

CHINESE CUT DOWN 500 JAPANESE

Lubbock Theater Manager Kidnaped and Robbed of Large Amount

Those who read of Alfred E. Smith's "I choose to run if you wish me" attitude today with consternation have failed to calculate what well might have been his thought processes.

He's Hopeful
Smith has been, from early youth, a politician. He knows how the public's favor ebbs and flows. He sees in Hoover's unpopularity an almost "sure shot" for the democratic nominee. If you stand east of the Mississippi river it is not hard to believe this to be true. The goal, therefore, is to get the nomination and then coast merrily into the presidency.

Alluring
To a man who took a terrific beating in his first race, the picture must be alluring. In "choosing to run" Smith is yielding to personal ambitions and, it is feared, to personal dislike of Franklin D. Roosevelt. But Smith owes Roosevelt nothing and is under no obligations to keep out of the latter's way. Smith does, as every good democrat does, owe the party his loyalty to its best interests. We believe it will be increasingly apparent that the party is not willing to risk a revival of the prejudices and passions which split it wide open before.

Boost For Garner
The chief criticism should be reserved for those eastern politicians who put private desires above party, who would risk the party's destruction to defeat Roosevelt. Party harmony on one man would mean certain victory. There can be no harmony on Smith, and the "Stop Roosevelt" campaign would, if successful, blast party chances based on the latter. At any rate, there are many observers who believe that the convention may see John Garner or Albert Ritchie get the nomination, instead of Roosevelt or Smith. Of the two alternates, few Texans will see beyond John Garner. In this they are not sectional in viewpoint—Garner is a national figure. And if the party seeks harmony instead of a dog-fight, why not offer Honest John to the country?

On Hoarding
It used to be popular to ridicule misers and hoarders. More recently the practice has been too prevalent to ridicule. Hoarding alone is sufficient to stop construction, throw men out of work, and cause depressed business. A dollar in a box is just a dollar, but put it to work and it will chase up one street and down another paying bills with abandon and loosening stagnated business.

LONE ROBBER GETS RECEIPTS LATE SUNDAY

UNMASKED MAN NOW SOUGHT IN WEST TEXAS

LOSS IS OVER THOUSAND

C. C. LINDSEY RELEASED 5 MILES FROM TOWN
LUBBOCK, Feb. 8. (P)—Reporting that he had been abducted from his home by an unmasked bandit who robbed him of $29 and forced him to open a safe and turn over $1,000 in cash and currency late Sunday night, C. C. Lindsey, manager of two theaters here, was aiding police investigation. According to Lindsey's story, the armed man forced him to drive his own automobile from his home to the theaters' offices and then demanded that the manager drive him to a point five miles north of Lubbock. Upon reaching the secluded spot, the bandit forced Lindsey from the car and sped away. The automobile had not been located at noon today.

Senate Wheat Relief Measure Rejected Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—A senate bill to release government wheat for relief purposes was rejected today by the house agricultural committee.

The vote was 14 to 9, the ballot splitting party lines.

Chairman Marvin Jones declined to make public the individual votes but said he had supported the measure. The bill before the committee was that of Senator Capper (R., Kan.) and was passed by the senate Jan. 4. It would release 40,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat for relief distribution by the Red Cross and other charitable organizations. Jones said rejection of the bill seemed to come from a feeling among members that "if anything were done the government should go out in the open market and purchase the wheat." Other members, he said, seemed influenced by the fact the farm board has large loans against some of the wheat. "I favor the bill," Jones said, "because the stabilization corporation has the wheat, it is costing money to carry, is deteriorating, and in my judgment adversely affecting the market."

Many Scouts in Rally on Sunday

Postal Robbery Suspect Is Held

A two-month search for a man wanted in connection with the robbery of the Lefors postoffice ended here last night when officers of the sheriff's department arrested him at the home of relatives here. The man said he had been working in the East Texas oil fields. Sheriff Lon L. Blansett made one trip to the Longview section in search of the suspect. He is being held in the county jail upon orders from the postoffice department. An inspector will arrive here Tuesday to make further investigations in connection with the arrest.

BATTLE OVER SMITH STARTS WITHIN PARTY

REPUBLICAN'S ELATION OVER ROW HAS APPEARED

VETO POWER IS SOUGHT

FAVORITE SONS RE-MAIN SILENT OVER ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (P)—A classic conflict for the democratic presidential nomination is in sight on the strength of Alfred E. Smith's announcement that he will stand ready if the party calls him once again.

Friend and foe united today in acknowledging him a candidate, although few even of his staunchest supporters actually believe he can win. The prospect is heightened for a deadlock in the convention, to be broken by selection of the traditional "dark horse." Today at least, party leaders think well of the chances, in this event, of Speaker John N. Garner, the Texan.

No New Support
The Washington comment on Smith's declaration showed no new support for him and a good many of his 1928 followers aligned in opposition. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who ran for the vice presidency beside Smith, merely commented that the New Yorker was wise to say he would not campaign for his own nomination "or support or oppose other candidates for that distinction."

The brunt of the pro-Smith drive, which will show immediately in a strong campaign to collect delegates, principally in New England and the east, will fall on the hitherto runaway candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Now these favorite son commitments are destined to play an important part. The Smith supporters count on them to absorb enough of the votes beyond their own reach to hold Roosevelt below the necessary two-thirds strength needed to nominate. Thus the Smith vote, if de-

Gas Formations Passed in Well

Three gas formations have been passed in the Jewell Oil company's No. 1 Meers in the northwest quarter of section 106, block 3, I & GN survey. The well is being drilled by local capital. The boilers are being moved today and drilling will probably be resumed tomorrow.

The first gas show was encountered at 2,817 feet. Another showing was found at 2,848 feet and the third was reached at 2,850 feet. The test is standing at 2,855 feet and making 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Robberies Reported Here

Cash Register Is Stolen at Grocery — Found by NEWS Employee Today.

