of the bearing orange, tangerine, grapefruit, lemon and kumquats trees in the Laredo district this season is much decreased compared with last, on account of the serious damage to buds and blossoms by the heavy snowfall and killing frosts of last March, the quality of the fruit is of the best.

The largest specimens of tangerines in the country are to be found in Laredo and the outlying country this season. The Valencia, pineapple, hamlin, Washington navel, temple and other oranges now maturing in this section are of large size and delicious quality. Grapefruit of the Foster pink, marsh seedless, Duncan, McCarty commercial varieties are large and wholesome, while kumquat trees are over-loaded by the heavy crops they bore this year.

"Texas Special" Sells Very High

CHICAGO, Dec. 2. (P)—The grand champion steer of the International Livestock show—"Texas Special"—went to the slaughter block today, at a price of $125 a pound.

The purchaser was John P. Bowles of the Praizer Packing company of Chicago. The price represented an advance of five cents a pound over that brought by last year's grand champion at the exposition.

It compared with 8 cents a pound for prime steers on the Chicago livestock market.

Bowles' chief competitor in the bidding after the offers neared $1 was Fred Wolf of the City Packing company of Chicago. He retired after Bowles bid $125.

"Texas Special" will be transformed into steaks and roasts to grace Chicago's dinner tables.

Two Semester Plan Is Favored

LUBBOCK, Dec. 2. (P)—There is a probability that the two-semester plan will replace the three-term plan now employed at Texas Technological college.

The board of regents has approved the plan and it has been passed to the administrative council. Dr. Bradford Knapp, president, has expressed the belief that the semester plan, now used by all Texas state schools and 80 per cent of the leading institutions of the country, will be in effect by the fall of 1933.

He said the plan would effect economies in administration of the school's affairs.

Wichita Falls Slices Expenses

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 2. (P)—For the first seven months of the fiscal year, city expenses of Wichita Falls decreased $100,000, compared with the same period of 1931, according to City Manager V. R. Smitham.

The city manager also announced that since the 1929-30 budget was adopted last April, reductions totaling $750,000 had been made in the appropriations it provided.

Gins to Absorb Cotton Charges

MIDLAND, Dec. 2. (P)—Farmers of Midland, Ector and Andrews counties will not be further penalized in ginning of their cotton as a result of the pink boll worm regulations under terms of an agreement reached between the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce here, local gin men, and J. M. Del Curto, of the state department of agriculture.

Gins represented by J. E. Hill, W. W. Wade, and B. H. Spau will absorb the present seed fumigation charge of 25 cents, under the agreement. J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, has promised the local chamber of commerce that all restrictions in connection with the outbreak of pink boll worm here three or four years ago, would be removed at the end of this season if no worms were found.

The total cost of keeping London clean is said to be approximately 2,000,000 pounds a year.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Iago Goldston Academy of Medicine

Nephritis—II
In nephritis due to a breakdown in the filtering mechanism of the kidneys, the amount of albumin present in the urine, the variety and number of casts found, indicate roughly how much damage is being done.

Because of the individual's excess of kidney substance over his requirements, it is possible for the elimination of soluble body wastes to go on effectively even when the individual suffers for a time and to an extent from a nephritis involving the filtering mechanism.

Ultimately, however, if the condition remains unabated, so large a portion of the kidney is destroyed that health is injured and death may ensue.

In another type of nephritis we find the circulatory portion, rather than the filtering portion of the kidneys involved. In order that the kidney filters might abstract waste products, blood in effective quantities must be brought to them. Each tubule has a plexus or collection of arterioles, that is, small arteries. When these arterioles for various reasons become altered, hardened or sclerotic, blocked or changed in other ways, there follows naturally a drop in the amount of blood that passes through them.

Since, however, the body must be rid of its soluble wastes and the kidneys are the principal organs for this function, the body compensates the defect in the pressure.

Thereby more blood is forced through the kidneys. This compensatory rise in the blood pressure, while making it possible for the kidneys to do their work, exposes the rest of the body, and especially the brain, to serious hazards. For, should a blood vessel break in the brain, a variety of untoward effects might follow.

