AUSTIN, May 14. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling announced "definitely" tonight he would be a candidate for re-election.

"So that there may be no possible doubt of my position, I announce definitely that I am a candidate for reelection," Governor Sterling said in a statement.

His latest declaration on the subject came after state Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo stated at Sweetwater that he did not consider the governor's announcement at Fort Worth last Wednesday that he "planned to run for reelection" a "positive statement."

The governor released his "definite" decision announcement after a prolonged conference in the executive office. Early in the day he told capitol correspondents he would have a statement when advised of Small's dissatisfaction with the Wednesday "planned to run" declaration.

Governor Sterling said he had been advised on the telephone by some one in Sweetwater of Small's threat.

The governor's statement in full: "I appreciate the consideration of the prominent and able men of Texas who have awaited the announcement of my decision regarding the governorship campaign. So that there may be no possible doubt of my position, I announce definitely that I am a candidate for reelection."

"I am now preparing a statement to the voters of Texas setting forth the platform upon which I shall stand."

The governor's office said the statement setting forth the platform would not be released immediately.

SWEETWATER, May 14. (AP)—Clint Small, state senator from the Panhandle, said here today he planned to support Governor Ross Sterling in the coming gubernatorial campaign if the governor concluded to run.

Small's statement was made before the governor definitely announced his candidacy from Austin this afternoon.

AMARILLO, May 14. (AP)—Sen. Clint Small of Amarillo tonight expressed gratification that Gov. Ross Sterling had taken the lead.

HOW RESCUE WAS MADE

Charles (Bud) Cowart, nervy young sailor from Sand Springs, Okla., clung to a cable until he was drawn aboard the Navy dirigible Akron at Camp Kearney, near San Diego, Calif., after being swept aloft in a sudden plunge of the ship just as it was nearing the mooring mast. Nigel M. Hinton, Fresno, Calif., and Robert Edsall, Elkhart, Ind., who also swung aloft on the cable, fell 200 feet to death. E. G. Walkup, another sailor, dropped a short distance and escaped with a broken arm. Picture shows dirigible with Cowart and Edsall clinging to cable just before Edsall let go. Hinton already had fallen. Inset is close-up of nose of dirigible showing bow gangway and sketched figures illustrating the way Cowart was taken aboard the ship.

John T. Glover and O. L. Boyington will start work on the new station this week. They were awarded the contract last week on a joint bid. The station will be built on the Tenacre addition in South Pampa. Grade was completed to the station location yesterday.

SENIORS WILL HAVE MELODY IN LAST DAYS

REV. HYDE TO DELIVER SERMON THIS EVENING

ARTISTS WILL BE HEARD

LAST EXERCISE WILL BE FRIDAY EVENING AT CHURCH

(By A. F.)

Beautiful music, including classics of melody interpreted by leading artists of the Panhandle, will be a dominating feature of exercises for 81 high school graduates this evening at the First Christian church and next Friday night at the First Baptist church.

Departing from the traditional custom, the senior class sponsors, Miss Fannie May and Miss Josephine Cribler in planning the program, decided to emphasize music this year, both for the benefit of the students and the elders who will attend.

Just before the Rev. A. A. Hyde delivers the commencement sermon this evening, Herschel Coffee, whose violin sings as lovely as any in Texas, will play Glink's "Andante," and Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Songs."

Both compositions contain music not of this earth. Because they are so appropriate they should inspire every listener, and the speaker of the evening, too. Mr. Coffee is head of the violin department, West Texas State Teachers college.

On Friday evening at the Baptist church Mrs. May Foreman Carr will play Moszkowski's "Caprice Espanol."

(See SERMON, Page 8)

Pampans Will Attend Highway Session Monday

Three Pampans will leave at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning for Lamar, Colo., where they will attend a division meeting of the Outfit Highway 41 association. They are F. P. Reid, president of the association, George Briggs, and Olin E. Hinkle.

The eastern division, which met a few weeks ago in Wheeler, adopted projects for consideration in other division. The road extends from Oklahoma City to Denver, greatly shortening the distance between the two points. It is hoped that designation of the route all the way may be obtained as a preliminary step toward paving.

Raising of funds for a suitable monument at the site of Old Fort Elliott near Mobeetie on the highway will be discussed. The trippers will return Tuesday morning.

Miss Ellie Carter of Miami was a Pampa shopping visitor Saturday.

Mrs. A. W. Butler of White Deer visited briefly here Saturday.

Drug store cowboys laughing at the jokes Clinton Evans whimsical and likeable junior, told while acting as toastmaster at the Junior-Senior banquet Friday night. Clinton stole his part of the show at the junior play, and according to teachers and pupils he proved to be an unusually entertaining toastmaster. A whispering campaign has it that Supt. R. B. Fisher and the stern teachers did NOT laugh at some of the jokes told at the banquet whereas the school roared.

