'MA' FERGUSON IS NOW GOVERNOR

Senate Over-Rides Philippine Freedom Veto

TWINKLES
Beauty may be as beauty does, but Prof. Auguste Piccard proves that achievement does not necessarily make for beauty.

The West Foster grouch says that free wheeling is a misnomer—he even had to pay for a puncture in a wheel of his son's bike the other day.

We join the many Texans who today did not journey to Austin for Ma's inaugural. Maybe she was economizing by not sending out invitations; at any rate, we're economizing by not going.

Spring coats and other things are here, and a storm is on the way, hence we are normal in one thing anyway.

Jimmie Walker is a forgotten man—we haven't seen his name on a front page in two weeks.

Percy, the office mouse, complains that food is much scarcer since certain alleys were cleaned up. But, he confides, at the rate most people toss things into alleys his trouble won't last long.

DEMAND OF A MOB
Persons returning from Austin say the town is over-crowded with job seekers. The masses want smaller payrolls but the men which has rushed to Jim Ferguson and other real and proxy office holders do not share this demand as it applies to themselves. Public officials find themselves between all sorts of contradictions. A great demand is brewing for another public works program in this country. It is being backed by the manufacturers of building material. Such programs have been disappointing. Less employment was furnished than expected. The work was spread over many industries instead of being concentrated in communities given a federal building.

There are cheaper ways to relieve temporary distress than by voting bonds for public buildings.

FOR AND AGAINST
The National Emergency act, which incorporates the so-called allotment plan, has varied support and condemnation from sources which usually agree on such things. Wall Street is similarly divided. Democrats who are sponsoring the bill privately admit they would like to see it passed before Franklin D. Roosevelt takes office. Temporarily, it is popular in the middle west, but in the long run it may be less liked than the farm board. The bill provides that the fair exchange allowance for any commodity shall be the difference between the price received for the commodity by producers at local markets and the fair exchange value for the commodity, as hereinafter determined. That sounds complicated, and portends an enormous overhead for federal sponsorship.

The Texas Weekly, which admits that enactment seems sure to pass, explains the bill as follows: "Let's see if we can make that clearer by illustration. If the average price of all commodities which cotton farmers buy for a three-month period for which index numbers are available are ten per cent higher than the average price of those commodities was during the base period, then the 'fair exchange value' of cotton would be ten per cent higher than the average price of cotton during the base period. If, for example, the average price of cotton during the base period was $1.00, then the average price of cotton during the base

period would be $1.10. If the average price of cotton during the base

period was $1.00, then the average price of cotton during the base

period would be $1.10. If the average price of cotton during the base

period was $1.00, then the average price of cotton during the base

period was $1.00, then the average price of cotton during the base

POOL TO BE LOCATED FOUR BLOCKS NORTH WILSON SCHOOL

JOB DUE TO BE LET SOON

SIZE WILL BE 60 FEET WIDE AND 120 FEET IN LENGTH

Bids will be received by the city commission and opened January 23 on materials for the construction of a municipal swimming pool four blocks north of the Woodrow Wilson school in east Pampa.

The materials will include 30,000 pounds of steel, 1,500 sacks of cement, 125 yards of sand, and 250 yards of rock. The size of the pool will be 60 by 120 feet. Work will be furnished by the federal relief commission.

This morning members of the commission and the relief committee joined City Manager C. L. Stine, in inspecting the proposed site.

A site on the sloping ground was decided upon and Manager Stine will draw up specifications and set the stakes so that excavation can start soon. Water and gas lines must be laid to the site, although a 1-inch line is available for construction purposes.

The city commission last night also passed an ordinance requiring bonds to be provided by persons or firms who make excavations in streets and alleys in reaching water and sewer lines and for other purposes.

Surprise Awaits Jaysees' Ladies

A surprise program will await members and guests at the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce ladies' night banquet in the Schneider hotel dining room Friday night. The program will be in charge of Bob Fuller, John Oakes, and Jack Dunn.

One of the features of the evening will be a broadcast by the national president of the Junior chamber of commerce and other prominent young men of the country. A radio will be placed in the banquet room. President W. T. "Bill" Fraser will preside.

Unless tickets are purchased in advance, the hotel should be telephoned for reservations before noon Friday.

Panhandle Again Fools Weather Bureau Prophet

AMARILLO, Jan. 17. (P)—A cold wave which was due to move into the Panhandle last night, bringing rain and snow, spent itself in the Dakotas and Wyoming while Amarillo and vicinity enjoyed one of the warmest nights of the winter.

The minimum temperature reading, reached at 10 a. m. today was 41. The forecast promised rain with little change in temperature.

TO CLARENDON TONIGHT
Roy Bourland and Clarence Kennedy and possibly other local men will attend the annual banquet of the Clarendon chamber of commerce this evening.

I HEARD--

Judge Refuses To Give 'Prince' Suspended Term

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (P)—Harry F. Ferguson, the bogus "Prince Michael Romanoff," pleaded guilty today to federal indictments bearing a possible maximum sentence of 55 years.

When Judge John C. Knox declined to impose the suspended sentence the "prince" had apparently expected, the former orphan asylum boy who hid his humble past under a false mantle of royalty tried to withdraw his plea but this was not allowed.

Judge Knox ordered Romanoff to appear before him on Monday for sentence on charges of illegally entering the country, eluding immigration inspectors, and swearing falsely at hearings into his case at Ellis Island.

CARRIGAN CAR THEFT IS 5TH IN LAST WEEK

Theft Ring Believed To Be Operating In Pampa

Car thefts in Pampa during the last week increased to five last night when J. J. Carrigan's Chevrolet sedan was stolen from in front of the Holy Souls Catholic church on Browning avenue. The car bore an Oklahoma license tag number 420-464.

