TRUCK LOADS LAW ENJOINED

Question of Allowable Tonnage to Be Reviewed by Three-Judge Court.

HOUSTON, Jan. 23. (AP)—A three-judge federal court today granted an injunction suspending enforcement of one section of house bill No. 336, one of the motor truck laws, pending a supreme court review of the law.

Circuit Judge J. C. Hutcheson and Federal Judge T. M. Koenig granted the injunction, sought by the Ed Spores company of Fort Worth, with the authority of Federal Judge Duval West, third member of the court.

The section in question is that which attempts to restrict the net load of trucks to 7,000 pounds.

The court previously had upheld the validity of the law itself in a written memorandum.
The writ, directed to the governor, attorney general, highway commission, highway patrol and peace officers, restrained them from enforcing the provision of the bill against Spores or any of the intervenors in the suit, pending action on the appeal from the decision holding the law valid. Scrivnor was under indictment for the assassination of both Mrs. Jones and her husband, C. A. (Keggy) Jones, ex-convict, here August 31, last, but was tried only on the indictment for the murder of the woman.

The state's case was circumstantial and depended largely upon the testimony of Maurice O'Neil, New Orleans ballistics expert, that the slugs that killed the couple were fired from a pistol found in Scrivnor's home in Des Moines Iowa, at the time of his arrest there last October.

The defense offered no witnesses, and twice was denied an instructed acquittal.

The preliminary hearing for Culwell, S. R. and Floyd Carter and S. A. Herring ended abruptly today when the defense counsel moved that inasmuch as the charges could not be dismissed that bonds be allowed. Justice J. W. Minter stated that if young Culwell had been charged separately, the charges would have been dropped. Ten witnesses testified as to Culwell's innocence in the alleged "ride" given Durrance and he was allowed $500 bond. The others were allowed $1,500 bonds each.

The perjury hearing was set for Monday. Durrance had not been arrested tonight.

Richard Wallace was identified by a local drug store owner today as the youth who held him up less than a month ago and looted the store's cash drawer of $25. THIS EVIDENCE WILL BE GIVEN EARLY MONDAY

STATE IS EXPECTED TO REST FOLLOWING THIS MOVE

DEFENSE IS STUBBORN

BUT MANY FACTS OF SLAYING TOLD TO JURY TODAY

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 23. (AP)—A crowd of thrill seekers listened avidly today to descriptions of the discovery in Los Angeles of the bodies of Agnes Anne LeRoi and Hedvig Samuelson, but left the courtroom disappointed, when a motive for the alleged slaying of the women by Winnie Ruth Judd was not disclosed by the state.

Omitting only the final disclosures by which the state hopes to convict Mrs. Judd of first degree murder, punishable by hanging, County Attorney Lloyd J. Andrews introduced testimony describing discovery of the bodies in two trunks. Monday, Mr. Andrews is expected to reveal his answer to the question uppermost in the minds of trial followers. No direct motive for the alleged murder by the frail, blue-eyed defendant has been advanced so far in the trial. The two victims had befriended Mrs. Judd and she had spent much time in their apartment.

The bobbed-haired woman is on trial only for the murder of Mrs. LeRoi, x-ray technician and her associate in a Phoenix clinic.

The state, however, despite many a protest by Paul Schenck, veteran leader of defense counsel, has succeeded in forcing before the all-male jury, many of the more graphic facts of the slaying and dismemberment of Miss Samuelson, invalid former school teacher.

Fake Letter Is Received During Kidnaping Probe

DENVER, Jan. 23. (AP)—The search for Benjamin P. Bower, kidnaped from his home last Tuesday, marked time tonight while authorities endeavored to trace the author of a fictitious letter purporting to be from Bower and pleading for $50,000 ransom.

Handwriting experts said the letter was not written by Bower. The writing was in no manner similar to that on specimens furnished by a baking company of which Bower is manager.

The letter directed Mrs. Bower to drive west on the Golden road, where she would be met by two men to collect the ransom. Mrs. Bower does not drive an automobile, a fact which blasted the possibility of her husband writing the letter.

MRS. VIRGINIA DUERR WINS GOLD PRIZE IN NEWS' CIRCULATION DRIVE—RACE IS CLOSE

On Dec. 24th, contestants turned in several checks that were "ins." several days.

Last Minute Entrants

JAPANESE THREATEN MOVE TO POSITIONS IN SHANGHAI

More Warships Moved up for Instant Use—Warning Is Issued to Chinese.

(By the Associated Press)
The Japanese government threatened yesterday to occupy every Chinese barracks and fortress in the Shanghai district unless the local authorities abolished anti-Japanese societies that have participated in recent disorders.

Five more Japanese ships of war dropped anchor in the Whangpoo river off the Shanghai international settlement. This made a total of 11 Japanese naval craft ready for action in case more trouble developed on land.

The Chinese authorities at Shanghai made no answer to the Japanese ultimatum that they suppress the offending societies, explaining they needed authorization from the Nanking government.

Japanese officials at Shanghai declared that in the event the Chinese did not comply with their demands, their armed forces probably would occupy strategic positions in the Chinese portions of the city outside the international settlement.

Edwin S. Cunningham, United States consul general at Shanghai, stated that he had issued a warning to the Japanese against independent action against the Chinese. In Washington the state department expressed considerable concern over the Shanghai situation.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 23. (AP)—Seven hospital patients, including 12 children in a special ward, were menaced by fire which destroyed a cupola atop the St. Agnes hospital here tonight before firemen summoned by three alarms extinguished it.

EL SALVADOR REPUBLIC HAS FIGHTS RAGING

FOREIGN LIVES MAY BE ENDANGERED BY BATTLES

COMMUNISTS ARE BUSY

BRITISH AND CANADA TAKING PROMPT ACTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (AP)—With foreign lives endangered by communistic uprisings, three American war vessels were ordered tonight to steam under full speed to the tiny Central American republic of El Salvador.

Two Canadian destroyers already had changed their course and put into the Salvadoran port of Acajutla, and the British embassy advised the state department that one of its cruisers soon would be on the scene.

Spurred by a formal demand from the Italian consul general for protection of his countrymen, the navy department ordered the cruiser Rochester and two destroyers—the Phillips and the Wick—on from Panama to Salvador.

Three Engagements
William J. McCaffery, charge d'affaires at San Salvador, the capital, advised that Communists were attacking the city of Sansonati, and that there was fighting in at least two other towns within a few miles of the capital.

In highest official circles the prompt British and Canadian action was described tonight as "most welcome" even though foreign battleships entering into Latin-American troubles is unusual.

It was the first time officials could recall of Canada taking so active a part in Latin-American matters. Its destroyers were en route to the west coast of Canada to the Atlantic when the situation developed.

Withhold Recognition
Secretary of State Stimson announced tonight the United States would not recognize the regime of General Martinez, who succeeded the former constitutional government.

Jefferson Caffery, minister to Colombia, and another state department official, were in San Salvador. (See UPRISING, Page 2)

HUEY LONG TO TAKE OATH AS LOUISIANA'S SENATOR

But Determination of Cyr to Become Governor May Change Plans.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (AP)—Governor Huey P. Long will arrive in Washington Monday to take his oath as junior senator from Louisiana.

The ceremony of turning from governor to senator will be witnessed by a dozen Louisiana officials, who will accompany him to the capital in a private car attached to the Queen's limited.

Long believes he has set his political house in order in Louisiana and that Alvin O. King, president of the senate, will ascend to the governor's chair without interference, but he will keep his eye on the state.

If Paul N. Cyr, who sought to oust Long as governor on a dual office-holding charge and in turn was ousted himself from the lieutenant-governorship, attempts to reclaim the title, Long might postpone his senate oath and fly back to Louisiana to fend Cyr out of the way.

King advanced to the lieutenant-governor's office from president pro tempore of the state senate by Long's appointment.

Let today Cyr issued a statement in which he said he had not quit the fight.

Interrupted in conference with his attorneys, Cyr said:

"You can say I am not through. I contend that the moment Long takes the oath of office as United States senator in Washington, at that same instant I become governor of Louisiana."

Happy Jacks Win from Harvesters on Small Court

The Happy Jacks, playing in their tiny home gym, made things very unhappy for the Harvester A team coached by Odus Mitchell last night.

The Jacks won 42 to 32, but it might have been worse. In fact, it was worse in the first half, which ended 30 to 6 in favor of Happy. The gym was so short that the Jacks were shooting most of the time.

The locals hit their stride in the second half. Enloe was high point man for the Harvesters with 18 points, followed by Woodward and Marbaugh and Woodward with six each and Moore with two.

Louisiana Flood Told by Pampan

Floods throughout Louisiana are leaving thousands of families homeless, according to Alex Schneider, who returned from Monroe Friday night.

More than 500 families in Monroe were rendered homeless last week because of high water overflowing river banks. The Monroe Gas company removed 350 meters from homes that could be reached during the latter part of the week.

The Red Cross was active in relief work. Families whose homes have been swept away were being cared for in vacant houses and tents and storehouses being renovated for that purpose. Roads were almost impassable in the lowlands. Bridges have been swept away and roads torn up in places, Mr. Schneider says.

Although the rain stopped last Wednesday in Louisiana, Mr. Schneider encountered rain all through East Texas.

Holmes Breaks Bowling Record

Bill Holmes, one of the steadiest bowlers in the city, eradicated the old high score at the Pampa bowling alleys Friday afternoon and set up a new one for the boys to shoot at the rest of the year. He rolled a game of 269 pins, to beat C. M. Meriwether's former high score of 266 pins.

