MEN AT TEMPLE WALK STREETS SINGING CAROLS

POOR GIVEN ATTENTION SCOUTS HAUL BASKETS IN 15 TRUCKS AT TYLER

By The Associated Press. Christmas eve was a merry one Saturday night, even if mom and dad in many a Texas home did get pretty sleepy before they could make the kids understand that if they stayed up any longer Santa Claus might get mad and not stop to see that particular pair of stockings.

But it was a clear night, after weeks of snow and rain, and it was a lot easier to point out the window pane that was just cold enough to get frosty when warm noses were pressed against it, and tell the story nearly 2,000 years old about the bright star that appeared in the heavens over the city of David.

Parade Streets. And a chorus of thirty Temple business men found it such a fine Christmas eve night they walked the streets from midnight 'til dawn singing carols, while nurses trod gently through hospital corridors carrying lighted candles and singing softly. There were many ill with influenza. Elsewhere in that city 2,000 kiddies were made happy with toys donated by the "Santa pals."

There were midnight services in many churches. The clear tones of a little hand-made organ brought to Texas from Mexico by the Franciscans nearly 100 years ago, pealed out at a service in St. Joseph's Catholic church at Galveston. Chimes in the gothic towers of the First Methodist in Fort Worth and the old Presbyterian spire rang out with carols and there was cheer in the gaily lighted streets of San Antonio, varied tongues spoke a merry Christmas on the port docks at Houston and Mexican voices called out "Feliz Navidad!" in El Paso.

Good Turns. Practically every city had its corps of volunteers who carried baskets of food, clothing, and toys to the families of poor and unemployed persons. At Tyler fifteen motor trucks, manned by dozens of Boy Scouts, moved swiftly to all sections of the city, carrying hundreds of well-filled baskets to the needy. And in Dallas, Col. William Eastwood, Jr., was host to more than 100 newboys at a turkey dinner at a downtown hotel, where tops, horns, games, and candy were distributed.

Today Is Last NEWS Until Tuesday

Because its employes will take off Monday as a holiday, along with most other Pampa business institutions, there will be no Pampa Daily NEWS issued on Monday. The next edition will be that of Tuesday afternoon. Today's issue is being given free to the newsboys who sell papers on the streets. Therefore all the money they get for the papers will be their own. Patrons are advised of the old custom of giving the lads a bit extra for papers purchased on Christmas day. Many of the newsboys are helping to support their families.

First Christmas In Glasgow Was Lane's Affair

(Editor's Note: The First Christmas Eve in Glasgow, later Sutton and finally Pampa.)

Christmas eve festivities in the new and wild country around the little stop of Glasgow on the Santa Fe in the Panhandle of Texas centered around the handsome home of Mrs. and Mrs. T. H. Lane, the first residents. The Lanes lately moved here from Woodward, Okla. The only excitement of the evening occurred when a bunch of railroad men stopped off at Glasgow to wash and clear up before attending a dance at Codman, a stop east of here. Most of the cowboys from the wide, unfenced range of the surrounding country passed here all day going to Mobeetie to enjoy metropolitan amusements. There were saloons in the Panhandle metropolis did a rushing business today. Presence of Fort Elliott soldiers lent a martial and dignified air to the gaiety.

Cowboys from the Ledrick, White Deer, and Lovett ranches left horse back for Mobeetie shortly before noon. As they passed through Glasgow they yelled a happy greeting to Mr. Lane, station agent. Christmas dinners were in preparation at the various homes in this section, especially at the abodes of Henry and LeFors, Henry Lovett, who lived south of LeFors, at the Saunders ranch, at the Ledrick place up on Chicken creek.

Hereford Cowboy Proposes To Kate

HAYS, Kans., Dec. 24. (AP)—Miss Kathryn O'Loughlin, congresswoman elect from the sixth Kansas district, has some patronage problems on her hands in no way connected with postmasterships. Since her election, four men, none of them known to Miss O'Loughlin, have written proposing marriage. "Cowboy, 36 years old," Hereford, Texas, has written that he read in the papers that Miss O'Loughlin once was a broncho buster and that he, himself, is a cowboy and believes "the two of them" could get along "just fine together." "You have a fine face," wrote the cowboy. "You look just like my sister."

J. W. Paris of Miami transacted business here Friday afternoon. R. H. Lewis of LeFors was a Pampa visitor last night.

HOLY FATHER ORDERS YEAR OF EXPIATION

URGES WORLD TO STOP TALKING ABOUT PROBLEMS REFORM IS SUGGESTED

'INTERESTS OF SOUL' ADVOCATED IN MESSAGE

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24. (AP)—Pope Pius XI in a Christmas message to the universe today proclaimed a holy year during which he hoped the world would benefit by cessation of talk about reparations, debts, armament, disarmament, war and other troubles, and turn its thought to "expiation" and "reform."

The jubilee year, beginning April 2, 1933, will be in observance of the nineteenth centenary of Christ's passion death and resurrection. The Pope spoke to 22 cardinals bringing him greetings from the whole church, but through them he spoke to the world. In his announcement of the holy year the pontiff asserted that "this beautiful and beneficent service is desired by many persons."

"It will be no light benefit," he continued, "that the world should not hear or speak of conflicts, differences, lack of confidence, armaments, disarmaments, damages, reparations, debts payments, moratoriums, insolvencies, economic and financial interests or of individual miseries. Let the world no longer hear only those notes, but instead those of high spirituality and strong appeal to life and the interests of the soul."

He made the observance for a full year, he explained, in order that it might have "the greatest possible value through prayer, expiation, propitiation, holy indulgences and reform of life. Of all this our days have particular need in the midst of so many tribulations, so much forgetfulness of eternity, so much paganism which pervades life, such pursuit of pleasure by the worldly and of money which is so much abused."

In keeping with ancient custom the pontiff enumerated his joys and sorrows in the last year. Among the joys were the spread of missions, Catholic action and the eucharistic congress. Among his sorrows were "the very sad conditions" in Russia, Mexico, and Spain.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. de Cordova and daughter, Clarice, left yesterday afternoon to spend Christmas with relatives in Oklahoma City.

SALVATION ARMY IS TO BEGIN COMPLETION OF DRIVE TUESDAY

Completion of the Salvation Army home service appeal will be started Tuesday, when solicitors will meet at the city hall at 9 a. m. to receive instructions. Presidents of civic clubs and the Junior chamber of commerce are requested to send representatives to the meeting. Because of bad weather and the rush of Christmas business, the appeal has been greatly retarded. Less than half of the solicitors have been able to see the persons named on their cards. An appeal, too, was made for bigger checks from volunteer givers. These may be sent directly to the Army at headquarters in the city hall or to Treasurer J. O. Gilham. Members of the advisory board were said yesterday to be giving

Children Roar Approval of Big Party

More than 1,100 children of 14 years of age and under filled the lower floor and the balcony of the La Nora theater Saturday morning and even crowded into the aisles at the annual Pampa Daily NEWS-La Nora free Christmas party. Nearly every older child had one or more smaller brothers or sisters by the hand, and a large crowd of parents brought youngsters to the event. For an hour childhood's exuberance rose in deafening approval of the comedies Manager George Limerick of the theater had selected. Then the huge audience of youngsters filed in good order past big boxes of candy and crates of oranges. Members of the Pampa Daily NEWS staff headed off the youngsters, and members of the assisting Lions club, headed by President John Sturgeon, gave every child an orange. "Thank you; it was a swell party," declared the tots as they filed out.

PROVISION IN LAST MONTHS IS CONSISTENT

CHILDREN REMEMBERED IN SCHOOL AND AT CHRISTMAS COOPERATION IS PRAISED

OVER 1,000 TOTS AT ANNUAL FREE PARTY Seldom has any community cared for its needy as well as has Pampa this Christmas and during the months just passed. If there is any family in need, it is believed that the cause was the pride of the parents in not making their condition known. It is a matter of regret to welfare workers that there are some families "in between" dire want and ability to "get along" that are known to be in need. In some instances, these have rebuffed offers of aid. Individually and cooperatively, Pampa has extended not only the necessities of life but some of the seasonal luxuries as well—toys, candy, fruit, nuts, fowls, and "trimmings." Activities have centered about the Welfare Board and the federal relief committee, which have staffs and ample storage room, with the Salvation Army, civic clubs, Elks, fraternal organizations, Red Cross, churches, and schools assisting.

TRAIN LOSSES ON NEW ROAD ARE DETAILED

Express Would Not Be Stopped By Denver Information detailing reasons for the request of the Fort Worth & Denver Northern railroad to abandon operation of a motor passenger coach over the line from Childress to Pampa is contained in a letter from H. H. Durston, executive general agent, to President C. H. Walker of the Board of City Development. The expenses for the four months of operation were given as follows: Wages $3,400.10, repairs $701.95, cleaning $83.01, supplies $90.17, lubricants $153.36, fuel $632.03, engine

Little Rod Will Play For Dance On Monday Night

Little Rod and his orchestra will play for a dance tomorrow night at the Pla-Mor auditorium. Little Rod and his colored musicians will be remembered for the excellent music played when Maggie Jones, negro torch singer, gave an entertainment at the Pla-Mor. The orchestra will appear tomorrow night with two tap dancers (masculine) and a female dancer who executes the torrid movements of the latest Harlem dances. The dance will continue from 9 until 1 o'clock, and maybe later.

SAFE AT DENVER DEPOT LOOTED OF $167 IN DARING BURGLARY

A hammer and chisel were used to gain entrance to the Fort Worth and Denver railroad depot and to smash open the safe sometime Friday night. The burglars got $167 in cash from the safe, which was badly damaged. City and county officers are investigating and Ollie Chesser, special agent from Amarillo, is here on the case. The thieves apparently tried to get entrance through the door of the platform but were foiled after breaking a piece of glass over the lock to find that there was no nail lock on the door. The next attempt, officers believe, was by breaking a piece of glass over the window latch in the negro waiting room, but the window was frozen shut. The successful entry was by breaking the window in the waiting room on the platform side and raising the window after releasing the catch. The door leading from the waiting room to the office was smashed and the key turned in the lock. Chisel marks were found on the safe knob, which was badly battered. Officer G. D. Holmes later found a large chisel which had apparently crashed through the office window when hit a glancing blow. The chisel was on the station platform. The rest of the work on safe knob was apparently done with the hammer, which has not been located. No one heard the burglars at work, the investigation revealed.

SEASON BRINGS BRIGHT LIGHTS

Pampa streets were never gayer with colored lighting and brilliant store fronts than now. And perhaps the most elaborate effects are those of the LaNora theater. The night photograph above is illustrative.

PREACHER HELD FOR CHOKING CHILD TO DEATH SAYS HE WAS TRYING TO 'DRIVE OUT DEVIL'

Father Gave Consent To Perform 'Miracle' Postoffice To Be Closed Tomorrow With the exception of special delivery letters and parcels and the placing of daily newspapers in boxes, the local postoffice will be closed until Tuesday morning as far as incoming mail is concerned. Outgoing mail will be handled as usual with mail being sent on all trains at the regular hours. Parcels were delivered to midnight Christmas eve so that every person in the city could have the parcels that arrived on the afternoon trains. This Christmas was bigger than last in the postoffice. More parcels and more cards were handled, both incoming and outgoing, according to Postmaster D. E. Cecil. Pampa citizens wrapped their parcels securely and addressed them legibly. Little difficulty was encountered, condition, only three parcels coming to the office in bad condition.

COLONEL DIES

SHANGHAI, Dec. 24. (AP)—Col. Richard S. Hooker, veteran soldier and commander of the American marines stationed in the Shanghai area, died suddenly of heart failure while playing with his children in his home here today.

MEN ARE DEAD IS BELIEF OF MINE OFFICIAL

'NOT A CHANCE THEY WILL COME OUT ALIVE' RESCUE SQUADS BUSY EXPLOSION FILLS MAIN TUNNEL FULL OF DEBRIS

MOWEQUA, Ill., Dec. 24. (AP)—They prepared an emergency morgue in this mining town of 1400 on Christmas eve. Fifty-two men, workers in a co-operative mine, were trapped by shale and rock some 700 feet under ground in a coal mine. Rescue squads, working feverishly in shifts from 20 since morning when an explosion buried the men, struck gas late this afternoon. Driven out, the squads donned gas masks and went back to the frantic burrowing in an effort to bring the victims alive to the mine opening, nearly a mile from where they were entombed. Fuddled about the pit mouth were the wives, children and friends of the trapped men, quiet, but fear-stricken. Christmas was completely subdued by tragedy. Flashes of light stabbed the gloom at the mine opening as the search went on in the darkness. Giant search lights were brought in to aid the workers. But as hours passed with no signs of life from beneath the ground, Millhouse became pessimistic—unofficially. He wouldn't tell the relatives what he thought, he didn't want to break their forced bravery, but to newspaper men he said: "I doubt if they'll come out alive," said J. E. Hickman, superintendent of the mine. "There's not a chance." Millhouse, describing conditions underground, said: "The main haulage road (main tunnel) is filled with slate and debris. I find evidence of a violent explosion, the origin of which can not be determined immediately. The rescue squads have made entrance to the point where the cars were found. "The small back shaft (paralleling the main shaft) is in good condition and had sufficient air circulation. The trapped men may have been able to get back into this back entry. "But there was every indication," he said, "that carbon monoxide gas was present, making rescue work difficult."

Combs-Worley In Gift To T. W. C.

PORT WORTH, Dec. 24. (SP)—It was Christmas yesterday for teachers of Texas Woman's college and two Santa Clauses from Pampa were the cause of it. In a letter to President Tom W. Brabham of T. W. C., Mrs. Phoebe Worley and Aiber Combs of Pampa enclosed a check to make up the deficit in December salary checks for 21 teachers of the college. The Christmas checks went out from the president's office at T. W. C. yesterday. Mrs. Worley and Combs, members of the Combs-Worley company, have long been godmother and godfather to benevolent enterprises of the Panhandle. At the beginning of the depression they instituted a building program to absorb the unemployed. They constructed a $100,000 theater, the $100,000 Worley hospital and a $250,000 office building. Both Mrs. Worley and Combs were large contributors to the building program of the First Methodist church of Pampa, which was begun and completed while President Brabham was pastor of the church. Harry L. Price of White Deer was among the Pampa visitors Saturday.

WEST TEXAS: Generally fair Sunday, slightly colder north and east portions; Monday increasing cloudiness. —AND A SMILE CLEVELAND (AP)—H. K. Ferry, county dog warden, told this story today. A small boy asked his father if it was impolite to give away Christmas presents. "Very impolite," his father assured him, "very." Today the boy presented his father with a dog collar, and his mother with a dog collar.

'Uses of Adversity' Are Extolled By Governor In Christmas Message

AUSTIN, Dec. 24. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling today issued a Christmas message to the people of Texas as follows:

"The yuletide season of peace on earth, good will to men, brings another year near its close; the season for putting aside selfish thoughts and for paramounting the nobler spiritual and charitable impulses of humanity.

"It has been a year of sore stress in Texas, as elsewhere; a critical time in the affairs of civilized peoples throughout the world, and one that was brought suffering, sorrow and tragedy to countless lives. But the sunshine of hope and cheer still beams from the clouded heavens and by the grace and mercy of the omnipotent power that shapes the destinies of all men, we shall yet witness the return of happier days.

"To many of us the bias of economic tribulation during the past two or three years has been as a fiery ordeal. But fire cleanses, purifies and tempers. Sweet are the uses of adversity," sang the poet. We may take consolation from the thought that it has had at least those beneficial effects, forging stronger and closer the bonds of human brotherhood, sympathy and understanding, and tempering the sinews of our character to grapple with the changed forces of a new era.

