HUNT WOMAN AS BABY KIDNAPER

Murray's Thunder Being Stolen by Acting Governor Robert Burns

Not Strange

The incident of two Pampa men meeting for the first time at the Grandviw carnival is not at all unusual. It is possible to be active in certain activities and yet to fail to meet other citizens not concerned in the same work.

Break the Ice

Not long ago about a hundred Amarillo Rotarians made a trip over here. One of them told the Pampa man he dared not introduce himself promiscuously lest he make the acquaintance of a fellow Rotarian. He may have been a new member, but we think not. Business needs a lot of "ice-breaking." Most business problems are problems of marlity. Good fellowship is conducive to the right kind of ethical dealings.

"Contact"

Lindbergh, poised for his Paris flight, yelled "Contact" and was off. We imagine that word has been revolving through his mind again since his son was kidnaped. But contact with the kidnapers has been more hazardous than flying blind over the Atlantic. . . . Before the contacts made were deceiving and intended to bleed the air hero of his fortune. Lindy's trouble is still involving "contacts," but evil men are more dangerous than air currents and more treacherous than machinery.

Bad Idea

The Northwest Texas Highway association recently passed resolutions condemning the state highway commission's intention of building, without local aid, a series of projects designed to straighten highways already paved. This writer is opposed to straightening paving until the gaps in the state system are closed. We believe motorists will be more benefited by ending the muddy stretches than by making travel a bit faster on paving already laid.

Bonds Again

The state is handicapped by its policy of waiting for local aid on the gaps. The best remedy suggested for this difficulty is the taking over of all construction by the state on designated roads. In other words, the statewide bond issue, providing it is not too big and is properly administered, would end the gaps in short order and lift the bonded indebtedness of counties which, like Gray, have voted money to assist the state in "through" projects.

As a prelude to the proposed state construction of all designated roads, many

GIGERO ASKED TO TELL HOW OIL WATCHED

SOME WELLS ARE SAID TO OVER-PRODUCE IN FIELD

IRRITATION IS OBVIOUS

SHAKE-UP OF STAFF IS HINTED BY LIEUT.-GOVERNOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 12 (AP)—Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray's official understudy, Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns, apparently was stealing Oklahoma's perennial political show from the absent star today.

Burns in his capacity as acting governor, late yesterday called on Governor's cousin, Lieut. Col. Cicero L. Murray, to report why "certain companies" allegedly had been permitted to overproduce their wells in the Oklahoma City oil field, where Col. Murray has charge of military proration enforcement.

Not stopping at that, Burns expressed irritation because some of Gov. Murray's office force "hasn't paid any attention to me as acting governor." Calling out a list of 13 employees directly under "Alfalfa Bill," he hinted at a possible shake-up.

Gov. Murray is in Oregon, campaigning for the democratic presidential nomination.

Col. Murray, who was given ten days in which to report, said he would answer the letter from Burns when I see it. "Before the period expires, 'Alfalfa Bill' will be back home."

Acting Gov. Burns referred specifically to the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas company. He said corporation commission records showed the concern, in the five months ending with February, 1932, "overproduced 699,356 barrels of oil and I have reason to believe that some other producers have also overproduced far in excess of the allowable fixed."

Farm Loans Will Be Discussed at Amarillo Meeting

C. L. Geesey, field inspector for agricultural loans in this territory, received a telegram from O. W. Sherrill, regional manager of the Farmers Seed Loan office at Dallas, that a regional meeting would be held at the Herring Hotel, Amarillo, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, April 15th. Mr. O. W. Sherrill, regional manager of the Dallas office, and Mr. J. H. Lynch, senior advisory officer of Washington, D. C., will be present at this meeting.

Final regulations and advice will be given on agricultural loans preceding the closing date for applications for farm loans which April 30th. Mr. Geesey requested that all of the county committees, county agents, chamber of commerce secretaries, and all others interested in loans to farmers for crop production, attend this meeting.

It is planned to have a meeting at Dallas at an early date to be attended by a representative of the county committee of every county in the state of Texas. Inasmuch as the county committees serve without pay, a number of the railroads have agreed to transport a member of this committee to Dallas without charge.

Ecuador Recovers Her Two-Ship Navy

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, April 12 (AP)—Ecuador got its navy back today when crews were put aboard the gunboats Cotopaxi and Tarqui. The vessels were recovered in the night from the mutineers who seized them in Guayaquil Harbor last week.

The naval engagement, in which not a shot was fired, followed the recapture of the fort at Punta Piedras where another rebel group was installed. Marines in small boats surrounded the gunboats, scrambled aboard and overpowered the mutineers after a brief hand-to-hand fight.

General Idefonso Mendoza, leader of the unsuccessful revolt, was found hiding with two of his lieutenants in the boiler room of the Cotopaxi.

MANY FARM LOANS MADE

Total of $15,592 Is Asked by Wheeler County; Gray Requests $2,965.

Farmers who are interested in making applications for a loan from the farmers' seed loan office of the department of agriculture must do so before April 30.

Anyone who does not understand how to make these applications is advised to get in touch with the county committee, composed of R. E. R. Cook, banker at McLean, or L. L. Palmer, farmer living north of Alameda. Information also can be secured from Ralph Thomas, county agent, or the Pampa Board of City Development.

C. L. Geesey, field inspector of this district with headquarters here, yesterday said 28 applications had been sent to Dallas from Gray county, totaling $3,000. Half of this amount is in the hands of farmers and the rest will be available in less than 30 days. Loans are heavier in other parts of the state.

