HUNDREDS MAROONED IN BOTTOMS AS LEVEES FALL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 16 (AP)—A cry for far-reaching national relief in the flood-stricken areas of Northwestern Mississippi became more pronounced today as the Tallahatchie river broke additional levees and sent water over thousands of acres where thousands are homeless.

Ernest P. Kirick, director of disaster relief for the National Red Cross, estimated 1,500 families have been driven from their homes in nine Mississippi counties, but local relief agencies placed the number at 20,000 to 30,000 people who are homeless and in need of aid.

Some relief workers were outspoken in their criticism of the Red Cross, and the Memphis Evening Appeal in a front page editorial de-

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Jan. 16 (AP)—Leaving a note saying "I am sick and tired and cannot stick it out any longer," Earl Chadwell, 51, Muskogee chief of police, was found shot to death in a park near the United States veterans hospital late today.

A pistol from which one bullet had been fired lay near his body. Chadwell had been in ill health for several months.

"I have given the best years of my life in the service of this city and have seen the evils of the system under which the department has had to operate," the note added. "I hope the people will wake up sometime and get the police department out of politics."

VERDICT IS $30,000
CANYON, Jan. 16 (AP)—A verdict for $30,000 damages was returned by a jury here today in the suit of Kelly Grimes against the Continental Oil company. Grimes testified he was totally disabled in a car crash in which a truck belonging to the oil company figured, and asked for $100,000.

VOTING LAWS ARE DETAILED

Many Misunderstandings of Poll Taxes Are Discovered Here.

Because they don't know the provisions of the law, every year many people needlessly pay their poll taxes, and for the same reason many, under the impression they are qualified to vote without paying, fall to pay them and are robbed of the privilege of voting.

Who should and should not pay their poll taxes was discussed at length by Tax Collector T. W. Barnes yesterday.

To vote, one must have lived in the county six months and in the state one year. One must be 21 years of age and must be a naturalized or native-born citizen. A person who established his residence in Texas exactly one year prior to January of 1932 need not pay a poll tax, but a person who moves from one county to another and has been in the state over a year must pay the poll tax to vote.

A citizen who lived in Carson or any other Texas county prior to Feb. 1, 1931 should pay his poll tax and vote in that county. If the voter moved to Gray county before Feb. 1, 1931 he is entitled to cast his ballot in Gray county.

Persons over 60 years of age are not required to pay poll taxes. Similarly, all persons who are 21 after Jan. 31 may vote without paying the tax.

Mr. Barnes believes that more poll taxes would be sold this year than during any one of the last four years if the voters could spare the necessary $1.75. In 1932, five important elections will be held, as follows: Election to amend the city charter, city election, county and state primary, run-off primary and the presidential election in November.

Reward Offered for "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Robber

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 16 (AP)—Determined to stop the depredations of Charles ("Pretty Boy") Floyd's band of bank robbers, Oklahoma today put a bounty on the head of the will-o-the-wisp outlaw leader.

Robert Burns, acting governor, announced a state reward of $1,000, double the usual amount paid for a criminal, for the capture of Floyd, dead or alive.

JAPAN SENDS FORCES TO CLEAR BANDIT MENACE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The American government today replied without formal comment received from China and Japan to its invocation of treaty rights in their Manchurian dispute.

In one each was conciliatory toward America's insistence on its citizens' rights under the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaty. Each note in setting forth the position of its government was critical, however, of the other. State department officials expressed a general opinion the notes were satisfactory.

A brigade of Japanese infantrymen marched westward from China, toward Manchuria, yesterday to avenge the slaying of 20 of their countrymen last week by Chinese irregulars.

The brigade had orders to clear 15,000 Chinese soldiers from the area between China and the border of Jehol province—and perhaps to press on into Jehol, Chinese sources said, although this was denied by Japanese authorities.

Mukden army headquarters of the Japanese relayed reports that rewards totaling $100,000 had been ordered to Chinese guerrilla bands for harassing the Tokyo army.

Meanwhile observers in Harbin expected General Mah Chan-Shan, enemy of the Japanese in the Nonni-Tsitsihar campaign last November, to emerge as the leader of a new army that will cooperate with the Japanese-supported regime in the province of Heilongjiang.

Kentucky Sheriff Is Shot To Death

MOUNT VERNON, Ky., Jan. 16 (AP)—N. J. Tipton, 55, sheriff of Rock Castle county, was shot and killed tonight by Hunter Burchell, guard at the state reformatory, whom the sheriff had accused of not properly guarding a convicted bank employe brought here to testify at the trial of his brother.

LEGION WORK PRAISED HERE

Commander Earp Outlines Reasons for Demanding Service Compensation.

In a ringing address bristling with statistics, denunciations, defenses, and revelations, Texas Legion Commander Earl Earp of Sweetwater told a large audience at the city hall Friday evening that the American Legion is the world's greatest service organization.

Earp described the world war as legalized murder which cost a sum equivalent to $200,000,000 for every minute since the birth of Christ. Back from the war came 385,000 disabled Americans, upon whom depended many hundreds of thousands of parents, wives, and children. The gigantic task of the Legion in helping to care for these persons, plus the many widows and orphans, was described as the greatest piece of humanitarianism the world had ever seen.

A Disarmed Nation
Going back a bit, Earp said that America was a disarmed nation when the war broke out. He declared "peace at any price" propagandists had been at work for many months. As a result, there was no artillery available, no ammunition, and sticks were used as guns training. Then, after the war, there were not enough hospitals to take care of the desperately wounded.

Bitterly, the Legionnaire contended with this picture the facts concerning the war profiteering, the rebates to war contractors and the

Planes to Carry Food to Starving Indian Tribes

WINSLOW, Ariz., Jan. 16 (AP)—Erstwhile war machines of the United States government are being here tonight for an errand of mercy to 20,000 frost-bitten Indians threatened with starvation in the snow-swept northern New Mexico and Arizona mountain and mesa country.

Six bombing planes from March field, Riverside, Calif., the deadly missiles on their bomb racks replaced by padded packets of flour, beans, salt, pork, coffee, sugar and salt will be flown over the winter-blockaded territory tomorrow to drop provisions to the redmen from their Great White Father in Washington.

Superintendents John G. Hunter of Fort Defiance, C. L. Walker of Tubu City, and J. E. Balmer of Leupp, Ariz., have laid plans to distribute between 12,000 and 18,000 pounds of rations by air.

Indian agents have not been able to estimate accurately the number of Indians in actual danger of starving. At least half of the joint reservation population of 40,000, however, they said, is included in the danger area, where roads are blocked, and communication halted.

Schick's Musical Compositions Will Be Broadcast Today

Songs and instrumental compositions of Prof. Otto Schick will be presented in a broadcast over KGRS at Amarillo during the noon hour today.

The selections will include, "Idolizing You, I Wonder If You Care, You Can Hear That Indian Call, Chanson d'Amour, I'm So Happy When I'm Crying, Way Down in Texas, By the Rio Grande, Vienna, Life, Lollita From Madrid, Romanza, and Why Don't You Laugh Your Blues Away.

Personnel of the program will include Emmett Smith, tenor; Mrs. Frank Keehn, pianist; and Professor Schick. The composer will play violin obligatos with several songs. Henry L. Jordan was co-author of the words to several songs.

CEMENT MONOPOLY IS LIKELY TO GET PROBE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The emergency two billion dollar reconstruction finance corporation authorized in the senate today but President Hoover went ahead with plans to put it into operation next week.

Mr. Hoover is selecting the board to direct this gigantic relief corporation and it seemed likely tonight that Eugene Meyer, the governor of the federal reserve board and chairman of a similar post-war organization, the war finance corporation, would be its head.

Uses Parliamentary Rule
Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, took advantage of the parliamentary tangle involving the legislation to block a move in the senate today to send the separate senate and house bills to conference for adjustment of differences.

Temporarily up with its work, the house was in recess.

In the midst of the maneuvering Senator Sheppard, Texas, democrat, praised prohibition and Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, attacked it.

Delicate Problem

The senate finance committee paused in its investigation of the sale of foreign securities in this country to ask Secretary Stimson why he would not give it state department correspondence concerning an American loan to Colombia.

The answer of the secretary was the publication of such correspondence would make it impossible for his department to handle the delicate subject of foreign relations efficiently.

Another senate investigation was sidetracked by the territories committee.

Pastor Cleared of Murder When Pleads Defense

LAMAR, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP)—The Rev. J. A. Brown, 68, was acquitted tonight by a circuit court jury of a charge of murdering the Rev. George Rider, his successor in the pulpit of the Halley's Bluff community church. He admitted the shooting but pleaded self-defense.

The jury deliberated less than two hours in reaching a verdict. The trial was the second one held, a previous one last September being ruled a mistrial because of the continued illness of a juror.

PAMPA IS TO OBSERVE BICENTENNIAL WITH APPROPRIATE PROGRAM AND TREE PLANTING

Rev. James Todd Jr. Named Chairman of Activities For February 22.

Pampa will join the nation in celebrating the Washington Bicentennial Feb. 22. Postmaster D. E. Cecil, in compliance with a request from Washington, has appointed committees to work on the program to be held here. The Rev. James Todd Jr. has been named general chairman.

The congressional action follows: The entire United States is to become alive with local celebrations, which will begin on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, 1932 and continue through Thanksgiving day, Nov. 24, 1932. States, cities, and towns will compete with each other in doing honor to the memory of Washington.

The United States commission is helping all alike. It is not centering its efforts in the city of Washington, nor in any other place. It is taking the celebration to the people. In every town the people are to do their own celebrating.

One Person Shot In India's Campaign

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 16 (AP)—One person was killed and two were injured when police fired into a mob that had stoned them at Berhampur, Bengal, today.

England also continued her onslaught of ordinances against Mahatma Gandhi's legion of non-violent nationalists throughout India. His feminine army of picketers, who previously had been relatively free from arrest, were being gathered in for urging the Indian public to boycott British products. Their organizer-director, Dr. N. S. Hardikar, was arrested for his membership in Gandhi's nationalist congress, which has been outlawed.

Suspect Is Held After $700 Raid On Houston Mill

HOUSTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Police late tonight were questioning a suspect in the $700 holdup at the Pritchard Rice Mill company today.

The suspect, who gave his name as Gus Stewart, about 22, was arrested at a downtown hotel and was charged with robbery by firearms.

Meanwhile, a taxicab driver whose machine was said to have been used or commandeered in the robber's escape, was safely back in town and was being questioned by police.

Louisiana Has Continual Rains

It rains in Louisiana, according to a letter received from Alex Schneider at Monroe. Mr. Schneider in a letter to Mrs. Schneider said it has rained nearly every day for the last week and that the rivers in the surrounding country were overflowing their banks. Monroe has been threatened several times and water has reached one section of the city.

The animals in the Monroe zoo were moved to another location when the water reached their permanent home. Refugees from low sections of the state are seen in Monroe and their stories are pitiful, Mr. Schneider writes.

Mr. Schneider is secretary of the 12-story St. Charles hotel in Monroe. He will return to Pampa this week.

CHURCH YARD BATTLE RAGES AS MEN MEET

GIRL IS WRONGED TO START BLOODY FIGHT

PAIRS OF BROTHERS DIE

"LET US HAVE PEACE" IS ANSWERED IN NEGATIVE

LONDON, Ky., Jan. 16 (AP)—A mountain feud which flared in a peaceful church yard while worshippers were leaving services, claimed four lives today. The trouble started, witnesses said, from the accusation of one family that a member of the other clan had wronged a 17-year-old girl.

The dead are "Big Henry" Johnson, 35, and Earl Johnson, 25, brothers, and Homer Crook, 32, and Forrest Crook, 30, brothers.

"Little Henry" Johnson, 21, a cousin of the dead men, and said by witnesses to have taken no part in the shooting, is in a hospital here. An emergency operation was performed tonight. Willie Johnson, 21, a brother, was wounded in the hand. Girl Not Named.

The shooting occurred in front of a mountain mission church at New Salem, 17 miles east of here. Worshippers said the Crooks accused the Johnsons, accusing Willie Johnson of wronging their 17-year-old sister, whose name they would not give.

Sheriff W. H. Steele, who investigated the killings, said one of the Johnson boys replied, "Let us have peace," only to be cursed in reply. The sheriff said one of the Crooks then remarked, "There'll be no peace," and a burst of fire followed.

Two Die Instantly
Homer and Forrest Crook were instantly killed. The 300 worshippers scattered as the firing continued, and "Big Henry" and Earl Johnson were mortally wounded. "Big Henry" died on the way to the hospital, and Earl died in the hospital here tonight.

Sheriff Steele said he would investigate the shooting further before making arrests. He said he was told the father of the Johnsons, William Johnson, was present, but did not participate in the shooting.

The crowd of worshippers had come to hear a sermon by the Rev. Alex Proffit, 85-year-old pastor of several mountain churches.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES, FRANCES, FRANKIE and their grandmothers, once wealthy, now so impoverished that Anne and Cecily's earnings support the household. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. Their grandmothers are known, respectively as "MRS. S. L. B.," "MRS. S. L. B.," and "MRS. S. L. B."

Anne, 25, and Cecily, 22, do secretarial work and Mary-Frances, 18, is in school. When the story opens Anne has been engaged to PHILIP DE HOY, young lawyer, for eight years. They are not to marry because Anne knows her sister and grandmothers depend on her to manage their home.

Cecily has a new admirer, MARTIN MCKEEL, with whom she has known him only a short time. Mary-Frances and her friend, ELLIOTT, strike up an acquaintance with FRED, DE ALBERT, stock company member. To Mary-Frances he is an intensely romantic figure. She meets him secretly and promises to see him again.

Next morning Phil comes to take Anne to the office in his car. He begs her to set her wedding date. When she tells him that the obstacles he sees near to quarreling.

Cecily's friend, MARTA, tells her Barry McKee is a heart-breaker and not to be trusted.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

can he?"

"I should hope not. Just the same—that sounds like a quarrel to me."

"Well, what if it was? Little said she thought, a yawn. Be a had been flirting a little, trying to get him to the point of talking marriage. But, anyway, Cissy, what can a girl do with a man who says he can't quarrel? It's swell for him, of course. But it simply means that he'd have to have his own way utterly about everything—you know. I told Little that if the girls had had their share of gray matter they'd have let him out for air when he first pulled that 'can't quarrel' line. What can you do with a man like that? Honestly! Just, 'Yes, dear' and 'No, dear' around him all the time. Sillyest thing I ever heard of!"

Cecily forced herself to stop thinking that it might be tolerable to "Yes, dear" and "No, dear," around Barry all the time and said, "Marta, promise me that you won't make a fuss at Gretchen's party. Gretchen has loads of friends, and I owe her ever so many parties, and—"

"Oh, yeah? Put that in the Ugh-Huh department. The more I think of it the madder I get. I won't make a fuss. I'm not going. Herbert can't bear Gretchen, either. He'll be glad to get out of it. Makes me sick when I think how I've stood up for her."

"When is it to be?"

"A week from tomorrow night. Gretchen didn't ask me until yesterday evening, but she said I finished the list. I'll bet I'm a fill-in. She said she'd tried to get me before, but I've been home except for the Allen's luncheon and the bridge club. Probably she didn't mean to ask me either. Jean's having sinus trouble again. Here's my street. I'll fix Gretchen Steigerwald sooner or later. Call me up, Cissy. Remember—Marta took a step backward and stooped to murmur in Cecily's ear—'what I told you about that Barry McKee. Remember.'" that he was kind and honorable, and that people slandered him.

She was away down the aisle, and everyone was staring at her tweeds, her trim little hat, and the gloves with their extravagant wrinkles.

Throughout the day she did think of a few other things. She thought that her pink dress and Ann's yellow were too short; and that all their clothes were dowdy and out of fashion. She thought that Barry was an entire stranger to her, and that she had been an idiot to hope to touch the far edges of his life. She never, of course, had really hoped to enter into his life. She must have known that his life was full before she had ever met him. Full? Crammed with girls, glamorous girls who lived in New York and who had wads of money and clothes and chauffeurs and trips to Europe, and who cried about him.

Her pink dress was too short. She had not dared take even a sip from Billy's flask the other evening for fear—since she had never taken sips—it might go to her head and make her act silly. She couldn't smoke; she had never got into the habit of using all this smart new slang, because Grand and Rosalie frowned so darkly at slang. Any man who was as sophisticated as Barry and who was not positively brutal would have to feel at least a stirring of pity for a stupid, dowdy, provincial person who had shown so plainly her—well, at least her absurd admiration for him.

But for Marta she too might soon have been crying about that Barry McKee. Barry would hate to have anyone cry. Barry was gentle. Barry was reasonable. Everyone should be reasonable. She had played with boys, hadn't she? Why shouldn't he have played with girls? Was it his fault that he had grown tired? She had done things of the sort. Nearly everyone had. Refused to answer the telephone? Refused to answer notes? Well, the silly things should not have pursued him with telephone calls and notes. Even Ann (poor Ann, her yellow was away too short), as sure as she was of Phil, did not run after him. Men hated pursuit—or so Cecily had been informed. She was very glad that she had too much pride. Now if, when she went into the street from the building this evening, Barry were not there—But he would be there. He had said that he'd be right there by the door. But if he weren't, if she should never see him again? If he refused to answer her telephone calls?