"Personally, and as governor of Texas, with all my heart I wish for every man, woman and child in this state a truly joyous Christmas, and in the new year the fruits of a reviving prosperity. And to the end that as many as possible may be enabled to feel the spirit of 'Merry Christmas and Happy New Year,' I would earnestly remind the more fortunate ones that this is the time of year when they should particularly think of the other fellow, and do what they can to bring cheer into the lives of the poor and needy.

"At this hallowed season let us all take new hope, faith and courage, and dedicate our utmost efforts to building of the new year a structure of that real happiness which comes from the living of upright, useful lives, regardless of the state of our worldly fortunes. Let us have confidence in ourselves, in our fellow men and in the future. Let us resolve to work more and complain less. And may we realize that the welfare of our government and ourselves is extricably interwoven; that the government is our business and needs our active attention now as never before.

"The sentiments of Christmas and New Year I sincerely bespeak to and for the people of this great commonwealth."

Royal Family Of England Spend Gay Christmas

SANDRINGHAM, Eng., Dec. 24. (AP)—King George became a simply country squire tonight as the blaze of the royal yule log banished the cares of state.

It was the beginning of a jolly fireside Christmas in Sandringham house, where, as is their custom, the king and queen spend the holidays surrounded by their children and grandchildren.

With them are the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York with their children, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, the Duke of Gloucester, Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, and Lord Athlone, the queen's brother.

The holiday spirit first centered on the white drawing room where a tall Christmas tree, bright with candies and glittering decorations, was laden with presents.

There were gifts on the tree for every servant on duty and the king and queen personally distributed them to the royal help. Then came the Christmas ball, at which the king and queen and their guests watched the servants and the king's tenants of the Sandringham estate.

But particularly for the youngsters, this was only a sample of the good things on the morrow for it is on Christmas morning that the royal family exchanges presents.

Both Princess Elizabeth, now six years old, and her tiny sister, Princess Margaret, aged 4, have had their eyes on the presents.

Princess Elizabeth has been particularly busy. Her Christmas list was a double one this year—one for herself and one for her sister—and no state secret has been more closely guarded than the nature of their gifts.

Tom Beck of Magic City is spending the week-end here with friends.

Small Amount Of Davis' Money Is Found by Police

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Discovery of $500 in a safe deposit box held by the late Walter C. Davis, fugitive Colorado banker who was alleged to have absconded with $1,000,000, was disclosed by police tonight.

The money, all in cash, was found in a box at the Bowery Savings bank. It had been rented under the name of W. C. Davis, the same name used in renting another box at the Manufacturers Trust company. The latter yielded only Davis' passport and two silver souvenirs.

The Bowery Savings bank box was traced through the aid of locksmiths who manufactured one of several keys found among Davis' effects after the banker's arrest and subsequent suicide.

Efforts to locate other safe deposit boxes in New York having failed, Chief Hugh D. Harper of Colorado Springs police was in Washington, D. C., tonight checking a report that Davis might have hidden large sums in that city.

Chief Harper left New York yesterday, saying he would continue back to Colorado after investigating the Washington clue.

Buffalos Will Leave On Road Trip Dec. 29

CANYON, Dec. 24.—Coach Burton, together with his basketball giants will leave Canyon Dec. 29, for his first road trip of the season. On this trip he will engage Southwestern Teachers at Weatherford on Dec. 30; Southwestern College, Winfield, Kans., Dec. 31; the Southern Kansas State Lines Jan. 2; Oklahoma City University Jan. 4, and Phillips university on Jan. 5.

It is expected that ten men besides the coach will make the trip. They are Comer, Colvin, Monroe, and Harris, forwards; Stroud, Richards, Burz, and Williams, guards; Captain Joe Fortenberry, and "Big" John Walker, centers.

"If our defense will just function I believe we will have the greatest team we have ever turned out," declared Coach "Bud" Sam Burton when commenting on prospects for the season, and Canyon has had some great teams in the past. In eleven seasons a total of 233 games have been played, 199 have been won. In ten years of conference competition the Buffalos have been champions six times, runners up twice and in third place twice.

Last year was the first appearance for the Buffs at the national tournament, but they proved the sensation of the tournament in the first round of play, when they defeated the Kansas City Athletic club blue diamonds, a team favored to go far in tournament play.

"Richards, 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighing 160; Bury, 6 feet and weighing 165; Monroe, 6 feet 3; weighing 145, are the runts of the squad. The other squadmen range from 6 feet 3 inches to 6 feet 7 inches, and from 185 pounds up to 215 pounds. This is really a team of giants, and worthy of their title "Tallest Team in America."

Buying Barbara

by Julia Cleff-Addams • Author of "YOU CAN'T MARRY"

SYNOPSIS: Out of a curious failure, whereby the senior members of Quantis, Lodely and Cane died penniless and James Cane prospered and was knighted, has grown an equally curious situation. In five days, although Mark is a cripple and often cruel, it seems making good. Farrell Armitage's fortune that bankrupted the firm, yet Farrell has fallen in love with Barbara, a girl who has come to her—Lella Cane, daughter of Sir James. Barbara has bought her way to remove the fire in Mark's room, and he laughs.

Chapter 9
BAITING BARBARA

BARBARA rearranged the fire, kneeling before it to hide the color that swept her face, then resumed her seat.

She knew better than to chatter to Mark but his hard stare discomposed her and she picked up a sheaf of drawings from the floor and began to examine them. She was bending over the third before she realized that he had probably left them on the floor on purpose.

They were in pencil and they were brutal. They followed the fortunes of a man and a girl—a lame man and a girl with a plodding, peasant soul. They showed the lame man cooking a meager dinner while she, tall, square and frowning, battled with her ledgers.

Or he—in a boudoir cap—went while she glowered, three small coins upon the table between them. Or he sat, his shoulders timidly hunched, winding yarn, his lame leg propped up to hold the skein clear; and she tinkered at some bookshelves against the wall.

Barbara, cold by the crackling log, closed her eyes. Often, with Mark, one had to close one's eyes for a moment and fumble back for things—beliefs, vows, endurance.

They came in the form of pictures Mr. Lodely, coming through the garden to turn Mark's tear-stained, sulky face to his; Mr. Lodely relinquishing him and laying his hand instead on her curls.

"Babs, I want you to promise something. I've got to go away. Until I come back, take care of Mark. Take good care of him, Babs." And then, three minutes later, the sound of the shot . . .

And then there was her own mother, fading gently out of life before her husband had been a full year in his grave. "Never forget that it's dignified to earn and mean just to take. I planned, you know, to keep a little shop. Perhaps when you're a grown-up girl, my baby, you'll like to keep a little shop."

"This is naughty of you, Mark," she protested tranquilly. "And it's brilliant. You're always most brilliant when you're most unkind."

"It's not unkindness, it's the cry of the sensitive spirit." He flicked a cigarette end in the direction of the grate. It was not extinguished and she was obliged to get up and put it into the fire or it would have burned a hole in the hearth-rug.

"Judy has been telling me I'm too sensitive," he went on, "so I must be. Am I, Barbara?"

"Not about stupid, conventional things," she said cautiously. (So often, in this kind of conversation, one helps to dig a pit for oneself.)

"Not about stupid, conventional things," echoed Mark in tones of admiration. "And how stupid the conventions can be only a free, jolly, Bohemian soul like our Barbara can ever know. Now I come to think of it, we shall be going to a very stupid convention next Thursday. Let's cut it out and keep nose together under the bulging clerical eyes of Toxeter. But no—I forgot! It would be bad for business."

Barbara was still determinedly smiling.

"Would you rather put off getting married, Mark? As things are, we can't quite wait a bit. We can't get away spare time for a honeymoon, anyway."

"Postponement of sentence? I'd rather get it over, my dear."

She was goaded, in spite of the long, patient years, into a flash of pride.

"If you're even remotely serious in what you say, let's call it off! We can go on being close friends—"

"Thank you!" Oh, thank you for those kind words!

"—nothing need be changed. But, after all, it was your—your suggestion, originally. You—asked me to marry you."

He lit another cigarette.

"But, beautiful Barbara—solemn, hard-working, sensible Barbara—I always ask women to marry me

R. F. C. Slashes Interest Rate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Reconstruction corporation today deposited a reduced interest rate in the Christmas stockings of banks, financial institutions and railroads.

The cut was one half of one percent on all forms of loans, the farmer borrower from the agricultural credit corporations being given a chance to save even more if appraisal costs are less than one percent.

The corporation, sole government agency to keep open on Christmas Eve, revamped its interest rates for the first time since it began operations last February. The reason given was the "prevailing low rates of money" in the open market.

The reduction is effective for six months beginning January 1, 1933. It is effective on the balances of old loans and on new loans maturing not later than Dec. 31, 1933.

Some commission officials fixed the saving to borrowers at $7,000,000 to $8,000,000 a year. On the basis of the loans made during the period ending Dec. 1 to railroads, banks and other financial institutions—$1,071,786,598—with allowances for the differences in interest rates, the saving on these classes alone would have been approximately $6,000,000.

Approval of Beer Is Expected Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Congressional approval of the house 3.2 per cent beer bill this session was definitely expected today by most senate leaders and plans were made for speeding action on the measure after the Christmas recess. With no evidence of a concerted dry movement to stop the bill, both republican and democratic leaders forecast its approval by congress at this session, but agreed the measure's ultimate fate rested with President Hoover.

NATIONAL SANTA CLAUSES "CARRY ON"

Each country has its own version of the Santa Claus legend. France's Pere Noel is shown asking a Paris gendarme how to find his way to the homes of good children. A modern St. Nicholas reaches Berlin by airplane and England's Father Christmas arrives in a sleigh drawn by a snow-flecked pony.

LONDON (AP)—Christmas-tide this year found the old world with a rather scant purse but as rich as ever in tradition.

From these northerly British Isles, home of the boar's head, the Yule log and the blazing pudding, to the southerly shores of the Mediterranean, the old customs of each race have been carried out as thoroughly as economic conditions would permit.

The Christmas spirit, personified by Santa Claus in America, by Father Christmas here, Pere Noel in France, St. Nicholas in Germany and the wise men and patriarchal shepherds in predominantly Catholic or Greek Orthodox countries to the south, has had its yearly rule. Everywhere thoughts have turned to the children and the home and where distress threatened a bleak holiday season to families of jobless workers, steps have been taken to see that food, warmth and gifts of some sort should mark the day as one apart from the rest of the year.

MADRID'S POOR GET EX-ROYAL RAINMENT

MADRID (AP)—Many poor children in Spain will play with royal toys and wear royal clothes after this Christmas.

The custodian of the ex-royal properties announced that thousands of toys and garments that belonged to the family of ex-King Alfonso would be divided among the provinces for distribution to the poor.

ROME (AP)—Santa Claus is virtually unknown to Italian children and gift day is Epiphany, the feast of the Three Wise Men.

It comes January 6 this year and then on the Sunday following gifts will pour upon the youngsters in

Fishermen's Families Rejoice As Entire Fleet Docks For Christmas

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Dec. 24. (AP)—

"Six months pay in a sailor's pocket," "Home, by bulles, homing," "Gal with my picture in her locket," "Home for Christmas morning."

The foregoing quatrain was written for merchant seamen, but, except for its allusion to regular wages, it might well apply to Gloucester's fishermen.

The fishing fleet will be in and the crews shore for Christmas morning. On no other day in all the year can the entire fleet be found snug in port. Christmas alone is red lettered on the Gloucesterman's calendar. It is the old port's one brief respite from waiting and anxiety. The holiday is the fishermen's own choice, and no other date could be more fitting than that on which is sung the name of the Christ who shared their lot of old.

Families were reunited tonight. Sturdy feet beat on the narrow pavements leading up from the wharves. Cheery hails rang out as friends met who might not meet again before another yuletide.

Church congregations were again intact. Midnight mass at St. Ann's. Midnight mass at the church of our lady of good voyage, where the sons of the immortal Vasco da Gama ask and give thanks for safe voyages. The statue of our lady is crowned with a crown of gold—an offering of Captain Joe Mesquita in gratitude for his own narrow escape from death in the great waters. Our lady bears in her hands the model of a ship—lovingly carved by a member of the congregation.

Boys Drown Where H. Hudson Landed

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Close to the spot where Hendrik Hudson landed after discovering the river which now bears his name, two small boys fell through thin ice into Indian creek today.

James McGuire, 9, was drowned. Thomas Stafford, 8, was saved. Twelve of the small army of rescuers were taken to hospitals, one of them in critical condition.

For 30 minutes Patrolman Louis Eitlinger, one of the first on the scene, struggled around in the icy water holding to the two boys, then his fingers became so numb he lost his grip.

The Stafford boy was pulled into a boat a moment later, but the McGuire boy vanished under the egg-shell coating of ice and did not reappear.

GERMAN CHRISTMAS CENTERS ON TREES

BERLIN (AP)—This Teutonic land, source of Christmas customs known throughout the world, considers no home complete at this season without a decorated tree. At the foot is a manger, of cardboard, wood or pottery.

BRAZIL MAY REFORM MID-SUMMER XMAS

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A movement to give Brazil a warm weather Christmas instead of the copy of the northern celebration now in vogue, has been started by Christovao de Camargo, prominent writer. It is ridiculous, Senhor Camargo holds, for Brazilians to adopt "Papa Noel" and place bits of cotton on trees to simulate snow while boiling hot weather marks the southern hemisphere's summer.

Instead, he suggests, Brazilians should revive an old colonial legend which made "Grandfather Indian" the Santa Claus of the country. This legend had it that "Grandfather Indian" got toys for children from an enormous tropical tree, far above the reach of ordinary men.

Theory of a quarrel over a dental plate made by Dr. Beyer was strengthened when Conway Elder, son of the slain woman and a former judge of the Missouri supreme court said his mother was dissatisfied with Dr. Beyer's work. When she left home for his office Thursday she said she intended to have the dentist "make it right," Elder said.

Friends of Mrs. Elder said that despite her age she was able to express herself in biting English when aroused. An acquaintance of Dr. Beyer said he was easily aroused to anger.

The finding of her battered body in Dr. Beyer's office yesterday, and the unexpected appearance of Dr.

Beyer at his home Thursday with scratches on his face, a bruise under his right eye, and a torn necktie gave evidence Mrs. Elder had put up a fight for her life.

A note was found in the dentist's desk which read in part: "This blackmailer got hers—me for the river," and upon this note Chief Gerk based his theory the dentist drowned himself.

May Your Christmas Be Joyous May The New Year Be Prosperous

We would count this a poor Christmas if we could not count among our gifts—your friendship. Each holiday season as the old year draws to a close we realize most keenly and appreciatively the value of our association with our patrons. Much of the joy of Christmas, for the officials and employees of this lumber company comes from the knowledge that we have so many warm friends in Pampa. TIGERS RATED SLIGHT FAVORITE OVER MASONIC HOME

MASONS' HOPE FOR VICTORY WITH McCALL

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE SLATED FOR MONDAY

By BILL PARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.
CORNICANA, Dec. 24. (AP)—The biggest and best athletic event in the history of this busy little city will be held Monday afternoon when the local high school Tigers battle the invading Masonic Home team from Fort Worth for the 1932 Texas Interscholastic League class A football championship.
At least 10,000 people are expected to see the game. The gates will be thrown open at 1 o'clock Monday. Both teams have announced ready with their full strength. That means it is a tilt to the finish between two scintillating offensive teams and one really fine defensive team—that being the Corsicana Tigers.
After being eliminated in the bi-district semi-finals of 1930 and 1931, the Corsicana Tigers have finally reached the final round. Coach Johnny Pierce boasts one of the finest teams to yet represent Corsicana on the gridiron.
After winning the Class B regional championship for several years, Masonic Home was admitted to the Class A division this year. The Masons' success in reaching the final round has been phenomenal.
It is the first time in several years that the final championship game has been played in a big city like Fort Worth, Dallas or Waco. The Abilene high school Eagles won the title last year by beating Beaumont, 13-0.
Corsicana is a slight favorite for the championship. Well balanced from wing to wing, strong defensively and strong offensively, the Corsicana boys have what the wisecrackers call an advantage—that of playing in their own back yard.
All Depends On McCall.
It is the consensus that the Masons' hope for victory will rest on the ability of big Scott McCall, quarterback and all-around star. He is being referred as the league's greatest football star. He scored the touchdown and booted the placement point last week that defeated Amarillo, 7-6. He is slow but powerful. It is the consensus that if McCall is at his best, the Masons will strike like lightning but if he plays a mediocre ball game, the Masons will resemble an ordinary ball team. That's exactly how good McCall is alleged to be.
There isn't much difference in their weights. Masonic Home has a five-pound advantage. The Masons average 172 pounds to the man. The Tigers average 167. Remove the 225-pound Kelsey from the center position on the Masons' team, and the weight will stack about even.
In the event of a tie game, the championship will be determined on the same rules as bi-district combats. That is, 20-yard penetrations, then first down, and then yardage gained. Coach Pierce of Corsicana and Coach Russell of the Masons have agreed on this standard scholastic league rule.
The Masons planned to embark late Sunday afternoon for Corsicana. They will rest in the Navarro county city Sunday night, and be ready for their crucial test with the state championship in the balance.

