PAMPA TOPIC OF OUR CITY O.B.H.

TWINKLES

West Texas oil lands are pouring millions of dollars into buildings at Texas university and A. & M. And some people seem to think West Texas boys and girls ought to have to travel all the way to these schools to get an education. A lot of people in this state think West Texas is "barren" and would like to keep it that way.

Where are the tall girls of Pampa high school? Those who saw the game with Canadian thought of that puzzle a number of times the other night. Height, more than weight, counts in basketball, especially under girls' rules.

Congressman Marvin Jones is making a strong bid for a grand slam in helping agriculture with his domestic allotment plan. He's a hero if it works and sunk if he "goes set."

"Forgotten Texans" are advocating registration system in lieu of the poll tax. We used to think the poll tax tended to result in better qualified voting, but outcomes in recent years have made us doubt this seriously. The privilege to vote should not, however, be taxed.

AMERICA'S DREAM

We commonly link dreaming with the Old World, but history shows no greater dream than that of this country a few years ago. In this connection, we are going to quote an excerpt from an article by James Truslow Adams, famous historian who in 1926 accurately predicted the depression. "Today, so far from there being any dread of famine or lack of commodities of any sort, actually fear nature's bounty" as exploited by our own too efficient methods. What we dread, unless civilization breaks down entirely, is not lack of food from drought or pest, but the ending of what I have elsewhere called "the American dream," from failure of mind and character to control and organize the vast forces at our disposal. . . . We had actually believed ourselves not simply to have abolished the possibility of famine but to be within sight of abolishing poverty. . . . It is this dream, in its various aspects, which to many today appears to lie shattered under the debris of the economic crash of the last three years. . . . It was no new experience. Americans had done exactly the same thing in the great speculative periods of 1824-1836, of 1857, in the overexpansion of 1871-1873, in 1890-1891, and notably in 1905-1907, the last period culminating in the so-called "rich man's panic." . . . If I am right in my suggestion of a psychological cycle operating within the economic one, then it would appear that as a nation we are entering upon that portion of the cycle following the abnormality of the boom and crash when our minds and outlook on life are at their best.

"So long as we were unable to look at the realities of the economic situation, which were international, and believed only in the unreality of our supposed independence, we spent our strength and wasted time and money in such fantastic methods of attempting to save ourselves from disaster as taxing ourselves to hold up world prices for wheat and cotton by buying and storing the surplus crops of American farmers. . . . Summing up, I would say that the change in the psychology of the American people from 1932 to 1933 is of happy augury to the world. We are largely ignorant of world affairs, as we found when we undertook to be the international bankers of the world. We have got to learn and feel our way. The material standard of life's reality has been debunked by the reality of an empty pocketbook, and there is a chance that the real American dream can now again replace the nightmare of all post-war and

HUSBAND NOW SERVING SEVEN-MONTHS SENTENCE

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 10. (AP) Governor Blackwood today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, expectant mother convicted of the murder of Elliott Harris, York rural policeman.

The governor's action came less than 24 hours after he had reiterated he would wait until the state supreme court acts on an appeal in the case before considering petition asking executive clemency.

Mrs. Snipes, 29-year-old mother of one child, expects the birth of another January 20. Petitions presented to the governor yesterday urged that he commute her sentence before the child's birth in order that Mrs. Snipes might not have "the penalty of electrocution hanging over her augmented by the prospective anguish of child birth."

Mrs. Snipes is the only woman ever sentenced to be electrocuted in South Carolina. She was convicted at York early in December and her death date fixed at April 7 by Judge Thomas S. Sease. The death penalty was mandatory under South Carolina law under a murder verdict without recommendation of mercy.

Found No Whisky

Harris was shot to death last July on a highway near Fort Mill after he had stopped an automobile in which Mrs. Snipes was riding with her husband, Clyde Snipes, to search it for whisky.

Finding no whisky, the officer attempted to arrest Snipes on a charge of reckless driving. An argument ensued and Mrs. Snipes snatched Harris' pistol and shot him four times. He died instantly.

At her trial, the former cotton mill operative testified she shot Harris after he had struck her in the mouth. She said she fired the first shot to protect herself and fired three shots into his body because she became "excited and nervous."

When Mrs. Snipes was placed in the state penitentiary here, she spent her time sewing clothes in anticipation of her child's birth. Her husband is also in the penitentiary, serving a seven months' sentence for riding off in Harris' automobile after the policeman had been killed.

Association To Meet Here Next

The next meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Secretaries' association, a branch of the Texas Retail Merchants association, will be in Pampa the second Monday in April, Mr. and Mrs. Carver Loftus of the Pampa Business Men's association attended the quarterly meeting in Childress yesterday and invited the next meeting to Pampa.

Mr. Loftus was named chairman of a territory to secure credit information for national report service. His territory is from a point between Panhandle and White Deer north to the Oklahoma line.

Rolla Townsend of Amarillo was re-elected president of the association.

NEED FOR MORE FACILITIES OF PLAY SEEN AS AMERICANS TRY TO PUT LEISURE HOURS TO USE

Sports as Spectacles Turning to Play By Individual

By HERBERT YAHRAES, Jr., NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—America likes to play games—as well as watch them—finds the report of the President's Research Committee on Social Trends, and there's no danger of its becoming a nation of spectators.

In fact, "interest in sports at public spectacles," it says, "has already been equalled, if not surpassed, by the demand for more adequate playing facilities and their extensive use by the public."

The finding of those facilities, it declares, is one of the problems facing the country.

The report estimates that by the late 1920's more than $10,000,000 annually was being spent by the American public for recreation, nearly two-thirds of it for vacation travel and the use of automobiles and motor boats for pleasure.

VACATION TRAVEL IN U.S.	$3,075,000,000
PLEASURE USE OF AUTOS BOATS etc.	$1,726,430,000
MOVING PICTURES	$1,500,000,000
GAMES, SPORTS, OUTDOOR LIFE	$883,071,000
VACATION TRAVEL ABROAD	$700,721,000
RADIOS and BROADCASTING	$575,000,000
LEISURE TIME ASSOCIATIONS	$382,500,000
GOVERNMENTAL EXPENDITURES (PARKS, PLAYGROUNDS, FISH AND GAME CONSERVATION)	$193,400,000
THEATRES, CONCERTS, EXHIBITIONS	$166,000,000
CABARETS and NIGHT CLUBS	$23,725,000
Total	$10,165,857,000

By the late 1920's America's bill for recreation, conservatively estimated, was more than $10,000,000,000 annually, says the report of the President's Research Committee. While the depression has lowered the figure, expenditures are expected to increase again as soon as business conditions improve.

All registered Scouters and adults interested in Scouting are requested to attend the annual banquet of the Adobe Walls council this evening at the First Presbyterian church.

The interest of business and professional men and other adult citizens is particularly invited by the Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the council. The banquet will start at 7 p. m., with plates costing 50 cents. Women of the church will serve a

Commissioners Scan Hospital Bills of Needy

County commissioners, with Judge C. E. Cary presiding, are working steadily on routine problems, and a study of the condition of various funds, and in the case of three of those present, are familiarizing themselves with the business of managing county finances.

Presentation of several large bills for hospital care of destitute persons, has revived the discussion of proposals to limit county expenditures by perfecting some sort of agreement and contract for a city-county hospital ward. There is no indication that the county's obligations in welfare work will be any smaller than in 1932, when more than $3,800 was required.

County Auditor Ray C. Wilson told the commissioners this morning that with normal taxpaying the county finances would remain in good condition throughout the year. Service was not speaking of the general fund, however, which is over-loaded with levies in nearly every county of the state.

Bank Bandits Given Long Prison Term

PANHANDLE, Jan. 10. (AP)—Two men who pleaded guilty to charges of robbing the First State bank of Panhandle of $3,100 on December 5, have been sentenced to long prison terms.

At their trial here yesterday Frank Scribner was sentenced to 40 years imprisonment and James French to 28 years.

After the daylight robbery, Ed Deahl, president of the bank, pursued Scribner and French to a point near Borger where he captured them single-handed.

STRATOSPHERE BALLONIST PICCARD INSISTS LEFT-HANDED PERSONS ARE HALVES OF TWIN WHOSE OTHER HALF FAILED TO REACH BIRTH

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor. NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—The fascinating possibility that many left-handed persons may be half of a twinned person, whose other half failed to reach birth, will be emphasized to American scientists with the arrival of Professor Auguste Piccard, stratosphere balloonist, who is due here tomorrow or Thursday on the steamer Champlain.

These scientific twin studies are the work of Professor Piccard's twin brother, Jean, himself a scientist residing in Marshallton, Delaware. The two brothers are living examples to support the theory.

Few persons except some scientists know that the Piccard twins are "identical," that rare combination which means they are halves of the same physical person, developing from the same ovum.

