Senators Postpone Action On Beer Bill Until Next Tuesday

TWINKLES We hear that those who did not make a run on "Tums" at the drug stores Saturday last created a big demand for aspirins.

And that the grade of Christmas spirits available was rather poor. Sight of a few home-coming students wobbling about leads the West Foster group to remark that he thought that habit was a privilege of the old grads.

Perry, the office mouse, was visiting friends at the LaNora yesterday when he was astonished to see the Pampan's name in that scandalous comedy. And Mrs. Standan is very suspicious of the compromising photo which the film revealed. We'll say just this: George Limerick had better be hiring his lawyer.

We understand that many stylish plump ladies of Pampa forgot to diet during the week-end but after confirming their worst fears on the scales haven't eaten much since. Certain plump gentlemen have adopted somewhat less strenuous tactics.

Alas, is the last vestige of boom-day hurdle and bustle to be junked? We refer to the stop-and-go signal, which we feel like swearing at every day, but whose passing arouses a feeling of regret.

Old friends also include inanimate things. We're even glad to be back on duty after taking Monday off. Not having a newspaper Monday, we felt very much "in the dark." We'd not like to continue with that feeling of helplessness caused by not knowing what the whole world is doing.

The year 1932 draws to a close. There is a feeling of relief that a new year, with higher hopes, can soon be begun. This country has seen worse years, but perhaps not since colonial days. Certainly no year within the memory of most people could compare with the last one in diffusion of economic stress. At the same time, never had the war (and the agencies) and the government been able to do as much to relieve distress.

The year brought big news. For sheer popular appeal, and for the volume of words written about it, the Lindbergh kidnapping case was the No. 1 story of 1932. All the elements of tragedy and not too long sustained suspense was in that story. The while world remembers that ladder left leaning against the house, that empty crib, that death expression that lingered for months on the face of the Colonel.

Fundamentally, the "depression" developed the big news of the year. And the national election, because of its alleged connection with the depression, was one of the biggest news stories possible. There was, however, too much certainty of the result to give it "hot news" value.

We liked the war in China from a news standpoint. It was like a huge fireworks display, with modern implements of warfare turned loose on a stubborn, primitive foe. It was murder, but there were good headlines and pictures in it while it lasted. The newspaper man has the paradoxical mind which "craves" yet abhors tragedies of this type.

Other news events seemed big at the time but since have paled in significance. There was the bone march on Washington and the astounding use of the military

NORRIS STATES OPPOSITION TO LONG HEARINGS

HOUSE SHOWS REFUSAL TO SAVE BEYOND SUGGESTIONS

AGRICULTURE UP NEXT

REJECT PROPOSALS TO TRIM APPROPRIATION MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (P)—Lack of a quorum delayed action by the senate judiciary committee today on the house 3.2 per cent beer bill, but Chairman Norris called another meeting for next Monday.

It was the second unsuccessful effort this week to obtain a quorum of the committee to begin work on the Collier bill passed last week by the House.

Senator Norris again indicated he was opposed to holding hearings on the beer measure, saying there were so many requests to be heard that "if we hold hearings the bill will be here until March 4."

"Well, if President Hoover is going to veto this bill anyway, why not just report it to the Senate and get it over with," Blaine suggested.

"When we get enough committee members here to vote it out, out it goes," Norris replied.

A definite refusal to economize beyond the recommendations of the appropriations committee showed itself in the House today as it pushed on the early passage of the big agriculture supply bill.

On two separate occasions the membership rejected proposals to trim some hundred of thousands off the $110,000,000 appropriation measure. One proposed reduction was in the amount for printing agricultural publications, the other $1,000,000 in the $4,381,000 total of the federal allotment for agriculture-aid to states and territories.

Many Packages Not Called For At Post Office

The local postoffice is "back to normal" again after the Christmas rush. Stamps and parcels are again being handled at the last window and other windows are handling mail as before Christmas when changes were made to speed service.

There are still many Christmas packages in the office that have not been called for. Postmaster D. E. Cecil urges citizens to get their mail at the earliest possible time. Business during this Christmas season was equal or greater than last year, office employees believe. A complete check has not been made.

