The Pampa is still hopeful that the woman who picked up a string of amber beads near the First National bank recently will return them to this office. They belong to a child who values them highly. We will pay a reward for their return. Bring them to The NEWS and we will return them to the child.

Yesterday was wash day, but since we observed it as a holiday, we will use today for the task of wringing out pungent sayings from our contemporaries.

Edward Manson in Clovis News-Journal: The spectacle of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago leading a sustained drive to put beer flats and speakeasies out of business is probably one of the most unexpected sights that the American people have had in a long time. (Several things might motivate the mayor in addition to a desire to enforce law while it is law. One is that enemies of law enforcement lean heavily on beer joints and vice joints for their support. Wealth in the hands of criminals is hard to combat. And wealthy brewers have been, in other days, just as hard to handle.)

H. W. in Altus Times-Democrat: Some say the Christmas card habit is a waste, but we don't think so. We like to receive them and we like to send them. If we could afford it, we would mail out more and remember every friend and acquaintance.

There are many customs more expensive and less meaningful than Christmas cards, although we have our own ideas on the subject. We think considerable thought should be given to what is sent. The markets are full of beautiful cards, but a personal touch which in some degree reflects the personality to the sender is, we think, essential.

J. C. Rothwell in Borger Herald: If you have any fear for the future of Borger, consider these statistics advised by Ed Wagner: It is estimated that the gas reserve of this field is 18 trillion cubic feet. The entire United States at present consumes only a billion feet a day. (Good news for Borger is good news for Pampa in this respect. If Borger is stable, how much more sure should citizens of Pampa be of the future of their city. With good transportation facilities, surrounding agriculture, and a developing trade territory, Pampa is in as good a position as or better than the general conditions of this region.)

C. E. Clark in Childress Index: Two years ago I wrote a frank criticism of a high school production in a small Colorado city. Although the dramatics teacher felt that type of criticism was of real value and she agreed with the remarks, the chorus of complaints from mothers and friends of some of the actors proved the error of my method.

(Amateur performances can be logically compared only with the conditions under which the students and instructor worked. What may appear poor to the audience may represent the circumstances, best under the circumstances. We believe that actors of more than average ability should be commended. We doubt that poor work should be analyzed in any city of under 20,000. Most are extremely sensitive, and adverse criticisms of their art spring give rise to community "politics" of more or less grave character.)

R. H. Nichols in Vernon Record: It would seem that Texas, with its far-flung boundaries, its varying climate from the sunshine and mild temperatures of the Rio Grande valley to the severe cold of the northern plains, its productive soil and progressive citizenship, would be about as self-contained a state

'Divine Healer' Who Choked Child Says He's Immortal

MINISTER RIPS OFF CLOTHES BEFORE TRIAL

DEVIL MADE MAN KILL CHILD, ANOTHER WITNESS SAYS

CEREMONIES STRANGE

OAKLEY SAYS HE'S 'A FOOL FOR CHRIST'S SAKE'

LINDEN, Dec. 27 (AP)—Three men accused of murder in the "devil slaying" of Bernice Clayton, 3-year-old infantile paralytic victim, have been bound over for grand jury action.

A strange tale of ceremonies intended to restore the child's health being climaxed by her death at a home west of Linden a week ago was related at the examining trial of the defendants yesterday.

Testimony revealed that praying, singing, shouting and other rites designed to "drive out the devil" believed responsible for her affliction had been carried on for days.

A self-styled "divine healer," Paul Oakley, 20, who, officers said, confessed to choking the child, delayed the hearing more than an hour by ripping off his clothes and standing naked in his cell when officers came to conduct him to the courtroom.

"Not Born—Immortal." Then, after other apparel had been found for him, he created a sensation in the crowded courtroom by shouting that he was immortal.

"This is all I've got to say," he declared. "I was not born—I was conceived by God. That's what I've been telling you all along."

With these words he seated himself beside the other defendants, Coy Oakley, 25, the brother who described himself as a "disciple," and Sherman Clayton, 30, father of the child, and refused to say anything more.

In a statement officers said he made shortly after his arrest, Paul Oakley was quoted as saying: "I thought God sent me to heal the child, but the devil killed her through me. I thought it was God working through me, but after she was dead, God told me I was deceived, that it was the devil."

The three men were given separate examining trials. Paul Oakley was tried first and testimony heard in his case was submitted by acting county attorney Forest Whitworth in the trials of Clayton and Coy Oakley.

A neighbor of the Claytons, Geo. Wilson, told of being attracted to the scene by singing and much wild shouting. When he intruded on the ceremony, he said Coy Oakley made him leave.

"Coy-Oakley met me at the

RANCHER TAKEN TO PRISON FOR SAFE-KEEPING

Two Tucumcari Men Fatally Shot at Homestead

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 27 (AP)—Leland Bell, 27-year-old rancher, arrested in connection with the fatal shooting of Everett and Charles Fling near their homestead southeast of Tucumcari, N. M., was lodged in the state penitentiary here today for safe keeping.

Sheriff Ira Allen and three deputies drove to the prison from Tucumcari with Bell this morning. He said, that an attempt might be made to take the prisoner if he were allowed to remain in Quay county.

The sheriff declined to say whether or not Bell had confessed to shooting the Fling brothers Christmas evening. The officer said "he told us some things."

Everett Fling, 25, was slain near his homestead shack. Charles, 22, was wounded fatally when he arrived at the homestead several hours later after attending a dance. Louis, 17, another brother, was with Charles but fled and was unhurt.

The officers would not disclose their theory of the motive for the shooting but did not deny that it might have been a range feud.

SALES TAX IS TO BE PASSED 'IF NECESSARY'

GARNER WILL APPROVE MEASURE FOR SAKE OF BUDGET

SEEKING TO CUT COSTS

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO LOP OFF SOME APPROPRIATIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Renewed discussions of the advisability of levying a manufacturer's tax sprang up in both the senate and house today as the house ways and means committee laid plans for beginning its study of the governmental fiscal situation.

In the Senate, the veteran chairman of the finance committee, Smoot of Utah, said the sales tax is the only means that can be found to balance the budget.

A somewhat similar statement came from Speaker Garner. He said that if it were necessary to pass such a tax measure "I'd do it."

Meanwhile, the house appropriations committee tackled the budgetary problem from another angle. Its chairman, Byrns of Tennessee, appointed a subcommittee to see what regular annual appropriations could be lopped off.

Smoot said that he would favor an exemption of farm products as they come from the farmer in the application of the sales tax.

Garner said that before committing himself to any tax, if he were a member of the house ways and means committee he would "look over the entire situation, see what I could and had to do, and then get it."

PAMPANS DISPLAY INTEREST IN 'LOVE-IN-MIST' BY PURCHASING MANY TICKETS DURING HOLIDAYS

Play To Be Produced At LaNora Theater Friday Night

Scores of Pampans took advantage of the Christmas holidays to buy tickets for "Love-in-a-Mist," three-act comedy, according to George Limerick, Little Theater director and manager of the LaNora theater.

The play, the Little Theater's second production of the year, will be presented at the LaNora Friday evening, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Tickets are on sale at the LaNora and at all the drug stores in the city. Mr. Limerick pointed out that obviously patrons intend to buy tickets in advance for this production. He recalled that although advance ticket sales for "The Trial of Mary Dugan" presented in November broke all previous records, lines of customers who waited to get tickets at the box-office were almost a block long soon after the doors opened. At the last play, it was necessary for patrons to exchange tickets at the box-office.

This time, tickets bought at the drug stores and the LaNora will be

EXTRADITION PETITION IS NOT GRANTED

UTILITY MAGNATE NOT TO BE RETURNED TO UNITED STATES

PLEADINGS CUT SHORT

COURT SAYS EVIDENCE APPEARED TO BE SUFFICIENT

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Greek courts today rejected an American petition for the extradition of Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities official. Mr. Insull was set at liberty immediately.

The president of the court cut short the proceedings by telling Christos Ladas, Mr. Insull's attorney, that the defense pleadings appeared to him to be sufficient and that therefore the discussion was finished.

The defense deposited documents and the court withdrew. Mr. Ladas, replying to the public attorney's question as to why Mr. Insull had not surrendered, said his client does not want to be carried back to America like a vagabond but wants to prove his innocence here and then go with high head to apologize to his country.