HARVESTERS EXPECTING HARD FIGHT WITH PLAINVIEW FIVE

Trojans' Coach Fears Lethargy Toward Panther

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24. (AP)—The night before Christmas found football Coach Howard Harding Jones of the University of Southern California team in anything but a benevolent mood so far as Pittsburgh and the Rose tournament game were concerned.
But Trojans' head man is a bit afraid that come January 2 his players still will be clinging to the spirit of yuletide and perhaps will present the game to the Panthers.
"It's pretty hard to figure the moods of thirty or forty players," said Jones. "But if they have the same attitude my boys did a year ago against Tulane we'll take a licking." He hastened to add that the breaks helped out his eleven last New Year's day.
"Pitt is coming here prime for football mood a year ago, but they better be when we meet Pitt because the Panthers are every bit as good as was Tulane."
Coach Jones knows Pittsburgh is going to administer some of his team's own medicine in the way of kick-kicks. Both teams have used this weapon to advantage this year.
He realizes both teams are in possession of remarkable defensive ability and have offenses which strike quickly and accurately when the breaks come.
That leaves the situation, in his opinion, pretty much of a toss up with the outcome depending on the possible mental attitude of the opposing players.
"Pitt is coming here prime for revenge after that 47 to 14 defeat three years ago," Jones pointed out. "There will be no over confidence on its part. So far as psychology goes, we are in the hole as the result of the pre-game setup, and are in a fine position to take a beating."

Pampa Has Never Won From Bulldogs; Center Is All-State Candidate.

Plainview's big Bulldog basketball team will invade Pampa tomorrow morning for games to-morrow and Tuesday nights with the fast-stepping Pampa Harvesters. The green and gold clad Pampans have won their first six starts this season and are hoping to make it seven and also their first victory over a Plainview team.
The Bulldogs, underdogs in football, have always been on the top of the district heap in basketball. This year's team appears to be another winner, according to Coach Froggy Lovvorn, one of the craftiest basketball coaches in the state.
Lovvorn has Mabry, big center, and Wester, one of the best goal-shooters in the state, back this season, along with the Lowry brothers. Ray Johnson is the other member of the first team. Mabry and Wester provide the scoring punch.
Coach Odus Mitchell has one of the strongest teams ever produced and he is hoping to break the Plainview jinx two nights in a row. He will have his full team ready to take the floor against the well-known Bulldogs. Captain Midget Woodward and Miles Marbaugh will be at forward. Hoot Fullingim will hold down the center job. The defensive combination will be Jess Patton and Wayne Kelley.
The Harvesters are also blessed with a world of good substitutes in Bill Kelley, Lester Sartin, Clovis Green, J. R. Green, Orville Heiskell, and Dick Sullins.
The games will start at 7:30 o'clock. A preliminary game will be played each night. Admission to the games will be 10 cents for students and 25 for adults.
The Harvesters will be at home to the Big Lake Oilers Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Big Lake team boasts eight players. Their average height is 6 feet plus.

FOOTBALL IS STILL HOLDING PUBLIC FANCY

ATHLETIC BUSINESS IS STEADILY SHOWING FIRMER

By ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Summed up for 1932, the Associated Press sports poll indicates the business of American athletics has successfully survived its most difficult period of depression and deflation, even though there were not as satisfactorily on a less elaborate and expensive scale than during the boom times.
By weathering the financial storm, however, observers throughout the country seem to be convinced that sports in general have readjusted themselves to a less elaborate and expensive scale than during the boom times.
The widespread program of retrenchment has demonstrated that operations can be conducted just as satisfactorily on a less elaborate and expensive scale than during the boom times.
One of the certainties in prospect for 1933 is that the move to curtail intercollegiate athletics, especially football in preference for intramurals or "house competition," will be discarded altogether.
Minor sports will be curtailed only because of any changes in policy by the colleges. Yale's advocacy of a "five-game" football slate, publicized last spring, has been dropped by the new E.I. administration and the 1933 football schedules, in general, have been framed with an eye to box office appeal.
The Sport Leaders.
Here is a roundup of the results obtained in the several phases of the nation-wide poll among sports editors and writers:
Leading performer—Men.
1. Gene Sarazen, golf, 53 votes;
2. Ellisworth Vines, tennis, 36 votes;
3. Eddie Tolan, 34 votes.
Leading performer—Women.
1. Babe Didrikson, track, 77 votes;
2. Helene Madison, swimming, 45 votes;
3. Helen Willis Moody, tennis, 24 votes.
Leading team performance:
1. New York Yankees, 100 votes;
2. Colgate, football, 33 votes;
3. Southern California, football, 28.
Biggest upset:
1. Pittsburgh's defeat of Notre Dame, football, 43 votes; 2. Bill Carr's victories over Ben Eastman, track, 20 votes; 3. Notre Dame's victory over Army, football, 15 votes.
Sports best surviving conditions:
1. College football, 65 votes; 2. professional baseball, 48 votes; 3. golf, 35 votes.
Chief trends or developments:
1. Better shows for less money;
2. economy programs; 3. rules legislation to safeguard or better such sports as football and basketball.

BABE PLAYS GARBO ROLE

Didrikson Says Nothing And Keeps Out of Sight In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Mildred Babe (Mysterious Mildred) Didrikson, by a vote of the experts ranked as the world's greatest woman athlete, was located in Chicago to-night—just as she left for another unannounced destination.
Since she left St. Louis yesterday "going west," the Texas cyclone had managed to keep out of sight as she went about her business in Chicago, presumably the business of lining up professional contracts.
She was found at a loop hotel, accompanied by her sister, Esther, and had nothing but "hello" and a large grin as responses to questions. She had no further comment to make on her difficulties with the Amateur Athletic Union and declined to be photographed.
She had an appointment at the offices of a chain radio broadcasting company, but did not keep it and gave no explanation as to why she hadn't.
Babe, who captured two championships in the games of the tenth Olympiad at Los Angeles, was suspended by the A. U. about three weeks ago for alleged violation of rules prohibiting endorsement of commercial products. The suspension was lifted this week after she had declared her intention of becoming a professional.
At St. Louis she commented vigorously on what she called arbitrary of A. U. rules. President Avery Brundage of the national A. U. answered her charges, adding a light touch in saying that he was not so certain that the ancient Greeks were not right in keeping women out of their athletic activities.

PLAINVIEW IS CONFIDENT OF DISTRICT TITLE

BULLDOGS MAKE GOOD SHOWING AGAINST ATHENS

Plainview and Lubbock will be strong contenders for District 1 basketball honors this season, according to results of games already played. Both clubs have played the great Athens Hornets. Plainview, which Lubbock gave a great defensive exhibition.
The Hornets, formerly under Jimmie Kitts but now in charge of Bobo Nelson, have another great team this season according to reports from Plainview and Lubbock. The Hornets dropped the Bulldogs 52 to 36 Friday night, and downed the Westerners 33 to 19 Thursday night.
The Harvesters meet the Plainview Bulldogs here tomorrow and Tuesday night and instead of watching only Mabry, big center, and Wester, great scoring forward, the Harvesters will also have a youngster by the name of Foster to look after. Foster scored 15 points against the Hornets while they were taking care of Mabry and Wester.
Plainview had the advantage of getting the tip-off. In Mabry Plainview has one of the best high school centers in the country. He was also the defensive star of the game but was weak on the offensive. However, Mabry controlled the tip-off against the Hornets most of the time, and that fact alone should give the Harvesters and "Hoot" Fullingim in particular, something to mull over. The Plainview Herald says: "If he had done nothing else he would have justified his being on the team."
The newspaper summarizes the prospects of the Bulldogs in this manner: Ray and Foster . . . make hopes of a district title this season decidedly brighter. It is a little early for predictions but unless some school turns up with a sensational team the Bulldogs are doped by at least one critic to grab off a district championship." Of the Athens game, the Herald said: "The Bulldogs fought all the way and presented a brand of basketball that bodes ill for their district opponents this season."
Big Lake at Lubbock.
The Harvesters will be able to gather hope on the Big Lake quintet, which plays here Wednesday and Thursday nights, after the Oil Belt leaders from Reagan county meet the Lubbock Westerners at Lubbock Tuesday evening. The result of that scrap and leading to Mr. Mitchell and his Harvesters just what manner of opponents they will be up against. Comparing the results of the Pampa-Plainview game tomorrow and Tuesday nights with the scores of the Athens-Lubbock affair, and bearing in mind Lubbock's showing against Athens and Big Lake, should either make the Harvesters self-confident or should give them a profound let-down. The latter is most likely.

Roosevelts To Celebrate Day Quietly at Home

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 24. (AP)—President-Elect Roosevelt gave a Christmas party for 60 neighbors at the executive mansion today, then piled Christmas gifts into a big sedan and set out for a Christmas reunion with his family at his home in Hyde Park.
Before starting the 70-mile trip down the Hudson Valley, Gov. Roosevelt announced Monday war-nitely had been set for the visit of Norman H. Davis, American representative at the Geneva disarmament conference.
Mr. Davis, with whose aid the president-elect intends to keep in close touch with the European war debt and disarmament situation and the preliminary work for the world disarmament conference in the spring, will remain over Monday night at the executive mansion. Later he will confer with the American members of the committee of experts considering the agenda for the world conference, before they sail for Europe.
Mr. Davis has been mentioned in connection with the post of secretary of state in the Roosevelt cabinet.

Funeral Rites For Centenary Matron

PALESTINE, Dec. 24. (AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Martha Owen Griffith, matron at Centenary college in this afternoon. She was 72.
Shortly after her arrival in Dallas yesterday for a Christmas visit to the home of her nephew, Owen W. Sherrill, she tripped on a stairway and fell about eight feet, fracturing her skull and a leg, and she died before reaching a hospital. Sherrill is regional manager of the crop production loan branch of the Reconstruction Finance corporation in the southwest.
Mrs. Griffith had been associated with Centenary college for the past ten years. At the time of her death she was matron of the boys' dormitory.

DENISON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Andrew Fox Platter, 82, founder of the Waples-Platter grocery company and a resident of Denison since 1872, died the year the first railroad entered Texas from the north. He died today at his home here. He was a director and officer of the State National bank of Denison 37 years.

Mr. Davis has been mentioned in connection with the post of secretary of state in the Roosevelt cabinet.

The New York governor was in one of his happiest moods as he prepared for the ride to Hyde Park and the Christmas reunion. Two of his grandchildren will be the only members of his immediate family who will not participate in the holiday observance. One of them, 18-weeks-old William Roosevelt, Elliott's child, is too young. Another, little "Sistie" Dall, daughter of Curtis B. PITT COACH WANTS LUCK

Sutherland Believes Only Good Luck Will Help Him Beat Troy.

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 24. (AP)—When John Bain Sutherland hangs up his sock tonight it will be in the hope Santa Claus brings him a big package of good luck.
For it appears the University of Pittsburgh football coach believes only good luck will enable his Panthers to beat the Trojans of Southern California at the Pasadena Rose Bowl January 2.
"Pittsburgh has as good a team as its record indicates, but Southern California has a better," he said.
Sutherland called attention to Pittsburgh's two scoreless tie games this season against Ohio State and Nebraska while the Trojans won all their games. Bill Kern, assistant coach, interposed to say he believed Pittsburgh found Notre Dame on an "off" day when they defeated the Irish 12-0.
This morning (ie Pittsburgh men were left to their own devices. Coach Sutherland laid down only one restriction—no horseback riding. This edict grew out of Warren Heller's "ride" yesterday. The ride was terminated abruptly by the horse, Heller coming to a thousand-point landing on a cactus. Tomorrow morning the Panthers will go to church. In the afternoon they will be taken on a sight-seeing trip into the desert. Their day will close with Christmas dinner.

Three Pampans On All-District Team at Borger

"Sideline Slants" of the Borger Daily Herald Has Released His All-District Football Selections like the rest of the sports writers in the district who have given up hope that Jerry Mallin of the Amarillo NEWS will get a compiled record complete this year.

The Borgerite has not less than seven Amarillo players on his list. He also has three players from Pampa and one from Borger. Lubbock is left out in the cold.
Here is his list:
Players, Team Position

Ex-Slaves Sing 'Swing Low' As 'Fo' De Wah'

ATLANTA, Dec. 24. (AP)—A handful of former slaves, their dusky faces creased with wrinkles and their eyes glazed with the film of a hundred years, gathered here at dusk today for a little Christmas "fun."
Each Christmas eve they assemble at the Holmes Institute to receive presents and sing and dance and eat until their weary old bodies plead for rest.
It's the only big day in their lives—these old folks who were human merchandise and manned the plows of the cotton country while white man harangued and fought over their servitude.
"Hyah 'Tis Chrismus agin," said one of the former slaves whose hair is as white and kinky as cotton in the bottom lands, "and de folks is a 'gruntin' bout hard times. De been a 'gruntin' a hundrad years—since I wuz a boy. And dey'll keep a 'gruntin' as long as dey think 'no' 'bout gettin' then dey does 'bout givin'."
They sang and hummed the old songs of their childhood—"Fo' de wah" songs they call them. These melodies are their only heritage. The rhythm was pagan. It rolled like the echoes of tom-toms on the Congo. But the words were about Gallee and Jordan and Jericho.
"Swing Low, Sweet Chariot"—it was soft and low now. The old men blinked back their tears. Younger persons wept openly.—"Coming For to Carry Me Home"—the volume swelled until it sounded like surf waves. "Swing Low"—softly again. "Coming"—it was a sob—"For to Carry Me Home."
The song ended, an old negro chariot on a cart, led by Mr. Die Easy When I Die.
They all knew the chariot is waiting for them just beyond the horizon.

Organ 100 Years Old To Peal Out Galveston Carols

GALVESTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—A little hand-made organ, believed to be more than 100 years old and long unused, will peal out Christmas music tomorrow at St. Joseph's Catholic church here.
The old organ, which had lain in the organ loft of the church unused for the past ten years, has been put in shape again and will be heard at the Christmas high mass.
Much of the history of the instrument is lost, but it is believed to have been brought to Texas from Mexico some hundred years ago by monks. It was changed around from church to church, some Catholic, some Protestant, in the days when Texas was young, and finally found its way to Galveston, just how, nobody knows.
The old organ, which was made entirely by hand, still has a clear, sweet tone in spite of its age.
Robert M. Postlewait of Carrollton, Ill., arrived yesterday afternoon to spend the rest of the winter with his daughter Mrs. James Todd, Jr., and the Rev. Todd.
Miss Neva Bergen is with her parents in Canyon for the Christmas holidays.