Three business places were entered during the week-end by burglars and one automobile was stolen. The cash register at the H. & M. grocery on West Foster was stolen about 11 o'clock last night by burglars who drove up to the curb, smashed the glass of the front door, and escaped before persons in the apartment at the rear of the store reached the front.

Five nickels, six pennies and 45 in tickets were taken from the register which was recovered early this morning by Harry E. Hoare of The NEWS who saw it just over the fence in a what field about two miles north of town as he was driving to the city from the Louie Behrends place. The ice ticket covers were found in the roadside ditch by Mr. Hoare. City officers are investigating.

A radio was stolen from Pampa lunch No. 1 on West Foster. Saturday night locks were broken off the gas pumps at the high school bus garage and at the Magnolia filling station at Five Points on South Cuyler and quantities of gasoline stolen.

Jerome Henry reported the theft of his black Tudor Ford from where it was parked in front of a residence in the Cook-Adams addition, Sunday night. License number was 512-492. Riverside tires were on the front and Royal cords on the rear wheels.

Traffic Patrol in Drive Here Today

Motorists of this community driving without 1932 license plates on their cars were in trouble today. It was, "No arguing—you can tell it to the judge! Come along now, and come quietly!"

For true to his work, Sergeant R. H. Reuth and two state highway department patrolmen, L. T. Keffer and Boyce Long arrived in Pampa this morning, to arrest all and sundry persons driving without plates. They will remain here several days, Sgt. Reuth said—"or until we have no further business here."

The officers visited Pampa last Thursday, but agreed to "lay off" Pampa until today. Local justices of the peace were expecting a busy day, inasmuch as only 4,100 of the 7,000 "hot" vehicles in the county have been registered.

ORDERED UP RIVER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (P)—Two American destroyers have been ordered from Shanghai up the Yangtze river, one to augment forces at Nanking and the other to be stationed at Chingkiang.

Vincent Coll, Notorious Gangster of New York, Riddled by Bullets

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (P)—Young Vincent Coll, who was poison with a pistol and most feared of the Gotham "guns," got his load of lead in a telephone booth at 12:45 a. m. today.

A machine gunner chopped him down coolly and deliberately in a west 23rd street drug store.

A single slug tore away the nose of the 24-year-old hoodlum so often had turned up at his deadly rival, "Dutch" Schultz, and the Schultz beer-peddling domination in the Bronx.

No murder more carefully planned has been done in New York in years.

Coll's bodyguard arose quietly from his table, circled noiselessly out of range and slipped through the door to the street. The killer paid him no heed. Standing within a few feet of the phone booth, the man lifted the barrel of the machine gun, rested it carefully on his left arm and pulled the trigger.

Coll's body slid down, almost doubling up, and wedged in the booth near the floor.

The slayer backed out of the store. A companion, armed with a machine gun, was awaiting him there at the door of a sedan at the wheel of which was a third man. They drove away, going west to Eighth avenue and then north. The killer's car became lost in the traffic.

Sunday School Problem Affects Adults Primarily

How to influence more Pampa children of school age, especially high school students, to attend Sunday school and church, was a subject discussed at the weekly meeting of the Ministers association this morning.

The Rev. A. A. Hyde, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, expressed the belief that the lack of attendance was due more to an adult than to an adolescent problem.

ROUSE RESULTS IN SLAUGHTER DURING NIGHT

DEFENDERS LIE BEHIND SANDBAGS UNTIL READY

SETTLEMENT DAMAGED

HOPE FOR IMMEDIATE SOLUTION SEEMS FUTILE

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS
SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 8. (P)—As the firing across Chapel died out early this morning, as it usually does a little after midnight, Chinese headquarters announced that a machine gun section had moved down 300 Japanese during the day's engagement.

It appeared that the Chinese had led the enemy into a trap, lying quietly behind their sandbag batteries while the Japanese pushed out an advance column.

They let the column get deep into Chinese territory then opened up on them from front and on both flanks. It was a slaughter.

The battle around the Chinese native quarter leveled proportions and the property damage within the international settlement was heavy.

Chinese shells aimed at Japanese headquarters in North Chongming road fell repeatedly within the settlement and their explosion inflicted constant damage until the engagement stopped before 1 a. m.

Police Retreat
So numerous were the shells hurled around the settlement police station near the Japanese headquarters that the police were forced to retreat into the basement and sandbag doors and windows.

Explosions had broken all the windows in the station and had torn up the ground about it. The police force had been holding their headquarters for 10 days in the face of frequent shell fire, but last

BUILDERS OF PAMPA

The progress and development of any city is the result of the energy and effort of the business men and firms who make it up. The businesses listed on this page are permanent institutions and have contributed much to the upbuilding of Pampa.

This page will appear in the News one day each week and will contain something new and interesting each time. A study of its stories will give a new knowledge of the reasons for the individual successes. Help these merchants in their program.

PAMPA FURNITURE COMPANY IS KNOWN FOR SALE OF SIMMONS MATTRESSES AND MOHAWK RUGS

Satisfaction Guaranteed on Every Sale Made In the Store

In May, 1929, F. M. Foster took over the ownership and management of the Pampa Furniture Company. It was then located at 305 West Foster avenue, and soon Mr. Foster moved to the present location at 308 West Foster.

Mr. Foster, and Mrs. Foster, who has also been active in the management of the store, have built a reputation of fair dealing with all their customers and have furnished part or all of thousands of homes in Pampa during the past three years.

Last Fall, when the furniture markets were dropping rapidly, Mr. Foster decided to clean out his high priced merchandise and replace it with furniture that was selling at lower prices. He held an auction sale, selling hundreds of items at whatever price his customers cared to bid.

This sale cleared the store of hundreds of items which it was possible to replace and sell for less than the original items cost. Mr. Foster went east and placed his order for several carloads of new furniture. This merchandise was manufactured under depressed conditions when labor and materials, of the same high quality as ever, were available at much lower prices.

This enabled the Pampa Furniture Company to bring to Pampa homes furniture at lower prices than ever were offered in Pampa. Much of this furniture is still available at the store at the low prices.

