AMARILLO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Texas school teachers, attending the annual convention in Amarillo, today divided themselves into more than 40 sectional groups to study problems closer related to the individual teacher.

The teachers, in a spirited session last night, heard their school system both criticized and praised. In the same day they were warned by two nationally known educators against economy, and cautioned by other speakers, one a member of the state board of education and the other a legislator, that they must curtail their demands in the light of economy.

James O. Guleke, member of the state board of education, surveyed the cost of the Texas educational system, and then warned the 2,000 teachers attending the session that the state was spending too much on its schools in ratio to its taxable wealth.

"Texas must seriously curtail its demands, especially regarding the building program of the present decade," Guleke said. "The chamber of commerce virus should not be injected into the school program. The needs of the scholastic population should be solely considered."

Interest Is Burden "The taxable valuations are now carrying a very heavy burden of interest and sinking fund requirements by virtue of our past expenditures. We may well pause and consider our present conditions, and plan more conservatively for our future requirements."

"No private enterprise would maintain a plant investment of more than $200,000,000 and leave it idle for 25 to 40 per cent of the time. If quarterly terms could be worked out to utilize this plant investment, it would mean a vast economy."

Duplication of effort among several institutions should be studied and eliminated. Sectional rivalry and the desire for territorial development have been permitted to overshadow actual needs."

Driving Today Hazardous

Frosted Windshields Slowing Traffic—Most of Nation Beset by Cold Wave.

Cold, foggy weather continued to make traffic hazardous in the Pampa territory today. And there were no signs of immediate relief Saturday due to be partly cloudy.

Windshields quickly frosted over this morning, delaying considerable travel in all directions. Buses, however, used devices to keep the glass clear and were nearly on schedule.

Telephone linemen were apprehensive as the wires began to get heavy with ice. However, patrolmen ranged up and down the lines in cars and were ready to patch any break immediately. Most of the breaks occasioned by the recent sleet storm have been repaired by the several hundred men assigned to this territory for the emergency.

A white Thanksgiving left the ground also snow-covered today with no sign of melting.

HOUSTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Mist accumulating on windshields was blamed by automobile drivers today for accidents in which six persons, five of them pedestrians, were injured.

The most seriously were E. D. Adams, 50, Houston, who suffered a fractured skull when he was hit by a car, and Mrs. Catherine Taylor, 38, living near Little Fork. Physicians said her skull may be fractured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—The weather man made up for his pre-Thanksgiving lenience today by doling out snow, sleet or rain to much of the territory east of the Mississippi.

PASCO, Wash., Nov. 27. (AP)—A night mail plane from Portland, flown by Pilot E. C. Bigelow, crashed in a fog late last night and Bigelow was killed. The plane did not burn.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Weather conditions throughout the nation are unsettled following Thanksgiving day storms that added deaths and property damage to the toll of early winter in the west.

A light snow fell in Central Ohio last night. Snow or rain were in prospect for much of the region east of the Mississippi river. A zone of cold stretched from Washington and Oregon toward the great lakes region, moderating influences were noted generally throughout the plains states.

A party of five motorists drowned in a rain swollen creek near Tyler, Texas, yesterday. At least nine Navajo Indian ponies and hunters have frozen to death on the blizzard-struck mesas of New Mexico. A sheepherder perished near Glenrock, Wyo.

Beden Smith, 7, broken leg and internal injuries. Mrs. Bessie Smith, 30, head and internal injuries. Mrs. Denton Black, 30, head injuries. Dorothy Black, 8, cuts and bruises. Warren Black, 5, cuts and bruises. Mrs. J. F. Lee, 40, broken leg and head injuries. All were residents of Stamford, Texas. They were returning home from a holiday visit to Dallas. The injured were taken to hospitals for treatment.

SANTA CLAUS TUNING UP FOR FLIGHT TO SEATTLE

Hazardous Journey Has Been Troublesome to Would-Be Pacific Fliers.

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 27. (AP)—Santa Claus' own plane, named Spirit of Christmas, was being tuned up this morning for his take-off this afternoon for Seattle. He is on his way to Pampa, Texas, where he will appear in person on Dec. 4.

There was no doubt that Santa himself had the spirit of Christmas when he romped with local children last night and distributed souvenirs. But early today Santa turned his thoughts to Pampa and gave his attention to his plane. Santa is so proud that he can barely see himself inside it. But once inside he can make it "cut up like a frisky pony."

Santa made a trial flight about at 9 o'clock this morning. Everything went well except that some of the toys in the pack fell out, much to the amusement and joy of the youngsters below. But the old fellow was afraid that some heavy gift might hit the tale of the plane and damage it, so he ordered the pack closed at the top.

The trip to Seattle is a long one, and one that many times has resulted in trouble for would-be Pacific fliers. Santa has been over it by plane before, so only a mishap

Chicago Crime Enemy in Danger

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission and a member of President Herbert Hoover's crime investigation commission, reported a death threat as a "matter of routine" to the police last night.

"I heard three sharp raps at the door," he said in explaining how the intruder made his presence known at Loesch's suite in the Drake hotel. "When I opened it, no body was there, but a note on the floor."

He displayed a paper on which was written: "You had better watch your step. Make one false move and you will be dead—The Black Spot."

A crudely drawn skull and crossbones completed the note.

"I have reported the incident as a matter of routine," he told investigating officers. "I have no further information."

UP FROM OBSCURITY

One of our favorite traditions is the belief that only in the United States can the son of poor parents rise to the highest positions in the land. The "log cabin to the White House" story has convinced us that this is true. Only America holds opportunity for the underdog.

To a certain extent this is true. But there are more exceptions than we generally suppose; and a recent dispatch from Paris by an American newspaperman contains some information that is apt to be surprising.

Europe, this writer points out, is today very largely ruled by men who came from the lower strata of the population.

In England, of course, there is Ramsay MacDonald, brought up in the bleak poverty of a Scottish village, and now prime minister of the empire. Paralleling his case is that of another famous English prime minister, Lloyd George, who was a penniless orphan and who was reared by a shoemaker.

In France, Premier Laval was the son of a butcher. His family was so poor that he had a hard time getting a decent education. Foreign Minister Briand, similarly, was the son of exceedingly poor parents. Former Premier Herriot is another who came from a poor family.

Chancellor Heinrich Brüning of Germany did not come from a poverty-stricken family, but his people belonged to the lower middle class. In Czechoslovakia Thomas Masaryk is president, the son of a blacksmith; and another blacksmith's son who rose to power is none other than Benito Mussolini himself. Russia, of course, is ruled by men who came up from the depths, and has been ever since the revolution.

This list is rather impressive. To be sure, it is probably perfectly true that opportunity is still greater on this side of the Atlantic than in Europe. The son of poor parents has more chances. But it is quite obvious that the avenues to fame and riches are by no means closed to him on the other side of the ocean. Europe's so-called ruling class is by no means the closed corporation we generally suppose.

Hoover's brother-in-law was arrested with 19 pints. He went the 18th amendment one better.

MARY HARKNESS undertakes to trap THE FLY, who she believes is the murderer of her father. She is aided by BOWEN of the star, MARY'S NANCE, DIRK RUY-THOR, and his family atop the official investigation, objecting to the notoriety. They believe Eddie guilty.

BOWEN JUPITER, absent many years, returns from Europe with a woman friend. His father orders him out and makes Mary his heir. Bruce awakens to find Mary and Dirke quarrel because Dirke is jealous of Bowen and refuses to believe in the existence of THE FLY. Dirke goes about again with his former sweetheart, CORA ELLIA TAYLOR, who is trying to win him back.

MARY goes to sail with MR. JUPITER to Miami on his yacht the "Lipsy," believing "THE FLY" can't bear to see his horse, the favorite, win.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVII

MARY was convinced beyond any doubt that the Count Enrique De Loma whom Ethel was infatuated with was THE FLY. And Cora Tabor had barely missed having him in her house as a week-end guest!

