MANCHURIA MAY WIN SEVERENCE

MOVE LIKELY IS FAVORABLE TO JAPANESE

Domination by Little Nation Without Military Means Believed Goal — Chiefs Gather for Parley.

BRAND IN PLAN

Outcome of Conference Between Chinese Groups Delays Geneva's Progress on Peaceful Solution.

GENEVA, Oct. 20. (AP)—The terms describing "feverish activity" by the Japanese army to consolidate its position in Manchuria were submitted today to the League of Nations council by the Chinese delegation.

They had come from Robert E. Lewis, of Cleveland, Ohio, American Y. M. C. A. secretary in China, who reported the operations he described were taking place in all the principal towns of Manchuria outside the railway zone, including Kirin and Tsingtau on the north, and stretching from Korea on the east into Mongolia on the west.

The Japanese, said Mr. Lewis, moved four troop trains from Mukden the night of Oct. 13 to the west, seized the Pekin-Mukden railway, which "with all the other Chinese railroads in Manchuria," are now in Japanese hands, his telegram said.

His reports have aroused deep disquiet here.

TOKYO, Oct. 20. (AP)—The latest and apparently most ambitious of a series of "independence" movements by Chinese in Manchuria seeking separation of that domain from the long-standing enemy of China, Tso-Lin, the late Manchurian warlord, and Chang Tso-Lin's son and successor, Chang Hsueh-Liang, generalissimo, was reported today by the Japanese press.

General Ling in-Ching, formerly of the Manchukuo empire and now described as "former pacification commissioner" of the three northeastern provinces, was named as the head of the new movement.

Long-standing enemy of Chang Tso-Lin, the late Manchurian warlord, and Chang Tso-Lin's son and successor, Chang Hsueh-Liang, generalissimo, was reported today by the Japanese press.

Army Is Moving
Renzo reported significantly that Ling in-Ching's army began moving this morning "in a certain direction," understood to be toward Chinchow, where the remnants of Chang Hsueh-Liang's former Mukden government has been attempting to function.

Many of the independence reports have lacked substantial basis, but in their authoritative observers professed to see an illustration of the ambition of Japanese military and imperialist elements to bring about Japanese domination of Southern Manchuria without resorting to military measures.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 20. (AP)—The Sino-Japanese controversy over Manchuria was thrust into the background today by impending conferences between leaders of the Nationalist and South China insurgent government which, heads of both factions hope, may reunite the nation politically.

President to Confer
President Chiang Kai-Shek, who was to have come to Shanghai early today to greet the southern delegates, led by Eugene Chen, city statesman and former Nationalist government foreign minister, delayed his departure from the capital when he learned the steamship bearing the Cantonese had been delayed by storms.

GENEVA, Oct. 20. (AP)—A "trade-off" proposal for peace, outlined by Aristide Briand, veteran leader of the olive branch in Europe, brought marked optimism into the Manchurian discussions today as the League of Nations council entered the second week of its extraordinary session devoted to arbitration between China and Japan.

Briand's proposal was said to be sufficiently flexible to serve as a basis for negotiation and contains some features which both parties in the controversy, China and Japan, may reject to protect their own feelings. It was also described as being sufficiently vague to eliminate possibility of deadlock.

There was every indication that the council plans to remain on the job until a peaceful settlement is well under way.

CAPONE WILL BE HARASSED

Government Can Seize Everything He Owns For Unpaid Taxes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Capone's troubles were just beginning, it was indicated today as the government moved to seize whatever property he might own, adding financial worries to his already numerous legal woes.

The government estimated the sea-faced gangster owed at least $215,000 in delinquent taxes in connection with which he was convicted of income tax law violations facing possible maximum penalty of 17 years prison sentence and fines totaling $50,000.

If Capone owned tangible assets, they would be seized to satisfy the claim, government officials said. Already under federal scrutiny was his $40,000 winter home at Palm Beach, Fla., on which he made thousands of dollars of improvements, and real estate in Chicago, alleged owned by him but deeded to others.

A constant source of embarrassment to the gang leader, if the sum decided upon by the government were not paid, might result, legal authorities said, because the government might attempt to seize anything Capone might own for the rest of his life.

Sentence upon the liquor, gambling and vice racket boss, probably will be pronounced Friday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson.

Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvesters, and Supt. R. B. Fisher of the Pampa schools, were in the gallery. Howe picked 20 pounds the first hour. He was using a microgrammed sack presented to him after the game at Harvester field Saturday.

BRIDGE WAR LOOMS AGAIN

Toll Span Company Has Filed Suit to Close State Structure.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 20. (AP)—The Denison-Durant Red river toll bridge war flared again today as Oklahoma officials received notice from Joe Bailey, attorney for toll bridge company receivers, of an attempt to have the federal court at Muskogee block the Texas-Oklahoma free bridge and open the parallel toll span.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 20. (AP)—Notice that owners of the Oklahoma-Texas toll bridge south of Durant would attempt to block the parallel free bridge through federal court threatened a revival of the "wo-state bridge war" today and drew from Gov. William Henry Murray the assertion that martial law still was in effect at the free bridge.