Earl Worley of Canadian made a business trip here Friday.

Homer Casey of Miami was in the city last night.

Four Persons Drown In Car Accident

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Dec. 24 (AP)—Four persons drowned late today when their automobile plunged off a partly submerged bridge 25 miles from here and settled in several feet of water.

All the victims were members of two families, on their way to spend Christmas with relatives in the nearby county of Yell.

The victims were: Miss Virgil Carter, 31, an dttwo children, Wilma, 12, and Sherman, 3, and Bobby Otere, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Carter, all of Hot Springs. The body of Sherman was recovered several yards down stream but efforts to resuscitate him failed. Bodies of the other three remained in the automobile.

Theodore Carter said he broke a glass in the sedan, as it left the bridge, and succeeded in getting out only to be swept downstream by the swift current. He said he swam back to aid the others but the automobile in the meantime had settled in the water, which is more than 10 feet deep.

Switzerland has only seven cities of 50,000 or more population, nearly 80 per cent of its inhabitants living in small towns or rural districts.

Rockefeller Is Observing His 93rd Christmas

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Dec. 24 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller Sr., who celebrates his 93rd Christmas tomorrow, started his holidays today by playing golf and dispelling rumors he had abandoned the game because of his health. He had not played since his arrival six weeks ago.

Exhibiting his usual good nature, the aged philanthropist appeared on the links in a foursome which included Virginia Van Wie, the national women's golf champion. Rockefeller played two holes thru, then slammed the ball at the third green and quit, considering that sufficient exertion for the day.

In a brief yuletide message, the man who has given many millions to benefit his fellow men, said: "Good will and best wishes of the glad holiday time for all mankind."

He will spend his Christmas quietly, attending church tomorrow morning.

Rockefeller's golf game seemed to be as good as ever. Peering from under an African sun helmet, he gripped his club firmly and made nice drives to the first and second greens. With unusual precision, he sank a two foot putt on the second, drawing the exclamation "that's a beauty" from Miss Van Wie.

Experiments in England have demonstrated that racing pigeons and several kinds of wild birds fly more rapidly than the swiftest airplanes.

Street traffic markers composed of rust proof metal carrying reflectors that are set flush with paving have been invented by an Indiana man.

East And West Teams Workout For Jan. 2 Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24 (AP)—On two neutral fields, far from the scene of their charity game here January 2, football stars of the east and west launched heavy practice programs today.

The day before Christmas was just another day of work. Coach Andy Kerr of Colgate and Dick Hanley of Northwestern established headquarters at Stanford university and sent their eastern charges through a stiff session this afternoon. Coaches Dana K. Bible of Nebraska and Orin Hollingsbery of Washington State worked out the west team at Berkeley.

Coach Glenn Warner, who leaves Stanford to go to Temple university next year, was on hand to look over the talent assembled by his former assistant, Kerr, and his friend, Hanley. Warner was particularly interested in Harry Newman, Michigan quarterback, and Paul Moss, Purdue end, and offered the opinion "if that combination starts clicking it might make a bad day of it for the west."

Pending recovery of Joe Crowley, Yale half back laid up with a wrenched knee, the east lacks one man for two complete elevens. Because of Crowley's injury Jack Manders, Minnesota fullback who was scheduled to play a guard position for this game, was switched into the backfield lineup yesterday.

Horses, Horses Get Socialite In 'Jam'

CHICAGO, Dec. 24 (AP)—The high cost of being a society equestrienne brought Miss Beatrice Kirk, 22, into bankruptcy court today.

The daughter of Walter R. Kirk of the soap manufacturing family filed in federal district court a bankruptcy petition putting her liabilities at $11,991 and assets at $848.

The liabilities include a debt of $9,154 to her father, but that had little to do with the bankruptcy business, said her attorney, Richard D. Quinlan, on the asset side she listed a riding horse at $750, that was really her biggest liability.

Quinlan said she bought the horse a year ago from Herman Goldberg, horse fancier near Kenosha, Wis., and agreed to pay $2,000 for it. The bill is not yet paid, Goldberg having obtained a judgment for $2,012 against Miss Kirk. Then along came a bill for $825 for the horse's board and room in Harry Owens' stables at Wadsworth, Ill., she decided she could not pay, Quinlan said, and decided on the bankruptcy note.

The petition classified Miss Kirk as "home girl." Her assets: one riding habit; one suitcase; eight hats, four dresses; two coats; two evening gowns, all worth $89; one riding horse, at Miss Kirk's estimate worth $750; total $848. The Kirk Soap company was merged with Proctor and Gamble two years ago, Walter Kirk remaining active as a director.

Christmas party, in which the Lions assisted, was a delight to more than 1,100 children of 14 years and under.

On Saturday morning the federal relief committee issued checks and orders totaling $854.80 to about 140 men who had done part time work in the previous week. The LeFors committee announced that it had expended $159 in the last two weeks, in which 42 persons participated. The above amounts included part cash and part groceries. With less than $1,000 of the federal appropriation remaining, the local committee faces the prospect of curtailing its work program until the next federal check is received. D. A. Banded, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, spent part of last week in Washington to complete arrangements for the first three months of the new year, a period in which the Pampa committee hopes to obtain $22,000.

Clothing Distributed. Welfare work has given many destitute families comforts they had not known in other years. The Red Cross, for instance, distributed flour, underwear, shoes, night gowns, dresses, overalls, and other garments. Mrs. W. H. Davis of the Welfare Board had charge of distribution. Centering of distribution in the Board was essential in preventing duplications, but this did not interfere with a great amount of welfare work by other organizations and by individuals. Both the Welfare Board and Red Cross drives were unexpectedly successful in spite of conditions believed unfavorable to such appeals. Late by the Salvation Army has begun its annual appeal to add a religious program to welfare efforts.

More than 140 Christmas baskets were distributed among the needy of the city yesterday. The Welfare Board, the Salvation Army, and many clubs and church organizations furnished the baskets. Individuals also took names or delivered baskets to the Welfare Board office. Each basket contained a well balanced meal. Some of the baskets were received through benefit dances by the Elks club and the Junior chamber of commerce.

O. L. Doak, chairman advisory board: "The Salvation Army is an asset to our city and to any city. It reaches a people that none other reaches. Its methods are direct and practical. This is a special appeal to all citizens to give to this worthy cause."

A. G. (Pete) Post, campaign chairman: "I accepted the chairmanship for this campaign because I believe so heartily in Salvation Army work. Through the Army, a people is reached that otherwise would not be reached."

Tom E. Rose, board member: "I have found the Army staff doing a great work on a small amount of finances."

L. Baum, board member: "The Salvation Army is always ready for emergencies, not only in time of peace but in time of war. In every time of distress the Army is right on the firing line. Surely every citizen will support this worthy cause. The best investment is in human beings. The greatest dividend is in building up your community. The reward is a happier people, a better people, a more prosperous people, a Christian people."

house cost $491.48. Against this expense is contrasted passenger revenue of $2,025 and express revenue of $477.19. Summarizing, Mr.

Durston said average revenue per train mile was 10.9 cents, compared with an average train cost per mile of 24.5 cents, not including a $20 daily rental for the motor car. This loss of 13.6 cents per train mile is held to be far too great to justify operation of the coach.

Instead, it is proposed to operate a mixed train over the line daily. This would carry a passenger car and a combination express and baggage car in addition to the freight cars. The following schedule is proposed:

Leave Childress 11 a. m., arrive Wellington 1 p. m., arrive Shamrock 2:45 p. m., arrive Magic City 3:45 p. m., arrive LeFors 5:15 p. m., arrive PAMPA 6 p. m., LEAVE PAMPA 6:30 p. m., arrive LeFors 7:30 p. m., arrive Shamrock 10:15 p. m., arrive Wellington 12:01 a. m., arrive Childress 2 a. m.

The motor coach now arrives at about 10 a. m. with passengers and freight which, under the proposed plan, would arrive at 6 p. m. When seen, the road proposes to restore prospects for better patronage are the motor coach service.

ENGLISH MAKE MERRY AMONG SOLID DUTCH ON CHRISTMAS EVE IN MANHATTAN VILLAGE

By R. H. HIPPLEHAUSER,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—With all the trappings that could be found, New York town celebrated Christmas eve tonight.

It was a new date for such a celebration here, but the British newcomers did their best by the traditions of Merrie England.

The Dutch held to their own customs, mindful that but a year since, this struggling village on the Manhattan was still New Amsterdam.

And the Dutch children were not looking for their San Claas tonight. This spirit of St. Nicholas came on Dec. 6, the saint's birthday, filling all the wooden shoes that peeked into chimneys.

Some trappers, it is said, recently assaulted a Red man up near New Haarlem and it was learned from a source usually reliable that a reprisal was planned. With the ravages of the Indian war fresh in memories hereabout, fear was evident. The guard was strengthened on Lank de Waal and the water gate opening onto the bowerie was doubly manned.

Mistletoe Mystifies.
But as the heavy snow drifted higher along the lanes to the north, and fresh winds rolled up whitecaps on Hudson's river, anxiety abated.

Toward dusk, as lighted windows began twinkling along Pearl street, a detachment of officers and men left the North Wall and wallowed through the snow to the house of Col. Richard Nicolls, the governor of the colony.

Here, rum punch blazed as heartily as the yule logs on the hearth. There were feasons of mistletoe, something new to this colony, fresh from a Liverpool Brigantine.

Several Dutch families of prominence, including the Van Der Grifts, the Lookermans, and the Van Ruyvens, gathered as guests of the governor. But all left in haste.

And it was said 'twas all because a Dutch maid was seized and kissed beneath the mistletoe by an English lad.

The governor tried hard, reports had it, to explain this English custom, but fruitlessly.

Most of the Dutch families remained at home, however, of late, there have been numerous complaints against the soldiery, roaming the streets with boisterous song and revelry.

Soldiers Noisy.
The governor, according to reports, has promised relief. But tonight the revelry was louder than before. At the tavern, on Marketfield close by Peter Stuyvesant's town house, the soldiers gathered to celebrate.

At the stadt huis earlier today, the schepens court ordered Arent Lantsman and his good lady, Berletse, to patch up their marital troubles and "return to the same bed and board."

So several Dutch families in the Lantsman neighborhood along Maiden Lane gathered to celebrate the reunion. Some of the soldiers, shouting through the street, were attracted by the windows and ran over all the Lantsman house. They gathered outside and created a disturbance, seeking entrance. Watchmen were attracted and numerous soldiers were clapped into the goal.

Another watchman, on his rounds along the waterfront, found a sprig of the governor's mistletoe tied onto the gallows.

land diversion, is the order of Christmas Eve at one of the hotels. Blocks of ice were banked on tables in the lobby, on which the guests made maple syrup into sugar.

The old English boar's head procession is the pride of the Arts club, and the guests sing an ancient carol starting "The Boar's Head Decked With Rose-Marie" as it is borne in upon a huge silver platter.

Costumed carollers, of course, were here, there, and everywhere.

Oil Restrictions Better Industry Asserts Seubert

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—In the oil industry's first year of decreased consumption, President Edward G. Seubert of Standard Oil company of Indiana said today, the industry and oil state authorities had given a "striking example of sustained effort to make economic planning effective."

It was only sabotage by a small but powerful minority, Seubert asserted, that prevented attainment of the stabilization desired.

Seubert's year end survey of the industrial situation generally noticed a disposition "to abandon watchful waiting for recovery and to endeavor by cooperative efforts to bring about better conditions."

"For the future," he said, "signs are by no means all good, but I believe there are enough favorable indications to give us hope and encouragement."

Seubert said that illegal production in excess of allowances and hesitation in taking the drastic curtailment steps necessary to counteract the decrease in consumption had prevented reduction of the crude oil output to the level recommended by petroleum economists, with resultant depressing influence on the refined product markets. He added that evasion of gasoline taxes

Texas Returns Largest Ballot For Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Official returns from the 1932 presidential election, as compiled today by the Associated Press, disclose a new record popular vote of 39,734,351.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the democrats' successful candidate, polled 22,813,786 votes, the highest ever given a winner, and Herbert Hoover, the republican incumbent, received 15,759,266, a record for a loser. The New York governor set another high mark by capturing 472 electoral votes against Hoover's 59, but his plurality—7,054,520—fell short of the record of 7,338,513 given Calvin Coolidge in 1924 over John W. Davis.

Minor party candidates polled 1,161,299 votes, which was more than

College President Weds Texas Woman

BELTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Miss Martha Hardy today became the bride of Dr. D. R. Anderson, president of Wesleyan college at Macon, Ga., in a simple ring ceremony performed at the home of her parents, President and Mrs. J. C. Hardy of Baylor college for women, here.

Mrs. Anderson, born in Mississippi A. & M. college where her father once was president, was educated at Baylor college and taught both here and at Randolph Macon woman's college. She is a granddaughter of A. H. Whitfield, chief justice of Mississippi.

Dr. Anderson was president of Randolph Macon for 11 years and president of Wesleyan for two years. He is a member of phi beta kappa, phi kappa epsilon, tau kappa alpha and the American historical society; and is the author of many historical works.

Olovio Gay received treatment for a head injury at Worley hospital yesterday.

Three times the 1928 total in this class.

Norman Thomas, the socialist candidate, led eight other individuals with 881,951. This more than tripled his vote of four years ago and compared with the record set by Eugene Debs in the first election after the war—919,789.

Texas gave the democratic candidate the largest plurality—656,622; New York the second largest with 596,996. Other large pluralities were California 476,255; Missouri 460,493, and Illinois 449,548.

'BIG FOUR' JOIN SPORTS IMMORTALS

Future generations will read with awe of the exploits of the above quartet in the good year 1932. Vines conquered the world's best on the tennis courts, just as Sarazen did on the golf links of two continents. Mildred (Babe) Dirlikson, Dallas stenographer, proved herself the greatest woman athlete the world has known. Jimmy Fox, Athletic slugger, led the home run hitters of both leagues, banged more balls over the fence than any righthand batter in history.

Pioneer Nurse Dies At Age Of 109 In Nebraska

WINNEBAGO, Neb., Dec. 24. (AP)—Once under the protection of Kit Carson from hostile Indians, the former nurse of that Kentucky frontiersman's wife, Emily Fontenelle, died in an Indian reservation hospital today at the age of 109 years.

The woman was of mixed French and Indian blood, but spent her long life among the Pawnee Indians, although she was an offspring of French nobility. She was a sister-in-law of Logan Fontenelle, a powerful chief, whose name was great in early days.

While Kit Carson was watching over Indians west of the Missouri, he often helped Mrs. Fontenelle's tribe fight off the savage Sioux, and naturally saw that Emily, his wife's nurse, was protected.

Her early life was filled with the incidents of which wild west stories were replete. Her mother, a full blood Pawnee, once killed a Sioux warrior and wounded another in her protection during a raid. Her husband, once sent to recall a hunting party of Indians to defend Bellevue, now a suburb, rode his horse to death and then raced on foot for miles, dropping from exhaustion as he reached the Buffalo hunters.

Before her marriage she was Emily Pappan, daughter of La Force Pappan, a French trader who had come up the Missouri river from St. Louis and a Pawnee Indian. She lived at Decatur, Neb., after her marriage at 18 to Henry Fontenelle.

In her girlhood, Nebraska was a wilderness. Indian tribes roamed the plains, stalking Buffalo. The warlike Sioux raided the Omahas and Pawnees. The only white men in the country were traders or missionaries.

Tourists Visit At Place Where Christ Was Born

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 24. (AP)—Hundreds of Americans are celebrating Christmas in the Holy Land amid familiar scriptural surroundings.