It was frightful, and it was laughable. But most of all it opened up a new view of THE FLY and his methods. So that was that—tricking silly society girls with the old, old time racket! Whether his name was really De Loma did not matter; probably it was an alias. If so, it was a new one, for Bowen had searched police files for a record of a man by that name and found nothing. Also—and this gave her renewed heart for the chase—it was probably the name he would continue to use.

She dared not tell Dirke what she was thinking. He would think her utterly mad, looking for THE FLY and finding him in every stranger who crossed her path. But there were some questions she simply had to ask.

"Did you see him at all—De Loma?"

"No."

"He didn't give Ethel his picture or anything?"

"No." Then he added pettishly, "What do you care, anyhow? Not going to fall for him, too, are you?"

She looked reproful at him. But the thoughtful pucker did not leave her brow.

"When did he call up and tell her he wasn't coming?"

"I don't think he did," Dirke answered after a moment's consideration. "I think she said he failed to show up and when she called his usual hang-out they told her about his father's thing and his having to go home to look after the estate."

He looked at her. "You think he just ran out on her? Maybe he did. But Lord, I'd go to South America myself to get away from that young catamount. No matter how many millions her dad's got."

"Did De Loma know that? About the millions, I mean?"

"Probably. I said he wasn't out to marry money." Dirke roused himself suddenly, crushed out his cigar and put his arms around her. "But why are we talking about them, sweetheart?" he said gently. "Why are we talking at all?"

Why, indeed, Mary thought happily after several blissful, speechless minutes. This was what she had been longing for, for days. How had she ever lived through them alone? She sighed deeply. Well, that was all over now—Then she remembered. Tomorrow she was going away! Her heart cried out against separation from Dirke again.

She clutched him tightly. "Come along with us," she begged. "I can't bear to go unless you do!"

Dirke stroked her hair gently. "You really want me?"

Her eyes answered him. "Better still," he suggested, "don't go. Stay here."

"Everything's ready. I've got to go. Besides, I've just learned some things that may be of great value. There's too much at stake now. Dirke," she turned toward him suddenly, an agony of pleading in her face. "Dirke, don't you believe in what I'm trying to do at all?"

IT was very still in the room, which was lighted only by dim wall brackets and the flicker of a small wood-fire.

"I believe in you," Dirke said, presently. Mary's searching eyes saw his face contorted with the effort to speak fairly and plainly.

"That is, when I'm with you. When I'm away from you, I get—wild ideas. Other people say things, and I—But I do. Because it's you. His hand gripped hers until her benumbed fingers ached with the pain.

"You mean so much to me that the least breath—the least suspicion—" He stopped and held his lower lip with his teeth like a man in physical pain.

Mary was appalled. "What do they say?" she whispered.

"Oh, nothing that's true—at least, if it is I don't believe you realize it. I think you're perfectly innocent about it. That the Jupiter money has turned your head—that you're being nice to the old man just for what you can get out of him. God, if they knew about that will what a jabber there'd be! And of course that newspaper story about you last week was just about the last straw—coming right out with the intimidation that you'd had the rotten back-taste to choose that horrible neck-acc—"

Mary was silent, stunned.

"There's nothing I can say," she faltered, as Dirke seemed to be waiting for some comment.

"My idea was," he went on, "for you to give out a statement—just a few lines, no more—declaring it in a digified way. It's too late to stop a lot of fools from gapping over it, but it's the best you can do—now the harm's done. You'd have to say, of course, what it was you did choose—a riaz or a pin or whatever it was, just for the sake of sentiment. It would help to quash that gold-digging notion about you that everybody seems to have—"

Mary said "I couldn't do that, Dirke. I did choose the necktie."

Dirke said "Oh, Mary." It was almost a groan.

"I was bad taste but I need it. I have to have it. When THE FLY'S been caught with it, it can go to the bottom of the sea for all I care. Why you make so much of it, though, is beyond me . . ."

"You're going to wear it, in public, where people can see?" He said it as if he were asking whether she meant to go out naked. "Later, perhaps—but not now, surely."

"Now, if necessary. Whenever I must." She felt as if she must burst into uncontrollable laughter. "Dirke," she said, "this is the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of! It's such a little thing to cause such a big rumpus. And what's wrong with the Jupiter money? Don't you want me to have it?"

HE was almost insane with jealous anger she saw when he turned his distorted face toward her. "I dare say it's small of me," he said sarcastically, "but I don't! How do I know what that old fool thinks he's buying when he turns his entire fortune over to you? How do I know his son isn't right when he tells Masterston, the critic, that he's too busy to have an exhibit now—he's got to run his father's mistress? How do I know the old reprobate didn't shoot his own wife for get rid of her? He stopped the police investigation, didn't he? And why did he do that? Because it threatened you, or himself? I don't know. I wish to God I did!"

"That wild kid brother of yours and his threats, when Jupiter refused him money make a handy peg to hang the murder on. Maybe he really did it. Maybe he only knew who did it! Eddie was killed purposely, perhaps, by someone who wanted to shut him up. You want me to think you're responsible for it, for the first murder and Eddie's, too. And you wonder why I don't fall in with your fantastic tale! A Lorimor car killed Eddie; a Lorimor car carried the murderer to and away from the house, after Mrs. Jupiter was killed. Whose Lorimor car? Why not Jupiter's?"

"Jupiter's?" Mary asked, stupidly.

"His, yes! You didn't know he owned a Lorimor car, did you? Well, he does."

"Oh, Dirke," Mary wrung her hands, "how can you say such things of a sweet old man like that! You don't know him! Why, he's never said or done a single thing—"

"I don't know him," Dirke grunted.

FEMININE FANCIES

Our prediction, which we offered with reluctance yesterday, came to pass and the Sandies swamped the Westerners.

Today, with trembling knees, we venture another prediction—that Pampa will beat the Lubbock gridsters by a small margin on their own field next Monday.

Football games in this district, like the weather, seem to be going exactly opposite to all expectations. Pampa was afraid of Amarillo, and many thought the "city of roses" could not be beat. Yet to beat Amarillo seemed almost as important as winning the district championship—and, with real determination and plays that, in some instances, would have done credit to a college team, the boys reached their goal.

We don't know of any other district which has had so much trouble selecting a winner as ours. Before long "only a fool or a new-comer will predict the outcome of a ball game in the Panhandle."

Charles A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock AVALANCHE - JOURNAL, seems to be of the opinion that the Westerners can beat the Sandies on a dry field, but here is what the Amarillo Daily NEWS says about it: "It takes a courageous football player to dive head-on into muddy water. It also takes a courageous group of girls to wade through the slippery mire of Butler field to add their bit to the day's festivities."

We might add that it takes a courageous group of Pampanos to "skate" to Amarillo, to wade thru the mire at Butler field, and with red noses and stiff toes, to see the game to a finish. Pampa is not defeated in spirit or in fact. The boys will put up a good fight next Monday. They are in fair condition, even though no big game have been played recently, and with determination equal to that when the boys played Amarillo, they ought to come out victorious.

QUIET PREVAILS HERE ON THANKSGIVING DAY

SMALL EVENTS HOLD INTEREST ON TURKEY DAY

Inclement weather and the fact that a large number of residents were out of the city, made Thanksgiving day a quiet holiday for Pampa society. No brilliant entertainments or gatherings were held, but there were turkey dinners for many family groups, these, in some instances, being in connection with reunions.

The convention of the Texas State Teachers association and the Amarillo-Lubbock football game drew a large number of residents to Amarillo, and many who did not see the game heard it by radio here.