Like many identical twins, one is left-handed, the other right. Professor Piccard is the natural "lefty" of the pair, a fact usually concealed because he has trained himself into ambidexterity.

Jean Piccard married an identical twin, a fact which has commanded his attention on some features of twinning so unusual that he presented them privately to scientists at the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting in Atlantic City.

"I discussed the problem of identical twins and handedness," he stated, "with Prof. H. H. Newman, my former colleague at the University of Chicago, the author of the

REPORTS ARE 'MALICIOUS' HE DECLARES

STERLING WOULD NAME SUCCESSORS OF TWO MEN

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling today referred reports that W. R. Ely, of Abilene, chairman of the Texas Highway commission, intended to resign, as "malicious propaganda."

Ely was in Austin, but could not be contacted immediately.

Reports have been in circulation for several days that the highway chairman would leave office when Governor Sterling's administration ended next Tuesday at noon.

"Reports that Ely intends to resign is malicious propaganda," Governor Sterling stated.

The term of Cone Johnson of Tyler, one of three members of the highway commission, will expire next month, giving Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, who will be inducted as governor next Tuesday, the privilege of appointing the appointment of a majority of its membership.

Should Ely and Martin remain on the commission it was expected the Ferguson administration would attempt to get control of the highway department by asking the legislature to increase its personnel to five or seven members, thus giving C. H. Walker, chairman of the committee, and George W. Briggs of the Board of City Development, ended in Stamford over the week-end.

Charlie Mullen, work superintendent, said this morning that he would place 100 men tomorrow morning. The men at work today are hauling caliche and placing it on the Miami road north of the bridge and cleaning streets and alleys after the recent snow.

Another group will be given work Thursday. There are nearly 400 names on the unemployed list.

Work Is Given 83 Needy Men This Morning

Eighty-three needy men were given work this morning after it was learned that Gray county would receive a larger appropriation from the federal relief committee than announced last week.

The good news was received after C. H. Walker, chairman of the local committee, and George W. Briggs of the Board of City Development, visited in Stamford over the week-end.

Gray county will have $11,450 for the months of January and February, but the fund has not yet been received in Texas and payment will be delayed for about a week. This and perhaps one additional appropriation will complete the federal aid program unless the Roosevelt administration decides to continue the direct relief plan.

McLEAN TO MAKE APPLICATION FOR RELIEF FUND; NEEDS SURVEY WILL BE COMPLETED THIS WEEK

A highly satisfactory interview with officials of the West Texas chamber of commerce at Stamford took place Sunday between C. H. Walker and George Briggs of Pampa and T. A. Landers and C. O. Greene of McLean.

The subject was federal relief funds for this county, with McLean putting in her application for the first time. Although no appropriation has been made on the application of McLean, arrangements will be made to help that community until a survey of the needs can be made and formal application filed. This survey, based on information received at Stamford and instructions given by the Pampa committee, will take place this week, and a report will be made to the federal relief committee here next Saturday.

West Texas chamber officials warmly commended the methods adopted by the Pampa committee. It is known that proper use of funds given is essential to a continuation of appropriations. A few communities which took advantage of the federal offer and increased demands greatly have been drastically penalized.

Gray county will have $11,450 for the months of January and February, but the fund has not yet been received in Texas and payment will be delayed for about a week. This and perhaps one additional appropriation will complete the federal aid program unless the Roosevelt administration decides to continue the direct relief plan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—President Hoover, in a special message to congress, today urged either the speedy ratification of the projected convention to suppress trade in implements of war or special legislation empowering the chief executive to limit or forbid shipment of arms for military purposes.

PECOS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Mrs. J. L. Pitis and her four children were burned to death when exploding gasoline destroyed their home at Buena Vista, 40 miles southeast of Pecos, last night. The husband and father was in a serious condition and was not expected to live.

Bolivian Army Captures Fort In Chaco War

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Jan. 10. (AP)—By the capture of the Paraguayan Fort Mariscal Lopez, 100 miles southeast of Fort Munoz, the Bolivian army today was entrenched more deeply in the lower Chaco than at any time since the boundary controversy became an international issue in 1920.

They have penetrated to within 150 miles of Concepcion and 175 miles of Asuncion. With the fort, which was taken yesterday, the Bolivians captured ammunition, foodstuffs, cattle, horses, and mules and reached the headquarters of the Aguarray Guazari river, insuring them a more plentiful water supply.

JUNCTION MAN PRESIDES OVER LOWER HOUSE

MANY BILLS READY TO BE INTRODUCED IMMEDIATELY

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (AP)—Coke Stevenson of Junction was elected speaker of the Texas house of representatives of the 43rd legislature today. He defeated A. F. Johnson of Carrizo Springs.

The official vote was announced as Stevenson 82, Johnson 68. Every one of the 150 members of the house voted.

Election of a speaker was the high spot in the convening of the 43rd regular session of the legislature for four months' work.

In the senate, Senator Walter Woodul of Houston, friend of Governor R. S. Sterling, who a week from today will relinquish the reins of government to Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, was elected president pro tem. He will preside there during the absence of Lieut. Governor Edgar Witt of Waco, ill in a Washington hospital.

"Ma" Favors Stevenson.

Mrs. Ferguson and her former governor husband, James E. Ferguson, were known to have favored the election of Stevenson to the speakership.

Included among the major prospective subjects of legislation were a sales tax; reduction of the number of state departments; economies in the educational system; reduction of salaries; laws affecting the oil industry; legalized boxing, and betting on horse racing; liberalization of the prohibition laws; election law reforms; congressional, legislative and judicial redistricting.

Sales Tax Planned

Enactment of a selective sales tax to replace the state ad valorem tax on homesteads was a major subject of discussion as the legislators gathered. The electorate last November voted to exempt homesteads to the value of $3,000 from state property taxes, thereby sharply reducing the revenue of the state's three main funds, the general revenue, school, and confederate pension funds.

The legislature was presented with a report of its committee on organization and economy in which it was recommended that drastic reorganization of state departments be effected. The committee recommended reduction of the number of existing boards, departments, bureaus and commissions from 132 to 19.

The legislature also had before it a recommendation for reorganization of its educational system by abandonment of several of its teachers colleges and concentration of its institutions of higher learning under the University of Texas and Texas A. and M.

PRISONERS OF PRESENT

When a scientist wants to relax and have a little harmless fun, he sits down and tries to figure out what men are going to be like in the distant future.

Usually he keeps his guesses within shouting distance of the present day. But the man who gave the American Association for the Advancement of Science that little forecast recently wasn't content with half measures. He looked ahead no less than half a million years and reported that by that time the human race will have evolved into a far higher, wiser, healthier and happier type than anything we dream of now.

All of this, of course, may be true as gospel, and since none of us will live to see it there is no chance of proving the gentleman wrong. But although we dutifully doff our hats at the wisdom of science, we can be pardoned for failing to be too greatly impressed.

Half a billion years is too long a time. All of earth's problems may be ironed out by then, but what of it? Most of us would rather know if the depression is going to end this year, if we are going to get back some of our lost income, if our taxes are going to come down or if the dentist is going to insist that we really do need a set of store teeth.

For human life, after all, is made up mostly of a series of just such little guesses about the most immediate future. We never look ahead much beyond the ends of our noses. It simply isn't possible. If we can get through next month's difficulties, the year after next—and all eternity thereafter, for that matter—can take care of itself.

This, sometimes, makes serious thinkers despair of us. We seem blind and heedless, incapable of vision. But we can't, in the very nature of things, be anything else. We have today's job to do, and tomorrow's to worry about—and we haven't time for anything else. We have to live in the present.

Sugar Found in Artichoke Root

AMES, Iowa, Jan. 10. (AP)—Corn belt farmers have for years thought of the Jerusalem artichoke, commonly known as the wild sunflower, merely as a persistent weed.

Now agricultural workers in Iowa State college see in it the basis for producing levulose, a very sweet sugar.

On the roots of the plant are tubers resembling small sweet potatoes—that store up the valuable sugar.

Through the perfection here of a "semi-commercial" process levulose is being marketed at one-sixth to one-tenth of what it cost a year ago.

Sharing honors of perfecting the new process are Professors John Buchanan, R. M. Nixon, J. H. McClumphy, and J. W. Eichinger, Jr.

Those who for the last seven years have conducted research in the project, predict that if the process were enlarged and put on a commercial scale, the sugar perhaps could be produced at 20 cents a pound.

Levulose, the scientists says, is readily digested and is more than one and one-half times sweeter than sugar.

Buying Barbara

SYNOPSIS: Farrell Armitage has turned to launch Mark Lodey as an artist and to secure medical aid to cure his crippled body in return for the promise of Barbara Quentin, Mark's fiancee, that she will marry Mark for a year. Mark, cruel and calculating, arranges to injure just as he arrives at Farrell's London house in Farrell's car. It is the eccentric actress, Patsy Hauli, who espouses Mark by drawing smoke to his face, Mark succeeds.