The applications in this district follows:
Armstrong county, 11 applications, $1,940 asked.
Carson county, no applications.
Donley county, 17 applications for $1,793.
Gray county, 28 applications for $2,965.
Hemphill county, 14 applications for $2,260.
Roberts county, 1 application for $50.
Wheeler county, 102 applications for $15,592.

Scout Training School To Open In City Tonight

The Pampa Boy Scout leadership training school will open at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the basement of the First Methodist church with John Shannon as Scoutmaster. C. A. Clark, executive of the Adobe Walls council, will be chief patrol leader.

The men attending will be divided into patrols and will go into Boy Scout work from its foundation. It is expected that 14 patrols will be organized. The school will meet every Tuesday night for six weeks and will close with a hike and feed.

John B. Hesse is chairman of the committee in charge of the school.

Gunmen Battle in Chicago Election

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP)—A revolver battle between a political worker and gunmen cruising in an automobile past a southside polling place climaxed a hike and fed. Henry Hess, 65, a republican precinct worker, was caught in the cross-fire and taken to a hospital where he was immediately operated on for a possible fatal wound.

Jack Kelly, a democratic precinct captain, was taken into police custody although he asserted he was forced in self defense to fire on the automobile. The gunmen first alighted and slugged Kelly, witnesses said, then got into their sedan again and fired as they drove away.

Hess said he did not know whose bullet hit him but that he was not the target.

The battle took place in the home ward of Michael Igoe, one of the democratic candidates for the nomination for governor.

County Agent Ralph R. Thomas is director of the production contest at the Plainview dairy show.

LITTLE "BASEBALL WEATHER" IN PROSPECT FOR OPENING CONTESTS; PHILADELPHIA IS MOST FAVORED

By The Associated Press

Plagued by snow, rain, and cold weather, baseball's major league campaigns faced an inauspicious start today.

Despite the poor weather, at least 150,000 fans, who had the necessary tickets and overcoats, were expected to pass through the turnstiles in six major league parks to witness the general opening of another pennant race.

Only at Philadelphia, Cincinnati, and St. Louis was there anything resembling "baseball weather," reports to the Associated Press showed and even in those cities hot coffee

SLAYING FACTS ARE DESCRIBED AT HONOLULU

EVIDENCE OF CRIME IN AMERICAN HOME IS TOLD

DARROW KEEPS SILENT

BACKGROUND DAMAGING TO FORTESCUE SIDE CASE

HONOLULU, April 12 (AP)—Efforts to picture what happened behind the drawn blinds of the home of Mrs. Granville Fortescue Jan. 3, when Joseph Kahahawai was allegedly lynched, were made by the prosecution today in the trial of the society woman and three navy men for the killing.

John C. Kelley, public prosecutor, has produced witnesses who linked the defendants with the motor car stopped by police while rushing toward Koko Head, with the body, which apparently was to have been thrown to the sharks.

The prosecutor lined up today's witnesses in an attempt to show that the killing took place in the Fortescue home.

In his opening statement Kelley told the racially-mixed jury something of what he expected to prove concerning the home.

Two officers, he said, went to the place after the shooting and found windows closed and blinds drawn. They found a revolver, he said, and a bullet lying on a table.

A purse containing a photograph of Kahahawai, a cup which had been worn by the victim, blood stains, a rope identical with that used to bind Kahahawai's sheet-enveloped body, and evidence indicating the floor had been recently mopped were found in the house, Kelley said.

Edward Dill, cousin of Kahahawai, testified it was Mrs. Fortescue, Mrs. and Lord who lured the victim

Sheriff Is Busy in Raids on Monday

Pampa officers were kept busy yesterday preserving the "peace and dignity of the street." They made 13 arrests, seized 17 bottle of beer, were unexpected guests at a "cotch" game played by 11 negroes, and confiscated a quantity of whiskey.

Sheriff Lon L. Blansett and his deputies escorted 11 negroes to the county jail from the "flats" where they were discovered in a noisy game of "cotch," a card game diversion played with three cards. "Cotch" is exceedingly popular and is the latest fad among Pampa negroes. This morning the eleven defendants were earnestly "telling it to the judge."

Samuel Skipp was charged with possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale in justice court here yesterday. The grand jury is expected to take action on the charge this week.

The second beer raid of the "season" was made by Constable Frank Jordan yesterday and resulted in the arrest of a woman and the confiscation of 17 bottle of beer. A charge of disturbing the peace was filed against the woman, and she paid a fine in the amount of approximately $14.

DISMISSAL OF INDICTMENTS SEVERAL YEARS OLD ORDERED

Upon motion of District Attorney Raymond Alfred Judae W. R. Ewing has dismissed approximately 40 felony indictments, most of them three, four and five years old.

Judge Ewing said this morning that both the former sheriff, E. S. Graves, and the present sheriff, Lon L. Blansett had found it impractical to institute a search for the defendants and witnesses in the cases. The cost of bringing the cases to trial was due largely to the fact that bonds given by the defendants were insufficient or worthless.

The cost of trying the cases now would include an expensive search for witnesses scattered all over the nation, rounding up former police officers of the county, and interviewing the defendants. The indictments were placed on the docket in 1927, 1928, 1929 and in 1930. Most of the indictments involved liquor charges—possession, transporting, and sale of intoxicating liquor. The others were based on charges of burglary, robbery, theft, and driving while intoxicated. No capital offenses were among those dismissed.

The statutes do not provide funds to the sheriff for instituting a search for defendants and witnesses, nor for transporting prisoners from one part of the country to another.