Thanksgiving Wedding Miss Gertrude Cooke, who, until recently, was employed in Pampa, was to have been married yesterday to Frank Lowther of Oklahoma City. Local friends, however, have not yet received word as to the details of the wedding.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Holt of Waco, where the ceremony was to have been read. Mr. Lowther formerly was manager of the local Murfee's store.

Dinner Is Served Miss Jaunita Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Stephenson, was hostess at a Thanksgiving dinner and bridge party last evening.

Guests included Jack Horne, Lloyd Kegencamp, Orba Myatt, Raymond Whitlock, Garnet Poole, Mildred Haggard, Beulah Stephenson, and Mrs. John Haggard.

Bridge Party Given The Play-a-While Bridge club was entertained Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fischer.

Score favors in the games were awarded to Mrs. Robert Montgomery and Mrs. L. L. Dyer for high and low scores, respectively, among the women, and to W. Wilkes and Robert Montgomery for high and low scores, respectively, among the men.

Family Reunion Held A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ledrick and a turkey dinner was served Thursday. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Winsett of Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mead of Miami, Clyde Mead and Kenneth Mead of Miami, and the following from Pampa: Mr. and Mrs. Skeet Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Jim White, Mr. and Mrs. Ted White, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Pope.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wohlgenuth spent Thanksgiving in Amarillo visiting Mrs. R. J. Vaughan.

Miss Esther Plank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Plank of Pampa, and a student at Texas Woman's college, Fort Worth, is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with Miss Mary Belle Latham of Fort Worth.

Miss Fay Wingate, daughter of P. A. Wingate, of Pampa, also is visiting Miss Mary Belle Latham of Fort Worth. Miss Wingate resides at Mulkey hall, Texas Woman's college.

Among Pampanos seen at the Lubbock-Amarillo football game here were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thut, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Patterson, Siler Faulkner, Carl Boston, John B. Hessey, R. B. Garner's Wife Is His Secretary

By SUE McNAMARA WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—There's a wooden donkey and a blue coffee pot in the office of Mrs. John Garner, wife of the Texas governor who probably will be the next speaker of the house.

The donkey stands above the coffee-pot—symbolic of the relative position of politics and home in Mrs. Garner's life. She's been her husband's secretary for 29 years—ever since he first came to congress.

"I tell him he lost a mighty good home-maker in making me his secretary," she laughs. She always refers to her husband as "Mr. Garner." She has ever since they were married.

"He's head of our house all right," she says, "though he declares he isn't." Mrs. Garner, with her sleeve literally rolled up ready for business and comfort, unrolls the electric cord of the blue coffee pot in her office at 7:30 every morning.

"That's all the breakfast she usually has—that cup of coffee. That's why she beats her husband to work. Her footsteps echo through the vast empty corridors of the capitol at that hour in the morning. Nobody usually is there except "Uncle Vic," the elevator man. Sometimes she's even ahead of him.

And while she works, sorting out papers, reading letters, answering telegrams, she permits a thought of what she will get for her nine-year-old grand-daughter in Texas for Christmas. Also, as she sips her coffee, perhaps a thought of the cakes she used to bake in her Texas home.

Mrs. Garner is a good cake-baker in spite of her political work. But she deplores the fact that tariffs and trade have interfered with her former knowledge of cooking good meat.

"It takes continual practice to be a good cook," she says. "Keeping house is a full-time job." The Garners live in a Washington hotel now. They don't go in much for social life for two reasons. They don't care for it and they have the time.

A book, apiece, some light fiction for Mrs. Garner, and Dickens or Scott for Mr. Garner and the quiet seclusion of their rooms—that's their usual nightly program. "At first," Mrs. Garner says, "I made the usual round of calls like all the rest of them, but I soon found so many people were calling nobody was left home to get the calls, so I quit."

"At first I thought how grand it would be to get invitations to all these brilliant affairs—but when they came I was not interested in going after all."

She turned back to her typewriter—this woman who takes the probability of being the next speaker's wife so calmly. Outside her husband's door—the one marked "Ministry Leader"—reporters and callers were milling.

It was the busiest spot in the capitol—and likely to become still busier. That's why "Ettie" Garner likes it.

TACKLE IS FATAL SIDNEY, O., Nov. 27. (AP)—His back broken in a charity football game between two teams of Sidney high school alumni, Ralph Bauman, 22, died today. Bauman was hurt in making a tackle in the game last Saturday.

BURNS IN BED ARCHER CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Burns received when his bed caught fire were fatal today to Samuel M. eade, 96. Relatives said he had been smoking his pipe in bed and apparently had fallen asleep, the pipe igniting the bedding.

Masterson Jr. They will attend a banquet and program at the Herring hotel, and will see the presentation of Dulcy by the Amarillo Little theater.

They will attend a business session this evening and hear a lecture by Robert Selph, Henry of Nashville, author of The Story of the Confederacy, as well as the reading of a play by Mary K. Sands. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Thanksgiving" was the lesson-sermon subject in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Thursday, Nov. 26. I Thessalonians 5:18 furnished the golden text: "In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus, concerning you."

The service embraced the following passage from the Bible (Psalms 126:5): "He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him." Included in the lesson-sermon were the following citations from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "How empty are our conceptions of Diety! We plead for unmerited pardon and for a liberal outpouring of benefactions. Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech." He got three that day, missing two more by inches. And on the last day of the season he went over the top with one more.

How are you going to argue with a man like that?

One With Toy Bat
In 1930 Eddie Morgan led the Cleveland team in homers with 26. Last spring Averill said he felt sure he would beat that record. He smacked 32 home runs. And one of those home runs was made with a toy bat, with a piece of blue ribbon around the handle, the gift of Cleveland school kids to whom he is an idol.

Ruth, of course, is the most colorful player in the majors. Pepper Martin has it, too. But Averill has a charm of a different sort. It is the Rockhead's wry melancholy that attracts admirers. Imagine a man lugging a 10-cent bat to the plate in a regular league game and driving the ball over the fence with it! And voicing all those rash predictions and then making good on every one of them!

—By Williams Dawes Is Boomed As Hoover Mate

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—A quiet but determined campaign among middle western republicans was today, to nominate Ambassador Charles G. Dawes as the running mate of President Hoover in 1932.

The principal obstacle to the plan would be to convince Ambassador Dawes that he should reenter active politics, but THE NEWS said partisans of the president proposed to appeal to the former vice president to permit placing his name in nomination. On his last visit, General Dawes expressed a desire to return to private life early in 1933, the year of the century of progress exposition to which he has devoted much time.

The movement to nominate Dawes was predicated on the belief of "close friends to the president," that Vice President Charles Curtis would seek return to the senate from Kansas next year, THE NEWS story said.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Lessons in discipline often come high. Lefty Fischer of the Washington club had one last summer. Lefty is the kind of lad who doesn't think any more of his pay check than a mouse does of a nice fat chunk of Gordonzola. After starting the season like a burning barn, winning nine out of his first ten starts, Lefty started missing on several cylinders. One day, late in the season, Walter Johnson sent him in as relief pitcher, face him off. Fischer displayed his disrespect for the Big Train by turning his back to Johnson and heaving the ball afar into the left field bleachers. It cost him $200 and he still mourns it, too.

JOBLESS RIOTING
LONDON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Twenty persons were hurt today in street fights between police and groups of jobless men outside employment offices.

The most serious was at Walham Green, a suburb, where mounted police were called out before the crowd would disperse.

Police attributed the trouble to communist agitation among unemployed.

TOUGH MATCH WITHOUT ALIBIS IS SLATED FOR TONIGHT

WILDCAT OUT TO WIN BOUT FROM OTIS

Oregon Man Believes That He Is Superior—Was Disqualified Recently.