Only one of the stolen cars have been recovered. It was owned by C. S. Barrett and was stolen last Wednesday night from in front of the Baptist church. Since then a new car was taken from Miller Lybrand, Ford agents, another was stolen from Murray Freundlich, and Weldon Wilson lost the other.

Officers believe a car-theft ring is operating here. Three of the missing cars had keys in the locks when stolen.

City officers arrested a negro last night in connection with the theft of a pair of trousers from another negro. He is still in jail.

WOULD ALLOW INDEPENDENCE IN TEN YEARS

HOOVER DISAPPROVAL RENDERED VOID IN 66-26 VOTE

ISLANDS OPPOSE BILL

MUST ACCEPT ACT IN ONE YEAR FROM TODAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (P)—Freedom for the Philippines was granted by the congress today, the senate voting to override President Hoover's veto of the independence bill.

A two-thirds vote was required. The house last Friday voted 274 to 94 to override the veto, more than the margin required.

The senate vote on rejecting the veto was 66 to 26.

The vote was five more than the required two-thirds of the 92 members casting ballots.

Forty-five democrats voted with 20 republicans, and the lone farmer-laborite, Shipstead of Minnesota, to override the president's veto, and make the bill a law.

Under the new law, complete independence for the 34-year-old American possession will be achieved in from 10 to 13 years, provided the island legislature accepts the act within one year from today.

Failure of the island legislature to accept it—and dispatches from Manila have carried strong objections to it from that quarter—would start the whole controversy over again, with doubt existing in some capital quarters that the new democratic congress will get as satisfactory a bill through perhaps for years. The democratic platform promised immediate independence.

Under the act, the new country would be known as "the commonwealth of the Philippine Islands."

The 26 votes against the bill and in support of the veto were all cast by republicans except one by Copeland, New York democrat.

Philippines Oppose Plan

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 17. (P)—The question of what action the United States senate would take on the vetoed Philippine independence bill today overshadowed a special session of the insular legislature which tackled a program presented by Governor General Theodore Roosevelt Jr.

Members of the house, who yesterday in caucuses voted to reject the independence bill if it were enacted over the veto, adopted a harmony program designed to speed Roosevelt's legislative program.

Tiny Tot Revue Will Be Jan. 27

Plans are taking form for the Tiny Tot revue to be sponsored by the Pampa Daily NEWS and La. Young theater January 27.

Three attractive prizes will be awarded the winners.

Rose Distribution To Start Thursday

The first shipment of roses to be distributed by the Pampa Hardware company will be received tomorrow, but distribution will not start until Thursday.

The shipment will include 1120 of the best 2-year-old budded plants obtainable. They will be sold at five for one dollar. Because of the cheap price and excellent quality of the roses, they are in great demand each year.

APPLY FOR LICENSE

Mrs. Grace L. Fitzgerald and L. D. Rider, both of Pampa, have filed application for a marriage license here.

PREMIER AGAIN

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 17. (P)—Eleutherios Venizelos, 68-year-old world renowned foe of royalty, was premier of Greece again today.

AT END OF THE RUN

CHARLES Smith always said that stretch of track at Beverly Curve, with the setting sun visible through a small grille, was "the most beautiful spot in the world." Every time he took No. 8152 over it he admired it, and he knew he was near the end of his run and the day's work. Engineer Smith's will directed that his ashes be scattered there, along the Pennsylvania's busy right of way just east of Chicago. Engine 8152, that Smith had piloted in his last 43 years' service, made a special run. Its whistle sounded the requiem as 8152 swung around Beverly Curve. Engineman Herman Seibold leaned from Smith's old place in the cab carried out his friend's last orders.

THOMPSON STATEMENT EXTENDS HOPE STRIPPING IN SOUR GAS AREA WILL BE PERMITTED SOON

Commissioner Takes Applications in Pampa

LAND and royalty owners in the sour gas area west of Pampa in Gray county and in portions of Carson and Hutchinson counties were hopeful this morning that the gas order controlling production in order to insure ratable taking would be amended to allow stripping in the sour gas area. Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad commission accepted applications for use of sour gas for manufacture of casinghead gasoline without residue outlet, during a hearing conducted here yesterday.

The commissioner caused a furor of excitement when he stated that he would do everything in his power to give land and royalty owners with gas under their property an equal chance to share in the profits of production along with other pro-

Acid Treatment Of Wells To Be Papers' Subject

Papers of particular interest to oil men will be read this evening at the regular monthly session of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the city auditorium. Speakers will be President J. H. Moyer of the chapter and G. N. McDaniel and Floyd Hatfield of the Gulf Production company at Borger. The Gulf men will speak on treating of producing wells with acid. Recent experiments in the Panhandle field will be discussed. All operators, production men, and others having wells in the Dolomite areas are especially urged to hear the papers, since acid treatment of wells in other fields is proving sound.

After the papers are read, there will be a round table discussion.

SPIES STILL EXIST

ROME, Jan. 17. (P)—Prof. Charles Eydoue, the head of the Polytechnic Institute of Paris, who was arrested September 4 with his secretary on a charge of spying, has confessed, police say.

AND A SMILE

CHICAGO—Miss Lucille Gaskill, of Dallas, who recently won a personality contest, gives this advice: "Don't try to be the life of the party, but listen to the others and get them talking about themselves. There's nothing they like better."

WEST TEXAS: Cloudy, occasional rains tonight, and Wednesday; warmer in southwest portion to-morrow.

Forty And Eight To Meet Tonight

An important meeting of the Forty and Eight will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion hut.

Dr. R. A. Webb will preside. All members, whether paid up or not, are urged to be present. Activities for coming months will be discussed.

A drizzle was falling here this afternoon.

CANNONS ROAD AS WOMAN IS INAUGURATED

NO EX-GOVERNORS ARE PRESENT DURING CEREMONY

TAXES ARE DISCUSSED

MRS. FERGUSON AVERS TAX SLASH MUST COME QUICKLY

AUSTIN, Jan. 17. (P)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was inaugurated governor today in the hall of representatives in the Texas capital before a great throng of admirers.