The veteran was bowling with Nap Baxter, Karl Cullum, and Gordon Moore when he set the new record for 1932.

Moore and Cullum are tied for high game since the season opened last September. They both have scores of 178 pins. The highest game ever rolled on the Pampa alleys was 288 and went to V. D. Prewitz.

Emmett Keeney of Laketon was shopping in Pampa yesterday.

Scanning New Books

By WARE TORREY NEW YORK—A telescope office more is held against the past, so that events and persons who have become history may be seen in vivid detail, in Ford Madox Ford's new book, "Return to Yesterday."

Ford Madox Ford, intimate friend of statesmen, writers and persons of international reputation in other fields, has a strong box of reminiscences into which to dip.

He breakfasts with Galsworthy and is sent to Coventry by May Sinclair. He collaborates with Conrad, provides stories for the entertainments of Edward VII, rescues Oscar Wilde's ebony cane, and induces Henry James, Stephen Crane and W. H. Hudson to drink at St. Leonards Well "from the hollows of their hands."

"Return to Yesterday" is a pleasing combination of data and characterizations of well known people, and light and amusing incidents. The American life of a short distance behind us is given interesting touches. Gladstone and Lloyd George receive descriptive strokes on one page, and the Russian secret police is discussed on another.

For range of material, for intimate knowledge of his subjects, and for polished style, "Return to Yesterday" takes high place.

HUMOR IN THE TROPICS

A flavoring of gentle but very able humor, clear characterizations, and a fluent plot are offered with "Mr. Darby," by Martin Armstrong. Mr. Darby, an unassuming clerk with a secret yen for adventure, suddenly inherits a fortune. After various experiments in spending money, he engages a valet, Punnett, and sets sail for Australia and the tropics.

Not the least part of the expedition is the leaving of his wife Sarah at home. Mr. Darby and Punnett become marooned upon the Mandratic peninsula.

A surfeit of adventure is provided for Mr. Darby when he becomes king of the savages, and stirring events only cease with the unexpected and dramatic intervention of Sarah.

FACTS ABOUT RUSSIA

Solid facts about Russia, substantiated by documents, statistics and the sworn statements of Russian refugees are presented by the Duchess of Atholl, M. P., in "Conscription of a People."

Among her findings, Katharine Atholl states that the five year plan depends largely on foreign credits and foreign purchases, and offers as her advice that government credits should cease, the sale to Russia of armaments or machinery for their manufacture should be prohibited, and Soviet imports should be limited.

Speakers Club I- to Have 2 Debates

Two debates will feature Tuesday night's meeting of the Speakers club which will be held in the city hall, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

At the last meeting of the public speaking class taught recently at the city hall, the public speaking society was organized with Jack Cunningham as president, and C. H. Walker, critic and director.

The society meets on the second and fourth Tuesdays in each month. The subjects to be debated Tuesday night are as follows:

"Resolved: 'That a college education is always beneficial,' and 'Resolved: 'That there are times when he truth should not be told.'"

Carson Loftus will give a dissertation on the bylaws and rules of debating before the two subjects are discussed extemporaneously.

Members will study the subjects from both affirmative and negative standpoints, and will be prepared to take either side.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE NEW YORK—A telescope office (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

"What will Borah do?" For more than 30 years with multiple variations to fit the occasion, this question has had a place all its own in national political speculation. It is so in 1932.

No one expects the senior senator from Idaho to help President Hoover along toward renomination. Few believe he will himself be an avowed candidate. And it is hard to visualize him remaining silent altogether.

The truth is, that when you have disposed of the more or less obvious negative aspects of the case even the senator himself probably could not answer now what his course will be.

He would like very much to be president. If he saw a real chance to defeat Hoover, he probably would run. The conviction grows that, as matters stand, he will do nothing to stop any movement in his behalf, and little to promote it.

In other words, if his friends see fit to enter his name in those primary states where the written consent of the candidate is not required by law, it is believed likely he will keep as quiet as possible, and let public opinion take its course.

Keeps 'Em Guessing

Borah is not a man to make hasty commitments nor storm through a campaign burning his bridges behind him. Almost more than any other major figure in politics, today, he insists on complete freedom of action.

The maxim of "no entangling alliances," preached so assiduously by him as a rule of national conduct, is no less a tenet of his own political code.

As far back as the Taft-Bryan campaign of 1908, when he was the new comer of the national scene, he was making and then breaking engagements to speak for the republican ticket.

In 1912 he surprised nearly everyone by refusing to go along with the Roosevelt Bull Moose ticket. Ever since he has seemed to take a sort of whimsical delight in keeping the politicians guessing.

Much has been said, and truly, of the great effect of Secretary Mellon's declaration for Hoover since his as the Kansas City convention was assembling in 1928.

Many forget that when there was a time just prior to that when the Hoover name was being looked anxiously toward an entirely different wing of the party, and then sighing with relief when a fully satisfactory reply was made to the question "what will Borah do?"

Watches His Steps

The question of what he will do to aid the drive of the insurgents against another Hoover nomination is one which Borah himself is not yet prepared to answer.

Hiram Johnson and all the others mentioned as insurgent candidates have stood with Borah on many issues. In 1920 Borah's voice was one of the most insistent in favor of Johnson's nomination, just as in 1928 it was a power for Hoover.

But there have been disagreements, too, of a kind well known to all those on the inside of national politics. The connection between Johnson and Borah is looked upon by most politicians as one of those bands upon which little expectancy can be placed.

Borah has put himself rather neatly in the attitude of having been able to step off the Hoover reservation without setting foot on any one's else.

'What Will He Do?'

Then there is the question what he will do about the projected third party, if any.

He refused to follow either Roosevelt or LaFollette when they bowed, but there is no question he has been listening to those who say neither the republicans nor the democrats can work out a west-winning combination this year.

He is listening, and considering—and sending his conferees away asking one another "what will he do?"

Three Locations Made in County During the Week

Two completions and three locations were announced in Gray county last week. Two of the locations are in the Wilcox pool. The third one is west of Pampa near the Carson county line.

The Gulf Production company will drill its No. 1 Catlin 2,310 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of section 57, block 5, in the Wilcox pool.

The Danziger Oil and Refining company's No. 3 Bynum will be drilled in the northeast corner of the east half of the northeast quarter of section 188, block 3, west of Pampa.

The Wilcox Oil company's No. 19 Combs-Worley will be in section 35, block 3, Wilcox pool. The Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company completed a big gasser in the East Central Gray county field.

The Empire Oil and Gas company has transferred to the Danziger Oil and Refining company the east half of the northeast quarter of section 188, block 3, F. Bynum. Danziger has made a location on the section and has the rig under construction.

ROOSEVELT

If called upon. One who believes in new standards of government for meeting new problems, in the translation of forward looking thought into practical action, must welcome a chance to do his share toward that end.

"As governor of a state containing nearly 13,000 people, I am, especially at this time, obligated to a still higher duty. These people when they reelected me in 1930 gave me a great confidence that I would continue the task of helping to solve the serious problems which confront us. Our legislature is now in session. If I am to be faithful to this trust I must devote myself to the obtaining of progressive laws, and the immediate administering of executive duties in the interest of the people of this state.

Cites Convictions "Were I now to divert my efforts in any degree by personal efforts in furtherance of my own political future, I would not only be untrue to my own convictions, but I would also stamp myself as one unworthy to be my party's choice as leader."

"I know that you will understand the good faith in which I tell you this; and also my hope that our party will place before the nation candidates who stand for progressive ideals of government, who represent no mere section, no narrow partisanship and no special class."

"I am grateful that my friends of North Dakota wish to present my name in the primary elections for the approval of the people of North Dakota, and I accede to that request."

"Faithfully yours, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Under the North Dakota law it was necessary that Mr. Roosevelt give his consent before his name could be entered on the primary ballot.

Roosevelt Wins in Lubbock Poll

LUBBOCK, Jan. 23. (AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York democrat, led the field to a clear victory in the Avalanche-Journal's South Plains-wide straw vote ending today. The poll struck a blow for party loyalty, 918 persons declaring themselves to support any choice of their respective parties.

The Empire state governor, who today announced his candidacy for the democratic presidential nomination, polled 533 ballots of the 1,796 cast and led his closest rival, Congressman John Garner of Texas, by an even 150 votes.

Simms Oil company vs. H. E. Saunders et al; T. B. Cobb vs. C. Vollmert; State of Texas vs. E. R. Turman.

The fourth week of the present term of court begins tomorrow. Aside from several divorce suits and other non-jury cases the court has transacted little business since the term began. The single jury case, Zella Reddick vs. Prairie Oil and Gas company, ended in an instructed verdict for the defendant. The case has been appealed. During last week, non-jury cases were heard by Judge E. F. Ritchey.

Jurors for this week are as follows: Pampa—M. W. Jones, Roy McMillan, S. D. McKay, C. G. Attebury, K. M. Patterson, P. H. Bartholmea, W. L. Simmons, Mark Long, F. C. Rose, W. A. Shell, John T. tainly a credit to Pampa and, in fact, to the Panhandle. After talking with the manager, the campaign manager decided to choose between a $25 spring coat or spring dress. He also was advised that Mrs. Violet Gher is in California—Hollywood, Los Angeles, and San Francisco "making" the market and buying for Pampa ladies the latest in styles and merchandises. Shipments are arriving daily.

As promised, votes dropped again Friday night. Contestants will be given 90,000 votes on clubs of $30, also a reduction in all votes along the line for the third period, which closes Wednesday, Feb. 3. Candidates should take warning of the closeness of the votes and begin to double their results, which will eliminate hard competition these final days.