Tonight at the Majestic auditorium, Promoter Frank Hunt will bring Sailor Otis Clingman and George "Wildcat" Pete together for the second time in eight days. The two wrestlers recently put on the greatest exhibition of wrestling ever seen here until Pete was disqualified for hitting Clingman before he had crawled into the ring.

Pete claimed that he should not have lost the match and demanded another crack at the sailor.

Pete won the first fall in last week's encounter after one hour of furious wrestling. He used his famous surf board hold from which there is no way out. Clingman was almost out when he was battered through the ropes in the second fall. As Otis was crawling back into the ring, Pete, a trifle groggy, rushed past the referee and butted Clingman again. The Pampan was hurled into the chairs and was unable to get back into the ring. Pete declared that the referee should have kept him in a neutral corner.

The matter will be settled tonight before what is hoped to be the largest crowd that ever witnessed a match in Pampa. Reserve seats will go at $1.25. General admission will be 75 cents.

Slim Jones will meet Howard Belcher in the semi-final bout. Both maulers are new to the Pampa mat and fans are anxious to see them in action. Jones will pinch his foe Fred Michael, who will be out with a bad ear given him by Fred Kinball, who has left the country.

The opening match which will be called at 8:15 o'clock has not been named. Promoter Hunt leaving it to be a surprise for the crowd.

Notre Dame and Army Battle To Be Feature Event

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—The football season draws toward its end tomorrow, heading the list is the battle at New York between Notre Dame and the Army.

Stanford will clash with Dartmouth at Cambridge and Detroit will play Georgetown in other intercollegiate games in the east. The domestic schedule is heavily by the renewal of the ancient rivalry between Yale and Princeton and the clash of two other old rivals, Washington and Jefferson and West Virginia.

Northwestern's battle with Purdue heads the Big Ten's charity program. Northwestern must win to clinch sole possession of the conference championship. A defeat will give not only Purdue but Ohio state and Michigan a chance to share the laurels with Northwestern. Michigan tangles with Northwestern and Ohio state plays Minnesota.

The southern conference slate is headed in one sense by the Tulane-Louisiana state struggle inasmuch as Tulane can gain undisputed claim to the conference title by a victory. The "big game" of the day, however, puts Georgia Tech against Georgia.

Southern Methodist will snare the southwest conference crown without dispute if it can turn back Texas Christian as expected. Baylor and Rice clash in the only other conference game.

WILDCATS OF ABILENE LOSE FIRST GAME

Daniel Baker Upsets Them Thursday to Triumph by 7 to 0 Score.

By the Associated Press
Another of Texas' college football machines which rolled through three-fourths of November undefeated had passed from the picture today.

Abilene Christian college until yesterday stood out with North Texas and Texas A. and M. as the three undefeated teams of the 11-member Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Daniel Baker college stopped A. C. 7 to 0 at Brownwood.

Another Brownwood eleven, the Howard Payne college Yellowjackets defeated Southwestern university 26 to 0 to pull up alongside Simmons university for a tie in the Texas conference.

A. C.'s demise left two Southern division T. I. A. A. teams, North Texas and Texas A. and M., heading the completed association race. A. C. dropped into a tie with McMurry college, also of Abilene, for the western division title.

North Texas concluded its schedule with a 20 to 0 victory over the San Marcos Teachers Wednesday A. and M. finished two weeks ago. Yesterday's clash between A. C. C. and Daniel Baker rounded out their schedules.

Schreiner was beaten 26 to 0 by the Sul Ross Lobos at Alpine. Austin college eked out a 2 to 0 victory over Trinity university and Texas Tech triumphed over Simmons 6 to 0 to round out the Turkey Day bill.

Texas Aggie Cadets Walking With Heads Up After Victory in Which Domingue Plays Leading Portion

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 27. (AP)—There's no regret at College Station today. The cadet corps marched by with heads up, chin up and glad that once again the historic tradition of Kyle field had been upheld. No regrets, for yesterday "that thin red Argentine line" with only one exception held fast while a set of maroon clad backs thundered thru the University of Texas forwards and secondary for a 7 to 6 victory.

Thus again a fine University of Texas team, big and powerful invaded Kyle field and again the fighting Aggies emerged victorious in a superb offensive first half battle and a near breath taking half offensive by Texas and defensive by A. and M.

When the current southwest conference championship started, ye folks who like your football read and heard plenty about Clifford "Frenchy" Domingue, Texas A. and M. quarterback, halfback or any part of a back. The critics had said he was sure-fire all-conference. After a superb showing in an early interconference affair against Tulane, Domingue faded almost out of the conference picture.

But there always is room for a man to come back if that man is stout hearted and willing to carry part of a back. Yesterday Domingue returned from out of the nowhere to lead A. and M. to victory. He commanded a 60-yard march that resulted in a 60-yard march that resulted in a touchdown in the second period and kicked goal from placement to break a 6 to 6 tie.

CARNERA AND CAMPOLO TO BOX TONIGHT

Ambling Peak Is Favorite But South American Is Much Taller.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Two behemoths of the ring, Primo Carnera and Victoria Campolo, clash in a 15-round bout tonight with Carnera a heavy favorite.

Indications today were that Primo would enter the ring the public favorite at odds at least as good as 2 to 1.

The physical advantages will be rather evenly divided. Carnera, about 260 pounds, will outweigh Campolo by close to 40 pounds but the South American will have advantages in height and reach. Carnera is the better boxer but Campolo packs the harder wallop.

Basketball Shoes Used for Football

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—If football shoes won't do the work on frozen or slippery grids, try basketball shoes or stocking feet—that's the way they do in Iowa.

The Simpson college eleven of Indianola, Ia., won the Iowa conference title yesterday by using basketball shoes on a frozen field to wallop Penn college, 38 to 0. Cleats failed to make an impression on the turf and the Penn eleven got nowhere.

Over at Logan, Ia., the home high school team was trailing Woodbine, high, 6 to 0, at the end of the third quarter on a slick, treacherous field. Logan had not lost a game this season, and its record was at stake with six minutes to play. Coach Bob Evans sent out orders for the boys to take off their shoes and see how that would work. On the next play Halfback Neil Huff staged a long dash for a touchdown to tie the score.

Radical Group May Line Up Behind Laval

By HUDSON HAWLEY
PARIS, Nov. 27. (AP)—The powerful radical-socialist group in the chamber of deputies that hitherto has opposed Premier Laval bids fair to be with him on at least the major issues of his foreign policy during the parliamentary session just opened.

For ex-Premier Edouard Herriot, elected by acclamation to the leadership of the radical party at its recent convention, has gone on record in favor of the four following planks in the government program:
Necessity for Franco-German understanding and collaboration.
No one sided disarmament of France without guarantees of security.

Continued hostility to any project of an Austro-German customs union.
Opposition to any ill-advised revision of the existing peace treaties.

On the first point, M. Herriot exclaimed vividly: "If the fatherland of Goethe cannot get together with the country of Voltaire, one may well despair of peace."

Of the second, he said that he was a pacifist yet with a patriot, hence his party demanded "increased security by given guarantees and testimony of good will."

The Austro-German customs union, a project interred with the Hague court, Herriot, combated during the spring. He reiterated this time that it contained latent dangers for Europe's equilibrium.

"There is no international morality possible without solid respect for existing contracts," was his pronouncement against the agitation in the United States, Italy, Germany and Hungary for the revision of the peace treaties.

Favors League Expansion
He did concede that the "texts of 1919" might be studied anew with a view to rendering when "more in keeping with the necessities of the hour and of modern life."

The party, at the end of its four day's deliberations, favored France's policy being inspired by an extension of the League of Nations' powers of international security and an international organization of production and circulation of goods.

The radical-socialists have 107 votes in the chamber of deputies.

Mosher Steel & Machinery company at Dallas secured contracts for furnishing structural steel and concrete bars on the $750,000 federal building at Wichita Falls.