Interior View of Pampa Furniture Company Store

Furniture Markets Are Visited Regularly For Latest Styles

Periodically Mr. Foster makes buying trips to eastern markets to select furniture for his store. Always he keeps in mind the fact that Pampa people are interested in the latest styles and materials of furniture. He believes that quality at low price will always please his customers.

The Pampa Furniture Company is exclusive dealer in Pampa for Simmons mattresses. "We believe that Simmons makes the best mattress on any market today, and we know that we will have a satisfied customer when he buys a Simmons," says Mr. Foster. "We are able to place an absolute satisfaction guarantee on these mattresses, as well as on any of our other merchandise. We personally believe that this guarantee should be made and we intend to handle only such merchandise as we can back by this guarantee. Our merchandise is also backed by the guarantee of the manufacturer which is a double protection against any defects, should they occur."

Mr. Foster was in the furniture business in Amarillo for several years and brought to Pampa a wide experience in furniture retailing.

The Pampa Furniture Company carries the most complete stock of Mohawk rugs in this territory. A big business has been built on these rugs because of their high quality and the low prices at which they can be sold. They are all guaranteed by the manufacturer to be absolutely satisfactory.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Hollye Sellers Hinkle

Wanted: Unique parties.

Pages of the Pampa NEWS have included many unusual events held by organizations recently, but there by organizations recently, but formerly were of so much interest?

An Oklahoma woman entertained with an old-fashioned country dinner and party the other day. Guests were invited to enter the grill-room, the way being led through the washrooms of the basement, where old-fashioned wash pan, towel, and comb rack rested, each guest, being sleek and void of face powder upon entering the dining room with others for first honors in eccentric costuming.

Red-checked tablecloths, old-time casters, and wick lamps added to the appropriate details of such an occasion.

This week will be one of real advancement, from the standpoint of knowledge, for Pampa women. On Tuesday, they will hear their district club president speak, and will have a chance to question her on any problem pertaining to club work. Then, on Friday, will have the rare opportunity to hear a lecture by President I. N. McCash of Phillips university, who will tell of the 5-year plan in Russia.

Whether Dr. McCash will speak for or against the 5-year plan we are not sure. We hope it will be neither. We would prefer to have him present the facts and let us draw our own conclusions. We believe Dr. McCash, after visiting and studying the country, is capable of presenting all angles, good and bad, of the 5-year plan.

It will be a hearty welcome extended by local club women to Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon, their district president. Mrs. Hill has given much time and thought to club work, and she is prepared to answer many questions that may confront local women.

"Stychnine"—What a name for a club! But the problem that occupied about 10 minutes of this writer's time the other day was discovering how to spell the word. Visited effort. The name of the club is "Styct-Nine."

B. C. D. Directors to Meet Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of directors of the Pampa Board of City Development has been postponed from tonight until 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, C. H. Walker, president, announced this morning. Committee chairmen will name their committees at the meeting and a program for the year and the budget will be discussed.

The activities committee, which meets jointly with the similar committee from the Junior chamber of commerce will make its report to the board tomorrow. Several major activities for the year will be suggested to the board for approval.

Default Judgment Now Being Argued

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (AP)—Arguments in the state's plea for default judgment against three major oil companies were heard today in the suit of Attorney General James V. Allred to oust 15 oil companies and two petroleum associations from Texas.

Default judgments were sought on grounds the companies failed to answer the suit charging violation of anti-trust laws through a purported conspiracy to control the marketing of gasoline and other oil products. Penalties of approximately $1,000,000 were sought from the Standard Oil company of California, the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and the Socomey-Vacuum Oil company of New York.

Arguments on the default judgment question have consumed more than two days of the trial.

Recent "Hints" on Planting Roses Offered by Authority on Subject

By V. S. HILLOCK
Writer for The Associated Press

After men had discovered through experimentation that the rose for its well being and prosperity should be planted shallow, they looked about them within the practices of nature to discover nature's confirmation of the discovered fact.

Man reads few secrets of nature except in retrospect, when they, with great frequency stand forth in amazing clarity to his humiliation that he, having eyes, could not see. The practices in nature which confirm the requirements of shallow planting of the rose have been known for centuries.

A rose seed must be planted at a depth of less than one inch or it will not germinate. The proper depth for such planting is approximately one-fourth inch.

When a bean or peach seed germinates, one shoot is sent upwards upon which the plant is established at its lower extremity. When a rose seed germinates, a shoot is likewise sent upward upon which the plant is established. No shoot is sent downward. The roots of the seedling rose spring directly from the seed itself. Therefore, the roots spring from within one inch of the surface of the soil. This rose is the creator's model rose.

If a cane or branch of a climbing rose be laid upon the surface of the soil and covered with leaves in autumn, with the coming of the spring it will be found that small white roots have grown into the soil. If the cane is not disturbed, a root system will be established and in time branches will rise from the root crown. Thus a new plant will be established. It will stand upon the model of the seedling, with roots springing from a point extremely close beneath the surface of the soil.

If the cane be covered with soil for some distance along its length, eyes will 'strike' where it enters the soil and will 'strike' far beneath the surface of the soil.

Nature knows the cutting, or slip, only as a broken fragment. Such method of reproduction in nature is, and always has been, only incidental because it is doubly accidental. Its use in nature depends upon accidental rending of the parent plant by storm or animal and upon accidental method of reproduction in nature that man laid hold upon for the production of his roses. Its understanding is highly important to the amateur rosarian.

The evolution of a plant so produced in nature may be seen thru the use of cuttings of hardy climbers or of specie roses. Such a cutting habitually establishes a root system at the base of the fragment regardless of the depth to which it has been planted. The new plant is thus established. But during the second or third season a new root system is established close beneath the surface of the soil. The original fragment, a plant so produced attains normality through reestablishing its root system. In man's garden of roses, it can, and should attain normality in high degree through shallow planting.

Shallow planting makes for vigor longevity and prosperity within the rose.