FRIENDLY SUIT WILL BE TRIED IN FEE PUZZLE

DALLAS, Jan. 23. (AP)—A friendly court suit was decided upon today as the means of determining whether Sheriff Hal Hood was entitled to retain $11,571 paid him by federal authorities for keeping their prisoners in 1930.

A private auditor's report held Hood owed the amount to the county, in addition to several expense items they said were not allowable. The total the auditors contended Hood owed the county was $20,884.87.

The sheriff stated he had believed he was entitled to the money for keeping the federal prisoners.

The body of Miss Samuison, he concluded, had been dismembered, not the day after she died, but very soon, "at most within a few hours" of the moment the leaden pellet lodged in her brain. CANADIAN BOYS, SPEARMAN GIRLS WIN MIAMI TOURNEY

MANY THRILLS FURNISHED BY STRONG TEAMS

PAMPA FIVES BEATEN OUT PRIOR TO THE FINALS

MIAMI, Jan. 23. (Special) — Identical scores were made by Spearman and Canadian in winning the girls' and boys' annual basketball tournament here tonight. Both victories were hard-fought.

In the finals, Spearman's girls niced out the White Deer team 22 to 20 in the most thrilling tilt of the tournament. Earlier in the day, Spearman conquered the Pampa girls team.

The Canadian club won the boys' crown by smothering it from Mobette in the last 20 minutes of the game by a score of 22 to 16.

Canadian won the right to enter the finals by trouncing the Miami warriors. Mobette literally squeezed victory from Wheeler in a rough and tumble battle.

Four basketball squads from Pampa high school fell at the Miami invitation basketball tournament. Friday and yesterday to leave Mobette and Canadian to battle in the boys' division and Spearman and White Deer in the girls' division.

The Gorilla B team coached by B. G. Gordon went out Friday afternoon. The Gorilla A team, coached by Warren Moore, after winning the first game lost to Canadian yesterday afternoon. Wheeler then furnished a surprise to defeat the Harvesters B team under Coach A. M. Fox in the semi-final match yesterday afternoon. The Pampa girls lost a hard fought battle to Spearman, 25 to 20.

Becker, Spearman forward, scored the 25 points made by her team. She was so tall that it was impossible for the Pampa guards to keep her from looping shots almost at will. Eura Rose and Mona Robinson shared the scoring for the Pampa girls.

Mobette beat Wheeler to go into the finals. It was the most unexpected game of the tournament. Canadian's win over Miami was also unexpected.

The Pampa girls opened the tournament Friday by defeating Wheeler 33 to 22. It was a closely contested game until late in the second half when the green and gold forged to the front. Eura Rose and Mona Robinson were the scorers. The guarding of Scott and Barnard was particularly strong. Rose made 26 points during the game.

The second contest in which the Pampa girls took part also was a close affair with the green and gold coming out at the long end of a 22 to 20 score. Eura Rose looped 16 points. Practically all her points came as the result of wonderful floor work by Mona Robinson, who passed and dribbled faultlessly. Vera Murphy and Coleman saved the day when they went in at guard positions to relieve Scott and Barnard who had played sensationally.

Amy Lard at center also played a strong game and it was her faultless passing that gave the Harvesters many points. Captain Betty James got into the game for a short period and showed up well. She has been ill for several months and is unable to play regularly.

Denver Pro Is Tied in Phoenix Golf Tourney

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 23. (AP) — Ky Laffoon, Denver professional, stroked his way into a tie lead with Ralph Guildahl, professional from Detroit, at the half way mark today of the Arizona open golf tournament. They are tied at 141, three under par, with scores of 141, three under par. Despite the Denver man's steady par-breaking play, he having displaced three entrants to move to the top with Guildahl, the sensation of the day was furnished by Paul Runyan of New York who made a hole-in-one on the 225-yard 17th.

Neither Laffoon nor Guildahl were low for today's 18 holes, that honor going to Archie Hambrick of Zanesville, Ohio, who turned in a 69, three strokes under par.

The Colorado professional shot a 71. Guildahl, who led the field yesterday with a sensational 67 over the par 72 course, required a 74 today.

Orin Lovel, 17-year-old Phoenix caddy, who scored a 71 yesterday to supply the opening day's sensation, faltered on the opening round of today's nine, getting a 41 and his two day score stood at 150.

Gene Sarazen and Wiffy Cox continued their bitter battle begun on the opening day, each scoring 74 and bringing their total to 145 each. Tomorrow's play—over 36 holes—will be at the Phoenix Country club and, will end the tournament, the first Arizona open.

Officials announced tonight the field will be reduced tomorrow to 35 professionals and 10 amateurs. Scores included:

Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, 74-72-146.
Dick Metz, San Angelo, Texas, 71-72-149.
Joe Ezar, Waco, Texas, 69-80-149.

Merritt Bates of Dallas is the new singles handball titlist of the Texas YMCA.

SCHEDULED TO BECOME FUTURE HORNED FROGS

JOHN PAFFORD PAUL HILL ED BURCH JOE FREEMAN
Pampa high school will send at least four boys to Texas colleges this year. Pafford, all state guard, Hill, Burch, and Freeman left here yesterday to enroll in Texas Christian university at Fort Worth. Other boys from Pampa high school who will graduate this year are planning to attend Texas colleges.

Four Boys to Enter T. C. U.

COLLEGE LIFE IS APPEALING

Bowling Scores

Pampa Athletes Leave for Fort Worth—Will Try for Gridiron Berths.

At least one Pampa man believes that Pampa high school students should attend Texas colleges after graduation. While in Fort Worth last week, he was instrumental in having four boys admitted to T. C. U.

John Pafford, Paul Hill, Ed Burch and Joe Freeman, left for Fort Worth yesterday morning to enroll at Texas Christian. They were taken to Fort Worth by Ed Dunigan, who will transact business there this week. The boys are scheduled to start their studies at the opening of the next semester.

The lads made a name for themselves on the gridiron and track and field while in Pampa. Pafford, 215-pound guard, was selected on the mythical all-state team named by newspaper men throughout the state in 1931. He is one of the most promising men in the state and he should have little trouble making the Horned Frog team in 1932.

Paul Hill, 230-pound fullback, received honorable mention on the all-state team. He is a powerfully built young fellow. He moved to Pampa from Fort Worth.

Ed Burch is a tackle of no mean ability. He received numerous votes for that position on the all-conference team last year. He has played three years of football in Pampa.

Joe Freeman is another strong tackle. Injuries kept him from some regular games during last season but he has been one of the strongest linemen on the team for the past three years.

The Blair Motor company has replaced the Fire Department in the City Bowling league. They opened Friday night with three straight wins from the league leading Supply Boys. At the same time the Texas company crept up the standing with three straight from the Kiwanis club. Fred Cullum with 201 rolled the highest score of the night.

The End of Loughran

When Steve Hymas bounced what was left of Tommy Loughran from rope to rope the other night, the curtain went down for the last act in the Philadelphia boxing master's career. And I wonder if Jack Dempsey read the sports page the next morning?

Reaction

Pat Malone and Grubby Hartnett were been working out daily in a Chicago gymnasium to get into condition for the baseball season. Last year Messrs. Malone and Hartnett took their baseball rather lightly, being able to take it or leave it alone. I wonder if Pat and Grubby have been reading the stories on the sports pages about players' salaries being slashed?

Punishment

Baron Long was barred from Agua Caliente, a track in which he owns part interest, because he ran up the odds on a horse named Linden Tree. Baron bet on other horses in the race so the price on Linden Tree would mount. He wanted the price on Linden Tree to mount so he could sock the bookmakers. He passed the tip around generally and bookmakers in all the principal cities were socked plenty. Such punishment as that meted out to the Baron may be okay. But how about bookmakers who, finding themselves with a lot of money booked on a certain horse, wire part of it to the track to cut down the odds on the choice? Shouldn't the process work both ways?

Babe Ponders

Babe Herman, simple soul, is one of those who do not understand why

The Brooklyn National League Baseball Club, Inc., which showed a profit last year, should slash salaries right and left this year. Well, now, it does seem to be something of a problem, at that.

Pete Shops Around

We don't know yet who the next featherweight champion of the world will be. There are about a dozen featherweights struggling for the crown that Bat Battalino outgrew. But it is a pretty safe bet that when the new featherweight champion is officially enthroned, Pete Reilly will have a piece of him. Pete had Routis, you'll remember, and when Battalino beat Routis, Pete bobbed up next day as Battalino's manager. The new champion, by the way, may or may not be Freddie Miller.

Are You There, Tony?

One of the fine prospects for a battle this year depends upon the matching of Battalino and Tony Canzoneri for the lightweight championship. Canzoneri, by the way, sat and watched Battalino stop Al Singer recently. After the bout we asked Tony if Bat would be the next man he fought. Canzoneri's reply was to the effect that he would like nothing better than to meet Battalino. And when he does, this observer will have to pick Canzoneri as the winner.

Panhandle Panthers Are to Play Here on Monday

Visitors Will Bring Two of Most Capable Lads in This District.

The only basketball game to be played in Pampa this week will be tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock when the Panhandle Panthers meet the Harvesters in a rubber game. The Harvesters lost a game to the Panthers in the Panhandle tournament, but defeated them in Panhandle last week.

The Panhandle high school band, the Panther pep squad, and a large number of fans will accompany the team to Pampa for the important game. The Pampa and Panhandle bands combined to give a concert between halves during the Panhandle contest. They will probably give a concert here.

The Harvesters have been on a winning streak lately, but it was broken Friday night by Happy. They can shoot from any angle and their guarding has been sensational all season.

