Joe Mitchell Assessed 2 Years Following His Dramatic Defense

LONG APPEAL MADE BY HIM BEFORE JURY

VERDICT RETURNED BY JURORS AFTER 1 1/2 HOURS

OTHER CASES PENDING

ALIBIS ARE ADVANCED AS MAN'S WIFE TESTIFIES

A 31st district court jury that deliberated one and one-half hours yesterday afternoon found Joe Mitchell guilty of daylight burglary and assessed his punishment at two years confinement in the penitentiary. The case went to the jury after Mitchell, acting as his own attorney, made a dramatic appeal for his acquittal. County Attorney Sherman White, who represented the state, asked the jury to give the defendant a term of from five to ten years. Mitchell's dynamic defense of himself came as a surprise to the state and court room attendants. He told the jury he decided to de-

Searching parties were seeking her when she reached a country store and reported herself unhurt.

JACKSON CASE GOES TO TRIAL THIS MORNING

AMOUNT OF GRAVEL IN ROAD PROJECT IS ARGUED

ENGINEER IS WITNESS

DEFENDANT DEMANDED AN IMMEDIATE TRIAL

Tom Jackson was acquitted on a charge of false swearing in an instructed verdict at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Judge Ewing held that the testimony was insufficient to warrant or to sustain a verdict of guilty, after three state witnesses had testified, and the state had rested. Testimony of the state's first two witnesses, County Auditor R. C. Wilson and County Engineer A. H. Ducette was heard in the trial of Tom Jackson, under indictment for false swearing, in 31st district court this morning. Mr. Jackson, a gravel contractor, was charged in connection with an affidavit signed by him before Mr. Wilson concerning a $3,840 gravel bill. The defendant claimed in the affidavit that he placed 1,280 yards of gravel on the road from McIlroy refinery to the railroad, and that the county owed him $3,840 for the work. Mr. Wilson testified that Mr. Jackson made the affidavit before him, Sept. 10, 1931. He gave further

ENTIRE MEMBERSHIP IS NEEDED TO TAKE DETAILS

Junior chamber of commerce members, meeting at the call of President R. S. Brashears last night, were organized into a dozen groups to care for details of Frontier Days on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "For-man" Lon L. Bruner will be in charge of the miniature free rodeo to be given on the vacant lots east of the courthouse at 11 a. m. Thursday, 10 a. m. Friday and 9:30 a. m. Saturday. Bronc busting, riding the bucking car, hurdling, and a tournament race for horsemen will be features of this daily frolic. George Limerick, chairman of ticket sales, announced that the final drive in the sale of books of six tickets for $3 would be made tonight following a downtown parade of horsemen at 6:30 o'clock. Members of his committee will mingle with the crowds and make the tickets available. All books of tickets not sold must be returned, with money for those sold, to the B. C. D. office not later than Thursday at 9:30 a. m. Tickets are being sold at neighboring towns and in the oil fields. O. L. Not less than 150 cowboys and cowgirls are expected to participate in the six rodeo performances, which will be held at 2 and 8 p. m. daily. The night events under the flood-lights of Harvester stadium are expected to draw capacity crowds to the seats of 12,000 capacity. Registration of oldtimers will be made at the Schneider hotel, where a room adjoining the lobby has been set aside for the purpose. The oldest oldtimer will lead the parades to be held Thursday and Saturday at 10 a. m. Citizens will

Salvation Army To Have Tag Day Here Tomorrow

In critical need of funds, the Pampa Salvation Army will have a tag day Thursday, it was announced this morning by Ensign J. F. Kirkman. The Pampa corps will be assisted in the drive by lassies from the Amarillo organization. The last drive the organization had here raised only about $900.

Beeves Will Be Placed On Coals At Ranch Soon

Mel B. Davis will put his 15 beeves to rest over bed of coals at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will have the barbecue beef back in Pampa in plenty of time for the free barbecue Friday noon, he announced this morning. The barbecue pits will be located on the Ledrick ranch in Roberts county. When the barbecue is ready, it will be turned over to Earl Talley and his army of Junior chamber of commerce workers, who will cut it and deliver it to the barbecue stands west of Harvester park. There, plenty of men will be in position to feed everyone. Mr. Talley urges Pampa folks to be courteous and let visitors pass through the stands first. He believes there will be plenty of barbecue for everyone but he wants visitors to be fed first. Most of the beeves have been donated by Gray county ranchers so visitors will be eating Gray county beef.