MERTEN EVENT ATTENDED BY TWO HUNDRED

WEDDING AND BOXING MATCH AMONG FEATURES

"Not a frown in a carload" might be said of the 200 persons who attended a frolic given by the Merten Parent-Teacher association at Merten school Friday evening. The entertainment was in connection with a shower of dishes and silver which will be used in serving lunches to children of the school.

Opening the fun, was an old-fashioned railroad spelling bee conducted by Mrs. C. H. Haney and Mrs. Bill Hargis. Then Joy, Marjorie, and Doyle Enloe entertained with vocal and harmonica selections, and Miss Allie Tabor sang, playing her own guitar accompaniment.

A mock wedding drew roars of laughter. "Rev." Mildred Smith officiated and Mrs. Tom Alford played the wedding march for the marriage of Bill Hargis and Miss Ann Fry. John C. Browning was the ring bearer and James Billie Hargis carried the bride's train. All were in eccentric costumes.

Readings were given by Miss Dot Knowles and Walton Newton. Miss Mildred Smith conducted a class in expression, and the pupils were introduced as follows: "Little Andy Enloe, Little Tommie Alford, Little Glennie Culberhouse, Little Nellie Haney, Little Willie Jo Priest, and Little Nettie Browning. All were found to be handicapped in some way, but the defects were removed.

Then Amos and Andy were represented by Mrs. Tom Alford and Miss Allie Tabor, while Mr. Hargis and Mr. Alford were trainers and Glen Culberhouse was referee for a "boxing match." With faces blacked, the two boxed until all the balloons, which practically covered each of the boxers, were broken.

Judge and Mrs. B. S. Baldwin and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Waller were among the guests from Pampa. Mr. Baldwin told of some of his school-day experiences.

CLASS WILL MEET

Loyal Women's class, First Christian church, will meet for study Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock in its classroom.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

The subject of the lesson-sermon was "Spirit" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Feb. 7.

I Corinthians 2:12 furnished the golden text. "We have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God."

Included with the passages read from the Bible were these from I Corinthians 12:4-6: "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all."

The service also included the following citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p.451): "Man walks in the direction towards which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also. If our hopes and affections are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit."

K. C. McCullough and Willie Meyer visited friends in Lubbock yesterday.

Mardi Gras to Be Usual Dazzling Festival Tuesday in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8. (AP)—This city tomorrow will fling itself into a merry jamboree as it pays homage to Rex, king of carnival—for Mardi Gras begins.

Not long after dawn, the city's web of thoroughfares will empty masked throngs from homes of rich and poor alike into broad Canal street where the maskers will pack the central pedestrian zone and sidewalks to frolic until Rex arrives.

Into this arena will roll the monarch's parade of sparkling floats. Only once will he halt. Before the queen's balcony he will pause to salute and drink her health. Into the laps of the ladies of her court his attendants will toss trinkets.

Street masking will end at dusk but revelry continues until midnight. The last night parade will be that of Comus and his Crew. Like that of Proteus tonight, it will roll forth in dazzling floats banked by robed negroes bearing blazing flambeaux and ending at an elaborate ball.

Late tomorrow evening, Comus and his queen will proceed from their ball to that of Rex at the city auditorium and will exchange greetings with the King Carnival and his queen. At midnight festivities will officially end.

Wearry revelers will pause for coffee at the old French market and then go home to slumber into the serenity of the Lenten season and 40 days of penance.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croceote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, croceote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croceote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the croceote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

night's action was the worst they had yet faced.

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 8. (AP)—Fighting with a spirit they had not hitherto exhibited, the Chinese army today repulsed a Japanese attack on the forts at Woosung and renewed the bombardment of the enemy bluejackets holding Hongkew.

The Japanese already had occupied a part of Woosung village, 16 miles down the Whangpo from the city, but when they tried to extend their holdings the Chinese threw them back.

Thereupon nine Japanese destroyers opened up from the river and dropped shells in the village.

Over in Chapel, where things were quiet in the morning, the Chinese unlimbered their trench mortars late in the afternoon and began shelling Hongkew.

The Japanese replied with their artillery and sent bluejackets into action with rifles and machine guns. The firing kept up three hours. Some of the shells fell inside the international settlement.

The British volunteers, strung along the settlement boundary near the Chapel north station, blocked a Japanese flank attack.

The Japanese moved along Ranger road, trying to get around a British "pillbox." If they had succeeded they could have gone along the Eign road and fallen upon the Chinese rear.

But the British threw up a sand-bag barricade at the end of Ranger road and headed them off. It blocked the movement but it left the British in a delicate position, facing the Japanese in one direction and the Chinese in the other.

The Chinese offered less resistance at Woosung today, in contrast with the galling fire they poured to Japan's diplomatic representatives abroad to be broached at the proper time to foreign governments, is a provision that Manchuria be eliminated from the treaty's provisions.

Shortly after the first United States note to Tokyo on the Manchurian question it was learned in Tokyo that the government was considering proposing a conference of the on the attackers yesterday.

By GLENN BABE TOKYO, Feb. 8. (AP)—The Japanese government, for the second time since its policy in Manchuria and China has been questioned by foreign governments, moved today for a revision of the nine-power treaty under which Japan, with eight other world powers, agreed to respect China's administrative integrity.

Included in the new proposal which a foreign office spokesman said is being sent to the powers to revise the treaty, including a more clear definition of the term "administrative integrity."

A spokesman for the government then said that at the time Japan signed the treaty she should have made a reservation on Manchuria but neglected to do so.

Under the new proposal made to the diplomats, the spokesman said today, each large commercial center in China would be surrounded by a neutral zone 15 to 20 miles wide, policed under international supervision. Chinese soldiers would be excluded from these zones.

Such an agreement, he said, would recognize that some measure of international intervention is necessary to give China peace and stable government, whereas the nine-power pact is based on the principle of avoiding foreign interference in China.