Enloe and Kelly are Pampa's two outstanding players, although the rest of the quintet have been making it a five-man proposition the last few games.

Coach Fox and his Harvester B team will open the night with the Panhandle B team. The teams are evenly matched and another close game should result.

Hack Wilson to Go to Brooklyn

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 23. (AP)—The Brooklyn Robins today obtained Hack Wilson, outfielder from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dave Driscoll, business manager of the Brooklyn club, announced the deal here this afternoon. Wilson goes to the Robins for an unannounced sum of cash and Bob Farham, young outfielder, last year with Hartford, Conn., a Brooklyn farm.

Driscoll, in Norfolk for the annual meeting of the eastern league, being president of the Hartford club, stated the deal has been hanging for a week. The Cardinals wanted Frederick, Brooklyn outfielder, but finally accepted Farham, one of the eastern league's leading batters last year and former football star at Georgia Tech.

The Brooklyn business manager said he believed the Robins drove a good deal for Wilson, who hit 59 home runs while with the Chicago Cubs in 1930, only to slump last season and find himself traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitcher. Driscoll said Wilson had been a favorite with Brooklyn fans for years and the fact he was a righthand batter would tend to break the solid front of lefthand hitters the Robins outfield presented last year in Frederick Herman and O'Doul.

Happy Jacks in Win Over Locals Friday Evening

Happy Jacks in Win Over Locals Friday Evening

The Pampa Harvesters handed the Happy Jacks a basketball game Friday night at the high school gymnasium. Believing they were one point behind, the Harvesters started taking chances with only one minute to play and as a result Happy won the game, 25 to 24. At that time Happy was behind one point.

Enloe, that basket shooting sensation on the Pampa forward line, was high point scorer with 12 points to his credit. Marbaugh was second with six points. Woodward, Moore, Fullingim, and Kelly rounded out the Harvester team. Kelly played the game despite the fact he was so ill that he could hardly see the ball.

Jess Patton, the other regular guard, was ill in bed and Captain Dinty Moore, forward, took a guard position.

Hardy, Happy center, was the sensation of the game. His shooting was little short of miraculous. He hit the basket from every direction with both long and short shots. His forward also was looping the ball repeatedly.

Panhandle will meet the Harvesters here tomorrow night. The green and gold will leave here Wednesday and Thursday nights, Friday and Saturday nights the Harvesters will play the Lubbock Westerners.

Cue Artists in Knot at Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 23. (AP)—Auge Kleckhefer, Chicago's snooker cue star, and Otto Reisel, Philadelphia, both former holders of the world three cushion billiards title, tonight were tied for first place in the 1932 championship tournament.

Kleckhefer moved up even with Reisel today, at three victories and no defeats, by defeating Bud Westlund, St. Louis, 50 to 26, in 42 innings.

In the other afternoon match, Frank Scoville, the Buffalo, N. Y., sprinkler salesman, took temporary possession of second place by defeating the 18.2 ballkine master, young Jack Schaefer, 50 to 40, in 53 innings.

J. W. Philpott of Miami was attending to business interests here yesterday.

Lawless Lively of Amarillo is visiting his uncle, H. B. Lively.

HUNTING STILL AMONG SPORTS MOST LIKED

MILLIONS ANNUALLY IN QUEST OF WILD GAME

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. (AP)—After all the baseball bats, golf clubs, tennis racquets, and boxing gloves have been counted or placed end-to-end, the simple fact, government-endorsed, remains that there are some 13,000,000 inhabitants of these United States who enjoy the pastime of hunting and fishing.

These figures, indicating 10 per cent of the nation's total population engaged in the use of the rod or gun, are arrived at as follows by the United States senate's wild life committee:

Fishing licenses actually issued	1,500,000.
Combination hunting and fishing licenses	4,500,000.
Hunting licenses	2,400,000.
Estimate of hunters not known to hold licenses who are exempt from license	2,000,000.
Estimate of fishermen not holding licenses	2,500,000.
Total, issued and estimated	13,000,000.

Relatively, these millions get little or no publicity for their exploits but it seems reasonably clear that the devotees of hunting and fishing far outnumber the actual participants in any other sport, game, or recreational activity in the country.

Contract bridge, if a census of its followers was possible, might jump in and offer an argument. Baseball's tremendous popularity, taking an interest as well as competitive activity, is nationally recognized. Millions of tennis and golf players enter the sports picture. Football involves other vast numbers. But the general tendency in these sports is to over-estimate the number of participants and not even the top guess put them within shooting distance of the masses who hunt and fish for fun or for necessity.

Arkansas Wins Over Mustangs

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 23. (AP)—The University of Arkansas continued among the leaders in the Southwest conference cage sport by beating Southern Methodist tonight 29-20. The Mustangs put up a much better battle than they did last night when they were swamped 46 to 20.

The Methodist defense was stubborn and the Panthers were forced to fight every minute of the game. Doc Sexton, star center, and Tom Murphy, guard, were chiefly responsible for the Arkansas victory. Sexton rang up five field goals and four three throws. Murphy played an airtight defensive game and contributed seven points to the Razorback total.

Mills, substitute guard, was outstanding for the Methodists. Coach St. Clair sent him in to guard Sexton. He not only did a good job of that but shot three successive field goals to cut the Razorback lead to 19-17 in the second half. The Forkers held a five point lead at the end of the first period. By sweeping the series with Southern Methodist Arkansas attained a percentage of .750, with three victories against one defeat. The Mustangs have been beaten four times in as many starts.

Many Stars to Play for Charity

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23. (AP) Football stars from all sections of the country will clash here tomorrow in a charity game sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

Frank Carideo, an American quarterback of the 1930 Notre Dame squad, will lead a team picked from former Notre Dame, Santa Clara, West Point, Purdue, University of California, and St. Mary's college players against the professional eleven captained by Ernie Nevers, former Stanford fullback.

SIMMONS TO AVOID BUFFS

These Two Fives Again Are Unable to Give Public a Treat.

CANYON, Jan. 23. (AP)—The Panhandle's hopes for interconference basketball games between two championship teams were nipped today.

The Simmons university Cowboys of Abilene, for three years cage champions of the Texas conference, and the West Texas Teachers College Buffalos, 1931 A. J. A. A. title holders, were scheduled to meet in Canyon on Monday and Tuesday nights, but the games were cancelled today by Simmons officials.

A telegram to Coach Sam Burton of the "tallest team in America" gave weather conditions and scientific difficulties of Cowboy players as reasons for abandoning the contests.

Burton retaliated by wiring Simmons to cancel two return games scheduled to be played in Abilene on the tail end of a Buffalo road trip the first week in February.

The Cowboys are heavy favorites to win the Texas conference championship. Last Monday night they trounced the Southwestern university Pirates 52 to 32, and on Tuesday night they overwhelmed St. Edwards university.

It seems that Coach Cranfill has his Cowboys hitting on all five, and they are going to be tough for the Buffalo cagers. The Buffs returned home Wednesday from a road trip to Alpine and Lubbock. The Sul Ross Lobes were defeated 54 to 25 and 44 to 32. The Tech Matadors took the short end of the count in two engagements 54 to 36 and 52 to 21.

When clicking just right, the Buffs are hard to take out. The Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers, probably one of the best college teams in the entire southwest, bowed twice to the stemping Buffs.

Steer Contracts Sent to Players

DALLAS, Jan. 23. (AP) — Bob Tarleton, business manager of the Dallas baseball club, today mailed contracts for the 1932 season to 23 players. Tarleton said that 10 others, all youngsters, already had been signed.

The steer official stated he expected no trouble signing the athletes to whom he mailed contracts today. He said reductions had been made in only two instances.

PEPPER PUTS HIS NAME ON DOTTED MARK

WILD HORSE OF OSAGE NOT GROWING BIG HEAD

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23. (AP)—"Wild Horse of the Osage" is safe in the Cardinal corral.

John L. "Pepper" Martin, hero of the 1931 world's series, today signed a contract for the coming year in the office of Branch Rickey, vice president of the world's champions.

The amount was not announced but the popular guess put it almost double the $4,000 for which Pepper worked last season. Pepper had often expressed confidence that the Cardinals would treat him well. As he put his signature on the dotted line, he grinned his best Martin grin and announced that Rickey "sure done right by me."

Martin was the one-man show of the last series, and was selected by sports editors as the hero of the outstanding individual achievement of the sports world during the year.

But Pepper says it has not come to his head. "I'm still wearing the same size hat and I'm still the same John Martin who was trying last summer to get an occasional base hit," he said.

"No sir, you'll never find me changed. I've had my ups and downs and plenty of the down and I figure you're mighty blamed foolish if you let a little good luck turn your head.

"Why, even the president of the United States shouldn't ought to get swell headed, because, look, ain't he liable to run into a depression? No sir, there won't be any swelling around my head if I can help it."

Railroads Asked to Be Humane in Wage Proposals

CHICAGO, Jan. 23. (AP)—Organized railway labor today declared itself unconvinced on the justice of a 10 per cent wage reduction and asked the management to consider the "humane" as well as "practical" elements of the problem.

The managements, said David B. Robertson in formal presentation of union views, "should be at least as zealous in providing additional employment, in reducing part time employment, and in relieving unemployment distress, as in solving their financial problems."

FORT WORTH, Jan. 23. (AP)—A fighting bunch of Texas Tech matadors from Lubbock caught the Texas Christian Horned Frogs, Southwest conference champions, off stride in their field house here tonight and proceeded to out-battle the purple team almost all the way but finally succumbed to Coach Schmidt's team, 30-19.

Twice during the first half the Matadors came up to take a one-point lead but the Frogs rallied each time and toward the last of the contest took a comfortable margin.