Ancient cannons boomed a seventeen gun salute from in front of the red granite governmental building, as the woman former governor again ascended to power. She was first governor for 1925-1926, but was defeated for a second term. She made one other attempt to "come back" before she finally was victorious last November. She defeated the incumbent, R. S. Sterling, for the democratic nomination to a second term and defeated her republican opponent after a stiff contest in the general election.

She had been defeated by Sterling in 1930 in her first try to regain the office after losing a second term. Dan Moody, attorney general

Registrations will be started early Thursday, although out-of-town exhibits may begin arriving Wednesday afternoon.

Fire Hazards Are Eliminated Here

Pampa is one of the cleanest cities in the state today, largely because of work done through money supplied by the federal relief committee. Fire Chief Clyde Gold declared this morning after an inspection trip through various sections. He was especially proud of the work in South Pampa.

"I believe 90 per cent of the fire hazards in the city have been eliminated during the last two months," Chief Gold declared. "Alleys and vacant lots have been cleared of dead weeds, brush, and paper, and a general appearance of cleanliness prevails."

Frustrated expressions of the faces of most of the Harvester basketball team yesterday. A few of them flunked two subjects apiece and more of them flunked one course each. Oh, well, that doesn't matter so much if they beat Lubbock.

'POOR TOGETHER?' It is commonly supposed that the depression has hit all classes alike. If the poor man is out of a job, the rich man is out of dividends.

Figures presented in a monthly report of the U. S. Commerce Department show that while labor's income has been slashed terrifically, capital's income has undergone nothing approaching an equal shrinkage.

During the first 11 months of 1932, for instance, dividend and interest payments in the United States totaled $6,472,000,000—a figure which doesn't compare at all badly with the record of former years.

Well, the American Federation of Labor's figures show that in 1932 wages paid in the United States totaled $28,232,000,000. In 1928 they were slightly above fifty billions; in 1929 they were above fifty-three billions.

Security prices have shrunk woefully, of late, to be sure. Dividend payments have been cut down; the rich are not as rich as they were, the moderately well-to-do have in many cases found themselves sorely pinched and pressed.

But the comparison is too striking to be missed. The wages of capital have not suffered anything like the deflation that has hit the wages of labor.

Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania is reported writing a novel bearing the romantic affairs of her son, King Carol. It looks like Carol's about to be dealt a royal flush.

'We want beer that tickles our noses,' says a Cleveland ex-bartender. Ah, so that's the source of that old remark about 'a snootful.'

Some Indiana housewives had a neighbor raided, charging that their husbands had been getting liquor from him in exchange for canned goods from their pantries.

With Congress and state legislatures going full blast, it's pretty hard to hold onto hopes for a Happy New Year.

The chap who deals from the bottom of the deck and forgets to count a stroke when he lays out of the rough has met his Waterloo in jig-saw puzzles.

A Civil War veteran of Minneapolis has a bottle of beer given him at a G. A. R. convention in Milwaukee 50 years ago. Now there, at last, is one fellow who 'can take it or leave it alone.'

A Greek court refused to order his extradition to face larceny and embezzlement charges in Chicago in connection with the failure of his huge utility interests.

POTTERY IS TO BE VIEWED BY PAMPANS THIS WEEK

EXHIBIT WILL BE SPONSORED BY ART GROUP

PIECES ARE RECEIVED FROM ALL PARTS OF NATION

Pampans will have the opportunity to view about 150 pieces of fine pottery on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week at the Pampa Furniture store, the exhibit being sponsored by the Arno Art club. Hostesses from the club will be present from 1 to 6 o'clock each afternoon.

The pottery, which was received yesterday, came from all parts of the United States and has backgrounds of unusual interest. Regarding pottery, Florence Green, chairman of arts and crafts of the General Federation of Women's clubs, said:

"The making of pottery is one of the oldest decorative arts in the world; the most artistic pottery is still made by hand or on the potter's wheel; first the clay is carefully washed, the flint feldspar finely ground; these materials are placed in 'plungers' with water and kneaded. The mass is then sifted and worked through canvas bags. The process used a thousand years ago when the ancients operated the potter's wheel in the Valley of the Nile is practically the same today; the kneaded clay is levied, the potter throws it on a flat revolving disk resting on a pivot, he thrusts his thumbs into the clay and with both hands forms it into a cone. The wheel still revolving, he draws the clay outward and upward until the vase rises into shape under his hand. No two forms can possibly be alike for the slightest touch controls the shapes and makes the artistic variations so impossible to achieve by mechanical means. Without being fired, the moist clay-shapes are turned over to artists who decorate upon the soft surface a lively and lovely design either floral, landscape or conventional. Then the decoration is worked into the vase by slip-painting or modeling. Slip is clay and water mixed with mineral colors. After this, the piece is ready for firing."

Reception Not To Be Benefit Event

Although the Treble Clef club is cooperating in raising money to furnish the club room at the city hall, the reception it has planned for Jan. 31 will not be a benefit function but will be for entertainment only, and attendance will be by invitation.

Reception hours are from 8:30 to 10 o'clock at the Scheider hotel, and all federations of Pampa will be guests for the occasion.

LIBBY HOLMAN REYNOLDS

LIBBY Holman Reynolds' three-and-one-half pound baby is being kept in a "hot-bed" incubator, such as this, at a Pennsylvania hospital, in Philadelphia. Hospital officials announced that the child was "healthy and normal" for a premature baby.

By JULIA BLANSHARD NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—What chance at happiness and a normal life has little three-and-a-half pound, prematurely born Smith Reynolds, in view of the torment that his mother, Libby Holman, must have experienced after the mysterious death of her tobacco-merchant husband?