Lots of Spills
There are real thrills and spills in a first class rodeo such as is being provided in connection with Frontier Days. Don't get the idea that are any "frame-ups" with horses. The best riders meet their match in horse flesh, and always have.

Thanks, Hootie
The Pampan thanks O. W. "Hootie" Harrah, our loquacious friend from White Deer for permission to examine a copy of the Panhandle's first newspaper, "THE TEXAS PANHANDLE," published at Mobeetie by the late W. E. (Bill) Edwards, who died a year or so ago at Henryetta. We quote from an issue of Friday, July 4, 1884: "C. C. Parsley rode one of Hamburg's horses last Sunday. The animal was well kept and a total stranger to the saddle. The boys one instant saw Parsley in the act of mounting, and then followed a halo of dust down the back way just in time to see a sort of meteor alight three blocks off. The combination jumped over a wagon, lit on a convenient wheelbarrow, and after a few startling gyrations stood on their respective heads in a pile of refuse from Clappitt's stables. As C. C. cleared his eyes and mouth of trash, he ventured the assertion that with a little training Hamburg had a race horse."

Impromptu
That was the impromptu rodeo performance of "the old days." The boys then, as now, got a tremendous kick out of such things. And that is why we can revive frontier days and have a lot of fun in the doing of it. There were good riders and bad riders in the old days, with horses following the same

Car Taken From Youths by Robber

Three local youths, Johnnie Wall, Darrell Dean, and Ben Wilson, reported to city police last night that they were held up and robbed of a 1930 Ford Tudor sedan, 70 cents in change and two packages of cigarettes in the city about 11 o'clock last night. The car was owned by Jim Wall, the boys said. They reported a man brandishing a revolver "that looked like a 44" and wearing a handkerchief over his face held them up at the point of the gun about four blocks from the business district on North Frost. One of the boys said he removed his rings and put them behind the seat, thinking the man wanted only valuables. The robber was about 60 years old, about 6 feet tall, wore a blue jumper and overalls, gray hat, the boys said. County officers and day policemen were not investigating the case today. Chief Downs said the night police force had charge of the investigation.

WATCHING PRICES

Visitors arriving here warn that more celebrations are ruined by price-hikes than any other factor. They point to Cheyenne, Wyo., and other frontier celebrations which have been discredited because merchants have raised prices during the days of the events. Local merchants are urged to imitate upon visitors that that there will be no advance in prices of rooms, food, and other necessities during Pampa Frontier Days. Visitors will be expected to return next year because of good treatment this year.

The program will open Thursday at 10 a. m. with a mile-long parade of oldtimers, cowboys, cowgirls, oxen, floats, prairie schooners, buckboards will get under way. This colorful procession will be repeated Saturday with the added interest of contrasts of the old vehicles with modern modes of transportation. On Friday at noon, a barbecue, with trimmings, will be held for 15,000 persons. Mel B. Davis is in charge of this event by appointment of Lon L. Blansett, general chairman of Frontier Days for the Junior chamber of commerce, which sponsored the event and is directing it with the assistance of the Board of City Development. Practically every member of the Junior chamber will have a task assigned him during the three days. Cowboys serenaders have advertised the event in nearly all towns of the Panhandle. The throngs will include visitors from California, Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico, and Texas.

You Can't Marry

by Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: "You can't take my job away from me, it's kept you from sleeping," George Townsend says to her cousin Jenny. She has succeeded in saying she—and not George—married to Eddie Townsend, so George can hold her job. But she is engaged to Eddie, standing between Jenny and Garth Avenue.

Chapter 33. BLAZING LUNACY

JENNY tried to explain Graton Matching's friendliness to George when she had carried in the chocolate and was perched on George's bed, drinking it.