The waitress came and brought the ash tray Barry had asked for, and brushed at some crumbs, and moved the catnip bottle two inches, and departed.

Barry said, "Cecily, do you know you are the first real friend—feeling—that I have ever had?"

Fred Constance and her chauffeur walked in and sat beside him on the right, and Be a, beautiful though weeping, sat beside him on the left. Barry opened his cigarette case. "Sure you won't have one?" he asked.

Cecily, tired of looking at Constance and her chauffeur and Be a, looked again out of the window. "No, thank you," she said.

He lighted his own. "If you smoked," he said, "I'd think it jolly and friendly; so, consistently, I'm tremendously glad that you don't."

Constance and Be a were both smoking like real comrades and being so friendly by now, so the best Cecily could do was to make fun of them.

"It seems so old-fashioned for women to smoke, nowadays," she said. "It didn't ring right, and she knew it and couldn't only hope desperately that it had not sounded as if she were foraging for praise."

"But you are old-fashioned," he said. "You are as old-fashioned as dignity, and good manners, and loyalty, and—" the hesitation was just perceptible—"love."

She continued gazing out of the window. "Or as Billikens, or cruet, or chapertons," she said. Be a, for Be a, and two C's, one for Constance and one for her chauffeur.

He laughed appreciatively. "You are as impersonal," he said, "as a librarian or a fly—the two most impersonal things on earth. I like 'em."

"I thought," she answered. "Oh, well—one hypocrisy doesn't make a hypocrite, nor one fib a fibber."

He laughed again, less appreciatively. "Yes, but actually," he insisted, "I'm not saying that I haven't. I haven't. I'm not saying that I haven't thought I had a bad case, once or twice and for a short time. I am saying that I've never before liked a girl, thoroughly and unreservedly. Liking is much more important than love, you know."

"No," Cecily disputed brazenly. "That's like saying that the alphabet is more important than poetry. One has to be learned before the other can be approached—that's all. People have to be friends before they can be lovers. Love is liking—intensified, perfected."

"Wrong as wrong!" he declared. "But I'm glad you think so. Oh, boy, but I'm glad you think so! And with that, and nothing further except, 'Shall we go?' he was up, and holding her coat, and in a great hurry to be out of the place.

GRAY COUNTY PRODUCTION IS LOWER IN LAST WEEK

Three New Completions in Field Reported, With Another Location.

Panhandle oil production dropped again this last week after an increase the previous week. All production reports are from pipe line runs. The decrease of the week was 3,259 barrels.

Gray county's output was down approximately 2,000 barrels despite the completion of three wells. Moore county showed the only increase. Wells in the Panhandle field are producing only six days. Some of the pipe lines are taking oil on the six-day basis also.

Graham, Cree & Hoover have completed their No. 1 Webb in section 62, block 25. The well swabbed 45 barrels a day from 2,869 feet but was shot with 160 quarts. The flow increased to 125 barrels a day.

The Quicksand Oil company's No. 1 Chapman in section 69, block 25, looks good for about 150 barrels daily. Pay is coming from 2,653 to 2,657 feet. The producer started out swabbing 20 barrels in six hours.

The third producer, also in the same pool, was the Prairie Oil & Gas company's No. 1 Morse in section 4, block 26. It was shot with 30 quarts from 2,638 to 2,705 feet and is making 125 barrels daily.

The Magnolia Petroleum company has abandoned its No. 1 Arnold in section 149, block 3.

One location was reported in the county last week. It was the Operators Royalty & Producing company's No. 2 Arnold in the southwest corner of the east one half of the northeast one quarter of section 143, block 3. The rig is being moved in.

The production report follows:

WERE THEY ENGAGED? Cecily gave it a not-that-it-matters inflection.

"No, they weren't engaged," said Marta. "But, honestly, Cissy, when a man has been madly rushing a girl for months, if he's decent he'll fore her to let him down, won't he? I don't expect a man to marry every girl he goes with. Like mamma says, they have to go to either for quite a while to find out whether they want to marry. But I do say that when a man will do that twice in two years—just throw two dandy girls down flat, and for no reason at all—any girl who knows about it, if she has any sense will leave him utterly alone."

"Well," said Cecily, essaying logic. "He did have a reason, of course. It was only that he suddenly got tired of them. Maybe the girls didn't know the reason; but maybe they did and didn't like to tell."

"No, sir. I don't think so. Be a told Little everything. Of course, Be a did say that when she began to go with Barry he told her that he couldn't quarrel. That he had a complex or something about quarreling. I forget whether she said complex or repression—but you know what I mean. He said a quarrel blew him out like a candle, and he couldn't. But Be a said they hadn't actually quarreled. She did say that they had an argument, but that as far as she was concerned it was just foolishness, and she never dreamed that he was really angry. She said she just talked. So then she came right in and didn't offer to kiss him, and that's what he said he thought he would have if she'd waited. A man can't get mad and quit every time a girl does. I offer to kiss him good night."

"Oh, yeah? Put that in the Ugh-Huh department. The more I think of it the madder I get. I won't make a fuss. I'm not going. Herbert can't bear Gretchen, either. He'll be glad to get out of it. Makes me sick when I think how I've stood up for her."

"When is it to be?"

"A week from tomorrow night. Gretchen didn't ask me until yesterday evening, but she said I finished the list. I'll bet I'm a fill-in. She said she'd tried to get me before, but I've been home except for the Allen's luncheon and the bridge club. Probably she didn't mean to ask me either. Jean's having sinus trouble again. Here's my street. I'll fix Gretchen Steigerwald sooner or later. Call me up, Cissy. Remember—Marta took a step backward and stooped to murmur in Cecily's ear—'what I told you about that Barry McKee. Remember.'" that he was kind and honorable, and that people slandered him.

Throughout the day she did think of a few other things. She thought that her pink dress and Ann's yellow were too short; and that all their clothes were dowdy and out of fashion. She thought that Barry was an entire stranger to her, and that she had been an idiot to hope to touch the far edges of his life. She never, of course, had really hoped to enter into his life. She must have known that his life was full before she had ever met him. Full? Crammed with girls, glamorous girls who lived in New York and who had wads of money and clothes and chauffeurs and trips to Europe, and who cried about him.

Her pink dress was too short. She had not dared take even a sip from Billy's flask the other evening for fear—since she had never taken sips—it might go to her head and make her act silly. She couldn't smoke; she had never got into the habit of using all this smart new slang, because Grand and Rosalie frowned so darkly at slang. Any man who was as sophisticated as Barry and who was not positively brutal would have to feel at least a stirring of pity for a stupid, dowdy, provincial person who had shown so plainly her—well, at least her absurd admiration for him.

But for Marta she too might soon have been crying about that Barry McKee. Barry would hate to have anyone cry. Barry was gentle. Barry was reasonable. Everyone should be reasonable. She had played with boys, hadn't she? Why shouldn't he have played with girls? Was it his fault that he had grown tired? She had done things of the sort. Nearly everyone had. Refused to answer the telephone? Refused to answer notes? Well, the silly things should not have pursued him with telephone calls and notes. Even Ann (poor Ann, her yellow was away too short), as sure as she was of Phil, did not run after him. Men hated pursuit—or so Cecily had been informed. She was very glad that she had too much pride. Now if, when she went into the street from the building this evening, Barry were not there—But he would be there. He had said that he'd be right there by the door. But if he weren't, if she should never see him again? If he refused to answer her telephone calls?

The waitress came and brought the ash tray Barry had asked for, and brushed at some crumbs, and moved the catnip bottle two inches, and departed.

Barry said, "Cecily, do you know you are the first real friend—feeling—that I have ever had?"

Fred Constance and her chauffeur walked in and sat beside him on the right, and Be a, beautiful though weeping, sat beside him on the left. Barry opened his cigarette case. "Sure you won't have one?" he asked.

Cecily, tired of looking at Constance and her chauffeur and Be a, looked again out of the window. "No, thank you," she said.

He lighted his own. "If you smoked," he said, "I'd think it jolly and friendly; so, consistently, I'm tremendously glad that you don't."

Constance and Be a were both smoking like real comrades and being so friendly by now, so the best Cecily could do was to make fun of them.

"It seems so old-fashioned for women to smoke, nowadays," she said. "It didn't ring right, and she knew it and couldn't only hope desperately that it had not sounded as if she were foraging for praise."

"But you are old-fashioned," he said. "You are as old-fashioned as dignity, and good manners, and loyalty, and—" the hesitation was just perceptible—"love."

She continued gazing out of the window. "Or as Billikens, or cruet, or chapertons," she said. Be a, for Be a, and two C's, one for Constance and one for her chauffeur.

He laughed appreciatively. "You are as impersonal," he said, "as a librarian or a fly—the two most impersonal things on earth. I like 'em."

"I thought," she answered. "Oh, well—one hypocrisy doesn't make a hypocrite, nor one fib a fibber."

He laughed again, less appreciatively. "Yes, but actually," he insisted, "I'm not saying that I haven't. I haven't. I'm not saying that I haven't thought I had a bad case, once or twice and for a short time. I am saying that I've never before liked a girl, thoroughly and unreservedly. Liking is much more important than love, you know."

"No," Cecily disputed brazenly. "That's like saying that the alphabet is more important than poetry. One has to be learned before the other can be approached—that's all. People have to be friends before they can be lovers. Love is liking—intensified, perfected."

"Wrong as wrong!" he declared. "But I'm glad you think so. Oh, boy, but I'm glad you think so! And with that, and nothing further except, 'Shall we go?' he was up, and holding her coat, and in a great hurry to be out of the place.

Pampa Building Association Has Grown Rapidly

Financial statements of the Western Building and Loan association, formed here Sept. 25, 1928, show R. Earl O'Keefe as president, with it to be very sound.

Stock dividends in 1931 totaled five and one-half per cent. Although seven per cent annually has been the average, the directors voted to maintain a substantial reserve because of present conditions. During the last three years the association has earned and paid to shareholders $44,000. It now has $12,000 in undivided profits and reserves. Its growth in resources is shown by these figures: December 31, 1928, $9,933.95; 1929, $158,411.58; 1930, $317,494.89; 1931, $404,757.94.

It is a permanent association, with a $25,000 stock investment, not subject to withdrawal. It lends only on first mortgage real estate, usually homes. Its activities are well distributed over this section. P. B. Carlson is vice president, J. B. Bourland is secretary, M. K. Brown is chairman of the board of directors, which also includes C. P. Buckler, DeLea Vicars, M. B. Welsh, F. A. Paul, and S. Wayne O'Keefe.

Matter on Fort Elliott Received

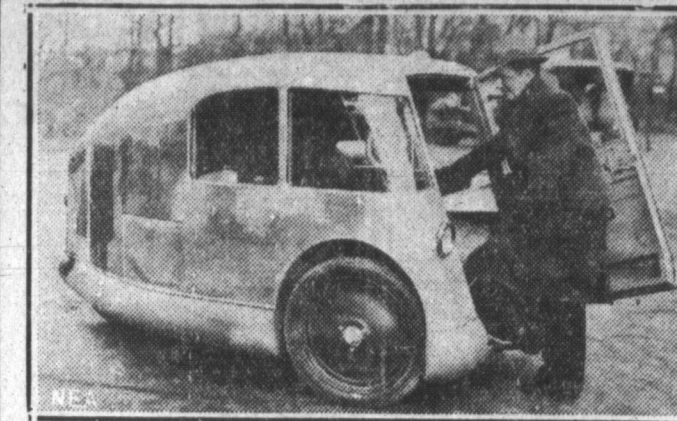

F. P. Reid has secured information from the adjutant general's department in Washington regarding old Fort Elliott near Mobeetle, where a monument and flag pole will be erected. Many Panhandle citizens believe the fort was named after its commanding officer, but it was named after Maj. Joel H. Elliott, who was killed while fighting Indians several years before the fort was established.

An active campaign to raise funds for the erection of the memorial will start immediately. Mr. Reid said. Mr. Reid was in Amarillo yesterday arranging for broadcasts on the campaign. The monument and pole have been ordered. Memberships in the club are $1 but there will be no limit to the number taken.

The information received follows: Fort Elliott was established June 1, 1875, about the close of the extensive Indian campaign of 1874-1875 against the Kiowas, Comanches, and Cheyennes, which involved among other sections, Wheeler county about one mile south of the head of Sweetwater creek, and in latitude 35 31' and longitude 100 27' and named in honor of Maj. Joel H. Elliott, 7th cavalry, who was killed in the battle of the regiment with the Indians on the Washita river, Indian territory, Nov. 27, 1868 at the time Black Kettle's village was destroyed. During its existence Mobeetle was its postoffice. At one time there was a daily buckboard stage from Dodge City, Kans., a distance of 190 miles. The post was abandoned in October, 1890, and transferred by the war department to the department of the interior for disposition, per G. O. No. 123 Headquarters of the army, dated Washington, Oct. 15, 1890.

THREE-WHEELED AUTOMOBILE

This weird-looking, three-wheeled car, with the engine mounted in the rear and the door in front, is one of two radically new types of four-cylinder automobiles designed by Capt. James V. Martin, airplane builder. This machine is said to be capable of a 75-mile-an-hour speed and to travel 85 miles on a gallon of gasoline. The unusual visibility which the driver is afforded is a feature of the car.

FLOODS—

manded more action and termed the situation a "major catastrophe in Mississippi."

WATER SPREADS
GLEN DORA, Miss., Jan. 16. (AP).—Water from the swirling Tallahatchie, Coldwater, Yazoo and Yazoo rivers spread out today in six Mississippi counties, marooning hundreds of persons.

Leaves crashed after a month of severe strain and residents took to high ground to await rescue.

Reaching out into Louisiana, the rains kept the Ouachita river in the Monroe section pushing upward, and levee crews continued to raise the dykes to prevent deeper inundation of West Monroe.

Shreveport, in northwest Louisiana on the upper Red river, reported the flood spreading below there. At least 20,000 acres of lowlands between Gilliam and Shreveport were under water and 200 families, most of them negroes, have fled their homes.

A repetition of the disastrous floods of 1930 in the Caddo parish area were anticipated because of a new deluge of rains.

Many Rescued
Main levees on the east bank of the Tallahatchie river in Mississippi began bursting with such frequency and force today that sturdy lighters gave up the task of trying to save the waterlogged walls and directed their attention to rescuing hundreds marooned in Tippecanoe basin.

Residents clung to house roofs until boats arrived. Others, warned that the entire levee system would give way, left home or went to high ground.

Widespread property damage and continued loss of livestock furnished what planters declared was a national calamity. They called for hurried emergency relief funds from congress.

WASHINGTON

Rev. C. E. Lancaster, president, Pampa Ministerial association. Just as soon as all materials are received from the commission at Washington, definite plans will be worked out. As Feb. 22 is Arbor day in Texas, a community tree planting ceremony will be arranged for the afternoon, and perhaps the colonial music concert for the evening of that day under the direction of Mr. Thomas.

Municipal Band to Be Organized

Organization of a municipal band will be discussed at the city hall Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. — All musicians of the city are invited by Pop Frazier, director, to be present. It is expected that all the bands will be merged into one large civic organization.

A full turn out of musicians is needed to perfect the organization.

Ford Agency Has Been Re-Decorated

Miller-Lybrand Motor company, Ford dealers for Gray county, have just completed renovating the interior of their business building at 315 W. Foster, making it one of the most attractive of similar business buildings in the city.

Open house will be held sometime in February, or upon the arrival of the new Ford, according to J. M. Lybrand, Jr., and Buck Miller, owners.

Refreshments Are Served To Groups

The Rev. and Mrs. F. W. O'Malley served sandwiches, cake, and hot chocolate at the close of two gatherings Friday evening at the First Christian church. One was orchestra practice, and the other was this year's first meeting of the board of elders and deacons.

to cause these contestants to talk so that this Mr. or Mrs. Rumor Carrier can find out just what they are doing and how they are progressing. Then they would carry the news to their favorite candidate. Therefore, it behooves every candidate to attend to her own business, and steer clear of these rumor carrying pests. One person came into the campaign office and re-told a rumor that had just been told, making the comment, "Gee, that gossip must have been vaccinated with a phonograph needle, and it took."

mittee. It decided it would let the justice department inquire into crime conditions in Hawaii. Secretaries Adams, Hurley, Wilbur, and Attorney General Mitchell said, in effect, the department could do the job about as well as any governmental agency.

Monopoly Charged
A prospective investigation arose to replace it, however. Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, charged the existence of a cement monopoly and urged inquiry.

Over on the house side, the rules committee approved a suggestion by Representative Rayburn, democrat, Texas, that a thorough scrutiny be made of all public utility holding companies. The house must pass on it, however, before it begins.

The house ways and means committee continued hearing on proposals for increased taxes as Speaker Garner returned from the White House with the affirmation that the house intends to cut something from every appropriation measure if it could.

railroads, and the high wages paid while the service men were getting less than $5 per month to call their own. The speaker also attacked the war debt moratorium and debt interest cancellations while denying compensation to the soldiers for the sacrifices they made.