What chance will the child have that is to be born late this month, in a South Carolina jail, to Mrs. Clyde Snipes, who has spent months in the shadow of the electric chair, for killing a policeman?

NOT at all. They have equal chance with all other children, in the opinion of noted psychologists who were interviewed by this correspondent. They start even! What becomes of them, what their characters develop into, what life holds for them need have no relation whatsoever to the fact that their mothers stood suffering, one long and sorrowful loss and under suspicion, the other convicted of murder and sentenced to the chair.

FORMAL OPENING OF CLUB ROOM IS PLANNED; OTHER EVENTS TO BE GIVEN IN ROOM ANNOUNCED

COLORS CLASH IN SMARTEST WINTER TOGS

By ALICE LANGELLIER
PARIS, Jan. 17. (INS)—Colors clash on smart winter costumes, but combine to make some charming schemes.

A daring and original combination comes by way of two shades of dark red velvet on spring-green. Brown comes with a purplish-blue and beige tone; deep salmon hobknobs with pale pink and slate gray with ash-rose. A thick raim-purple skating sweater has a roll of mauve and bright red about the neck and dusty-white goes well with steel-blue. Flamed very often flirts with henna.

Lucien Lelong uses bright green with brown; two shades of grey are brightened by a scarlet belt and pale blue is put with brown.

A yellow dress has a big brown bow and snow leopard fur is worn with black, brown and beige woolen coats.

Patou puts bright red with black and dark blue with white, all in diverse manners.

Buying Barbara

SYNOPSIS: Mrs. Lodely demands to know why Farrell Armitage is turning her back on her to take her. Mrs. Lodely declares it is because she loves Barbara Quentin, Mrs. Lodely's daughter and hopes to persuade her to marry him. Mrs. Lodely declares Barbara does not like Farrell. It has developed his secretary, Kenneth Poole is entering Mrs. Lodely, while he cares for Mark himself.

Chapter 23
POOLE TO THE RESCUE
CURIOUS expression grew in Mrs. Lodely's eyes. An old tag floated into Armitage's mind, about all the world loving a lover. Mrs. Lodely was crookedly smiling.

"Well, I'm dashed!" She lit another cigarette. "I must say I like a man who speaks up for himself. Men used to, what's more, when I was a girl. I'm glad you're speaking. Look here, Farrell, if I lost my temper just now, forget it. And forget Barbara. She has no thought in her head but Mark. She told you as much, I'll bet."

"Oh yes. She told me as much and more."

"Very well, then, that's settled. Armitage took her nod as a dismissal and escaped, though what it was that settled her did not know. A stupid woman and, added his caution, for that very reason a dangerous and stubborn enemy.

On the threshold of the big drawing-room he collided with Poole.

"Lodely's awake and asking for you," said that innocent. "I went up but I'm afraid I was rather a misfit." He turned the misleading sound of his gaze upon Mrs. Lodely, who at that moment issued forth from the inner room. "I say," he announced, "I've just discovered that there's a dog show on at Kern's. Are you too frightfully busy, Mrs. Lodely, or—?"

Armitage left him at it. Loyal lad—Poole! Armitage went up to the bedroom that his been his own. It should be his again, too, by gad! That was one thing he would stand out for. If there was no decorator who could evolve a suitable bedroom for Mark, Mark could thunder well— in the elevator.

"Come in," said the artist's voice. Armitage entered the bedroom. It was a big apartment but Mark had managed to clutter it with his belongings. A trunk gaped, half-unpacked; the paraphernalia of pencil, paint and easel overflowed upon the bed and there were torn fragments of paper all over the floor.

"I tried to do another impression of Miss Raoul before I went to bed," explained Mark, as Armitage glanced at the litter, "but I couldn't. I don't suppose I could have improved on the first sketches, though, anyway."

"Good, were they?" Armitage cleared a chair and sat down. "I don't think you showed them to me."

"That was very remiss of me," said Mark at once. "I'll see that it doesn't happen again."

Armitage opened his lips—and closed them.

"You are under no obligation whatever," he said carefully, "to appoint me censor of your work. As to your assumption that I'm buying authority over you by offering you a chance to make good—well, it's rather an unfriendly assumption, isn't it?"

Mark listened to him with apparently deep attention.

"But I thought we agreed when I came that we were not friends," he said.

With exasperation Armitage remembered it. Mark's thin, cool voice went on—

"Now you are offended because I assume that if it is not liking for me, it is a liking to be the patron. Well, if it's from neither of these weaknesses that you invited me here, why is it?"

It was Mark's faint aura of enjoyment that betrayed him. Armitage was positive that Mark guessed the mainspring of his hopes. More than the mainspring he might never trouble to discover, so sure he was of Barbara.

"Why are you doing anything at all for me, Armitage?"

First the mother, now the son! Suddenly Armitage realized that it mattered not a whit whether the pair of them knew the full extent of his bargain with Barbara. Armitage permitted himself to show enjoyment also.

"What amuses you?" demanded Mark, off his guard.

"The idea of your amusing yourself with me!" returned Armitage and continued to grin at him.

Mark grew a little paler. "Now keep an eye on him," warned a part of Armitage's brain. "He's angry and he's going to bite. Give him what the bulldog got, the left arm wrapped in a rug, and watch his style." He said amiably—

"Life does make one look a clown sometimes. Personally, I never mind being an object of ridicule."

"Are you sure?" purred Mark. "When you're in love, my dear Armitage, and one day I suppose you may be, you'll find you want to hit the man who makes you appear ridiculous in her eyes."

"Very possibly. But the woman I love"—he said it quite deliberately—"the other after all."

"You know you ought to discuss your idea of love with Barbara. She's great on discussion. Always digging up love and having a look at it and planting it in a different place. And then she wonders why it doesn't flourish."

"Speaking of Miss Quentin, are you quite determined not to answer her wire?"