Chapter 22 THE FUR FLIES

"SERVES YOU right, Mark!" declared Mrs. Lodey when the general amusement had subsided. "All the same," she added, "he really does faint for a minute or two. Loses himself altogether, if you know what I mean. S'pose you come upstairs now, Mark? There is an elevator."

"Most of the way," put in Farrell. He was beginning to feel slightly uncomfortable about the elevator. He looked at Mark but Mark had become absorbed in his tormentor.

"You make the most extraordinary impression on me," he was telling her. "Oh, of course, I've heard of you and seen photographs but I never imagined you were really like this. How stimulating to be so very ugly! I should like to do a portrait of you."

"You?" Miss Raoul scoured him without mercy. "You—meedloere, eensee-nee-focant? I laugh. I choke. Who me paints? Venet makes 'Study of an Actress' Grud-ten emp-ortunes that I give sitting-downs. Another sees the caricature. But you? P'otch!"

"You wouldn't be so rude to me if you really thought me negligible," retorted Mark. He was still upon the couch but had propped himself upon his hands; the thin, unbeautiful fingers dug into the upholstery. "As for my mediocrity, it is very doubtful whether your success will be more than a passing vogue; whereas mine, if it comes to pass at all, will endure."

"I say already I am economical!" "Your only immortality will be my portrait of you, I think, and even then they will doubt whether I did not dream you. In short," said Mark, still patly staring, "you have had to introduce yourself to me. The situation is a setback."

"Well, Lodey, shall we—?" Miss Raoul hurried Armitage's intervention aside.

"I myself introduce to you," she shrilled. "And I emphasize that I kindly speak to you to give you encouragement only! Where shall the world ever see you here? Not anywhere! Not anywhere competent!"

Lets at this point seized her friend by the arm and propelled her to the front door. Thomas, the footman, shot forward and opened it and at the same moment Claret, who had been steadily urging Mrs. Lodey in the direction of the elevator, got her into it and sped with her to an upper story.

"The sudden blessed silence unmasked in Armitage's ears. He surveyed Mark over the deserted battle field.

"Have a drink," he invited. Mark had collapsed once more upon the couch and, fat on his back, began to chuckle.

"So that's Patsy Hauli! I'd no idea I should meet her here and so soon! Could you follow her last few phrases? Pure pavement. I shall paint her sailing paper boats in a gutter, I think—bright red boats."

Armitage was struggling to master the situation. "I don't want you to tire yourself. If you won't have a brandy let's go upstairs. I'd like to know if your quarters will suit you."

He followed Mark's slow progress into the elevator. Mark dropped upon the bench that ran along one side and said fervently—"All my life, I have dreamed of stairs! You won't understand that, but imagine yourself in pain all through some apparently endless night and your relative—what ever it is—separated from you by forty-three distinct and progressively painful efforts."

"There is a short flight for you to tackle here, I'm afraid," apologized Armitage. "The top floor used to be the servants' quarters in my father's time. Then he converted the back into a staff-wing; but the elevator shaft was never taken any higher."

"But why stop me so high up?" "Because it seemed to make the best workroom for you."

The lift had now completed its ascent, but Mark remained seated, gazing despairingly out at this upper hall along which Armitage proposed to lead him. His mournful eyes came to rest on a door opposite. The door had been thrust ajar, obviously by the dogs, who now lay in guilty ecstasy all over a plain, narrow bed.

"You think I could lie down for a bit somewhere before I see those stairs, Armitage?"

Silently Armitage ushered him in. His own room, this; a bare, light, almost forbidding apartment. Mark hobbled into it with a gasp of pleasure.

"Oh, by Jove, I like this room! The light is perfect. I could do a lot, here. I say, Armitage, need I go anywhere else? I'm tremendously in sympathy with this room. . . . What a fool I am! I thought it was a guest room; I thought you had dozens of guest-rooms. I see now—" his gaze swept Armitage's personal possessions—"that this is your own."

Armitage contemplated him. The fellow was fatigued to the point of collapse; that was undeniable. Yet one knew perfectly well that at sight of the dogs and the bed he had guessed whose room this was. "By all means, sleep here if you want to," said Armitage, ejecting the terriers. "I'll clear out of it. There's a bathroom through that door."

"I hadn't imagined your tastes to be so simple," said Mark drooping, without even a pretence of further protest, on to the bed. "If you'll have that cupboard moved nearer the door I can set up my easel between the windows."

"As you like. But—" "I don't apologize for causing so much trouble because I believe that my work will repay you. If I didn't believe it I shouldn't have come here at all."

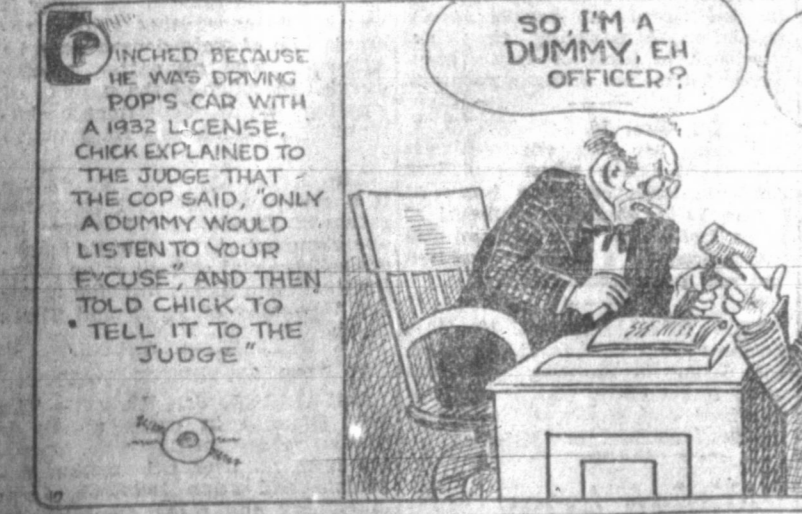

"At first, on that evening you came to see me at King's Barn, I took it that you invited me from some obscure personal liking; but now I have thought it over, and I see that I flattered myself. It was my possible talent that intrigued you, wasn't it? Nothing else."

Armitage dug his hands into his pockets. "Put that way, if you choose?" "You don't put it that way, you don't!"

Armitage glared at the easel. Again, the overwhelming impulse to kick the easel. . . . "I have never been so tired before," whispered Mark and let his head fall back.

Armitage walked out. He could stand no more. He went up the much debated staircase and wandered about, deep in thought. Next to the new studio was Mark's bedroom or what was to have been his bedroom. Jacques Malavie had seen to that, too. Armitage entered it. Certainly it was on the elegant side. But then, he could have sworn that Mark Lodey would be slightly of feminine.

Calvin Coolidge

Yonder today many have gathered to pay the last tribute to a quiet and noble man who is loved forever; though he has last smiled to our light.

He was a man of little to say. The ease of solitude prevailed. Every one loved him in his way. So we weep as the call walls.

He never met a problem too much. For he loved the people of his day. And never failed to give his kindest touch; evenly as meek and mild was his sway.

We hate to see him go from us now. We have a feeling for this one who was the thirtieth president of our love. And served us the best any one could.

Our deepest sympathy goes to her. The one who was so true to him; she returned from town to find a blur; for he had passed to a day not so dim.

Though we must say good-bye; God, we do thank Thee for Him whom we must stand by. And let him to a greater lore.

We last view the face of thee. And moan the loss of the rusage. Of the one who again will never be. And this one so dear was CALVIN COOLIDGE.

IN BAKER HOME
Linger Longer club members will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Jack Baker, 604 N. Gray, instead of in the home of Mrs. Tex Berry, as was formerly planned.

CIRCLES MEET FOR STUDY AT VARIOUS HOMES

SHOWER IS GIVEN BY CIRCLE 1 FOR MEMBER

Study hours held the attention of the First Baptist W. M. S. circles when they met yesterday afternoon in the homes of various members. Circle 1 held a social hour in connection with its meeting, and a shower for Mrs. Clifford Solomon, mission study chairman, was given. Mrs. Solomon led in a study from "Spiritual Conquests of the South-west."

Cake and coffee were served to Mesdames Anna Brooks, T. W. Jamison, Clifford Solomon, H. E. Crocker, K. T. May, A. L. Lee, C. L. Stephens, and the hostess.

Mrs. F. T. Morton, Mrs. E. P. Brake, Mrs. J. Perkins, and Mrs. J. A. Meek attended a meeting of Circle 2 in Mrs. Meek's home. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Morton led a study from "W. M. U. Service."