Christos Ladas, chief defense counsel, asserted the United States upholds the right of asylum, generally denying extradition except in cases where the offense is proved. He described Insull as a benefactor of humanity and praised the course his client followed when he had not finished speaking at the mid-day recess.

Accompanied by Arthur Page, his British attorney, he entered a motor car and went to the Petit Palais hotel where he will stay.

"I owe thanks to Greek justice for

Drinking Shows Decline During This Christmas

City and county officers were fairly busy during the week-end, with the prevalence of drinking providing most of the work.

Justice court records showed 11 arrests for drunkenness. Some of the persons arrested could "pay off," but others remained in jail for lack of cash. Two women, Ruth Ritter and Dutchie Green, were arrested by city police and turned over to county officers, charged with possession of liquor for purpose of sale. They were held in jail for lack of $750 bail.

A negro, N. R. Newman, was in jail for want of $500 bond. He was charged with transporting intoxicating liquor. City officers made the arrest.

There was much drinking in the city, but less drunkenness than in other years. Policemen arrested three persons and sent home many citizens who were not exactly drunk according to statute but were inclined to be bolterous.

Rockefeller's Music Hall To Open Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—The music hall, first entertainment unit of the quarter-billion-dollar Rockefeller center—the structural miracle that blossomed in an economic drought—will blaze open tonight on three bustling sides—49th and 50 streets and Sixth avenue.

Like most new things in the world of the theater, it will be the largest entertainment center of its kind in the world. Modern to the minute, it will accommodate 5,200 persons on the main floor and in its three "mezzanines," as (S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel, director of entertainment, prefers to call them.

Buying Barbara

SYNOPSIS: The failure of Quentin, Lodely and Cane was so long ago that now only Leta Cane and Mrs. Lodely think much of how it impoverished and led to the death of the senior partner, and how James Cane (immediately) seemed to prosper. Cane now Sir James, planned to marry Leta to Farrell Armitage, restoring whose fortune caused the crash. But Farrell meets Barbara, a young girl who is the daughter of the man who ruined the family. Leta will marry Barbara in spite of the fact that Barbara plans to marry the rival and crippled Mark Lodely in five days. Leta agrees to help, and sends Farrell to take Barbara to a dance.

"Why don't you go, Babs? Do you a world of good!" urged Mrs. Lodely, bolstered. "It's ridiculous you bottin' yourself up here because Mark don't dance!" Again her train of thought was patent. Armitage could be kept in the circle, even if only for the time it took Barbara to change her dress.

THE CHARMING MARK

"BABS—Mark—this is Mr. Armitage. Mark, you remember Farrell Armitage who used to come to our parties from Upper Mallard vicarage? That would be while you were in France, Babs. You weren't there. Mark, show Mr. Armitage—"

"I'm glad you're not seriously the worse for your accident," said Farrell, sitting down near the couch.

He kept his attention upon Mark. He had bowed to the girl and received a welcoming murmur that was not echoed by her eyes. Then he had ignored her. But he did not need to look at her to be aware of everything about her. The way her hair sprang from her wide, low forehead; the way her hands lay lazily round a dark leather case.

"I'm glad to have the chance of thanking you for your timely aid," said Mark Lodely charmingly. (Armitage admitted the charm.) "I don't often fall but when I do I feel totally unable to get up again."

"Mark, Mr. Armitage is interested in you—"

"I remember your coming to play in our garden, Armitage—a great, hulking brute you were and you put a bigger brute, a cousin of mine, well into the lily-pond. I couldn't sleep that night for joy."

"And I couldn't sleep for—well, I had an interview with the vicar when I got home," Armitage recollected grimly. "Lord, that dear old man had a wonderful stroke in those days!"

Barbara had turned her face towards him and he allowed himself a casual return of her glance. The darkness was passing from her eyes but her lips still suffered. He felt a great longing to see her smile.

He began to talk easily, entertainingly. He had traveled, worked, watched men and women travel and work—there must be something out of all that to make her smile! He talked through Mrs. Lodely's laugh and presently she stopped laughing and became genuinely amused.

Mark's negligent charm quickened to excitement—to admiration. It's eager comments begged for more. More life—more fun—more, more! Only the girl at the fire neither laughed nor spoke.

Armitage abruptly turned to her, checking himself in mid-aside. Her eyes—and he had been right about them, they were deep hazel—had grown friendly, rather wistful. Unchallenging. Her loveliness was like a sudden rush of light and beneath that and beyond it was his feeling that she was his. "This is she—this is she!"—... He thrust everything from him but his strategy.

"I'm forgetting," he said. "I sit garrulously here while the question remains unsolved as to why my dancing-partner has left me in the lurch."

"The color rose under the white-petal skin. "You mean me, Mr. Armitage? But—I wasn't going to dance to-night, was I?"

"No?" Armitage reminded himself to be very gentle and casual. "Miss Cane must have got confused. She brought me along to a dance—very jolly dance—with the promise of a wonderful partner and then told me to get out and fetch her."

"Oh, those little hops at the Assembly rooms!" cut in Mrs. Lodely. "People—young people, you know, subscribe and bring their own partners. Didn't know you were mixed up in it, Babs?"

"I'm a member, certainly; Leta practically insisted. But I've never danced there. I can't imagine why she thought I should tonight." She looked with a quiet simplicity towards Mark.

"Aren't you Leta's partner, Armitage?" smiled Mark. "No, I'm odd man out if Miss Quentin won't come along," said Armitage, thinking of the somewhat startled youth whom Leta had dug out of his evening studies in order to bolster up the situation. "Not that that's of the slightest account, though, if you don't feel like it, Miss Quentin!"

Nude Couple Is Found Dead in Cabin Mystery

DENVER, Dec. 27. (AP)—Their faces distorted with pain, their bodies nude, Doris Gillian Cool, 19, and Harold Crawford, 20, were found dead in a tourist camp cabin near Aurora, a suburb.

Investigating officers said the two may have been asphyxiated, as a heater was found burning full blast and the cabin was tightly closed. But a definite theory of the tragedy, which occurred Christmas night or early yesterday morning, was not advanced pending the result of a chemical analysis of the contents of two bottles of wine found in the cabin and the contents of the stomachs.

The operator of the camp said they rented a cabin about 10 o'clock Christmas night and on being assured it was warm told him he need not turn on the heater. He said he did not ask them to sign the register because of lateness of the hour.

About noon yesterday, a daughter of the proprietor tried unsuccessfully to arouse the couple. Entrance was gained into the cabin to find the boy and girl sprawled on the floor. Their clothing was scattered about.

LADIES, PLEASE OBLIGE CHICAGO—If women unfortunate enough to have crossed eyes will please appear in public places Jan. 13, it will be greatly appreciated by Chicago's newly organized anti-superstition society.

"Seeing such women," said Sidney Sprotz, president, "is considered one of the most unlucky jinxes in history. And if you see three on one day great calamity is supposed to overtake you."

Members of the society are going to try to do everything that is supposed to bring bad luck from January 1 to January 13. They want to show that evil omens mean nothing.

One of them got in some preliminary practice yesterday by smashing a mirror.

Del Baker, former Detroit catcher and manager for Beaumont for the last three years, is to coach Bucky Harris' Tigers next year.

Barbara there's a lot of things lyin' about! What's all those sketches down by your feet, Babs?"

"Show them if you like, Barbara," came from Mark. Something odd, Armitage thought, behind his permission.

With a quick movement the girl swept up the sketches and put them down at Mark's side.

"No," she said. "You show them, if you like."

Armitage watched the two of them look at each other.

"I'd rather you put them on the fire for me," said Mark. Then, at last, Armitage saw her smile. . . . He became aware that Mrs. Lodely was arranging matters.

"Slip along and change your frock, Barbara. Mr. Armitage'll wait twenty minutes or so, I'm sure, and in the meantime Mark can dig out some of his work, can't you, Mark? Not that there's much hope of seein' 'em properly in this light but 'papa if you like 'em, you could come again some mornin'—"

"In twenty minutes, then, Mr. Armitage?" asked the soft, very clear voice. "But you won't mind if I don't make it late? I have to be at work at nine tomorrow."