"I never correspond with anybody and she knows it," said Mark and glanced at his breakfast-tray, untouched beside his bed.

Involuntarily Armitage's eyes followed his, and fell upon an envelope that had not been opened.

"Mark Lodely, Esq., care of Farrell Armitage."

"You've made absolutely no breakfast, Lodely."

"I had no appetite."

Armitage forced his glance away—and the first thing it encountered was another unopened letter upon the mantelpiece. He supposed that it had arrived yesterday. He lost control a little and said—

"Shouldn't someone—Mrs. Lodely or—or myself—send Miss Quentin a line? She may be anxious about you."

"Write by all means. Mother won't if she can dodge it. And by the way, I've had a good idea. Why shouldn't Barbara come up here and sit up that studio that you're kindly giving me? It would be a charity on your part to give her the job."

"It's an excellent idea," Farrell said and, turning to face Mark again, surprised a look of childish frustration.

"Perhaps you'll make clear," he added, "when you suggest it to Miss Quentin that Malavie's scheme can be scrapped or used as a basis for the new one, just as she chooses."

"Malavie! Do you mean to say that you have had a studio designed by Malavie?"

"Yes, and a bedroom adjoining. But I've already told him that I didn't think you would like the result."

"Malavie!" gasped Mark. "Good God, Armitage, I'm afraid you've thrown away an enormous sum of money. You see, Malavie is the super-scene painter in a Himeight world. Of course," added Mark kindly, "a Malavie studio might be useful as a 'stunt'. To give parties in you know; I should get known that way; and it would do no harm to get known while I'm finding out whether I've a chance to get good. I know well enough how much I have to learn."

It was the first note of sincerity he had struck since he had spoken of his work on that night in Kings Mallard. It eased the tension a little.

"Oh yes," went on Mark. "I sold some sketches last night to a fat woman named Constantia J. Jacobson. I think you should take this check, Armitage."

"Why?"

"Because whatever motive you may have behind your generosity to me, I must be quite clear about my motive in accepting it. I am clear. . . I ask nothing for my own personal indulgence, Armitage. All my needs are centered in the one great need to be free to work."

"But if, during my probation, I get every now and then the chance of making a hundred and twenty pounds that is not through my craftsmanship but your kindness. Therefore I don't feel I have a right to the money."

"I see," said Armitage. "But surely in offering you your probation I ought to have added a personal allowance. You will need clothes, and books and so on. The Lachesse is to be at your disposal but there will be occasional taxis. Shall we say three hundred a year?"

"That will be ample."

"Then accept this check on account," said Armitage smoothly. (Copyright 1932 Julia Cleff-Addams)

TRYOUTS FOR ROLES IN CONTEST PLAY 'THE HIGH HEART' ARE HELD

Tryouts for parts in "The High Heart" were held yesterday and today under Miss O'Keefe's direction. Three or four casts are being selected. The winning cast will represent the school in the Panhandle Speech Tournament at Amarillo and the Interscholastic League contest at Canyon. "The High Heart" is the play chosen in the contest held a week ago last Friday in the city hall.

Miss O'Keefe is optimistic about the chances for "The High Heart" in the forthcoming contests and hopes to develop a play of the first rank.

In about ten days the final cast will be chosen.

DID YOU KNOW?

For the first time in history all the solid geometry students passed?

That yesterday's enrollment was the record for one day in Pampa high?

That Winifred Heiskell was at the basketball game Thursday after a serious illness? Winifred was captain of last year's girls squad.

That several teachers have threatened to take up roller-skating and skate to school?

Favorite jokes heard during exams: "How far were you from the right answer?" "Oh, about six seats." "Professor, 'Bill, are you using notes on the exam?" "Bill, 'No, professor, I'm copying from the book." "Prof. 'Oh, I beg your pardon."

Many Wondering How Ferguson Will Gain Control of Highway Department

By CHARLES E. SIMONS.
ASTIN, Jan. 17. (AP)—The most exciting item of this session of the legislature probably will be the contest for control of the state highway department.

Those who observe the proceedings of the legislature, and have their ears attuned to political whispering, believe this will be one of the battles that will make history. It will be one in which rapid-fire politics and clever planning will be evident on both sides.

Many are wondering just how the incoming governor will go about obtaining control over the highway department, the largest division of the state government. Some believe it will be something of a simple procedure to have a bill passed through the legislature to increase the membership of the highway commission from three to five, or possibly seven.

Others, however, don't believe the executive will have such an easy time and that the siege will be hard fought and protracted.

The highway department was lambasted freely by former Governor Ferguson during two heated democratic primary campaigns. It since has been severely criticized by Ferguson and he recently lost a court action to prevent the highway commission from entering into any more contracts for highway construction. Ferguson has appealed the several decisions that were adverse to him in the highway commission court fight.

Even should he lose the appeals, it probably would not mark the end of the controversy because there is certain to be legislation offered at a conference with the governor, the regular session to carry out the administration ideas of the changes that should be made in the operation of the highway department.

One of the changes most likely to be advocated is the choice of the commissioners by ballot instead of appointment. Much has been said on both sides of this question. A bill offered at the last regular session to provide for an elective highway commission didn't get very far, however, and it would require a sizeable change in sentiment to put it across.

Under last session's plan, the state

Hitler Stages Nice Comeback In Diet Votes

BERLIN, Jan. 17. (AP)—Adolf Hitler, leader of the National Socialist party, was expected here today for a conference with government chiefs, but he would not arrive until tomorrow.

The conference to be held here may determine his policy with regard to co-operation with the government. Upon the party hinges such possibilities as dissolution of the Reichstag, scheduled to assemble January 24, or the alternative appointment of Gregor Strasser, former National Socialist organizer, as vice chancellor with Hitler's approval.