Mrs. R. W. Tucker led the opening devotional at a meeting of Circle 3 in the home of Mrs. Buster Bailey. During the business meeting, the resignation of Mrs. E. L. Anderson as chairman was accepted and Mrs. O. L. Beatty was elected as her successor. Then Mrs. Beatty taught a lesson from "Prayer and Missions."

Mrs. Preston P. Briggs will be leader at the next meeting. Those present were Mesdames R. L. Elmore, E. L. Billingsley, Wilson Hatcher, Ernest Fletcher, R. W. Tucker, Preston P. Briggs, Henry Cox, G. D. Stockton, V. L. Dickson, O. L. Beatty, and the hostess.

The meeting of Circle 4, held in the home of Mrs. W. B. Henry, was opened with a devotional by Mrs. J. A. Arwood, and Mrs. C. E. Lancaster led a lesson from "Why and How of W. M. U." It was decided to quilt at the next meeting, which will open at 10 o'clock at the church. A 1 o'clock luncheon will be served and a lesson will be taught.

The following attended: Mesdames M. M. Peritz, H. K. Beard, L. A. Baxter, J. C. Barnard, D. B. Jameson, J. Arwood, P. Briggs, C. E. Lancaster, G. H. Covington, and the hostess.

boom periods. The main point, however, is that we seem to have slammed the door of Fool's Paradise behind us. Our future as an idealistic people depends upon whether we cling to The Dream or the stock market, not idle or false dreams, but The Dream, which we have tried to make real, of a fuller and better and happier life for all.—New York Times.

Rising Nationalism

We have long been an admirer of Adolph Hitler, and much to much for his conclusions as for his ability to interpret the present better than most writers. We think he might have gone further, pointing out that no dream of the American people can come to pass without proper coordination with the other nations of the world. And the unhappy picture of the hour is of the world, in which there is a rising tide of nationalism of a kind which will make for war and for economic maladjustments. We need only to point to the devil-may-care nationalism of Benito Mussolini, the fanaticism of Italy, the Hitlerism of Germany, the empire complex of Japan, and revolutionary nationalism of Russia, to show that hope for peace and disarmament is indeed faint. At a time when America is more ready than at any previous time to adjust her economics to a world program, the clashing nationalities prevent needed cooperation. This nation was never as low in international influence as now. Better days for America need only the release of existing buying power, and international troubles will remain grave and there is no reason to believe that this nation will not witness other booms in another generation, with other depressions no less severe. But there is now a psychological revolution in progress, with political changes in the making. Americans, starting into the ashing of shattered dreams, are never the same again on re-awakening, but the succeeding generation are queerly forgetful of the lessons learned by their fathers.

Annual Jaysee Banquet To Be Held January 20

Next week will bring an event to which members of the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce have been looking forward—the anniversary banquet sponsored by the national organization through a broadcast over the Columbia network.

On Friday evening, January 20, the local Jaysees will gather around a banquet table with their ladies and friends to tune in on this national program. During this program, a citizen of each city in which there is a Junior chamber will be awarded a medal for having contributed the best civic service in the preceding year. He must be under 35 years of age. The Pampa man has been selected by a committee, but his name has not been divulged.

The local banquet arrangements will be in charge of Bob Fuller, John Oakes, Jack Dunn, and Dr. R. M. Johnson. There will be no regular Tuesday luncheon next week. The next luncheon will be January 24 with the highway committee in charge.

Plans are being made to take nearly a dozen local members to the state convention in Dallas February 24, 25.

Germany To Name Military Attaches

BERLIN, Jan. 10. (AP)—A new departure in Germany's military policy is evident in an official announcement today that beginning April 1 military attaches will be assigned to the German embassies at Washington, London, Paris, Rome, and Moscow and to the legations at Warsaw and Prague. Naval attaches will be appointed to the embassies at London, Paris, and Rome.

A foreign office spokesman said, "so long as Germany's equality in matters of armament was not acknowledged we did not feel that we should assign military or naval attaches to our foreign missions. But now that equality has been recognized in principle, the time has come for completing these missions with military men."

Two-Headed Turtle Finally Succumbs

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 10. (AP)—A bottle of alcohol today contains the body of a two-headed snapping turtle which never could make up its mind what it wanted to do.

A nine-year-old girl found the turtle on a lake shore last September and gave it to the General Electric Research laboratory. In an aquarium the turtle wandered about aimlessly, its two heads usually trying to go in different directions. When one head wanted to sleep the other head wanted to walk or swim, and so on.

Even in death the turtle was divided against itself. Head No. 1 died Saturday. Head No. 2 at last was free to act as will, and the turtle romped spiritedly about the aquarium, but the spree lasted only 24 hours, and yesterday, head No. 2 also fell dead.

WASP WAIST IS FAVORED--BUT WARNING GIVEN

WIDER SHOULDER LINE GIVES DESIRED APPEARANCE

By ALICE LANGELIER, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Jan. 10. (INS)—The wasp waist has wriggled into winter wear and is threatening to hang over fashionable woman's world by day and night.

The new pinched-in line is now being seen in fairly modified form, but the danger-point will soon approach if the growing fashion is allowed to develop. Very few practical women will really attempt to squeeze themselves internally, but the newest phase in fashions gives an appearance of struggling to attain the once-admiring wasp waist.

Very much "waisted" clothes come with tightly fitting corset pulled into a solid sash and absurd little puffed sleeves. A smart black jersey morning suit has collar and trimming of black and white striped material, the new waistline being carefully graduated so as to make it little more than an extension of the moulded silhouette.

A wider shoulder-line on a velvet afternoon gown at Chanel's and introduces a novel puff sleeve finally gauged to the shoulder-line.

The pinched waist is likely to be a movement on the part of certain famous dress-artists to create a mode that is different and therefore exclusive.

"I'm glad we Looked at All Three!"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH EDWARD TRUMBULL (ARTIST), 166 EAST-38th STREET, NEW YORK CITY

"Look at All Three" was a sporting proposition. So we looked at the other two low-priced cars.

"Then we saw the new Plymouth. The first thing I noticed, naturally, was the beautiful design!"

"My wife just couldn't stay out of the car. We both agreed that Floating Power sure is smooth!"

"We like it better and better all the time. It's a good-looking car. And it uses hardly any gas at all."

"If you ask me, Plymouth is America's next Number One Car"

TALK to any Plymouth owner! Ask him how he likes his car! You'll find the same enthusiasm everywhere you go.

Edward Trumbull's case is typical of thousands. Like the rest of us, he wanted to be sure of getting his money's worth. That's why "Look at All Three" appealed to him. It sounded fair. So he looked, studied, compared... then bought a Plymouth.

Word-of-mouth is the strongest kind of advertising. Happy owners are a car's best salesmen. And Plymouth owners are happy! Talk to Plymouth owners about Floating Power engine mountings! Ask them about Hydraulic Brakes... a safety-steel body! And then ask a dealer for a Floating Power ride! You won't be pressed to buy!

Panhandle 'Most Interesting Spot' To Harvard Historian and Scientist

AMARILLO, Jan. 10. (AP)—The Texas Panhandle is "one of the most interesting spots in North America" to Theodore E. White, historian and scientist of Harvard college.

For that reason White is enthusiastic over the construction of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society museum, now nearing completion on the campus of West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon.

In a written statement to Floyd Y. Studer, Amarillo business man and director of archaeology and paleontology at the museum, White said: "I know of no better place to locate an institution for the preservation of the records than here in the Panhandle where they will be clothed in the atmosphere in which they were made. This will enable visiting scientists to sit on the sidelines and see the incidents re-enacted for their benefit."

"The Panhandle is interesting," he said, "from the standpoint of history, archaeology and paleontology. The activities of the traders and explorists who preceded the soldiers and settlers, is very colorful and exciting, and constitutes some of the best and most spectacular history in North America.

"The fossil beds and Indian ruins rank along with the best in the country. Both have done their bit in solving some of the riddles of science, and we have ample evidence that they will better their present mark in the future."

Ten South Carolina counties report a total profit of $19,153 from 920 4-H club projects conducted during 1932.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES
A postage stamp is the cause of a spat between the Vatican and Italy.

It is one of a series issued by the government on the occasion of an anniversary of the Dante Alighieri society. It carries the portrait of Paolo Sarpi, a Dante scholar of the sixteenth-seventeenth centuries. Sarpi, a learned priest who was called the instructor of Galileo, wrote against the Vatican. Hence the Vatican newspaper, "L'Osservatore Romano," says: "The 'Dante Alighieri' would have done well to have kept Sarpi in the shade."

Issue For Charity.
Stamps of the current German "welfare" issue carry pictures of German castles. The 4 pf., light blue, shows Wartburg; the 6 pf., olive, Stolzenfels; the 12 pf., orange, Nuremberg; the 25 pf., dark blue, Lichtenstein; and the 40 pf., violet, Marburg.
Each value bears a supplementary charge for charity, ranging from 2 pf. in the case of the 4 pf. value to 40 pf. for the 40 pf. value.