VIOLENT DEATH TOLL OF NATION DURING 3 HOLIDAYS NEARS 400

By The Associated Press. This year's three-day Christmas week-end holiday was a costly one in the number of human lives sacrificed, it was revealed today as reports of violent deaths came from the width and breadth of the land.

Tabulations by the Associated Press indicated the total casualties would approach and possibly pass the 400 mark with the Illinois mine disaster, in which 54 lives were lost, leading the list.

However, fatal automobile accidents caused by far the greatest death toll, exceeding 200. California with 20 auto deaths had the greatest number for any single state although the Pennsylvania-Delaware total was 23.

Other classifications in the tabulation included drownings, fires and miscellaneous.

Strangely enough, which used to be a factor in the observance of Christmas when lighted candles were used on trees, accounted for only 12 deaths this year. In at least 38 persons lost their lives in breast and shootings.

The 17 drownings reported occurred for the most part in the circle, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas being the only southern states to report such deaths.

With a total of at least 108 deaths classified as miscellaneous 54 were due to entrapping of the miners at Moweaqua, Ill., the day before Christmas.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Pneumonia. Sir William Osler, who died of pneumonia in 1920, described the disease as "the friend of the aged." In his textbook he wrote "Taken off by it in an acute, short, not often painful illness, the old escape those cold gradations of decay that make the last stage of all so distressing."

Pneumonia, however, does not confine its attack to the aged. Children are susceptible to it, and so are men in the active years of their lives. Men are more frequently affected than women.

Pneumonia is a seasonal disease. Its prevalence begins to mount beginning with the month of October, and it reaches the high peak during the months of January, February and March. It then begins to decline and during June, July, August and September is at its lowest.

Much study has been devoted to the subject of pneumonia, and during the last 10 years appreciable progress has been made in the treatment of the disease.

While the term pneumonia indicates that the activity of the germs is centered in the lungs, for pneumonia means inflammation of the lungs, the body as a whole is affected by the disease. The complications of pneumonia therefore are numerous.

During the disease the pneumonia germ may gain entrance into the blood stream and thus affect the heart and the coverings of the brain.

Besides causing congestion of the lungs and interfering with the function of respiration, the germs also produce a toxin, and for this reason high fever is one of the characteristics of the disease.

In recent years scientists have devoted much labor to the development of sera for the treatment of pneumonia. Two such sera have been developed, one for the treatment of pneumonia type one and another for type two.

It is expected that before long we may have effective sera for other forms of pneumonia in the four groups classified according to the types of germs responsible.

Potter Refuses To Prosecute Quinn

NEWKIRK, Okla., Dec. 27. (AP)—Bruce Potter, retiring Kay county attorney who prosecuted Earl Quinn for the murder of Jessie Griffith, slain with her sister, Zelia, on a highway near Tonkawa two years ago, announced today he had declined to accept employment as special prosecutor for Quinn's second trial.

Quinn was convicted and sentenced to death, but the criminal court of appeals reversed the conviction, ordering a new trial and change of venue.

Potter cited Governor Murray's hostility toward himself, and said "I felt under the circumstances I should withdraw from the case because with the governor in his present frame of mind, he might commute Quinn's sentence if we got another death verdict."

Both Potter and James Mathews, attorneys for Quinn, said they had discovered important new evidence.

Earth Has Bump On Her Head but It Doesn't Hurt

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 27. —Old Mother Earth has a perpetual bump on herself that keeps traveling around under the moon, and stretches the Atlantic ocean out 63 feet wider at some times than others, the American Association For the Advancement of Science was told today.

The traveling bump is caused by the moon's attraction, which stretches the earth out as though it were made of rubber instead of rock, and may upset some measurements of the stars made in the past before astronomers knew the bump existed.

The earth's bump travels all the way around the globe every 24 hours like a bump on a rubber balloon produced by running your finger around the inside. Evidence that it exists was reported by Alfred L. Loomis of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., and Dr. Harlan Stetson of Ohio Wesleyan university.

The effect of the bump is to stretch the earth's surface a little, so that any two points, such as New York and London, are farther apart at one time of day than another.

The bump was found by discovery of a difference in the time signals determined from the stars, sent out from the Greenwich observatory in England and the U. S. naval observatory. This difference, amounting to as much as a tenth of a second—important in such measurements—shows that the positions of these two observatories on the earth's surface must change with respect to the stars, for otherwise the "star time" at both observatories should be the same.

MORE GAMES BOOKED SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Football stars in training for the East-West Shrine charity game, January 2, will test their prowess against teams composed of outstanding college gridsters of recent years.

These practice games will be played tomorrow. Ernie Nevers, Stanford university fullback and now an assistant coach there, will lead a team against the eastern forces. Paul Ford, the Olympic club's great end, will direct an eleven in a battle with the western contingent.

FLU is in the air!

Follow This New Plan for better Control-of-Colds

With Flu Increasing in Many Sections, Authorities Urge Extra Precaution Against Colds

AN epidemic of "grippy" colds and flu seems to be developing here now. Mothers, especially, know that colds tend to pull down body resistance—that each cold paves the way for other colds and more serious complications, such as bronchitis or pneumonia.

Take no chances. Avoid all colds possible. Treat every cold promptly. For greatest safety and protection follow Vicks Plan for better CONTROL of Colds. Briefly, the plan is this:

TO BUILD RESISTANCE: Live normally—don't worry. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eliminate regularly. Drink lots of water. Eat light, wholesome food.

TO PREVENT MANY COLDS: At that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation, snuffle or sneeze—Nature's usual warning that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, the new aid in preventing colds. This will check many colds at the nose and throat—where most colds start.

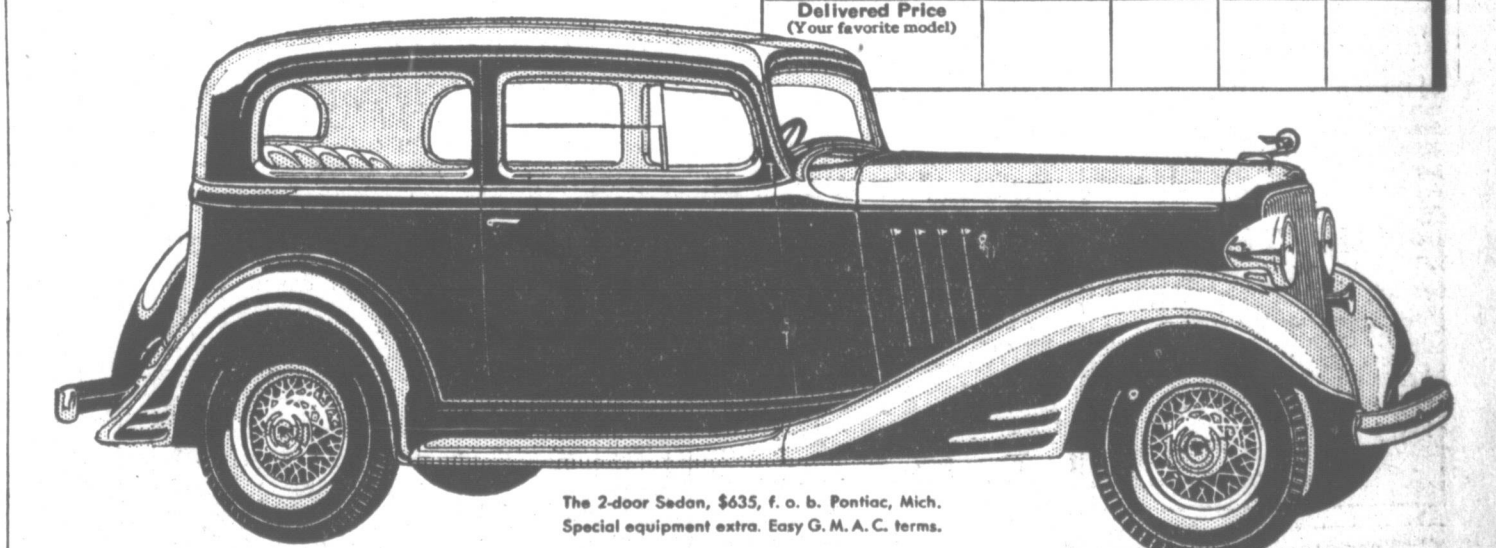

TO END A COLD SOONER: If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, vigorous measures are necessary. Rest as much as possible, preferably in bed. Take a mild laxative, if needed. At bedtime, apply Vicks Vapo-Rub for its direct double-action while you sleep. During the day, use the convenient Vicks Nose Drops for added comfort and relief while you work.