They are tourists on a world cruise aboard the liner Empress of Britain, and arrived in Jerusalem today.

Tonight automobiles carried these tourists and pilgrims to worship at the cradle of Christ's birth here.

Above them was a starry sky which recalled the actual night of the nativity 1932 years ago, when three wise men of the east came to the manger bearing gifts of frankincense and Myrrh for the newly born savior.

Brighter, however, than all the stars tonight was the electrically lighted cross above the church of the nativity which, from a distance, resembled a large star hovering above the darkly shadowed rooftops of Christ's town.

Elbowing their way through the jostling multitude in the spacious courtyard, one had to bend his head to enter the low doorway from which came wafts of a heavily incensed atmosphere.

World Observes Birth of Christ
By The Associated Press
With song and prayer and charity the peoples of many lands started the annual observance today of the time—1932 years ago—when the Christ child was born.
Throughout the Christmas eve in Bethlehem thousands of pilgrims made their way to the church of the nativity, there to kneel over the spot where the infant Jesus lay when the three wise men came bearing gifts of myrrh and incense.
In other parts of Europe and in the United States the activities assumed various complexions.
King George made plans to deliver a special message to his people from London in the afternoon of Christmas day, and in Paris thousands gathered to take part in the feasting and merrymaking that lasts from midnight to dawn. In Germany children gathered everywhere to talk of the toys and other presents they hoped to get, while in Australia the Parkhill Progress association ridiculed the Santa Claus idea because, the association said, the character impersonating St. Nicholas is "vile and despicable" in that he gives in abundance to those who have plenty but neglects those who have nothing.
The United States prepared for its usual ebullient celebration, but almost everywhere this spirit was tempered by a desire on the part of those who have to share with those who have not.
Relief organizations worked feverishly getting together baskets of food and clothing for the needy—and in many cities children promised to share their toys with the less fortunate.

Hamilton Indicted For Bank Robbery
DALLAS, Dec. 24. (AP)—Raymond Hamilton, 19, today was indicted by the Dallas county grand jury in two cases charging robbery with firearms in connection with two robberies of the First State bank of Cedar Hill, Dallas county, October 8 and November 25, and a third case in connection with the robbery of the Neuhoff Packing company here. He was no-billed in connection with a robbery of the inter-urban station at Grand Prairie.
Hamilton, with Gene Odare, 22, recently was brought back to Dallas from Bay City, Michigan, after his arrest there. He also is charged with murder at Hillsboro in connection with the fatal shooting of J. N. Bucher during a filling station robbery there.
Mrs. Charles Yents of White Deer visited here yesterday.

HER "COMING OUT PICTURE"

Unemployment Situation Makes Lame Ducks' Outlook Uncertain
WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—A tremendous turnover among the seats of the mighty is now only about two months away and for many of their present occupants the new year outlook is one of trepidation or uncertainty.
The situation is complicated by the fact that the democratic broom made its record-breaking sweep at a time when employment opportunities in private life are at a minimum.
Men who have spent years in public office now find themselves faced with the prospect of joining the army of job-hunters after March 4.
Some will stay on at the national capital. A few may capitalize their contacts as lobbyists. The more fortunate may settle down to write their memoirs, live on their incomes or return to lucrative professions.
But a large number will have to go back home and struggle, to make a living. Some have lost contact with the business world in their years at Washington and will find it hard to make a satisfactory change.
The largest proportion of those who go out of office with the shift in administration will turn to the legal profession. Especially among the "lame duck" members of con-

French Opinion Favors Experts' Debt Solution
PARIS, Dec. 24. (AP)—Authoritative French opinion continued tonight in favor of examination of the American debt question by experts as the most feasible and practicable manner of approaching the matter.
Dispatches from America indicating that President Hoover now is disposed to take no pronounced initiative served to confirm the previously held view of many highly placed Frenchmen that no final solution of the debts can be hoped for until the Roosevelt administration assumes the responsibilities of office.
Still the belief is held that the problem can be advanced toward solution by Franco-American experts tackling it from the standpoint of practical economics, thus removing much that the French now hold obscure and complicates the question.
The impression prevailed that if Washington could agree to this kind of study France would welcome it.
An official French spokesman said that Premier Joseph Paul-Boncour's surprise visit yesterday to the American embassy would be more exactly understood if it were interpreted as a "visit for information."
Ambassador Walter Edge will not return the call until he has heard from Washington, and is able to furnish the premier with general debt information.
C. A. Bridges of White Deer transacted business here Saturday.
Paul R. Davis of LeFors was a Pampa visitor yesterday.
B. F. A. Byrum of Kingsmill visited in the city Saturday.

Do We Love Christmas?

Everybody Says We Do

Small danger of any of us going back on old Santa Claus or getting sour on the gladdest season of the year. Christmas is like a good fruit cake, it has everything that you like in it—who could keep from loving it?

Happiness

Christmas belongs primarily to the young—young in heart. And these are going to be happy under nearly any kind of circumstances. Are they not much wiser than those of us who would surrender many of our days of gloom?

Certainly they are. And this firm is joining hand in hand with all those who in spite of the depression are going to spread the Gospel of Good Cheer.

GRAIN HIGHER

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Confronted by cold wave predictions for domestic winter wheat territory and by reports of continued deterioration southwest, grain markets averaged higher today.

In some quarters, stress was put on assertions that sellers of wheat future deliveries in Chicago were virtually giving away 5 cents a bushel for the privilege of being short. It was contended that Chicago May wheat should normally be at a premium of 5 cents over the cost of wheat from Kansas City laid down here. Instead, however, wheat available for immediate use brings 5 cents premium over Chicago futures.

Wheat closed firm, 1/2 off to 1/4 up, compared with yesterday's finish, on unchanged to 1/4 higher, oats at 1/4 decline to a shade advance, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a rise of 2 cents.

Wheat bears vainly urged that the Chicago futures delivery market should recede to a world level. Bullish traders made better headway with assertions that wheat futures would tend to seek the higher levels prevalent for wheat ready to be used at once. Another stimulus was trade gossip that with improved demand from flour markets, still stronger cash markets for wheat would be witnessed after the year end.

A double holiday, ahead here, with European markets closed to-

Farmer Slain In Family Argument

ROCKDALE, Dec. 24. (AP)—Luther Pickens, 30, farmer, was shot and killed today at his home in the Hamilton Chapel community, three miles south of Rockdale, when he interceded in an argument between his sister, Mrs. Charlie Stanford, 19, and a man.

The man fled after the shooting and late tonight, deputies for Sheriff Blaylock had not found him. The sheriff said murder charges would be filed. Justice of the Peace LeB Harris withheld an inquest verdict, until witnesses could be questioned.

Investigators learned that the man had pointed the gun at Mrs. Stanford and Pickens stepped in front of the gun as the man fired. Two shots entered the body. He died in an ambulance en route to Rockdale. Stanford lived until a few weeks ago at Chapman City but returned here to visit her mother and brother.

day, caused Chicago wheat traders to devote themselves largely to evening up of accounts. Notice was taken mainly southwest had not touched drought districts that in other years were important producers of winter wheat. A firm undertone in the Winnipeg wheat market received some attention here, although ascribed more to lack of Canadian offerings than to any particular demand.

Unfavorable weather gave firmness to corn and oats. Provisions averaged lower in the absence of any aggressive buying.

Closing indifferents: Wheat—May 44 1/2, 45 1/2; July 44 1/2, 45 1/2. Corn 26-28 1/2, 26 1/2; July 27 1/2 bid.

STOCKS FIRMS

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Stocks firmed moderately today in what looked like a routine pre-holiday technical movement.

Nevertheless, net gains ranging from a fraction to more than a point represented the market's best performance of the week. Although Wall street has had livelier Christmas parties, this one was probably as good as could have been expected under the circumstances.

Light short covering lifted shares at the opening and kept them higher through the sluggish two hours. With volume at 329,699 shares it was evident that professional investors had provided most of the business; their covering for the three-day vacation probably accounted for a large percentage of his volume.

Freight car loadings, off 4,420 for the week ended Dec. 17, held up better than had been expected, though a sharp rise in coal shipments, which were 25,343 cars larger than in the previous week, took up slack elsewhere. Railroad stocks improved with other groups. Santa Fe and Union Pacific rising about a point while New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Canadian and Lackawanna returned fractional gains.

American Telephone and Allied Chemical, up 1 1/2 each, and Coca Cola, with a large advance, were the firmest of the more active shares. The U. S. Steel, Chrysler, National Biscuit, Standard of New Jersey, American Tobacco "B" of other stalwarts were a shade higher, whereas Westinghouse, American Can, Du Pont, Union Carbide and North American finished a point to the good.

Broker Charged With Death Of Wealthy Spouse

HOUSTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—An investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Bedella Agnew, elderly wife of F. Agnew, broker, led to the filing of a murder charge against the husband today.

Justice Campbell Overstreet returned an inquest verdict of murder, but he acted before receiving the report of Dr. Ernest A. Wright, county health officer, who said an autopsy had shown wounds on Mrs. Agnew's head, but none that might have caused her death.

Mrs. Agnew died yesterday morning in a hospital. From C. J. Woodward, chauffeur and house man for the Agnews, police obtained a written statement in which he said the woman blamed her husband for the head injury, saying "Frank pushed me out of the door."

Agnew, released in $3,000 bail, declined to comment to reporters on the case.

Investigators said Mrs. Agnew was the former wife of George D. Leshler of Detroit and Miami and that they had learned she had cash, jewelry and securities in safety deposit boxes at Los Angeles and Pasadena, Calif. Police Captain B. W. Payne received a telegram signed by Leshler from Tampa requesting that the investigation not be closed until he arrived here.

The Agnews were said by acquaintances to have been married in Reno, Nev., and to have come to Houston some seven months ago.

MECHANIC SLAIN

DALLAS, Dec. 24. (AP)—Pete Cook, 26, mechanic, was found shot to death late today on a railroad siding near the freight agency where he worked. A pistol was found beside his body. He died in a hospital.

Train Entered Texas 60 Years Ago at Denison

DENISON, Dec. 24 (AP)—Sixty years ago tomorrow, on Christmas Day, the first railroad train to enter Texas from the north steamed into Denison over the newly-completed Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, supplanting the old Fort Gibson cattle trail and marking a red-letter day for Denison and the South-west.

Tomorrow, the engineer of that same panting and puffing wood-burning locomotive of an earlier day P. M. (Pat) Tobin, now hale and hearty at 85, will be in the locomotive cab, serving as "guest engineer" of the Texas special when it rolls into Denison from the north, thus observing the sixtieth anniversary of the historic event. Thus Tobin will gratify a desire which he recently expressed to President M. H. Cahill of the Katy lines.

Of that small crowd of early Denisonians who stood alongside the tracks and sent up lusty Texas cheers when the first train rolled into sight, only three now are living. Tomorrow, two of them will join Tobin in observing the anniversary. They will drive to Durant, Okla., to board the Texas special there and return to Denison as guests of the Katy.

They are Dr. Alex W. Acheson, a young physician of 30 years when the first train came and still practicing his profession at 80; and A. H. Coffin 82, then a young surveyor engaged in helping to plot the Denison townsite preparatory to its incorporation. Larry Bohlen, 80, also remembers the arrival of the first train but ill health will prevent him from joining the others.

When the Katy built into Denison, there were only a few widely scattered communities in North Texas, among them Sherman, but for the most part the country southward and southwest consisted of open range.

CHRISTMAS WEDDINGS HOLD INTEREST FOR RESIDENTS OF PAMPA

ONE COUPLE IS TO BE MARRIED IN CHILDRESS

OTHER SERVICE TO BE READ MONDAY IN GRAHAM

Two impending Christmas weddings are of special interest to Pampa residents. One will be solemnized today when W. B. Weathered, of Hopkins, No. 1 school, south of Pampa, and Miss Byrdie Gaither of Childress are married in Childress. The other will be at high noon tomorrow when Miss Audrey Durham and Harold E. Schwartz, both employees of the Texas company here, will be married in Graham.

Mr. Weathered left Friday for Kirkland, his former home, for a brief stay before going to Childress. He formerly was an instructor in Junior high school.

After the ceremony, the couple will leave on a trip to Austin, Galveston, and points in the Rio Grande valley. They will return in time for the opening of the Hopkins school Jan. 2.

The marriage of Miss Durham and Mr. Schwartz will take place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Durham, 423 Cherry street, Graham, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Polley of Pampa will attend the wedding.

Miss Durham was honored in Graham Friday afternoon when a friend, Miss Kathleen Criswell, entertained with a party. Before leaving Pampa, she was honored at an announcement tea given by Mrs. B. O. Lilly, and at a shower given by Mrs. Polley and Mrs. Bus Baldrige in the Polley home.

Bible Class Has Christmas Party Thursday Evening

Members of the Ladies Bible class entertained last Thursday with a merry Christmas party Thursday evening in the community parlor, which was prettily decorated for the occasion at Hopkins No. 2.

The evening was spent in playing various games, much amusement resulting from the group. Santa appeared in person, presenting each guest a gift from the Christmas tree. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reno, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. H. Baze, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Abernathy, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Clark, Mrs. J. B. Horn, Mrs. C. M. Medford, Mrs. Ralph Wrinkles, and Mrs. S. L. Gibby of Groom.

Rice Students Are Visiting In Pampa

Franklin Montgomery, senior at Rice Institute, Houston, arrived in Pampa Saturday morning at 10 o'clock on the Port Worth and Denver to spend the yuletide holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Montgomery.

Miss Frances Isbell of Houston, also a senior at Rice, came home with Franklin, as a guest in the Montgomery home.

Miss Isbell is a likely candidate for Phi Beta Kappa.

Many young people will remember Miss Isbell as a visitor in the Montgomery home during the past summer, when she and her parents visited here on their return to Houston from their Pacific coast tour.

Baptist Children Are Given Treats

Treats for the children were distributed at the close of an interesting Christmas program Friday evening at the Central Baptist church.

Opening the program was a song, "Joy to the World," by the congregation, and the Rev. W. O. Cooley led the devotional.

"The Christ Child," a play, featured the program. Characters were as follows: T. M. Gillham, Mrs. Coffey, June Cooley, Roberta Buzbee, Ruby Soafel, Gerald Brown. In the chorus, "A Christmas Story," will be Mrs. G. L. Lunsford, Daphna Lunsford, Rita Holmes, Roy Bridges, Edith Beckham, and Lois Cottrell.

Gifts were drawn from a "fish pond" by those who attended the Christmas program Friday evening at the Calvary Baptist church.

Mrs. J. H. Kelley is ill.

Social Functions of Interest To Take Place During Coming Week; Few Clubs Are To Meet, However

HERE FOR YULE

Always popular among the young people of Pampa is Miss Marjorie Buckler, above. Miss Buckler, a student at the Miss Hockaday School for Girls, Dallas, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Buckler.

PARTY IS GIVEN IN M'SKIMMING HOME ON FRIDAY

Pupils of Mrs. F. P. McSkimming were entertained at a Christmas tree from 3 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon in the McSkimming home.

After Christmas games were played, some of the pupils played piano solos of Christmas titles. The program was as follows: Christmas Bells, Mildred Martin; Under the Mistletoe, Frances Thompson; Sleighbells, Leona Hurst; Silent Night, Dorothy Ann Dilley; Christmas Fantasia, Pauline Stewart; Christmas in the Country, Zella Mae Hurst; Jolly Old Santa Claus, Martha Price; Christmas Morning, Betty Saunders; Toys and Games, Harriet Price; Betty Saunders gave a Christmas reading.

When presents had been received, fruit was passed, and the party was closed with the singing of Christmas carols.