Joy Of Shopping

Everyone is smiling again. I knew that at the close of my shopping trip yesterday, and I was smiling, too. Just as surely as the violet is the first sign of spring, a "community smile" is the first sign of normalcy. Shoppers once more are enthusiastic; salesladies are vivacious. Everyone seems more sure of himself. Every handshake is a little firmer. To shop in Pampa is a real joy. Try it.

A Good Start

I started the day with a good disposition. Truly, it would have been impossible to have left the HELEN LEECH FLOWER SHOP, 412 E. Foster st., in anything but a happy frame of mind. If spring has not arrived in our front yards, it certainly has arrived at the flower shop. Miss Leech has just received a shipment of Chinese Elms, and has put a very special price on them for quick sale.

The potted plants include cyclamen, primroses, and handsome cinerarias, which are ALL IN BLOOM. There are also geraniums, fern, and begonias.

For those who wish to plant their own potted flowers, there is an assortment of 5 and 6-inch pots on sale.

Flowers are meant to bring cheer, and they should be used for that purpose. Blossoms placed in a hospital room will long be remembered by the patient. For the invalid, they will brighten many an hour. They will lessen sorrow. In time of pleasure—the party—they bring admiration and appreciation. Flowers have a place whatever the occasion. You will enjoy a visit to the HELEN LEECH FLOWER SHOP.

Girls are now carrying "lipstick handkerchiefs." They are wisps of scarlet and crimson, and are used to smooth the red after it has been applied to the lips.

Let's Give a Party

A visit to the SCHNEIDER HOTEL brought more smiles, for that is the ideal place for smart entertaining. Some one asked the charge for use of the rooms, and the answer was "There is NO CHARGE for the rooms. The only cost is for refreshments." One entertaining room will accommodate as many as six tables, another as many as ten. These are ideal for luncheons and bridge parties. For larger functions the dining room is used. Speaking of the dining room, have you tried the weekly business men's luncheon for only 50 cents? It will surprise you.

And on Sunday, there is a 4-course dinner par excellence served for $1. The cuisine, background, and service combine to give one a sense of luxurious well-being. Sunday dinner includes cocktail, soup, salad, three vegetables, potatoes, chicken or turkey, beverage, and dessert. Fit for a king!

Scarves made of three strands of wool or silk braided like an old-fashioned lassie's pigtails are new for sports wear.

Can Afford Luxury

Genuine Rock Crystal! It's always a pleasure to visit THE DIAMOND SHOP, Inc., but yesterday there was a genuine surprise. On the counter was a spring shipment of manufacturer's samples of rock crystal necklaces and ear screws. They had just been received by SAM FENBERG, manager, and were being arranged for sale to persons in this territory for only a fraction of their real values. Some are as low as $1.75. This week there will be a case of "first come, first served." All crystals are strung on white gold, making them permanent, as well as beautiful. They are sold exclusively by THE DIAMOND SHOP. And the diamond sale is still on. The special prices, lowest in history, apply to the entire stock. A chance of a lifetime. A frock of lace in a deep shade or rose is exquisite for tea-time wear.

Tea For Two

Then to LANORA CONFECTIONETTE. When there's chatting to be done over 4 o'clock tea, the CONFECTIONETTE is the place to do it. Just the right atmosphere, and delicacies, and service.

For luncheon, the CONFECTIONETTE is unexcelled in popularity. And no wonder. Here is what will be offered for only 40 cents on Monday: Meats, choice of sirloin tips, chicken fried steak, breaded pork chops, veal cutlets, roast beef and brown gravy, and roast pig ham and apple sauce; vegetables, breaded asparagus tips, spinach and egg, and baked potato in half shell; salad, orange and date; dessert, chocolate pie, or ice cream; milk, tea, or coffee.

THE CONFECTIONETTE is of growing popularity among business and professional women of Pampa. They like the restful atmosphere of the private booths, and find them ideal for private conversations or silent thought.

Bands of rhinestones as trimming on long white gloves are worn by some of the ultra-smart.

Spring Arrivals!

They're here—those spring suits that the smartly dressed woman has been anticipating, and they're even more beautiful than was expected. Rose beige, Spanish tile, blue, red, pink, and navy—all are on display at MITCHELL'S STORE. They are in corduroy weaves, and light woollens and boucles, and they are being featured at $12.95 and $16.95.

At MITCHELL'S also will be found those chic, close-fitting hats of cellophane braids. Colors: black, chocolate cream, green, blue, and red. Prices: $2.95 and $4.95. These little hats will brighten even a drab costume, but when worn with the new suits described above, they do justice to Fifth avenue.

There is another good thing about shopping at MITCHELL'S. The salesladies are not mere "clerks." They are experienced advisors. It is their aim not merely to make a sale, but to aid each customer in securing those garments which she can wear to best advantage and with which she will be satisfied long after the purchase has been made.

Suits are playing a leading role in fashion's pageant these crisp days.

Increase Home Joy

Do you love to stay at home? You will after you visit LEVINE'S STORE and see the largest stock of house frocks in Pampa. Here is the surprising part. These house dresses are fashioned with the care usually employed in designing the most expensive gowns. Some of them are on sale for as low as 59 cents, and others range up to $1.95. They are nationally advertised standard brands and all are fast colors.

LEVINE'S new coats and dresses are arriving, and numerous other purchases are to be made by Murray Freundlich in the near future at eastern markets, where close connections with manufacturers enable him to buy and sell at the lowest possible prices. Don't forget the store's shoe department. It is one of the most complete in this section.

Here's another thing about LEVINE'S. The sales people do not try to force an article on a customer. They allow each woman to look to her heart's content and to make her own selections. They greet everyone with a smile. It is a real pleasure to shop at LEVINE'S.

ALL PHASES OF ART STRESSED BY CLUB FOLK

HOME AND COMMUNITY BETTERMENT IS GOAL

By MRS. T. V. REEVES

CANYON, Jan. 23.—All committees, both special and standing, and all departments of work, are now made up and busy upon the problems of community welfare in the seventh district. Texas Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. J. A. Hill, president, has been fortunate in securing a nice balance among experienced and inexperienced club women in filling the places. This is the ideal of club organizations to bring a great number of new workers into places of responsibility with each administration.

Women in organizations undertake a great variety of tasks; this is because the women who make up clubs are interested in many things, which touch the life of the home, school and community. In the seventh district there is a committee on motion pictures, with Mrs. H. T. Burton of Clarendon as chairman. A committee is assigned to work with War Veterans, and Mrs. J. O. Cade of Amarillo, who is particularly interested in the needs and difficulties of ex-service men, is chairman. Mrs. Ed Rodgers, of Claude, a successful farm mother, is chairman of farm relief, while Mrs. Geo. P. Amador, of Panhandle, is chairman of the committee which is striving for better understanding between the women of the towns and those of the farms. The departments of work are eight in number.

Evidently club women have always believed in the fundamental importance of the fine arts, for the department of fine arts is the largest of all. Its chairman is Mrs. J. W. Sanders of Amarillo. Its divisions include: Art, Mrs. C. E. Palmer, Amarillo; industrial art and advertising, Mrs. Paul Roach, Spearman; American pottery, Mrs. Frank P. Bain, Silverton; painting and sculpture in schools, Mrs. P. R. Jeter, Childress; art in home and garden, Mrs. J. W. Noel, Hedley; prints and etchings, Mrs. John Boyce, Amarillo; chairman of literature, Mrs. C. R. Buchanan, Snyder; community drama, Mrs. C. M. Holt, Amarillo; Bible literature, Mrs. R. L. Madden, Memphis; poetry, Mrs. J. H. Jernagin, Childress; juvenile literature, Mrs. Ed. McLaughlin, Ralls; Texas writers, Mrs. F. H. Powell, Lubbock; music, Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Pampa; folk music, Mrs. Charles F. Smith, Amarillo; community music, Mrs. Geo. Simmons, Lubbock.

The other departments and their officers will be discussed from time to time.

Mrs. J. A. Hill president, and Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick, secretary of the seventh district, visited the Farmer County Federation recently. They met with Mrs. J. W. Farrell, chairman of literature, Mrs. C. R. Buchanan, Snyder; community drama, Mrs. C. M. Holt, Amarillo; Bible literature, Mrs. R. L. Madden, Memphis; poetry, Mrs. J. H. Jernagin, Childress; juvenile literature, Mrs. Ed. McLaughlin, Ralls; Texas writers, Mrs. F. H. Powell, Lubbock; music, Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Pampa; folk music, Mrs. Charles F. Smith, Amarillo; community music, Mrs. Geo. Simmons, Lubbock.

Three prizes have already been announced in the seventh district, the awards to be made at the district convention at Canadian in April.

Movie Magic? No, It's Only Use of Clever Makeup

A BIT of gauze, a bit of makeup, a different coiffure—and presto!—Loretta Young, film actress, changes from an American girl to the role of a Chinese miss. It's all in a day's work for her. To see how it's done, one must go behind the scenes in the movie studio.

FIRST MISS YOUNG is seen at left as she really appears. Next she is shown below in the makeup room. A piece of adhesive gauze (arrow) over her temples draws back her eyes to give them the almond effect. Makeup and coiffure complete the transformation (right).

Kiddies Become Grown-Ups For Day At School

The click, click, click of high heels was heard in Miss Nell Crain's room at Woodrow Wilson school Friday. Many a little girl was wearing one of her mother's dresses and a pair of her mother's high heel shoes, and was taking quite as good care of her curly-headed Christmas doll as her mother takes of baby brother.