The department desires to thank Pampan for their care in wrapping and addressing parcels and cards and for the early mailing.

Blanscets Moving From Courthouse

The Blanscets were moving today. Sheriff and Mrs. Blanscet have for two years occupied a suite of rooms in the courthouse. Since the sheriff's term expires Saturday, or rather when his successor takes the oath of office, the incumbents will move to their ranch home 6 miles southwest of Pampa.

For several days Mrs. Blanscet has been supervising remodeling of her new home, and much painting and arranging.

I HEARD-- J. B. Massa, home from South Texas where he spent Christmas, declaring that he was in every mud hole in South Texas. It rained and then rained some more down in that country, J. B. declared.

That TECHNOCRACY Question

No. 1—Machines and Jobs

(Editor's Note: Predictions by Technocracy of a possible collapse of the economic system have startled the nation and brought a farflung controversy. This is the first of a series of six daily articles giving a new insight into Technocracy, and presenting other statistics pertaining to the displacement of men by machines, energy consumption, debts and other points involved.)

By J. R. BRACKETT (Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (P)—Last August a man named Howard Scott spoke before the American Statistical association. He stood informally at a table, one hand in his pocket, the other resting on the table top, so that his arm became a prop for his tall body.

Quite casually, with many wry smiles, he said this social structure was being seriously, perhaps devastatingly, imperiled by the uncontrolled advance of the machine. It was a small group of statisticians who heard his talk. They were interested, probably not unduly excited.

Suddenly, four months later, the whole country was talking about Howard Scott and some strange thing called Technocracy, for which he spoke. Headlines flashed: "Machines peril society," "15,000,000 can do nation's work," and "price system seen falling."

Many already had believed these things were true, and thought that here perhaps were the facts in plain English. Many believed they were not the facts. Result: a far-flung controversy.

Scott said the data on which he based his predictions would be published as soon as possible, perhaps early next year. He said a group of engineers at Columbia university, of which he was director, for ten years have been quietly gathering a huge mass of figures and charts, data that indicated the machine was throwing men out of work faster than they could be employed.

Meantime, other people told of data indicating exactly the reverse. They asked: Does not society already have the machine under control? Is the problem of the men replaced by machines a worry of fundamental importance? Have not the machines really increased men's opportunity for getting work, rather than de-

Scabbard, Watch And Card Bring Joy To Pampan

Christmas for Chief of Police John V. Andrews brought a new ornately embossed belt and scabbard from "the boys" of the department. It is bright and expensive-looking, and so new it makes a sound like a new shoe.

Another Pampan who was displaying a present was J. M. Dodson, who was given a fine gold watch by the wife of an uncle who died three years ago. On June 11, 1875, another relative received the watch from an eastern college for having made the highest scholastic record.

Mrs. Lon L. Blanscet was displaying this morning a Christmas card received from London, England. It was from Emma Haynie, an Osage Indian girl whose home is in Tucson, Arizona. The Blanscets met the Indian girls and her family in the Kiabab mountains of Arizona three years ago while hunting. The two groups matched hunting prowess and became warm friends.

It was on this same trip that Sheriff Blanscet suffered the accident which resulted in loss of an arm. Each Christmas, Mrs. Blanscet has received a card from the Indian girl, who travels much and is wealthy.

WOODROW WILSON RANKED WITH NATION'S GREAT ON BIRTHDAY PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28 (P)—Woodrow Wilson will be the central figure in "the most epochal era in modern history," Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, told the women's democratic club of Philadelphia today in a speech commemorating the 76th anniversary of the birth of the war president.

PAMPAN TELLS OF PANHANDLE OIL CONDITION

HAMILTON SAYS TEXAS COMPANY AMOUNT NOT TAKEN

TESTIMONY IS DENIED

COURTS CRITICIZED BY STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION

AUSTIN, Dec. 28 (P)—Operators in the East Texas oil field today undertook a searching inquiry into conditions of other Texas producing areas in an effort to show their pool was not permitted to contribute its fair share of oil in a hearing before the Texas Railroad Commission.