CHUCK KLEIN IS CHAMPION LONG-HITTER

BASE-STEALING HONORS ALSO CAPTURED BY DODGER

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Although Frank O'Doul, Brooklyn's portside outfielder, won the national league's 1932 batting championship by the proverbial mile, it was his teammate, John Henry Frederick, and young Charles Herbert Klein of Philadelphia who really showed the boys how to paste the pellet.

Frederick, who did most of his work as a pinch hitter, created an upheaval in the records by hitting home runs in six pinches. The old major league record was three, held by Hamilton Hyatt of the 1913 Pittsburgh Pirates, Fred Williams of the 1928 Phillies, and Clifford Crawford of the 1927 New York Giants.

Klein's batting average of .438 was good only for third place. 20 points behind O'Doul and to be behind Bill Terry, the Giants' clouting manager, but he drove his hits to all corners of the lot to mop up the season's long-hitting honors and then captured the league's base-stealing honors with 20 thefts.

Chuck's batting record for the season ran this way: Runs, 152, first place; hits, 226, first place; total bases, 420, first place; doubles, 50, second place; triples, 15, third place; home runs, 38, tie for first.

One of the few hitters to lead Klein in any department, Paul Waner of Pittsburgh set a new league record for doubles as he hit 42 to lead for the year and displace Klein's 1930 mark of 59. Babe Herman of Cincinnati with 19 triples and Gus Suhr of Pittsburgh with 16 also managed to finish ahead of the Philadelphia while Mel Ott of the Giants shared the home run lead. Terry gave Klein a close race in the hit column, finishing one behind.

In addition to winning the batting championship with his .368 mark, 19 points above the 1931 titular level when Terry, Chick Hafey and Jim Bottomly of the St. Louis Cardinals finished in a virtual tie, O'Doul made the greatest number of singles, 158. Hughie Critz of the Giants had the most times at bat, 659, and Dick Bartell of Philadelphia topped the sacrifice column with 35.

The new marks appeared in the club batting records as the Phillies finished on top with a 292 mark. The league as a whole made a new high record of 43,763 times at bat and the Giants hit the all-time low of 49 sacrifices, ten lower than their mark for 1931, the first season after the sacrifice fly was ruled out.

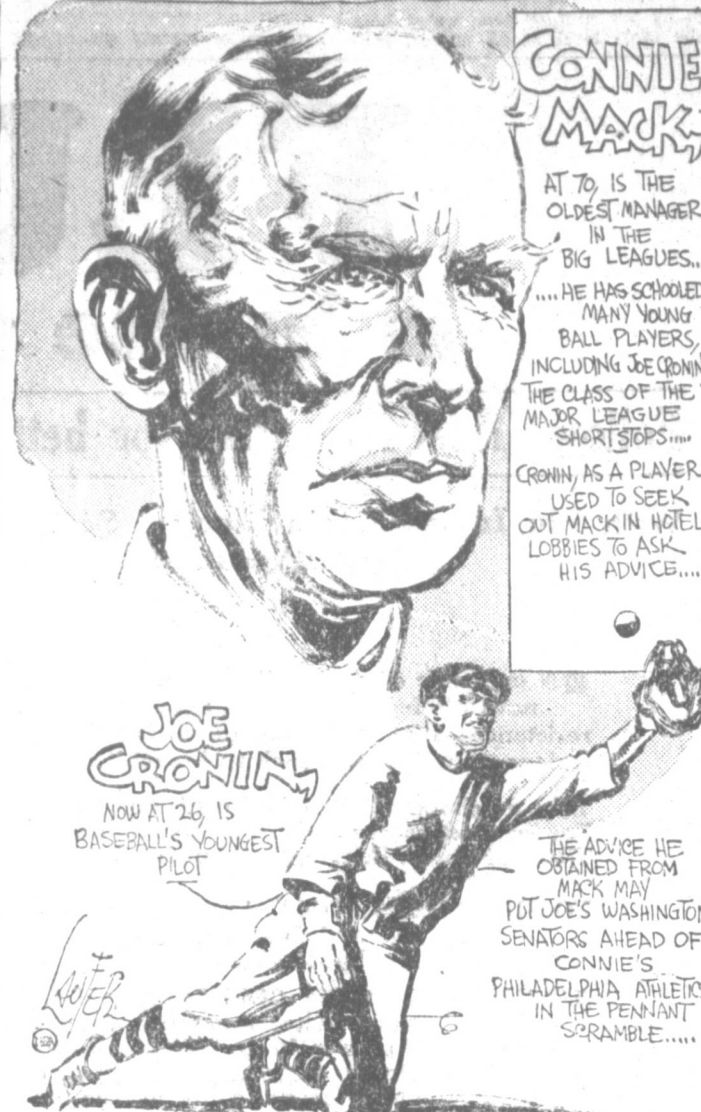

Wise-Acres Are Saying Trojans Will Down Pitt

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27. (AP)—Grid fans who saw Southern California's 47 to 14 victory over Pittsburgh three years ago delved into the comparative statistics today, wondering if the impending Rose tournament game at Pasadena, Jan. 2, would not be another case of history repeating itself.

Unless the figures belie facts, it would appear that the Panther weakness on defense this year is the same as it was on that new year's day of 1930 when the Trojans won on a scoring spree with passes.

Of the 1,457 yards gained against the Panthers during the 10 games of the past season, 718 of them, almost half, were made on completed forward flips. In nine games, Southern California allowed 1,475 yards to be made against it, but

Here is a New Year toast to those who fought the good fight, ran the good race, but lost: "May the New Year bring better luck! And here is a list of those whose names went down during 1932 among the also rans:

MAX SCMELING—May you be accorded one more crack at the championship chin as worn by Jack Sharkey.

THE CUBS—Better luck next time, girls, but this writer never again will pick you to beat the Yankees.

RALPH METCALFE—Eddie Tolan went past you, but cheer up. Look what happened to the sun during that total eclipse.

NOTRE DAME—Here's hoping a quarterback comes along next year and may he know something about playing safely against quick-kicks.

THE DAVIS CUP TEAM—You gave France a terrible fright in the matches of 1932 and that scare may be fruitful in '33.

THE BRITISH WALKER CUP TEAM—The first hundred years are the hardest, my lads, and keeping everlastingly at it is better than two in the bush.

BROWN UNIVERSITY—Oh well, if you had licked Colgate, Pitt probably would have been invited to the Rose Bowl, anyway.

COLGATE UNIVERSITY—Your football team remains undefeated until, unscored-on, and though you weren't honored with an invitation to play at Pasadena, you didn't get beaten by Southern California, either.

JOHNNY GOODMAN—It just happened that Ross Somerville was having one of his very best days when he beat you in the national amateur. Maybe next year you will be the one having the good day.

FRANCIS OUIMET—You failed to repeat your splendid victory of 1931, but you were in the fight all the way, and if they think you won't be in the fight all the way in only 517 were the result of their opponent's aerial game.

Fifty of 159 forward passes were completed against Pitt. A dozen were intercepted. The Trojans, on the other hand, allowed only 37 of 128 attempted aerial thrusts to connect for their opponents, and intercepted 21 others.

On the other side of the ledger, Coach Howard Jones' team, in winning all of its nine games, completed 30 of its 88 tosses for a gain of 1,738 yards and only four of the attempted passes were intercepted.

Eight of Troy's 24 touchdowns during the past season were directly the result of passes, two came from intercepted passes, and a number of others were made possible via the air.

Pittsburgh by comparison in 10 games picked up only 117 yards with 23 passes completed out of 86 attempts.

Four of Southern California's 7 touchdowns at Pitt's expense three years ago were directly the result of passes, while another long toss carried the ball to the 2-yard line.

PLAINVIEW NOSES OUT PAMPA IN FREE-FOR-ALL SCRAMBLE

Harvesters Out To Avenge 2-Point Loss In Game Here Tonight.