"So I think I had better go and see him every day until he says he is tired of me, don't you?" she concluded.

George had collapsed into her pillows in amazed merriment.

"I suppose so, but really, it's not much good asking me—you seem to know exactly how to manage him; if I can't help to improve your technique!"

Jenny stirred her chocolate, stilling a sigh. George was not being catty, she was genuinely of the opinion that Jenny was maneuvering herself into a millionaire's favor so that she might get some benefit or other.

"He may leave you every last cent he owns, Jenny-wren," George was babbling. "When he does, don't forget old friends, will you?" "It's not remotely likely that he will leave me anything," Jenny masked her distaste. "He has his nephew. You say yourself Mr. Aveney is taking over the high command."

George's eyes were full of amber gleams under the soft lights. While her cousin had been in the kitchen, she had undressed and put on pajamas of coral satin. She sat hugging her knees, her bare feet pushed under the eiderdown, her silken pillows heaped up behind her. All around her, her room spilled its luxuries. Jenny's gaze travelled from one colorful heap of clothes to another, from dressing table to wardrobe.

"There wouldn't be room for my little camp-bed here now," she said involuntarily.

"You're more comfortable in—in the other room, the new room, surely?" defended George.

"Oh, yes, I'm very comfortable. It has turned into a pretty room, hasn't it?—I made the curtains and put them up; I suppose you saw. At least, I cut them into the proper lengths and Eddie sewed them on the machine. It amused him a lot. He's very domestic, isn't he?"

George tossed her head back, and the bright, short locks that had screened her eyes, fell away. It was as though she said—"Oh, let's get it into words, all this that hasn't yet been spoken!" She stared straight in front of her.

"Eddie and I have separated for a year, Jen. We're pretending that everything went according to our original plan and that he is off to Mexico for a year leaving our marriage secret and me at Matching's. The only difference is that—that instead of our week's honeymoon here, we are to have none at all."

"Oh, George! But—" "He doesn't want one."

Jenny was silent.

"No, I'll be honest," George frowned, still staring ahead. He doesn't want our honeymoon to be furtive and short. . . . A part of me agrees with him, the part that's proud to be his wife, the part that puts him before my job."

"The best part of you."

The coral satin shoulders shrugged. "Best or worst—I don't know! Anyway, another part of me, which may equally be best or worst, says that it would be sheer blazing lunacy to throw up five thousand a year and go traipsing off to the outermost suburban darkness and live on bread and—"

"And kisses."

"You're sentimental, honey. You always were. So is Eddie. It's you he ought to have fallen in love with, not me." She leaned a little towards Jenny. "I swear I won't let myself be jealous of you, lambie, but you must see that it will be a heroic feat. You're so absolutely his type. His last words were that he would keep in touch with you, let you know where he is to be found throughout the year. In case, I suppose, I change my mind." Her laughter was very near tears.

"I rather hope that he will stay with Mrs. Bigger," said Jenny quietly. "She's definitely good for him; doesn't get on his nerves. As for me, I don't fancy he wants to see me again. He only likes me because I believed I could cure him and make him the Eddie you knew and loved. If you don't need that Eddie back again, he won't hurry about getting well."

George pulled aimlessly at her siderdown. There was nervousness in the movement.

"If I'd had the nest-egg in the bank that most people think I have—instead of an overdraft and a drawerful of bills—I would have gone off with him this evening," she whispered. "I wouldn't have asked where he was taking me. A room at Mrs. Bigger's would have been better than a suite at the Ritz, with him. But I'd no choice, honestly, and I must save. If I work harder and don't play at all, I can do it in the year. I do it. . . . Don't you believe that if I hadn't been such a fool with my money I would have thrown up the job and gone with Ed?"

"No," said Jenny gently. "I think that there would still have been something in you that would have tried to get both independence and marriage as well. You're generous, dearest, but you're greedy, too."

"You wait—" cried George, clutching her as she slipped off the bed. "You wait until you are in love yourself and find that your man only wants you on his terms—"

There was no sound from Jenny, she stood quite still, smiling even; but George was suddenly confused.