In this second type of nephritis, high blood pressure is a prominent sign. Of course, high blood pressure is associated with other disease conditions.

'Dying Man' Remains Mystery and Hermit for 20 Years in Crowded Hospital While Waiting for Death

BEAUMONT, Dec. 2. (AP)—John Brown, a local hospital's mystery man for more than 20 years, went to his death still a mystery man. John Brown was taken to Hotel Dieu hospital in 1911 suffering from an "incurable" disease. His physician, dead many years now, told him he could not live for more than six months.

The man called a hospital sister to his bedside and began counting out his fortune. He put $800 aside for burial expenses and the balance, $2,800, he turned over to the sister to pay for his keep and care for the short period of life forecast for him. John Brown did not die in six months. He did not die until the eve of Thanksgiving, 1932.

Three years of illness and the patient began to improve. Soon he was able to be up and about. He asked to be allowed to do errands and odd jobs about the hospital. He occupied himself in this way for years, continuing meanwhile to occupy the same room in the old frame hospital at the rear of the new brick edifice.

But through the years, never a word had been spoken of his family or self. In fact, John Brown, was a hermit in the midst of a crowd. Sisters left instructions for him in writing on his door. He replied in kind. His real identity remained a mystery.

One day he became ill and it was feared he would die. He called a sister. He was born in Germany, he told her. When 24, his parents chose a German girl for him to marry. He did not want to marry her, so left home to follow his trade of harness maker in other parts of the world. John Brown survived that illness, too. For the past two years he remained always in his room. He was seen only by the person who took him his meals.

Two days before Thanksgiving he became seriously ill, and in less than a day he was dead. Going through his effects, sisters found his burial fund. It had dwindled considerably from the original $300, but it was sufficient to pay for his funeral. Nothing was found to give a clue to former family ties. No pictures, no letters. John Brown, mystery man, was laid to rest in Forest Lawn cemetery.

ASKS PAY CUT
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP)—Hoping to make both ends meet, President Hoover is looking to a flat ten per cent cut for government employees and a general manufacturers' sales tax plus new economies to balance the federal budget.

Panhandle Holds Interest in I. C. C. Grain Rate Hearing

FORT WORTH, Dec. 2. (AP)—The Texas Panhandle continued to hold the interest yesterday in the joint grain rate hearing here before interstate commerce commission examiners and representatives of the Texas railroad commission.

Y. H. Sparrow, traffic manager of the Great West Mill and Elevator company at Amarillo, occupied the stand and explained a suggested new grouping of shipping points in the Panhandle which the millers and shippers believe will provide more equalized rates in that section.

Sparrow was questioned at length by S. J. Cole, traffic manager of the Amarillo Grain exchange and counsel for the Panhandle shippers, in order to bring out all phases of the Panhandle grain problems.

Some of the rate experts attending the hearing questioned the statement of Sparrow when he mentioned that certain points in the western and central western sections of the Panhandle were not competitive as they are separated by a "natural barrier—a canyon." When one or two of the rates men who are not familiar with the topography of the Panhandle expressed doubt that "a little thing like a canyon" should halt movements of grain, Sparrow and Cole explained that the "little canyon" mentioned is Pale Duro canyon, which is about 65 miles long and approximately 10 miles wide at some points.

The testimony is being heard by I. C. C. Examiners Arthur Mackley and George J. Hall, Railroad Commissioner Lon A. Smith and R. I. Wells, rate expert of the railroad commission.

MANY TURKEYS SHIPPED
LUBBOCK, Dec. 2. (AP)—Final check of turkey shipments from the south plains showed the 1932 Thanksgiving movement was 32 cars, according to Santa Fe railroad officials. This represented an increase of 60 per cent over the 1931 movement. In addition to the 32 cars originating on the south plains, two came from Sweetwater, one from Clovis and one from Memphis. One special train of 20 cars from Lubbock was operated into Chicago as a unit.

Jeff Shepler of Dallas was in the city yesterday.