CANDIDATE

D. R. Henry, above, longtime resident of this community, has announced his candidacy for county treasurer.

JAYSEES ARE PREPARED TO GREET CROWD

Oil Men To Mingle With Pioneers Tomorrow

President Bob Brashear urges all old-timers and oilfield workers to attend the meeting, get acquainted with the members, and see how they work. The Frontier Days celebration will be explained and ideas exchanged.

The entertainment features will open with a sing-song in charge of Millard Humphrey, with Miss Inez Barrett as accompanist. A trick roping exhibition will be given by the Johnson Brothers, here for the rodeo. Virgil Nixon will sing cowboy songs accompanied, on the guitar by Jimmie King. A mixed dialogue will be presented by Bert Pritchett and Jimmie King. The Midnight Revelers will also have a part on the program. An address of welcome will precede the business meeting.

Members are urged to attend the meeting and welcome the visitors. The Jaysees will start a get-together program after the Frontier Days celebration.

LOCAL THEATER MEN are much worried by the Senate movie tax bill. The senate tax would be 10 per cent of ticket revenues above 10 cents.

The dangers of excessive taxation are greater than under-taxation. Moreover, there can be no advantage in destroying a business just to place a high tax.

Dr. A. J. Caldwell of Amarillo, speaking to Pampa Lions, said some strong things about modern conditions. He prefaced his remarks with: 1. Woe unto him who tries to teach a nation faster than it can learn.

The speaker was emphatic in his statement that the collective welfare is deeply involved in individual thinking, rather than legislating of prosperity, morality, or any other desirable end.

Dr. Caldwell observed that "nothing but change is permanent". Principles are abstract, but the machinery by which they are carried out is constantly changing.

And speaking of selfishness, is the United States selfish in trying to maintain a standard of living far above the rest of the world? We think not, but many free trade advocates would have world trade level off according to laws of economics.

In arguing this question with Julian Barrett, we ventured the suggestion that we cannot long continue any prosperity based on loans to other nations which come back to us in the form of trade.

The principle that the government, if it limits the earnings of a business—such as the railroads—should undertake to guarantee a certain profit in times of difficulty is one which leads toward danger.

The Interstate Commerce Commission claims that the roads owe $361,000,000 to this recapture fund—money they did not pay promptly because of needing it for expansion and to take up bonds.

And federal ownership is likely to prove very costly to this government. Public ownership usually is more expensive than private management.

The warning may not be necessary, but it is requested and here goes: It is going to be necessary for people of Pampa to be more courteous and perhaps generous to the folks who come here for Frontier Days.

AMERICA COMES TO SOURLAND MOUNTAIN

Hurrying, heedless America has come to Sourland mountain and has stopped dead in her tracks. A baby has been kidnaped and murdered. Columbia is hearing questions asked at home and from abroad.

What is the bitter poison—a potion more bitter than the grief in Ann Lindbergh's heart, more bitter than the soil on Sourland mountain—that has so polluted the blood-stream of American Democracy?

What is the pernicious toxin that has been injected into America's veins, rendering her so impotent that Mammon-mad traitors can hold her as a shield before their smoking machine guns, smouldering bombs and blood-dripping bribes?

That's her stage name," assented Vale. He appeared about to add something when there was a stir of chiffons and a waltz of scent. Briggitta Deering was on her way to the door.

Let her go into mortal combat with the curse from whose loins have sprung baby snatchers, racketeers, gangsters armed with machine guns, wholesale bribery and slaughter, monarchs and speakasies.

Let America recover before it is too late, what she has lost—civilizing forces old as the world, respect for law, respect for mother love, love of country, patriotism, security of her citizens whose ancestors paid with their lives for liberty.

STUNNED AFTER VALE'S announcement mysteriously breaks an engagement for Jenny Deering. She sees him while she is having tea with Vale, Ryder, and George.

Chapter 24 SPILLING A FEW BEANS GARTH AVENEY was bending towards a woman in a lovely large hat and the floweriest of chiffons. He was amused, intent, battling, challenging, elusive as the fiver.

Jenny moved her chair so that it faced the window. She wondered if he had planned to bring her here, when he had thought that perhaps she would help him to forget George for a day.

"Hello, there's Briggitta and Aveney," he exclaimed, nodding over Jenny's shoulder to the couple by the far window. "Bit of a coincidence, what?"

"Briggitta Deering?" Jenny would not turn but she was curious in spite of herself. Briggitta Deering, both on the stage and off it, was so exceptionally lovely.

"That's her stage name," assented Vale. He appeared about to add something when there was a stir of chiffons and a waltz of scent. Briggitta Deering was on her way to the door.