Plainview's Bulldogs won a 34 to 32 combination basketball and football game from the Pampa Harvesters last night in a game that got completely away from Referee Ted Phillips of the Buffaloes in the last half. The two teams will play again at 7:30 o'clock tonight, with Bob Fuller handling the whistle.

Many times the referee got his plainview and teams mixed up and handed out penalties to the wrong team. Plainview took advantage of the breates to make all her free throws. The half time score was 14 to 13, with Plainview leading. More fouls were called on the Harvesters than they made in their preceding seven games.

The Harvesters started the game with a rush to get a six point lead before Plainview scored. The quarter ended with the Harvesters out in front, 7 to 4. The Harvesters scored early despite the fact that Plainview center, Mabry, with the advantage of being 2 inches taller, was getting the tip-off on almost every occasion from Pillingim. However, in the second half the Bulldogs changed their tactics and placed the tip-off over the heads of the fast charging Pampa forwards and gave the ball to the guards.

Mabry was high point scorer with 13 points to his credit. Woodward of Pampa and Foster of Plainview followed with 10 points each. Both teams played hard defensive games but the long-distance sharp shooting of little Foster, Plainview forward, gradually put the Bulldogs into the lead. The Harvesters were having tough luck under the baskets, many balls going into the hoop and then bouncing back out. Pampa's passing was far superior to Plainview although the local boys missed many set-ups.

The Harvesters will meet the fast Big Lake quintet here Wednesday and Thursday nights at 7:30 o'clock.

BILL TERRY—You were just behind Lefty O'Doul in the race for the batting championship of the National League, but you had more runs on your mind that Lefty did. (And you're going to have plenty on your mind in 1933, too.)

GLENN COLLETT VARE—You have won often enough to be able to take defeat gracefully at the hands of such a charming person as Miss Virginia Van Wie.

HENRI COCHET—You couldn't beat Vines, but you can't win all of 'em.

AMERICAN WOMEN GOLFERS—You came back from Britain empty-handed again, but they paid the last debt installment, and maybe that will make your taxes cheaper.

BURGOO KING—Things looked rosy for you after winning the Derby and the Prekness after which injury cut you down. Hope the oats are nice out your way.

TOP FLIGHT—You couldn't be champion, but you did your best, and that's all a fellow can do.

BILLY PETROLLE—You were punched away from the lightweight championship by Tony Canzoneri, but you made a grand fight of it all the way. Don't hang up the old mitten yet, my lad.

AND TO ALL THE REST OF YOU—Fighters, golfers, athletes, ball players, gridmen, tennisers and others—keep trying, and remember that it's a long lane that gathers no moss.

BRINGS VISION TO NEAR-BLIND

A new type of telescopic lens to bring vision to eyes with as little as 2 per cent sight is hailed by the American Academy of Optometry as a great boon to the near-blind. Dr. William Feinbloom of New York, who devised the lens after seven years of experimentation, is shown as he demonstrated his development to the optometrists' convention in Chicago. The lens makes objects appear wider, thus aiding vision, but does not make them appear closer, thus avoiding distance misjudging.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 27. (AP)—The United States tennis team, playing an Australian team in a match series, today won three of the contests to take a lead of five to three with one day of playing remaining.

Ellsworth Vines, who lost yesterday to Harry Hopman, second ranking Australian player, defeated Australia's No. 1 Jack Crawford, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3; John Van Ryn, defeated Vivian McGrath, the 16-year-old star, 6-4, 6-2; and Vines and Keith Gledhill won from Cliff Sproule and McGrath, 6-3, 9-7, 6-2.

The lone Australian victory was scored by Crawford and Hopman, who upset Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, 3-6, 6-2, 11-9, 4-6, 6-3.

In yesterday's matches Hopman defeated Vines 6-4, 1-6, 8-6, Crawford beat Allison 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, and Allison and Van Ryn won from Sproule and McGrath 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4.

The final whistle ruined Corsicana's best scoring chance. The Tigers were on the Masonic one-foot line at the time with one down to go for a touchdown.

Ball League IS PROPOSED

Fiedler to Present Class D Proposition to Pampa Fans Tomorrow Night.

Can Pampa support baseball in a big way? Marty Fiedler, well known in the baseball world, will be in Pampa tomorrow night to discuss the situation here. He proposes to start a Class D league in this section of the country and already has the promise of many of the big league sponsors to work with the proposed league.

Fiedler will meet with Pampa fans at 8 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms. The meeting will be open to everyone in the city and it is hoped that a large gathering will be on hand to hear Fiedler's proposition.

The well known player has already been in touch with Lubbock, San Angelo, Amarillo, and Borger, and those four cities have received the proposition unanimously. Judge Bramham, king of the minor leagues, is heartily in favor of the formation of such a league and writes Fiedler that he will assist in any way possible. Alvin Gardner of the Texas league has sent his good will. Jack Zellars of the Detroit Tigers has written endorsement of the league. The Pacific Coast team owners have already asked to have some of the teams for their farms.

Such local fans as Mayor W. A. Bratton, A. G. "Pete" Post, Dan McGrew, M. K. Brown, W. O. Christian, R. G. Allen, Reno Stinson, Sam Feenberg, Murray Freudlich, C. H. Walker, Bill Fraser, Travis Lively, C. L. Stine, and others argued to attend the meeting, which will be brief.

Many Pampa fans know Fiedler personally. He played third base for the Cleveland Indians in years gone by and later was with St. Joe, in the Western league. He was also with Amarillo. Fiedler has been operating the Albuquerque club.

TIGERS SNATCH GRID TITLE IN STRANGE GAME

PENETRATIONS DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE

CORSICANA, Dec. 27. (AP)—Corsicana's long struggle for a state high school championship was rewarded yesterday when the Tigers gained a decision over the Masonic Home team from Fort Worth on the basis of 20-yard penetrations.

The game ended scoreless but, under agreement of coaches, it had been decided that such a deadlock should be broken by declaring the team victor which gained the most penetration. Corsicana's powerful aggression thrust inside the enemies' danger zone five times, while the visitors failed to advance that far once during the game.

A crowd of 12,000, which overflowed the stands and streamed out on the field disrupted play for 40 minutes. In the second period Referee Benny Lee Boynton was forced to call time out to clear spectators from the playing field. And it was only after he had threatened to call off the game that the unsated hundreds moved back along the side lines and into the already jammed stands.

In the final period temporary bleachers in the end zone, seating 3,500 spectators, collapsed and hurled hundreds to the ground below. By some chance, only one person was injured seriously enough to warrant medical attention and he was not hurt badly. A number of others were scratched and bruised slightly. Splendid defensive play featured the game. On many occasions ofensive drives that seemed to have excellent prospects of resulting in a score were stopped dead. Corsicana was more effective than Masonic Home on the offensive but still lacked power to break through the invader's line for a touchdown. The final whistle ruined Corsicana's best scoring chance. The Tigers were on the Masonic one-foot line at the time with one down to go for a touchdown.

Babe Hopes To Be Triple Star

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Babe Didrikson hopes to become a triple star in the field of professional entertainment—a radio performer, a movie actress and a writer.

In announcing her plans to capitalize on her fame as an all-round athlete, the Texan miss said she would center her attention on those three fields and shun any offers to endorse products. It was on a charge of endorsing an automobile that Miss Didrikson was suspended from the National Amateur Athletic union and then reinstated.

"If the A. A. U. will permit me, I am doing the best to attend to my own affairs—things that have resulted entirely from their own error," she said. "And it would make everything so much more pleasant for everyone if they should elect or be induced to do likewise."

Miss Didrikson said her movie work would be confined to some athletic "shorts."

Nick Dobbs, who coached the undefeated and untied Jefferson University Rangers at Dallas, Texas, plans to work in the East Texas oil fields next football season.

Pitt Is Planning Passing Offense

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 27. (AP)—The 1933 Rose Bowl game will be a battle in the air as far as the University of Pittsburgh Panthers are concerned. At least that is what spectators and the eastern team inferred after seeing the Panthers, here to train for the January 2 contest with Southern California at Pasadena, let loose a dazzling forward pass attack in scrimmage.