I can get a military patrol there mighty quick," he declared. However, he declined to say if he would actually re-occupy the martial zone at the span.

"I can't presume the order of the court," he told newspapermen. "The military law is on to keep the free bridge open," Murray said. "There are no guardsmen at the span, but I can get them there mighty quick from 20 miles away."

Tack Is Expected to Bring Cotton to City Tonight

Gene Howe, better known as Col. Erasmus Tack, is expected to arrive in Pampa between 6 o'clock and 7 o'clock tonight with his 100 pounds of cotton which he is picking west of McLean today, according to Lynn Boyd, Coach Odus Mitchell, and Supt. R. B. Fisher who drove to McLean this morning to see "Tack" in action.

Be it known that the Amarillo scribe lost a bet to Henry Ansley of the Amarillo NEWS-GLOBE on the Pampa-Amarillo football game and the scribe is paying his debt today. He is being carefully watched by Henry Ansley, the Pampa man said. Tack is picking the cotton in an old sack and then dumping it in a huge one presented him Saturday after the game. He will give the 100 pounds of cotton to the Pampa Drug company, he says. Tack is careful to pick clean cotton and is not putting any dirt in the sack to make it weigh 50. He had picked about 50 pounds by 10:30 o'clock, but was slowing up, the Pampa spectators said.

WOMAN HAS ELUDED ALL OF OFFICERS

Mrs. Minnie Judd Is Charged With Killing Companions and Shipping Bodies to Los Angeles.

HUSBAND IS HELD

Neighbor of Victim Tells of Hearing Shots on Friday Night—Clues in Profusion Today.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20. (AP)—An admission that his sister had confessed to him the killing of two companions in Phoenix, Ariz., was made today to the Associated Press by B. N. McKinnell, Los Angeles university student, and brother of the suspected slayer, Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd. McKinnell made a positive statement after reports had been circulated in which police denied the young man's alleged statement.

Stopping in a corridor of the homicide bureau of the police department as detectives took him to breakfast, McKinnell told his version of the discovery of the bodies of Mrs. Agnes Lerol and Miss Hedwig Samuelson, employees of a Phoenix, Ariz. clinic, in two trunks and a calise at a railroad station here yesterday.

Saw Sleeping Blood
A baggage master, who saw blood seeping from one trunk, demanded it be opened Mrs. Judd, who had arrived in Los Angeles a short time before on another train, came to the station with McKinnell to claim the baggage. She told the agent she did not have the keys and would get them. The suspicion of the agent led him to note the license number of McKinnell's automobile and the student was arrested.

"I knew what was in those trunks," the young man said. "She told me, 'I can't understand why she did it. I drove her to Sixth and Broadway and she got out. I gave her $5 and she disappeared in the street crowds.'"

Dr. W. C. Judd, husband of the woman, who appeared calm and composed under the grilling of detectives and who was taken into custody with McKinnell, said "I believe she was mentally deranged."

McKinnell said his home was in Darlington, Ind., where his parents were living.

Husband Estranged
He said the Judds were living in a duplex in Phoenix until a short time ago, when Judd came to Los Angeles on a vacation and presumably was estranged. The two slain women also were residing in the duplex.

About 7 o'clock yesterday morning, his sister arrived here and telephoned him while he was at his classes. She asked him to meet her and told him she had a "couple of trunks at the railroad station."

"She said she wanted me to drive down and get the trunks and take them to the ocean and dump them in deep water."

Mrs. Judd and they drove to the station. He had become suspicious, he said, and then he noticed insects swarming about the trunks. He became frightened.

Suspensions Aroused
"I knew something was wrong," he said, "the agent questioned us and my sister said she didn't have the keys and would return later to unlock the trunks for inspection. It was about noon then."

They drove to the downtown district and Mrs. Judd became nervous in the car. "She asked me if I had any money. I gave her $5 and some small change and she left. Then I went to the home of Caroline Judd, sister of my brother-in-law, and the police came.

Authorities said an investigation of a cabin in Beverly Glen, situated in a remote and isolated section, disclosed an unusual stock of supplies and they expressed a theory that a plot had been laid to hide Mrs. Judd in the cabin.

It also was disclosed by police that among the stacks of letters and magazines in the trunks, which partly covered the bodies, was found a surgeon's scalpel.

WOMAN DIES AND HUSBAND IS IN DANGER

Slow Poison Is Believed to Be Responsible — Borger Victim is Mrs. Alspach, Wife of Oil Man.

DOCTORS CONFER

Autopsy Will Be Tlboo Late to Save Husband, Who Is Affected While at Bed-side of Wife.

AMARILLO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Mary E. Alspach, 56, of Borger, died at a local hospital today of some mysterious cause, and her husband, A. B. Alspach, general supervisor of production of the Prairie Oil and Gas company, was believed to be slowly dying from the same malady.

An autopsy was being conducted by a group of eight or ten Amarillo physicians to determine the cause of Mrs. Alspach's death. The autopsy was ordered when Alspach became suddenly ill while at his wife's bedside.

Mrs. Alspach was taken ill Sunday, but her condition was not considered serious. Later, however, her tongue began swelling and the attending physician brought her to a local hospital.