Slander Suit Is Under Way Here

The trial of M. P. Downs' suit against the Panhandle Building and Loan association is scheduled to start this afternoon in 31st district court. Mr. Downs, who owns an insurance agency here, is asking for damages in the amount of $25,000, alleging that he was slandered by the loan association which has headquarters at Amarillo. W. M. Lawright is attorney for Mr. Downs.

The plaintiff stated in his original petition that the association refused to accept insurance policies written by him for G. H. Reber and Mrs. Georgia B. Dotson.

Local Men Will Go to Cheyenne

Several Pampans will go to Cheyenne, Okla., next Tuesday to attend the Cheyenne and Arapahoe old-timers reunion. The celebration will be the 40th anniversary of the opening of the territory known as the Cheyenne and Arapahoe and composing nine counties.

One of the Pampa men who will make the trip will be J. S. Wynne. Mr. Wynne "made the run" April 19, 1892, and staked out some property which he later sold for a considerable sum. One of the pieces of land which Mr. Wynne owned has the Cheyenne bank located on it.

Jim Williams, another old-timer, will make the trip. Mr. Williams was a cowboy in that section in 1897, five years after the run. The two old-timers were heard discussing the early days around Cheyenne this morning in front of the First National bank.

Sheriff Lon L. Blansett, George W. Briggs, Siler Hopkins, Harry E. Hoare, and others will also go to Cheyenne.

WALKER NEW LIONS CHIEF

Pampans Is Elected District Governor at Convention in Lubbock.

LUBBOCK, April 12 (Special)—C. H. Walker of Pampa today was elected district governor of the district T of West Texas regional Lions clubs, defeating D. W. Harrington of El Paso, 44 votes to 29.

Amarillo won the 1932 convention, defeating Big Spring and Colorado.

The election and selection of the next meeting place marked the close of the two-day convention.

The Pampa Lions delegation dominated convention politics from the time of their arrival in Lubbock. They commandeered the local fire trucks, staged parades, gave minstrel numbers in the convention hotel, plastered the city with signs, and generally made their presence felt and their campaign for Walker respected.

Lion John Sturgeon was chairman of the campaign for Walker and his committee had contacted virtually every club before the convention.

The election and selection of the next meeting place marked the close of the two-day convention.

Newspaper Has Many Chances to Make Errors

Typographical errors are easily made, there being about thirty chances to each line of type.

Sometimes a type channel becomes dusty, slowing the fall of the matrice and causing it to fall in the wrong order in a word. Although this may be noted and marked by the proof reader, the chances for a repetition of the error are rather high because of the mechanical maladjustment.

Take tomorrow's NEWS and mark all the typographical errors you find in the stories and advertisements. Number each error, and mark the total beside your name at the top of the front page. Bring or mail the paper to this office.

The prizes for finding the most errors will be as follows: First, $3.50 worth of LaNora tickets; second, $2.50 worth of Rex tickets; third, $2 worth of LaNora tickets; fourth, $2 worth of Rex tickets.

You will find this contest interesting; enter it.

Home Labor Team Holds Musicales

The Home Labor baseball team showed Pampa folks last night that it could do more than play baseball when they sponsored a Musicales in the labor temple. More than 125 persons attended the program which was mostly by members of the team.

Walt Newton acted as toastmaster. The following men took part in the program: Jim Keller and Wm. Eckols, violin; J. M. Miller, organ; D. N. Walker, Joe Adair, Cecil Lunsford, Elmer Henderson, guitar; Marvin Hubert, Jack Patton, Oscar Pope, harmonica.

The ball team is ready for games and any team in this section desires to play the Home Labor team may get in touch with D. N. Walker, manager, at the Labor hall, phone 1244. Joe Adair is captain.

LOCAL LIONS ARE CONFIDENT OF ELECTION OF C. H. WALKER AS DISTRICT'S NEXT GOVERNOR

Confident that C. H. Walker would be elected district governor of the Lions club at Lubbock today, Roy McMillen, Supt. R. B. Fisher and E. D. Zimmerman returned to Pampa late night from the convention at Lubbock. The Pampans felt that their votes would not be needed to elect Mr. Walker.

The Pampa delegation was escorted into Lubbock by the fire trucks, motorcycle cops, police force, Boy Scouts, the Texas Tech Majadors and other attractions of the Hub City. It was said that the 35 Pampa Lions took the town and the convention by storm and lost no time in advocating the candidacy of Mr. Walker. Before the three citizens left Lubbock, the politicians of the Pampa Lions club had pulled wires, strings to such an extent that they had lined up three-fourths of the visiting delegates for Mr. Walker, it was reported.

There was only one opponent in the field against Mr. Walker, and he was D. W. Harrington of El Paso. Pampa had the largest delegation at the convention yesterday. Cities seeking the 1932 convention are Pampa, Amarillo, Big Spring and Colorado. It was predicted that Amarillo would be the next convention city.

GREEN SEDAN ALSO SEEN AT FLIER'S HOME

POLICE BELIEVE WOMAN ESTRANGED MEMBER KIDNAP GANG

RANSOM BILL IS SIGHTED

NORFOLK TRIO CONFER WITH LINDBERGH ABOUT BABY

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 12 (AP)—A chic woman in a green town car became a quarry in the great Lindbergh kidnaping hunt today.

On the highways of many states, police sought, after a bakery proprietress in Greenwich, Conn. spotted a $20 bill she proffered in payment for a strawberry pie as part of the $50,000 ransom mulcted from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The hunt intensified when detectives recalled that a green sedan was seen near the Lindbergh home on Sourland Mountain the night of the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., March 1.