The following were invited: Antoinetta Hanna, Ermie and Pearl Bibbens, Mildred Martin, Mary Mae McCue, Marie Tinsley, Wilma and Bertha Mae Willis, Pauline Stewart, Frances Thompson, Leona and Zella Mae Hurst, Harriet, Martha, and Mary Price, Mazie Perkins, Dorothy Ann Dilley, Mattie and Ruth Clay, Ann Buckler, Ariene and Betty Saunders and Bernice Barrett. Special guests included Mrs. Rufie Thompson and Mrs. Tom Jeanne.

CARD OF THANKS We wish to thank our many friends who have brightened our Christmas for us. We wish especially to thank students of the high school, Coach Harry Kelley, Miss Flo Perry, the basketball team, and the entire staff at the Worley hospital.

MR. and MRS. H. H. HEISKELL and family, especially Winifred.

BIRTH OF CHRIST IS TO BE CELEBRATED BY RELIGIOUS GROUPS TODAY; TABLEAUX WILL BE AMONG SPECIAL SERVICES OF CHRISTMAS

Christmas, the greatest day of the year for Christian churches, will be observed with special services during today. Christmas music will be sung, and sermons will be in keeping with the spirit of the day.

Midnight masses took place last night at the Holy Souls church, Catholic, and holy communion took place at the same hour at St. Matthew's Episcopal church. Both services were preceded by short programs and songs.

Three tableaux, featuring the shepherds, the three wise men, and the manger scene, will be a feature of the Christmas services at the Episcopal church this morning at 10 o'clock. They are directed by Mrs. Julian Barrett, and all will be accompanied with music.

The characters will be as follows: Shepherds, Everett Lovell, Louie Clarke Jr., and Sonny Archer; three wise men, Charles Smith, John Moyar, and Bob Surratt; Mary, Mary Ann Moyar; four angels, Ann Buckler, Carolyn Surratt, Emma Moyar, and Mary Kate Bourland. Announcements of the various ministers follow:

FIRST CHRISTIAN 500 E. Kingsmill Bible school, 9:45; communion, 11 o'clock, followed by sermon by the pastor; Christian Endeavor, 6:30; evening service, 7:30 o'clock, with Rev. Halie Gantz, Sperry Okla., pastor, doing the preaching. Mr. Gantz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gantz, 306 N. Somerville, is working on his Ph. D. at Phillips university.

NOVELTIES ARE GIVEN DANCERS FRIDAY NIGHT

SNOW-BALL STUNT IS ALSO SOURCE OF MERRIMENT

Bells for the ladies, hats for the men, and a good time for everyone! There were about 125 couples at the semi-formal dance held at the Pla-Mor on Friday under the direction of the Business and Professional Women's club.

The hall was beautiful in decorations of balloons, Christmas ornaments, and colored lights, and a scenic setting was arranged for Joe Norman's orchestra. The lighting effects added brilliance also to the lovely frocks. Red velvet predominated among the evening gowns. The high waistline was in favor, as was the even hemline of ankle length.

Because of bad roads, the out-of-town entertainers who were to furnish the specialty numbers were unable to be present, but a snow-ball stunt executed by Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler delighted the crowd. A huge snowball was broken and from it were taken scores of smaller snowballs which were thrown to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Cook were to be among the patrons but were unable to attend because of the sudden death of Mrs. Cook's mother. Others selected as patrons were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Mr. and Mrs. Siler Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, and Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hicks.

Committees in charge were: Finance, Mrs. Glen Peck; Mrs. Ernest Gee, Mrs. D. E. Robinson, and Miss LaVerne Ballard; public relations, Mrs. Jack Dunn, Miss Marie Bastin, and Miss Mildred Overall.

College Student Will Sing Today

Charles Thomas, who is home from Phillips university, Enid, will sing this morning at the First Christian church, and Charles Frost will sing "Star of the East" this evening. The morning offertory solo will be played by Dorothy Mae Meers, violinist.

Bridal Couple Is Visiting In Pampa

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Workman have as their guests their daughter, Kermit Workman, and the latter's bride of Sudan, Mrs. Workman, before her marriage in Clovis, N. M., Thursday evening, was Miss Lillie Mae Moncrief. After the Christmas holidays the couple will return to Sudan.

INTERESTING CHRISTMAS TRIPS ARE MADE BY MANY PAMPANS; OTHERS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS, RELATIVES DURING WEEK-END OR UNTIL AFTER NEW YEAR DAY

Reunited after long absences, many families this Christmas will derive added joy from the holidays. The town will taste a little better, the tree will seem a trifle brighter, the gifts, a wee bit finer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moyar have as their Christmas guests Mrs. Moyar's sister, Mrs. Don R. Kennedy, Mr. Kennedy, and their daughter, Mary Ann, of Trinidad.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Atteberry have as their guests their daughter, Mrs. Sam Braswell, Jr., and her little son, of Forney. Mr. Braswell is publisher of the Forney Messenger.

Mrs. Ruth Wallace, formerly of Pampa but now of San Antonio, has returned to San Antonio after visiting Mrs. J. R. Roby. Her son, Bob Wallace, was expected to arrive to spend the holidays here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boston are expecting Mrs. Boston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bain of Sudan, to arrive some time during Christmas week.

Miss Velma Lee Sellers and Rudy Eklund are expected to arrive from Lubbock by train this afternoon to visit Mr. and Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Boyd have as their Christmas season guests Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Burr of Detroit and Mrs. J. M. Ikard of Chickasha. Mrs. Burr has been here for some time.

Bridge-Dinner To Be Held Tonight

About thirty-five persons will attend the 7 o'clock turkey dinner to be given by the B'Nai Israel Temple this evening at 7 o'clock at the Schneider hotel. Games of bridge will be played after dinner.

Clay and Webster Refused To Pay Up

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 24. (AP)—Defaulting of debts is not an exclusive practice of recent years. Postmaster Lewis Lindsay recalls seeing an unpaid note for $500 signed by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster.

On a visit to Washington, D. C., with his father, the late Judge J. M. Lindsay, the postmaster was a guest in the office of the president of the Riggs National bank, and while there his attention was called to the note which was framed and hung on the walls of the office.

The story is that one winter morning Henry Clay found himself in need of money and went to the bank for a loan of $250 on his personal note. He was told that while his credit was good, it was the inviolate rule of the bank to require an endorsement. The statesman met Daniel Webster and asked him to endorse the note. Webster agreed after suggesting that the note be made for $500 since he was also in need of money. The loan was executed, and to this day remains unpaid.

Music at the First Presbyterian church this morning has been announced as follows: Prelude, Silent Night; vocal solo, The Angel Song (Stickle); Mrs. Harry Lyman, of factory, Stan of the East (Wagner); anthem by choir, O Little Town of Bethlehem (O. B. Wilson); postlude, Joy to the World.

PRESENTS ARE GIVEN KIDDIES BY OLD SANTA

ALL PAMPA HELPS TO MAKE UNDERTAKING SUCCESSFUL

"I've got a dolly!" "But I've got a drum!" "Look! A goldfish!" Their hair needed cutting, their coats were not new, but their eyes were gleaming—those little boys and girls of the less fortunate families who attended the community Christmas tree Friday evening in the city auditorium.

Not one needy child went home without a gift, and there were 425 of them. Other persons brought the total attendance to 500 or more.

Each Head Bowed. Each little head was bowed in reverence during the opening prayer by the Rev. James Todd Jr., and each ear was attentive during the singing of "Silent Night" by Lions club members and white-robed members of the Treble Clef club. Marked interest was evident during the home living room scene in which the mother, Mrs. R. S. Lawrence, told the story of the nativity to the children, Bonnie Lee Rose and Ernest Cella. Music by an invisible chorus added to the beauty of the presentation.

Then came Santa! And right through the place! With a "Hello everybody! How is everybody?" he turned the interest of kiddies into unbridled enthusiasm. "Santa, Santa!" one tiny little boy shouted, and would have run to meet the jolly man, had his mother not restrained him.

Many Assist. It was childhood paradise. Toys were piled high around the shimmering Christmas tree, and there were enough of by toys and bags of almost every kind, for all of the children, thanks to both organizations and individuals of Pampa.

Initial plans for the huge undertaking were made at meetings of Pampa's federated church women, with representatives of the Welfare Board and Salvation Army in attendance. Mrs. W. H. Davis of the Welfare Board presided over these meetings. Efforts of the religious and welfare organizations then were re-enforced by contributions from almost every study club, civic club, and lodges in Pampa, as well as by donations of many individuals. Pampa Furniture store provided the stage furnishings, and unemployed men helped with their services.

"The undertaking could never have been so successful," said Mrs. Davis, "had it not been for such generous cooperation. That cooperation is appreciated."

Many Children Are Guests for Party

A crowd of about 120 persons gathered in the basement of the First Baptist church Friday afternoon for a party held for the primary department of the Sunday school.

Stories and riddles were told and games were played, after which gifts for the church and from the teachers were distributed among the children. Many of the boys and girls brought gifts for the Buckner Orphan home, and it was stated that others wishing to contribute gifts of money bring it to Sunday school today.

The department, which is for boys and girls 6, 7 and 8 years of age, is headed by Mrs. C. E. Hutchins as superintendent.

Mrs. Boyles Has Christmas Party

Mrs. V. L. Boyles entertained a number of friends at a Christmas party at her home, 443 N. Hazel, Thursday afternoon. The rooms were gay with yuletide decorations and a lighted Christmas tree. Everyone present received a gift.

In the contests, prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. F. Curtis and George Appleby. Refreshments were served in two courses.

Those attending were Messames M. E. De Tar, D. H. Coffey, V. L. Dickinson, G. A. Gregory, Vernon E. Moore, M. M. Lane, George Appleby, J. F. Curtis, C. A. Burton, E. M. Stokes, and the hostess.

Christmas Music Will Be Provided

Music at the First Presbyterian church this morning has been announced as follows: Prelude, Silent Night; vocal solo, The Angel Song (Stickle); Mrs. Harry Lyman, of factory, Stan of the East (Wagner); anthem by choir, O Little Town of Bethlehem (O. B. Wilson); postlude, Joy to the World.

THE PRINCE OF PEACE: Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon His shoulder, and His name shall be called Wonderful Counselor, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the PRINCE OF PEACE.—Isaiah 9:6.

Our Best Wishes!
The Pampa Daily News, an institution which more than most others is attuned to the joys, triumphs, and troubles of this community, wishes for its readers the sincerest happiness in this Yuletide season and on this Christmas day.

Individually throughout its large personnel, and as a business and public service institution, this newspaper is deeply grateful for the blessings enjoyed in the past and for the hope held for the future.

And in wishing the best for its readers and its community The NEWS has in mind the myriad interests represented and the huge scope of happenings involved. Moreover, it is the sincere wish of the editorial staff that Christmas may be a period of happiness unmarred by sadening occurrences. This newspaper is alert as any to incidents which make startling news, but it has no desire to record local tragedies. A right Merry Christmas to you all, and may it be a safe one!

Seasonal Glimpses

Hurrying shoppers, laden with packages, slipping along sidewalks, snowflakes flecking garments of many colors, ages, and designs, jammed traffic, brilliantly lighted windows filled with bright objects recommended as gifts, streets of flashing signs and colored lights, patches of ice on which pedestrians slip and slide, eager children pulling at parents, trying to look longer and longingly at toys, children under foot, children in arms, ragged children with sad eyes and dirty faces, flushed faced school girls, bare-headed college boys high-browed local freshmen, shoppers from out of town reading THE NEWS and hunting store address, oil field workers with ear muffs, business men in hunting regalia, curbs lined with ice which prevents cars from backing without several persons pushing, doorways filled with shoppers uncertain where to go next, stores with shelves piled high with merchandise, all bargains, alert but tired clerks trying to be patient with persons "just looking," post office with muddy floor tramped by thousands of feet, long lines waiting to mail or receive packages, police station "quiet" for lack of "business", overcast skies promising snow—these are some of the mental pictures carried by the writer.

One in Particular

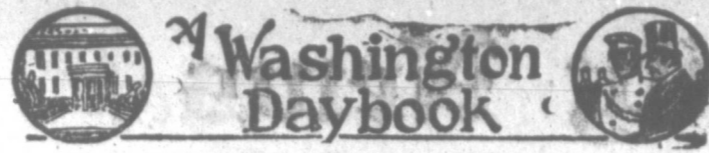

Fleeting faces, never seen before and probably never to be seen again, give a kaleidoscopic view of the shopping season. Out of the hurrying throng appeared a picture seen but a moment but best remembered of them all. A young woman, turning a corner around a building, shielding a baby from a bitter wind. Not striking in her personal appearance, although comely enough, neither dressed in a manner to attract attention, she held the nearly year old child close to her left shoulder. It was a little girl, with a coat which blended with the mother's garment. But out of the blend blinked two sparkling black eyes set in a dainty pink face which nestled in a mass of blue ribbons for a collar.

That little face, un mindful of the cold and enjoying elemental sensations of a budding intelligence, for that fleeting moment seemed to be a great, gorgeous rose pinned on the shoulder of the mother. Just a glimpse, then the picture faded into the hurrying throng. But it was a picture to remember. There was beauty there, and wholesomeness—the joy of the young mother in the re-birth of her own childhood in her baby. There was security too, in the character of the mother, the pride of authorship in that divine spark which twined tiny fingers in her hair, the stability of the home represented by that evidence of earthly fruition of a divine plan. . . . No better mental image for the season could have been imparted. We walked on, conscious that somehow we were just a little better, a bit more sure of life's goal, for having had that brief scene from real life's drama.

Childhood's Inheritance

This season is only for children. We cannot imagine any adult enjoying its hustle and bustle without a rekindling of the spirit of his youth. Childhood is an era of good will. It is a season of happiness, of joy, of worship of that which gives the greatest and deepest enjoyment. It is remarkable how early the child learns to evidence its appreciation. The young lady who was the first to call us "Uncle" and who has just achieved 2 years is our best example. For her, life is just one enlightening experience after another, and on each visit we share a few things in common. She is happy because her world is a world of generosity, of happiness, of sharing. She knows no war, nor the cost of preparation for war. She does not know the worries of an empty cupboard, of unemployment, of debts. It is fortunate that in her childhood she cannot look into the future and see the difficulties which she and her generation may face. She has not learned that many men have too little because their neighbors have too much, and we have no regret that at present she does not have to puzzle over a solution for that problem. The child is happy because it has faith in its surroundings and its friends. Fortunate is it that the spirit of Christmas tends to revive in humanity the generosity, the neighborliness, the kindness which make it possible also for adults to enjoy a season of faith.

In tackling economy, congress would do well to observe football rules and keep one foot on the ground.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK
By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—These are anxious days for two men "on the hill" known as "the gentlemen of the Philippines" as congress debates the perennial question of whether the Islands will be granted their independence.

The short, swarthy and quiet Pedro Guevara, senior resident commissioner, and the agile, voluble sartorially elegant Camilo Osias, junior resident commissioner, are keeping a sharp watch.

The two are accredited to the house of representatives, but while the senate had before it the independence bill they moved over to the right side of the capitol and took their stand. Nearly an hour of the day the senate was in session Guevara could be spotted in the rear of the chamber listening eagerly.

Sitting at the elbow of Senator Hawes, co-author of the bill before the senate, was Osias taking reams of notes from the speeches being delivered, darting here and there for hasty conferences with senators favoring the cause of independence.

Guevara Quiet Worker.

The two commissioners, although working for a common cause, differ greatly in their methods.

Guevara, a veteran politician (they call him "general" in the Philippines because he has never met defeat in politics), is a behind-the-scenes worker. He makes few speeches, although he is ranked as a speaker of ability.

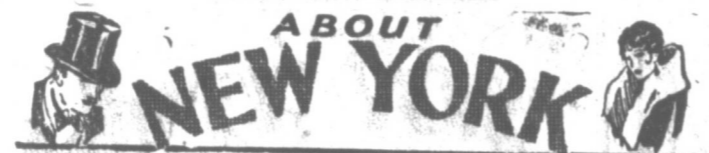

Osias An Orator.