The centers it would be proposed to demilitarize are Shanghai, Canton, Hankow, Tsingtau, and Tientsin. Japan, he said, intended definitely and permanently to demilitarize Manchuria herself.

veighed, and the favorite-son vote combined would exercise, not the power to nominate, but the power to veto.

In the favorite son column now appear 254 of the convention's 1,151 votes: Illinois for Lewis, Maryland for Ritchie, Missouri for Reed, Ohio for White, Oklahoma for Murray, Texas for Garner, and Virginia for Byrd.

Need 278 Votes The Smith men are trying principally for 278 votes: New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

NEW YORK Feb. 8. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith looked significantly today at the sword of presidential candidacy, sheathed at the 1928 polls, and announced himself willing to go again to the political wars.

"If the democratic national convention should decide that it wants me to lead, I will make the fight," he said in a terse statement published today.

The statement itself was widely construed in editorial comment as in effect a thrust against the candidacy of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York—the man who nominated Smith for the presidential nomination at the 1928 democratic national convention and sent him forward to the contest of votes as the "happy warrior" of democracy.

Roosevelt Silent Governor Roosevelt declined to comment. So did Gov. Ritchie, an avowed candidate, Speaker Garner and Newton D. Baker, each of whom has been mentioned as a presidential possibility.

Smith was asked if he would forbid use of his name in state that do not require the consent of a candidate for nomination.

"I don't see how I can stop anyone," he said.

one from doing anything," he said. "Will you support any candidate selected by the convention?"

"I am a democrat. That is your answer. Does this permit your friends to enter your name in various state primaries?"

"No Campaign" "I will answer that by repeating I'll make no pre-convention campaign."

Republicans generally expressed elation, believing a fight within the democratic party would bolster republican chances at the election.

Smith found New York press comment mixed. The New York TIMES inferred Smith was suffering from "a bad case of... presidentialitis," and added: "Even the most blindly complacent champion of Governor Roosevelt must see that the entrance of Mr. Smith into the contest for the presidency heavily clouds the governor's own prospects."

The HERALD-TRIBUNE noted Smith's "frankness and directness" to be "in sharp contrast with the pussyfooting and evasive tactics of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The Syracuse POST-STANDARD said Smith's stand "has split the democratic party so badly... that it will be able to present only the illusion of a united front during the campaign."

In the South, where democracy's stronghold lies, much of the comment was in a vein of regret that Smith should have taken this course.

HORNED FROGS EXPECTED TO CLIMB NEAR LEAD TONIGHT

TEXAS AGGIES WILL DEFEND THEIR CELLAR

TEXAS AND MUSTANGS ALSO WILL PLAY THIS EVENING

DALLAS, Feb. 8. (AP)—The Texas Christian Aggies are expected to climb within one game of a tie with Baylor for the Southwest conference basketball lead tonight.

The Christians play Texas A. and M. in the conference cellar with four consecutive defeats. The other game tonight will be here between the University of Texas and Southern Methodist. The Mustangs will try for victory and a tie for fifth place with the Longhorns.

These two games will start the conference contenders on a busy week in a race that blazed anew Saturday night when Arkansas defeated Baylor, 42 to 31. It was Baylor's first defeat in six conference starts. If the Bears had won, the race would have been all Baylor with only a game against Texas Christian as the final obstacle. But as it now stands, the championship can be won by Baylor, Texas Christian, Arkansas and even Rice has an outside chance. Texas, S. M. U. and the Aggies are definitely eliminated.

The important series this week will be Friday and Saturday night at Fayetteville where Texas Christian plays Arkansas. A double loss for either team would mean championship elimination. Baylor will play Southern Methodist Friday, A. and M. journeys to Austin Saturday.

Arkansas' victory over Baylor was the biggest conference sport news since Southern Methodist won the football crown.

Raymond Strickland tried to save the Bears by shooting 18 points but Arkansas' powerful defense was too much for other Baylor players.

The Frogs checked in with their third consecutive conference victory by stopping Texas, 36 to 14. The brilliance of Adolph "Too Tall" Dietzel was good enough for 18 points.

The cellar battle between A. and M. and S. M. U. resulted in a rough and tumble affair that could not be classed as basketball. The Mustangs, after trailing most of the first half, flashed enough scoring ability to win, 30 to 23.

ENLOE IS STAR OF CAGE MEET

Pampa Forward Is High Point Man — Miss Mona Robinson Tops Girls.

Good sportsmanship marked the Pampa invitation basketball tournament which closed Saturday night with the Pampa girls winning their division and the Pampa and Memphis boys playing overtime to a tie. Both teams received awards.

The losing teams took their defeats like veterans and congratulated the winners. Both Memphis and Pampa players desired to play additional overtime periods until a winner was declared, but the coaches of both teams decided that the players were too fatigued and ill to continue the battle.

Captain Flash Enloe of the Harvesters was high point scorer of the tournament, with 46 points to his credit. He made one more score than Evans of Hedley J. Davis of Memphis, who was third.

Mona Robinson of the Pampa girls rolled up the high score in that division with 54 points. T. Gibson of Amarillo was second and M. Fulgim of Canadian third.

It was regretted that several teams could not attend the tournament because of illness. There were 32 teams entered when the tournament opened. The White Deer boys after winning their first game, had to forfeit to the Pampa Harvesters because of illness in their ranks. The Harvesters were without the services of Robert Woodward after the first game. He is still in bed with influenza.

The All Stars and faculty provided entertainment when teams drew byes because of absent teams.

GEORGE SPITZ MAKES CHAMP OUT OF SELF

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—Five years ago a rangy, smiling high school youngster rigged up some jumping bars in the back yard of his home on Long Island and started to make a high jumper of himself.

Today a visitor to the George Spitz Jr. home still can see where those jumping standards were set out. There still is the deep path made by George as he ran, hour after hour, and flung himself over a swaying bamboo pole.

It is a path, you might say, that led to a world's championship. For this same youth, now 19 and in his sophomore year at New York university, set the world's indoor record at 6 feet 7 inches last year and Saturday at the Millrose games bettered that mark by five-eighths of an inch.