Only the situation in the Panhandle field had been considered early this afternoon, indicating the hearing would consume several days' time. Terrell read a statement, signed by all three commissioners, stating among other things, that while "the law expressly gives the commission the right to consider the price of crude and refined products, we doubt the power of the legislature to do so and we, therefore, have decided not to permit any testimony bearing on the question of price."

Critics Courts. The statement said it could know "of no calamity that could befall our state more disastrously than the failure by our courts to enforce our orders of prorator and to destroy them by the route of injunction."

Long Illness Is Fatal To Pampan

H. G. Bryan, 78, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bossey at 1 o'clock this morning after an illness which lasted more than seven months.

Mr. Bryan had been in a critical condition for the last month. He had been a resident of Pampa for the last three years, being connected with Mr. Bossey in the cafe business at 508 South Cuyler street. He had lived with Mr. and Mrs. Bossey for 10 years.

Funeral arrangements will be made following the arrival of a niece, Mrs. Mary Garlick of Pecos, this afternoon. Two sisters, one more than 90 years old and the other more than 80 years old, reside in Virginia but they will be unable to be here. The body is at Stephenson Mortuary.

Mr. Bryan was devout Baptist. His last membership was in Lubbock where he resided before moving to Pampa.

Committee Heads For B. C. D. Named

Committee appointments for 1933 have been made by Travis Lively, president of the Board of City Development for the year.

He also has named E. G. Allen as the fifth member of the executive committee. Other members of this committee are the officers of the organization.

The committee appointments of chairman: Transportation, Tom E. Rose; highways, I. E. Duncan; agriculture, G. C. Stark; industries, H. D. Keys; oil and gas, F. D. Keim; public utility, Paul Hill; civic, F. M. Foster; entertainment, F. M. Culbertson; activities, J. E. Cunningham.

Rotarians Have Varied Views on Economic Future That business conditions in 1933 will improve and that some radical changes must be made to save the country from complete ruin were divergent opinions expressed in talks before the Rotary club today.

SCOUTS GIVEN HIGHER RANK

Boys From Sections Near Pampa Attend Court of Honor Here.

Many Scouts of Pampa and nearby communities were advanced in rank last night at a court of honor in which parents praised the movement.

The Rev. James Todd Jr., who presided, contrasted the progress of the boys with the plight of other boys he had seen sentenced in the local juvenile court. He called attention to the fact that the ranks and merit badges awarded represented ability to render public service. The Scout movement, he said, based its program on building of good citizenship.

The Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the Adobe Walls council, said that the movement had won the acclaim of not only this nation but others. He said in 1931 Roumania issued a set of stamps known as the Boy Scout series. This includes five values, showing Scouts in camp, swearing in a tenderfoot, first aid, Prince Nicholas as Chief Scout, and King Carol in Scout uniform. In 1929, Russia honored her Boy Pioneers with a stamp picturing a bugler sounding the assembly call.

Many mothers of the boys told of how they valued Scouting and had noted its beneficial effects.

Liquor Must Be Destroyed, Says District Judge

Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday ordered the destruction of the liquors seized by sheriff's and constable's departments in recent months. This is customary at irregular intervals and especially before each change of administration.

About 500 bottles of beer stored in the basement will require a large truck for hauling. In the office vault are many kinds of liquors—whisky, wine, alcohol, gin, champagne—totaling about 150 gallons.

The grand pour-out and break-up will take place probably on Friday.

PIRATE RAID FATAL

HOLLIS, Okla., Dec. 28 (P)—Wounded by a shot from an automatic pistol in the hands of a playmate during a "pirate raid," John Herrington, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Herrington, residing near Hollis, died in a hospital here today.

Believing the pistol empty, the playmate, Thomas Benton Daniels, held the weapon against John's stomach.

TEXOMA WINS SECOND INJUNCTION IN U. S. COURT

COMMISSION CENSURED

BODY'S ACTION CALLED 'CONFESSION' OF PROPERTY

AUSTIN, Dec. 28 (P)—A three-judge United States district court has granted an injunction restraining the Texas Railroad Commission from enforcing an order closing a portion of the West Panhandle gas field until certain operators there could obtain a market outlet for their product.