For the room was observing "doll day." The experiment was no frivolity. It was a real lesson. Each little mother told how she cared for her youngster, providing for him plenty of fresh air, long nights of sleep, and nourishing food. Then came the shopping tour. The dolls were left in care of two nurses while their mothers went to the grocery store. At the store they were required to purchase carefully and to make correct change. Tomorrow they will visit a real store—Helpy-Selfy—and will compare prices with prices in their own store.

Pastel tints against a white background was the decorative theme for the little dinner party. The table was centered with a large white cake topped with three tiny candles, and was lighted with tall pink candles tied with green tulle and in green candle holders.

Miniature flower baskets formed the nut cups, while small individual candles, exact replicas of the larger candles, marked places for Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sill, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Drew, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kasishke. Each person offered a toast to the guests of honor.

MRS. F. EWING LEECH IS DIRECTING WORK

The two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington will be celebrated on a scale never equaled in doing honor to a national hero. The celebration in Pampa will be city-wide, and Pampa women already are at work to make their part in the endeavor successful.

At a meeting in the home of Mrs. F. Ewing Leech, chairman, the committee directing the local women's activities planned to arrange their work according to divisions. Mrs. W. A. Bratton will cooperate with Iva June Willis in sponsoring suitable music among school pupils, and in every way seeing that colonial music and George Washington are remembered by pupils. Mrs. G. C. Malone will present Washington and his ideals by working in cooperation with the elementary schools and the Parent-Teacher associations, while Mrs. B. E. Finley will do similar work in the Junior and senior high schools. Mrs. Tom E. Rose will have charge of the celebration by the federated clubs, and Mrs. George Briggs will work through the Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Leech will work with Miss Ruby Adams and the county council of home demonstration clubs, as well as with members of the Little Theater.

Other women will be asked by Mrs. Leech to serve with the original committee through religious and social organizations.

Members of the committee are ready to be called upon at any time to help further the aims of congenial planning for the celebration. They will suggest or furnish speakers for any organization, or will furnish any material available for presentation of the work.

The celebration, sponsored by the government of the United States, will begin Feb. 22 and will continue through Thanksgiving day, 1932. It will extend into every city, town, and village of the United States and its possessions, and into many foreign countries.

The purpose of this great tribute to George Washington, is, as expressed by joint resolution of congress "that future generations of American citizens may live according to the example and precepts of his exalted life and character, and thus perpetrate the American republic."

The bicentennial celebration will be held in any one place. It is to be everywhere—a world-wide demonstration in honor of America's greatest citizen. Instead of having an exposition or a world's fair, the celebration is being taken to the people direct—to each state, city and town. All organizations and institutions, wherever character—civic, business, labor, educational, religious fraternal literary, social, and others—are urged to plan for a "George Washington Year."

Hoosiers Are at Front in Tennis

CHICAGO, Jan. 22. (P)—Two famous Hoosiers of Clay court fame, Johnny Hennessey, Indianapolis, and Miss Catherine Wolf, Elkhart, today were named rulers of the western tennis world.

Hennessey, long a power in the national championship matches, was elevated to top ranking in the singles division of the Western Lawn Tennis association as successor to its former ruler, George Lott, who was deposed when he moved from Chicago to Philadelphia, while Miss Wolf simply retained her crown through a year of spirited competition. Hennessey's racquet won him the title although he was the logical successor as he placed second to Lott in 1930.

Second to Hennessey in the official rankings, announced at today's annual meeting of the association, was Paul Kunkel, Cincinnati, with two Chicagoans, George Jennings Jr., and Scott Rexinger, third and fourth, respectively. Miss Clara Louise Zinke, Cincinnati, ranked second to Miss Wolf while Mrs. Ruth Elise, Saginaw, Mich., was rated third with Eugene Sampson, Winnetka, Ill., fourth.

ELSIE JANIS, 42; HUBBY, 26

"I am making my debut on the stage of matrimony," smiled Elsie Janis, 42-year-old former actress, when this first picture was taken of her with her new husband, Gilbert Wilson, 26, of Los Angeles. Secretly married on New Year's Eve, they're spending their honeymoon at Tarrytown, N. Y. Famous on the stages of America and Europe, Miss Janis was a popular entertainer for U. S. forces overseas during the World War.

Helen Chandler Succeeds Gish

Theatersgoers are beginning to ask themselves if Helen, Chandler will not be the screen actress to take the place vacated by Lillian Gish. And a survey of the entire field of filmdom seems to indicate that they are right. Possibly because the personalities of the two girls are so similar, Chandler has always been greatly attracted to Gish.

Fraile and delicate, the blonde Helen is a personality of elfin charm. She has a certain bird-like quality which is accentuated by her habit of casting quick glances about a room. Her smile is tremulous, and her voice is that of a child. She is the very personification of shyness, diffidence and modesty.

"Originally," says Miss Chandler,

"my going on the stage was entirely accidental. I was only eight years old, and my mother gave me permission to go with a little actress friend to see Arthur Hopkins, who was then engaging a cast for 'Barbara.' For some reason best known to himself, Mr. Hopkins asked me if I would like to play a role in the play. I rushed home with all possible haste to ask my mother, and a few weeks later I was an actress. That's how easy it was."

Miss Margie Thompson visited in the home of Miss Jo Ann Brown Thursday.

Tax On Theaters Is Being Opposed

Congressman Marvin Jones from this district was urged to oppose Secretary Mellon's proposed tax on theaters in a telegram sent yesterday to the representative at Washington by Dr. V. E. von Brunow. Secretary Mellon asked congress to tax theaters.

Dr. Brunow's telegram in part was as follows:

"In re excise taxes! I am speaking for my city of Pampa where we have two theaters. Admissions have been cut and cut. It is a fact that the show buildings are leased premises for long terms of 10 and 15 years, and that the computed rentals were commensurate with conditions two years ago. To increase admissions by a tax, will be unjust to vested rights. Now Marvin, it is also a fact that in the United States of Soviet Russia leaders understand how to keep people amused through play and theaters, reasoning I assume that when people are made to work they also must have play collectively. If there were no shows they might stick their heads together in some hovel and plot serious devilmint.

"Rest assured we are loyal to Uncle Sam, and if he is short may he not make it up some other way with some other tax? But don't kill the amusement parks and theaters and I ask for your good offices and voice to kill this project and if the powers that be ask you for advice champion a tax on aluminum wares. This is paid only since the rust has been conquered, but a theater tax comes every day."

Groceries Donated To Baker School

Enough groceries to supply penniless children of Baker school with lunches for two weeks were donated Thursday by Floyd Shaw Jr., of the Richards drug store. The groceries will be converted into edible food at the school cafeteria where lunches are served daily to all children, regardless of whether they have the money to pay for what they eat.

Mr. Shaw sent the groceries to the school in a large truck and it was fairly well loaded. The shipment included 100 pounds of sugar, 25 pounds of rice, 25 pounds of raisins, 25 pounds of salt, cases of tomatoes, corn, and spinach, 50 pounds of beans and 45 pounds of lard.

During the last week, a total of 210 free meals were served at the school cafeteria. More fortunate children were able to pay for 100 meals.

Youths Are Faint From Sheer Hunger

No investigation was necessary when two brothers en route from California to Connecticut appeared at the Welfare Board for food and medicine.

The brothers were of Scandinavian descent and spoke English with a strong accent. Both appeared to be on their "last legs", and both were running a high fever. They had been sleeping out at night since they left California, and they had eaten little food.

Mrs. W. H. Davis, Welfare manager, and City Manager F. M. Gwin had taken their temperatures when one of the brothers lapsed into unconsciousness. The other was so weak he could hardly stand. Earlier in the day, the brothers had been given prescriptions by Dr. Von Brunow, county health officer, and sent to the Welfare board.

The youths were placed in the home of a practical nurse who cares for Welfare Board patients. They plan to continue on their way east in several days. They traveled to Pampa from California by freight.

FORTY-TABLE PARTY IS GIVEN BY PHILLIPS EMPLOYEES

PROCEEDS OF FUNCTION ARE TO AID NEEDY

SEVERAL GAMES ARE PLAYED BY GUESTS

Forty tables of games—bridge, dominoes, pitch, and pinch—held interest at the bridge party given by employees of Phillips camp south of Pampa Friday evening.

Proceeds of the event will go to the community fund to aid the needy. Those in charge were O. W. Ray, Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker, and W. O. Christian.

In the bridge games, Mrs. Jack Dunn and Mrs. R. E. Smith were favored for high and low scores respectively, among the women, and W. R. Barret and J. H. House were favored for high and low, respectively, among the men. Bart Coleman was awarded for playing the best pitch.

The Coca-Cola Bottling company furnished bottled drinks. In addition to members of the Phillips organizations, the following attended: Miss Mabel Davis, Miss Hazel Christian, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Goldston, and Messrs. and Mesdames Paul Carmichael, Lewis O. Cox, A. G. Post, Jack Dunn, M. P. Downs, Glen Pool and Harry Hoare.

Kiwanis Clubs in Steady Growth

"There are 1,880 Kiwanis clubs now serving the United States and Canada," said J. H. Hulme in giving a brief survey of the last year's work by the Kiwanis clubs at a talk before the members of the Pampa club Friday. "The total membership of all the clubs is $2,649."

He praised the members for their cooperation during 1931 in making the local club a success, but stressed that the goal for 1932 be set even higher. C. E. "Dan" McGrew gave a report of the business meeting in Amarillo Monday. Officers of the various Panhandle clubs gathered throughout the day and a "ladies' night" program was given at the Herring hotel in the evening.