This development, and a theory that the person who took Col. Lindbergh's $50,000 without returning the stolen child was an estranged member of the kidnap gang who no longer has the baby in his possession stirred the mystery to a new boiling point.

Police, wise in the underworld's ways, had expected the swifter of swindlers in the flying colonel to wait months before trying to spend the cash obtained by a double cross, but the Greenwich development, assuming the bakery owner got the number of the bill right, showed they had dared to throw discretion to the winds.

Haste Arouses Suspicion

There was no indication as to whether the unknown woman actually was connected with the kidnaping or swindle; but the haste with which she fled when the number on the bill was pointed out, roused police suspicions.

No word from the kidnapers since the swindle has been received by Col. Lindbergh, said Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, after a conference in New York with Col. Henry Breckenridge, legal adviser of Lindbergh.

Dr. John F. Condon, agent educator described as the author of a series of cryptic newspaper advertisements signed "Jafise" which led to

A. P. I. Group to Convene Tonight

The third regular meeting of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the city hall auditorium. Two interesting papers will be read.

Pollution and Waste Disposal will be the subject of V. L. Martin of Tulsa with the Prairie-Sinclair company. Mr. Martin arrived in Pampa this morning. Emulsions will be discussed by Carl E. Fuhs of the Phillips Petroleum company and A. J. Holland of the Texas company.

These two papers will deal with subjects of vital interest to the oil industry and should be of particular interest at this time when the economics of production is of such importance. Ed Warren, president of the association, said.

The meeting will be open to the public.

They moved independent of the wrists, like spatulas jerked by a puppet string. Whoever says that jazz was not invented by negroes never saw one play. And that's not saying anything derogatory against music.

CHANGE IN TAX PRINCIPLES

The senate's deliberations over the tax bill have raised anew the old, fundamental issue in any taxation measure: Are those who have the most to pay the most, or is it better to let them off lightly on the theory that their increased prosperity will trickle down and do something for the ordinary citizens underneath?

For more than a decade the country has been committed to the second alternative. Through recent years we have been assured, over and over again, that the welfare of all of us is best promoted by seeing to it that the very rich have a free hand.

Taxes on the possessors of great incomes have been whittled down, year after year, in line with this theory. The government has done all it could to leave them entirely alone, both in the conduct of their business enterprises and in their methods of handling the profits.

This, we were told, meant better times for all of us, automatically and inevitably.

As long as boom times lasted, nobody minded much. The rich got theirs and most of the rest of us got ours, proportionately, and everybody was happy.

The question up for decision now is whether that doctrine is still a valid one.

A very large section of the country, evidently, thinks that it isn't. Its belief found reflection in the crushing defeat which the house gave the sales tax proposal, and in the "soak the rich" provisions of the new revenue bill. Most Americans seem about ready to reverse the post-war system and call on the rich to carry a greater part of the load.

It may be that the ordinary citizen has decided that the proof of a pudding is in the eating of it, and that since ten solid years of coddling the rich have finally landed us just where we are now, a change in policy is advisable. And if he has—can you blame him very much?

people are advocating election of highway commissioners by districts. This has its advantages, but all sectional fights... under such a plan, the majority could crush the rights and aspirations of any one section...

Be Careful!