Osias, polished, immaculate in dress and appearance, has been in Washington only since 1929. The last four years have been busy ones for him, however.

Osias is the orator. His maiden speech before the house of representatives urging independence for his countrymen made them sit up and take notice. He gives no ground in running debate on the floor and frequently crosses swords with house members.

Never does he miss an opportunity to preach that idea of independence for the Philippines whether it be on the floor of congress or before a little known assembly miles removed from the capital.

Guevara maneuvers skillfully behind scenes. Osias carries his plea to the people out in the open.

ABOUT NEW YORK
By WILLIAM GAINES.

NEW YORK—Grading a few metropolitan types (A means excellent; B, good; C, fair; D, poor; E, very poor; F, failure):

Rental agent who insists any flat opening onto a bare roof with a pot plant on it is a "terrace apartment," D.

Columbia collegian who doesn't try to act collegiate when he comes down-town, C.

Blow-hard who saw Al Smith in a parade, or Ed Wynn from the balcony, and speaks glibly of "my friend, Al," or "my pal, Ed," E.

Actor who manages to make himself heard in the rear rows without ranting, B-plus.

Cop who jams up traffic for three blocks to show what a bawling out he can give an unintentional transgressor, E.

Show-off who talks right through the performance at opening nights, X-minus.

Delicatessen man who invariably sends the wrong kind of ginger ale, D.

Barber who wants to sell you some sort of hair oil because one of his well known actor patrons always calls for it, E.

Night life non-celebrity who raises a rumpus because he can't get a floorside table in a club when all of the tables are occupied, E.

Janitor who never can be found when the apartment is running refrigerator temperatures, F.

Taxi driver who always manages to be shy of enough charge, E.

Chorine who goes ermine coat in her first show, F (but maybe she won't be a failure).

These New York cats are amusing, sneaking home in the dawn after a night out.

Some of the felines one glimpses in the early morning give evidence of good breeding and gentle care, but, alas, they quit the back fence revels as mussed and soiled as the Tom who feeds them from ash cans.

They slink close to buildings, scurrying for blocks. An unfamiliar sound stops them in their tracks; their hair bristles and the next move is a cautious, tip-toe tread as though they walked on ice of tissue thinness.

A New York cat crossing a street is a marvelous example of the adaptability of these hardy survivors of the animal struggle. They have a most accurate sense for timing the speed of motors and more skill than All-American halfbacks at broken field running.

On The Shaky Ladder.

George Olsen tells about the time Fannie Brice, impressed with his orchestra, advised the late Flo Ziegfeld to sign the outfit. She wired the producer to offer Olsen $1,750 a week.

"He'll take $800 and like it," was Ziegfeld's telegraphic response.

"I took the $800 and loved it," Olsen recalls.

Owen Davis, one of the Pulitzer prize playwrights, offered his first script to the Charles Frohman office. The Frohman playreader was Charles Klein, who wrote "The Lion and the Mouse."

Summoned for the report, the ambitious young Davis trembled under the critical gaze of the reader.

"You appear to be a strong young man," Klein commented.

"I am," was the puzzled admission.

"Then take this thing and throw it as far as you can," Klein advised, "and never write another."

A LEARNED DISCUSSION OF PSYCHO-BABYCRFT, or WHY THE PSYCHOLOGISTS SHOULD CATCH THEM YOUNG.
If you would save your child from becoming a permerphous polyvert before it is too late, you should read the chapter on psycho-babycraft in a new Outline of Knowledge by the authors of "1066 AND ALL THAT" in their new book, "AND NOW ALL THIS," which E. P. Dutton and company will release for publication Dec. 1, carries a chapter devoted to Mental Hygiene for Modern Babies suggesting that the expert "psychonomatists" . . . catch people too late in life. "Psychologists," they tell us—"have themselves, till now, subconsciously plunked the phat that it is not only their duty to catch people but to catch them young. . . . Be careful! the baby is warned, "about the first things you do."

"Perverted primary actions lead inevitably to perverted secondary reactions which are immediately buried alive in the sub-conscious vital stream."
"This just means that you become "fixated," a state no baby wants to get into.
Advice to babies who wish to save themselves by dreaming their psychomental dreams correctly, is offered as follows:
"Do not imagine that, just because you are a Pre-adult, you are entitled to shirk having symbolical dreams. Dreams are, of course, tremendously significant, and if dreamt properly, and subsequently analyzed properly, should at once reveal your normal hatred of your mother, or better still, The Unfrustrated Intention To Eat The Grandfather (Bravo!).
"If your dreams reveal nothing of the sort, then you are just dreaming wrong. Go to sleep again at once; and have the dreams again until you get them right. . . . In order to make quite sure that you are dreaming your dream right, you will be well-advised to make an intensive pre-adult study of normal pre-adult Dream-Psymbologism."

"The normal images of most frequent occurrence in the normal pre-adult dream are, as a rule, practically normal and can be briefly summarized:
"(a) Image pater-familienis (or Images signifying your Father: Serpents—finnan haddock—boating hats—zebras—zip-fasteners.
"(b) Image grandis-materfamilienis (or Images signifying your Grandmother): Tree-lupins—lumps—dwarf-elephants—giant latch-keys—internal combustion engines.
"Thus if you have a persistent dream that a zebra wearing a boating hat is trying to insinuate lumps of finnan haddock into your dwarf-elephant's internal combustion engine you will realize that you are obsessed with your ancestry in the normal ratio of 2:2, that your absorption in the lower branches of the family tree is proportionally rational, and that you are in fact quite all right. . . .
Any baby, the authors assure us who can live through all this will escape Frustration.

COMMENT
O. O. McIntyre: "Not since Jerome K. Jerome's 'Three Men In A Boat' has English humor given me so much fun, 'AND NOW ALL THIS' is hilarious nonsense at its most nonsensical."
Ellis Parker Butler: "Excepting only arguments on the European war debts this book 'AND NOW ALL THIS' is the funniest thing the 20th century has produced. I laughed when I got into '1066 AND ALL THAT' but I laughed the first time I opened 'AND NOW ALL THIS'."

It is the laughingest book to open anywhere that I have ever seen, and its laughingness grows in geometrical progression the more you open it ad lib. I'd call it the century's compendium of chuckles."

Reed To Run For Senate In 1934

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 24. (P)—The Post-Dispatch said tonight that former unforeseen developments former Senator James A. Reed is to be the democratic candidate for U. S. senator in 1934 to succeed Senator Roscoe Patterson, republican.

The newspaper said although Reed has not definitely committed himself to becoming a candidate, he has indicated to a number of his friends, some high in party councils, that he not only would be willing to accept the nomination but that "he hankers for his old seat in the senate."

Reed's voluntary retirement from office in 1929, the newspaper said, was not due to a personal desire to quit the senate, but was at the request of Mrs. Reed, who never had enjoyed Washington life and who desired to return to Kansas City to live. Mrs. Reed died last October.

Dix-Harding Document of America Opens Week's Film Attractions

MOVIES WILL CLAIM GREAT INTEREST NOW

HOLIDAY PROGRAM OF WIDE APPEAL OFFERED

La Nora theater's presentation of Ann Harding and Richard Dix today in "The Conquerors" will launch a week of unusual film attractions in the three local amusement houses.

The film has dramatized much that is great in America. The theme is that an economic depression is but a temporary element in the forward movement of the nation. The Rex and State theaters likewise have special films for the season.

LA NORA—Today, Monday and Tuesday, "The Conquerors," with Ann Harding and Richard Dix; Wednesday and Thursday, "Constance Bennett and Joel McCrea in 'Rockabye'; Friday, Little Theater's "Love-In-A-Mist"; Saturday, "The Penguin Pool Murder," with Edna Mae Oliver, Robert Armstrong, and Mae Clark.

REX—Today, Monday and Tuesday, Lewis Ayres in "Night World," Wednesday and Thursday, Norman Foster and June Clyde in "Steady Company," Friday and Saturday, Ken Maynard in "Range Law."

The Little Theater's production is expected to thrill a huge audience with the excellence of its local cast. Those who have seen rehearsals are particularly enthusiastic.

Heroine Of One-Act Plays In Cast Of Comedy

In the cast of "Love-In-A-Mist," three-act comedy to be presented at the La Nora by the Pampa Little Theater next Friday evening, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, is a young woman who has given striking stage performances in Pampa and the Panhandle, although she has never appeared in a Little Theater play.

This actress, Miss Florita Freeman, has a role which, rehearsals indicate, she will interpret with the charm and subtlety she displayed in one-act plays directed by Miss Arless O'Keefe of the high school. Miss Freeman has made a distinct graduation from the amateur class of actresses. Pampans who saw Eugene O'Neill's "He" will remember that she carried the leading feminine role in that play. That drama was staged at Amarillo and Canyon, and Miss Freeman was given profuse praise by the judges. She won honors in several other contest plays directed by Miss O'Keefe. She is the daughter of I. A. Freeman who has executed several roles creditably on the stage here. There is no doubt but that Miss Freeman as Sidney Rose Wynne in "Love-In-A-Mist" will again give an intelligent and entertaining performance. Miss Sidney Rose is secretly in love with Count Scipio Vorell who is in love with Sidney

INSPIRATION IN FILM OFFERING AT LA NORA

To those who are down-hearted, who have lost faith in the economic stability of the United States, an inspiring document of hope will make its appearance today on the screen of the La Nora theater.

The picture is RKO-Radio's "The Conquerors," a magnificent, entertaining document of America's travail in bitter times and sweet. Starring Richard Dix and Ann Harding, the film depicts, on a truly epic canvas, the economic growth of the United States from its trading post era, through three distressing periods of depression, to the present time of mass production industry.

The film demonstrates dramatically the greatness of America. It proves, through the spectacle of entertainment, that the United States has hurdled heretofore, and can still hurdle, all obstacles in its path to prosperity.

It proves, additionally, that an economic depression is a temporary affair, that courage and hope can dispel.

Against this timely and dramatic background of historical facts, the producers have interwoven a sublimely beautiful story of a courageous couple. This couple dares the dangers of a backwoods trading post to advance the cause of commerce.

Portrayed by Dix and Miss Harding, this pair of typical Americans with tenacious faith in the greatness of their country and belief in its institutions, rise triumphant from the panicky days of 1873, again in 1893, and finally in 1929. "The Conquerors," from an original story by Howard Estabrook was directed by William Wellman. Its supporting cast includes Edna May Oliver, Guy Kibbee, Julie Hayden and Jed Prouty.

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Filmland's propensity for shaping materials to its needs is balked little more by the human element than by problems concerning properties and sets.

Often, with the most recent serenity, Hollywood takes actors and actresses from the stage and, disregarding their past specialties, remolds them to suit itself. A notable, if unsuccessful, example of this was the recently closed Hollywood career of Tallulah Bankhead, who was a smart comedienne on the stage but became a siren on the screen.

Lillian Bond is another girl who was "made over" in the Hollywood casting shops. What she did on the stage made little difference to pictures, which liked her as a perfectly wicked person, and so used her. I doubt, too, that Lionel Atwill, a stage veteran, ever dreamed he would figure in movie horror stories.

Hero Turned Heavy

Lyle Talbot came to Hollywood expecting to play minor roles for a while at least, but scarcely was prepared when he was cast time after time as the heavy, sleek and insolent. Why, in stock he was an all-around leading man, and usually the hero. His role in "No More Orchids," however, has brought him back to the leading man group.

More recently came Harold Huber, a stage comic—as such his future was promised most prominently in a Broadway show. In his four months here he has worked in eight pictures, and not once as a Rise's sister, Diana Wynne, Mrs. Julian Barrett, who does not love the Italian any more than she loved the numerous young men to whom she was engaged. As for Diana, the girl who tells one lie after another, she really loves Gregory Farnham (Gilmore Nunn) but she fibs so consistently and spectacularly that Gregory does not know whether to believe her or not.

Talented Cast

It is obvious that Miss Freeman has a difficult role. In contrast to her sister she loves the truth even if it hurts to tell it and this characteristic calls for a positive personality which Miss Freeman satisfactorily contributes. The well-meant falsehoods of her sister provide situations which form the plot of the play and bring grief and joy to Sidney Rose.

Other members of the cast include Miss Louise Barton as the unconscious aunt, Miss Anne Wynne; Count Vorell, Howard Nellis; the two negro servants Kizzy, Peggy Aronid, and Goin, James Todd; Diana Wynne, Mrs. Julian Barrett. Tickets are on sale at all drug stores in the city and at the La Nora theater, according to George Limerick, La Nora manager, Mrs. T. E. Morton is director of the play. She reported that the cast will be ready to present the comedy Friday night without prompting.

comie, but usually as a heavy. This Huber, by the way, is put by his studio in the class of those who "will bear watching." That means, or always has meant, that ere long he will be given a real part in a real picture.

If it works out that way, you may be interested to know that he was born in New York City, attended N. Y. U., where he studied law with no intention of doing anything but acting. He won his first break on Broadway with a small role in "A Farewell to Arms," the same play that brought Elissa Landi to America, and was elevated to the chief comic role before the play opened.

His contract has been renewed once, and evidence of some studio plan for him is supplied by its refusal to allow him to accept a desirable stage engagement in London.

LAVISH FILM SHOWS NIGHT LIFE DRAMA

PUBLIC OFFICIAL HAS NOTED FLAIR FOR LADIES

One of the most lavish productions of a theme never before set forth on the screen, will be presented the movie-going public to when Columbia's "The Night Mayor" comes to the Rex theater.

"The Night Mayor" dramatizes an unusual extremely interesting portrayal of what the night life of a high public official might be like, featuring Lee Tracy, who endeared himself to theater audiences in the long run of "Broadway."

The story revolves about Bobby Kingston, young, magnetic, smart-dresser, the mayor of a large city—honest and efficient public servant, but with a flair for the ladies, which occupies most of his working hours after city hall duties. He is up against the reform element, and the controversy over his gay night life is brought to a head when he gets deep into a genuine love affair. He has a rival for the same beautiful follies girl in a reporter for a hostile newspaper.

Under pressure from the Governor's office, it is a case of giving up the girl or a public scandal. The mayor sacrifices his human desires for his political safety and the dignity of his office; and the girl marries the newspaper man. Typical of the good sport that he is, the mayor himself marries the couple. Lee Tracy plays the role of the mayor, and Evelyn Knapp is Doree Dawn. Donald Dillaway plays the part of the reporter, Riley, the gunman valet and bodyguard of the mayor's is portrayed by Warren Hymer, and comedy is further supplied by Eugene Pallette and Vince Barnett. Barbara Weeks, Astrid Allwyn, and Gloria Shea provide plenty of pulchritude, and other members of the splendid cast are Emmet Corrigan, Tom O'Brien, Wade Boteler,

No Sir, Thomas Doesn't Want To Lasso Big Bucks

MARFA, Dec. 24. (AP)—H. H. Thomas and M. P. Brown of El Paso, went hunting in the Big Bend country recently. For two days they tramped through the mountains, in search of a buck. They saw several deer, but their shots went astray. Discouraged, they camped near Marfa.

"If I saw a buck now, I would try to lasso it," said Thomas. "They down steers at rodeos without a gun. The art should be extended to wild game."

About that time a buck darted by the camp.

"There's your chance to practice bull-dogging," said Brown.

Forgetting his rifle, Thomas took after his quarry.

The deer slowed down, looked around at Thomas, and started to retrace its tracks.

Thomas, befuddled, headed back for the camp at a Charlie Paddock pace. Before he got very far, the buck overtook him and hooked him in the leg. Later, border patrolmen explained that the deer was a pet, familiar with the ways of man.