Pecans on Concho Will Be Fewer

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 2. (AP)—Although estimates vary, San Angelo pecan men believe the Concho river valleys will produce only about 15 carloads of nuts this year. On occasions, the valleys have produced as high as 50 carloads. This year, however, not a single railroad car has been loaded out, for trucks have been doing most of the hauling.

The Concho valleys include the middle in Irion county, the north in Sterling and the main in Concho, as well as all three and the South Concho river in Tom Green. The yield is under par because of case borer and weevil damage.

Good yields have been reported in Menard, Fort McKavitt, Junction, Juno, San Saba, Lampasas, and other West Texas points. The San Saba county crop has been reported as the best in 50 years.

Uvalde Requires Visitors to Work

UVALDE, Dec. 2. (AP)—Wayfarers and beggars, who seek food and clothing in this city, hereafter will find that they will be required to work on the city streets in exchange for any aid given. This plan has been adopted by the associated charities, and citizens have been asked to refuse all requests for aid, and send the applicants to a committee from the organization, which will see that they work for what help they receive.

Signs Treasure Hunt Contracts

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Cody Bell of Rankin has signed hundreds of contracts with treasure hunters which give him 10 per cent of their find, for he owns a big part of that two-mile-square territory at Castle Gap where fortune seekers have been busy for years.

Thus far he has not received a cent of dividends. He signs them all but specifies that the guests must not tear down his fences or gates. In San Angelo recently Bell said he had heard many reports about men finding treasure, but none has been verified. Several parties are hunting for treasure at Castle Gap now.

Recently Bell found a buffalo horn on the ranch. He sent the horn to San Francisco where it was classified, the report saying that the animal of this particular type had been extinct for more than 2,000 years.

BUILDING IS BRISK EDINBURG, Dec. 2. (AP)—Building activity in Edinburg, a small town east of Edinburg, is not waning in spite of the generally low state of the industry.

Edcouch has just completed a $20,000 grammar school building, which is now occupied for the first term. The town now plans to launch into the paving immediately of three blocks of streets at an approximate cost of $3,500.

In that section there are three such landmarks, but the right one has not yet been determined. China Pond, a lake that has nearly dried up and which is now on the property of J. H. Trippett, is another key to the hunt. Recently a man from Phoenix, Arizona, appeared with an old buckskin map which he said was the original map.

Recently Bell found a buffalo horn on the ranch. He sent the horn to San Francisco where it was classified, the report saying that the animal of this particular type had been extinct for more than 2,000 years.

S. S. LESSON-- (Continued from page 3.)

Inscribed "To an Unknown God," a token of the Athenians' fear that some deity might have been omitted and so have become angry. That "Unknown God" Paul proceeded to set forth before his hearers as the one God, the Creator of all things, and the Father of all mankind. And if God is the Father of all men, then the quick conclusion is that all men are brothers. Therefore in that illustrious scene and by that inspired address the great apostle went to the very heart of our lesson. Paul said that God "made of one blood all nations of men to dwell on all the face of the earth." —Acts 17:26.

"Evangelization is to be in a twofold sense universal. All are to go, and to go to all.—Rev. Arthur T. Pierson, D. D.

Japs Wage New War To Wipe Out Chinese Rebels

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Dec. 2. (AP)—The Japanese army set out on the frozen, snow-covered plains of northwest Manchuria today to make good its threat to wipe out the Chinese rebel forces under General Su Ping-Wen, even though the lives of 150 Japanese hostages may be jeopardized.

The objective of the Japanese commanders will be the recapture of almost one-fourth of Manchuria, lying against the Soviet border, and the annihilation of forces allied with General Su, numbering probably 30,000.

The Japanese vanguard of cavalry and infantry, rode over the frozen terrain in motor trucks northward from Tsitsihar, the famous outpost city that sheltered the late Chinese General Ma Chan Shan, so long in 1931.

The first fighting occurred just before dawn yesterday near Fula-

SLUGGED—THEN ROBBED SHERMAN, Dec. 2. (AP)—Virgil Gattis, cashier of the Electric Express company, was called to the door of the office last night by a well-dressed man and struck over the head. The man then entered the office and took $300 in currency and the same amount in checks.