Plaintiffs in the case are the Texoma Natural Gas company and the Cities Service Gas company. The order was signed by Joseph C. Hutcheson, Jr., United States district judge, and Duval West and Robert J. McMillan, United States district judges. It was filed with the clerk of the United States district court at Austin.

The plaintiffs are two pipe line companies on whose petition this same court last June restrained the railroad commission from requiring them to share their market with pipe line companies were taking gas from wells owned by them and refusing to purchase from independent wellhead markets outlets.

"It is alleged that the order was made for the purpose of compelling plaintiffs, by indirection to do what the court had enjoined the defendants from directly compelling them to do, share their markets with the owners of wells having none," the court said in its opinion.

The court noted that the commission had acted "without a statute authorizing, indeed, in the face of

TECHNOCRACY ON THE FARM
Borrowing an idea or two from the Technocrats, the farmer may soon turn to mechanized production of an increased scale in an effort to reduce labor costs and compete under new economic conditions.

New developments in this line that have just been announced by manufacturers include:
A sugar beet toppler that plows the beets out of the ground, grabs the entire beet plant and carries it to the chopping knives. It is claimed for this device that it will cut labor costs 75 per cent and obviate the necessity for transient labor.

It's no wonder we're all upset. Technocracy kicks our economic theories in the discard. France defaults, and now along comes Charles G. Dawes smoking a curved stem pipe.

TECHNOCRACY-

Technocracy said maximum industrial employment was reached in 1919, was lower in 1929 despite much greater industrial production. Technocracy's critics said, "What if? Wasn't 1919 a postwar year? Employment was swelled by war needs. It was unnatural."

Statistics of the United States Bureau of the Census, as compiled by John H. Van Deventer, director of United Business Publications, for manufacturing industries showed other things. Why not, suggested Van Deventer, take the figure for 1914, which showed 80.4 workers per thousand, against 1929's figure of 83.9 per thousand in manufacturing industries, instead of 1919's excessive 99.5 per thousand.
Others asked: Should these variations be regarded as of great significance? In manufacturing, mining, and mechanical pursuits, the proportion of the total population therein engaged varied in this way, being 25.6 per cent in 1880; 29.1 per cent in 1900; 33 per cent in 1920, and 30.9 per cent in 1930.
Others asked, why not consider total employment, not just manufacturing employment?
Considering all gainfully employed in all pursuits, from soda clerks to bank presidents, it has been calculated by a prominent economist in a paper soon to be published that the proportion of the population ten years of age and older in gainful occupations has varied only 6 or 7 per cent in the 50-year period 1880 to 1930. The economist doubts that this figure indicates any serious problem.

PAMPA TOPIC OF OUR CITY BY OEL

Much was made of two other affairs of less moment and considerable disgust. One was the ending of the rule of Jimmie Walker, Broadway playboy and beer parader. New York got a taste of economy and efficiency, and liked it. Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions died under circumstances which led to charges against his torch-singer wife. She later was cleared, to wait the birth of a child and presumed heir to the millions.

Sports fans thought the Olympics provided one of the year's biggest news sources. Texans were proud of Babe Didrikson, the one-woman track team. Texas, too, fostered their most public news interest in the primaries and the election of Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson. Pampanians shared the oil industry's interest in proration, martial law in East Texas, and special legislative sessions to curb unneeded production. . . . Yet when all is considered, there was one great story—a serial with a million chapters—the struggle against adverse economic forces.
For breaking down coal in mines there has been invented a hydraulic device operated by a hand pump that can exert a pressure of 7000 pounds to the square inch, many times the required amount.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Football, says Gilmour Doble, "seems to have outgrown the capacity of the boys to keep pace with it."

Why do we need the lateral pass, the shift, the revolving huddle, spread formations and half-spread formations? They have become largely obsolete anyway by non-usage.

The question of what Russia has achieved under the first five-year plan is so complicated that a fair determination is practically impossible.

Some increases in heavy industrial production are planned for 1933 under the program announced for the Russian republic.