TULANE NOW TOPS TEAMS IN HER AREA

Pittsburgh's Amazing Victory Over Nebraska, 40-0, Is Thanksgiving Shock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Aside from its traditional aspects, the Thanksgiving day football program served to boost Tulane into undisputed possession of the Southern conference lead, give the Utah Indians a chance to win their fourth straight Rocky Mountain conference title and establish Pittsburgh as possibly the strongest of eastern teams.

Tulane, although idle until Saturday, automatically gained sole possession of the southern conference lead when Tennessee's unbeaten eleven found the Kentucky Wildcats entirely too wild and had to be satisfied with a 6-6 tie. Tulane, with Louisiana state to beat in its final conference game tomorrow, was overwhelmingly favored to win clear title to the southern crown.

Utah, the class of the Rocky Mountain group for some years, buried the Utah Aggies under a 34-0 count to wind up its conference slate undefeated.

Pittsburgh, beaten only by Notre Dame, showed amazing power and a versatile attack in crushing Nebraska, 40-0. Pitt finished its season unbeaten in the east.

Colgate turned back Brown, 13-7; N. Y. U. nosed out Carnegie Tech, 7-6, and Holy Cross just made the grade against Boston college, also by a 7-6 count. Cornell, beaten only by Dartmouth, wound up by whipping Pennsylvania, 7-0.

In the Midwest, Indiana won the Big Ten charity round Robin. The Hoosiers beat Chicago, 6-0, in the final round after being adjudged the winner on first downs in a scoreless two-period preliminary game against Illinois. Chicago won its way into the final by beating Iowa, 7-0.

Alabama, finishing its southern conference schedule with a rush, walloped Vanderbilt, 15-6; Auburn just managed to save off South Carolina to win, 13-6; Virginia Poly whipped Virginia Military, 13-6, and North Carolina "took" Virginia by the same count.

The Texas Aggies conquered Texas, 7-6 in their annual southwest conference duel while Arkansas outpointed Centenary, 6-0.
The University of California at Los Angeles furnished the Pacific Coast with its first victory over a southern team as the Bruins trampled up Florida, 13-0.

MUSTANGS ON TOP FOR TILT OF SATURDAY

S. M. U. Cannot Get Any Worse Than Tie if Beaten by Frogs.

DALLAS, Nov. 27. (AP)—An idea closing of the 1931 Southwest conference football schedule will be held tomorrow when Southern Methodist and Texas Christian play for the championship at Fort Worth. The undefeated and undefeated Mustangs can get no worse than a tie for the championship even though they lose for they have five conference victories and no defeats against the Frogs. This game, and the one at Houston between Baylor and Rice, will be the finale of the current campaign.

After losing 10 to 0 to the University of Texas, Texas Christian will be fighting tomorrow for redemption and a chance to tie for the conference crown. Victorious in nine consecutive games, Southern Methodist is prepared to stage a powerful game to retain its perfect record.

It will be the swan song conference game for many players on each team. Captain Hinton Green, Carpenter, J. W. Hinton, Standard Lambert, Paul Snow and Vane Woolwine will fade out of the picture after tomorrow.

Among the graduating Mustangs will be six regulars—Marion Hamcra, Welder Mason, Alfred DeCambre, George Koontz, Captain Alfred Neely and Willis Tate. Other Mustangs to go via the three year route will be Johnson, Dickerson, Gilbert and Davidson.

Critics believe the two greatest lines in the conference will clash in this game. The Southern Methodist front will be handicapped by the loss of Martin Hamcra, tackle, who splintered an ankle last week against Navy, however, and the Texas Christian line will be minus the service of Ben Bell, 1930 all-Southwest tackle, who is on the shelf with injuries.

The Rice and Baylor game at Houston will have no bearing on the championship.

GRAINS DROP
CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Influenced by severe breaks in British exchange rates and by weakness Wall street securities, grain prices plunged downward early today under general selling. The tumblestering amounted to more than a cent. Opening 1 1/4 to 3 1/8 cent lower. Chicago wheat futures after ward held near the initial range. Corn started 5-8 to 1 1/2 down at later rallied somewhat.

LUBBOCK MEN TURN JANITORS

AMARILLO, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Amarillo NEWS-GLOBE office will get a thorough cleaning Saturday, Charles A. Guy, publisher of the Lubbock AVALANCHE-JOURNAL, C. E. Maedgen, president of the Lubbock chamber of commerce, and M. H. Duncan, superintendent of school there, will do the job.

They will be paying a wage made between Guy and Gene Howe, publisher of the Amarillo NEWS-GLOBE, on the outcome of the Amarillo-Lubbock football game yesterday, which Amarillo won, 25 to 2. The Lubbock men will act as janitors and office boys for the day. Howe has arranged an elaborate reception for them, including a band concert, and the direction of their work by members of the victorious Amarillo Golden Sandstorm.

to click against the big Westerners." Line Coach Argus Fox declared this morning. "The boys will be fighting to avenge the worst defeat handed them in several years. As they have beaten Lubbock once on her home field they will not be fighting a tradition," he said.

Fans are asked to keep away from Harvester park this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon. Coaches and players alike work better when they are not being watched. They have a hard job ahead of them and the less interference from "curbstone coaches," as Tack says, will give the boys a better chance of victory.

Lubbock of course will be handicapped somewhat from their stiff game yesterday. Two Westerners were slightly injured in yesterday's battle.

Students to Meet

Members of the high school band and pep squad are to meet at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the high school gymnasium to make plans for attending the Lubbock football game Monday afternoon, according to Pop Frazier. There will be no practice but just a get-together, the leader told The NEWS this morning.

He is anxious to learn the number of members and will be able to pay their own way to Lubbock. Some arrangement will be made to secure tickets for some of the members who cannot afford to pay the

Thanksgiving In Pampa Is Quiet

Pampans for the most part spent a quiet Thanksgiving. The radio received the most attention during the afternoon, as thousands of Pampans who failed to get tickets to the Lubbock-Amarillo football game listened in.

Many Pampans visited friends, while others entertained at home. The weather made travel dangerous and many Thanksgiving plans were ruined. Snow the night before and during the morning was followed by a dense fog that made driving dangerous.

Only three Pampans imbibed too freely during the day. The city police made two arrests and the county one. All were for drunkenness.

Last year merchants and fans purchased extra tickets and gave them to the pep squad members who were not able to make the trip.

could cause him much trouble. It is 40 degrees below zero here today.

Pampa children and those of many neighboring cities, are very much excited about the coming of Santa Claus Dec. 4 under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. They are writing to Santa Claus in care of The NEWS-POST to tell him what they wish for Christmas. They are visiting the Pampa stores to learn what Santa Claus has sent.

The fireworks display to be given free soon after dusk of Dec. 4 also is going to attract a huge crowd of children and grown-ups. Santa Claus will land at the airport during the noon hour and will join a big parade of merchants' floats. Then he will visit the stores while there is musical and gymnastic entertainment in front of the city hall or in the auditorium. Many visitors will be interested in the annual poultry show which will open Dec. 3 and last 3 days.