Several times, in practice, he has sailed over the bar at six feet 10 inches but he doubts he ever will attain that height in competition.

"There's something about jumping in a championship that gets you," he explained. "The crowd doesn't scare me. But when they lift that bar an extra inch or two and tell you it's above the record height, it's hard to keep from tightening up. I've seen good jumpers

SQUEEZE PLAY CULBERTSON'S TRIUMPH TRY

PSYCHOLOGY HAD BIG PART IN RECENT TOURNEY

BY TOM O'NEIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—A triple squeeze in his contract bridge match with Sidney S. Lenz is regarded by Ely Culbertson as the feature of the greatest hand he has ever played. It was marked by precision of inferences in bidding and correct deductions by psychology as well as by cards as to what opponents held.

Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson were partners against Lenz and Oswald Jacoby. Ordinarily Jacoby was tense when playing or defending a hand. On this occasion he was smilingly nonchalant. Culbertson therefore assumed Jacoby held certain honors in the expectation of defeating a three no trump contract. A squeeze was applied in such a manner that Jacoby had to discard from three honors which might have taken tricks. Whatever the discard might be Culbertson could not fail at making game.

Lenz S-A 3 2 H-9 8 3 D-K 10 8 6 C-7 5
Mrs. Culbertson S-K J 5 H-10 4 D-Q J 5 3 2 C-A Q 6
Jacoby S-Q 10 6 4 H-K Q J 2 D-4 C-K 9 3 2

The bidding: Culbertson one no trump; Lenz pass; Mrs. Culbertson three no trump; all pass.

Having the squeeze in mind, Culbertson refused to finesse the queen of clubs in dummy on the seventh trick. After eight tricks the holdings were:

Lenz S-9 3 2 H-9 8 3 D-None C-7
Mrs. Culbertson S-K J 5 H-None D-None C-Q
Jacoby S-Q 10 6 4 H-K Q J 2 D-4 C-K

When on the ninth trick the queen of diamonds was led from dummy the squeeze began. If Jacoby discarded the king of clubs the Culbertsons would take all the tricks. The discard of the queen of hearts would be throwing away a high card if Jacoby got in. Of the last five tricks the Culbertsons made one diamond and three spades losing to the king of clubs at the end, Culbertson fulfilling his contract of three no trump.

A heavy cross wind Saturday and yesterday hampered all the entrants. Clark won by traveling the last 18 holes in par after Tony Hanero of New York had a two-stroke lead at the end of 36.

OLDTIMERS IN CUSHION TILT

Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago and Otto Reisel Are Still in Tourney.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8. (AP)—Two oldtimers in the billiard business, Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago and Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, will play a round of three cushions tonight for a world championship and $10,000 in cash.

This pair of angle artists reached the final match tied for first place with seven victories and three defeats and tonight will play for the big reward—$7,500 and 16 per cent of the receipts which will amount to another $2,500.

Kieckhefer will be after his tenth title, which should be defeated the fidgety Philadelphia, would tie the all time mark of ten champions, held by Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo. It will be Reisel's sixth title if he is able to overcome the left-handed Chicagoan.

Each suffered a defeat Saturday and both lost by the same score in the same number of innings.

The financial reward to the runner-up will be about $5,100, with $1,800 going to the third place winner. The winner of fourth place playoff will receive about $1,500 and the best two places will be good for $1,150 and $950, respectively. The last four in the standing will divide about $4,500.

Americans Try Hard for Records

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—The figures tell the story of a determined pre-Olympic charge by America's track and field stars here over the week-end—two world indoor marks smashed and another tied.

Three youths—Gene Venzke, Geo. Spitz and Emmett Toppin—unheard of nationally when the last Olympics were run off at Amsterdam in 1928, accounted for these brilliant performances.

Venzke, a formidable runner only since last year, flashed the Wana-maker mile of the Millrose A. A. games in 4:11 1-5, shaving four-fifths of a second off the indoor mark held jointly by Paavo Nurmi and Jole Ray.

Spitz, America's chief hope for the high jump championship in the coming Olympics, bettered his own indoor record by five-eighths of an inch when he cleared the bar at six feet 7 1/2 inches.

Toppin, rapidly developing into one of the greatest sprinters in the game turned the 60 yards in 7 2-10 seconds, equalling the record first set by Loren Murchison and since equalled by several others.

SPRING GRID WORK SLATED

Inexperienced Lads to Get Valuable Training for Future Campaigns.

The old, old topic will be in the air again tomorrow. This afternoon, Coaches Odus Mitchell and Argus Fox up at the high school are scheduled to give out football uniforms for spring training, which will start tomorrow afternoon at Harvester park. Players who have never lettered or who have played no previous football will be eligible to participate in the spring training.

The coaches expect about 40 boys out for practice, but will not be disappointed if there are more. Every member of the Gorilla squad of last year will be in uniform tomorrow afternoon. Several newcomers to the high school, through graduation from junior high school or transfer from some other school last September.

The coaches have not decided who will take charge of the football training but it is probable that Coach Mitchell will take charge and hand the basketball situation over to Coach Fox.

It is rumored that Coach Mitchell will be relieved of all coaching duties excepting football. It will be a mammoth job to build a green and gold team this year because of the one-year transfer rule which will bar several new students of promise from taking part in athletics.

However, Coach Mitchell is anything but blue. "We have some mighty fine Gorillas coming up and with several boys from last year's squad on hand we will give every team in the district a job," Coach Mitchell said. "Pampa can produce her own football players in the future as she has done in the past."

BOB SLEDDERS ARE MATCHED FOR OLYMPICS

TITLE HOLDER TRAINED IN BACK YARD FOR YEARS

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Jan. 8. (AP)—The 1932 winter Olympics rounded the first third of the course today, leaving argument behind and protests overshadowed as the men who play the most dangerous game in the world, the Bob sledgers of eight nations, pitted chilled steel nerves against the perils of treacherous Mount Van Hoevenberg.