Alspach was taken with the same symptoms about two hours before his wife's death. Dr. R. A. Duncan, one of the attending physicians, expressed the belief the malady was some slow poisoning.

He said that Alspach was growing gradually weaker. He said that both Alspach and his wife had registered a fast pulse but no temperature. Mrs. Alspach remained conscious until shortly before her death.

Dr. Duncan said that a chemical analysis of Mrs. Alspach's viscera would not be available for 24 hours, and that it would be too late to save Alspach's life.

Theater Row in Chicago Is Halted

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Chicago's two-month controversy between union motion picture operators and the owners of 104 independently owned theaters has been halted after intervention of Mayor Anton J. Cermak to stop recurrent bombings, slugging and threats.

Under an agreement reached last night, 27 smaller theaters will operate with only one union professional assisted by the owner or manager, in the booth. Union demands that two operators at salaries ranging from $50 to $150 a week be employed in each theater had been one of the most difficult points in the dispute.

All union workers in the theaters also will accept 20 per cent cuts in salaries. Operators with memberships in the Chicago union will be returned to work. It was announced, and projected to be brought from New York and other cities to work during the dispute will be relieved of their positions.

Sixteen theaters employing non-union operators during the controversy were bombed.

SECRET OF EDISON'S SUCCESS

Thomas A. Edison exemplified the kind of skepticism which, accompanied by aggressive investigation, makes the world better. Others pointed out to him the wonders of the gas lamp, but he was not impressed.

Edison talked little but listened much when he was interested. He did not waste his time on non-essentials. For many years it was suspected that his deafness was a shield from annoying friends, rather than an actuality.

Edison's first impression of Mr. Edison, when he came into my store in 1883, was that he was a minister. He was a well built man, but his cheeks bore a peculiar pallor.

He was congenial. He always loved to meet people and to talk with them. He was, contrary to the general practice, a big man who placed himself on the plane of ordinary persons.

He loved to stop along the street, because then he had opportunity to visit with everyone. He was a visiting-addict. At his home, or on the street, he wanted to talk with everyone he saw.

In his later years, as he became feeble, he was forced to abandon his life as a fisherman. I gave him a rod and reel for tarpon-fishing, and asked him to have his picture taken in action.

"If you think you're going to get me going for tarpon at this late day in my life, you're crazy," he joked. "Mrs. Edison suggested he go down on their dock and pose for the picture with his new tackle."

"If that will do, I'll be glad to do it," he responded, in his customary obliging way.

Col. Cicero I. Murray, in charge of the proration, issued the order, increasing the flow one per cent. Under the new regulation, the flow is expected to be about 180,000 barrels daily.

Oklahoma production averaged 505,715 barrels daily while the preceding week the daily average output was only 251,135 barrels.

For the week ended Oct. 17 the production for the United States was an average of 2,428,870 barrels daily, while the week of Oct. 10 the average was 2,155,514 barrels.

East Texas averaged 422,189 barrels daily, as compared with a previous report of 1,222,797 barrels. Kansas production dropped from 107,415 barrels daily to 101,670, and the entire mid-continent area produced an average of 1,500,565 barrels daily as compared with a previous report of 1,222,797 barrels.

Eastern production was down 2,000 barrels daily at 116,000 barrels. The Rocky Mountain area produced 92,750 barrels daily as compared with 92,427 barrels. California production was up 3,000 barrels daily at 508,000 barrels.

OKLAHOMA ONLY: Oct. 20. A new military proration order allowing Oklahoma oil field wells to flow 6 per cent of their potential output, went into effect today.

By 7 o'clock the posse had dwindled to 25 men who were in the creek bottoms and heavy underbrush about a mile and a half northeast of Crowley. They were mostly farmers, the townsmen having left the search to return to their jobs.

GUILTY LIPS by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "MAD MARRIAGE" ©1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY: Pretty Norma Kent, 20-year-old secretary, marries Mark Travers, millionaire's son, in spite of the opposition of Mark's father.

The story takes place in Marlboro, middle-western metropolis. After an extravagant honeymoon the couple soon face poverty. Mark secures a job loses it and then becomes floorwalker in a department store.

The young couple are beginning to master their problems when Mark's father sends for him and offers him a place in his own business organization if the son will prove he can make good.

Mark goes and Norma, rudely treated at her father-in-law's home, slips away, leaving no trace of her whereabouts. Chris Saunders, Norma's former roommate, helps her find a job.

Mark's father employs detectives to trail the girl. The unearthly records showing that three years before Norma was convicted on a vice charge. In spite of evidence that the charge was framed, Travers sends his lawyer to Paris to engineer a divorce.

Weeks later Norma learns the decree has been granted. In August Norma's son is born. Within the baby if six months old Norma returns to her former job. Mark's mother sees her with the child and a few days later a public health nurse comes while Norma is away and takes the baby, explaining a complaint has been made that he is neglected.

Bob Farrell, young lawyer, discovers that Mr. and Mrs. Travers are behind this move, seeking to get custody of the child. Farrell persuades Norma to go to Lafayette, district attorney, and tell him the charges against her were framed. Flynn exposes these facts and they are sensational. An investigation is ordered. Norma returns home one evening and finds a letter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVI: The address on the envelope had been typed. One swift glance told Norma the letter had been posted in Marlboro. She tore back the flap and drew out a folded sheet.