United States Reprints
Plans are being made for the first complete reprint of all the stamps issued by the United States government, for a display being considered for the Chicago World's fair.

Of many of the issues the post office shows the original and an approved proof and a copy. The color has faded on many of the prints, and the proposed collection would show the stamps in their original shades.

Air mail stamps for the Italian colony of Cyrenaica, Africa, have been issued in 50 centesimi, violet; 75, red; and 80, blue; and in 1 lira, gray-black; 2 yellow-green; and 5, carmine.

SURPASSING THE CIRCUS
If interested in the animals pictured on postage stamps, turn first to Liberia. In 1892 they started their menagerie with the elephant and the hippotamus. Since 1906 they have added the chimpanzee, platinated eagle, Agouti Lizard, egret, lyre-horned antelope, palm civet, fishing vulture, bommfish, alligator, leopard, ibex, hornbill, water buffalo, and boa constrictor. Congo will add to the exhibit a peculiar native cattle, and the okapa. Cook Island shows the very bill. Norway gives the polar bear. North Borneo adds to our collection the Malay stag, the argus pheasant, the crocodile, orang-utan, honey bear, tapir, rhinoceros, wild boar, cockatoo, and cassowary. Peru displays her llama. Australia comes forward with her kangaroo, kooburra, black Swan, and lyre bird. Middle Congo offers the best panther picture. Straight settlements, presents her tiger. Nyassa adds to our circus the giraffe, camel, and zebra. Canada alone sends the beaver. And the United States adds her buffalo (bison), and wild cat. We can still add the ant eater of French Guiana, the kagu from New Caledonia, the codfish, seal, partridge, Newfoundland dog, and caribou from Newfoundland, bird of paradise from New Guinea, the yak and reindeer from Mongolia and still we have not by any means named all the animals appearing on the postage stamps of the world.—Rev. ### Japs Plead for Peace—Prepare For New Attack

TOKYO, Jan. 10. (AP)—Marshal Chang Shiao-Liang, military ruler of North China, was reported today to have intimated his readiness to negotiate an armistice between Japanese and Chinese forces at Shanhaikwan.

The Rengo agency and other Japanese news dispatches from Tientsin, China, reported the marshal's apparent readiness and said Japanese expected the parleys to be opened shortly.

(After the battle of Shanhaikwan, Chinese official reports said Marshal Chang served notice on the Japanese that he did not care to deal with them and requested that they send any communications to the Nanking government.)

Despite Japanese professions of eagerness for a localized settlement at Shanhaikwan, a foreign office spokesman indicated Japan intends to insist on terms likely to deal with them and requested that they send any communications to the Nanking government.)

Any settlement, said the spokesman, must include a revival of restrictions on Chinese military movements embodied in the military provisions of the Boxer protocol. These were contained in identical notes exchanged between Japan, France, Britain, Italy, and Germany and China from July 15 to 18, 1902.

They denied the Chinese the right to station or march troops within seven miles of Tientsin. Port of Peiping, and gave commanders of foreign garrisons along the Peiping-Shanhaikwan railway the right to exclude Chinese troops from a zone two miles on either side of the railway.

The United States did not participate in these notes, although it signed the general protocol, sharing the right to station troops along the railway.

JONES IN JAIL
ABILENE, Jan. 10.—Tome Jones, 20, son of Morgan Jones, wealthy Abilene, today was in the Taylor county jail in default of $6,000 bond, under charges of murder and of driving while intoxicated.

The charges were filed Saturday afternoon at the county jail, in which El Perkins Sr., milk salesman and Taylor county landowner, was fatally injured. Perkins was buried Sunday.

STRANGE INTERLUDE

Serial story of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, starring Norman Shearer and Clark Gable, adapted from the play by Eugene O'Neill and directed by Robert Z. Leonard.

INSTALLMENT TWO
Nina Leeds cannot forget her lover, Gordon, who was killed in the war. Hating herself for not having spent the last hours with him before he left her—forever—she becomes a nurse and encourages intimate attentions from the crippled soldiers under her charge, in whose heroism she is reminded of Gordon. Upon her father's death she returns home with Ned Darrell, a doctor, and Sam Evans, a young man who had been a classmate of Gordon's.

Marsden looked over at the young man with a grudging admiration for his unsophisticated enthusiasm. Darrell came in at that moment, a preoccupied frown on his forehead, and a slip of paper in his hand.
"Here, Sam," he said handing the slip to his friend. "Run along up the street and get this prescription filled."

With evident relief, Sam got to his feet.
"Sure. Glad of the chance for a walk," he said, taking the prescription.
"It's for Nina," Darrell explained to Marsden. "She's got to get some sleep tonight."

He sat down abruptly in a chair. Marsden watched him, thinking to himself:
"Amusing, these young doctors. They persevere with the effort to appear cool."

Suddenly, Darrell looked across at Marsden and said:
"Nina has been giving away to a more and more morbid longing for martyrdom."
"May I ask on what specific actions of hers this theory of yours is based?" the novelist asked.

"On her evident craving to make an exhibition of kissing, necking, petting, spooning in general with any patient in the institution who got a case on her. You're the only person she still respects and really loves."
Marsden started guiltily and looked at him in confusion.
Darrell laughed.
"Oh, you needn't look frightened," he said. "I mean the sort of love she'd feel for an uncle. You've got to help her snap out of this."

"And how, if I may ask?" Marsden asked bitterly.
"There's only one way I can see. Get her to marry Sam Evans."
"Evans?"
Darrell leaned forward.
"Yes, Evans. He's in love with her. And it's one of those unselfish loves you read about. And she is fond of him. In a maternal way, of course—but that's just what she needs now, someone she cares about to mother and keep her occupied. And still more important this would give her an opportunity to have children. She needs normal love objects for the

Representative Kills Himself

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—For months Representative Samuel Austin Kendall of Pennsylvania, grieved over the death of his wife, yesterday he killed himself.

He was found dead in his office in the house office building—a bullet through his head and a new pistol in his hand.

A verdict of suicide was issued after a note was found at the home of the 73-year-old republican.
The note, addressed to his children, said:
"My work on earth is completed. The sudden death of your dear mother was the most severe shock of my whole life and I have been unable to throw off my grief.
"Every day has added to my sorrow and I can no longer bear my suffering which I have kept from you.

Mother has been calling me to join her and little Van in heaven and I can no longer resist the call and am going to join them.
"Little Van" was a 4-year-old son. Grant Van Nest, who died in 1913. Kendall and his wife, the former Miss Minnie Edith Wiley of Lipscomb, Iowa, had been married nearly half a century at the time after death last August 22.

Notre Dame-U. S. C. Game To Be Shown At LaNora Theater

Football fans who listened to the radio report of the thrilling Notre Dame-U. of S. California football game played December 10th at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena now have the opportunity of actually seeing the game played before their eyes.

A complete film record of the game which has been made by Warner Bros. is now being shown on the screen at the LaNora theater, Wednesday and Thursday. All who have seen this exciting football film are agreed that it is the closest thing to actually seeing the game ever flashed upon the screen.

Every play has been caught—some with slow motion photography. The cheering crowds, all the color of this annual football classic, is reproduced in detail with remarkably clear camera work.

A date palm, which produces no dates, but which has a fig tree growing from its side, has been found at Key West, Fla.

BASKETS and BANKBOARDS

By FORREST C. (PHOG) ALLEN (Written for The Associated Press)
LAWRENCE, Kans. (AP)—Rule legislation the past year made football safer for the players and made basketball ball more attractive for the customers.

The indoors game rule makers came to the rescue of this ailing and slow moving entertainment just in the nick of time. Old man depression was casting unfriendly facial grimaces on the box office receipts. Indeed, it appears that already at this early season a distinct revival of confidence has taken place.

True, gate receipts are smaller but the crowds are larger than last year, due to reduced admission prices and more action.

Rule Forces Action.
The quick break, with resultant larger scores, has justified the 10-second rule. The rule by forcing action gives the offensive team the option of playing possession basketball (keep away) or of devising set offensive plays designed for definite organized scoring attempts. More set offensive plays are becoming the order of the day.

To whom does the game of basketball belong? To the players, the coaches, or the spectators?
Scoring and action produce interest and only interests sustains a fine game. Since the spectators play the financial freight, the coaches can be brought to see the cash customers' angle.

Some non-collegiate leagues in the mid-west decided not to adopt the new 10-second rule. Narrow and short courts were the cause of the objection, it was stated.

It's Up To Coaches.
It is interesting to recount the following timely comment concerning the possible "funeral march" of the game under the old rules.
"It is now up to the schools to show that they do not need the 10-second rule. It is up to them to see the game is speeded up."