There were other things on the packed program of the fifth day of the international conflict but none could compare for thrills, gladder and the possibility of sudden death with the breathless sport that has grown from the youngsters' pastime of sliding down hill. In the Olympic arena, the men's figure skating champions of eight nations, among them Karl Schafer of Austria, world champion, and his rival, Gullis Granstrom of Sweden, Olympic title holder, gathered for their fancy maneuvers.

At the stadium eight speed skaters, Valentine Blais, Irving Jaffee, Edwin Wedge and Edward Schroeder of the United States forces, Alex Hurd and Frank Stack of Canada and the Norwegians, Ivar Ballanrud and Berni Evensen faced nothing more dangerous than a cold wind.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN and CECILY FEWENICK have for years supported themselves. Their younger sister, FRANCES, and their grandparents, known as "R O S A L I E" and "GRANDY" because of their social responsibility, Ann, who is 23, is unable to marry PHIL ECKHARD, young lawyer to whom she has been engaged for eight years. Cecily, 22, loves HARRY HEKEL, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name their wedding date for the same reason.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with EARL DE ARMOUNT, vaudeville actor, and meets him secretly. He tries to persuade her to become his stage partner.

Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears LETTY KING, who works in Phil's office building, address him with endearments. Ann tries to force Phil by going around with KENNETH SMITH, rich and attentive. Cecily is disturbed when she learns Harry has left town without telling her about it.

Mary-Frances falls in an examination and promises De ArmoUNT she will go with him. Next morning Cecily sees Barry outside the house in his car and, against her grandfather's command, rushes out to meet him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

BARRY came to meet her, but this morning he did not ask whether he looked pretty, and that was fortunate, because he looked frightful. He looked white, and unpressed, and unshaven, and tired, and cross. He did not take her hands. He hung his own at his sides, as if they were pounds too heavy to lift, and they pulled his shoulders down and forward.

He said, "I've been driving all night, trying to get away from you."

She said, "Grand is coming. He'll make a scene. Let's go—anywhere."

As she stepped into the car one of the mules dropped off. Barry stooped to pick it up, and she said, "Hurry."

WHAT made Grand so hopping mad was that he could not recall a single speech of Lear's. To have been a lover, nay, more than a mere lover, a student, a disciple of the immortal Bard's for a lifetime, and then in a crisis to have it all come to naught, was hard, very, very hard. True, the blow, blow, thou winter wind, was ready to hand; but in his opinion the Highland section, directly counter to his own philosophy, all but ruined the song. Nor had he been able, ever, to give his entire approval to Rosalind. So he had to be content with mouthing, again, to Ann, "She struck me down. Our little Cecily turned and struck me down," and let it go at that.

Ann knew better; but since she had not seen anything except Cecily running out of doors in her bathrobe, all she could say was, "But, Grand dear, she didn't mean to."

and leave him moaning on the horse-hair sofa in the parlor while she went to telephone for the neighborhood doctor. Grand had been positive that he could not live until Dr. Elm could come from across the river.

Mary-Frances, two big frightened eyes beside the telephone, whispered as Ann hung up the receiver. "Ann, did Grand say she could never darken his door again? Did he, Ann?"

"Silly!" said Ann. "Of course not. Run on and see what you can do about breakfast. That's sister's baby. Everything will be all right."

Young Dr. Selberg and his bedside manner arrived together. After a dignified and deliberate examination he reluctantly gave out the news that, though Mr. Fenwick was suffering from shock, he seemed to have sustained no fractures, abrasions, contusions, contusions, or lesions. It was so formidable a list that the negative did not help much. Rosalie continued rocking and weeping; and Mary-Frances, poking about in the kitchen after eavesdropping at Grand's door, asked in a choked voice when Ann came, "Will he die?" And, reassured, "Will Cissy ever dare come home again?"

"Of course, dear. Cissy didn't mean to hurt him. She's not to blame. She wouldn't have hurt him for the world—and he isn't hurt a lot. Except his feelings. She'll be home before long and tell him she didn't mean to, and that she's sorry, and everything will be all right. Don't worry any more about it. Your history examination is today, isn't it?"

"History..." said Mary-Frances vaguely. Not since yesterday afternoon had she considered any history other than that which she and Earl were going to make together. Ovarians...

For the first time that morning Ann thought, "Cissy shouldn't have." To Mary-Frances she said, "Honey, all families have little fuses sometimes, and the only thing to do is forget all about them. Cissy will come home and be sorry, and by this time tomorrow everything will be as it has always been. Run along, now, if you've eaten your breakfast, and look over your notebooks. Your history examination is a thousand times more important than this little affair."

"Would it be all right, then," asked Mary-Frances, "for me to go to Ermintrude's for dinner this evening and stay all night?"

"Surely, dear. That will be fine. And you and Ermintrude can study together for your English examination tomorrow."

Mrs. Hill would see to it that they studied, during examination week. If Cissy shouldn't come home until afternoons, and if there should be another scene—perhaps at dinner—Mary-Frances would know nothing about it.

Mary-Frances hesitated, hung around. "I guess I'll kiss you good-bye, Ann angel."

"Sister's baby," said Ann, and hugged her. "Don't you worry any more now, will you, precious?"

"No," said Mary-Frances, and snuggled. "I love you, Ann. I love you and Cissy and Grand and Rosalie. I love you all, Ann."

"Of course," said Ann, trying to make it light and matter-of-fact at the same time. "Everybody loves everybody around here. Run along now, dear, and get to your studying."

MARY-FRANCES went as far as the door. "You'll remember that, won't you, Ann angel? If anything should happen, or anything, I mean. And you'll love me, too?"

Ann repressed a sigh, refused to allow herself to shake her head. "Of course, Mary-Frances. But don't be silly. What could happen?"

"Like," said Mary-Frances, "well—like if I should flunk in my exams or anything."

"You aren't going to flunk."

"I mean—if I should." She came back to Ann. "I'll kiss you good-bye again, I guess. Will you and Cissy love me if I flunk?"