"We do not believe it would be unpatriotic," he shouted, "to pay off the rest of the veterans' compensation before we grant a moratorium to European nations so they can pay on private loans to American profiteers."

Raps Hoover
Vigorous criticism of President Hoover for his opposition to compensation payment drew hearty applause from the audience. Earp said the veterans, many of them jobless, were paying interest on their own money advanced as bonus loans on their compensation.

The commander defended his buddies for their stand on prohibition, saying that they neither endorsed it nor condemned it, but asked that the people be given a chance to vote on the basis of what they now think of the "noble experiment." He said that the last Legion convention had no more drinking in comparison with the number present than recent party conventions and chamber of commerce gatherings.

Hawaii Speeds Work of Reform

HONOLULU, Jan. 16. (AP).—A special legislative program designed to purge Hawaii's "paradise" of high crime was rushed toward completion today by Governor Lawrence M. Judd.

Confronted by another Washington repercussion—consideration by the navy of plans to cut short the forthcoming maneuvers of the Pacific fleet in order to meet the request of naval men for an opportunity to protect their families—the territorial administration made ready for the special session of the legislature Monday.

Bills providing death or life imprisonment for criminal attackers of women and for reorganization of Honolulu's severely criticized police department, were being drawn with all possible speed.

Preparations for the trial of Mrs. Granville R. Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two navy enlisted men charged with the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, suspected attacker of Mrs. Massie, awaited legal steps by the prosecution.

SPEEDY HARVESTERS BEAT WESTERNERS IN TWO GAMES

LOCAL TEAMS ARE WINNERS FRIDAY NIGHT

HARVESTERS IN WIN OVER LUBBOCK TEAM

The Harvesters won one of the best games ever seen on the local court Friday night when they nosed out the Lubbock Westerners, 28 to 24, in an extra period. Just before midnight, Coach Kelly's girls' team easily defeated the Mobeetie Hornets, 34 to 10.

While the Pampa boys were winning here, Coach Kelly's girls' team was defeating the Miami Squaws, 30 to 21, at Miami.

High-point man of the tilt was Marbaugh, who looped seven baskets. Marbaugh has been "going good" for the last week. It was a field goal shot by him in the second minute of the extra three-minute period that tucked away the game for Pampa. Most of Lubbock's 12 field goals were looped from the vicinity of center. J. Brown, lengthy Westerner center, was responsible for six field goals.

Referee Kenner called a splendid game. Lubbock had only three fouls registered against her while the Harvesters had four. Quinlan made both of his tries at the basket count, while none of the Pampa chances started any points. Coach Mitchell netted the game with Enloe and Woodward at the forward positions, and the pair worked beautifully together. Moore substituted for Woodward in the fourth quarter. As a scoring team, Woodward and Enloe were slightly better than Enloe and Moore.

Box and Post were the heroes of the Mobeetie-Pampa game. The centers in the girls' game looped five baskets and Pool six. Kelly at the right forward position was also responsible for five loopers. Only two fouls were called in this game, and both of these were assessed against Pampa.

The centers in the girls' game at Miami were made as follows: Robinson, 10; Rose, 14; Heiskell, 5, and H. Murphy, 1. Heiskell played well during the quarter she was in the game. Betty James, captain of the team, also played three or four minutes. Coleman, Pampa guard, was the only local girl to go out on personals.

Airplanes May Be Used To Carry Baseball Players

CHICAGO, Jan. 14. (AP)—The American association may be up in the air next summer—players, umpires, and all.

Because of the great distance between the eastern and western clubs the club owners of the big double circuit today had under consideration a plan whereby all long hops may be made by airplanes and the shorter ones by bus.

The move is an economy measure, as the club owners failed in their negotiations to obtain rates from railroads.

Thomas J. Hickey, president of the league, said today a meeting probably would be held here Feb. 1 to vote on the airplane idea.

Under the plan it is proposed to lease two airplanes of the 12-passenger, three-motor type. Two machines will be required to transport each club.

Eighteen Persons See Beef Canning

Eighteen persons attended a beef canning demonstration yesterday afternoon in the A. C. Michael home, Prairie camp. Tom D. Alford was in charge of the demonstration, and Mrs. Alford was in charge of processing the meat.

Mrs. B. C. Fahy has been called to Denver because of the illness of her brother, Mrs. Corie Alexander.

MEL OTT ON DOTTED LINE

Bill Terry Still Listed as Rebellious—Won't Be Used In Trade

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (AP)—Mel Ott, the former "boy wonder" of the New York Giants outfielder, is the first of the 1932 holdouts to bounce back into line.

Ott's signed contract was received today by Secretary Jim Tierney of the Giants, along with that of Carl Hubbell, one of the club's star southpaw pitchers. Ott's was mailed from his winter home at Gretna, La., Hubbell's from Meeker, Okla.

Either Ott changed his mind suddenly or had some fast successful negotiating with his owners the last few days. No later than Tuesday he was quoted as in thorough disagreement with the contract offered him and was listed with his teammates, Bill Terry and Fred Fitzsimmons, as holdouts.

While announcing the signing of Ott and Hubbell, the Giants spiked the report they were trying to trade the rebellious Terry to Chicago for Pat Malone. They still insist they will neither trade nor sell the slugger first baseman.

Yaqui Joe Near Title Bout But Faces Clingman

The Pampa wrestling fraternity will move to Amarillo Thursday night when the biggest match of the season will be seen. Pampa's own, middleweight, Sailor Otis Clingman, will meet the famous Yaqui Joe in a finish match.

It will be the Indian's last match before he meets Gus Kallilo, world champion, in El Paso Jan. 26.

If Clingman can beat the Indian it will mean that he will get a match with the world champion in the near future, regardless of who he may be. Clingman is in the best shape of his career. He defeated Joe Parelli in Amarillo last week.

Red Michael, Pampa boy, will meet the unpopular Lobo Brown in the semi-final battle of the night. It should be a rough and tough affair.

Ticket sales for the big match will go on sale at the City Drug store in Amarillo Tuesday morning. More than 2,000 fans saw Clingman defeat Parelli last week. The match will be broadcast.

Houston Firm Is Robbed By Bandit

HOUSTON, Jan. 16. (AP)—The Pritchard Rice Mill company was robbed today of a $700 payroll by a gunman who kidnaped three workmen and used their automobile to aid his escape.

He was sought here tonight. The gunman abandoned the automobile several miles from town on the La Porte road, taking a taxi-cab, which he previously had ordered to follow him, and turning back toward Houston.

MAY DELAY TRIAL

AUSTIN, Jan. 16. (AP)—Trial of Sheriff John Bigham of Bell county on a charge of extortion in the collection of witness fees from the state in criminal cases may be postponed, Henry Brooks, district attorney, said today. Bigham was to go to trial Monday.

Bigham recently underwent an operation and will not be able to attend, Brooks said he had been informed. The case probably will be set for the February term, Brooks said.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (AP)—The faithful instantly gave up hope for an old favorite today and turned to hail the new, burly Steve Hamas, most promising of all the young heavyweights.

Only Tommy Loughran, and the staunchest of his pals, could insist today that the end of the veteran's fistic road was not in sight, brushing suddenly into focus by the crushing two-round technical knockout inflicted on him by Hamas in Madison Square Garden last night.

PAMPA CAGE TOURNAMENT WILL BE HELD FEB. 5 AND 6

Borger Will Enter One of Fastest Teams in Local Court Event.

The Pampa invitation basketball tournament for both boys' and girls' teams will be Feb. 5 and 6, it was announced last night. Letters of invitation have been sent to every high school in the Panhandle and a part of Oklahoma. The tournament promises to be the biggest ever held here.

Members of teams entering the tournament will be given free lodging Friday night. Meals will be served at the high school cafeteria both days at reduced prices so that the teams will have very little expense. Coaches believe that so many teams will be entered that play will have to start Thursday night.

Coaches from White Deer, Panhandle, Borger, Amarillo, Miami, Spearman, Canyon, and Memphis have already announced that they will be here. So far Borger has the most outstanding team in this section, but the Amarillo Sandies, the Lawton, Spearman, and others are fast becoming dangerous. Borger's Bulldogs have two tournaments under their belts already this season. The Spearman team went to the Panhandle tournament three weeks ago.

A oup, individual miniature gold basketballs, and other prizes will be awarded during the tournament.

Pampa tournaments have always been popular. The Estelino Cubs have been big winners in Pampa competition and it is hoped that they will be here this year.

"MUDDER" HAS LEAD AT END OF 54 HOLES

FRED MORRISON DOES 68 WITH SUN BEAMING

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 16. (AP)—Big, good-natured Fred Morrison, Culver City, Calif., proved today he was even better in good weather than in the rain by touring the long course here in 68 to take a two-stroke lead with 211 after 54 holes in the Agua Caliente $15,000 open.

Fred was dubbed "the great mudder" after he took the lead at the end of the first 18 Wednesday, playing the course in 69, three under the 72 par, in the rain. And Thursday when the weather was clear, he took a 74, to fall back into a tie for fourth place, five strokes behind Leo Diegel, the home pro who led at the halfway mark with a 138.

Jumping into second place, after being tied at the halfway mark with Morrison at 143, Harry Cooper, Chicago, played the third round in 70, for a 54-hole total of 213. On his heels came Gene Sarazen, New York, who won the first Agua Caliente tournament in 1930 when it was worth $25,000.

Sarazen, who tied for second place with a 70 after the first 18 holes, and was in third spot after 36 holes with a 142, took an even par 72 today for a total of 214.

The collapse of "Larrupin Leo" as a threat was a feature of the third round. After playing a marvelous 70 on the muddy first day, and a finer 68 on the sunny second, Diegel hooked and miss-putted his way to a 78 blow-up, to fall into a tie with Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Calif., in fourth place, five strokes behind Morrison.

STEVE HAMAS HITS LOUGHRAN ALL TOO HARD

PENN STATE GRADUATE RUSHING TOWARD TOP RUNG

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (AP)—The faithful instantly gave up hope for an old favorite today and turned to hail the new, burly Steve Hamas, most promising of all the young heavyweights.

Only Tommy Loughran, and the staunchest of his pals, could insist today that the end of the veteran's fistic road was not in sight, brushing suddenly into focus by the crushing two-round technical knockout inflicted on him by Hamas in Madison Square Garden last night.

Apparently Loughran's speed, that once dazzled the light heavyweight division and kept him out of harm's way when he graduated to the heavyweight ranks, has disappeared suddenly, almost overnight.

It was Hamas today who had changed the fight aspect and offered promise of a unique career. The former Penn State football star is the first college graduate ever to reach the ring prominence that such a decisive victory over Loughran brings.

A calm, quiet young man outside the ring, Hamas was all the physical requisites to carry him to the top of the heavyweight list. He is a terrific puncher with either hand, specializing on short left hooks to the head and body that have paved the way or brought about abruptly the 24 knockouts he has scored in 27 professional victories. But he will not be rushed into matches where he is outclassed.

Gorillas in Win Over Wildcats

Close guarding and erratic shooting featured Coach Warren Moore's Gorilla win over the LeFors Wildcats here yesterday afternoon. The Pampa boys came out on top 8 to 3 after a furious game.

Clovis Green scored four of the Gorilla points. Captain Siler Faulkner added one. Leo Moore looped the other free throw. Stewart and Moore looped the Wildcats' three points.

Pampa Girls Win Over Miami Team

The Pampa girls basketball team defeated the Miami Squaws last night for the second time in two nights. The score was 24 to seven.

Enloe was high point scorer with 16 points. Robinson added the other eight points.

McLaughlin and Cantrell accounted for Miami's points. They were guarded closely throughout the game. The Miami forwards failed to score a point in the first half while Scott and Barnard were on the floor.

Every player on the green and gold roster saw action.

The girls will enter the Miami tournament Friday and Saturday.

INDOOR ARENA IS DEDICATED

Great Ice Spectacle Will Be Held Inside of Giant Structure.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Proud of having planned the third winter Olympics here Feb. 4-13 as the greatest international sports spectacle ever held on the American continent, the whole village of Lake Placid turned out tonight to participate in the dedication of the new $220,000 indoor ice arena.

Built primarily for the hockey, figure skating and curling competition, the arena almost is as large as Madison Square Garden. A huge structure of brick, concrete and steel erected just off the main street, it will seat 3,000.

Representatives of the 17 nations that have sent their athletes here for the sports events were on hand.

Texans Are High In Trapshooting

VANDALIA, Ohio, Jan. 16. (AP)—High average trapshooting honors for the United States, Canada, and the Canal Zone go to Fred Harlow, of Newark, Ohio, according to official average for 1931.

Here at the permanent home of trapshooting, a score or more of statisticians have been pondering over figures since the first of the year. They computed something like 10,000,000 rounds fired at registered clay targets during last year. They completed their work today.

Harlow had a mark of 9916 on 600 single targets.

E. Woodward, Houston, Texas, the high average winner in 1930, led the 2,000 to 3,000 target division with 9881 on 2,200 targets.

The women have a new leader this year in Mrs. N. V. Pilot, Houston, Texas, who had 9316 on 900 targets. She also led in the 500 to 1,000 division.

Miss Leonie Boutall of Houston, Texas, was second with 9091 in the 2,000 to 3,000 division.

National Junior Chamber To Have Broadcast Soon

Members of the Junior chamber of commerce and other citizens as well will be interested in a nationwide broadcast to be sponsored soon by the National Junior chamber.

The broadcast, to be at 9:30 p. m. on air time, January 20, will include such speakers as Silas H. Strawn, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and George Olmsted, president of the United States Junior chamber.

Mr. Strawn will speak from Washington and Mr. Olmsted from Chicago. The hook-up will be the NEI "red" stations, including WENI.

KELLY DROPS BALL IN LOOP TO CINCH TILT

LOCALS ALSO WON IN OVERTIME PLAY ON FRIDAY

Duplicating the feat of Friday night, the Pampa Harvesters last evening defeated Lubbock's Westerners in an extra-period game, 18 to 16. The victory Friday was 28 to 26. The locals revealed a flashing offense and a tight defense.

Wayne Kelly was the hero last night. He went down the floor fast, but was stopped after crossing the center line. He paused, pivoted once and shot. The ball dropped through the basket with the crowd on its feet. The green and gold then sprang a surprise on the Westerners and they failed to recover during the last two minutes of the three-minute overtime. Instead of stalling, the Harvesters started an offensive with Woodward and Enloe shooting.

Stone almost sewed the game up in the first 15 seconds of the overtime period when he broke through the Harvesters defense for two crisp shots that went wild. From then to the end the Westerners were held at bay. Marbaugh, Enloe, and Woodward all tried shots in the overtime but failed. The Westerners also were having tough luck with their shots.

Two Bright Stars
Midget Woodward and Morris Enloe were the pick on the floor. Enloe was in every play and his back checking had the Westerners in a quandary from the first. Woodward was never stopped after he replaced Captain Ditt Moore, who couldn't hold the ball because of an injured hand. Enloe scored six points in the first half, while Marbaugh looped the other three. Brown scored four points and Wilkins three for the Westerners.

The score at the end of the first quarter was Pampa two and Lubbock nothing. Enloe scored the only basket. The close of the three-quarter mark saw the Harvesters in front, 11 to 9. The full time score ended with the score tied at 16 to 16.

Brown Was Good
As in Friday night's game, Brown was the Westepier star. His long shots hit the basket repeatedly, but many dropped over the rim. Quinlan forward, was strong in passing and handling the ball. Payne was the pick of the guards.

Every Pampa player was in top form. The guards were air tight. Many easy shots were missed in the heat of the game.

Reference Kenner handled the game perfectly.

COTTON ACTIVE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16. (AP)—The cotton market after a quiet start and an early decline of 7 points due to unfavorable cables and an easier opening of the stock market became fairly active in the last part of the short Saturday session and prices rallied 10-12 points from the lows owing to shorts covering for over the week-end and a rally in stocks in the closing hour. The close was firm and at the top showing net gains for the day of 3-10 points.

Port receipts 22,222 for season, 6,992,971, last season 7,345,218. Exports 35,709, for season 4,358,809, last season 4,178,213. Fort stocks 4,908,081, last year 4,192,212. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 195,785, last year 96,433. Spot sales at southern markets 30,290, last year 7,184.

WHEAT ADVANCES

CHICAGO, Jan. 16. (AP)—Abrupt advances of more than three cents in wheat and two cents in corn today accompanied reports of a big pool formed to buy commodities. Houses with eastern connections purchased wheat future delivery contracts on a large scale and hoisted values to the topmost point since the middle of December. The basis given for these operations was belief that adoption of credit relief and other constructive measures at Washington would stimulate general buying of commodities as well as of securities.

Wheat closed buoyant at the highest level reached, 1 7/8 to 2 3/4 above yesterday's finish, corn 1 3/4 to 2 1/8 up, oats 1-2 to 5-8 advanced, and provisions showing 5-10 cents gain.