The gains made by the Hitler party in the smallest German state, Lippe, in diet elections yesterday were believed a refutation of assertions that his power was on the wane.

Dope All Mixed Up In Battles Between Girls

"Miracles happened in the Harvester-Miami game last Friday. Time stood still, hearts were practically torn out, and Pampa defeated Miami by the score of 21-20."

Those were the words of Mr. Kelley in describing his marvellously improved team. He doesn't know where the miracle comes in, neither can he understand the dope. The dope is as follows: McLean defeated Pampa by a large score, Miami defeated McLean, and Pampa defeated Miami. Dope may mean something; so we allow you to figure out your own conclusions.

The games for Friday and Saturday present the same possibilities as Allison defeated Pampa and LeFors defeated Allison. The Harvesterites play Allison on Friday and LeFors on Saturday.

Marbaugh Still Suffering From Sprained Ankle

The Harvester squad will journey to Lubbock Friday to engage in a battle with the strong Lubbock Westerners. The game promises to be a light one as Lubbock and Pampa defeated Amarillo by the same score. The first string Harvester squad is eligible and ready with the exception of Miles Marbaugh, who is recovering from a sprained ankle.

Lubbock is favored in the southern district to win the championship. Pampa, probably the outstanding favorite in the northern Panhandle, will offer the strongest competition of the year, according to the dope sheet.

Spinner of Cat Lie Gets Medal

BURLINGTON, Wis., Jan. 17. (AP)—Champion of all the liars of the United States, Phil McCarthy, of Denver, Colo., will soon be decorated by a proxy of the Burlington Liars' club, with a rubber medal symbolic of his title.

Should the truth of his claim to national fame be questioned, club officials said, McCarthy is entitled to a quick means of proving he was the originator of the peg-leg cat story, judged as the best of some 1,200 submitted in an annual contest.

The cat, he said, slew many mice by looking cock-eyed at them thru a knot-hole in its peg-leg.

In a sharkskin pocket case, the medal was mailed Saturday.

BIG EAGLE KILLED

ORANGE, Jan. 17. (AP)—An American eagle, measuring five feet, 7 inches between wing-tips was killed by Griff Glidden on his farm near here when the bird attempted to fly away with a full grown rooster.

Paul Crossman was able to leave Pampa hospital yesterday afternoon. His condition was improved.

Farmer Resists Arrest—3 Slain And 6 Wounded

GARY, Ind., Jan. 17. (AP)—With three men dead and six wounded peace settled today over the farm of Mike Lantare, 67, who with a shotgun and revolver stood off scores of officers for hours before his bullet torn body was taken from his flaming house, southwest of here.

The other two victims, both shot by Lantare in the battle which began late yesterday, were Sheriff Roy Holley, 43, of Lake county, and Louis Boettner, 70, of nearby Ross; an unincorporated town.

Cause of the battle, which brought police reserves from adjoining counties and crowds of citizens, grew out of what apparently was a trivial argument over ownership of a tree.

The actual slaying of Lantare, already wounded, finally fell to Sgt. Adam Funk of the Hammond police force. Creeping into the house after it had been set afire, he said he came upon the man with a revolver in his hand. Funk let go a burst of machine gun fire, killing Lantare.

Racketeering and Technocracy Are Seeking Same Ends, Says Analyst

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Technocracy, in the opinion of Thomas Quinn Beesley, author and crime analyst, is seeking the goal which he says has already been touched by racketeering.

They had reached the same conclusions, he said today.

"Technocracy," he said, "is overlooking one of its strongest arguments when it does not point to racketeering as proof of its theories."

Three major conclusions, Beesley declared, "have been reached by racketeers 'after experience in the brutalities of business,' and by technocrats 'from detached science.'"

(1) That the present system is all out of adjustment to needs of the times.

(2) That better "social control" is required for industry, and

(3) That a workable plan is needed for regulation and stabilization of the present strain indefinitely, competition and price structures which have been developing steadily for 50 years.

Both Dictator Systems.

"These racketeers offer a system whereby one can continue to make a profit in competition, under conditions of constantly improved manufacturing processes," Beesley explained.

"Racketeers have agreed with technocracy for at least seven years that no system based on price could stand the present strain indefinitely, unless there was slavery among workers and a dictatorship to regulate competition and regiment the public."

"The racketeers have supplied the dictatorship."

"Technocrats say their research indicates a need for new methods of control of industry, rejecting communism and fascism, but not suggesting any plan of their own."

"The racketeer will say he knew that long ago—but he has a plan, which he has set up as the racket. In its 1933 model, the racket is a collusive agreement, or conspiracy, between expedient business men, crooked business agents or officials of labor unions, unethical lawyers, gangsters, hoodlums and corrupt politicians, to control a given industry or service line of trade."

No Price Wars.

"The object of this conspiracy is to regulate competition, employment, production and distribution, thereby insuring profits and stabilizing prices."

"In more than 80 lines of industry," Beesley said, "the machine is king and the racketeers are his entrenched army."

"Socialized price wars in metropolitan and sub-metropolitan centers," he said, have not been "price wars" at all, but blockades to prevent invasion of economic and social life.

"Technocracy, business and poli-

Universal German Military Training Expected by Spring

BERLIN, Jan. 17. (AP)—By spring Germany fully expects to inaugurate universal military training.

A government spokesman said today that Chancellor von Schleicher's speech yesterday, in which he reiterated Germany's demand for arms equality, was intended to notify this country and the rest of the world of the government's determination to replace the present reichswehr system with a militia in which all citizens will be required to serve.

will be dressed in the college colors. ties alike must meet the issue raised by the fact that the racket, although illegal, terroristic, criminal, at least is an answer to current problems.

"Thousands of business men either helplessly or hopelessly have accepted the racket as a program, while to the public, always an innocent bystander, racketeers are costing billions of dollars a year."