While remarkable achievements have been claimed in various programs under the concluding five-year plan, it has been estimated that food production fell off to such an extent that 15,000,000 are receiving meals by what is known as the "mass feeding" system.

'Cowboy' Lauder Springs Scotch Jokes on Crowd

AMARILLO, Dec. 28. (AP)—A cowboy in kilts was the newest role of Sir Harry Lauder, venerable Scot comedian, when he left Amarillo today wearing a cowboy hat.

The transformation took place during his appearance here last night, when Robert Pryde, president of the Amarillo Scottish society, presented Sir Harry with the hat. "The headgear of a race of strong men comparable to the Scot Highlanders," Lauder responded with a Will Rogers act that most of the audience believed should be included in his regular repertoire.

Pampa Testifies. A vigorous inquiry into conditions in all of the fields was indicated by operators in East Texas in their questioning of W. B. Hamilton of Pampa, deputy supervisor for the commission in the Panhandle field, the first area called for hearing.

The East Texans strenuously objected to the introduction at the current hearing of testimony on the Panhandle field taken at a hearing last month. The commission ruled that it would be considered.

Hamilton testified that the potential of the Panhandle field was 146,244 barrels daily and its available was 43,500 of which 26,377 barrels was produced from marginal wells.

Companies Named. He named the Texas company as one of these and Jacob Wolters, attorney for the company, objected, stating his company was taking two thousand barrels more daily than it had nominated.

Texas University Students' Ire Aroused Over Fee Hike Proposal

By CHARLES E. SIMONS. AUSTIN, Dec. 28. (AP)—Action of the regents of the University of Texas is discontinuing the practice of remitting entrance fees to students of exceptional ability together with a proposal to increase the fees, has aroused the ire of the editors of the college daily.

Heretofore it has been the practice to exempt students who had high standing as valedictorians and salutatorians in high school, and for attaining other honors and distinctions. Under the new ruling of the regents exemptions will be granted only to those who are entitled to them as a matter of law that is, veterans of the Spanish-American and world wars.

Similar action has been, or will be taken by other state supported institutions of higher learning, the step having been favored at a meeting of presidents of the senior colleges.

A proposed increase in the tuition fees for out-of-state students also was the subject of unfavorable editorial comment. The college daily hailed the 500 students who attended the university from other states and foreign countries as the best advertising the university could obtain.

It was argued that increasing the fees would not reduce the number of students enrolled sufficiently to permit a decrease in the budget.

to be written about it. "One of the heroes is Gilmore Nunn. He is in love with Diana, Mrs. Barrett, but her fibs are eternally putting him off the track.

The plot is a series of astounding whoop-ers followed by amusing reconciliations and more lies. For as soon as Diana gets herself extricated from one mess, she becomes involved in a worse one.

Mr. Nunn's exasperation with Diana is to be one of the most human elements in the play. The audience will certainly share his temporary desires to wring Diana's shapely neck.

Other five persons in the play are Miss Florida Freeman as Sidney Wynn, Miss Louise Barton as the complacent aunt, Miss Anne Wynn, Howard Nellis as Count Scipio Varelle, Peggy Arnold as Kizzy, and James Todd, Jr., as Collin. The latter two are negro dialect.

Prices of admission will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Tickets are on sale at drug stores and the LaNora.

Dr. Julius Klein,

Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Commerce, referring to electricity in the home, recently said, in a radio talk:

"Here is a servant with a giant's strength, an almost incredible facility in action—a servant, moreover, who is never saucy or sullen, breaks no dishes and mars no furniture, does not tell the family secrets to the neighbors, is never in the way, demands no Thursday afternoon off, and never develops such complaints as 'housemaid's knee.'"

The contribution of electric service to American home life can be summed up in a single phrase; a constant and rapid improvement in standards of living. It has turned out to be the true Philosopher's Stone, as well as the mythical "Elixir of Life" for which the alchemists of the Middle Ages sought so conscientiously.

There are few homes which cannot afford this servant and thus give the woman of modest income the same opportunity for self-development and for the care of her children as her wealthier sister enjoys.