Corn showed almost as much strength as wheat. Numerous stop-loss orders for previous speculative sellers of corn were forced into execution. Oats followed wheat and corn.

Provisions responded to grain price advances and to a decrease in stocks of lard here.

Ben N. Lockhart of Laketon made a business trip to Pampa yesterday. Ira Hanson of LeFors was a business visitor here Friday.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 16. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Cattle trade during the week under review was marked by unevenly lower prices on most all killing classes. The general run of short feds were tendered a decline of 25-75. Light heifers and mixed yearlings at some centers were 1.00 or more lower than last week's best time. There was a fair demand for stockers at steady rates but feeders were generally 25 lower. Aggregate receipts at 11 markets for the week totaled around 176,800 as compared with 185,000 last week.

Hogs are unevenly steady to 35 lower for the week with most centers showing losses of 10-25. Chicago had a late top of 4.35. Total offerings approximated 683,000 which was a decrease of 23,000 from last week.

Fat lamb trade was more active at prices strong to as much as 50 higher and also some strength developed on matured killing classes of sheep. Choice lambs at Chicago at the close cleared up to 6.85. Supplies for the week totaled around 360,000 against 377,018 last week.

Bowling Costs To Be Reduced Monday

Pins at the Pampa Bowling alleys are due to get plenty of hard knocks starting tomorrow morning. C. M. Meriwether and Joe Landry announced yesterday that starting Monday morning the price of bowling would be 15-cents a game instead of 20 cents.

Pampa is one of the biggest bowling cities in the Panhandle and Pampa teams have always placed high in competition.

The local alleys are classed as the fastest in the Panhandle.

Mrs. A. B. Hamlin of Canadian visited in Pampa and Amarillo on Friday.

Scouters To Meet Tuesday Evening To Discuss Drive

Pampa Scouters will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the chamber of commerce rooms. Plans for the year will be discussed and arrangements for the annual drive will be started. The Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the Adobe Walls Council and local chairman, will preside.

Officers of the council and Pampa troops and anyone interested in scouting may attend the meeting. Now that the council office has been moved to Pampa, this city is expected to get behind the work 100 per cent and prove that Pampa is the logical center of council activities, local Scouters declare.

The Rev. Hyde has appointed Harry E. Hoare chairman of the council educational publicity committee. He has yet to name chairmen of the leadership training and other committee chairmen were appointed at the annual meeting in Berger last week.

The regional meeting will be held in Fort Worth Thursday and Friday. Delegates from Pampa will be selected at the meeting tomorrow night. At least five Pampans will make the trip. Representatives from other cities in the council will also go to the meeting, which will include men gathered from Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Texas.

Profit-Taking Is Cause Of Setback

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (AP)—A combination of profit-taking and short selling, based on the theory that the market was entitled to a rest after its exertions of the last 10 days, gave stock prices a setback today.

Reactions of 1-2 points were numerous in principal issues, but the trading was dull. Bonds eased, U. S. governments working lower although their decline flattened out. The boost in wheat and corn quotations came too late to find reflection in the security markets.

SCOUT NEWS

By HARLAN MARTIN
Troops 80 and 15 of the Methodist church met in regular session Friday evening at 7 o'clock. We played a few games and Berton Doucette called the meeting to order. Old and new business was discussed. Scoutmaster Jimmie Sackett gave a short talk on his trip to Berger with our three Eagle scouts.

C. A. Clark, scout executive from Panhandle, was a visitor and gave a short talk on plans for anniversary week and for 1932. The meeting adjourned at 8 o'clock. Fourteen scouts, Scoutmaster Sackett and Assistant Scoutmaster Clarence Coffin were present.

WILLIAMS IS ATTORNEY
McLEAN, Jan. 15. (Special)—Claude Williams has been appointed city attorney by the council. Mr. Williams will represent the city in all cases, write city ordinances, and otherwise advise the council in legal matters.

All cases originating within the city limits will be handled in city court in the future.

MIXED JURIES IN HAWAII SAID TO CAUSE TROUBLE

Inability to Reach Decisions Causes Breakdowns in Law Enforcement

There will never be peace and law enforcement in the Hawaiian Islands until there is a change of policy, L. B. Autry of the Pampa Office Supply company, declares. Mr. Autry served in the Hawaiian Islands for three years. He was with the civil service branch during 1924, 1925, and 1926.

"This idea of a mixed jury, six whites and six natives, leaves a hung jury nine times out of 10 and therefore law enforcement is at a standstill," Mr. Autry said. "It is not the Hawaiian population that causes trouble, but the half-breeds and Japanese. Only six per cent of the population of Hawaii is full-blooded. Sixty per cent is Japanese and the rest are half breeds and every other nationality of the world. The Kanakas or half breeds cause most of the trouble."

Mr. Autry went through three riots while in service in the Pacific. All of them were caused by inter-racial conduct. The real Hawaiians and whites associate with one another socially and in business. The United States largest military post is in Honolulu. Eighty branches of the service are located in the islands. The navy also makes headquarters there. The last disturbance was caused by the murder of a half-breed after a mistrial. He was charged with criminally attacking the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Granville Fortescue. Mrs. Fortescue, her son-in-law and two sailors now are under arrest for murder. They will be tried before a mixed jury and it will be hung like the one that turned the Kanaki loose, is the belief of Pampans.

Colonel Fortescue, her son-in-law and two sailors now are under arrest for murder. They will be tried before a mixed jury and it will be hung like the one that turned the Kanaki loose, is the belief of Pampans.

Colonel Fortescue is one of the finest officers in the United States army," declared Friend B. Smith, with the New Way Service club. "He is a gentleman all the way through and his family was always popular during his active days."

Mr. Smith served under Colonel Fortescue for two years.

DISTRICT CLUB PRESIDENT IS TO ADDRESS PAMPA WOMEN

ARNO ART CLUB RE-ELECTS MRS. BOOTH AS ITS PRESIDENT

My Shopping Tour
It's up to the women . . . to bring back prosperity . . . by normal spending . . . and keeping up the family's high standards of living . . . by satisfying the family's needs . . . at today's low prices. That's what I was thinking as I started my weekly shopping tour. I was determined to be economical and yet buy what my family needed.

What? Luncheon Time?

Dreams Come True

At last you may have those beautiful shoes you've been admiring for BROWNIE SHOE STORE still has several odd sizes and one and two pairs to a style of exquisite new fall BROWNIE models. These have become broken lots just because they were the most popular styles. These are shoes that originally sold for $5 and $6 and are specially reduced to $3.95. This is the store's semi-annual sale, and that means real bargains. One cannot make a mistake in selecting a pair of shoes at this store. Every pair is in style; and there is plenty of room for individual taste, with every conceivable style, leather, and heel height.

I went straight to LA NORA CONFECTIONETTE, and as I was enjoying the confectionette's famous SNACK, I thought:
"A balanced meal is just as important one time of day as another. Instead of eating a hard-as-lead-to-digest meal, it's just as easy to order one of those delicious snacks—a sandwich, a beverage, and a dessert—all for 30 cents; or, for one who is more hungry, one of the more elaborate Confectionette dinners, the balancing of which has been accomplished by Mrs. Bonnie Fleetwood, manager.
After the meal, I continued my shopping tour with more enthusiasm. Is it possible that a meal could have such an invigorating effect? It was partly the meal and partly the friendliness of the management. The Confectionette could truly be called "The Shop With a Smile."

Sunday night frocks have soft, dressy bodies. Skirts fit closely to the hips and swirl about the ankles in soft folds.

I learned that small hand bouquets to match the ones on the shoulders were new and lovely.

News Worth Reading

More surprises! I had bought no linens for several months, and I had no idea prices were so greatly reduced until I walked into MURPHY'S STORE. Surely the saleslady had made a mistake when she priced the well-known Pepperell sheets for 89 cents and Pepperell pillow cases for 19 cents! But no, the prices were clearly marked. One snow-white sheet, 81x90 inches, which formerly sold for $1 was priced at only 49 cents. Bleached muslin which was priced at 15 cents in 1931 was lowered to 10 cents, while unbleached domestic 36 inches wide was marked 5 cents. And to resist buying several of those extra large Cannon bath towels, double thread colored borders, was beyond my power.

Prices Slashed!

I was thinking of re-varnishing my furniture as I was passing PAMPA FURNITURE STORE. My impulse was to stop and I was glad I obeyed it, for I learned some things about furniture that surprised me. For instance, I was told that about 90 per cent of the furniture had been manufactured within the last 60 days, and that the prices were tremendously reduced. A two-piece mohair living room suite, with a diamond-back chair was priced at $62.75. There was one of the finest line of breakfast and dining room suites available, all very new, for less than half the price asked for articles of the same quality last year. All bedroom suits were brand new and sold from $34.50 up. One of the very finest suits was $112. Last year it would have cost $245.

I started to leave the store, but—could those fast color prints be only 10 cents a yard? They were. And they were just the thing for novelty pajamas, children's dresses and bloomers, bright curtains, and a dozen other "about the house" uses. These prints formerly were half as much more in price.

I can never leave the PAMPA FURNITURE without looking at the famous Mohawk rugs. Mr. Foster are the very best available. Mr. Foster also gave me an interesting tip. "Carpets," he said, "are coming back into fashion, and they have been used recently by some of the finest homes in Pampa."
I'd advise any one to visit the store, whether she needed any furniture, immediately or not. The time would be well spent.

The new cellophane hats are very attractive, I thought. Their bright colors enliven dull coats and dresses.

I noted that jacket coats had a prominent place in the January style picture.

Garden Is Ahead

"Aid the unemployed," pleads the Welfare Board. "Aid the unemployed," echoes the Junior Chamber of Commerce. "Help us or we must go hungry," cries the great host of unemployed people. I heard those cries as I looked out the windows at Thompson Hardware store. I determined to aid some unemployed man by having him spade the back yard in preparation for a garden while the ground was still damp from recent rains. At Thompson's I found hoe, rake, and everything one could wish in the way of garden tools. I do not plan, by the way, to hire all of my gardening done. I could not miss the exercise—or the fun—of helping to make things grow. And a little "clean dirt" will not hurt anybody. Really, I'm about to get the spring fever.
The motto "live at home" may not be confined to country people this year. It is surprising how many vegetables can be raised in one back yard. And no matter how many vegetables are planted, there will still be room for a few rose bushes.

Will See Picture

I finished my shopping yesterday so I would be sure to have plenty of time to see Will Rogers in "Ambassador Bill," which opens today at LA NORA THEATRE. This play is regarded by some as an actual historical document of some importance, because of the star's methods of diplomacy.
In "Ambassador Bill" we see him as the rough, but wise, American ambassador who unites politics and royal loves of a glamorous little kingdom ruled by a boy king. Shocking the smobish hangers-on of the court by his total disregard for etiquette, he endears himself to the real human beings beneath the ermine. Rogers, it will be remembered, has actually done this in real life, and knows whereof he speaks.
In the same picture appears Marquette Churchill, who, by vote of 20,000 Camp Fire girls, is first choice as "the Ideal American Girl."

FLEMISH ART IS CONSIDERED AT GATHERING

MESDAMES FATHEREE, GOLDSTON ARE HOSTESSES

The Arno Art club Friday afternoon re-elected Mrs. O. H. Booth as its president for the next club year. Those to serve with her will be Mrs. C. L. Craig, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Mason, secretary; Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, historian; Mrs. T. W. Jamison, reporter.
The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. V. E. Fatheree with Mrs. A. B. Goldston as co-hostess. Featuring the program were discussions of the following early Flemish painters: Hubert van Eyck, Jan van Eyck, and Rogier van der Weyden, the period of study being 1367-1464.
Discussions included the following: Early art of the Netherlands, Mrs. Craig; life of Hubert van Eyck, Mrs. Arthur Swanson; "Adoration of the Lamb" (Hubert van Eyck), Mrs. John V. Andrews; life of Jan van Eyck, Mrs. O. H. Booth; "Man With the Pink" (Jan van Eyck), Mrs. T. W. Swastman; "Jean Arnolfini and His Wife" (Jan van Eyck), Mrs. I. Baum; "The Dresden Triptych" (Jan van Eyck), Mrs. Tom Clayton; life of Rogier van der Weyden, Mrs. A. H. Doucette; "Adoration of the Trinity" (Rogier van der Weyden), Mrs. R. B. Fisher; "Madonna and St. Luke" (Rogier van der Weyden), Mrs. V. E. Fatheree.
Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, and wafers were served to Mesdames H. C. Wilson, Arthur Swanson, T. B. Solomon, Tom Clayton, C. L. Craig, A. H. Doucette, G. C. Malone, R. B. Fisher, T. W. Jamison, Roy Tinsley, I. Baum, T. W. Swastman, A. B. Goldston, V. E. Fatheree, John V. Andrews, and O. H. Booth.

HUNTS SUCCESS IN HOLLYWOOD

Born in China and schooled in Europe, Sari Maritza has followed a long trail to Hollywood seeking success in American films.
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Sari Maritza, with 20 years of blond beauty, took the westward passage from her home in China when she set out upon a career.
Now that round-the-world trail has led her to the end of all roads—Hollywood.
It was because she had "the face of a fairy and the sophistication of a siren" that Miss Maritza became a film star. A producer in London was looking for some one with a face like that when he saw this daughter of an English father and a Viennese mother.
She was born on St. Patrick's Day in Tientsin, China, and, when 12 years old, was taken to England and Switzerland for schooling. She still speaks a little Chinese, as well as English, German, and French.
Her first movie work was in Vienna, and she has always been loyal to a cinema career. She has absolutely no yearning to go upon the stage.
Despite her cosmopolitan education, America proved somewhat frightening to her when she first saw it on her arrival in New York en route to Hollywood.
The terrific speed of elevators unnerved her, and she was astounded when she ordered dinner in a Manhattan restaurant and they served her with a maze of side dishes.

BOARD NOT TO HOLD MEETING AS ARRANGED

PHYSICIAN ASKS THAT WOMEN COMPILE STATISTICS

Pampa club women are anticipating with pleasure a visit by Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon, president of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, on Feb. 9.
Mrs. Hill will be guest speaker at a meeting of El Progresso club, members and guests, in the home of Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, and is being requested to speak before all club women in Pampa at one large gathering while here. She also will confer with local members of the district board (Mrs. Hunkapillar, Mrs. Tom E. Ross, Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Mrs. O. H. Booth, and Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle) regarding district club activities.
CANYON, Jan. 16. (Special)—Dr. W. A. Davis of the department of vital statistics of the Texas State Board of health, stated at the recent meeting of the board of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs at Austin that the death rate is low in the Panhandle of Texas, the correctness of his reports that section is always questioned.
He suggested that women's clubs interest themselves in securing accurate information regarding the vital statistics of their towns and counties, and disseminate such information in order that people generally may know more of the healthful conditions that prevail in north-west Texas.
Attendance Cut
Mrs. J. T. Whitmore, past president, and Mrs. J. A. Hill, president, were the only two women of the seventh district who attended the meeting of the board, T. F. W. C. at Austin last Monday. Many others who had planned to go were prevented by weather and road conditions.
Those who have attended winter board meetings for years stated that this one was the best attended in the history of the State Federation, about 75 per cent of the board members being there for all or part of the sessions.
The outstanding event of the meeting was the laying of the cornerstone for "Headquarters Permanent" the handsome $165,000 home of the State Federation which is being erected at Austin. The erection of this building was first planned in 1914, when a 50 year charter was granted the organization.
Mrs. J. W. Fincher presided at ceremonies, with Mrs. F. L. Lindner, under whose administration the project got under way taking prominent part in the exercises. The presidents of the seven districts into which Texas Clubdom is divided were all present.
Ex-Governor Pat M. Neff, one of Texas' greatest orators was the principal speaker of the occasion. Among other things he said "This home built of Texas brick, of Texas lumber, of Texas stone, of Texas Texas gravel, and of Texas Texas is the generous gift of Texas women to the greatness of our state."
"The organization whose genius and whose gifts make this home possible, believes that pantries and poems and paintings are as necessary in the making of life as cotton and corn and cattle."
"The spirit of this permanent federation home is the spirit of service to mankind. Its primary purpose is to make cultured and refined the life of Texas."
Clubs To Urge Voting
Among the things which received special emphasis at the business meetings of the State Board was that of paying the poll tax this year. Women throughout the state were urged, not only to pay their own poll taxes and prepare themselves by study to vote intelligently but to

Miss Barton Is Hostess to YWA

Miss Louie Barton was hostess for an organization meeting of the Central Baptist Young Women's auxiliary Thursday in her home. Miss Mary Burks attended the meeting and explained the work of the organization.
Mrs. George Berlin will be counselor of the group, and the following officers were elected: President, Miss Rapsina Lunford; vice president, Miss Ouida Coubrn; secretary-treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Waldron.
It was decided to meet on the second Thursday night of each month, the next meeting to be Feb. 11 in the home of Mrs. G. C. Clark. A Valentine party will be given following the program.
Those attending Thursday's meeting were Mrs. Berlin, Mrs. G. C. Stark, Mrs. W. B. Barton, and Misses Mary Burks, Blanche Anderson, Kate Anderson, Ouida Coubrn, Louie Barton, Elisabeth Waldron, Daphna Lunford, Esther Stark, and Pauline Thomas.
C. T. Carruth of Miami was a Pampa visitor yesterday.
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kueher of Wells, Minn., are visiting relatives in Pampa.