"Jenny?"

"Well?"

"Are you—in love? With—with anybody?"

"No."

Jenny, still standing indifferently by the gleaming bed, still smiling, said it again.

"No."

"You're very vehement about it."

"There's no other way of convincing you, George."

"How do you mean—oh, I see! But I wasn't getting at you and Eddie," explained George, with the large simplicity that is sometimes better than oceans of tact. "I got the idea, for one wild moment, that you were interested in Garth Aveney."

"I think we had better both turn in. You're getting imaginative," Jenny's smile felt nailed to her face. Oh, to be alone!

"Yes, I must sleep. I have a heavy date tomorrow. Sorry I was such a fool about Aveney. Only—"

She stopped pummeling her pillows and turned inquisitive, amber eyes upon Jenny and her smile. "Why did you ask me if you could give me and Eddie away to him? It was such an amazing suggestion, especially now he's boss, that I naturally wondered—"

Jenny smiled steadily down at the tray she carried.

"I didn't realize this evening that he had been told I was 'Mrs. Townsend.' And I forgot I was supposed to be, and I had myself announced as 'Miss Revell.' And—"

"Oh, that's all?" George slumped cosily back and yawned. "Oh, well, that's nothing to worry about—heaps of married women use their maiden names. And Aveney would probably only think that you were so newly-married that you were shy."

"Also I was under the impression," Jenny ploughed on, "that you had told him about yourself and Eddie. I thought you told him that first night when we met him, with Ryder Vale."

"My dear kid, I don't confide my love-affairs to perfect strangers!" George's yawns were getting franker and franker. "It's unwise—and in this case, it would have been suicidal. Imagine the situation when I discovered, as I should have by the end of the evening, that this perfect stranger was the Old Man's nephew—who I know was to take over from the Old Man in the near future! No, no, little George may be all kinds of a fool, but she isn't that kind yet!"

She snuggled down under the covers, stretching her long limbs, one hand under her cheek. Jenny rubbed her smile away—no need to keep it there, aching, now that George was so nearly asleep. The big question could be asked with a pretense of indifference in one's voice only. She turned the words over in her mind. Supposing she said quite simply "Garth Aveney wanted you to marry him, didn't he?" Or would that appear prying—?

"She had opened her mouth to ask it when George's drowsy murmur took shape.

"Good thing you haven't fallen for Aveney—his marrying Brigitta Deering, the actress, as soon as she's free. I forget who her last husband was, but she has just divorced him. . . . Turn the light out at the door, honey, as you go."

(Copyright, Julia Cleft-Addams)

Jenny learns the secret of Aveney's testing George's loyalty to her employer, tomorrow, and realizes she may have misunderstood his attitude.

MAGNOLIA AND PHILLIPS WILL TANGLE HERE TOMORROW

TEAMS HAVE HAD CLOSELY FOUGHT TILTS

KIWANIS CLUB TO GET PROCEEDS FOR WORK

Pampa's first annual Frontier Days celebration would not be complete without a baseball game, so one will be played at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon on the Magnolia diamond on East Foster avenue. The Magnolia "Mags" will meet the Phillips "66" team which will be strengthened by Colton and LeFors players.

The two teams have met twice this season and the "Mags" have won both games by one-run margins. Last Sunday the two teams met in LeFors with the Pampa nine winning 2 to 1. Cason, Magnolia hurler, allowed the Phillips nine only two hits. Cason will be sent to the box Thursday in an attempt to beat the Phillips boys again.

Freshour, former Dallas Indian, will probably be Manager Ed Pulliam's choice of hurlers. The dusky lefthander opposed Cason in LeFors Sunday and is anxious to get another chance at the youngsters.

Some of the wise boys believe Pulliam will start Clenton, 17-year-old boy, against the Magnolias.

The game will start after the first rodeo performance and will end in plenty of time for the evening performance. The diamond is in excellent condition and the game should be one of the best of the season.

Proceeds will go to the Kiwanis club fund for underprivileged children.