"Why there's no signature! Look, Chris!" There were two paragraphs on the typewritten page. The unsigned letter read: "Dear Miss Travers: This is to warn you that if you tell any more to the newspapers you will be out of the picture. You are being watched night and day."

"If you go to the Wellington investigation you'll never live to get out of the courtroom. Watch your step and keep your trap shut and nobody will hurt you. If you disregard this warning you'll regret it."

The rest of the page was blank. Norma raised startled eyes as she read the last words. "Who—who in the world?" she began. Chris put a hand on the other girl's arm. "Let's go upstairs!" she exclaimed. "Up to the apartment!"

They went up the two flights of stairs. Chris put her key in the lock and turned the knob. It was not yet six o'clock but the apartment was dusky. Chris pressed the electric light switch at the side of the door before entering. She gave a quick, searching glance about the room.

"There's nobody here," she said almost as though she had suspected there would be. Norma closed the door and put the packages she had been carrying on the table. She held up the letter again. "But isn't this strange, Chris?" she asked in a puzzled way. "Who on earth could have written such a thing?"

"Did you lock the door?" the other girl said sharply. "Why, of course not! You don't mean—you don't think there's anything to be frightened about?"

Quickly Chris crossed the room, turned the night lock on the door. She turned and faced Norma defensively. "I don't know what to think," she said, "and anyhow thinking isn't safe! Don't you realize that three-fourths of the corruption of Marlboro is linked in this thing? Of course I'm frightened. They might do anything! Anything! These judges who have been letting criminals get by—the men higher up—oh, Norma, I was a fool to let you do this—!"

Curiously enough it was Chris instead of Norma who was thrown into panic by the threatening note. Norma insisted the letter was harmless, sent by some practical joker with a distorted sense of humor or by someone suffering from hallucinations.

To all this Chris protested: "I hope you're right! Heaven knows I hope you're right! But we're not going to take chances!" Half a dozen times during the evening Chris thought she heard sounds in the hall. She insisted on leaving a light burning when they went to bed. In the morning she had locked worn out as though she had slept little.

"But, Chris," Norma protested, "I don't see why you should worry so about that letter. If anybody wanted to harm me they wouldn't warn me about it, would they? Of course the letter doesn't mean anything!"

"Will you believe it means something if Bob says so?" "He won't," Bob would say the very things I've been telling you. "Well, I want to show it to him. Will you let me take the letter this morning and show it to Bob?"

"Of course. Let's see—what did I do with it?" The message was produced and folded away in Chris' handbag. When the two girls left for the office it was Chris whose eyes had dark shadows and whose cheeks were too white.

As they boarded the street car she noticed a man wearing a gray cap across the street. He had been watching them. Chris did not mention the man to Norma. The day in Frederick Stuart's office passed just as its predecessors. At noon Norma had sandwiches and coffee sent up from the first floor lunch counter. She did not like to go out these days because she was sure to be taken up by the afternoon newspapers and laid them on her desk.

Norma scanned the first pages. District Attorney Flynn was quoted for almost a column. The Wellington prosecution was to open next Wednesday.

Nothing in the newspapers the girl had not known. A heated denial from the chief of police that anything was wrong in his department followed the Flynn interview. There was a picture of "Whitey" Black printed under the single word "Witness." The caption explained that Black was to present evidence in the investigation into activities of the vice squad next week.

Norma put the newspapers aside distastefully. A little later she heard footsteps and looked up. Chris Saunders stood in the doorway. "Oh, Chris! You startled me!" Her roommate entered the office. "Anybody here?" she asked in a low voice. Norma shook her head. "Mr. Stuart's gone to lunch."

Chris sank to a chair beside the other girl. "I've just been talking to Bob," she said, dropping her voice almost to a whisper. "He's taken the letter and gone to see Flynn. It's what I thought, Norma! Whitey Black's been getting anonymous threats in the mail, too. They've hidden him away somewhere and the police are guarding him. In spite of all he's said about them the police have got to protect him. If anything happened to him now it would be the worst possible indictment of the public safety department. Bob's coming back as soon as he can. He said you're not to leave the office until he gets here!"

"But, Chris—!" "I can't stay any longer, honey. I've got to get back. Bob agrees with me it isn't safe for you to stay on at the apartment. He'll tell you what to do. I'm not going to stay there either. I'm going to Minnie Baker's."

A figure loomed in the doorway and Chris started. It was only Frederick Stuart, back from his lunch hour.

Stuart passed on into his private office and Chris arose to go. "Bob said for you to wait for him," she reminded Norma just before she disappeared.

After she was gone Norma stared for several moments at the blank sheet of paper in her typewriter. Presently her fingers began tapping the keys again.

It was not Bob Farrell who was Norma's next caller, but a middle-aged woman dressed in brown. She gave the name "Mrs. Everett" and asked to see Norma's employer.

Five minutes after the woman had entered Stuart's office the buzzer rang. Notebook in hand, Norma answered.