Spectators will not stand for a slow, stalling game, and if the schools do not keep up a speedy game the 10-second rule will have to be enforced. Coaches must therefore realize that this regulation does not give them the privilege of coaching a stalling team.

Coaches last year always maintained that the other fellows were responsible for the stall. Action has taken the place of debate and the customers are eeking the turnstiles with increasing volume.

Teams To Bowl In Commercial League Tonight

Commercial league bowling teams will be in action at the Pampa bowling alleys tonight with the Thirty Fifters, league leaders, matching pins with the Country club. The Schneider hotel and the Cullum Motor boys will also meet tonight.

City league teams will be in action Thursday night when the Kiwanis No. 2 and the Voss Cleaners meet on alleys one and two and the Jay-sees and Phillips roll on alleys three and four. The league race has lightened during the past few weeks and four teams are knocking on the front door being guarded by the Jaysees.

The system of setting handicaps in the City league was changed at a meeting of managers last week. The handicap will be two-thirds of the individuals difference in averages when the game starts.

Sea gulls that forage in the gulf off the Louisiana coast are getting lazier or wiser, says the department of conservation. Instead of flying home at sundown they ride in with the tide.

Two Women Are Among Dead in Kentucky Feud

MANCHESTER, Ky., Jan. 10. (AP)—Two women were listed today among six persons known to have been killed recently in the Double Creek section of Clay county.

The latest casualties in disorders authorities attribute to factional differences were reported yesterday when Brophs Lipps, 35, and Esther Smith, 17, were slain by rifle bullets.

Lipps was among a group of men charged with murder in connection with several killings. He had been accused with the others in the slaying of Willie Wagers and Ford Lipps but was dismissed when witnesses failed to identify him.

Lipps and Miss Smith were at the home of Lipps' father-in-law, Will Smith, with several other persons when bullets fired through the house struck them. None of the others was wounded.

Afterwards, Speed Collins, who was at the Smith home at the time of the shooting, swore to warrants accusing six men in connection with the killings. Named in the warrants were John Wagers and his two sons, Noah and Jim; Reuben Smith, Wood Lipps and Tom Gray.

Noah and Jim Wagers and Tom Gray had been under peace bonds and had been prosecution witnesses in the Willie Wagers and Ford Lipps cases. John Wagers' wife was killed when ambushers fired into her home the day before Willie Wagers and Ford Lipps were shot. Shortly before her death, Tom Wagers was killed.

The home of "Little" Joe Lipps, father of Wood Lipps, was fired upon some time ago and his twin sons, fifteen years old, were wounded as they lay in bed.

The troubles have been attributed to political differences and family dislikes aggravated by petty quarrels.

A municipally owned light and water plant paid Lakeland, Fla., $404,476 during the fiscal year just closed.

Sixteen Killed, Many Wounded in Spanish Revolts

MADRID, Jan. 10. (AP)—A wave of extremist unrest sweeping through the young republic of Spain left a toll of sixteen persons killed and a large number wounded today while an unestimated number were arrested.

Striking without warning, the different extremist organizations apparently were operating under a coordinate command. The attacks occurred mainly in industrial centers of the country through Sunday.

From Oviedo, in the northwest, where striking mine workers killed an electrical engineer while he was going home, the outbreaks carried through Sallent, where a civil guard was killed, and on to Lerida and Barcelona with several killed in each of the latter two northeast cities.

Sallent is near the textile center of Manresa, where the bloody extremist rebellion occurred in January, 1931, three months before the republic was proclaimed.

All armed forces were called out to cope with the uprisings. Scores of extremists and communists were imprisoned in various cities. Police hinted that the monarchists, whose abortive revolution was quelled in Arsalusia last August, and Communists were responsible for the outbreaks.

It was estimated that thirty five persons were wounded, including five women and three militiamen.

'The High Heart' Selected Among Five Plays as Contest Production

In a series of five one-act plays presented by Miss O'Keefe's dramatics class before an audience of students and parents last Friday afternoon for the purpose of choosing a contest play, Adale Smith, Dorothy Harris, Clinton Evans, and David Whittenberg were awarded highest honors, and "The High Heart" was selected for entrance in all speech tournaments.

Out of the twenty-eight roles represented, Adale Smith, who took the part of the crazy girl in "The Giant's Stair," was selected by C. W. Bachelder, head of the speech department of West Texas State Teachers college, as tournament actress in an exceedingly difficult role. Dorothy Harris, however, was given the highest rating for the continued performance of her role as the young girl in "The High Heart." Clinton Evans, by virtue of his excellent handling of a leading part in both "The Giant's Stair" and "Sounding Brass," was awarded highest honors among the boys. David Whittenberg received the highest grade for the boys' parts. Norman Carr and Jim Stone were also given special mention.

The plays presented were "Thursday Evening," "The Giant's Stair," "The Sounding Brass," and "The High Heart," and from these "The High Heart" was selected to be used in all play contests this year. It will be entered in the Panhandle speech tournament at Amarillo and in the county and district meet. All students in school will be given another opportunity to try out for a part in this play, which will be recast at an early date.

"The High Heart" was the contest play of Pampa high school last year also. Some of the other plays will be presented in chapel soon.

The Hi-Y club will not hold its regular meeting tonight because it is examination week and many of the boys want to stay home and study. A program is planned for the meeting next week and all members are urged to be present.

Miss May Will Teach Debate Next Semester

Students of Pampa high school are very busy preparing for the various events in the speech arts tournament to be held in Amarillo next month. Entries will be made in the one-act play, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, and perhaps debate.

Each student in the public speaking class has been required to learn a declamation. The best of these will be chosen and will continue to practice with several outside of the class who are trying-out for this event. An elimination will be held later to select the best boy and girl to represent the school.

After examinations are over, a regular class in debate will be organized by Miss May. All interested in debate are urged to arrange their schedules so they can take debate at the fifth period. The subject this year is "Resolved: That at least one-half of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than the tax on tangible property."

"The High Heart" was selected last week for the contest play, and the cast will be chosen soon. Work has also been begun on extemporaneous speaking. Miss O'Keefe is in charge of speech events.

GLIMS AND GLIMMERS OF P. H. S. SPORTS

A rumor has it that Coach Mitchell is going to teach the Harvester to jump.

Pampa defeated Amarillo three points, and so did Lubbock. Sounds like a tough game for the Harvesters on the twentieth of this month.

The athletic board met at 9 o'clock Saturday in Joe Smith's office in the court house and discussed the awarding of Harvester and Gorilla sweaters. It was decided to order sweaters at once. A financial statement of the board will be released in the near future.

Members of the athletic board are as follows: R. B. Fisher, chairman; Joe Smith, secretary; C. P. Buckler; Odus Mitchell; Lynn Boyd; L. Stone.

A complete record of the Harvesters and Harvesterettes games is being kept in the gym. The results of the Harvesters to date are as follows:

Happy 22, Pampa 19.
Canyon 13, Pampa 45.
Plainview 17, Pampa 43.
Canyon 16, Pampa 19.
Panhandle 3, Pampa 25.
Panhandle 9, Pampa 26.
Clarendon 13, Pampa 52.
Happy 20, Pampa 21.
McLean 17, Pampa 29.
Amarillo 29, Pampa 32.
Canadian 10, Pampa 53.

Jim Poole and Jim Groom have filed for graduation at mid-term. Approximately 15 Gorillas will be lettered depending on the results of the coming examinations.

The Junior High basketball team defeated LeFors Junior High 19-7 last week.

As a conclusion, we offer the following poem:

He made a run around end.
Was tackled from the rear.
The right guard sat upon his neck.
The fullback on his ear;
The center sat upon his back.
Two ends upon his chest.
The quarter and the halfback then.
Sat down on him to rest.
The left guard sat upon his head.
Two tacklers on his face.
The coroner was then called in.
To sit upon his case.

Biology Classes Have New Room And Laboratory

Mrs. Alexander's biology classes have a new lecture room and a new laboratory. The rooms are on the south side of the basement of the high school building to obtain full benefit of the sunlight for the plants.

The biology and chemistry classes are doing much better than they did last year, according to Mrs. Alexander.

Mr. Workman's general science and physics classes are doing better and have accomplished more this term than ever before.

There are more students taking physics and a larger percentage of girls in the classes this year than any previous year.

Chapel Will Be Held Wednesday

Officers for the second semester were elected by the band in a meeting Monday evening. Charles Frost was chosen as president; Wayne Larsh, vice president, and Dorothy Harris, secretary.

An advisory board of six was elected to formulate plans for the organization of a Band Mothers club, which will be formed shortly after the exams are over and the new semester has begun.

The band will play as usual for chapel Wednesday, and for the basketball games Thursday night at 7 o'clock. The band is working on new music now, and has shown marked improvement since Christmas.