Young Women Loom in Tourney

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 25 (AP)—Youngsters took the spotlight today in second round matches of the women's trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Miss Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, Iowa state champion, and Miss Annela Gorczyca of Fort Worth were paired in a match which sends together two of the sensations of the sixth annual tournament. The two 20-year-olds breezed through yesterday's matches near the par figure of 80, defeating respectively Mrs. Jack Summers of Muskogee and Mrs. H. H. Silverford of Kansas City.

The third youngster, Miss Mary Elizabeth Ford of Kansas City, drew for her match today one of the hardest tournament players present—Mrs. F. E. Pharr of Texas.

The 18-year-old Missouri girl was forced to extend herself to win yesterday, 2 and 1, from Mrs. Scott Hill of Waco. Mrs. Pharr, whose game varies only slightly from the 85 mark, had a hard time eliminating the East Texas champion, Mrs. Jake Hamon of Longview, 2 up.

The tournament medalist, Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh of Vicksburg, whose two rounds of sub-par golf have made her the favorite, was paired with Miss Hilda Urbanke, Austin, Tex., who won from Mrs. Elford Beck of Tulsa.

NEWS Team To Meet Phillips In Another Game

The Pampa NEWS playground ball club has been trying to disband for some time, but has not had any luck as the persistent Phillips Bowers plant team is anxious to get a winner over the type slingers. The Phillips nine has lost two games by one-run margins and wants a third game, so THE NEWS and Phillips will meet at 5:30 o'clock Monday night on the Sam Houston diamond.

The Phillips nine is one of the snappiest aggregations in this section, and the team that beats them is usually lucky. The NEWS had to come from behind to win both games. Phillips has three reliable pitchers and an outfield that rivals that of the Faculty. The infield also doesn't need to take a back seat on any outfit.

The NEWS nine will be strengthened for the game Monday afternoon.

Nowlin Golfs Way Into Lead At Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark., May 25. (AP)—Gold under pressure, with husky Louis Nowlin of Dallas playing, to retain his two-stroke lead, permuted the final qualifying round of the Texas Golf association's state championship here today.

Seventy-eight players, 22 of whom shot under 80 yesterday, started their final 18-hole treks today to determine the 32 qualifiers for the championship flight with match competition starting tomorrow.

It was the opinion that either a 166 or 167 would make the championship flight.

Two strokes in front at the start of the final 18 holes today was Nowlin whose 36-33-69 yesterday established a course record after Gus Moreland's 70 had set a new mark Monday. Nowlin's spunked tremendous tee shots, sent flying approached to the huge greens and rammed down accurate putts for six birdies, one eagle and seven pars.

He played a stout fighting game because old man fogging tried to get him at the 8th where he had a bad six and again at the 16th where another six was marked on his card, but he kept going and beat par four strokes.

William Clark was second low yesterday with a 36-35-71. Clark is playing over his home course and, because of it, is one of the favorites to win if Gus Moreland, the defending champion from Dallas, is to be dethroned.

Moreland got away badly on the front nine yesterday with a 38, two over par, but he hit them long and true for a 35 on the back nine, two under par, to finish with par 73. He was tied for third low by Tommy Cochran of Tyler, former state champion, who shot a 35-38-73.

Byron Nelson of Fort Worth, ace, toured the front nine in 34, but the elongated pines grabbed his shots on the back nine and he took a 40 for a 74. Gaston Peck of Houston and Reynolds Smith of Dallas, were tied with Nelson for fourth.

Yesterday's scores ranged from Nowlin's 69 to Hays McClellan's 81-83-104.

Youngsters took the spotlight today in second round matches of the women's trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Miss Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, Iowa state champion, and Miss Annela Gorczyca of Fort Worth were paired in a match which sends together two of the sensations of the sixth annual tournament. Sweeney Boys And Dave Martin Still In Meet MURFIELD, Scotland, May 25. (AP)—On Dave Martin of Culver City, Calif., and the two Sweeney boys, Robert and Charles, resided the burden of American hopes of victory in the British amateur golf championship today. Eight other Americans had been eliminated.