Stuart was leaning back in his desk chair and Mrs. Everett sat facing him.

"Come in, Miss Travers," Stuart said. When she had closed the door he continued. "Mrs. Everett has come from District Attorney Flynn's office. She has told me that because of the importance of your testimony at the hearing next week the district attorney thinks you'd whereabouts should be concealed, Mrs. Everett has come to take you to a place where you will be safe and where you will be assured of freedom from annoyances of all sorts. Here is the message from Flynn."

Stuart handed Norma a sheet of paper on which a dozen lines were written. She recognized the district attorney's signature. The note said that the bearer was an accredited representative and that she would explain the purpose of her visit.

"I think we should leave at once," Mrs. Everett told the girl. "I have a car downstairs waiting and here is a wrap and hat for you." She held up the coat she had been carrying over her arm. "See how it fits," she added.

In the gray coat and hat, with heavy rimmed spectacles over her eyes Norma could hardly recognize herself. The elevator operator did not give her a second glance as she followed Mrs. Everett into the car. The two women swept through the ground floor lobby and out on the street.

A taxicab that had been waiting a little to the left drew up before the entrance. Mrs. Everett and Norma stepped inside.

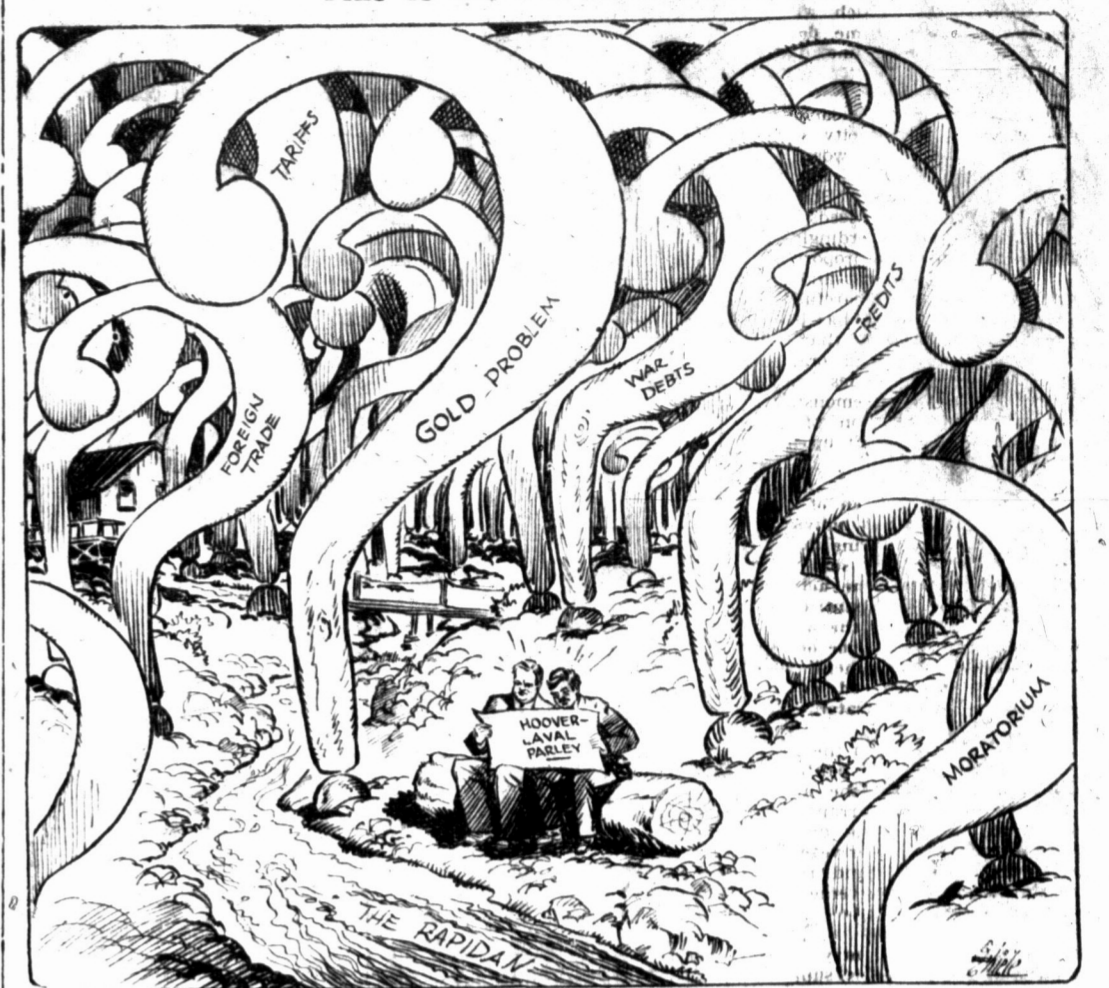

The girl did not recognize the address she heard given to the driver but presently they were skimming out of downtown traffic and heading west. They drove along well-kept residential streets, past massive apartments.

"Is it far?" Norma asked. "Not much farther. We're almost there."