HARVESTERS HAVE WON 14 OF 15 GAMES PLAYED IN SEASON

Eight More Tilts Remain On Schedule Before Finals In Section.

The Pampa Harvesters have amassed 560 points to 238 for their opponents in the 15 basketball games played this season for an average of 37 points a game to 16 points for the opposition. They have won 13 of the 15 games played. The losses were split games to Plainview and Happy, two of the strongest teams in the state.

Eight games remain to be played before the sectional championship games in the Panhandle league race. Six of the games are with fixtures. The other games are with the much feared Lubbock Westerners in Lubbock Friday night and with the Amarillo Sandies in Amarillo the following Friday night.

The season to date is the most successful in several years. The team is well balanced and fast. The team has both offensive and defensive strength. The forwards, Captain Robert Woodward and Miles Marbaugh are scoring aces while Hoot Fullinm, big center, is largely responsible for the high points with his passing and shooting. In Wayne Kelley and Jess Patton, the Harvesters have a pair of guards who have not been excelled this year. Kelley was high-point scorer Friday at Miami.

A strong line-up of substitutes is available and many times they went into games at the half while the first string boys went to the showers.

Hard games with Lubbock and Amarillo; both away from home, are anticipated during the next two weeks. The team will not play a home game until January 28.

TO PLAY IN CANYON

Coast Clubs to Support Farms In West Texas

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 17 (AP)—Los Angeles and the San Francisco seels have indicated they will support baseball farms in West Texas and New Mexico if a class D league is organized in the two states.

Marty Fiedler, former president of the Albuquerque Dons, said today.

Fiedler was elected vice-president of a West Texas-New Mexico league tentatively organized at Lubbock, Sunday. He said that J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas League, promised to seek a farm connection with the St. Louis Browns and the Houston club.

Fiedler will visit Roswell, San Angelo, and Pampa soon in an attempt to get those towns to join the league.

ANCIENTS WHO COULDN'T COUNT COULD DO NOTHING WITH NO. 13

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP)—If you fear some ill fortune because of Friday the thirteenth, you can blame the bad arithmetic of your ancestors some of which could not count above three.

Primitive man liked the number 12 because he could parcel 12 objects into groups of 3. But 13, what could be done with that?

Dr. Eugene S. McCartney, University of Michigan classical scholar who has studied ancient and modern superstitions, believes that the unpopularity of number 13 undoubtedly began before there were any written records, probably before our early European ancestors migrated out of Asia.

The earliest mention of unlucky 13 in Greek literature dates back to 850 B. C. when Hesiod in the first "periphrastic bulletin" advised against sowing seed on the "thirteenth of the waxing month."

There are several theories about the origin of "unlucky thirteen." Dr. McCartney says, and also several explaining "Unlucky Friday." It was natural to combine the two and make Friday the thirteenth the worst day of all.

Adam and Eve are said to have partaken of the "forbidden fruit" on Friday, which caused their eviction from the Garden of Eden. Jesus was crucified on Friday.

There was fear of number 13 among the Norsemen, whose mythology says there were 12 demigods until Loki among them to make 13, the Norsemen believed 13 Valkyrie seized a warrior and conducted him to Valhalla.

China's Great Wall Badly Damaged By Japs; Flag of U. S. Still Waves

By JAMES A. MILLS Associated Press Correspondent (Copyright, 1933, by The Associated Press)

SHANHAIKWAN, China, Jan. 16 (AP)—Peace hovers over this shell-scarred wall city, dividing Manchukuo and China proper—but it is a precarious peace, apparently likely at any time to flare into war.

Seven days have passed since the Japanese troops drove the Chinese from the ramparts of this section of the great wall of China, nearest the sea, but Marshal Hsiao-Liang, the Japanese assert, has thus far manifested no desire to settle the quarrel which almost threw China and Japan into large scale warfare.

(Chang) is military commander of North China.

The city remained paralyzed today, only a small percentage of Shanhaikwan's population having returned to their homes, despite Japanese assurances there would be no more fighting.

Gen. Yoshimichi Suzuki, commander of the fourth brigade, who hastened here from Suihsung when the new conflict broke out, was sitting patiently in a freezing cold stone house, formerly occupied by Gen. Ho Chu-Kuo, the routed Chinese commander of Shanhaikwan, awaiting the arrival of Chinese peace negotiators.

"The Chinese must make proposals to us—not we to them," General Suzuki told the Associated Press. "We have nothing to be ashamed of. The Chinese must come on bended knee and apologize for the shameful events of January 1 and 2."

'Good Intentions' (Among "overt" acts charged to the Chinese in precipitating the battle, was the bombing of a Japanese police station. The Chinese accused Japanese of setting off the bomb as an "excuse.")

"We can assure the world we have no intention of advancing a foot beyond the great wall at the same time we have no intention of giving up Shanhaikwan either," the general continued. "We must continue to occupy the city as a measure of security against recurrence of the events of January 1 and 2."

Shanhaikwan must be converted into a neutral zone.

"Massed in front of us are 30,000 Chinese troops. If they attempt to retake Shanhaikwan, it will prove calamitous for them for we shall hurl against them all our available land, air and sea forces."

In the ruined portion of Shanhaikwan near the south gate of the great wall where scores of Chinese and Japanese soldiers were killed January 3, the most striking feature of the landscape was the Star-Spangled Banner flying over the American Methodist Episcopal mission.

American Flag Waves

The mission continued to carry on its work until the bombardment and flames made it impossible. A pathetic sight were the groups of Chinese men and women searching the debris of their former homes for any objects of value.

Traversing the port portion of the great wall which encircles Shanhaikwan at this point, the writer ascertained that the extent of the battle havoc and ruined area covers about six city blocks, but the majority of houses destroyed were cheap, one-story dwellings.

The great wall itself was badly damaged in many sections, especially near the south gate and the famous Sexagonal Tower.