Martin, amateur champion of California, sank a 21-footer on the home green to win his first round match from L. G. Crawley, English champion of 1931, yesterday. Charles Sweeney, captain of the Oxford team, likewise won his first round match, defeating E. B. Tipping, 1931 Irish champion, 4 and 3.

Robert Sweeney, also on the Oxford team, was a round ahead of these two as a result of a convincing 6 and 5 victory over the international star, Roger Wethered, in the second round.

Dave Martin's opponent in the second round today was the famous British golfing writer, Bernard Darwin.

English Stars To Battle Americans

AUTEUIL, France, May 25. (AP)—The French hard court tennis championships are still in the preliminary stages but already the French foresees a final round meeting between Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, American pair, and Betty Nuthall and Eileen Bennett Wittingstall of England.

Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan have been impressive and seem to dominate their half of the draw much as do Miss Nuthall and Mrs. Bennett in theirs.

The outlook for Sidney B. Wood and Gregory S. Margin is not so favorable in men's doubles. They were hard-pressed to beat the Egyptians, Jean and Pierre Grandguillot yesterday, 8-6, 8-6, 1-6, 6-4, and more trouble looms in their next battle, either against Christian Fossum and Marcel Bernard of France or R. Miki and Jiro Satoh of Japan.

Miss Ryan and Jacques Brugnot of France seem as formidable as any in mixed doubles.

Junior Team In Search of Games

Are there any junior baseball teams in Pampa or surrounding territory? Fred Woodall of near LeFors, a visitor at THE NEWS this morning, said he had a junior team out at his place and wanted to match some games. Mr. Woodall operates a store three miles west of LeFors near the Phillips Big Gray gasoline plant. A letter to Mr. Woodall at Box 332, LeFors, will get an immediate answer.

Although his team is made up of boys between 14 and 16 years, Mr. Woodall says he will take on any team 17 years or under. There is a good diamond at the Big Gray plant where the game can be played or the team will go any place for a game.

"My boys are not world beaters but I believe they can take care of themselves," Mr. Woodall said.

SENSATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL BOY MAKES HOLE IN ONE

Grover Austin Sinks Drive On Short No. 16 While At Country Club.

The hole-in-one club in Pampa is becoming crowded. The latest entry to the honor club goes to a 17-year-old high school boy who dropped the ball in the cup on hole No. 16 at the Country club yesterday afternoon. Grover Austin, the lucky youth, used a five-iron on the 110-yard hole. The ball landed on the green and rolled into the cup.

Playing with Austin when he made his phenomenal shot were Elmer Watkins, Hershel Long, and Robert Talley. The boys were practicing to enter the junior tournament in Amarillo. Besides making the hole-in-one, Austin turned in a 38 on the first nine holes and a 35 on the second nine for two strokes over par. He made four birdies and one eagle on the 18 holes.

COUNTRY CLUB RULE ON GREEN FEES CHANGED

Congestion on the Country club golf course has made it impossible to accommodate women players free on Sundays and holidays, it was announced today.

The customary fee of 35 cents charged members on Sundays and holidays will be paid by women players on these days in the future. The women players are welcomed and urged to play free on other days.

The club will start placing of new sand on the nine old greens Monday. By the time the Panhandle Bankers association meets here June 13 and 14 the course will be in excellent playing condition on each of the 18 holes. The Country club layout is conceded to be one of the best in the Panhandle.

pitched good ball until the latter weakened in the sixth to allow one tally which proved sufficient for a victory.

In the other night game, El Dorado easily won 7 to 2, from Port Arthur. Nelson and Morrow each allowed nine hits but the latter kept those against him scattered and struck out nine batters. Glass, third baseman, scored three of El Dorado's runs, while Mitchell, first baseman, scored both of Port Arthur's tallies.

Mikenka managed to break loose from her husband after being stabbed three times. She ran to a neighbor's house. Mikenka then went to his bedroom, poured kerosene over the floor and bed and cut his throat.

Ladies Aid Was Held in Pampa Without Gossip

Without benefit of gossip, a Ladies Aid was formed in Pampa 24 years ago as the town's first organized gathering of church women. That was a fact, despite the impression gained from fiction that the Ladies Aid is an excuse for a talk fest of old maids.