The taxi halted before a five-story apartment building. Mrs. Everett paid the driver and led the way inside. "My rooms are on the second floor," she said. "I usually walk instead of taking the elevator." They went up the carpeted stairway and down a hall. Before one of the doorways Mrs. Everett halted. "It was a pleasant, roomy apartment which opened to them. The suite contained a living room, two bedrooms, kitchen and bath. She chattered on as though the girl were an old friend come to pay a social visit. "Mrs. Everett," Norma said, "won't you tell me who you are and how Mr. Flynn happened to be here?" GORILLAS AND BORGER TO MEET IN ONLY GAME OF WEEK

BULLDOGS TO MEET LOCALS NEXT FRIDAY

Harvesters to Train Lightly for Speedy Lubbock High Westerners.

Borger's Gorillas will play the Pampa Gorillas here Friday at 3:30 o'clock in the only engagement of the week for local football elevens. It is possible that a few reserves will see some action in this game.

Coach Mitchell last night virtually abandoned his attempt to match an out-of-town game for the Harvesters. Only Coach G. V. Colorado was interested in giving the powerful locals a workout, and school officials believed the distance too great. Danger of scholastic troubles due to loss of time in classes was a factor in declining the Colorado town's offer.

The Harvesters will gain momentum this afternoon in their pointing for the crucial game here with the Lubbock Westerners Oct. 21. They will take light practices, avoiding injuries but being down on their offensive plays and formations to offset Lubbock's running attack.

Northwestern Is Slated for Clean Slate This Year

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—With the other summer-book favorites, Michigan and Purdue, belted out of the championship scheme, Northwestern is faced with the rather unique situation of reaching the climax of its Big Ten season in its first game.

The Wildcats, scoring practice games, have devoted their first three dates to battles with Nebraska, Notre Dame and the University of California's southern branch. Saturday they will tackle as their first conference foe Ohio State and they probably won't encounter anything tougher than the Buckeyes on the rest of their schedule.

If Northwestern gets by Ohio State, there appears to be nothing to prevent another perfect record. Of the remaining four teams on the Wildcat schedule, only Illinois right now appears capable of causing trouble. Minnesota, Indiana, and Iowa, which follow, should be easy for the Wildcats.

MORRISON IS NOT MUCH IMPRESSED WITH PASSING OF MUSTANGS SATURDAY

Plans to Order Heaves to All Parts of Field Against Centenary.

By the Associated Press
Praising his players for the way they eluded off running plays last Saturday against Rice, but telling them their passing left a lot to be desired, Coach Morrison sent his S. M. U. Mustangs through a long practice session yesterday.

He indicated he will use passes against Centenary college Saturday at Dallas. He had Davidson, Hearon and Travis shooting forwards to all sections of the gridiron. A scrimmage today with the freshmen, who will use Centenary plays, was scheduled.

The University of Texas Longhorns, who leave tomorrow for Cambridge to play Harvard, snapped through a hard drill yesterday under the watchful eye of Coach Littlefield. Blanton, all-conference tackle, was on the side-line. He injured an ankle in the game last Saturday and may not practice any this week.

Defeated in two Southwest conference games, the University of Arkansas opened practice yesterday with hope of beating Louisiana State Saturday at Shreveport. A dislocated shoulder may keep Oliver Holmes, backfield star, out of the game. A scrimmage against the freshmen, who used Louisiana State plays, featured yesterday's practice. Light workouts were held at Texas A. and M. and Baylor who meet at College Station Saturday in the only Southwest conference game. Signal drills and lumbering up formations let the Aggies and the Bears down easy, but the hard grind in preparation for Saturday's game will start today. Rice and Texas Christian held light workouts for games Friday against Arizona and Simmons.

HARVARD HAS ALL STRENGTH FOR TEXANS

But Longhorns Will Likely Be Below Par For Cambridge Game.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20. (AP)—Possibly bad news for the southwest: Harvard's regulars all came through the Army game in good shape and, barring accidents this week, will start against Texas Saturday.

AUSTIN, Oct. 20. (AP)—The University of Texas football team will leave here on a special train tomorrow morning for Cambridge, Mass., to play Harvard Saturday.

A brief stop has been planned at Indianapolis Friday morning where a short workout will be held. There was only one serious injury on the squad as a result of the Oklahoma game Saturday. "Ox" Blanton, big left tackle who won that game when he kicked a field goal from the 15-yard line, is suffering from a severe ankle injury, the extent of which was not known. Arthur Nelbuh, reserve tackle, will be left at home, suffering from a fractured wrist. Herschel Mopdy, regular right tackle who sustained a broken nose in the Rice game, will accompany the team to Cambridge and is expected to start.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20. (AP)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia heavyweight bachelor, left jabbed his way to his third victory over Johnny Risko, Cleveland spoiler of near-champions, last night. It was Tommy's eleventh straight win and placed him in line for a battle with Herr Max Schmeling.

Spotting his opponent to 13 1-2 pounds, Loughran peppered a slightly injured left into Risko's jaw, time and again snapping his head back. Only in the seventh did Risko, Cleveland rubber man win a round. Loughran weighed 185, Risko 198 1-2.