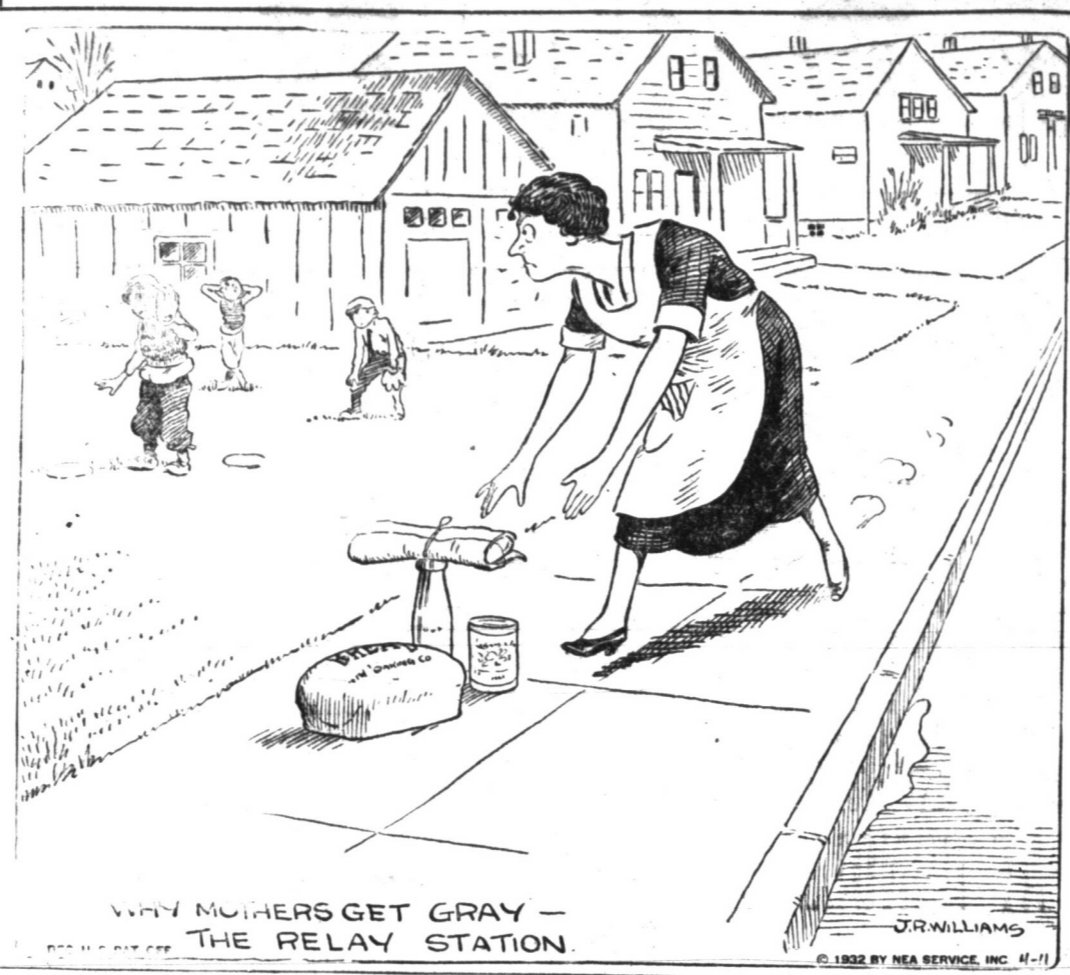

Gray county has voted a large sum for road paving. Much of the amount is really aid for state roads, in which the county residents are only partially interested. There are two ways of avoiding the drain upon the property owners of this county. One is for the state to repay the county for funds spent on state-designated roads. In this way, the motorists who use the roads would pay for them through the gasoline tax, and under this method Gray counties would pay their share, but not in taxes.

Save Some of It

The other way would be for the county commission to refrain from spending all of the big sum voted. The cheaper construction where traffic will be light would enable the commissioners to save a substantial sum. In view of general conditions, we believe this to be desirable. If there are any objections, they should come from the farmers to be mainly served. Not many farmers are objecting to tax lowering plans these days. The officials in charge of public finances should be very conservative at this

Red Cross Work Of Year Outlined

WASHINGTON, April 11. (AP)—How the Red Cross responded to the needs of drought, storm, tornado and unemployment emergencies the last year was told by James L. Fieser, vice chairman.

Addressing the opening session of the annual convention of the National Red Cross, Fieser sketched a word picture of the organization's far-flung activities and paid high tribute to its chairman, John Barton Payne, for his "unselfish and courageous service."

The Red Cross has been designated by congress to distribute to the needy flour made from 40,000,000 bushels of government wheat. Fieser said more than one-third of this amount is now in the process of being distributed.

Rabbi William F. Rosenblum of Temple Israel, New York, warned that congress must forget "sectional pride, petty partisan politics and personal ambition" and enact measures "striking at the fundamental causes of economic unrest and material instability."

"Otherwise," he said, "the masses here will rise in their might and demand a hunger loan more gigantic in scope than any of the victory loans which were oversubscribed so generously during the world war. The convention, attended by about 1,000 delegates, will continue through Thursday.

BY BYRON PRICE Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

Although it is too early by weeks to attempt a complete catalogue of the campaign issues of 1932, it now can be predicted safely that the voters will hear much about three old acquaintances—prosperity, the tariff and prohibition.

If early spring signs mean anything, the argument will run something like this: The democrats will accuse President Hoover of weakness, procrastination, and large-scale blundering with respect to the depression, and will assert that events have exploded once and for all the boasts that the republican party is the party of prosperity.

The republicans will declare their president for having kept the country's soil and body together at all in a time of world-wide distress, and will thank providence that no democrat was in the White House in such an hour.

Tariff Issue To Come Up The democrats will blame the present republican tariff for dislocations at home and loss of prestige abroad, and will ask that the president be shown of his one-man power over rate changes.

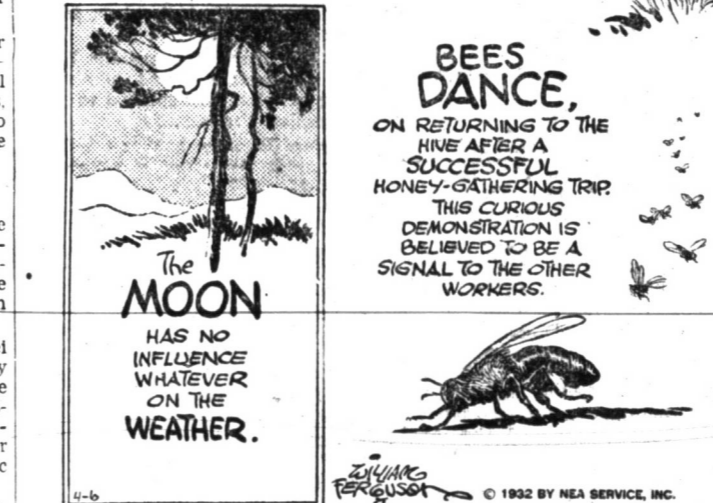

The republicans will declare their tariff policies have helped greatly in the present crisis, will defend the presidential ratifying prerogative, and will argue it would be dangerous to both industry and labor to put tariff making into democratic hands.

The democrats, either through their platform or their candidate or both, will ridicule the Hoover prohibition regime, and bid in one way or another for the support of opponents of the dry laws.

The republicans may conceivably make some concessions to the wets, but they will try valiantly to retain the support of those drying to bolt. Doubtless other issues will be heard from, too, although some of the favorites, such as taxation and foreign relations, seem to have been read out of the campaign by bi-partisan action in congress. The sure starters, as of today, are the three named above, and each of these three may be expected to kick up a lot of dust on the way to the HOLLYWOOD — A gentleman from Scranton, Pa., who will be nameless did a big favor to the stage and screen when he objected violently to Chico Marx's piano-playing and got rough.