Using various backfield combinations of Heller, Sebastian, Hogan, Winstock, Mateste and Weisenbaugh, Coach Jack Sutherland sent the regulars against the second and third string aggregations yesterday afternoon. Forward passing predominated and the Panthers appeared to have more than ordinary ability and luck in completing long throws.

MANY VISITS ARE OCCASIONED BY YULETIDE HOLIDAYS

VISITORS ARE RETURNING TO HOMES TODAY

ILLNESS MARS HOLIDAY SPIRIT IN SOME INSTANCES

Today is a day of much going and coming, but in many cases it marks the end, rather than the beginning, of Christmas fun.

Christmas day and Monday were days of much pleasure for Pampanns. Several entertainments took place, but in most instances the fun was derived from such simple joys as Santa Claus, turkey, and a visit to grandma's. In some instances, illness prevented the usual holiday activities.

In addition to the trips and the cases of illness announced on Sunday are the following:

Mrs. J. B. Hessey Sr. of McLean was a Christmas guest of her son, Supt. John B. Hessey of Gray county schools, and family. Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Boyd of McLean and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Alexander of Borger were other guests. Mrs. Boyd is Mrs. Hessey's sister, and Mr. Alexander is a sister of Mrs. Hessey.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Studer and family spent Christmas with relatives at White Deer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stahl and daughters and son, Arabelle, Helen, and James, all of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pierce of Amarillo were guests yesterday and this morning of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Johnson. The Johnsons and their daughter, Barbara, and the Lubbock guests spent Christmas in Amarillo.

Mrs. B. O. Lilly has been ill for several days.

Misses Loma and Geneva Groom and James Groom returned to Pampa yesterday afternoon following a holiday visit with their sister, Mrs. F. C. Spence, and Mr. Spence of Borger.

Mrs. Anna Fenberg of Des Moines, Iowa, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Lazarus.

I. Soodhalter of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Al Soodhalter of Chicago are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Soodhalter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shannon and son of Phillips camp went to Alva, Okla., for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. "Tubby" Graham of Phillips camp have returned home after an extended trip through Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McFolk of Amarillo were in Pampa this morning.

Miss Mollie LeFors of Longview is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. H. Doucette. Miss LeFors has been chosen as assistant to the county auditor of Longview. She stated that the new court house at Longview would be ready for occupancy the first of the year.

Ray McNeill visited briefly in Pampa last week. He was enroute from the University of Oklahoma to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNeill of Hobbs, N. M. The family formerly lived in Pampa and Ray was a football player for Pampa high school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wynne and Mr. and Mrs. DeLea Vicars had as their guests on Christmas day Mrs. J. R. Crawford and children, Elizabeth and Wynne, of Amarillo, the Rev. and Mrs. F. W. O'Malley of Pampa, and James Ramsey of Amarillo.

The condition of Willena May, who is ill of pneumonia, was unchanged this morning. She is a local teacher.

Elmos Hall, son of Mrs. Ollie Hall, suffered burns on his back while he was standing before a stove yesterday morning. He was taken to the Pampa hospital and was reported doing nicely this morning.

H. Edenborough of White Deer underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Pampa hospital Saturday. He is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Vance and Mrs. E. M. Robb have as their guests Miss Helen Robb, John Lynch, and Miss Elizabeth Ann Cox, all of Breckenridge. The visitors arrived yesterday.

Following several weeks' illness, Mrs. Zula Brown was back at her place in Mrs. Enbody's Beauty shop this morning.

Miss Velma Lee Sellers and Rudy Elklund will return to Lubbock this afternoon after a visit with Mrs. M. L. Sellers and Mr. and Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle.

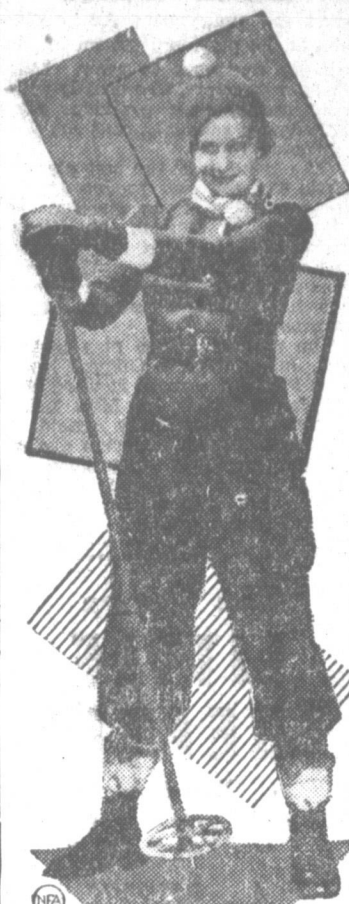

Mrs. V. L. Dickinson has as her guest her brother, Charles Gregory, of Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Hamilton went to Gladewater to spend the holidays.

Eton DeTar of Odessa is a holiday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. DeTar.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Hodje have as their guest Mrs. Hodje's mother, Mrs. H. W. Wyatt of Gladewater.

WHAT TO DO AFTER HIGH SCHOOL TOLD

PROFESSOR DISCUSSES RELATIVE VALUE OF ALTERNATIVES

DENTON, Dec. 26.—After high school—what? In answering this question for the several thousand high school boys and girls who will graduate in February, Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of Texas State College for Women (CIA) attempts to give a solution to the problem confronting parents and children.

To that boy or girl who has an opportunity to accept a position which will allow him to keep a younger brother or sister in school or to financially aid his family, Dr. Hubbard urges that the position be accepted. But if there is no employment in sight, then but two things for which there is no substitute, and the person who forms the habit of reading good books is certain to be well educated, according to Dr. Hubbard. There are a great many books that every high school graduate should read, whether or not he is going to college, and which most of these graduates have never read.

Staying at home would not be so bad if the boy or girl could be induced to use his time wisely. There is always the benefit of self-education for which there is no substitute, and the person who forms the habit of reading good books is certain to be well educated, according to Dr. Hubbard. There are a great many books that every high school graduate should read, whether or not he is going to college, and which most of these graduates have never read.

In following the other course, why go to college when there are few positions for college graduates? There are three answers to this question. The depression will not necessarily continue indefinitely. Financial improvement will be immediately reflected in employment situation improvement. The best qualified applicants will get these positions.

In the third place, Dr. Hubbard believes it is time for the people of America to realize that training for positions, that is, vocational preparation, is only one of the reasons why their sons and daughters should attend college. If they are intellectually inclined, there are other things in life than making a living.

Man cannot live by bread alone. The Persian philosopher who stated that if he had two pennies, he would buy with one a loaf of bread to feed his body, and with the other a white hyacinth to feed his soul realized the cultural values of life. College education develops such cultural values. It gives our souls an opportunity to expand.

Mary Pickford Is Grand Marshal of Rose Tournament

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27. (P)—It may be a holiday season elsewhere in the country, but in Southern California cities hundreds of busy workers will be employed from now until the morning of January 2 completing the spinning of a two-mile long ribbon of jowliness, the annual tournament of roses.

For four years, Southern California has welcomed the New Year with its parade of flowers in Pasadena. Entries this year indicate the procession will be the longest on record. Fifty-six major floats reflecting the present theme, "fairies in flowers," will take part in the parade which will include 16 bands, 40 equestrian entries and scores of elaborately decorated automobiles.

Mary Pickford, the first woman to be given the honor, will be grand marshal of the procession. Wearing a green satin court gown, she will ride in a coach, covered with lavender and shell-pink peonies, china lilies and pink roses, and drawn by white horses.

Funeral services for Barbara Ann Brake, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shanley Brake, who died in a local hospital Sunday morning, were conducted in the chapel of the Stephenson Mortuary at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Burial followed in Fairview cemetery.

Services were preached by the Rev. Father Joseph Wonderly, rector of the Holy Souls church of Pampa. The parents survive. Mr. and Mrs. Brake have been residents of Pampa for several years. Mr. Brake is with the Humble Oil & Refining company.

Whoopie' Prices Show Big Decline

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (P)—Bar gains in hoop-la beckoned New Yorkers today as they sent boiled shirts to the wash in preparation for New Year's eve.

For $40, which Park avenue once sniffingly regarded as a nominal sum, you can take your girl to dinner and ring in the New Year in the grand ballroom of one of the grandest hotels.