Hundred Fifty Hear Recital

About 150 persons attended the recital given by one group of Mrs. F. E. McSkimming's piano pupils Thursday evening at the Presbyterian church. Several young readers from the classes of Mrs. F. L. Hill and Mrs. Helen Turner assisted. The stage was decorated to resemble an attractive living room. Added interest was given by a description of each selection before it was played.

GOOD LIGHTING COSTS NO MORE THAN POOR LIGHTING!

Many people expect only one thing of electric lighting — illumination. That is not enough. Lighting may be good or bad.

The basic rule of proper lighting in the home is to light the object — not the eye. There should be no glare; the illumination should be well distributed.

Improper lighting causes eyestrain, fatigue, headaches. Proper lighting not only saves the eyes, but its soft diffused light makes the home more attractive.

Look through your home! Is the light good in some places, poor in others? Would an added lamp mean convenience—even safety?

(By William Gaines)

NEW YORK—The past year saw an extraordinary development in department store salesmanship, involving advanced showmanship principles.

One New York store installed its own booking office, with performers interviewed every Saturday.

Acts were employed to do their tricks in the display windows or near special bargain counters. For instance, seven Hopi Indians were engaged to promote a run on a stock of Indian blankets.

Another store over in Newark went in for this vaudeville salesmanship in a big way.

The acts worked from 10 in the morning until noon, with an hour off for lunch. Then they resumed at 2, closing for the day at 4:30.

One enterprising theatrical agent has been attempting to line up most of the leading stores for a try at this sort of promotion.

Among his plans are trained seals for seal coat sales, jugglers for chinaware bargains, and such.

Bill Robinson, the sepien dancing sensation, was born in Richmond, Virginia, suh.

Charles B. Driscoll, the author, who lives in Yonkers, has the largest private collection of books on piracy and buried treasure in the country.

Eleanor Painter spent her childhood in Walkersville, Iowa.

Albertina Rasch says she was only 16 when she became premiere ballerina of the Hippodrome in its days of spectacles.

Otto Kahn and Clarence Mackay sometimes are confused by sidewalk gapers who gather around Metropolitan entrances to watch the opera crowds. Well, maybe there is some resemblance, but very small.

One of the town's mid-Victorian landmarks is the home of Mrs. Robert Bacon, widow of the ambassador to France, at Park avenue and Thirty-fourth street.

Governor Roosevelt is a collector of ship models.

Rex Cole, the millionaire electrical magnate, was born in Port Huron, Mich., and began his career as a "trouble shooter."

Lily Pons relishes ravioli.

(By Herbert Plummer)

WASHINGTON—It came as no great surprise to Washington observers that young "T. R."—Theodore Roosevelt—had been chosen by the president to become governor-general of the Philippines.

The resignation of Dwight Davis had been expected for a long time. And it was common gossip around the capital that when it did come, "T. R." would take his place.

Roosevelt has had marked success with his job of governing Porto Rico. He was in Eastern Asia when appointed to the post in Porto Rico.

One of the first things he did was to buy a Spanish grammar. By the time he reached Porto Rico he had learned it by heart and was a bilingualist of sorts.

It was this attitude of Roosevelt's which aided him in his work. He was a "Porto Rican" as long as he was governor.

He made no attempts to Americanize the islands.

One Of Them He gave prizes to school children who showed excellence in their work. He was able to get congress to come to the aid of the islands with appropriations. He became as one of them.

Friends of Roosevelt in Washington are convinced that he has at last hit his stride. Prior to his assignment in Porto Rico, there was a feeling that he was father-conscious.

He has inherited much from the older "T. R." Their manners and speech are much the same.

His Own Trail

In Porto Rico, say his friends, he had his first opportunity to prove himself. As a member of the New York legislature and later as assistant secretary of the navy, he was following the path his father had trod before him.

Old "T. R." had never governed Porto Rico. Young "T. R." had a chance to blaze a trail of his own.

Now he goes to govern millions of people his famous father fought to free from Spanish rule.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS THINK

LAUGHING IN THE WIND

From Beaumont JOURNAL:

Have you heard it—that wild laughing shaking down from these autumn skies at night?

The geese, hardy annual visitors from the north, are beginning to stream into the south, flying high above the cotton and rice fields with the north wind howling not so far behind them. By day they may be seen sailing over field and wood in their long wedge formations, either heading straight as arrows for some destination known only to their wise old leaders or circling around close to earth on white sunlit wings before settling down into a marsh.

In the day we seldom have the time to see them floating across our cities, but when our homes are quiet at night we know that the travelers are abroad. When we hear their continuous whooping, honking and trumpeting intermingling laughter and exultant singing, then we know what fools we mortals are. We look at the four walls that bound us in our worried, hurried lives. We gaze sadly at all those things in the room which men have contrived to sell us for a profit and which binds us down in our little allotted grooves hoping for the day of deliverance that never comes. As we listen to that wild laughter up there in the black night, we feel that we are being mocked. Mocked for permitting our bodies to become soft and to demand coverings of rags and the skins of animals wiser than we, mocked for coddling our young so long that they are helpless for 20 years before they can leave the nest, mocked for our necessity for owning property, which makes for laws and crimes and wars.

Now they are flying off-southward, and as we turn, again to the library table to help junior get his civics lesson, we hear their last faint jibes: "Ho-ho-ho, Mr. Man! Lord of creation, are you, monarch of all your survey? You, with your peace conferences, your barns bursting with food, and millions of hungry men, your rich men and your starvelings, your freedom to do as you like—in your thousand chains of your own making? Ho-ho-ho! Honk honk!" We seem to hear their strong wings beating the winds and we are melancholy, for we know that our wings are clipped.

HOORAY! HOORAY! YUM, YUM!

Would you believe it Well, anyhow, it has come to the Daily INDEX by "special correspondence" that a Mr. Cummings of Quanaah is the proud owner of a three-legged rooster! And, one of the best things about the report is, he was not "just hatched yesterday," nor is he just "a spring chicken," but a real chanticleer, and which means that he can crow long and loud.

Another good thing about said rooster is the fact that the extra drum-stick is not used for locomotion, but is just hanging there just like a good, juicy apple hangs on a limb, ready to be cut off and served at any time after attaining a fryable size. Well, too, in cases of emergency, the extra leg could be used as a prop in event the owner should lose his balance. But the chief value of the extra leg is its edibility, and with three well developed legs to start with, it should not be a difficult matter, through scientific propagation, to produce another, thereby producing a four-legged variety.

Evolutionists, who have been trying to trace man's origin back to frogs, snails, spiders, lizards and monkeys, ought to find this three-legged rooster a fine subject for the exploitation of their scientific genius, for just think what a four-legged variety of chickens would mean to the poultry industry as a food product.—INDEX, Childress.

EDITOR'S DUTY

A prominent city official complimented The NEWS editor this week by saying that we are conservative in our statements and do not color news items with editorial opinions. The gentleman confessed that if he owned the paper he would be tempted to try to have things his way. Of course, he would be conservative, too, if he owned the paper, for the paper has an obligation to the community, and no editor has the right to use the paper to force his opinions on the others. On the other hand, the editor has the same right to his opinion and the right to express it as others have, but this expression should be confined to the editorial column, where the reader can be sure that it is individual opinion.—NEWS, McLean.

CAN'T SHUT DOWN FAMILY

A migration back to the farm is generally expected this year and it is a desirable thing, if the farming system can be adjusted to take care of more families.

The migration is not with the idea of further increasing the nation's supply of cotton, corn and wheat, but with the idea that a family can raise enough to sustain itself on the farm, whereas it cannot in the city.

The cities are filled with men who left the farms 10 or 15 years ago. A certain element of these are unemployed. They left the farm to go to France, or to the factories. Today they are frequently settled, responsible men at the heads of growing families.

They would like to move back to the farm. A factory can be shut down but you cannot shut down a family. Employment can be shut down, but human beings must eat, wear clothes and keep warm.

Farm life today is more attractive than it was 10 or 15 years ago. Farm homes are not isolated from the world in this day of radio, cars, roads and other conveniences.

Nothing breeds stronger patriotism than home ownership. A great many envy the farmer's position today. The farmer's life is not as rosy as might be expected, but a farmer's family can sustain itself.

It is not the little farmer and his family living at home who have created the tremendous surpluses.

It is the little farm home that can keep great surpluses of unemployed people off the city burdens.

Future depressed times cannot become so acute if there are more home owners in town and more self-sustaining small farmers who cannot be "shut-down." —TELEGRAM, Temple.

Adjusting prices to a proper relation between producer's remuneration and consumer's cost is one thing, and predatory price cutting is another. The latter has no place in present conditions.

Economist Speaks

We quote Prof. Edwin R. A. Seligman of Columbia University: "Predatory price cutting that creates cut-throat competition is dangerous to the welfare of retail trade, particularly in depressed times, and no real benefit to the public in the long run." Professor Seligman is internationally known as a foremost economist, and is economic advisor to the Cuban government.

From Mrs. Ben Williams, former society editor of The NEWS, comes several suggestions for Frontier day. One is to have an exhibit of old relics of pioneer days—not Indian relics primarily, but old saddles, guns, pictures and the like. Another suggestion is to have an exhibit of Harold Bugbee's western paintings. Mr. Bugbee lives at Clarendon and is an artist of much ability and authenticity of detail. Another Clarendon citizen, Mrs. H. W. Taylor, has many old Panhandle newspapers of interest. We appreciate these suggestions which together with those already made should produce an occasion of many interests.