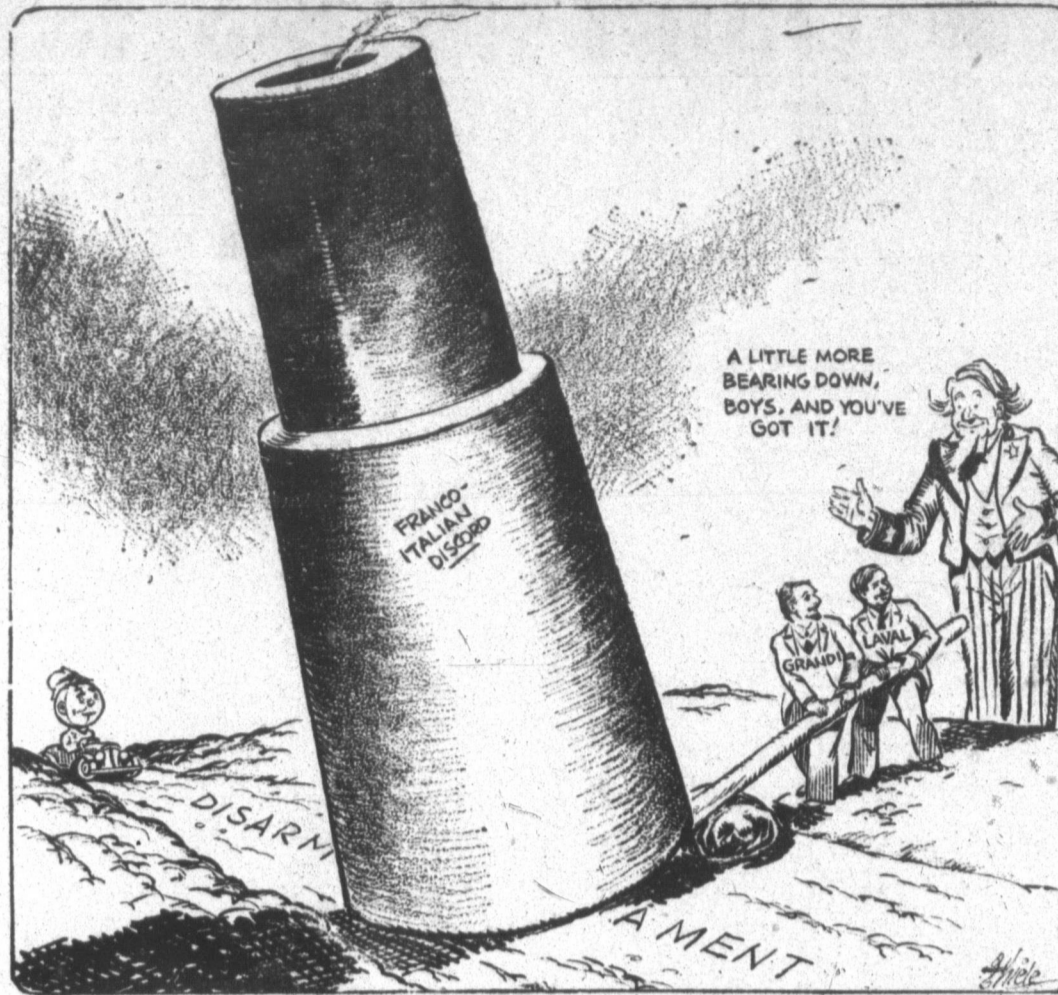

Santa Claus will arrive on Dec. 4 instead of Dec. 3, as planned. On account of a possible football game between the Harvesters and Amarillo Dec. 3 (should Pampa defeat Lubbock), the Santa day program was changed a day by the Junior chamber of commerce with Santa's approval. Santa, telegraphed to today at Nome, Alaska, said he was glad to have an extra day for his long trip.

Miss Florence Hale, Augusta, Me., president of the national education association, and Dr. Willis A. Sutton, Atlanta, retiring president, both spoke on the relation of the present business depression to education, and cautioned against any economy measures that would cut school taxes and have a tendency to lower the standard of education.

Balloting for the election of a president and two members of the executive committee was to begin at noon today. The polls will close at 8 p. m. and results of the election will be announced at the evening session tomorrow.

Three Panhandle men were in the race for president. President J. A. Hill of West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, Dr. A. W. Evans head of the education department of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, and Supt. W. D. Weeks of Van Horn and a resident of Dalhart, are the nominees.

Walker Prepares Mooney Argument

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Gov. James Rolph Jr., and James J. Walker were busy today preparing for the Tom Mooney hearing Tuesday. Rolph, who is to hear the arguments, and Walker, who will make one of them, had a number of advance chores to perform.

The governor, leaving for Los Angeles this afternoon to remain until Monday, had some last minute details to work out with his legal advisors.

The mayor, who will appear to plead the cause of the man convicted 15 years ago of participating in the bombing of a parade in which 10 were killed, worked steadily to master the record on which he will base his argument.

Richard "Curly" Harris, 1931 captain and coxswain of the University of Washington varsity crew, has been signed as an assistant coach to Alvin Ulbrickson, head mentor of the Husky oarsmen.

GOVERNOR THREATENED

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27. (AP)—A strong police guard was placed about the state house today shortly after a man had informed L. O. Chasey, secretary to Gov. Harry G. Leslie, that an attempt would be made to assassinate the governor.

Increased industrial demand in that section of the state was responsible for the erection of a 30,000 horsepower substation, one of the largest in the state, at Overton, Rusk county.

Is the modern woman going Antique?

YES, the girls wear Empress Fagenie hats—but that seems to be the only noticeable tendency that the modern woman is going antique.

Isn't it rather hard to imagine yourself tearing down the street in an old survey, say at 5 miles an hour? Picture if you can, a modern woman reading a true story by the light of a kerosene lamp.

No, you wouldn't want to live like they used to.

Perhaps one of the things you would miss most would be the telephone. Wonder what Grandma did when these things happened; pouring down rain, and not a grocery in the house; no way to order quickly . . . friends, haven't seen them for days; no way to reach them . . . noise in the basement; burglars, maybe! . . . no telephone book with the names of friends, relatives, business houses . . . relatives in a distant city; are they well? . . . a child's face, pale against a pillow; a doctor, quick!

It is hard to do without a telephone. Why should you, when the service costs so little?

"I'll stand by it!"

"I'll stand by tobacco . . . in good times, in hard times . . . all kind of times . . . it helps a whole lot!"

"I GREW up with tobacco. Mostly I smoke cigarettes now—but I've smoked plenty of cigars, and pipes, too. And I never got anything but good from tobacco in any form—pipe, cigar, or cigarette—and that goes for every smoker I ever heard about.

"Why, I remember as a boy, way back, how the old folks in the fall used to pick and cure tobacco from a little patch they'd raised, and save out the best for their own smoking. And my father fought all through the war, and lived to be ninety.

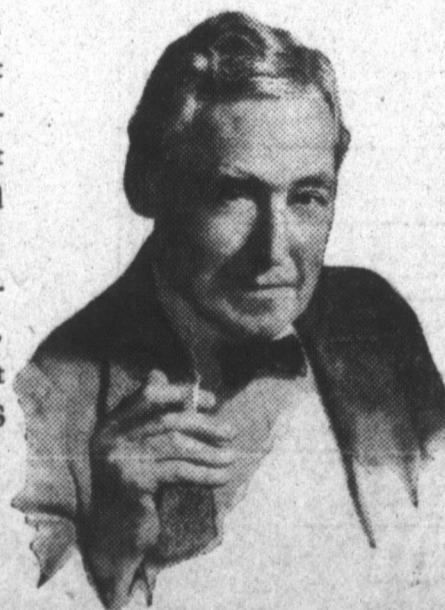

"He'd certainly appreciate what we get today, though. Just think about these CHESTERFIELDS of mine—fine tobaccos from all over the world, and cured and blended just so; you couldn't get anything purer or milder. Cleanest factories you ever saw, too—never a hand touching the cigarettes . . . everything up to date.

"A big improvement over the old ways . . . reckon that's why I like CHESTERFIELDS so much. I notice most of my friends get a lot of pleasure out of them, too.*

"But what I started out to say was, you can always depend on tobacco, no matter how things are going. Probably there was never anything in the world that meant so much to so many people, and cost so little, as tobacco—whatever way they smoke it.

"Yes, sir—I'll stand up for tobacco as long as I can strike a match!"