He did not stop. He went quickly past with a curt, mocking little bow for her and a word to Vale. It was Briggitta who stopped. She laid a brightly-nailed hand on Vale's shoulder and murmured: "Oh, I say, darling, what a sleuth you'd make!"

"Pure chance, I swear it," protested Vale. "All I knew was, you'd gone somewhere along the river. By the way, have you met—"

But the exquisite Briggitta had trailed off. Vale, Jenny thought, was more than a little embarrassed by the encounter; and she was inclined to agree with Briggitta that it had not been entirely one of chance.

She stared across the big room while he ordered tea—and saw Garth Aveney again; this time in a mirror that reflected the courtyard. In a mirror such as she had seen him when George had sat, gorgeous and velvety in apricot and gold, at his side; as now that lovely, painted woman was sitting in his car.

"Not much of the Matching look about him," commented Vale. Jenny could not follow the remark. "About Mr. Aveney? Why should there be?"

"Well, relations do sometimes resemble each other. You'll pour out, won't you? I never can get my own tea right; poor look-out for anyone else."

Jenny lifted the tea-pot and put it down again. "Do you mean that Mr. Aveney is related to old Mr. Matching?"

"Nephew. Only one he's got. But surely you knew? Aveney himself told me yesterday that both you and George knew all about him and his little stunt. He let me in on it as well, because he said he felt he'd made use of me, not that I minded it, but he's a sensitive sort of a fellow. He cares how he stands with people. And in any case, George came out with his flying colors, so there was no secret left."

Jenny poured tea and yet more tea. In fact, she filled all the cups on the table and had to tip all but two away again.

"Have I split any beans?" asked Vale, in a rush of anxiety. "Aveney said that George had put you wise what all the manoeuvring was about, last Friday night. She did put you wise, didn't she?"

Jenny frowned in perplexity. She faltered out—"In a way I guessed. I think she promised to tell me the whole of it one day. But she didn't say that Mr. Aveney was Mr. Matching's nephew."

Winnie Lightner Has New Role

Winnie Lightner, famous as the "tomboy of the talkies," will be seen in a new role in "Play Girl," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone picture featuring Loretta Young, which comes to the Rex theater today.

"Wild Winnie" is a paradox among actresses. Though she usually plays hard-boiled, wisecracking roles, she is in reality gentle and soft-hearted. In "Play Girl" Winnie appears as Loretta's pal and department store mate. Her role is warm with pity and tenderness, a new sort of part for Winnie and one in which she revels.

Winnie gives evidence, however, that the warmer type of role is more in keeping with her natural character. She says: "I was thirteen years old before I stopped hanging up a Christmas Eve stocking. And, believe it or not, I was sixteen before the Easter Bunny stopped leaving dozens of colored eggs for me." Winnie admits she didn't believe in either the bunny or Santa Claus at those ages, but liked "the sentiment attached to each occasion."

Featured with Loretta and Winnie in "Play Girl" are Norman Foster and Guy Kibbee.

Others in the large cast are James Ellison, Edward Van Sloan, Dorothy Burgess, Mae Madison, Polly Walker, Noel Madison, and Flora Finch. Ray Enright directed.

Washing Powder at Cooking School To Be Red Wing

Red Wing washing powder which Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig will use in her cooking school here this week, is a soap base but will soften any water, especially "gyp" water.

The Red Wing Product company avers that the housewife will not have to add anything else to the powder for it is more of a cleanser than a soap, and will not damage any garment. It is best for dirt, grease and stains when hard water is used.

The powder is manufactured at Amarillo by the Red Wing Product company, owned by C. C. King who says that "the ladies have learned this powder will not harm the hands and that we can make one of the best washing powders on the market in the Panhandle. Now is the time to begin using Panhandle-made products, especially if they are as good as any made elsewhere."

Washout Delays Train in Memphis

AMARILLO, May 14. (AP)—Several hundred feet of track washed out in three sections on the Fort Worth and Denver north of Memphis, tonight marooned a northbound passenger train.

Neither the train nor the passengers were in danger.

The washouts resulted from a three-inch rain, accompanied by hail, which fell in the afternoon in Hall and Donley counties.

Crews of workmen were repairing the track late tonight and the train was expected to arrive here about 4 o'clock in the morning.

It is an interesting thing that increasing numbers are attending churches, institutions that are planning no reforms, premeditating no reinvigoration of business, political or the social order, but devoted to a work of deep convictions.

They never die. They stand confused, daunted, amazed, alarmed, in the midst of shifting scenes of these troublesome days and want to be commanded. People show a desire not to walk in the dark alone.

Too long have the many tried their own way, and the way of the world with no regard for God's way of righteousness and unselfishness. A mere trip to Nevada does not absolve one from immorality, however elete the person and however widely advertised. The world is sick and tired of high brow notions and low brow living. Come to church.