"Poker," Ann reminded him, "is a man's game."

"Dear, listen to me. You are talking very foolishly. You aren't going to fail in your examinations. But, if you should, that wouldn't make any difference in our love for you. We'd be sorry and very much disappointed, but we'd love you just the same. Nothing you could do would make any difference in our love for you. But you must try hard, so that we can be proud of you as well as love you. You will, won't you?"

"I expect," sighed Mary-Frances, "that you'll be proud of me some time. Oh, yes—I expect you'll be proud, all right, if that's what you want to be."

"That's the way to talk, honey," Ann approved. But she returned to the dishpan with some small worries concerning Mary-Frances. Of late she was so—odd. The little Hill girl seemed like a nice little girl, and Mr. and Mrs. Hill were fine sensible people—only, Mary-Frances had never used to be so odd. Perhaps, during the summer, she and Cecily could encourage some new friendships for Mary-Frances.

Rosalie tiptoed into the kitchen. "He has forgiven her," she said. "He has forgiven her fully and freely and from his heart. It was his desire that I should come and tell you."

"That's good," said Ann briskly, far too briskly.

"Ann," breathed Rosalie, as Mary-Frances might have breathed it, "isn't he wonderful?"

"Indeed he is," said Ann promptly.

ly, dutifully.

"I was thinking, just now, as I sat beside him in his pain. We have been married almost 50 years. In all that time I have never found fault nor flaw. He has been always upright, honest, generous, tender, loving, forgiving, just. I could go on and on. There is no—um—attribute that has to do with goodness that your Grand does not possess. My one wish for you dear girls is that when you marry—and you will marry, of course, and soon, I hope—you may find a man who is half as good as your Grand. You'll never find a man as good, because he is the best man that ever lived."

"And that," Ann thought, a little awed in spite of herself, "is love. Rosalie believes every word she has said. Could I ever love anyone like that? Could Cissy? We couldn't. Why, I wonder? Why should Cissy and I have to be so different—so disillusioned? Is there something wrong with us? Or is love a game of solitaire, in which one has to cheat to win?"

"APPLE SAUCE!" said Kenny Smith that afternoon, in Ann's quiet office. "Solitaire? My aunt's eye! Be yourself, Ann. I'll tell you what it is, it's poker. Yeah, poker," he finished firmly.

"Poker," Ann reminded him, "is a man's game."

"Women can play," he grinned, "but most of 'em aren't so hot at it. They overbet their hands. They cheer when they get a good hand and holler when they get a bum one. They can't bluff—much. They can't remember that four aces beats a full house. They'll discard a pair and draw to a flush every time, and they'll bet a four flush as high as a good one. They throw away their openers. They hate to ante. That's the trouble with you, Ann. You won't ante. You have to get in the game before you can draw cards. You won't get in the game. You won't play. Now, listen, Ann..."

Ann did not listen, very attentively. She seldom listened to Kenny. She merely allowed him to rattle along and along, and so found a panacea for loneliness.

It was after three o'clock. She was beginning to worry seriously about Cecily. All day she had been expecting a telephone call from her, but none had come. Surely the child wouldn't stay out all day in her bathrobe and slippers. Surely the child—

"That's all I want, Ann. I wouldn't ask for a thing on earth but to be good to you and make you happy. I want to buy things for you—houses and cars and diamonds and things. I want to take you places and watch my wife knock 'em dead. I want to see you wearing black velvet and diamonds, and white satin and pearls."

REALISTIC "WAR" IS CARRIED ON WITH HAWAII DEFENSIVE

Tourney Draws Big Attendance

Save one, the first ever held in Pampa, the basketball tournament of last week was the most successful from a financial standpoint ever held in Pampa. Supt. R. B. Fisher said this morning. The one held in 1929 during the peak of the Goldidge prosperity era, drew the largest crowds and the most money, Mr. Fisher said.

However, the 1932 tourney was the best organized one the school has sponsored, Mr. Fisher said. After all expenses were deducted, the athletic department had a profit of $200 left Saturday night, Mr. Fisher said.

In the opinion of the superintendent, Enloe, whirlwind Pampa... should be cited for honorable mention as best all-around player.

"If I had been giving a trophy for best-all-around man, I would have given it to Enloe," Mr. Fisher said. "The 'fight' of every member of the team was praised. 'I really am proud of our basketball team this year—we've got a good team,' he said. At one time during his teaching experience, Mr. Fisher was a basketball coach.

HONOLULU, Feb. 8. (AP)—Army artillerymen trained the muzzles of their guns on sea and sky today, ready to battle navy ships and planes in what perhaps are the most realistic war maneuvers the nation's armed forces have ever undertaken.

The Hawaiian Islands, for the purpose of maneuvers, are presumed to be in the possession of a non-American force, which in practice comprises the 15,000 army personnel here and a small navy detachment. This is known as the "black" force. The battle force of the United States navy is the "blue" force.

If the "blue" force succeeds in putting ashore the 40,000 troops it is transporting here from the American mainland it will be over the figurative dead bodies of the "black" soldiers.

ABOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA OFF HAWAII, Feb. 8. (AP)—The "battle of Hawaii" proceeds, with strategic movements leaving the issue still in doubt.

Yesterday's "air show," when 144 "blue" fighters, scouts, and bombers paid compliments to the "black" forces defending Oahu in the working out of vital operations was not the only operations initiated during the day by Admiral Richard Leigh's attacking fleet. The second was marked by the arrival of our advanced security force at Hilo, on the "big island" of Hawaii.

COTTON IRREGULAR

NTW ORLEANS, Feb. 8. (AP)—The cotton market opened quiet and slightly irregular with first trades showing 1 point down to 1 up.

Liverpool cables were slightly worse than due and New York opened lower, presumably on overnight hedge selling orders.

March here traded down to 6.63, May to 6.79, and July to 6.94, or 4 to 5 points below Saturday's close.

Near the end of the first hour the market was quiet and barely steady with prices near the lows.