SEMESTER EXAMINATIONS BEGIN TODAY; SEVERAL NEW COURSES TO BE OFFERED IN NEXT TERM

For once everybody in Pampa high school seems to be busy. Final exams are in full swing. Sighs of relief have been heard throughout the halls since noon today. At least English and history are over! The complete examination schedule is as follows:

Tuesday, January 10—9-11 o'clock—English; 1-3 o'clock—History.

Wednesday, January 11—9-11 o'clock—mathematics; 1-3 o'clock—languages, agriculture, home economics.

Thursday, January 12—9-11 o'clock—commercial work; 1-3 o'clock—Sciences.

Friday, January 13—8:30-10:30 o'clock—Dramatics; 10:30-12:30 o'clock—mechanics, drawing.

Enrollment for the new semester will begin next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. At 9 o'clock students will be given their report cards in the home rooms, and then juniors and seniors will begin arranging schedules. Two days will be spent in enrolling and classes will be resumed Wednesday.

Seniors are requested to check their permanent records with Mr. Stone some time this week to see if they meet graduation requirements. No senior will be allowed to enroll until this is done.

Several new subjects will be offered next semester in addition to repeats in nearly all courses now being taught. In the commercial department new subjects offered will be junior business training, advanced arithmetic, and business law, civics, and dramatics will be repeated. Beginners and repeat sections will be offered in general science, Spanish, freshmen history, and all the English and mathematics courses.

The Interscholastic League meet will be held in Pampa this year, and plans will be discussed for it Saturday morning at 10:30 at the Back school. Mr. Seby will be in charge of the meeting, and all county directors are urged to be present.

REVENGE IS SWEET

Mr. Harris says he will get sweet revenge this week on those students who make a practice of throwing erasers, paper wads, and spit balls when he sees them sweating in their rooms over exams.

DID YOU KNOW—

After reading letters and themes written by seniors Miss May announces that "wonderful" is the most popular word in the senior class.

Half of the students in school write their own excuses for absences. Miss Perry says the other half does not bring any.

In home room last week Miss May was checking absences and called upon Helen Jo Daugherty to furnish explanations for an absence.

Helen Jo replied, "Why, I was there. Clotilde was with me."

Miss May answered thus, "Why, Clotilde is reported absent, too."

All we have to say is that something is wrong somewhere.

Miss Fannie May, who has been very ill of pneumonia, was still improving this morning.

Plans For Big Hereford Sale Are Perfected

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 10. (AP)—Prospects for a greater Hereford auction in connection with the second annual San Angelo spring fat stock show here March 5 and 7 have been augmented with the announcement that the Texas Hereford association will conduct the auction.

The fee will be $10 per head, general conditions being considered in making this concession from the usual $15 applying.

Acceptance has been received from D. G. Talbot, secretary of the association at Fort Worth, by J. Culbertson Deal, show secretary and manager of the board of city development. W. J. Largent of Merkel, whose "Texas Special" won the grand championship at the International show at Chicago, is president of the Hereford association.

HARVESTERS EXPECTING HARD BATTLE WITH ALLISON TEAM

Greatest Need Is Bigger Cups Says Sarazen

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Gene Sarazen believes the greatest need of the moment is a greater thrill and he thinks he knows how to supply it. His suggestion is to make the cups higher.

"Golf now is too tame," said the open champion of the United States and Great Britain.

"Good players knock the ball on the green in two strokes and then take two putts for a par four. If we had more one putt greens the game would be much more interesting to watch and play."

"Say a crack player and one just average are playing. The average player puts his ball on the green say 20 or 25 feet from the cup. The expert is closer, say 12 to 15 feet. But each will take two putts and halve the hole. If the cups were bigger, the average player still would take his two putts from 20 to 25 feet but the expert from 12 to 15 feet would knock his in every time. There would be the thrill!"

Grace Coolidge Sorrowful But Quiet at Home

LeFors Tilt Believed To Be No Indication of Club's Power.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 10. (AP)—The old air of peace and quiet that marked the simple everyday life of Calvin Coolidge's "The Beeches" returned today as his widow "carried on."

Inside the house, Grace Goodhue Coolidge went about the duties necessary to the routine of the estate.

Outside, a lone state trooper paced back and forth beneath the whispering beech trees to shoo away the curious.

Northampton's main street, which echoed Saturday to the shuffling feet of thousands bent on paying tribute to the former president, was again the bustling thoroughfare of a small western Massachusetts community.

Mrs. Coolidge appeared tired. Otherwise, she was her usual self. Her son, John, and his wife remained at the Beeches. They believed they would stay the remainder of the week.

Harry Ross, more a companion than a secretary to the former president, worked at putting the Coolidge affairs in order.

Mrs. Coolidge was uncertain concerning the future. She may make a brief trip to Plymouth, Vt., to visit her husband's grave. After that there was talk of her visiting her son's grave in Connecticut. Or she might take a sea voyage.

THOSE DOWNY BEDS

MANY BUCKS KILLED

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 10. (AP)—Game Warden A. E. Heitzfelder estimates that during the open season ending December 31, between 900 and 1,000 bucks were killed legally in Bexar county within a radius of 28 miles from San Antonio. Despite this unusually heavy slaughter of game the season ended with more large bucks left alive than in any season heretofore, he stated.

SCORES SHOW ALLISON GIRLS TEAM IS UNUSUALLY STRONG

Sextet Defeated Canadian Recently; Team To Play Here Thursday.

Handling the ball took up most of the practice when the Harvestettes were on the floor yesterday afternoon. Coach Harry Kelley placed his first team in possession and then passed the ball wherever the notion hit.

Then work on plays and defense took up the rest of the time. Coach Kelley has been working with an inexperienced group of girls, especially after losing two veterans through illness. The team is light and small which has also been a handicap. Most of the teams encountered this year had tall, heavy forwards and centers who dominated the play from the air.

He is working two combinations and hopes to have a good team for Thursday night when the Allison girls come here for a conference game. The strength of the Allison team cannot be estimated, however, Allison defeated LeFors and LeFors in turn defeated Allison.

The Allison sextet has been playing basketball all fall and has a veteran team with a tall forward and a tall center.

Industrialists Reply to Views Of Technocracy

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—More than 150 leaders of American life in the fields of finance, industry and research have joined in expressing the view that "the machine age" will find a way out of the present economic situation.

The opinions, published today, were contained in messages replying to a telegram from Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors corporation, in which he said that "the inevitable progress and momentum of America go in spite of depressions."

Although the views were not assembled with a view to answering opposing expressions from some quarters, notably by advocates of technocracy, Sloan said that "they may well be taken as an answer."

The messages were unanimous in expressing belief that the unimpaired development of research, invention and labor-saving devices would improve production and create new needs and that "American industry should unremittingly prosecute research and invention through the depression and should not sacrifice value and quality."

WINTER PLOTS A WICKED CRIME

THE VICTIMS: Those Motors Using Ordinary Oil that Drains Away from Heated Working Surfaces.

THE TIME: Those Cold Starting Minutes While Precious Motor Parts Must Run Dry at Warming Speed Until Oil Is Pumped from Below.

The One Oil that Gives You Perfect Protection for Winter's Worst Days Ahead

Drip! trickle! drip! through long night hours, ordinary oil drains away. When the pump quits, ordinary oil quits, leaving the motor's parts high and dry. You touch the starter. The motor roars. The pump strains at the sluggish oil. It is only a few minutes till circulation is completed. But in the meantime, working surfaces only partly lubricated are in contact, while the motor makes three to five thousand revolutions. This causes 50% of all motor wear.

Prevent this loss. Choose not merely a quick oil, but an oil that never leaves. Choose the oil with the "hidden quart" that penetrates and combines with the metal surfaces of the motor itself. In the emergency of an empty crankcase, users have driven many miles, without damage, on this "hidden quart" alone. This proves that your motor need never suffer while waiting upon the pump. Don't remain in doubt. Drain and refill with the "hidden quart" oil today.

PARACHUTES ARE OF LITTLE USE IN BOLIVIA BECAUSE OF THE HIGH ALTITUDE THERE, THEY DESCEND TOO FAST THROUGH THE RAREFIED ATMOSPHERE.

The "EARS" AND "HORNS" SEEN ON OWLS ARE NEITHER EARS NOR HORNS! THEY ARE DECORATIONS, MADE OF FEATHERS ONLY!

The AFRICANDER, A SHEEP THAT HAS A 30-POUND TAIL!

IN BOLIVIA, many of the landing fields are around 12,000 feet above sea level, and the landing speed of planes is necessarily very high. Because of the dangers attached to a parachute descent through Bolivia's rare atmosphere, the Bolivian Air Force does not include this item in the equipment of its flyers. La Paz, the capital of Bolivia, is 12,000 feet above sea level, and is believed to be the world's highest capital.