For Chico got violent himself, threw the object out of the window of the cafe where he was employed and then learned that the gentleman had rough—and powerful—friends who might make it unpleasant for Chico to remain in town.

So it was that Chico departed post-haste for Chicago, and so it was, a few nights later, that when "The Three Mascots" stepped on the stage for their act in Waukegan, near the home town, they saw in the orchestra pit none other than brother Chico, who promptly joined the act and set in motion the crazy wheels that were to spin them up the fame highway as "The Four Marx Brothers."

Wandering Minstrel

That was all a long time ago, when Gummo, now in business, was still on the stage and Zeppo, who took his place, was a mere child. Chico, eldest of the five, was first to start tomfoolery as a means of livelihood, but last, except for Zeppo, to go to the stage.

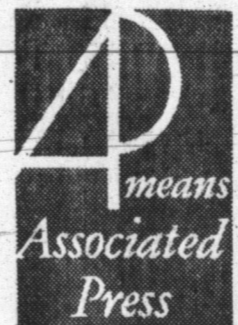

When he was 15 he began his career as a wandering minstrel of the cludes, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona, will take place in Dallas from April 21 to April 23. The conference is held annually, is for the purpose of discussing problems common to all parts of the region, exchanging ideas on policies and programs and laying plans for the coming twelve months.

His price for an evening's party playing was $5—a fixed price that nevertheless varied downwards if he couldn't get it.

To Revive Valentino Film

Because of the Valentino legend, there has been no effort until now to microphone any of the stories which he made in silent pictures. But now one of his most successful films, "Blood and Sand," is to be re-made.

However, it will be a starring vehicle for a woman—Tallulah Bankhead—and the Valentino role will be taken by a comparatively unknown newcomer, Gary Grant.

PARENTS WILL SEE WORK OF JUNIOR HIGH

The Junior high Parent-Teacher association is sponsoring a school night for the parents of pupils in the Junior high school.

There will be two divisions of this program, which is to be held on Friday night of this week at the gymnasium and Junior high building. At 7:30 p. m. each teacher of the Junior high faculty will hold three classes for parents and pupils. At the classes the teachers will explain to the parents the courses their children are taking. In these explanations they will try to bring out the nature of the work done and the purpose of the courses offered. Parents are urged to come to this program and get acquainted with the work that is being done in this school.

At 8:40 p. m. there will be a general program in the high school gymnasium for everyone. This program will be a Washington bicentennial celebration. Mr. Selby, principal of the Junior high school, and the officers of the Junior high Parent-Teacher association will extend a hearty welcome to the public to attend either, or both, of these programs.

GYM PROGRAMS FOR HI-Y
The Hi-Y club of the high school is sponsoring a gymnasium program for the boys. The plan is to have the gymnasium open for all boys to come and take part in basketball, volleyball, wrestling, etc., and boys outside the Hi-Y club have the same privileges. These programs will be held every other week on Thursday night, from 8 to 10 o'clock, beginning this week. The weeks in between will be regular meeting times for the Hi-Y club. These regular club programs will be held on Thursday nights also, and at the same time. Boys of the high school are urged to attend any or all of these meetings.

Rev. Long Talks To Student Group

After "America" had been sung at the Lord's prayer, representatives of the high school assembly Wednesday morning, Rev. C. A. Long spoke to the students.

Rev. Long said that to be successful one should study the lives of successful men. He told of the life of Edward Bok, one of our greatest Americans. Giving examples of Bok's great resourcefulness, Rev. Long told how he first learned to protect himself, how he earned his first dollar, of his first job as a reporter, of his first courtship, how he earned his first set of books, which was Appleton's Encyclopedia, and how he won his first great success as a reporter.

Rev. Long stated that Bok believed there were three stages in a man's life: His preparation for his life's work, his active work, and his service to mankind. Bok's last great contribution to mankind was the building of the beautiful bird sanctuary and conservatory in Florida, which he dedicated to his mother and to America.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

NEA SERVICE WRITER

Perhaps the greatest impediment in one's fight against over-plumpness is the bridge luncheon, that wily foe of dieting. The dieting guest fears that she may offend her hostess if she fails to partake of the tempting rich food usually served, but she knows that if she yields she breaks down her carefully guarded diet and undoes the work of weeks of stern "reducing."

But bridge luncheons do not have to be so noxious to diets. The thoughtful hostess of today plans her menus with her reducing friends in mind and combines delectability with a minimum of caloric content. And the dieting guest can skip a bit on breakfast the day the bridge club meets.

There are a few general suggestions the hostess may want to remember when planning her spring luncheon menus.

Count the Calories!
In the first place, take stock of the calories. It's the fats, starches and sugars that increase the caloric count at such an alarming rate. This includes in the food list all bread-stuffs—particularly hot buttered rolls so popular on luncheon menus—cream sauces, mayonnaise, whipped cream and very sweet desserts made with yolks of eggs as well as cake mixtures. Angel food cake is not taboo since its made mostly of egg whites.

Toasted crackers can often take the place of bread. A soda cracker is said to have about one-fourth as many calories as an un buttered piece of bread the same size as the cracker.

Fruit cocktails (unsweetened), jellies, meats, broiled meats or fish, one hot, succulent vegetable simply dressed with salt and pepper and a little butter, a plain green or fruit salad with French dressing.