* NOTE: In the sections where tobacco grows and where people know tobacco, Chesterfield is usually the largest-selling cigarette.

Joe E. Brown Is Quite a Man In Home Town

Joe E. Brown, now at the La Nora theater in his latest First National starring vehicle, "Local Boy Makes Good," has a 12-cylinder Cadillac, a home in Beverly Hills, a wife, three children, and a fine picture contract. Here are a few of the little things Joe E. had to endure before he graduated from the University of Hard Knocks.

When Joe was nine years old he joined a circus. A Mr. Ash, who had seen him do some amateur tumbling, begged Joe to join him as the star of the Five Wonderful Ash-tons. It was a hard thing to decide—the lure of being a circus performer was great, yet nine is hardly the age to go bread-winning.

But the circus lure won out, and then Mr. Ash seemed to be the nicest sort of employer anyone could want to have. Joe was given a railroad ticket—he was then living in Toledo, Ohio—and told to join the troupe at Topeka, Kans. Joe did just that, he remembers it distinctly. When he got to the circus he introduced himself, was assigned his quarters, and invited to stand around and talk with the rest of the circus aristocracy, the acrobats.

Joe stood and listened, swelling with righteous importance. Then a loud voice yelled out, "Mr. Brown, Mr. Brown, is Mr. Brown about?" It was marvelous, a nine-year-old boy being paged as "Mister." Joe turned, it was Mr. Ash paging him. "Here I am, sir," said Joe proudly. Ash walked over and struck the boy right over the mouth, knocking him to the floor. "That'll teach you not to answer any name but Ashton," Joe picked himself up and meekly said, "Yes, sir."

Two weeks later, before an audience of what looked to Joe like 20 people in a small town whose name he doesn't now remember, the catcher of the acrobatic act missed him. Joe tumbled 50 feet down, into the net, breaking his jaw. If one doesn't know how to fall in a net, and Joe did not, it is almost as dangerous as the ground. Sometimes even more so, because if you land in a twisted position, by the time you've sunk to the limit of the net's resilience and you are hurled back, you may wrench all the tendons of a whole side, which practically paralyzes one for life. In a fall bones are smashed but bones soon knit.

Lya de Putti or Screen Is Dead

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Little Lya de Putti, Hungary's charming contribution to the cinemas of Germany, England, and America, died early today. She was 32 years old.

A chicken bone lodged in her throat Nov. 19 was the indirect cause of her death. The immediate cause was pneumonia, complicating a case of blood poisoning which followed removal of the bone from her throat. She died at 1:05 a. m. After nearly 30 hours of unconsciousness.

The picture that first turned the attention of America to Lya de Putti was the German film "Variety," a tragic drama widely commended for its photographic excellence and the artistry of its performers, chiefly Miss De Putti and Emil Jannings. "The Mistress of the World" and "Mamon Lascout" were other productions in which she did notable work.

Although her work in the Hollywood studios was accorded general approbation, it never lived up to the promise the petite performer had given in the foreign-made films. The arrival of talking pictures spelled doom to her Hollywood ambitions. She felt there was no place in American talking pictures for an actress with a foreign accent. Miss De Putti's first American film, which was directed by David W. Griffith, was "The Sorrows of Satan." Subsequently, she appeared in "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," "The Prince of Tempters," "The Heart Thief," "Buck Privates" and "The Scarlet Lady." Efforts to win a public on the vaudeville and legitimate stage fared poorly.

Unemployment Is At New High Peak

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Unemployment, finds the American Federation of Labor, is not increasing any faster than normal just now but the total of men out of work has reached a new peak.

For two months in succession, reported President William Green yesterday, the abnormal rise noted since last February has been checked and the November total was 200,000 less than expected because farm layoffs have been light.

Green estimated the industrial unemployment now at 6,000,000, or

Legislator Kills Political Enemy

OPELOUSAS, La., Nov. 27. (AP)—Judge Gilbert L. Dupree, 72-year-old legislator, last night shot and killed Charles Dejean, 40-year-old salesman, after an argument over politics.

Indians market their crop at from 10 to 15 cents a pound to white traders, taking merchandise in return in most instances.

The veteran politician and lawyer, who is deaf, said Dejean wrote insulting criticisms concerning his present political alignment on a writing pad the judge carried with him for conversational purposes.

The principal difficulty facing the rescuers, mostly Indians, but led and aided by whites, is the nomadic fashion in which the nut pickers live. They camp here and there, roaming the mesas, wherever there is a good crop of pinons to be had.

Judge Dupre said Dejean advanced on him in a threatening manner and he shot in self-defense.

Bert Hinkler Is Much Overdue

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Capt. Bert Hinkler, noted British flier who took off from Natal Wednesday for a flight to Dakar, French West Africa, was 24 hours overdue this morning. There had been no word from him.

At one time Captain Hinkler held the speed record for a flight from England to Australia, and last month he established a new speed record from New York to Kingston, Jamaica, on his way to Natal.

He took off at 10 a. m. Wednesday for the flight of 1,500 or more miles but the weather was thick and he was not sighted over Fernando do Noronha island, the closest land to the Brazilian coast.

PARIS, Nov. 27. (AP)—The General Aeropostale company reported today that Bert Hinkler, flying from Natal, Brazil, landed at Saint Louis du Senegal, French West Africa, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Two mail-carrying destroyers plying regularly between Natal and Dakar kept a lookout for the plane but neither sighted it. It was thought possible he may have landed in some lonely part of the African coast from which he could not get word to Dakar.

The achievement also would give Captain Hinkler, a noted British aviator who once held the England-to-Australia speed record, the distinction of being the first man to fly across the South Atlantic from west to east.

Right-Eyed Shooters Claimed To Be Superior With Marksmanship

That is expert information and advice from Col. H. H. Carmichael, assistant adjutant general of Texas. Colonel Carmichael is a right-eyed shooter.

His fellow officer, Col. Taylor Nichols, United States property and disbursing officer of the Texas National Guard, is a left-eyed shooter and shoots from his left shoulder. He is a good shot.

"The trouble with some poor marksmen is they are left-eyed and do not know it," Colonel Carmichael said. "They need to shoot from their left shoulder."

Colonel Carmichael recalled that the best marksman he knew was left-eyed but shot from his right shoulder. He is a member of a New York rifle team. He has a long neck and drapes his head over the side of his gun in the position as to be able to sight with his left eye from his right shoulder.

There are few left-eyed shooters, not more than one in 50, Colonel Carmichael stated.

William W. Sterling, adjutant general, product of the Rio Grande, shoots with a right-eye sight. The general is just recently back from Washington with a new diploma. He spent six weeks training at the war college and was graduated, of course.

Judges of the court of criminal appeals and their two commissioners are solemn as judges should be (especially jurists who deal in a person's liberty) when they are on the bench or otherwise reviewing appeals and writing opinions, but members of Texas' criminal court of last resort can smile as broadly as anyone when off duty.

All are pretty good hunters and do considerable shooting in season. T. W. Ginger, clerk of the court for lot these many years is a marksman of ability, too. Finger has already gone to the Davis mountains for a bear hunt. The judges are scheduled to go en masse for a deer shooting session soon.

A. C. Morrow, chief justice; O. S. Lattimore and F. L. Hawkins, judges, and the two commissioners, Judges George Calhoun and George E. Christian, seldom fail to "col-

County Required to Support Library If People Want Plan

BRADY, Nov. 27. (AP)—When the McCulloch county commissioners recently decided to close the county library, they apparently had not read the state library law.

In their regular November session the commissioners voted to withdraw financial support from this institution, which they thought would automatically abandon the county-wide library system. This order was to be effective on Jan. 1.

RAZE NAPOLEON'S LODGING

PARIS, Nov. 27. (AP)—The modest room occupied in 1795 by the artillery lieutenant, Napoleon Bonaparte, at 5, Quai de Conti is a heap of rubble. The old house in which the Little Corporal lodged has been torn down to make way for a modern building.