THE "HIDDEN QUART"

That Stays up in the Motor and Never Drains Away

PROVES ANY OIL WOULD BE BETTER OIL IF GERM PROCESSED

Other good oils lubricate working parts after the motor starts and oil is pumped from the crankcase through the motor, which takes several minutes. But Germ Processed Oil stays up in your motor at all times and lubricates working parts safely during the starting period... when almost half of all motor wear takes place! A "hidden quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. Only Germ Processed Oil can give you this sure protection at all times, because only Germ Processed Oil can penetrate and combine with metal surfaces... an exclusive characteristic called "penetrative lubricity." So you can see... any oil would be better oil if Germ Processed!

But only Conoco makes Germ Processed Oil... for Conoco owns exclusive patent rights for North America. Don't be contented with oil that lacks the germ process. Stop at any station displaying the Conoco Red Triangle and fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. Save your motor from wear... keep it young and powerful!

Thousands View Body of Edison

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 20. (AP)—The body of Thomas Alva Edison lay in state today, while thousands paid homage and tribute.

He rested in the library of his laboratory, in the little room where with test tube or pencil, so many of his wizardries of science took shape.

More than 10,000 persons—school children, Edison plant employees, relatives and the curious—had waited in a long line throughout the mellow day yesterday to file into the little room.

The inventor will be buried in West Orange tomorrow. Final services will be at the grave in Rosedale cemetery, here. The funeral service hour is 2:30 p. m.

Meanwhile a public demand for a national tribute to Mr. Edison's memory has swept the country.

State and Congressional Elections Today Are of Much Importance With Respect to Organization of House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Decisions which may have important effects in national politics will be made by the voters two weeks from today when three states elect governors and five vacancies are filled in the house of representatives.

Although the issues are predominantly local, and only scattered sections will vote at all, the situation has three aspects related to the national picture.

With the house standing today 214 republicans, 214 democrats, and one farmer-labor, an upset in any district in favor of the democrats might well mean a democratic house. Three of the five districts electing are traditionally republican and two are traditionally democratic.

Should a democrat be elected governor of New Jersey, and should he decide to call a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Morrow, it might mean a democratic senate. The membership stands today 47 republicans, 47 democrats, and one farmer-labor.

Governor Larson of New Jersey is expected to appoint a republican successor to Senator Morrow before congress convenes.

Overwhelming victory or defeat for the constitutional amendments sponsored in New York state by Governor Roosevelt—and particularly the amendment sponsored by former Governor Smith—would be hailed as an important commentary on Roosevelt's candidacy for president.

Finally, the emergence of some new political leader always is a possibility when elections are held in time of unsettlement. Already friends of former Governor Moore of New Jersey are talking about a democratic presidential boom for him if he again lands in the governor's chair at Trenton.

Besides New Jersey, the states electing governors Nov. 3 are Kentucky, where a hard-fought campaign is in progress on local issues, and Mississippi, where the democrats always have a walkover.

In their effort to pick up the one needed congressman, the democrats are centering on the first Ohio district, represented so long by the late Nicholas Longworth, and the eighth Michigan, also traditionally republican.

Markets

COTTON MORE ACTIVE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20. (AP)—Cotton experienced an active start today. Liverpool cables were worse than due but this was offset by stronger sterling. First trades here were unchanged to 4 points down.

Active months eased off a little after the start, December dropping to 6.65, January to 6.75, and March to 6.94, or 5 points under yesterday's close.

This decline was attributed to some hedge-selling and to liquidation by recent buyers.

The market soon rallied, however, owing to shorts covering on a firmer opening in stocks and due also to the firm spot position as holders in the interior appeared unwilling to sell at present prices.

December advanced to 6.76, January to 6.85, and March to 7.06, or 10 to 12 points up from the lows and 5 to 7 above yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour the market was firm and at the high.

GRAINS LOWER

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Grain prices tended downward early today after an irregular start. Unexpectedly lower wheat quotations from Liverpool, ascribed to surprising changes in sterling rates, had a bearish effect, despite frost reports from Argentina.

Opening at 1-2 cent off to 1-2 up, wheat later sagged all around. Corn started unchanged to 1-4 advance and subsequently declined.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Wheat—No. 2 hard (spot) 53c; No. 3 yellow hard 52c; No. 2 mixed 39c; No. 1 yellow 39c; No. 2 yellow 39c; No. 2 white 39c; No. 2 white 24c; No. 3 white 23c.

Wheat closed unsettled 1/2c to 1c lower, corn unchanged to 3/4c off, oats varying from 1/2c decline to a shade advance and provisions 5/8 to 1/2c higher, influenced by scattered buying.

the women's apartment here last Friday by a grocer boy. The boy had identified a picture of Dr. W. C. Judd, under technical arrest in Los Angeles, as the visitor.

Mrs. Jennie McGrath, who lives near the address of Mrs. Leroi and Miss Samuelson, said she heard three shots about 10:30 p. m. this was 45 minutes after Miss Evelyn Nace an employe of the medical clinic at which both Mrs. Leroi and Mrs. Judd were employed, told of having left Mrs. Leroi and Miss Samuelson alone in their apartment after having had dinner with them.