HUMBLE JOINS OIL PRICE HIKE
HOUSTON, April 12—Crude oil prices were higher throughout the mid-continent area today, subsidiaries of the Standard of New Jersey, the last of the major purchasers to fall into line, having met the increase yesterday.

The Humble company, a Standard subsidiary and one of the largest purchasers in Texas, raised its prices for all fields, in most instances 15 cents a barrel. The new figures ranged from 65 cents to $1.

The Humble continued its policy of refusing to post prices for East Texas, where the other majors had boosted the price to 98 cents. However, it promised to pay the "going price." W. S. Farish, president of the company, reiterated that officials of his concern had believed present economic conditions did not warrant the increase.

HITS AT FEES
SEGUIN, April 12 (AP)—Thomas F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, candidate for governor, brought his campaign to Seguin last night. Rep. F. C. Weiner of Seguin was chairman of the meeting at which Hunter spoke. The candidate said it should be a penal offense for any state office holder to receive pay from a corporation.

KITTY FREW

by JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS: Kitty Frew has raised across country to her husband Gar, who has been injured in an automobile crash. She had gone home to Bridgewater after a quarrel with Gar, but she forgets his latest in her worry and his lavish spending. In her worry, David, Gar's half-brother, meets her.

Chapter 36
A MASK STRIPPED OFF
DAVID put his arm around her shoulder. "Gar's all right, Kitty," he said quickly. "He's conscious this morning. He struck on his head but the X-ray showed there was no fracture of the skull. His shoulder's smashed up and his ankle's broken but—"

"David, I want to go to him at once!"
"Of course," David answered quietly. He directed a redcap to carry her baggage. He kept his arm through hers, steadying her as he led her through the station to the taxi stand. He put her into a taxi and sat down beside her, taking her hand and holding it tight in his. The fingers of her hand in his tightened convulsively.

"David, we were angry with one another when I went away! I said horrible things, David. I'll never forget them. I told him I wasn't coming back from Bridgewater, that it was all a mistake, a bad business, just as you'd said. You didn't have any right to say that to me, David, for me to remember, to say it to Gar!" She dragged her hand from his hold, tears streaming down her face. "If he dies before I have a chance to tell him that I didn't mean that—"

"You can tell him. He isn't going to die," David retorted grimly. "I fished him," Kitty added miserably. "Just when he needed me most!"

David offered no comment. They rode in silence until the car turned into the drive of the hospital grounds. He touched Kitty's arm as she hurried ahead.

"There are some regulations, you know."
"To Kitty it seemed an endless interval of stupid questioning and answering before she was admitted to the room where Gar lay. Why, she was his wife!"

David left her at the door of the room. She did not know it; she had forgotten his existence. She saw only Gar's dark head against the flat pillow of the high hospital bed.

"Gar!"
And then a tall figure came between her and Gar. She faced Mrs. Frew.

"You cannot disturb him now," Mrs. Frew said in a low cold tone. "Who let you in? You must go away."

Kitty stood, balked. For a moment she saw the older woman's face stripped of its mask; hatred, consuming jealousy, triumph was on it. She faltered before it, drew back a little uncertainly, frightened. And seeing that Mrs. Frew smiled.

"Kitty!" it was Gar, calling in a half-moan. Kitty pushed Mrs. Frew roughly out of her way. She dropped at the side of the bed, put her cheek against Gar's hand where it lay on the white sheet.

"Gar, darling. It's Kitty. I'm here."
"I thought you wouldn't come!" He drew a fretful sigh. His fingers moved, caught in her hair, feebly stroked it.

"I came as far as I could, darling."
"You won't go, sweet? You won't go now?"
"No, Gar."

She heard a rustling of skirts, whispering, a door closing and gave no heed.

"You mustn't let him talk, Mrs. Frew," a competent, friendly voice said over her shoulder and she nodded her head. As if she didn't know that Gar must be kept very quiet!

When a doctor came in the room she rose to her feet and moved to the window but she did not take her eyes from Gar.

"Doing very nicely," was the doctor's verdict. He looked at Kitty and smiled.

"He'll get along fast, now that you're here."
It seemed to establish her right in the room. The nurse conceded it to her with a sympathetic look.

"We were pretty worried this time yesterday," she whispered to Kitty. "We didn't know, you see—You were out of town? He called for you, first minute he knew anything."
Kitty had come to the bed again, kneel there, her hand holding Gar's. The nurse pushed a chair up to the bedside.

"You might as well be comfortable, Mrs. Frew. You can ring if you need me. That's the bell."

She tiptoed out of the room, leaving Kitty alone with Gar. The room was very quiet except for the drip of the rain outside. Kitty relaxed in her chair. It seemed an eternity since that moment her father had turned from the telephone, calling her. "Winton wants you, Kitty." Sally had been there with her, and her mother. They'd been looking at the bridesmaid's dress, laughing, talking. And then: "Gar has been hurt in an automobile accident. Can you catch a train to-night?" David, talking. The hurry, the concerned faces of her father and mother, Phil saying he'd drive her over to Albany, and then the endless hours of the night, the torture of uncertainty.

"Oh, Gar?" She put her hands out to him in an expressive little gesture of longing.
Every word of that night's quarrel came back to her, to flay her. She'd goaded him to say things he shouldn't mean; she said things she didn't mean. They'd insulted one another, hurt one another. He'd flung himself out of the house and she'd locked the door of the bedroom. And the next day she'd gone to Bridgewater without seeing him.

"The room next is empty, Mrs. Frew. Why don't you take a nap? I'll call you when he wakens." The nurse had come in.