PARIS GLORIFIES CHEFS

PARIS, Nov. 27. (AP)—Cooking for the Frenchman is just as much an art as poetry or painting, and the gastronomic section of the autumn salon this year drew as many visitors as the adjacent displays of plastic arts. There were cooking competitions every day, the public being in mid-afternoon daily. They go to a corner drug store near the capitol and enjoy a spirit of camaraderie over the cups.

Relics Indicate Teutons Settled Polish Corridor

DANZIG, Nov. 27. (AP)—If priority of residence established ownership of the Polish Corridor, this disputed area might revert to Germany.

A number of Germanic graves and urns dating as far back as 800 B. C. have been found, indicating that in prehistoric times the Danzig territory was occupied by the Teutonic, not the Slav race.

Over-Production Trouble Appears Once More on Horizon of Industry

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 27. (AP)—Sharp warning to the oil industry that it must take adequate measures at once or see all its efforts of the past to keep production in line with demand resolved into futility, came from William N. Davis, president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association.

Texas was singled out as the offender by Mr. Davis in a prepared statement in which he pointed out that state is the only one which has persisted in increasing oil output despite the overproduction that has caused so much trouble in the past.

"The oil industry should take warning that it is again over-producing both crude and refined production," the statement began.

"Operations continued at the present rate will dangerously increase existing excessive stocks of both crude and gasoline and prevent the realization of benefits which would otherwise accrue from the constructive efforts and sacrifices that have been made."

Davis cited the recent reports of the economics committees of both the federal oil conservation board and the American Petroleum Institute and declared that "previous forecasts of these committees have so closely approximated subsequent events that they should now be universally accepted as the guide to the industry's activities."

Averaging the figures of the two reports for the nine-month period ending June 30, 1932, Davis declared, "we find that the United States crude production should be 2,340,000 barrels daily, and runs of crude to stills 2,293,000 barrels. For the period of low consumption ending March 31, 1932, crude production should be 2,196,000 barrels daily and runs to stills 2,156,000 barrels. Comparison of these figures with those of current operations shows clearly that the industry is headed for renewed and increased troubles."

The Oil and Gas Journal's table of production for the week just ended showed a total crude production of 2,442,993 barrels daily, a variation downward of only about 19,000 barrels from the preceding week. The American Petroleum Institute reported daily average production for the past week was 2,453,000. Each figure is far above the quoted needs of the industry.

Refinery operations for the past week, reported by the A. P. I., showed that plants handling 95.2 per cent of the nation's capacity announced daily average crude runs of 2,261,000 barrels, again far above listed requirements.

Continuing, Davis noted that "while a measure of proration had been in effect in certain pools in Oklahoma, Texas and California, prior to August, 1929, it was not until then, when United States production reached its peak, that serious and far reaching efforts to correct the situation were inaugurated."

New Medical Law Will Be Enforced

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Arrival of the new year will usher in enforcement of the new state medical practice registration law passed by the forty-second legislature.

The statute requires all physicians to register with the county or district clerk in the county of their residence. The registration fee is $2 and will be collected annually. Failure to pay within 60 days will result in suspension of the right to practice in Texas and payment of an additional $1 as a penalty.

The money will be placed in a special fund to be used in administering and enforcing other provisions of the medical practice act. When the bill was up for passage in the legislature it was charged by opponents the money received from registration would be used to prosecute chiropractors and other practitioners who were not licensed by the state board of medical examiners.

Lists of officials are being prepared by county and district officials and being submitted to the state board for verification.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 27. (AP)—Municipal opera in the Colon theater, one of the great opera houses of the world, was an artistic success this year but resulted in a big deficit. The city sponsored the season instead of leasing the theater, as in former years, to a private manager.

Panhandle-Plains to Have Poultry Shows in Many Cities in December

(By the Associated Press)

The Panhandle-Plains region, known during the greater part of the year as a land of wheat and cotton, beef cattle and dairying, turns its attention to poultry in December and January.

Owners of fine-feathered birds in the expanse of territory from Perryton to Slaton will display the pride of their flocks at probably two dozen shows at various points in the area during the next two months.

The first show scheduled will be held at Idalou, near Lubbock, on Nov. 27 and 28. On Dec. 3, 4 and 5 a tri-county show will be held at Hereford, and the annual Pampa poultry show at Pampa. The Wheeler county poultry show at Wheeler will be held the same week, Dec. 4 and 5.

Two shows have been announced for the second week in December: the annual Panhandle-Plains poultry show at Slaton will be held Dec. 9 to 11 and the Castro county show Dec. 11 and 12.

The third annual North Plains poultry show at Perryton has been announced for the third week, Dec. 14 to 19.

Towns where shows have been announced and definite dates have not been set include Crosbyton, Childress, Muleshoe, Brownfield, Hale Center, Floydada and others. A show already has been held at Abernathy.

Perhaps the largest of the many exhibitions will be the show at Perryton. The dates have been arranged to follow most of the shows in the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma. More than 700 birds were shown last year, and an increase is expected. Hereford had 485 birds last year and is expecting an increase. The shows at Pampa and Slaton also will be large.

Annual purchase of 9,000 tons of carrots is planned by the company now constructing a $100,000 steel and concrete carrot products factory at Kingsville.

Albie Booth Will Not Play Saturday

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27. (AP)—Albie Booth, Yale's diminutive football captain, developed a case of bronchitis which will keep him out of the Princeton game Saturday, physicians said.

Thus Booth's career in football appeared ended at its high point, the game with Harvard which he won with a field goal in the last minutes of play. No indication was given as to whether he would be able to participate in the charity round-robin tournament Dec. 5.

Two years ago injuries forced him to remain on the bench in the Princeton game. Last year he was handicapped in the game against the Tigers for the same reason.

England to Put Duty on Articles

LONDON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Customs duties on agricultural imports are next in line in the new tariff policy launched by the British government this week with the levy of 50 per cent duties on certain classes of manufactured articles.

On Monday, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald informed the house of commons today, a financial resolution will be presented to authorize an agricultural customs levy.

Sir John Gilmour, minister of agriculture, informed the members the government also had decided to adopt the quota system on home-grown wheat of milling quality, and to introduce legislation in connection therewith in time to make the plan effective for next year's crop.

There also will be a measure to reduce imports of "certain non-essential articles of agricultural produce" by means of tariff levies, he said.

He declined to go into detail when a member asked whether the new levies would cover canned goods and whether any decision had been reached regarding extension of the quota principle to empire wheat.

He suggested the house wait for details until the government's bill is presented.

No government subsidy will be involved in the wheat quota plan, he said, nor does the government intend that the measure should encourage the extension of wheat cultivation to land unsuitable for that purpose.

Murray Says State Will Pay Parents

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma said in a telephone interview with the newspaper Excelsior that Oklahoma would pay $10,000 to the parents of Emilio Cortes Rubio and Manuel Gomez Garcia, Mexican students who were killed last June at Ardmore.

"I will not wait for an international claims commission to act," the newspaper quoted the governor as saying. "I am going to seek the legislature's permission to send these grieving parents $5,000 each as soon as possible."

Governor Murray told Excelsior he had a genuine respect for Mexico and her people, and sincerely hoped no resentment was held against the people of Oklahoma.

EGYPTIAN GIRL WHIRLS IN FIERY DEATH DANCE

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 27. (AP)—Overcome by grief for her father, Habiba Hasan Charaf, a young Abar girl, set her clothes afire and whirled in a dance of death upon his grave here.

She has gone every evening to pray and weep at the grave. One evening the cemetery lodge keeper was astonished to see a human torch rushing among the tombs.

It was Habiba. She was dead when help reached her.