CHURCHES

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"The Lord's Kingdom," a real kingdom, not a mere figure of speech. Here this sermon at the 11 o'clock service, after the communion.

—F. W. O'Malley, minister.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Corner Kingsmill and West Streets 11 o'clock or pastor has no more interest in the public schools of Pampa than the First Baptist. We congratulate both faculty and the graduating class. This church will be well represented by parents, seniors, and faculty members at the First Christian church Sunday evening, as well as by many members not directly interested. It should be.

For any church to have a service at the hour when the graduating sermon for the high school is being held is to break a precedent.

Last year when the service was conducted at this church, the building proved inadequate for all those who came. It will be true this year.

The growth of a community necessitates many changes, and breaking of traditional precedents. Our churches are to always provide services for those who desire an hour of worship.

It is an interesting thing that increasing numbers are attending churches, institutions that are planning no reforms, premeditating no reinvigoration of business, political or the social order, but devoted to a work of deep convictions.

No historical or civic theme is carried out in the book. Instead, it carries a group of students through a year in high school. The pictures are typical of students at their daily duties. The printing is modernistic, with chapter headings in black, red and green. The cover is starting with modernistic lines and black and dull red binding.

Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas Is Women's State Champion

DEFEATS FISK 3 AND 2 OVER RIVER CREST

WICHITA FALLS WOMAN PUTS UP GAME DEFENSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
 PORT WORTH, May 14 (AP)—The 1932 Texas Women's Golf association state championship crown was won today by Mrs. Dan Chandler of the Dallas Brook Hollow country club. She defeated Mrs. R. R. Fisk, defending champion from Wichita Falls, 3 and 2, in a scheduled 36-hole battle that ended on the 34th green.

It was a phenomenal streak of putting plus other good shots that brought Mrs. Chandler to the front with four consecutive holes just when the estimated gallery of fifteen hundred had started predicting an extra hole match.

One down at the 29th hole, Mrs. Chandler shot 4-4-5-2, to overtake the former champion's one up and lead, and jump to the front to remain there until a pair of fives for a halved hole at the 16th stopped further playing.

It was a splendid exhibition of golf between a steady, sure accurate star in Mrs. Fisk, and a youthful, sometimes inaccurate golfer in Mrs. Chandler. The Brook Hollow ace is ranked as one of the longest hitters in the Texas Women's Golf association.

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—George Pipgras, veteran Yankee hurler, pitched his second shut out in a row today, blanking the Chicago White Sox 6 to 0 in the only game of the series the weather let the teams play.

It was a brilliant performance that carried Pipgras' streak to 19 scoreless innings and the Yankees to their fifth straight victory. Until two were out in the ninth, the Sox got only two hits, both in the fourth inning. Ther Pipgras eased up, gave two hits and walked a man to fill the bases. In that tough spot he forced Red Kress, moved to the cleanup position for Chicago, to fly out and end the game.

BOXING DRAWS FANS TO PINS HERE FRIDAY

SEVERAL REAL BOUTS WHET INTEREST OF CROWD

Sparking bouts, featured by slambang preliminaries, drew a large crowd to the Legion boxing exhibition Friday evening at the Pla-Mor auditorium.

The more lustrous main event closed in a burst of speed as Joe Vernon took the last round after having taken two nine-counts a short time before. The bout by the local boy and Cyclone Hall of Denver was not decisive. Hall loafed the first six rounds to 1st Vernon pile up a commanding lead. The seventh was about even, then Hall woke up for one round to send Vernon to the canvas for two counts of nine. He worked on Vernon in the ninth but failed to follow up his advantage. The last round was about even for the first minute when Hall slipped over a low one and Vernon went down. Rather than take the bout, Vernon rested and then resumed the fight to win the last round.

COTTON IS QUIET

NEW ORLEANS, May 14 (AP)—The market for cotton contracts was quiet and trading was moderate for a short week end session. Price fluctuations were narrow and due mainly to evening up of commitments for over the week-end. Liverpool was closed for the Whitsuntide holidays. The market closed steady at net declines for the day of 3 to 4 points.

STOCKS LOWER

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Little change occurred in the week-end security markets today. Stocks sagged and so did bonds. Losses were somewhat smaller for shares, but evidence that the downward movement might be halted without some fresh stimulant was lacking.

In the absence of important news developments, Wall street had nothing but the market's own action on which to base its opinions. Brokerage houses have been somewhat discomfited by this abrupt retreat which has emphasized so sharply the lack of buying interest. They are more discouraged, however, by the weak bond market. Some hopes for at least a steady investment market had been kindled recently, but these have been shaken by the current downswing, and it is pointed out that stocks face heavy odds when bonds are being liquidated.