BABY STABBED IN CITY'S MOST INHUMAN CRIME

Stiletto Pins Form Of Infant To Crib

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—A black-handled stiletto, with a blade six inches long, was the only clue today as detectives hunted a killer who murdered a baby boy in his crib.

Frank Michael Cammarano, four months old, was sleeping in a darkened room in the Bronx last night. His father, Amando, 25, was at night school. Other relatives chatted in an adjoining room.

Silently the killer crept on to a porch at the rear of the Cammarano home. The baby slept quietly as a pair of window curtains nearby parted and a hand thrust into the room. It grasped the stiletto.

The long knife inflicted a superficial wound, then another. A third time it plunged into the infant's breast, pinning the tiny form to the mattress.

Police, calling it the most inhuman crime in a long time, said it looked like an act of revenge or jealousy but they could find nothing to support such a theory.

The baby's parents were married about a year ago, and the child was their first-born.

Fisher's Coat Is Found in Street

Supt. R. B. Fisher's overcoat was either thrown or lost from a speeding car soon after it was stolen from the choir room of the First Methodist church Sunday night. It was returned to the owner yesterday afternoon through THE NEWS. A Mr. Harp saw the coat fall to the street as he was driving behind a car near the church about 8 o'clock Sunday night.

He stopped and picked up the garment intending to follow the car from which it was lost, but lost the car within a block. He said he failed to recognize the car or license number.

Officers believe the thieves threw the coat away when they learned the owner's name, knowing that the coat would be recognized.

O. B. Chessher of Amarillo was a Pampa visitor yesterday.

J. G. King, Jr., of Dallas is here on business for a few days.

Amarillo Negro Attacker Moved Away From City

AMARILLO, Jan. 10. (AP)—A negro youth, who police said confessed that he beat an Amarillo woman over the head with a hammer last night after he had entered a home in search of food and money, was removed to an unnamed jail today as a precaution against mob violence.

Mrs. Sue Hinds, a grandmother, was attacked about 11 p. m., as she slept in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Josephine James, with her two small grandsons. The negro hit her several times with a hammer. Her injuries were not considered critical.

The negro, who gave his name as Ralph Allen, and his age as 17, escaped a posse which was hurriedly organized in the neighborhood. Police found him in servant's quarters at a nearby residence.

The negro told police he was hungry. No charges have been filed.

SPORTS—

the report asserts. "On the whole, the field of recreation as it has developed in recent years represents a distinct advance over traditional ways of spending leisure time," declares Dr. J. F. Steiner, professor of sociology at the University of Washington, a contributor of the report.

"The growing participation in athletic sports and games and the popularity of outdoor life," he writes, "are assets from the point of view of health and social betterment."

Improvement noted. "The modern passive amusements, while by no means always of high quality, represent an improvement over those prevailing a generation ago."

"The recreational devices now existent in so many forms play an important part in giving relief from the monotony of daily toil and adding to the enjoyment of life."

Some of Dr. Steiner's findings regarding sports and other leisure time activities follow:

COLLEGE FOOTBALL—"Can hardly be regarded as a passing fad which will soon give way to something else. The huge investments in stadiums, which must be paid for in future years, make almost inevitable the continued approval of the game by college administrators."

PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL—"Already showing the effect of growing competition with other sports and amusements." Major league attendance still rising, but has made no spectacular gains recently and has not kept pace with the population growth in the league cities. Minor leagues are facing a much more serious situation as far as public support is concerned."

PROFESSIONAL BOXING—"Apparently reached its peak in 1926 and 1927; a sharp decline followed the passing of Dempsey and Tunney."

TENNIS—"Will probably expand until it outranks other athletic sports in the number of players it accommodates."

GOLF—"Expansion may be less rapid in the immediate future, and it is likely that golf will tend to remain a sport to be enjoyed by a limited number of people."

HUNTING AND FISHING—"May in the near future die out as popular sports for the general public."

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES—"Are reaching the peak of their development and are now facing a decline as leisure time institutions."

LUNCHEON CLUBS—"Movement appears to be still on the upward trend, but the slightly smaller membership increases, during recent years, lead one to the belief that it is approaching its zenith."

CARD PLAYING—"The production of playing cards increased nearly three times during the past 30 years and has made a gain of 27 per cent since 1920."

MOVING PICTURES—"Apparently a necessary luxury. How to feel cuts in the family budget."

"The effort to keep pace with new types of recreation has discouraged thrift and increased the cost of living," Dr. Steiner says in commenting on some of the problems of leisure time use.

Sees Danger in Desire To Win—"The extraordinary desire to win games at all costs rather than to enjoy sport for sport's sake," he continues, "makes heavy demands upon energy and frequently turns play into work."

"The great concentration of interest in modern sports and amusements tends to force into the background, at least for large numbers of people, the leisure time activities of an intellectual and cultural nature."

He indicates a need for more municipal park space. The preservation of more wilderness areas, stricter enforcement of game laws, more effective efforts in developing game farms and fish hatcheries, the greater utilization of school buildings and grounds after school hours, development of public recreational facilities on a regional basis and better governmental supervision and control of commercial amusements.

Chinese Resist Japs' Advance At Wall Pass

PEIPING, China, Jan. 10. (AP)—Ho Chi-Kuo, Chinese commander in the Shanhaikwan sector, reported today that he had ordered his troops to resist any further Japanese offensive at the Chiumenkow pass through the great wall 14 miles north of Shanhaikwan.

Delayed dispatches from Ho Chi-Kuo said fighting started at Chiumenkow early this morning and was still going on late in the afternoon.

At 6 a. m., the general reported, Japanese and Manchukuoan cavalry, infantry and artillery advanced on the pass from both sides and were met by Chinese cavalry.

The mountainous terrain slowed up the Japanese advance, enabling the Chinese to bring reinforcements. Meantime four Japanese airplanes bombed the Chinese lines.

Mrs. W. I. Gilbert of LeFors was a Pampa shopper yesterday.

Mrs. R. J. Traylor of Canadian was among the Pampa shoppers this morning.

Volumes Exceed Shelf Capacity At City Library

Books purchased or donated to the public library have surpassed the capacity of the shelves, it was reported yesterday to the board by Mrs. James Todd, Jr., librarian.

Patrons in November numbered 1,567, and in December were 1,603. In November, 3,456 books were checked out, and in December 3,996.

It is likely that the board will move the library to larger quarters in the basement floor of the city hall soon.

Volume of Mail At Post Office Gains in 1932

The Pampa postoffice did a gross business of $45,940.15 last year, according to the yearly report just completed by O. K. Gaylor, assistant postmaster. It was a slight decrease from the previous year, but was about 90 per cent better in comparison with other offices of the country.

Despite the fact that three-cent postage was introduced during the year, the volume of mail handled at the local office was greater than in 1931. Postal savings receipts also showed a large increase over the previous year, while money order business was about the same. Office expenditure was cut approximately 20 per cent although the same staff was retained and a greater efficiency introduced. Arrangements were completed for the new federal building and bids submitted. They were expected as being too high and local officials are expecting notice of publication for revised bids soon.

delicious meal. Fathers of Scouts, it is pointed out, will be interested to learn of the business of managing a huge Boy Scout area. Reports will be made by a number of committees, their comments on these reports will be heard. Out-of-town groups will come to this city, headquarters of the area, for the annual meeting. Borer is sending ten men, Panhandle 5, Clarendon 4, Hopkins half a dozen, and other towns in proportion.

Registration of visitors will begin this afternoon at the city hall. This evening, music will be furnished at the banquet by the high school band. Group singing will be led by Supt. R. B. Fisher. Mrs. A. H. Doucette will extol the greetings of mothers of Scouts to the Scouters and council officials. Training certificates will be presented by John B. Hessey, Rev. Hyde will discuss the ten-year program of the national organization.

Election of officers will close the meeting.

Delinquent Taxes Is Major Problem

Slowing up of tax payments furnished conversation for city commissioners last night.

While payments were good in December, they have slowed to a trickle this year. Delinquent taxes furnish the major problem, since they are needed to apply to fixed charges on the principal and interest of bonded indebtedness. 27 Forced collections may be necessary.

The commission instructed City Manager C. L. Stine to prepare new estimates on a municipal swimming pool. Previous plans were found too expensive because of the cost of chlorinating installation. It is expected that federal relief committee labor will be used soon to lay necessary pipelines and do excavating.

Routine bills were paid.

REPORT—

It was pointed out that should Ely resign, Governor Sterling could make an appointment of Ely's successor subject to the senate's confirmation, before he retires from office.

Reports also were circulated that Martin might resign with Ely, thus giving the retiring governor the privilege of naming successors to both with consent of the senate.

Political gossip had it that if the governor's selections were of persons not too antagonistic to the Ferguson's the proposal to increase the commission membership might not be pushed.