"I know how you feel," she went on, in her half-whisper. "But he's all right and you don't want to be sick yourself. When he's better he's going to be awful fussy—his shoulder and ankle, you see."

Reluctantly Kitty yielded and let the nurse take her to the adjoining room. It was cool and white and quiet; though she thought she could not sleep, in a few minutes she was sleeping on the narrow bed.

She awakened, bewildered for a moment by her surroundings. She'd been dreaming of Sally. Why, tomorrow was Sally's wedding day! She must go to Bridgewater, talk to Sally about taking things so seriously—

Then, fully aroused, she sprang out of bed, alarmed. That nurse should have called her! Perhaps Gar needed her. She rushed out into the corridor and there stopped short, facing Carol.

"Gar?" she asked, frightened.
Carol shrugged her shoulders. "Oh, I guess he's all right, I don't know—" She was moving toward a door across from Gar's. Her manner said plainly that her presence here had nothing to do with Gar. She was carrying a long box of flowers in her arms.

"I suppose you know Marge Crosby's gone?"
And with that she opened the door she sought and closed it softly behind her.

Paul Somerset—she'd gone in to him, of course. The brief lines she had read in the paper, crushed in her fingers, came back to Kitty. The exultation that had edged Carol's voice struck her with sickening meaning. Carol expected that she, too, must rejoice at Marge's going! The old fear assailed her as she opened Gar's door.

The nurse was carefully putting a pillow under Gar's head and he was muttering crossly under her ministrations. But when he saw Kitty his face cleared.

"I told him it was a shame to wake you up, Mrs. Frew, you were sleeping so soundly. I peeked in. And he almost took my head off—" "Can he talk now?"
"A little. But you mustn't let him get excited or moved around. You see they haven't got his shoulder in a cast yet. To-morrow, maybe, I tell him he's a lot luckier than that other poor fellow they brought in with him—"

But Kitty's arms had slipped around Gar; her face was against his. Neither of them heard what the nurse said, or cared. She went out.

"Kitty, you haven't—told me—" "I love you, Gar, and more to-morrow and more the next day—" "Kitty, I didn't mean—the other night."
"I know, Gar. I know you didn't. I didn't, either. I hate myself for what I said."

"I don't suppose it would make me any worse if you kissed me, the way—"

She put her lips on his. Her closed eyes were against his, their breathing was one.

"Gee, Kit, what if it had knocked the out?"
"But it didn't, Gar. Just your shoulder and your ankle—"

"What if I had never seen you again? Kit, you've got to believe me, all the time I never cared a hang for anyone but you—"

(Copyright, Jane Abbott)
Mrs. Frew tries to regain control of Gar in the next installment, and Carol takes a bold step toward freedom.

COTTON OPENS QUIETLY

NEW ORLEANS, April 12.—The cotton market today had rather a quiet opening although Liverpool cables were improved. First trades here showed no change to 2 points decline. Prices sold off after the opening although stocks opened better. The decline was due to further long liquidation and hedge selling.

May dropped to 6.10, July to 6.26, and October to 6.51, or 5 to 7 points below yesterday's close. July, the active month, showed the largest decline.

Towards the end of the first hour July rallied 3 points but the other months remained unchanged at the lows.

GRAINS UP STILL

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP)—With drought unabated, grain prices made a material new advance early today. One report from Dodge City, Kan., said that in a wide circle from Guyman, Okla., there was barely 40 per cent of a wheat stand, and that in a stretch of 50 miles scarcely a single field promised to be harvested. Opening 1/4 off to 3/4 up, wheat afterward rose all around.

CONFERENCE OPENS

QUANA, April 12 (AP)—The annual conference of the thirteenth district Parent-Teachers association opened here today with some 300 delegates, representing 14 counties, in attendance.

His physician said today his condition was "very critical" and that "his heart has just given way." The senator was operated on a few weeks ago and was thought to be recovering when an intestinal disorder set in and he took a turn for the worse.

He was improving from that until yesterday when he became much worse, his heart becoming weakened by the strain of his illness.

into an automobile with a fake summons and whisked him away. Ull pointed to Jones as the man who had handed Kahahawai the "warrant". Ull said Kahahawai had gone to the judiciary building to make his daily report pending retrial of a charge that he and four other men attacked Mrs. Masie, wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue.

How the death car was spotted, stopped and disgorge of Kahahawai's body and its living car, Mrs. Fortescue, Masie and Lord, was told by George Von Arnswald, the arresting officer.

the thwarted negotiations for the baby's return, was believed to have attended the conference. Dr. Condon was quoted as believing the "situation would adjust itself" but three Norfolk men who were being negotiating with a person they believe to be an agent for the kidnappers were represented as pessimistic about the return of the baby by the person who took the $50,000.

The Daily NEWS says that the tokens given Col. Lindbergh during the negotiations as proof that the baby really was in the possession of the persons demanding $50,000 were two safety pins such as had been used to pin the baby's blankets to its crib.

Norfolk Trio Silent
NORFOLK, Va., April 12 (AP)—The very Rev. E. Dobson-Peacock said today he had been advised that his two associates in negotiations for the return of the stolen Lindbergh baby conferred yesterday with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Dean Dobson-Peacock said he had heard from John Hughes Curtis, who left here Sunday by plane, but he declined to reveal details of information had been given him. He said he had not heard from Rear Admiral Guy H. Burgess, retired, the third member of the trio, whose absence from Norfolk since Saturday was first reported to have no connection with the negotiations. He would not state where the conference with Colonel Lindbergh took place.