From the west gate here of the great wall, a solid line of Chinese troops were visible along the Sih river, only 1,000 meters distant (about three-fifths of a mile).

ALVIN GARDNER HAS FAITH IN FUTURE OF TEXAS BASEBALL

Many Veterans of Diamonds Looking for Jobs at Annual Meeting.

By BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer.

President J. Alvin Gardner of the Texas League has staunch faith in the future of baseball and looks to it with the confidence of a man who has received definite assurance that coming events will work for the betterment of the game.

All he wants, he says, is for San Antonio to settle certain league debts by mid-night, January 22, in order that the Alamo City can retain a Texas League franchise.

San Antonio can clean house, and the St. Louis Browns will transfer their Texas League franchise to San Antonio and operate a team there. I will be president of the finest minor league in the country," commented Gardner.

He will give the Texas League eight major cities, each given baseball town. Oklahoma City and Tulsa will offer national rivalry in the pennant battle. Fort Worth and Dallas will be at each other's baseball throat. Houston and Galveston will sparke with competition. San Antonio and Beaumont—what more could a league president ask for?

Beside all this rivalry, there will be the new Shaughnessy plan giving the four first division teams a playoff and the right to compete in the Texas League pennant and to represent my league in the Dixie League. That this idea will stimulate interest among the fans and increase the players' interest to a battling pitch, goes without saying."

Even the possibility of San Antonio's not entering the race can not shake Gardner's faith. "If the Indians forfeit their franchise, we'll find a way through the fence. There are several other fine cities anxious to land a league berth," said Mr. Gardner.

Looking for Jobs.

At last week's Texas League meeting, many veterans of the diamond around the hotel lobby were receptive to managerial jobs. Claude Robertson, former San Antonio manager; Del Pratt, former Galveston pilot; Josh Billings, former Cotton States League manager; Aaron Ward, with Shreveport; and Tyler last year; Pete Donahue, former major league hurler, and Eddie Moore, who finished the season in the outfield for Oklahoma City, were among those willing to talk with any club owner about a managerial position.

It was rumored that Eddie Moore probably would be playing-manager of the Oklahoma City Indians, but Jack Holland, club owner, said that if a playing manager were signed it probably would be Fred Luderus, first baseman and former Oklahoma City manager.

Quail Season in Panhandle Closes

The quail season closed at sundown yesterday with many Pampa nimrods arriving home with the bag limit. Those who were unable to get away yesterday hunted Sunday with marked success.

The season just ended was one of the most successful in several years. Many nimrods got the limit. The weather was unsatisfactory for some time, but when suitable, hunting was enjoyable. Most of the birds were killed in south Gray county, Wheeler county and Roberts and Hepler hill counties near the river.

Several promising bird dogs were found during the season. The sensation of the season apparently was Larry Spicer's dog, which is receiving praise from several local hunters who saw it in action.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—The annual battle over the figures on Babe Ruth's salary check has started.

More in fear than hope, the Yankees mailed Ruth a contract for 1933 yesterday. Hardly giving the ink time to dry, the big home run slugger announced he would return it, unsigned. The Yankees, he indicated might do what they liked with it.

While unwilling to discuss what terms the world champions had offered him for his exertions next season, Ruth left no doubt in the minds of interviewers that it wasn't enough.

Business Manager Edward G. Barrow declined to confirm reports that the club had proffered Ruth a contract for $60,000.

Battle To Route Highway Through Ranches Resumed

RAYMONDVILLE, Jan. 17 (AP)—The battle of South Texas people to force a road through the King and Kennedy ranch lands in Kennedy county, north of here, will be resumed on January 27, at a road meeting here, it is expected.

The activity for this last gap in the Hug-the-Coast highway, from Brownsville on the south to Orange on the north, was permitted to lapse for a while last year as activity was centered on a move to have a highway paved along Padre Island from Corpus Christi to Brownsville.

But the Kennedy county project is expected to be taken up with renewed activity at the meeting here.

Houston and Galveston representatives are expected at the meeting.

The state highway department offered to build this road without cost to the county if the right-of-way is donated. However, so far the property owners have declined to donate the right-of-way, or to permit a road to be built.

Match Between Rosenbloom And Knight Proposed

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP)—A match between Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, and Joe Knight of Cairo, Ga., is proposed by James M. (Bingo) Brown, president of the National Boxing association, to settle the muddled title situation existing in the light heavyweight division.

Brown has sent letters to boxing commissioners in member states asking approval of such a match for the title declared vacant a month ago when George Nichols failed to defend the championship he won in the Milwaukee tournament last year, within the prescribed eight months period.

All of the replies received thus far, Brown said, have expressed approval and prospects are that any legitimate promoter who arranges the bout in N. B. A. territory will receive official sanction.

Does Your Oil Check Safe?

plus the hidden quart

IF YOU CAN CHECK THIS POINT YOU ARE SAFE

THAT STAYS UP IN YOUR MOTOR AND NEVER DRAINS AWAY

All of the Merits that Any Oil Boasts.. Plus One Gift None Other Can Claim

Ordinary oil, down in the crankcase, is worthless except for the pump. From the vital parts it drains away, for hours when all is still. Oil may be light, de-waxed and free-flowing, yet it may be forced back to work. During the minutes it takes to get going, 50% of the wear occurs. Experts say this is so.

But there is one oil, and only one, that does not depend on the pump. It is Conoco Germ Processed Oil; the oil with the "hidden quart. The germ process adds to pure, paraffin-base, de-waxed oil, an almost unceasing gift . . . the ability to penetrate and combine with metal surfaces, so it CANNOT drain away.

Motorists, in a pinch, have driven miles and miles on this "hidden quart alone. You can have this margin of safety. It costs no more than for other, so-called good oils. But it will save you—happen knows—how much. Drain and refill with Conoco Germ Processed Oil. Dispel those lurking doubts.