"I'll stick to fishing for my recreation in the future," Thomas said.

Dangerous Business

When will these bargains be paid for? By whom? With what?

WILL car owners pay with life and limb for the "bargains" that crowd today's tire racks? Not if they know the truth!

When a struggle for business puts price first, something has to be taken out. Different from almost all other merchandise, when you take quality out of a tire you take out safety—with human life at stake.

When will these "bargains" be paid for? All too soon—and tire failures that cripple and kill will fix the final cost.

On a 25 mile-an-hour tire 40, 50 or 60 is dangerous!

"Built to a price", these brands are unsafe at over 25 miles an hour—yet are trusted up to 60 and better by their innocent users.

General—for 16 years—never has had a temptation great enough to swerve it from its policy of building only Top Quality tires. Generals always were worth the difference in price. Today—with the low cost of raw materials—there is all the more reason for every motorist to demand quality, because the price difference is practically negligible.

General's sales up 17.6 percent—proof that people want quality

Think of this! Full time production. Sales going up. Six months' sales 17.6% ahead of the same period last year. A real testimonial for the value which thinking car owners place upon their safety.

They know the exclusive advantages of General's patented no-breaker-strip construction—full-length plies from bead to bead—blow-out-proof and skid-safe protection—the luxurious comfort of 30% less air pressure—and the economy of General's famous big mileage.

THE GENERAL TIRE & RUBBER CO., AKRON, OHIO

The Merciless Toll Insurance statistics

152,732 persons killed in only 5 years of automobile accidents. 66,100 killed and injured by cars leaving road. 51,720 killed and injured by skidding. $2,500,000,000 property loss each year—exceeding total cost of public school education.

Caution

Be certain to always have your best tires on your front wheels. If a front tire "blows" when you are going 60 you have only 1/4th part of a second to act. Only a flash... and no one can keep a car headed straight with a flat balloon. At any speed a blow-out is too great a risk to take.

Texans As A Whole Show Interest In Fighting Dreaded 'White Plague'

Along with checks, money orders and currency received at the offices of the Texas Tuberculosis association at Austin for the purchase of Christmas seals, there are received annually hundreds of communications of good will and encouragement in the fight against tuberculosis. Miss Pansy Nichols, executive secretary of the association, said recently:

1932 said, "You have brought unusual pleasure to me again by giving me the opportunity to contribute my small mite to this worthy cause."

A note accompanying a check for $2 said, "Wish this were a thousand." An unusual number of contributors this year comment upon personal experience with tuberculosis among their family or friends. One check was sent "with many good wishes for the work of stamping out tuberculosis—it took two of my darling children."

A check for $2 was enclosed in a letter which stated in part, "It is a real pleasure to contribute to so worthy a cause. My own beautiful and brilliant daughter—honor graduate of three best colleges in the south—now lies ill in a sanatorium. Thus, you see, I understand."

A contribution was made by the children of a man who recently died of tuberculosis. His daughter wrote, "We are interested in the tuberculosis problem because we know what our father went thru." The vice-president of a large corporation enclosed his check in a letter in which he stated, "My youngest brother died of that ter-

Court Settles Strange Case Of Two Benefactors

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 24. (AP)—The fifth circuit United States court of appeals today reversed the northern district of Texas court in the granting of a judgment of $10,000 to Rupert P. Ricker, of Colorado, Tex., against Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Shurter.

Ricker brought suit to collect an alleged loan. Legality of the attachment of four sections of land owned by the Shurters also was involved. History of the case revealed that the Dr. Shurter, while a professor at the University of Texas advanced to Ricker, then a student, sums amounting to more than $4,000 so he could complete his education.

When Ricker was graduated Mrs. Shurter also gave him half a section of land which she later bought back from him. Later the Shurters moved to New York state and Ricker became a wealthy businessman while his benefactors in 1927 were in straitened circumstances. Mrs. Shurter wrote Ricker and he agreed to a loan of $10,000 to Mrs. Shurter "without promise to pay" him at any future date.

Then in 1930 Ricker's business enterprises proved unsuccessful and his indebtedness was estimated by him at $75,000. He wrote to the Shurters but they answered they could not assist him and subsequently he brought suit to collect the alleged $10,000 loan. Land attached in connection with the suit included that originally given him by Mrs. Shurter.

The Shurters' testimony said they had provided for Ricker in their wills to an amount in excess of $15,000 but that they destroyed the wills when he filed suit against them. The appellate court reversed the lower court in granting Ricker a $10,000 judgment and held that the court should have instructed the jury to return a verdict in favor of the Shurters.

In another opinion the appellate court affirmed the western district of Texas court in ordering forfeiture to the government under the tariff act of an automobile transporting liquor. The decision was appealed by the General Motors Acceptance corp., which attempted to recover the automobile on which it held a $256 lien.

The automobile was seized by customs officers who prosecuted the seizure under the tariff act, while the attorney in a separate case obtained conviction of two men arrested in the car for violation of the national prohibition act.

ribile disease, and I hope that some day it may be arrested in its entirety. My heart goes out to anyone afflicted with it." Workers of the tuberculosis association hope that by the time all the returns are in, the sale of seals will equal, if not surpass, that of last year. The need for funds to continue the fight against tuberculosis is greater at this time than ever before, Miss Nichols said.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH "Christian Science" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, December 25.

Included with other passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from Mark 1: "... Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God. ... And there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; ... And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And what the unclean spirit had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him. And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him?"

Citations will also be read from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," one citation being follows (p. 271): "Jesus instructed his disciples whereby to heal the sick through Mind instead of matter. He knew that the philosophy, Science, and proof of Christianity were in Truth, casting out all inharmony. "In Latin the word rendered disciple signifies student; and the word indicates that the power of healing was not a supernatural gift to those learners, but the result of their cultivated spiritual understanding of the divine Science, which their Master demonstrated by healing the sick and sinning. Hence the universal application of his saying: 'Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me (understand me) through the word.'"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES Room 2, First National Bank Bldg. Sunday, 11 a. m.; Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.; Wednesday, 8 p. m. The Reading room is open Mondays, Wednesday and Saturdays from 1 to 4 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend the services and to use the reading room.

Cattlemen Going Back To Branding Iron To Curb New Type of Rustling

By GEO. V. MCINTYRE, Associated Press Staff Writer. DENVER, Colo., Dec. 23. (AP)—The branding iron, that septon of power with which the old time western cattle barons stamped their marks upon their steers, is coming back.

Through years of peace and security, many cattlemen have neglected to brand their herds, apparently safe behind wire fences. Lately they have awakened to find their fences cut and cattle missing.

Aroused against the menace of rustlers, Rocky Mountain cattlemen from the dusty banks of the Rio Grande to the wind-swept northern border are moving to combat the thieves. Their battle is not the spectacular manhunt of the days of the Running Iron and Mavericks. Rather it is a slow, piece-by-piece campaign against thieves.

The Colorado Board of Brand Inspectors, which keeps a watchful eye on all cattle coming to market here, has warned cattlemen to revive their brands, pointing out that the ranchers are no longer secure behind three strands of barbed wire and a tradition of death for rustlers. Cases of altered brands are scarce, partly because there are few men who with running iron and rope, can forge a brand, and partly because there is little need to change a brand when there are so many unbranded cattle.

Rustling In 1932. The depression, with its lean and hungry days for many, is blamed for some of the thefts in Colorado, Wyoming and Montana, but New Mexico cattlemen have found the same depression has lowered a certain type of rustling. No longer do organized bands steal whole herds and change their brands, thus converting them to their own herds. Cattle are too cheap to justify the necessary organization and, again, there are few left to do it.

Instead there is the quick dash to a favored grazing spot, swift work with wire-cutters and prod poles and a half dozen fine steers are away to the market while the rancher sleeps. Two men can do it quietly and quickly and the rancher may not discover for days the steers are gone.

Mrs. Bertha Benson, secretary of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' association, said the association, in the years of security, had reduced its reward for cattle thieves from $250 to $100, but despite this several convictions had been obtained.

New Alley Records Hung Up In Pampa

Four new records were hung up at the Pampa Bowling alleys Friday afternoon that should stand for some time to come although the records broken were just posted two weeks ago and one never knows what will happen in bowling.

Tom Peyton of Borger came over to Pampa for exercise and rolled three consecutive games for a total of 730 pins. His games were 247, 215 and 268 pins. Peyton rolled his games with Fred Fischer, local bowler, who rolled games of 235, 197 and 302 pins for a total of 634 pins.

Two weeks ago Tom Darby posted the high three games with 709 pins. He was bowling with Joe Landry, owner of the Pampa Bowling Alleys, who rolled 634 pins to give the doubles total of 1,343 pins.

Friday night Tom Darby came back to hang up the highest single game ever rolled on the local alleys. He started his game with a spare and then had 10 consecutive strikes and nine pins on his last ball for a total of 289 pins, one more pin than V. D. Pruitt rolled two years ago for high single game.

Joe Landry then proceeded to roll high consecutive games with scores of 201, 203, 236, 221, 221 and 204 for a total of 1,508 pins for seven games or an average of 215.3 pins a game.

Many prizes were given for scores rolled during the months, last night.

Janet McMillen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McMillen, is ill.

HARVESTERS TO MEET PLAINVIEW AND BIG LAKE

The Harvester basketball team is scheduled to have an active time during the Christmas holidays. Coach Odus Mitchell has scheduled four games in four nights and will then give the boys a much needed rest.

On Monday and Tuesday nights, the Plainview Bulldogs will be here. The following two nights will see the Harvesters opposing the fast Big Lake Oilers. Both quintets are reported to be big and powerful. The Bulldogs have always been tough rivals and the Harvesters have yet to beat them.

The Bulldogs still have Mabry, Lovorn, and Coach Froggy Lovorn is building his team around the big fellow. The Plainview HERALD says: Plainview's prospects this year are not as good as last year as viewed from the beginning. Coach Lovorn says. But there are several players who promise to develop into real stars before the season is over.

Of last year's regulars only two remain, Mabry and Ray Wester. This pair was plenty good last year, however, and each is showing considerable improvement this season. This is particularly true of Mabry, lowering center, who should develop into one of the best players in the state this winter. Wester is a forward. He is tall, active, and a good shot.

Either of these boys would be welcomed with open arms by a high school coach anywhere. They provide an excellent nucleus for the development of a strong team. In fact with one outstanding guard, Lovorn's troubles would be few. The offensive is okeh but it's the defensive angle that is giving Froggy a fit.

Leon Lowry, Zed Johnson and Ray are the three men who are showing up the best at the present time in guard positions. They are all aggressive and handle the ball fairly well. With a little experithem to the soft French courts and ball. "I am optimistic enough to predict," Prentice said, "that our players will win the Davis cup for the United States within the next year or so if we adhere to the principles and practices advocated by your Davis cup and executive committee with certain refinements that recent experience has indicated are both desirable and necessary. "Your chairman is not of the opinion that our players were either over-trained or over-tennised last season and with certain amendments the committee is inclined to recommend a general adherence to the scheme and schedule of 1932. Prentice and others charged with the conduct of the 1932 team were criticized rather widely for entering the team of Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, John Van Ryn, and Use Daily NEWS Classifieds.

HOOKS and SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Holman Tells All
The man who frequently has been called 'the greatest basketball player of all time' has written a book in which he tells all. The volume, "Winning Basketball," by Nat Holman, is just about as fine a textbook of the game as its author was a player.

It is not intended as an elementary guide, but is written primarily for the young player at school or college who has had some experience, and for the coach.

Holman's long experience as a professional player and as a coach at the College of the City of New York, enables him to view the game from a double perspective. The man who put in 15 arduous years on the courts, eight of which were as a star on the world's champion Original Celtics, in almost daily competition with the greatest players in the country, naturally is able to appreciate the player's point of view.

He probably has faced every conceivable situation which can arise on a basketball floor, including the experience of having a spectator walk out on the court one night and, without any warning, bust him on the back (Holman doesn't tell how to treat a black eye, however).

Ruthless Classroom

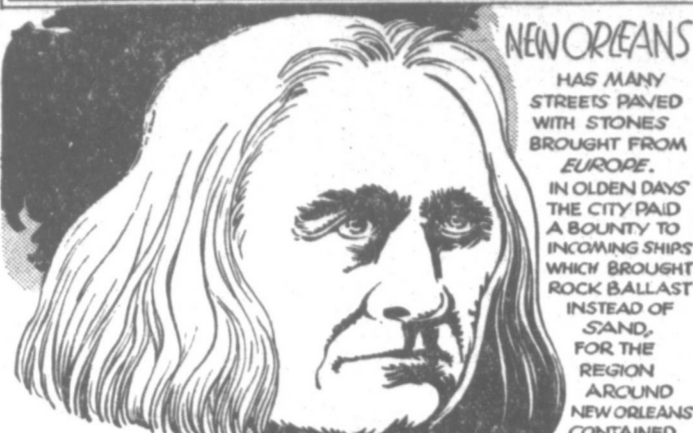

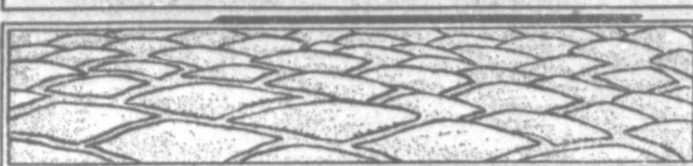

Holman grew up in a hard school of basketball, a backlot Bowery academy that pitched its courts for a game—or a battle—wherever a little elbow room could be found on the crowded East Side. He became one of the hardest player the game ever has seen, and was one of the greatest money players because wherever he went the fans roared for his blood.

The book opens with a chapter on fundamentals, such as mastery of detail in passing, shooting, dribbling and running. He calls passing the most important fundamental of the game, and explains the technique of every pass known to man. There is a great deal more to be known about passing a basketball than most observers of the game realize. This part of the book is profusely illustrated showing the right and wrong way to engineer the ball.

Following fundamentals, there is a chapter on individual offense. In this regard Holman must be considered as an authority, as he probably has been the generation's outstanding leader in aggressive offensive tactics. (Again, must we mention that black eye?)

Next comes a chapter on team offense. A chapter is given to the pivot play, which has almost revolutionized team offense in the last few years. There follow chapters in Switching, the Zone Defense, My Coaching System, Drills, The Coach

Looking Glass Industry Going To Get a 'Break'

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—At last something is going to be done for the looking glass industry.

A group of Chicagoans has organized a mirror smashing society, which will also do something in the way of uplift for the salt makers.

They're going to smash mirrors, spill salt and do the other things the superstitious believe will bring bad luck just to prove that they won't.

There are 13 charter members of the group and they call themselves the "Anti-Superstition Society."

For thirteen days beginning Jan. 1 and ending Friday, Jan. 13 they are going to perform their ritual, and then sit down at a table and laugh at bad luck—provided they are able.

At the Jan. 13 meeting Henry Field, one of the original 13, and assistant curator of physical anthropology at the field museum, and Wallace Rice will discuss the social and unsocial aspects of ill omens. Among the daring things the 13 will do are as follows:

Christmas Greetings!

FROM ALL OF US to ALL OF YOU

The Occupants Of The

COMBS-WORLEY BLDG.

Wish You and Yours

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

More than the mere joys of the Christmas season and the holiday spirit are embodied in the happiness we find on every hand at this time of year . . . more (an the joys of just "another day," with its color, excitement, and personal pleasures, are found in the true Yuletide spirit.

For that reason we pause in our business of everyday life to reflect on the true ideals of Christmas, and to wish you every happiness possible during the holidays and the ensuing year. We want to express to you the most sincere appreciation and joy which has been made possible for us by our contacts with you, the pleasant relationships which we have enjoyed, and trust that they may continue through the years, uninterrupted, with Health, Happiness, and Prosperity abounding!