For $16, which in the old days might have got you arrested as a vagrant without visible means, you can take her to a lesser grill room and be gay.

At these prices, it looked as though there would be no end of enthusiasm, for the manager of this hotel yesterday announced he expected 2,000 guests, a bigger crowd than last year.

At other well-known hotels, the cost will range downward to $5 or less per plate, while many night clubs have cut their prices in proportion.

CYCLES AT 69

Mrs. Lulu Smith is 69 but she braves Denver's traffic daily on her bicycle, just as she's done since 1892. A widowed music teacher, she has registered 10,000 miles on her present bicycle—and this is her ninth.

B'Nai Temple Gives Banquet

A festive banquet was served at the Schneider hotel Sunday evening at 7 o'clock when the B'Nai Israel Temple entertained. All details of the occasion suggested the holiday theme.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge. Thirty-eight persons attended.

Only One Meeting Slated for Church

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening will be the only meeting at the First Baptist church this week. "Next Sunday," said the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, "will mark the beginning of new enthusiasm and efficiency in the church, and officials hope to see each person in his or her place."

Miss Geneva Groom, church secretary, was back at work this morning following a severe illness of influenza.

Two Are Hostesses For Holiday Dance

Miss Florence Sue Dodson and Miss Bernice Lyon joined in entertaining a group of friends at a Christmas eve dance at Garden Valley, died last night. His brother, Pete McKay, 35, was stabbed fatally, dying Saturday night.

Mrs. A. R. Sawyer suffered a broken arm when she fell near her home Sunday afternoon. She was taken to Pampa hospital but was later able to return to her home.

FEW CHURCH EVENTS WILL BE THIS WEEK

NEW YEAR WILL MARK RENEWED ACTIVITY OF GROUPS

There will be but few activities in the Pampa churches this week, prayer meeting in most instances being the only gathering.

The early part of the Christmas season was a busy one for religious workers. Baskets were filled for the needy, contributions were made to the community Christmas tree, and many special Christmas programs were arranged.

This week, a period of rest, will precede a period of renewed activity and more perfect organization, ministers said. Pampanns who are visiting away from Pampa are expected home by next Sunday, and the churches have set high goals for attendance and service on that day and on succeeding Sundays.

Polleys Expected Home This Evening

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Polley are expected home late today from Graham, where they went to visit relatives during the holidays and to attend the wedding of Miss Audrey Durham and Harold E. Schwartz, both of Pampa.

The wedding ceremony was to be read at high noon yesterday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Durham.

The bride was honored at several attractive pre-nuptial parties.

Many Visitors At Theater This Week

Many Pampanns took their visitors to LaNora theater Sunday and Monday to see "The Conquerors," highly dramatic play featuring Ann Harding and Richard Dix.

Miss Geneva Groom, church secretary, was back at work this morning following a severe illness of influenza.

Thomas H. Scott of Lubbock visited friends here yesterday.

DOLLING UP WHITE HOUSE

Christmas shopping days are the great equalizers, and here you see the First Lady of the Land as just another grandmother purchasing dolls and toys for Christmas. Mrs. Hoover (right) visited Washington a thrift shop and was shown the display of toys by Mrs. Frank Letts (left), chairman of the thrift committee.

Wedding Slated For Christmas

Local friends had received no word this morning regarding the marriage of W. B. Weathered of Phillips camp and Miss Eyrice Gaitther, daughter of E. M. Gaitther of Childress. They assumed, however, that the wedding was held as scheduled, on Christmas day in Childress.

The couple was to leave after the ceremony for a trip to Austin, Galveston, and points in the Rio Grande valley, and to return to Phillips camp by January 2. Mr. Weathered is principal of Hopkins No. 1 school.

The bride is the daughter of a prominent, pioneer family of Childress.

Miss Dorothy Mullen is ill of influenza.

Many Present for Episcopal Service

The Christmas eve service at St. Matthew's Episcopal church was well attended.

The service consisted of a musical program beginning at 11:30 followed at 12:05 by the Christmas communion.

The music under the direction of Mrs. P. C. Jones, organist, consisted of carols sung by the congregation, two fine violin solos by R. W. Toney and vocal solos by Mrs. L. N. McCullough.

W. M. S. WILL MEET.
The Central Baptist W. M. S. will hear a Royal Service program when members meet at the church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

John G. Staudt of Midland, Mich., is here on business this week.

YULETIDE IN PAST -- MANY ARE AT WORK

REGULAR ROUTINE IS RESUMED WITH PLEASURE

The routine of daily living was welcome this morning after a 2-day period of rest and play. Business men and women were back at work, and their smiles indicated that they enjoyed it.

Home hostesses and their maids were busy putting the household in order—removing decorations, placing gifts in their rightful places of service, and cooking beans—yes, and they seemed to enjoy the beans even though they had feasted on turkey and fruit cake Sunday and Monday. Visitors were leaving for their homes near and far. There was a tear at parting, but for the visitors also awaited duties which would be welcomed.

Work today was a joyful reality—Christmas, a pleasant memory.

Much Shopping Is Done This Morning

Shopping was being done by many young women this morning, the occasion being several dances of interest which have been scheduled for this week. Seldom are so many exquisite frocks seen at one time as will be seen for the event of this week.

Opposition to Abandonment of College Grows

Resolutions of the Pampa Board of City Development opposing... This message from the Levelland chamber is typical: "We are heartily in accord with your resolutions and feel as you do—that if some of the Teachers colleges should be abandoned, why not some of the East Texas schools, say one of the Denton schools. And to reduce Texas Tech to a liberal arts school as proposed would destroy 75 per cent of the value of the school to the students of West Texas."

door," said Wilson, "he said they didn't allow devil in there and for me to get out. I told him I wasn't a devil but he insisted I was and pushed me out of the door." Hands on Throat. Wilson said he looked in the room and saw that Paul Oakley had the invalid child on the floor with one hand on his throat and the other on her forehead.

"Clayton was sitting about four feet from Paul, singing and praying. Coy Oakley seemed to be attending the door." "A little later in the day Paul came over to our house to borrow some sheets for the body of the child. He said the devil made him do it. Then he said he choked it to death to keep it from crying."

Wilson said Paul Oakley appeared sane when at his house. Mrs. Wilson gave virtually the same testimony as her husband. She added that Paul Oakley had approached her with a smile on his face and said, "that biggest baby is dead."

Coy Oakley then testified as a state witness, saying he, his brother and the Claytons had "prayed and shouted" for several days before the slaying of the child.

"Divine Healers. He explained that he and his brother had come to the Clayton home from Sulphur Springs to visit. Officers had learned that the Oakley brothers had been in the area for some time preaching and conducting religious meetings.

"Divine healing" had been discussed at some of the meetings. "I was sick, too," Coy Oakley testified. "They prayed for me and they prayed for the baby. I saw it all when the baby was killed. Sherman Clayton was holding its feet with its head hanging down and Paul was choking it."

"Are you crazy or not?" asked the county attorney. "Some say I'm crazy," Coy Oakley replied. "Some say I'm a fanatic, but I'm telling you I'm just a fool for Christ's sake."

At this point his brother interjected with a loud "amen." Dr. O. A. Taylor testified to examining the child's body and determining that she came to her death by strangulation. He found bruises on her neck and the sides of her body.

Child's Ear Burned. He also found that the skin had been injured on her left ear and that the member bore the appearance of "having been burned."

After completion of Paul Oakley's trial, the case of his brother was called. Coy Oakley shouted that he was not guilty. He said he did not wish to testify in his own defense. Sherman Clayton took the stand when his case came up to deny the allegation he held the child by the neck while Paul Oakley choked her. "I was just shouting and praising the Lord," he asserted. At the conclusion of the trial Clayton said he believed Coy Oakley was trying to "frame him."

This Coy Oakley denied, declaring he loved Clayton. During the hearing Mrs. Mozelle Clayton, 20, the mother, sat with another young child in her arms. Previously she had told investigators she was in the kitchen while the ceremony was being held "praying for the cure of her child."

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—The stock market found no stimulus adequate to take it out of its narrow trading range today, and prices drifted listlessly. Trends were mixed, with a few issues advancing as much as a point, while others sagged. The turnover approximated 750,000 shares.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27 (AP)—Cotton opened rather dull after the Christmas holidays. Liverpool continued closed and the only business at the start here was a little trade buying and price fixing, offset by some hedge-selling.