MERRY-MIXERS COMPLIMENTED

MRS. THOMAS COX IS HOSTESS TO GROUP

As a courtesy to the Merry Mixers club, Mrs. Thomas Cox entertained in her home, 424 N. Yeager street, Thursday afternoon.
Bridge was the afternoon's diversion, with score prizes going to Mrs. Otto Patton for high and Mrs. W. S. Fleetwood for low.
At the close of the games the hostess served fruit Jello with whipped cream, cake, and coffee.
The following members attended: Mesdames J. T. Morrow, Harry C. Jones, M. S. Fager, C. E. Hutchins, Clyde Oswalt, Otto Patton, J. Stiles, W. S. Fleetwood, and Miss Ethel Saunders. Special guests were Mrs. C. D. Hunter, Mrs. J. M. Minnis, and Mrs. Stalls.
Mrs. Payer will entertain the club Jan. 29 in her home, 1206 E. Browning.
CLASS ORGANIZED
A class known as the King's Henchmen has been organized for boys and girls at the Episcopal church.

Buffet Turkey Dinner Is Served in Bratton Home; Men Successful in Bridge Contest With Women Guests

Red tapers in crystal holders gave illumination for the serving, buffet style, of a turkey dinner Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bratton, 1016 Mary Ellen street. Red and white were stressed throughout the dinner party.
Added interest was given the bridge games which followed the dinner by means of a contest between men and women. The men won. Among the couples, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dodson scored high.
The guest list follows: Mrs. Clifford Braly, Miss Iva June Willis, and Messrs. and Mesdames John Sturgeon, C. Herbert Walker, Ivy E. Duncan, Mel B. Davis, C. T. Hunkapillar, Siler Faulkner, Charles Thut, Carl Boston, Charles C. Cook, Tom E. Ross, Dan Gribben, Arthur M. Teed, and J. M. Dodson.
Pen Women Will Meet in Amarillo
Panhandle Pen Women will meet next Tuesday in the Herring hotel, Amarillo, to begin their activities for the year 1932. Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle will be a guest at the meeting.

Child Study Club Plans to Bring Cheer to Needy Family; Program on Art Instruction Is Presented

To bring cheer to one needy home in Pampa was chosen as a project for the Child Study club at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Sherman White. Aid will not be limited to the mere necessities of life but include such things as helping members of the family to beautify their home.
Mrs. B. E. Finley, program leader, opened the program with a paper on why principles of art should be taught in the public schools. She said in part: "Art should exercise a moral power over the homes and lives of the people, and should have a practical aim in the school. It helps the pupils to think, to study for themselves, and it trains the eye to see form, color, and tone value connectively. The relation of art education to every-day life is a very vital one, for art education stands for the establishment of ideals of beauty."
Mrs. A. H. Doucette spoke on "True Education"; Mrs. G. C. Malone told the meaning of the art and craft movement; Mrs. Frank McAfee explained the object of art study, and Mrs. Roy Tinsley discussed the principles of drawing, and colors of the spectrum.
Mrs. Raymond Harrah, parliamentary law, stressing the following: "Thou shalt not forget that a club is a meeting ground of those of high ideals and generous impulses. There is no room in it for envy, or criticism, or pettiness. Each is bound to each by ties that reach above self-seeking."
At the close of the afternoon, the hostess served a salad course to the following: Mesdames G. C. Malone, Joe Shelton, A. H. Doucette, Albert Wood, Frank McAfee, Roy Tinsley, B. E. Finley, H. W. Johns, Sherman White, Roger McConnell, Raymond Harrah, Floyd McConnell, and Joe Tyler.
Mrs. Booth Named District Chairman
Mrs. O. H. Booth has been appointed literacy chairman of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, making a total of five Pampans to serve on the district board.
Mrs. Booth is president of the Arno Art club and is a member of the Twentieth-Century Culture club.
J. H. Mosmader of Laketon transacted business in Pampa yesterday. Roy Huff of Miami was a Pampa visitor Saturday afternoon.

Rebekah Lodge Has Forty-Two Party Thursday

Progressive forty-two was played by the Rebekah lodge at a party in the I. O. O. F. hall Thursday evening. The event was to celebrate the birthday of Thomas Wiley, Odd Fellows' founder.
Mrs. Oran Young and Mrs. Eva Howard won high and low scores, respectively, among the women, and Joe Brown and P. P. Hickman won high and low, respectively, among the men. Special entertainment was furnished by Cecil Lunford, Lathaniel Lunford, and H. M. Barnes a string trio, and by Mrs. Sterver of Longview, who played piano selections.
Refreshments were served to the following: Messrs. and Mesdames Claude Lard, Homer Johnson, R. S. Walker, John Beverly, Joe Brown, M. P. Downs, G. W. Crisler, P. P. Hickman, Roy Sullivan, Cecil Lunford, Lathaniel Lunford, C. P. Claussen, Dewey Voyles, Oran Young, R. W. McDonald, F. W. Brooks, W. H. Peters, J. C. Wheeler, Fred Parron, W. E. Noblitt, W. H. Palmer, and O. G. Smith; Messrs. H. A. Peoples, C. C. Rupp, Weldon Stewart, William Bonner, Harold Barr, Stanley Kretzmer, H. M. Barnes, and Redgil Brown; Mesdames Fannie Hardin, Eva Howard, Katherine Woodward, Hattie Tinkler and Winifred Roberts; Misses Joanna Brown, Marie Reed and Jewel Binford.
Parent-Teacher Group to Meet
The Junior high school Parent-Teacher association will have a meeting in connection with chapel exercises Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.
Included on the program will be a song, "America," by Junior high pupils; devotional by the Rev. C. A. Long, pastor of the First Methodist church; vocal selection, Norman on character and citizenship, City Manager P. M. Gwin; vocal selection, Supt. R. B. Fisher.
A. B. Hamlin of Pampa was an Amarillo visitor on Friday.

Seventy-Five At Training School Friday Evening

The Sunday school training school was closed Friday evening at the First Baptist church with about 75 persons attending. Some of these were from the Central Baptist church.
Andrew Allen of Dallas, one of the teachers, left yesterday morning for Lamesa, where he will teach a similar course, and Mrs. Annie O. Taylor, another teacher, left for Amarillo where she will assist with a training school. Still another class in Pampa was taught by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster.
A. M. Dickerson of LeFors was in Pampa Friday afternoon.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 16. (P)—U. S. D. A.—Cattle trade during the week under review was marked by unevenly lower prices on most all killing classes. The general run of short feds were tendered a decline of 25-75. Light heifers and mixed yearlings at some centers were 1.00 or more lower than last week's best time. There was a fair demand for stockers at steady rates but feeders were generally 25 lower. Aggregate receipts at 11 markets for the week totaled around 176,800 as compared with 185,000 last week.

Hogs are unevenly steady to 35 lower for the week with most centers showing losses of 10-25. Chicago had a late top of 4.35. Total offerings approximated 683,000 which was a decrease of 23,000 from last week.

Fat lamb trade was more active at prices strong to as much as 50 higher and also some strength developed on matured killing classes of sheep. Choice lambs at Chicago at the close cleared up to 6.85. Supplies for the week totaled around 360,000 against 377,018 last week.

Bowling Costs To Be Reduced Monday

Pins at the Pampa Bowling alleys are due to get plenty of hard knocks starting tomorrow morning. C. M. Meriwether and Joe Landry announced yesterday that starting Monday morning the price of bowling would be 15 cents a game instead of 20 cents.

Pampa is one of the biggest bowling cities in the Panhandle and Pampa teams have always placed high in competition.

The local alleys are classed as the fastest in the Panhandle.

Mrs. A. B. Hamlin of Canadian visited in Pampa and Amarillo on Friday.

Scouters To Meet Tuesday Evening To Discuss Drive

Pampa Scouters will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the chamber of commerce rooms. Plans for the year will be discussed and arrangements for the annual drive will be started. The Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the Adobe Walls council and local chairman, will preside.

Officers of the council and Pampa troops and anyone interested in scouting may attend the meeting. Now that the council office has been moved to Pampa, this city is expected to get behind the work 100 per cent and prove that Pampa is the logical center of council activities, local Scouters declare.

The Rev. Hyde has appointed Harry E. Hoare chairman of the council educational publicity committee. He has yet to name chairman of the leadership training and organization committees. Other committee chairmen were appointed at the annual meeting in Borger last week.

The regional meeting will be held in Fort Worth Thursday and Friday. Delegates from Pampa will be selected at the meeting tomorrow night. At least five Pampans will make the trip. Representatives from other cities in the council will also go to the meeting, which will include men gathered from Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Texas.

Profit-Taking Is Cause Of Setback

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (P)—A combination of profit-taking and short selling, based on the theory that the market was entitled to a rest after its exertions of the last 10 days, gave stock prices a setback today.

Reactions of 1-2 points were numerous in principal issues, but the trading was dull. Bonds eased, U. S. governments working lower although their decline flattened out. The boost in wheat and corn quotations came too late to find reflection in the security markets.

SCOUT NEWS

By HARLAN MARTIN

Troops 80 and 15 of the Methodist church met in regular session Friday evening at 7 o'clock. We played a few games and Berton Doucette called the meeting to order. Old and new business was discussed. Scoutmaster Jimmie Sackett gave a short talk on his trip to Borger with our three Eagle scouts.

C. A. Clark, scout executive from Panhandle, was a visitor and gave a short talk on plans for anniversary week and for 1932. The meeting adjourned at 8 o'clock. Fourteen scouts, Scoutmaster Sackett and Assistant Scoutmaster Clarence Coffin were present.

WILLIAMS IS ATTORNEY

McLEAN, Jan. 15. (Special)—Claude Williams has been appointed city attorney by the council. Mr. Williams will represent the city in all cases, write city ordinances, and otherwise advise the council in legal matters.

All cases originating within the city limits will be handled in city court in the future.

MIXED JURIES IN HAWAII SAID TO CAUSE TROUBLE

Inability to Reach Decisions Causes Breakdowns in Law Enforcement.

There will never be peace and law enforcement in the Hawaiian Islands until there is a change of policy, L. B. Autry of the Pampa Office Supply company, declares. Mr. Autry served in the Hawaiian Islands for three years. He was with the civil service branch during 1924, 1925, and 1926.

"This idea of a mixed jury, six whites and six natives, leaves a hung jury nine times out of 10 and therefore law enforcement is at a standstill," Mr. Autry said. "It is not the Hawaiian population that causes trouble, but the half-breeds and Japanese. Only six per cent of the population of Hawaii is full-blooded. Sixty per cent is Japanese and the rest are half breeds and every other nationality of the world. The Kanakis or half breeds cause most of the trouble."

Mr. Autry went through three riots while in service in the Pacific. All of them were caused by inter-racial conduct. The real Hawaiians and whites associate with one another socially and in business.

The United States largest military post is in Honolulu. Eighty branches of the service are located in the islands. The navy also makes headquarters there.

The last disturbance was caused by the murder of a half-breed after a mistrial. He was charged with criminally attacking the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Granville Fortescue. Mrs. Fortescue, her son-in-law and two sailors now are under arrest for murder. They will be tried before a mixed jury and it will be hung like the one that turned the Kanaki loose, is the belief of Pampans.

Colonel Fortescue is one of the finest officers in the United States army," declared Friend B. Smith, with the New Way Service club. "He is a gentleman all the way through and his family was always popular during his active days."

Mr. Smith served under Colonel Fortescue for two years.

My Shopping Tour

It's up to the women . . . to bring back prosperity . . . by normal spending . . . and keeping up the family's high standard of living . . . by satisfying the family's needs . . . at today's low prices. That's what I was thinking as I started my weekly shopping tour. I was determined to be economical and yet buy what my family needed.

Read below my account of my pleasant and profitable shopping tour.

—Mrs. Pampan.

Dreams Come True

At last you may have those beautiful shoes you've been admiring for BROWNBIT SHOE STORE still has several odd sizes and one and two pairs to a style of exquisite new fall BROWNBIT models. These have become broken lots just because they were the most popular styles. These are shoes that originally sold for $5 and $6 and are specially reduced to $3.95. This is the store's semi-annual sale, and that means real bargains. One cannot make a mistake in selecting a pair of shoes at this store. Every pair is in style; and there is plenty of room for individual taste, with every conceivable style, leather, and heel height.

And you mustn't overlook the attractive hose. These hose do not have to be sold. They sell themselves.

Sunday night frocks have soft, dressy bodices. Skirts fit closely to the hips and swirl about the ankles in soft folds.

What? Luncheon Time?

I went straight to LA NORA CONFECTIONETTE, and as I was enjoying the confectionette's famous SNACK, I thought:

"A balanced meal is just as important one time of day as another. Instead of eating a hard-as-lead-to-digest meal, it's just as easy to order one of those delicious snacks—a sandwich, a beverage, and a dessert—all for 30 cents; or, for one who is more hungry, one of the more elaborate Confectionette dinners, the balancing of which has been accomplished by Mrs. Bonny Fleetwood, manager.

After the meal, I continued my shopping tour with more enthusiasm. Is it possible that a meal could have such an invigorating effect? It was partly the meal and partly the friendliness of the management. The Confectionette could truly be called "The Shop With a Smile."

I learned that small hand purses to match the ones on the shoulders were new and lovely.

Numerous Social Clubs Will Be Entertained in Pampa During Coming Week

FLEMISH ART IS CONSIDERED AT GATHERING

MESDAMES FATHEREE, GOLDSTON ARE HOSTESSES

The Arno Art club Friday afternoon re-elected Mrs. O. H. Booth as its president for the next club year. Those to serve with her will be Mrs. C. L. Craig, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Mason, secretary; Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, historian; Mrs. T. W. Jamison, reporter.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. V. E. Fatheree with Mrs. A. B. Goldston as co-hostess. Featuring the program were discussions of the following early Flemish painters: Hubert van Eyck, Jan van Eyck, and Rogier van der Weyden, the period of study being 1367-1464.

Discussions included the following: Early art of the Netherlands, Mrs. Craig; life of Hubert van Eyck, Mrs. Arthur Swanson; "Adoration of the Lamb" (Hubert van Eyck), Mrs. John V. Andrews; life of Jan van Eyck, Mrs. O. H. Booth; "Man With the Pink" (Jan van Eyck), Mrs. T. W. Swanson; "Jean Arnolfini and His Wife" (Jan van Eyck), Mrs. I. Baum; "The Dresden Triptych" (Jan van Eyck), Mrs. Tom Clayton; life of Rogier van der Weyden, Mrs. A. H. Doucette; "Adoration of the Kings" (Rogier van der Weyden), Mrs. R. B. Fisher; "Madonna and St. Luke" (Rogier van der Weyden), Mrs. V. E. Fatheree.

Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, and wafers were served to Mesdames H. C. Wilson, Arthur Swanson, T. B. Solomon, Tom Clayton, C. L. Craig, A. H. Doucette, G. C. Malone, R. B. Fisher, T. W. Jamison, Roy Tinsley, I. Baum, T. W. Swanson, A. B. Goldston, V. E. Fatheree, John V. Andrews, and O. H. Booth.

HUNTS SUCCESS IN HOLLYWOOD

Born in China and schooled in Europe, Sari Maritza has followed a long trail to Hollywood seeking success in American films.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Sari Maritza, with 20 years of blond beauty, took the westward passage from her home in China when she set out upon a career.

Now that round-the-world trail has led her to the end of all roads—Hollywood.

It was because she had "the face of a fairy and the sophistication of a siren" that Sari Maritza became a film star. A producer in London was looking for some one with a face like that when he saw this daughter of an English father and a Viennese mother.

She was born on St. Patrick's Day in Tientsin, China, and when 12 years old, was taken to England and Switzerland for schooling. She still speaks a little Chinese, as well as English, German, and French.

Her first movie work was in Vienna, and she has always been loyal to a cinema career. She has absolutely no yearning to go upon the stage.

Despite her cosmopolitan education, America proved somewhat frightening to her when she first saw it on her arrival in New York en route to Hollywood.

The terrific speed of elevators unnerved her, and she was astounded when she ordered dinner in a Manhattan restaurant and they served her with a maze of side dishes.

BOARD NOT TO HOLD MEETING AS ARRANGED

PHYSICIAN ASKS THAT WOMEN COMPILE STATISTICS

Pampa club women are anticipating with pleasure a visit by Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon, president of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, on Feb. 9.

Mrs. Hill will be guest speaker at a meeting of El Progreso club, members and guests, in the home of Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, and is being requested to speak before all club women in Pampa at one large gathering while here. She also will confer with local members of the district board (Mrs. Hunkapillar, Mrs. Tom E. Rose, Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Mrs. O. H. Booth, and Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle) regarding district club activities.