Most Important

Pampa civic clubs have wisely decided to continue work in behalf of crippled children. Rebuilding broken little bodies is infinitely more important than material things. The Pampa remembers several cases of touching interest helped by the Lions club. One was a boy with a leg drawn and seemingly permanently twisted by a severe burn. Extended treatments alone permitted the limb to be straightened before permanent disability had resulted. The pride of that boy in his improved limb was reward enough for the club. His appreciation of civic club work will grow through the years as he realizes the importance of the corrective treatments.

Another crippled boy was so badly injured that the bone in one leg protruded through the skin, and required the skill of the surgeons to splice, graft, and straighten that limb. No civilized society should permit such cases to go un-treated, yet without the work of local civic clubs many parents would be unable to finance the long hospital treatment. In the absence of a Crippled Children's society in this area, civic clubs should make crippled children's work one of their major activities.

Depressed Leaders

This is an era demanding inspired leaders, but too many of the men at the helms are too depressed to take any effective steps to correct present-day maladjustments. There is a continual demand for remedies, but not much attention to preventive work. The huge reconstruction corporation is in no way preventive. It may prove effective in certain channels of trade, now congested by collapsing credit, but it is no sense a "plank" or a principle.

The bond market may be bolstered somewhat by the corporation. This is necessary if public enterprises are to be realized. Gray county must sell road bonds in competition with hundreds of other issues and with government bonds. It is very apparent that no par is in sight for any bonds to be issued soon. Reduction below par seems, at this writing inevitable, inasmuch as the rate of interest cannot be changed. At what price are residents willing to sell the bonds yet to be offered? Selling under par is equivalent to raising the interest, an expedient which at this time seems mandatory upon those wishing immediate use of the bond money.

TWINKLES

This may be Leap year, but if so the young men seem to be leaping successfully.

The wild waves ought to be saying a lot on the Hawaiian benches these days.

Snowstorms are always "sweeping," but the sweeping is always in order after a sandstorm.

In picking her ten most outstanding women, we suppose the Borger voters will have to refer to the mere men as "husband of Mrs. So and So."

ANN, CECILY and MARY FRANCES FEWICK live with their grandparents. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandmothers are SALIE and "GRAND"—have long since lost their wealth and the grandmothers are still postponing their marriage though they have been engaged 8 years. Cecily, 22, is in love with BARRY MCKEEL, an engineer. When he proposes she refuses because she cannot leave Ann with the financial responsibility of the home.

MARY-FRANCES, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with EARL DEARMOUNT, stock company actor. She meets him secretly on several occasions. The company Dearmount is playing with diamonds but he decides to remain in the city.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXV

MARY-FRANCES' protestations to Earl might be taken, by the uncynical, as proof of the capabilities of a woman's love for supreme self-sacrifice. Though there is this to be considered: he most thrilling drama, with the most beautiful heroine, does come to an end after these four acts. The curtain falls. People go home. The most exciting novel, with the most charmingly lewd heroine, can be read through to the end and shelved, and another one can be begun. Plans were evolved for a girls' camp, chaperoned by Ermintrude's mother, in June. Evenings were lengthened toward tennis and swimming. Mr. and Mrs. Hill had a new car and went for drives after dinner. and took Ermintrude and Ermintrude's friends, and stopped on the way home at thurst stations for milk shakes and hot dogs. But when a true creative artist has labored long on a masterpiece she hesitates and hates like fury to turn it into a hot dog.

"Sure, I know," Earl rejoined. "But I kind of been thinking—see? Course, my first idea was to beat it. But I don't know. I got my room rent paid up until the end of next week, and they don't soak you so much for meals around here. I could write a few letters and kind of wait returns, and maybe I could do something in the meantime with those damn—pardon me—educational desks. No—" as Mary-Frances attempted an interruption—"wait, hon, leave me tell you. A couple weeks aren't going to make so much difference one way or the other right now. I was thinking that if I'd stick around while maybe you'd feel different about that classy little vaudeville act of ours

"Sure, I know," to prevent another attempted interruption, "the idea don't appeal to you so much. But just the same, hon, I know it would go, and go big—see? Big Course, if you had a happy home life here or anything—but you ain't, see? And then you being so crazy about me and all. And you mean a lot to me, too—see? And I'm giving that to you straight—see?" and so on.

It made excellent material to present to Ermintrude the following day.

"He says he knows he isn't worthy to touch the pathway where my feet have trod. His professional career—nothing amounts to anything to him in comparison to our love for one another. He simply won't leave me, Ermintrude. I brought him to, but I mean too much to him, he says. He says I'm 'woman and child in one.' If I'll go with him, he'll go anywhere. Anywhere. But if I refuse, he'll stay right here by my side, and give up his professional career, and take any miserable, lowly work he can find rather than leave me. If I'll go with him—"

"Go with him! Mary-Frances Fenwick, honest, lately I think you are just going cuckoo or something. Go with him! Well, I guess your grandma and grandpa and your sisters might have just a little something to say about you going with him."

"Well, who said I was going with him? I must say, Ermintrude—" "Well, you talk about it all the time. All the time."

"I do not. Last Wednesday I just barely told you that he was worthy. Go with him! Well, I guess your grandma and grandpa and your sisters might have just a little something to say about you going with him."

"Well, who said I was going with him? I must say, Ermintrude—" "Well, you talk about it all the time. All the time."

"I do not. Last Wednesday I just barely told you that he was worthy. Go with him! Well, I guess your grandma and grandpa and your sisters might have just a little something to say about you going with him."

"I don't care if you tell me," said Ermintrude. "Only I do kind of think you've got this Earl awfully on the brain. If I talked about Peter every living minute of the day and night, you'd get sick of it, too, I'll bet. I guess maybe I love Peter as much as you love your old Earl, but I certainly haven't got him on the brain."

"Peter!" said the outraged Mary-Frances. "Why, Ermintrude Hill! Are you still thinking about Peter Morrison? Just because he asked you to his birthday party the first one, and wrote a note to you the next day, and gets red when he meets you on the street? That's different. That's entirely different. That's just childish—that's all that is. Childish. You don't know the first thing about real, true, deep, passionate love such as ours."

It was Saturday morning. They were walking to the store to do some marketing for Ermintrude's mother. Mary-Frances stopped, stood still. "Well, if I don't," she demanded, "who does?"

"Older people, I guess," said Ermintrude, and tried to mask incomprehension, flagrant, with insolence.

"Older people!" Mary-Frances, shaken, lunged it from her.

"Come on. We got to hurry," mother said. Mother said, "continued Ermintrude, as if by chance, and—happening to be on the subject of mother, anyway, "that younger people didn't. Last night Mrs. Mattason had to go over town to see her daughter-in-law to borrow a couple of covers for her bridge tables this afternoon, so we took her over in the new car. And she was worrying about her grandchildren, the twins, and she said modern girls didn't regard love right, or something."

"I don't remember just what she said. I was riding in front with daddy and not supposed to be listening. And mother said something. Mrs. Mattason said they didn't understand about real love, and mother said she guessed they did as much as the girls of her period had, or even Mrs. Mattason's period. And Mrs. Mattason said why, or what did mother mean? And mother said she was becoming more and more convinced that people had to have been married 10 years, at least, and had a baby or two, and maybe even lost one (she was thinking about my little brother, Danny, I guess), before they even began to suspect the meaning of love, let alone understand it or know the first thing about it."

"Oh, well," Mary-Frances simply flicked that away with a feathery gesture and a lifted shoulder and a turned-up nose. "Of course, if you think your mother knows more about love than noted poets like Laurence Hope, and Mr. Browning, and Ella Wheeler Wilcox and everybody, there's just no use in talking to you at all."

"POETS, noted or not," contended Ermintrude, "can't mean everything they write—they'd go cuckoo if they did. They just write different ways, hoping to please different people—or for some reason. I don't know why. But you don't have to believe every word they write, like it was in the Bible, do you? Besides that, I guess maybe there are a few people in the world worth taking advice from besides poets. And if you could hear what my daddy says about my mother, I guess, maybe, you might think she was one of them."

"Who said I never took advice from anybody but poets?" Mary-Frances demanded. "I think your mother is an awfully nice lady, Ermintrude. But I guess she wasn't the toast of the south when she was a girl. Now, my grandmother—" "I know. You told me. My mother didn't live in the south."

"Well, Rosalie did. In South Carolina. And I asked her just the other day how people knew for sure when they were in love, and all I have to say is that what she told me, and she talked for pretty near half an hour on the subject, certainly didn't sound much like what your mother had to say about being married 10 years and babies and all. And if age is all you go by, why, I guess Rosalie is maybe a little older than your mother."

Ermintrude, not barren of tact, remarked, "Miss Alderman was mad as hops when you cut basketball the other day."

"I didn't feel like rowdying around," Mary-Frances replied, and sighed spectacularly. "I had some poetry to copy."

"You'll be sorry, though, if she thanks you in gym."

"I don't know," said Mary-Frances, deliberately dreamy, and, one fears, deliberately vexatious. "I might be far away—married, or living my own life by having a career with Earl, or—anything, by that time."

"A friend of mine told me about it. There's dancing, later, inside, if we care to stay."

"Let's! But—can we? It has been so long since we've danced. How long?"

"Too long. We do get into ruts. Sort of forget about good times to be had, don't we?"

"Perhaps. But during the winter there isn't much to do. We don't care for public dances."

"No. But we could go places and dine, as we're doing this evening, and dance, if—"

"If what?" she asked, but she continued smiling, because she did not know what Phil had begun to say. "If you had the proper things to wear to the better places, or weren't always getting dinner at home, or too tired."

"If we'd 'pian,' he said. "We will, after this. We'll have good times this summer, and we'll keep them up next winter. What about it, You Beautiful?"