"Filled With Books"
Richard M. Swartz, driver for a transfer company told of being called to the women's apartment Saturday night to move a trunk to the home of Mrs. Judd. He said Mrs. Judd, whom he identified from a photograph, met him at the door of the Leroi-Samuelson apartment, and directed him to the trunk in the bedroom. He was forced to call in two helpers to carry it. Mrs. Judd said it was filled with books.

Dr. Judd in custody in Los Angeles, as a material witness, has claimed he had not been in Phoenix for several weeks. He had not been informed of the boy's statement this morning.

"The woman smiled. 'I've worked with Mr. Flynn for years,' she said. 'He doesn't want you to be worried or frightened before the investigation next week. Of course I don't think there's anything really to be frightened about. Maybe you'd feel more comfortable if I told you that your friend Bob Farrell is going to call this evening.'"

"Bob's coming here?"
Mrs. Everett nodded. "You've plenty of time for a warm bath," she suggested. "Why don't you take one and then lie down for a little while. With such a nice young man coming you'll want to look your prettiest."

"I am tired," Norma agreed. "You're awfully kind, Mrs. Everett. I guess I'll follow your advice."
A little later, warm and glowing from the tub, Norma faced the mirror of her dressing table. Why did her heart beat so rapidly at the thought of seeing Bob?

Banker Is Slain in Bandit Raid

MENOMINEE, Wis., Oct. 20. (AP)—An assistant cashier and a bandit were killed today as four machine gun raiders looted the Kraft State bank here of an undetermined amount of money.

James Kraft, 19, son of W. F. Kraft, president of the bank was kidnaped and slain by the bandits while W. R. Kraft, 22, another son, was wounded, not seriously, because he could not point out where more was.

The robber was killed by shots fired at the car in which the sprayer sped out of town after spraying the street near the bank with machine gun bullets.

Bank officials said a hurried check indicated the robbers took about $10,000 after over powering 16 persons in the bank, including six customers. All were forced to lie on the floor.

The bodies of James Kraft and the bandit were found on the highway six miles from here by possemen who followed the raiders out of town.

The younger Kraft had been shot. Officers believed he was slain in reprisal after pursuers' bullets killed their companion.

Rate Increase Is Denied Railroads

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today denied the railroads permission to increase freight rates throughout the country.

Suggestions were made, however, for specific increases in rates upon designated commodities during a limited period.

These suggestions were conditioned upon the submission and approval of arrangements between the carriers for pooling of revenue accruing from the suggested increases.

This action, said the commission, is "primary to enable them to meet their fixed interest payments as they mature."

Truckers Refuse Increase in Pay

AMARILLO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Thirty striking truckers on a paving project on state highway No. 5 north of Amarillo, remained idle today in the face of an increase of seven cents a load for hauling.

Concrete work was resumed with a meager crew of eight trucks, four from Potter county and four from outside the county.

Construction company officials increased pay from 84 cents a load to 91 cents, and cut the price of gasoline from 14 cents to 12 cents a gallon, but the truckers demanded $1.50 a load or a flat rate of 90 cents an hour.

The truckers, who struck for higher pay Saturday, remained in camp near the construction project, but stated they had made no threats against those at work.

JOB BARtering PROBED

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Investigation of alleged wholesale bartering of jobs and promotions in the city fire and police departments at a reputed profit of more than $100,000 was under way today.

Led by State's Attorney John A. Swanson, the police and civil service commission were cooperating in the inquiry first revealed last night with announcement of the arrest of Wilbur J. McGinness.

LINEMAN IS KILLED

GRANBURY, Oct. 20. (AP)—Val Martin, 30, lineman, was electrocuted when he came in contact with a high voltage wire on a pole near the city power plant here yesterday.

Floyd Jones, a fellow worker, was shocked severely when he tried to pull Martin from the wire.

SAFE IS BLASTED

MARLIN, Oct. 20. (AP)—The safe at a bottling works was damaged by a nitroglycerin blast today. The explosion jammed the door in such a way it could not be opened and the robbers failed to obtain the safe's contents.

College Business Courses in Demand

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—When business starts hitting on all four, it appears there will be plenty of youths fresh from college ready to grasp the wheels of industry.

Survey of registration in American schools this fall shows a noticeable trend toward courses in business administration. More attention is being paid also to other courses which train the student for a job.

The strictly cultural arts and sciences appear to be losing ground along with theology and highly specialized studies.

The Harvard business school enrolled 20 more students on the first day of registration than were registered at the same time last year.

Harvard's theological school lost 25 or more than 38 per cent of its 1930 enrollment.

Teachers' colleges filled up quickly and educational courses in universities generally attracted more students. The University of Minnesota gained 107 students in this department of education. The same university experienced gains in dental hygiene, pharmacy, chemistry, and business administration and suffered a corresponding enrollment loss in liberal arts.

With few exceptions, the heads of universities attributed changes, whether loss or gain in total registration or trend toward certain courses, to economic conditions.

The Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, president of Creighton university in Omaha, said increased enrollment there was due to the fact "that competition in the business world is keen and the unskilled, uneducated man faces almost insurmountable obstacles."

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Morris of Oklahoma City are visiting friends here this week.

George W. Briggs is transacting business in Amarillo today.