CANYON, Jan. 16. (Special)—Dr. W. A. Davis of the department of vital statistics of the Texas State Board of health, stated at the recent meeting of the board of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs at Austin that the death rate is 75 low in the Panhandle of Texas, by the correctness of his reports that section is always questioned.

He suggested that women's clubs interest themselves in securing accurate information regarding the vital statistics of their towns and counties and disseminate such information in order that people generally may know more of the health conditions that prevail in northwest Texas.

Attendance Cut

Mrs. J. T. Whitmore, past president, and Mrs. J. A. Hill, president, were the only two women of the seventh district who attended the meeting of the state board, T. P. W. C. at Austin last Monday. Many others who had planned to go were prevented by weather and road conditions.

Those who have attended winter board meetings for years stated that this one was the best attended in the history of the State Federation, about 75 per cent of the board members being there for all or part of the sessions.

An outstanding event of the meeting was the laying of the cornerstone for "Headquarters Permanent" the handsome $165,000 home of the State Federation which is being erected at Austin. The erection of this building was first planned in 1914, when a 50 year charter was granted the organization.

J. W. Fischer presided at the ceremonies with Mrs. R. F. Lindsey under whose administration the project got under way taking prominent part in the exercises. The presidents of the seven districts into which Texas Clubdom is divided were all present.

Ex-Governor Pat M. Neff, one of Texas' greatest orators was the principal speaker of the occasion. Among other things he said "This home, built of Texas brick, of Texas tiling, of Texas stone, of Texas lumber, of Texas gravel and of Texas cement is the generous gift of Texas clubwomen to the greatness of our state.

"The organization whose genius and whose gifts make this home possible, believes that poems and paintings are as necessary in the making of life as cotton and corn and cattle.

"The spirit of this permanent federation home is the spirit of service to mankind. Its primary purpose is to make culture and refined the life of Texas."

Clubs To Urge Voting

Among the things which received special emphasis at the business meetings of the State Board was that of paying the poll tax this year. Women throughout the state were urged, not only to pay their own poll taxes and prepare themselves by study to vote intelligently but to

Miss Barton Is Hostess to YWA

Miss Louie Barton was hostess for an organization meeting of the Central Baptist Young Women's auxiliary Thursday in her home. Miss Mary Burks attended the meeting and explained the work of the organization.

Mrs. George Berlin will be counselor of the group, and the following officers were elected: President, Miss Daphna Lunsford; vice president, Miss Ouida Goubrun; secretary, Miss Elizabeth Waldron.

It was decided to meet on the second Thursday night of each month, the next meeting to be Feb 11 in the home of Mrs. G. C. Clark. A Valentine party will be given following the program.

Those attending Thursday's meeting were Mrs. Berlin, Mrs. G. C. Stark, Mrs. W. B. Barton, and Misses Mary Burks, Blanche Anderson, Kate Anderson, Ouida Goubrun, Louie Barton, Elizabeth Waldron, Daphna Lunsford, Esther Stark, and Pauline Thomas.

C. T. Garruth of Miami was a Pampa visitor yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kuehner of Wells, Minn., are visiting relatives in Pampa.

MERRY-MIXERS COMPLIMENTED

MRS. THOMAS COX IS HOSTESS TO GROUP

As a courtesy to the Merry Mixers club, Mrs. Thomas Cox entertained in her home, 424 N. Yeager street, Thursday afternoon.

Bridge was the afternoon's diversion, with score prizes going to Mrs. Otto Patton for high and Mrs. W. S. Fleetwood for low.

At the close of the games the hostess served fruit Jello with whipped cream, cake, and coffee.

The following members attended: Mesdames J. T. Morrow, Harry C. Jones, M. S. Fager, C. E. Hutchins, Clyde Oswald, Otto Patton, J. Stiles, W. S. Fleetwood, and Miss Ethel Saunders. Special guests were Mrs. C. D. Hunter, Mrs. J. M. Minnis, and Mrs. Stalls.

Mrs. Fager will entertain the club Jan. 28 in her home, 1206 E. Brown.

CLASS ORGANIZED

A class known as the King's Henchmen has been organized for boys and girls at the Episcopal church.

Buffet Turkey Dinner Is Served in Bratton Home; Men Successful in Bridge Contest With Women Guests

Red tapers in crystal holders gave illumination for the serving, buffet style, of a turkey dinner Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bratton, 1018 Mary Ellen street. Red and white were stressed throughout the dinner party.

Added interest was given the bridge games which followed the dinner by means of a contest between men and women. The men won. Among the couples, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dodson scored high.

The guest list follows: Mrs. Clifford Dray, Miss Iva June Willis, and Messrs. and Mesdames John Sturgeon, C. Herbert Walker, Ivy E. Duncan, Mel E. Davis, C. T. Hunkapillar, Silster Faulkner, Charles Thut, Carl Boston, Charles C. Cook, Tom E. Rose, Dan Gribben, Arthur M. Teed, and J. M. Dodson.

Yellow, Orchid Theme Featured

One table in yellow and one in orchid furnished a new and attractive color scheme for the party given for the Linger Longer Bridge club in the home of Mrs. E. P. Hollingshead Thursday afternoon. The colors were used in table covers, tables, and dishes.

High score among members. And Mrs. Tom Morris for high score among guests. Refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips, olives, pie and coffee were served at the close of the games.

Those playing were Mesdames E. J. Pafford, Jack Baker, O. K. Gayler, Sam Ray, Tom Morris, Raymond Brumley, Hollis Rabb, and E. P. Hollingshead.

Husbands will be special guests at a meeting in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Ray. Mrs. Rabb will be co-hostess.

Pen Women Will Meet in Amarillo

Panhandle Pen Women will meet next Tuesday in the Herring hotel, Amarillo, to begin their activities for the year 1932. Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle will be a guest at the meeting.

News Worth Reading

More surprises! I had bought no linens for several months, and I had no idea prices were so greatly reduced until I walked into MURPHY'S STORE. Surely the saleslady had made a mistake when she priced the well-known Pepperell sheets for 39 cents and Pepperell pillow cases for 19 cents! But no. The prices were clearly marked. One snow-white sheet, 81x90 inches, which formerly sold for $1 was priced at only 49 cents. Bleached muslin which was priced at 15 cents in 1931 was lowered to 10 cents, while unbleached domestic 39 inches wide was marked 5 cents. And to resist buying several of those extra large Cannon bath towels, double thread colored borders, was beyond my power.

I started to leave the store, but—could those fast color prints be only 10 cents a yard? They were. And they were just the thing for novelty pajamas, children's dresses and bloomers, bright curtains, and a dozen other "about the house" uses. These prints formerly were half as much more in price.

Prices Slashed!

I was thinking of re-varnishing my furniture as I was passing PAMPA FURNITURE STORE. My impulse was to stop and I was glad I obeyed it, for I learned some things about furniture that surprised me. For instance, I was told that about 90 per cent of the furniture had been manufactured within the last 60 days, and that the prices were tremendously reduced. A two-piece mohar living room suite, with a diamond-back chair was priced at $62.75. There was one of the finest line of breakfast and dining room suites available, all very new, for less than half the price asked for articles of the same quality last year. All bedroom suits were brand new and sold from $34.50 up. One of the very finest suits was $112. Last year it would have cost $245.

I can never leave the PAMPA FURNITURE STORE without looking at the famous Mohawk rugs. Mr. Foster's are the very best available. Mr. Foster also gave me an interesting tip. "Carpets," he said, "are coming back into fashion, and they have been used recently by some of the finest homes in Pampa."

I'd advise any one to visit the store, whether she needed any furniture immediately or not. The time would be well-spent.

Garden Is Ahead

"Aid the unemployed," pleads the Welfare Board. "Aid the unemployed," echoes the Junior Chamber of Commerce. "Help us or we must go hungry," cries the great host of unemployed people. I heard those cries as I looked in the windows at Thompson Hardware store. I determined to aid some unemployed man by having him spade the back yard in preparation for a garden while the ground was still damp from recent rains. At Thompson's I found hoe, rake, and everything one could wish in the way of garden tools.

I do not plan, by the way, to hire all of my gardening done. I would not miss the exercise—or the fun—of helping to make things grow. And a little "clean dirt" will not hurt anybody. Really, I'm about to get the spring fever.

The motto "live at home" may not be confined to country people this year. It is surprising how many vegetables can be raised in one back yard. And no matter how many vegetables are planted, there will still be room for a few rose bushes.

Will See Picture

I finished my shopping yesterday so I would be sure to have plenty of time to see Will Rogers in "Ambassador Bill," which opens today at LA NORA THEATER. This play is regarded by some as an actual historical document of some importance, because of the star's methods of diplomacy.

In "Ambassador Bill" we see him a the rough, but wise, American ambassador who untangles politics and royal loves of a glamorous little kingdom ruled by a boy king. Shocking the snobbish hangers-on of the court by his total disregard for etiquette, he endears himself to the real human beings beneath the ermine. Rogers, it will be remembered, has actually done this in real life, and knows whereof he speaks.

In the same picture appears Marguerite Churchill, who, by vote of 30,000 Camp Fire girls, is first choice as "the Ideal American Girl."

Seventy-Five At Training School Friday Evening

The Sunday school training school was closed Friday evening at the First Baptist church with about 75 persons attending. Some of these were from the Central Baptist church.

Andrew Allen of Dallas, one of the teachers, left yesterday morning for Lamesa, where he will teach a similar course, and Mrs. Annie O. Taylor, another teacher, left for Amarillo, where she will assist with a training school. Still another class in Pampa was taught by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster.

A. M. Dickerson of LeFors was in Pampa Friday afternoon.

Child Study Club Plans to Bring Cheer to Needy Family; Program on Art Instruction Is Presented

To bring cheer to one needy home in Pampa was chosen as a project for the Child Study club at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Sherman White. Aid will not be limited to the mere necessities of life but will include such things as helping members of the family to beautify their home.

Mrs. B. E. Finley, program leader, opened the program with a paper on why principles of art should be taught in the public schools. She said in part: "Art should exercise a moral power over the homes and lives of the people, and should have a practical aim in the school. It helps the pupils to think, to study for themselves, and it trains the eye to see form, color, and tone value connectively. The relation of art education to every-day life is a very vital one, for art education stands for the establishment of ideals of beauty."

Mrs. A. H. Doucette spoke on "True Education." Mrs. G. C. Malone told the meaning of the art and craft movement; Mrs. Frank McAfee explained the object of art study, and Mrs. Roy Tinsley discussed the principles of drawing, and colors of the spectrum.

Mrs. Raymond Harrah, parliamentarian, gave a talk on parliamentary law, stressing the following: "Thou shalt not forget that a club is a meeting ground of those of high ideals and generous impulses. There is not room in it for envy, or criticism, or pettiness. Each is bound to each by ties that rise above self-seeking."

At the close of the afternoon, the hostess served a salad course to the following: Mesdames G. C. Malone, Joe Shelton, A. H. Doucette, Albert Wood, Frank McAfee, Roy Tinsley, B. E. Finley, H. W. Johns, Sherman White, Roger McConnell, Raymond Harrah, Floyd McConnell, and Joe Tyler.

Rebekah Lodge Has Forty-Two Party Thursday

Progressive forty-two was played by the Rebekah lodge at a party in the I. O. O. F. hall Thursday evening. The event was to celebrate the birthday of Thomas Wiley, Old Fellows' founder.

Mrs. Oran Young and Mrs. Eva Howard won high and low scores, respectively, among the women, and Joe Brown and P. P. Hickman won high and low, respectively, among the men. Special entertainment was furnished by Cecil Lunsford, Lathaniel Lunsford, C. F. Clausen, Dewey Voyles, Oran Young, R. W. McDonald, F. W. Brooks, W. H. Peters, J. C. Wheeler, Fred Parrott, W. E. Noblitt, W. H. Palmer, and O. G. Smith; Messrs. H. A. Peebles, C. C. Rupp, Weldon Stewart, William Bonner, Harold Barnes, Stanley Kretzmeier, H. M. Barnes, and Redell Brown; Mesdames Fatheree, Hardin, Eva Howard, Katherine Woodward, Hattie Tinkler and Wilfred Roberts; Misses Joanna Brown, Marie Reed and Jewel Binford.

Refreshments were served to the following: Messrs. and Mesdames Claude Lard, Homer Johnson, R. S. Walker, John Beverly, Joe Brown, M. P. Downs, G. W. Crisler, P. P. Hickman, Roy Sullivan, Cecil Lunsford, Lathaniel Lunsford, C. F. Clausen, Dewey Voyles, Oran Young, R. W. McDonald, F. W. Brooks, W. H. Peters, J. C. Wheeler, Fred Parrott, W. E. Noblitt, W. H. Palmer, and O. G. Smith; Messrs. H. A. Peebles, C. C. Rupp, Weldon Stewart, William Bonner, Harold Barnes, Stanley Kretzmeier, H. M. Barnes, and Redell Brown; Mesdames Fatheree, Hardin, Eva Howard, Katherine Woodward, Hattie Tinkler and Wilfred Roberts; Misses Joanna Brown, Marie Reed and Jewel Binford.

Parent-Teacher Group to Meet

The Junior high school Parent-Teacher association will have a meeting in connection with chapel exercises Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Included on the program will be a song, "America," by Junior high pupils; devotional by the Rev. C. F. Long, pastor of the First Methodist church; vocal selection, Norman Carr; reading, Betty Curtis; talk on character and citizenship, City Manager F. M. Gwin; vocal selection, Suppt. R. E. Fisher.

A. B. Hamlin of Pampa was an Amarillo visitor on Friday.

Mrs. Webb Gives Party for Group

Mrs. W. A. Webb recently entertained the Silver Spade Bridge club in her home.

Six games of bridge were played, with Mrs. J. E. Weeks winning high score among the members, Mrs. Earl Richardson, high among the guests, and Mrs. J. E. McCall, low.

Members attending were Mesdames Porter Beck, G. H. Turpin, W. Wilkes, J. E. Weeks, J. E. McCall, F. C. Fischer, and E. L. Morris. Special guests were Mesdames R. F. Montgomery, Earl Richardson, and H. G. Butler.

Mrs. Booth Named District Chairman

Mrs. O. H. Booth has been appointed literary chairman of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, making a total of five Pampans to serve on the district board.

Mrs. Booth is president of the Arno Art club and is a member of the Twentieth Century Culture club.

J. H. Massey of Laketon transacted business in Pampa yesterday. Roy Huff of Miami was a Pampa visitor Saturday afternoon.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Jesus and Nicodemus.

Scripture Lesson: John 3:1-16.

1. Now there was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews:

2. The same came unto him by night, and said to him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God; for no one can do these things that thou doest, except God be with him.

3. Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except one be born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God.

4. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter a second time into his mother's womb, and be born?

5. Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except one be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is Spirit.

7. Marvel not that I said unto thee, ye must be born anew.

8. The wind bloweth where it will, and thou hearest the voice thereof, but knowest not whence it cometh, and whither it goeth; so is every one that is born of the Spirit.

9. Nicodemus answered and said unto him, How can these things be?

10. Jesus answered and said unto him, Art thou the teacher of Israel, and understandest not these things?

11. Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that which we know, and bear witness that which we have seen; and ye receive not our witness.

12. If I told you earthly things and ye believe not, how shall ye believe if I tell you heavenly things?

13. And no one hath ascended up to heaven, but he that descended out of heaven, even the Son of man who is in heaven.

14. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up:

15. That whosoever believeth in him have eternal life.

16. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life.

17. For as the Son of man was lifted up, so will he draw all men unto himself: and whosoever believeth on him shall not perish, but shall have everlasting life.

18. For God sent the Son into the world, that he should save the world.

19. For whosoever believeth on the Son, he shall have eternal life: and he that doeth not believe on the Son, shall be judged: because he hath not believed on the only begotten Son, who came into the world to save the world.

20. For God hath sent the Son into the world, that whosoever believeth on him, may have eternal life.

21. For this manner of love, that the Father hath loved the Son, that the Father hath given unto him all things: and whosoever shall love the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will love him, and will give unto him whatsoever he will.

22. And he that loveth the Father, will love the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world: and he that loveth not the Father, loveth not the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world.

23. And whosoever hateth the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will hate him, and will send his angels to take away his life.

24. And whosoever believeth on the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him the right to eternal life.

25. And he that believeth on the Son, shall not come into judgment: because he hath passed from death unto life.

26. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have the witness within himself, that he which hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him whatsoever he will.

27. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have eternal life: and he that doeth not believe on the Son, shall be judged: because he hath not believed on the only begotten Son, who came into the world to save the world.

28. For God hath sent the Son into the world, that whosoever believeth on him, may have eternal life.

29. For this manner of love, that the Father hath loved the Son, that the Father hath given unto him all things: and whosoever shall love the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will love him, and will give unto him whatsoever he will.

30. And he that loveth the Father, will love the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world: and he that loveth not the Father, loveth not the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world.

31. And whosoever hateth the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will hate him, and will send his angels to take away his life.

32. And whosoever believeth on the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him the right to eternal life.

33. And he that believeth on the Son, shall not come into judgment: because he hath passed from death unto life.

34. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have the witness within himself, that he which hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him whatsoever he will.

35. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have eternal life: and he that doeth not believe on the Son, shall be judged: because he hath not believed on the only begotten Son, who came into the world to save the world.

36. For God hath sent the Son into the world, that whosoever believeth on him, may have eternal life.

37. For this manner of love, that the Father hath loved the Son, that the Father hath given unto him all things: and whosoever shall love the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will love him, and will give unto him whatsoever he will.

38. And he that loveth the Father, will love the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world: and he that loveth not the Father, loveth not the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world.

39. And whosoever hateth the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will hate him, and will send his angels to take away his life.

40. And whosoever believeth on the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him the right to eternal life.

41. And he that believeth on the Son, shall not come into judgment: because he hath passed from death unto life.

42. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have the witness within himself, that he which hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him whatsoever he will.

43. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have eternal life: and he that doeth not believe on the Son, shall be judged: because he hath not believed on the only begotten Son, who came into the world to save the world.

45. For this manner of love, that the Father hath loved the Son, that the Father hath given unto him all things: and whosoever shall love the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will love him, and will give unto him whatsoever he will.

46. And he that loveth the Father, will love the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world: and he that loveth not the Father, loveth not the Son, whom the Father hath sent into the world.

47. And whosoever hateth the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will hate him, and will send his angels to take away his life.

48. And whosoever believeth on the Son, who hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him the right to eternal life.

49. And he that believeth on the Son, shall not come into judgment: because he hath passed from death unto life.

50. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have the witness within himself, that he which hath given up his life for the world, the Father will give unto him whatsoever he will.

51. And he that believeth on the Son, shall have eternal life: and he that doeth not believe on the Son, shall be judged: because he hath not believed on the only begotten Son, who came into the world to save the world.

to be, they held, a secular conqueror and a deliverer from the foreign oppressor, but they did not accept Jesus as the Messiah.

"Verily, verily," v. 2.

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee."

"Verily" translates the Greek word, "Amen," "So be it," a strong affirmation. A single "Amen" in the synoptic Gospels, a double "Amen" in John's Gospel, marks one Christ's utterances of special earnestness and importance. "Except one be born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God." By "see" is meant partake of it, become a citizen of it, be incorporated in God's realm of righteousness and peace and love.

All Men Need the New Birth, v. 3.

Nicodemus needed the new birth, and we all need it. D. L. Moody said: "I am so thankful that our Lord spoke of the new birth to the ruler of the Jews, this doctor of the law, rather than to the woman at the well of Samaria, or to Matthew the publican, or to Zacchaeus. If he had reserved his teaching on this great matter to these three, or such as these, people would have said, 'Oh, yes; these publicans and Pharisees need to be converted, but I am an upright man, I do not need to be converted.'"

"You might as well try to lift yourself by pulling at your bootstraps as try to generate within yourself the quality of life that will lift you into the kingdom of God."

Rev. William E. Bledsoe, D. D.

"You must take Christ—you must let Christ take you and draw you down into him, that you may see everything in him. The life that you live in the flesh, you will live by the faith of the Son of God. You will have been born again; you will have entered into the kingdom of God."—Phillips Brooks.

The One Thing Needful, v. 7.

"Marvel not that I said unto thee, ye must be born anew." A sculptor spent months in carving a statue of a physicist. When he had completed his work, he invited a friend to view his finished product. Removing the veil from the marble statue he said, with an air of pride, "Is not that perfect?" "No, it is not," replied the friend. "It lacks one thing. What is that?" asked the sculptor, manifestly disappointed. "Life," answered the friend. You may have everything else—education, money, friends, and yet if you do not have spiritual life, you have nothing."—Rev. Milford Nall Lyon, D.D.

"The Serpent in the Wilderness"

"And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness." The reference is to an act of the great law-giver when Nicodemus venetiaed above all others, who, as a plague of poisonous serpents came upon the Israelites in their wilderness wanderings (Num. 21:4-9) to punish them for their complaints against God, was bitten by Jehovah to make a brazen serpent and elevate it on a standard. This he did, and all who were bitten by the snakes, if they looked on the brazen serpent, lived. "Even so must the Son of man be lifted up." "The Son of man," a term derived from the prophecy of Daniel, was Christ's favorite name for himself, signifying the incarnation of Deity in man, so that Christ was representative man and yet was God. He was lifted high on the cross of shame and agony. "And I," said Christ later, "if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto myself," referring to his crucifixion (John 12:32).

The Bible's Central Verse v. 16.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him, may not perish, but have eternal life." This verse is the greatest sentence in the Bible. Inasmuch as the Bible is king in literature, this is, therefore, the greatest sentence in all literature."—Rev. James G. E. McClure, D. D. Luther called this verse the "Little Gospel" or "the Little Bible." Henry Morehouse once preached for seven consecutive nights on the one word "So loved," contained in it. Dr. Alexander MacLaren calls this clause "so loved" the Lake of God's love; "that he gave His only begotten Son" is the River through which we discover the love; "that whosoever believeth on the Son, shall not perish, but shall have eternal life" is the Ficher limiting the operation of the love of God; and "should not perish, but have eternal life" is the Draught, the individual appropriation of the Lake. God is love. "Let us tell it out among the nations, and let us not selfishly cling to this priceless possession, but share it with all the children of men."—Rev. Hugh T. Keer, D. D. "That he gave his only begotten Son," "We may be puzzled at the suffering and the pain of the world. But, then, let us remember that at Christmas was born the Prince of sufferers, that he came into the thick of the world, and bore the worst." Concerning the Prince of sufferers the verdict of God rang clear. "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."—Bishop A. F. W. Ingram.

Here's New Firestone "Air Balloon" Tire

When Firestone pioneered and developed the original balloon tire in 1922, they established the principle of very large cross section tires and using very low air pressure and on wheels of small diameter. The Firestone Air Balloon simply emphasizes a further degree of this Firestone principle to give added riding comfort and safety.

A new low pressure tire, so ample in its billowy proportions that it gives the impression of being attached to the hub of the wheel instead of to the rim, is announced by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company.

Known as the "Air Balloon," the new tire carries only from ten to fourteen pounds pressure and is designed primarily to increase riding comfort. Exhaustive tests made by Firestone Engineers have shown that its cushioning qualities bring about the nearest approach to "riding on air" that it has yet been possible to achieve in tire manufacturing. Cobblestones, curbs, tracks, road ruts and similar rough spots of the highways are taken with scarcely any jar at all.

Kiwanians Will Have Conference

All members of the Pampa Kiwanis club have been invited to a division conference to be held in Amarillo Monday. Business meetings will begin at 9 a. m. at the club and will be devoted to entertainment at the Herring hotel. Members are asked to bring their wives and friends.

Paul D. Hill has been appointed on the "district business standards committee" by District Governor L. D. Hudson. Only three clubs in the states of Texas and Oklahoma are represented on this committee. The other members on the committee were selected from the Canadian club and the Woodward, Okla. club.

M. P. Downs made an interesting talk on "Kiwanis International," at the meeting Friday. He pointed out that every member in every Kiwanis club should "know their product," and that Kiwanis was the important product of every member.

The club approved a motion by Dr. Tom Martin for caring for eight school children who need operations immediately. The operations will be performed by Drs. Martin and A. B. Goldston, members of the club.

New members of the club since Jan. 1 are Lewis O. Cox, T. W. Earnes, Jack Mason, Frank Carter, and C. M. Carlock.

Visitors Friday included Miss Reed, Dr. C. H. Schulze, Fred Cary, and John Sturgeon. Mr. Sturgeon entertained the members with a solo, "Just Start the Ball to Rolling."

GUS TRIES IN VAIN
SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 16. (AP)—A 10-pound weight advantage held by George Sauer, high ranking light heavyweight, proved too great a handicap for Gus Kallo, recognized middleweight wrestling champion of the world here last night. Sauer won in straight falls in 47 and 20 minutes respectively, by use of the "London strangle."

Commissioner H. G. McCleskey of precinct No. 3 was visiting in the city yesterday.

Thos. R. Kirby of the southwest part of the county was in Pampa yesterday.

NEW VEHICLE LAW WILL BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Highway Patrolmen Are to Start Inspecting Trucks and Other Carriers.

Provisions of the new law placing the control of trucks and other vehicles, their height, weight, and speed under state jurisdiction, the weight provisions of which became effective Jan. 1, will be under strict enforcement in Gray county by the newly-appointed state highway patrol under the direction of Sergeant R. H. Routh, the latter announced here yesterday.

With Sergeant Routh were Boyce Long and L. T. Keffer. George Stanley, county traffic officer, is cooperating with the three men in enforcing the law.

No vehicle shall exceed a total outside width including any load thereon of 96 inches except that the width of a farm tractor shall not exceed nine feet, Sergeant Routh said. No vehicle, loaded or unloaded, may exceed a height of 12 feet and six inches, including load.

Length of vehicles is restricted to a maximum of 35 feet and no combination of vehicles coupled together shall exceed a total length of 45 feet, unless such vehicle or combination is operated exclusively within the limits of an incorporated city or town.

The load on passenger vehicles cannot extend more than three inches beyond the line of the fenders on the left side nor more than six inches beyond the fender line on the right side. The total overall width of passenger vehicles shall in no event exceed 96 inches, including any load.

The law prohibits transportation of loads in excess of 7,000 pounds over state highways except where the truck is carrying commodities from point of origin to the nearest common carrier railroad loading point or from the common carrier unloading point to the place of final destination. Where carrying to or from a common carrier point the load limit is 14,000 pounds.

A commercial motor vehicle of more than 6,000 pounds weight are limited to 25 miles an hour on highways, and 18 miles an hour through towns. Buses are limited to a speed of 40 miles an hour.

It is unlawful for any person to operate or permit operation of a commercial vehicle of over one ton carrying capacity upon state highways without having chauffeur's license.

Miss Clarine Brantom of Commerce has been elected to fill a vacancy in the English department of Pampa high school caused by the resignation last week of Miss Bernece Whiteley.

Miss Brantom has accepted the position and will arrive in Pampa Monday, according to Supt. R. B. Fisher. Miss Fannie May, also a teacher in the English department, was elected to succeed Miss Whiteley, and Miss Brantom will fill the vacancy left by Miss May.

The new teacher is a graduate of Cumby high school, and of the East Texas State Teachers college, Commerce, where she obtained her bachelor of arts degree. She will be awarded her master of arts degree in English at the University of Texas next summer. She was attending the state university when elected to the position here.

Speaking of the Weather

by Charles Fitzhugh Tolman of the U.S. Weather Bureau

Currents of Air and Falls When Current Ceases.
A standard dictionary defines a cloudburst as a "sudden copious rainfall, as if the whole cloud had been precipitated at one time."

As a matter of fact, if a cloud of the largest size, were by a miracle, precipitated at one time, coming down at the maximum speed of falling raindrops, it would not cause a torrential shower, such as is commonly known as a cloudburst; but of course the comparatively small amount of water in the clouds was not realized by our ancestors, who believed that clouds sometimes actually burst and discharged their entire watery load at once upon the earth. This idea was learnedly set forth in a quaint little German work by Christian Weise, published in 1701, as well as in many later works.

The earlier scientific attempts to account for the tremendous downpours to which the name "cloudburst" is applied assumed that the water was due to rapid condensation in the vortex of a tornado or waterspout, and hence the name "waterspout" was formerly often applied to a cloudburst, even when it occurred for from any body of water.

The rainfall attending a tornado is doubtless sometimes of cloudburst intensity, but the majority of cloudbursts are now believed to be the product of thunderstorms. Violent uprushing currents of air always occur at the front of an advancing thunderstorm. Moisture in the air drawn into the storm by these currents condenses as it rises, on account of the cooling of the air by expansion, but the upward blast is so strong that for a time the water is prevented from falling as rain.

If the rising currents are weakened at some point, a large accumulation of water is permitted to fall at one time. This is especially likely to occur when a traveling thunderstorm, which is fed by rising streams of air from over heated ground, passes over the cooler surface of a mountain, so that the supply of warm air is temporarily cut off. This would explain the special frequency of cloudbursts in mountainous regions.

Buy now! Don't drive on worn, smooth tires when you can have new Firestone Tires at these low prices. Never before could you buy such remarkable values.

You get extra strength, extra safety, extra service with every Firestone Tire because of these extra Firestone construction features.

Gum Dipping, the Firestone patented extra process that makes the cord body tougher and stronger.
Two Extra Cord Plies Under the Tread, a patented Firestone construction that gives added protection against punctures and blow-outs and stronger bond between tread and cord body.

Tougher, thicker non-skid tread that gives greater non-skid protection and longer non-skid wear.

1931 — the year in which values counted most — was for Firestone a year of great accomplishment. Because of Firestone's unequalled position in buying raw materials — rubber and cotton — efficient factories and economical distribution, they gave car owners the greatest values in their history.

Drive in today. Equip your car with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and enjoy their extra safety and satisfaction at the lowest prices in history.

Good Programs Of Music Will Be Given Today

Music lovers will be delighted with the programs offered at Pampa churches today. Among these programs are the following:

First Baptist
A men's quartet composed of H. C. Price, R. E. Gattlin, L. C. Walters, and Tom E. Rose will sing at the morning hour at the First Baptist church. At the evening hour, a women's quartet composed of Miss Lois Stallings, Miss Loma Groom, and H. C. Price, and Miss Letta Brown will sing. Orchestra music will be furnished at both services. Miss Loma Groom is choir and orchestra director, and Mrs. Tom E. Rose is pianist.

First Christian
H. E. Krieger is orchestra director, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, choir director, and Miss Iva June Willis, pianist, of the First Christian church. Today's music is as follows:
Morning
Prelude, "Largo" (Handel).
Offertory, "Adoration" (Ather-ton).
"Apotheosis from Faust" (Gounod).
Quartet, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," (H. C. Toney). Mrs. J. B. Townsend, Mrs. E. P. Thomas, Mrs. Jim Brown, and Miss Josephine Thomas.

Evening
Orchestra selections will include the following: "The Rosary" (Ne-vins); "Melody" (Jones); "Polonaise Militaire" (Chopin); "Serenade" (Widor); "Bohemian Girl" (Bofle).
First Methodist
Orchestra music at the First Methodist church will include the following:
Morning

upon arresting officers is damnable, nothing less. It strikes at law en-forcement as do few other techni-calities. . . . Over in Oklahoma, sheriffs are being criticized because of recurring bank robberies. Texas officers are similarly criticized un-der like conditions. Yet the pres-ent laws, coupled with clever de-fense attorneys, make law enforce-ment extremely difficult. The legis-lators will hear much of the law which, in effect, directs sheriffs to wait for grand jury indictments be-fore going after the suspects. Be it said to the credit of many sher-iffs that they are making personal sacrifices to control crime.

Mrs. Clark Is To Represent Women
Mrs. John Clark will represent the Women of the Moose lodge on the Pampa Welfare board, it was de-cided at a meeting Wednesday evening. It was also voted to donate four sheets to the Welfare Board and to give $2 to the Baker school cafeteria.

Wiseman To Give Sermon By Radio
Jesse F. Wiseman, minister of the Church of Christ in Pampa, will speak at the Church of Christ in Amarillo this morning and this evening. A sermon by Mr. Wise-man also will be broadcast over sta-tion WDAG this evening.

GOES TO SHAMROCK
Miss Catherine Vincent went to Shamrock yesterday to re-organize her dancing class. At the time she gave her Christmas recital she had 20 pupils there. Miss Vincent has begun a new system in Pampa and is teaching each pupil all kinds of dancing, as well as the military drill.

work to create public sentiment which would result in the payment of the largest number of poll taxes ever recorded in Texas. The whole state should be actively interested in the elections this year, since sane and sound leadership is so greatly needed because of the economic stress that prevails.
According to plans of the state leaders, clubs will continue during this year their campaign of education in enlightened citizenship which will extend its thinking and action to the spheres of education, conserva-tion of the national resources of the state, including birds, flowers, mir-acles, and to the safeguarding of youth through the development of public opinion which will demand better picture shows and radio pro-grams, and homes which can meet the needs of youth in a changing age.

President's Message
Following the advice while at the state meeting, and in view of the uncertain weather and road con-conditions which now prevail over this district, Mrs. J. A. Hill, district pres-ident, has decided that the district board meeting which had been plan-ned to take place in Canyon Jan 21 will not be held.
Instead she will try to visit each city and county federation in the district between this date and the April convention, thus achieving the same ends.

New Jumbo Tire Is Sensation of Motoring World

"There may be nothing new un-der the sun, but there is something new under the fender," declared Walter Sill of the Walter Sill Tire company, agent for General tires, yesterday. Mr. Sill was talking about the new General streamline jumbo tire just received here. The tire is about the size of the ones used on airplanes.
Curbs, rough roads, mud, and soft shoulders mean nothing to the new balloon tire. They carry only 12 pounds of air, and steer just as easily as ordinary tires. The rim base is wider than the tread or top of the tire, hence the tire does not depend on air pressure alone for sta-bility.
Mr. Sill has a set of tires on his car and it seems to float along. It jumps choppy roads and when turned from highways upon soft shoul-ders, sticks to the road. The car does not skid with the large tire. The soft, clinging traction is obtain-ed at low pressure.
Mr. Sill has been taking his friends riding on the low pressure tires and they have been astonished at the performance.