The market remained narrow and very quiet all morning with a little trade buying and some short covering featuring transactions. March traded up to 5.89, May to 5.91 and July to 6.12, or 2 to 3 points up from the early lows and unchanged to two points up compared with the previous close.

Near noon the market continued quiet, but kept at the highs. "Divine Healers. He explained that he and his brother had come to the Clayton home from Sulphur Springs to visit. ARMY-- (Continued from page 1)

God to help me, I can get Ma to help me. Pa and Ma kept coming to the meetings, and Pa kept getting farther and farther from booze. In the midst of hard times, he has saved $400 against a rainy day since that night when he parted with the bottle.

If we assess $1 against Pa and Ma as their share of that meeting—counting light for the hall and wear and tear on the bass drum and all—we shall be making a generous allowance. And for $1 a couple that was wasting its substance and would one day become a charge upon the town, is transformed into a family self-respecting, self-supporting, with $400 in the bank and more to come. Is there any banker who would not be glad to have a thousand savings accounts like Pa's and Ma's if he could secure them at $1 apiece?

James Cline Run Down by Driver

Victim of a hit and run driver early Sunday night, James Cline, employe of the Maddux company, is in Worley hospital with a broken foot and bruises. He was taken to the hospital in a G. C. Malone ambulance.

Mr. Cline reported to officers that he was walking north on Cuyler street in front of the Blackwell Supply company warehouse when a Chevrolet coupe driving south struck him and then proceeded out of the city without stopping. He was unable to get the number of the car.

Two men were slightly injured in a car accident on West Foster avenue Sunday afternoon.

INSULL--

A large crowd gathered to hear the president of the court read the decision, which was based on depositions presented by the former utilities operator's counsel.

The charges on which he is wanted in Chicago are embezzlement and grand larceny, based on transactions in connection with the collapse of his utilities interests.

The court was informed that checks for $86,000 and $104,000 were approved by Mr. Insull for payment to the brokers of Martin Insull, his brother. The prosecution contended that these sums, taken from the accounts of Insull companies, constituted embezzlement.

In refusing extradition the court took consideration of evidence that the transfer of the money was a loan the purpose of which was to save the price of stock in which the companies were greatly interested.

The ruling held that Mr. Insull had no fraudulent intention that was committed to no offense and that, therefore, he petition for extradition should be rejected and the arrest warrant annulled.

Spectators in the courtroom were greatly moved and they congratulated the former Chicagoan. There was applause and shouts of "hurrah for Greer Justice."

COURT RECORD

Mrs. Mildred Lafferty has filed suit against the Home Indemnity company to set aside an award made to her late husband. She alleges that he was not in a condition to reach a settlement with the company, following the Wilcox refinery fire in which he was critically burned.

Moore Insulted Georgia, Claims Representative

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—Representative Parker (D., Ga.), said in the house today that Governor Moore of New Jersey by refusing extradition of Robert Elliott Burns, chain gang fugitive, "has offered a judicial insult" to the state of Georgia.

"In my opinion," Parker said, "this judicial insult was an unprecedented and unwarranted affront to the sovereignty of a great state that will next year celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of its birth. The state of Georgia has been slandered by Governor Moore of New Jersey."

Parker said he noted "with profound regret" that a woman from New Jersey holding a position of "trust and honor at the hands of the people" of her state also had asked Governor Moore "to offer this insult to Georgia." Mrs. Mary T. Norton, member of the house from New Jersey, has interceded in Burns' behalf.

Norris Denies He Led Battle Against Cannon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Senator Norris (R., Neb.), sought in the senate today to correct what he termed inaccuracies in a newspaper article by William Tyler Page, former house clerk, describing the flight of 25 years ago to curtail "Uncle Joe" Cannon's power in that body.

Quoting from the article, Senator Norris, who as a member of the house offered the resolution which removed Speaker Cannon from the all-powerful rules committee, denied that he was "selected" to lead the anti-Bossism crusade or that Champ Clark, Oscar W. Underwood or Albert S. Burleson had anything to do with the resolution.

"Only the author knew of the resolution," Norris said, adding it was "absolutely without any foundation that I was selected to open the campaign."

Man Confesses To Slaying Wife And Kills Self

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 27 (AP)—A confession that he poisoned his wife to be free to live with another woman was written by Sidney J. Hawkes, 38, an unemployed salesman who committed suicide yesterday.

In the 15-page note, Hawkes declared the other woman, identified only as Helen, helped him plan the slaying, then deserted him when his money was exhausted. He told of spending $1,500, available from his wife's insurance policy, on Helen and her family.

Hawkes expressed regret at having "killed the life of a decent woman as God ever let live," the mother of his three children.

Mrs. Hawkes died July 26, 1931, the death being attributed by a physician to acute dilation of the heart. Hawkes' note revealed that the two plotters substituted poison for medicine in capsules Mrs. Hawkes was taking.

Hawkes ended his life with poison.

Norris in Favor Of Beer Measure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—A prohibitionist who favors legalization of beer "has" the eighth largest number of probable votes will have as much to say as anyone else in congress about what is done this session to change the dry laws.

He is George W. Norris, gray-haired Nebraska republican and chairman of the senate judiciary committee where both the beer and repeal issues are now centered.

Though for many years he was one of the strongest supporters of the dry laws, he now favors legalization of beer because he believes enforcement has been weakened and that unless the Volstead act is modified the prohibition amendment itself will be repealed.

"I'm approaching the problem from who I believe is the right standpoint," Norris said in explaining his position. "I'm a prohibitionist. But the eighth amendment has not been satisfactory and we must either modify the Volstead act or repeal it."

"I'd like to give modification a trial before we repeal the amendment."

The house proposal to legalize 3.2 per cent beer by weight was characterized by him as "a fair compromise."

Mrs. B. O. Kirby of Kingsmill suffered a fractured hip when she fell yesterday near her home. She was taken to Worley hospital for an x-ray in a G. C. Malone ambulance but later returned to her home.

TAX--

Asked about Governor Roosevelt's position on the new tax, Garner said he knew nothing about the president-elect's stand on the budget "except that he said in his campaign speeches he wanted a balanced budget."

Meanest Thief Steals Tree at Tom Clayton's

Tom Clayton, local florist, is looking for the meanest thief in the country. The low-down human cut down an arbor vitae tree that Mr. Clayton has been nursing and caring for during the last 12 years.

The tree is practically unknown in this part of the country, but Mr. Clayton experimented and made it grow.

The tree was cut off near the ground and probably adorned some home as a Christmas tree. Mr. Clayton says that he would have gladly given anyone a tree for nothing if they could not have bought one, rather than have his pet tree cut down by a vandal. Mr. Clayton missed the tree about 10 o'clock Saturday night. It was a rare specimen of evergreen tree.

TIRE REPORTED STOLEN

W. E. Weiple, 400 North Somerville street, reported the loss of a spare tire to city officers yesterday morning. The tire and rim were taken from the car while it was parked in front of the North Somerville residence some time Saturday night.

The theft was the only one reported to officers over the weekend, which was said to be one of the quietest Christmases in the history of the city. Many were "happy," but were sent home upon orders of Chief Jno. V. Andrews.

Passed and approved this 26th day of December, 1932. W. A. BRATTON, Mayor.

Attest: J. H. Blythe, City Secretary.

PLAY--

(Continued from Page 1) accepted by the ticket-taker. At she time nears for production of the play, enthusiasm for the comedy continues to grow. Little Theater directors, who usually withhold praise, were confident after attending a rehearsal that the play is "going over."

"It's going to be the best play the Little Theater ever produced," was the prediction of one director.

Mrs. T. E. Morton, the director of the play, has probably the best cast ever selected here. The seven roles are ideally cast. Every player has had valuable and intelligent experience.

The persons in the play include Mrs. Julia Barrett, Gilmre Nunn, Miss Florida Freeman, Howard Nellis, James Todd, Jr., Miss Louise Barton and Miss Peggy Arnold.

A week ago, Mrs. Morton declared she was ready to produce the play and the comedy is expected to be given without the extra assurance of a prompter.