Mrs. E. W. Voss has returned after a 2-week visit with her sister in Ft. Reno, Okla.

WASHINGTON—Carl Vinson of Georgia, "landlubber" chairman of naval affairs in the house, lost no time in getting down to work when he learned definitely that he would guide naval legislation on his side of the hill.

Within a few hours after his selection as chairman, he sat down and began to write a bill which seeks to bring the navy up to the treaty obligations of the London arms conference.

One of the most cautious and thorough of men, as well as an advocate of a big navy, Vinson labored during the Christmas recess day and night.

After numerous conferences with high navy officials and much work, a day or so before congress reconvened he appeared personally in the press gallery to distribute copies of his bill to the news men.

Briefly, his bill calls for a 10-year program, involving construction of 120 vessels at a cost of $616,000,000.

Wants Strong Navy

Representing a district that is entirely inland, Vinson has long interested himself in Uncle Sam's navy. Years of study have brought him to the belief that:

"We need a navy that is strong enough to defend our possessions and support our policies; to insure the safety of our country and the development of our commerce."

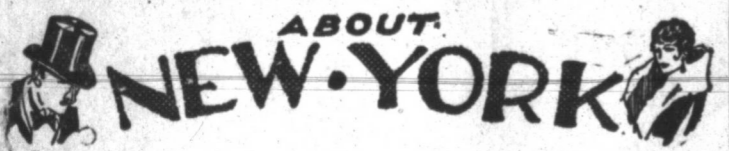

And the fact that he wrote his bill calling for a huge sum of money at the time when economy is being preached so much did not phase him. He had no excuses.

"A country doesn't need a navy of one strength when she is prosperous and a navy of another size when there is an economic depression," he says simply.

Georgian

Vinson is almost bald, inclined to portliness, and has an accent that would immediately identify him as coming from South Georgia. He has the reputation of being a quick thinker.

Many say that he thinks faster than he speaks. This seems borne out sometimes on the floor when he is going strong in debate. Instinctively he seems to sense what his opponent is trying to do 'way in advance.

NEW YORK—Informed of the difficulty Speaker Garner has had with gavel which won't stay together under his energetic pounding, a group of ex-barkeepers will send him an old bung mallet.

This implement was designed, you may remember, not only to survive hammering on keg stoppers, but slams on the heads of recalcitrant customers as well.

When Stanford White was at the height of his fame as an architect here, the George Sealy family of Galveston, Texas, engaged him to design their palatial home. It cost in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand, even in those days.

Upon completion of the elaborate mansion it was discovered, to everybody's amazement, that no one had thought to include a single clothes closet in the plans.

John Sharp Williams, the Mississippi democrat who decided he would rather retire and "bay the moon" than continue to be a United States senator, has a daughter residing on Long Island.

She is Mrs. Joel Bunkley, wife of Commander Bunkley of the navy, stationed at Freeport.

Just Another $100,000

Ho, hum. Miss N— has made her debut at a costly reception and dance in the ballroom of one of the city's ultra-ultra clubs.

Well, it all happened before my time (and hers), so it doesn't make me gnash my teeth to recall the facts.

Years ago, it was, when Miss N—'s grandfather was appointed this country's diplomatic representative in Egypt. It seems he needed some extra change, so W. G. Sr. let him have nearly $100,000.

J. C. left his newspaper in W. G. Sr.'s hands as "security."

When J. C. returned from Egypt he brought so many mummies and curios that he had to build a private museum to house them. Yet, somehow, he just couldn't manage to pay back that paltry sum to my sire.

The paper afforded diversion and adventure for W. G. Sr. for those, were the days of rip-snorting journalism in the gun country. But the result of it all was, I had to pass up my own debut and that's what makes me feel sad.

Prosperous, But Untaxed, Industry And Its Stockholders

WHAT OTHER EDITORS THINK

PAYING THEIR WATCHERS

If the federal government should authorize and order its prohibition enforcement officers to collect their salaries from the bootleggers, it would be doing exactly what the governor of Oklahoma has done in his martial law experiment in the Oklahoma oil fields.

For the militia officers who are supposed to be enforcing martial law among the derricks are not being paid by the state. They are not being paid by federal government, regardless of the governor's reckless assertion. They are being paid by the oil companies and they are being paid rather handsomely.

Martial law was declared, that the state proration orders might be enforced strictly. That is the single purpose of military occupancy today. The only people on earth who could possibly violate the proration orders are the oil people. It were humanly impossible for any except oil people to violate the proration orders. The single duty of the militia then is to watch the oil people and see that none of them violate the proration orders of the state.

But the very people whom the militiamen are watching are paying the salaries of the watchers. The oil companies are contributing money to pay the soldiers who are standing guard to keep the donating companies from violating the law. The militiamen, therefore, have become the hired men of the very people whose alleged disregard of the law furnished the governor his excuse for calling out the guards.

The support of prohibition officers and policemen by bootleggers would be no more ridiculous. Such a procedure would inevitably render the subsidized officers the supporters and protectors of the bootleggers who paid the bills. It could have no other result. One of the most devastating indictments that can be drawn against any officer is to charge that he is taking money from bootleggers. But it is equally ridiculous and equally against public policy to have guarded oil companies paying the salaries of their guards. Daily OKLAHOMAN.

TURN UP YOUR SLEEVES

From an advertisement in this newspaper: Style Note: SUCCESSFUL business men will be noted wearing their shirt sleeves rolled up during 1932, for . . . 1932 Will Reward Shirt Sleeves Effort Only!

Sitting in comfortable chairs, "talking" about what ought to be done, won't send the "little black line" on its swift upward course across 1932 business charts. . . . It's going to take red-blooded optimism, coupled with "get down and dig" shirt sleeve determination, to put all business back on the only direct route to Prosperityville.

It won't be a joy-ride (we've already had that and see where it landed us) . . . It's going to mean WORK . . . and lots of it. We're going to have to create confidence, which means that all fear and uncertainty must be dissipated. . . . We're going to have to create new buyers of our merchandise, and our services, as well as regain and retain the former buyers of these commodities. . . . We're going to have to sell that confidence—Sell it, Sell it, Sell it. . . .

And there's no denying the truth of that message. . . . there's no denying that good, old hard work is what it will take to bring back prosperity. And "elbow grease" is not the only thing required, we're going to have to work the old brain, to install new ideas into our business, and to create new ideas in selling our products to the prospective consumer.

Borger's potential buying power is almost as large as it ever was. All that buying power needs is a tonic—to be loosened up a bit. Borger needs to sell Borger business to the people who hold the strings to that immense buying power. The possibilities of Borger need to be put before them—put before them in a manner which they cannot deny.

It will take work, hard work, and we'll have to roll up our sleeves to do it. We'll have to rack our brains for ideas to put over the program. But that's what it will take to make 1932 the sort of year we are expecting.—HERALD, Borger.

What Oil Means to Texas

HALF MILLION DEPEND ON IT

Industry Brings as Much as Farm Receipts If Gas Tax Included.

Edmunds Travis in Texas Weekly Oil and agriculture are the principal supports of the Texas economic structure and are more nearly equal in importance than is generally realized. A compilation made this year by the North Texas Oil and Gas association showed expenditures in Texas by the oil industry during 1930 totaling $666,446,000 exclusive of gasoline taxes, or $696,654,000 counting gasoline taxes. The value of all Texas farm crops in 1930, according to an estimate made by the U. S. department of agriculture, was $454,512,000. That year, however, was a bad one for agriculture. The average annual crop value for Texas during the last 10 years has been $687,000,000. Thus the oil industry's expenditures for 1930 top the average value of farm crops if we count gasoline taxes, and fall comparatively little below it if we leave gasoline taxes out of account.

An examination into details of the industry's expenditures reveals that petroleum is a heavy contributor to the welfare of the farming community. During 1930 royalty oil brought to Texas land-owners and their assignees a total of $45,000,000. Lease bonuses paid to land-owners amounted to $25,000,000, and leases and rentals to $8,750,000. The largest item of the expense account, consisting of payments for materials, supplies and services—including teaming, trucking, contract drilling and water supply, among other things—and totaling $210,000,000, is one from which farmers and country town dwellers have profited largely. And farmers and all other payers of ad valorem taxes have been spared heavy burdens by the oil industry's contribution to state revenue.

Employees of the oil industry in Texas number approximately 120,000. On the basis of the federal government's estimate that 4.4 people are dependent upon each wage earner's wage, 528,000 people in Texas draw their livelihood directly from oil pay rolls. Just how many more receive stock dividends or bond interest from oil companies is a matter of guess. The larger companies alone have approximately 100,000 stockholders in Texas, but many of these are also company employees. As to Texas holders of other oil securities, accurate information is not available. Certainly, aside from farming, the oil business supports more Texas people than are supported by any other.

It is probable that few states or nations derive so large a proportion of their public revenue from the properties and products of one business as Texas draws from those of the oil industry. Ad valorem state taxes paid by the industry last year amounted to $4,768,000, which was more than one-sixth of all state ad valorem taxes. Its production taxes totaled $6,371,000, which was more than one-half of all gross receipts and occupation taxes collected by the state. In addition, the oil industry paid $807,000 in miscellaneous state taxes, bringing its total contribution to state tax revenue to $11,946,000, without counting gasoline taxes. It also paid $15,000,000 in local taxes, including city, county and school taxes. The gasoline tax of 4 cents per gallon on gasoline sold within the state, amounted to $32,208,756, bringing the total of state taxes produced by oil to $44,154,756, and the total of state and local taxes to $59,154,756.

Counting the gasoline tax, the oil industry paid 58.8 per cent of the total state revenue from taxation. There is always an argument as to the proportion of the gasoline tax that is borne by the industry itself and not passed on to consumers of gasoline, but it is beside the point in this discussion. No matter how the tax is levied on oil companies, product and, therefore, may be distributed appropriately in any consideration of what oil means to our state government. There is no other commodity which the state taxes so heavily as gasoline, and there is no other contributing so much to state revenue. Proceeds of the gasoline tax exceed by more than $8,000,000 all revenue obtained from ad valorem taxes of all descriptions.

However, the contribution of oil to state revenue cannot be ascertained from an examination of tax figures only. The state itself is a large owner of oil lands, and derives a great income from the rental of such lands and from payments for royalty oil. From oil royalties alone the state's income for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1930, amounted to $2,417,472. It was less in the next fiscal year, but that was an unusually bad year for the oil industry, with prices of crude oil remarkably low figures.

The Texas oil industry has grown to greatness so rapidly that many of us do not appreciate the extent to which other lines of Texas business, the support of education and the advancement of government are dependent upon that industry's prosperity. We are not far removed, as Texas had few industries and was altogether on the buying side of the oil market. Certain habits of thought developed in that period still color our attitude toward oil and those engaged in producing and selling it. Hence, the popularity of cheap oil products in the state which leads to their manufacture. Hence, the load-bearing down with taxes of an industry supporting not less than 600,000 of our citizens. And hence a volume of criticism of the same industry, and a succession of attacks upon it which people in the oil-consuming states must find most difficult to understand.

Chamber Groups To Meet Monday

Members of the Board of City Development and Junior Chamber will meet in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. Plans for the work of the coming year will be discussed and will be presented to the board of directors of the two organizations. Later they will be discussed by the membership.

The committees were appointed by the presidents of the two organizations. The public has supplied many suggestions and all will be discussed at the committee meeting. Members of the committee from the senior organization are Ivy E. Duncan, chairman; W. A. Bratton, Albert Thomas, Earl O'Keefe, A. G. Post, Joe Smith, Lynn Boyd, and T. J. Clauson. The committee from the junior body is composed of C. E. "Brownie" Akers, chairman, R. A. Rose, Olin E. Hinkle, Jack Cunningham, Marvin Lewis, Odus Mitchell, and Dr. C. H. Schulkey.

McLean to Vote On Keeping Band

McLEAN, Jan. 15. (Special)—E. J. Landry has been elected president and Jesse J. Cobb secretary of an organization just completed to have the band retained in the election of Feb. 9. Every man at the meeting was for retaining the band. Arthur Erwin, Evan L. Sitter and Claude Williams were chief speakers. They declared that the band was an excellent advertising advertising medium and should be supported by taxation. Money had to be spent for advertising in the past but lately the band has been putting McLean to the front.

The taxation will be only four-tenths mills this year.

WILL HAVE BANQUET CANADIAN, Jan. 15. (Special)—City commissioners have sent out invitations for the eighth annual banquet extended to the Canadian fire department. The banquet will be in the basement of the Methodist church.

A number of talks will be made following the meal. Entertainment is being arranged. The fire department consists of 30 men. Miss Minnie Thom of Wichita Falls is here visiting her brothers, A. H. Thom and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thom and her sister, Miss Leona Thom.

WHITE DEER, Jan. 16.—How White Deer could stage one of the largest and best poultry shows on the 1931-32 season was a source of conjecture to many visitors here Friday and Saturday. Prof. T. M. Moore of W. T. S. T. o'clock Friday morning to judge the C. at Canyon, who arrived about 13 375 birds in the show, expressed amazement at the great number of entries. He was busy until five o'clock Friday afternoon picking the winners. The White Deer show was fully as large as similar shows held recently at Pampa, and McLean.

A livestock show was held in connection with the poultry show. The livestock exhibit comprised a half dozen registered Hereford beef calves, about nine pens of swine, Frank J. Ford, assistant county agent of Potter county, judged the animals.

There Hereford calves were in excellent condition. First prize was won by an eight-year-old girl, Dorothy Latta. Her calf was a magnificent specimen of the breed. Its weight was all that it could have been. The little girl was in constant attendance upon the calf, and kept the animal contented by combing his perfectly marcelled hair.

Poultry entries were from Pampa, White Deer, Groom, McLean, Panhandle, Kingsmill. Mr. Moore said the Rhode Island red, Barred Rock and Buff Orpington entries were among the best he had judged this year. One of the best birds in the show was a two-year-old Buff Orpington, cock shown by Fred Moss of Pampa. The show also had pigeon duck, geese and bantam entries.

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor, THE NEWS: Allow me to use your column to ask Pampa citizens to buy eggs produced in Gray county. Trading at home should mean buying of home grown products, and merchants should give preference to our products.

Shipped-in eggs should not be allowed to drive down the price for fresh country eggs. The buying public can stop this ruinous competition by demanding eggs produced in this community.

Buy home produced eggs and you won't have to throw out a lot of bad ones. POULTRY FARMER.

Miss Bessie R. Gill of Miami was visiting and shopping in Pampa yesterday.

L. C. Haines of Dallas, office representative of the Southern Old Line Insurance company, visited M. P. Downs, local representative, here Friday.

WHERE INTERFERENCE IS DANGEROUS

In Dallas the other day five firemen were injured by a falling wall while fighting a warehouse fire. It was stated in the dispatches concerning the accident that the men saw the wall leaning in ample time to have enabled them to escape injury. They were playing water from a high pressure line on the flames at the time and if they had released the hose they feared that some bystander might be injured. So rather than risk injury to others they accepted the fate that so often is the lot of firemen.

Possibly nothing will ever be done about this matter of people rushing to fires and getting in the way of the firemen. It seems to be a natural trait of human nature, but plainly it is one of the many things about which something ought to be done. Firemen have accepted it as one of the unpleasant phases of their work and deal with it as best they can. Not a few firemen have given up their lives as a result of this inclination of spectators to crowd around a burning building. The Dallas firemen were simply fortunate that they were called on merely to suffer injuries.

This is merely another illustration of the unselfish and patriotic character of the work of firemen. The Dallas firemen receive salaries but it is no matter whether the firemen are volunteers or are paid. The nature of their work is the same.

It is a pity that people do not manifest sufficient appreciation of their services—even to allow them to do their work without interference.—RECORD, Vernon.

BEATING A GOOD LAW

During the year 1931, Clovis, New Mexico, gathered in $12,000.00 from Texas couples entering double-blessedness. Remember, this sum is only what just one Mexico city received from Texas couples for marriage license during the past year. Of the 1359 marriages in Clovis the past year, 1200 were of couples from Texas.

It has been estimated that each couple spends besides the license fee at least $10, and which means that Texas couples left at least $24,000 in Clovis the past year. Everybody knows that the reason why so many marriages of Texas couples are taking place in towns and cities in bordering states, but not every person has stopped to think just what it really means.

The legislators, who framed Texas' present marriage law, and which requires that the prospective bridegroom must first pass a physical examination before being granted a license to marry, framed that law with the view of making members of future generations healthier and better than those of the present, and of avoiding disappointments and which often result disastrously, after a married life has disclosed those faults which hitherto had been kept concealed. Such a law, therefore, not only safeguards those taking upon themselves the responsibilities of husband and wife, but also helps to safeguard them against violating the divine injunction which emphatically declares that "Whatsoever God has united, let no man put asunder."—INDEX, Childress.