The organization was composed of about 12 members, representing the Methodist, the Christian, and the Presbyterian denominations, and Bible study was the sole purpose. Because there were three denominations there was no mission study, and at that time there was practically no need in Pampa for social service.

Mrs. H. F. Barnhart is the only member of the group now living in Pampa. Mrs. Oscar Couvins, now living in Amarillo, was a member, as was Mrs. Ben Baker, now a resident of Clearenden.

Chiropractic is a Philosophy, a science and art of things natural; a system of adjustments by hand the many articulations of the human body for the elimination of the cause of disease.

Dis-ease is an effect; every effect must have a cause. The cause of disease is a lack of nerve stimulus, transmitted from the brain through the nerve system, applying its self upon the material elements of the body.

I will be glad to explain how Chiropractic is related to you, and prove by a practical demonstration the working of the science as practiced according to the latest methods.

Woman Hurt by Pop Bottle Hurlled At Wrestling Bout

TOPEKA, Kan., May 25. (P)—An excited wrestling fan hurled a pop bottle at the ring and fractured the skull of Mrs. Hall Smith, wife of a prominent Topeka attorney, last night.

Mrs. Smith, who was witnessing the bout in which referee Joe Carpenter was knocked out, was struck in the back of the head. Her condition was pronounced dangerous today.

A reward of $100 was offered for identification of the pop bottle thrower.

The referee was knocked out by an upstart swing by Doc Reynolds of Texas, who was angered by the loss of a fall to Jean Callet of France.

Reynolds was putting the referee through an airplane spin when he was tackled and pinned to the mat by Callet. Carpenter landed on Reynolds' face and gave the fall to Callet. Reynolds then uncorked his uppercut.

COYOTES AND COWBOYS CLEARLY RECALLED BY PIONEER WOMAN

Way back when—Pampa's name was Sutton—and mountain lions were not unknown to residents—and coyotes ate out of the back yards—and antelopes were plentiful—and people lived in dugouts—Mrs. E. J. Case arrived in this section.

She came by train from Garnett, Kans., in 1889. "My husband met me with a lantern," she said, "and as we walked down a cow trail I saw a light which came from a dugout in which Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lane were locked. Coyotes ate out of the back yards, and antelopes were not uncommon."

Mrs. Case can remember the first school here. It was attended by her children and taught by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Townsend. John B. Thomas was the next teacher.

The First Baby

Mrs. Casakson, Hilarand was the first baby born in Pampa. He is a Pampa resident today.

Entertainment was scarce in the early days," said Mrs. Case, but when a dance was given, people would go miles to attend. The square dance and other such steps held interest at that time, and refreshments were elaborate—usually consisting of a whole meal. Dances would last all night.

Riding Stopped Train

"Riding was the outstanding sport. Once a train stopped here and all the passengers got off and lined up to see Matthew "Bones" Hooks, Amarillo negro, ride.

"There were but few pets in town during the early days," said Mrs. Case, "but a few people had cats."

Treated Snake Bites

"Many snakes were in this part of the country, and as there were no doctors, people had to treat their own rattlesnake bites.

"One method of treating the bites was by applying mud poultices, made of clean, wet mud. Another way was to cut the wound and place it, before it had cooled, to the wound.

"One man, when bit by a rattle snake, had to ride horseback eight miles before he came to any water with which to make his poultice."

Most of the above happenings were while Pampa was known as Sutton. The name was changed because of the conflict, through the mails and otherwise, with another town named Sutton.

Made Cherokee Run

Mrs. Case made the Cherokee run and stated that it was practically the same as pictured in Cimarron, the moving picture production. She and her family obtained some of the land but did not live it out.

She likes to read of frontier life and was holding a copy of one of Zane Grey's stories when interviewed. Most of them are true to life, she said.

Knew the Cowboy

Mrs. Case was never idle. She cooked many years for cowboys, land company men, railroad men, and transients.

She knew the cowboy well, and liked him. The average cowboy was of a fine character, she said, and was a true friend.

Mrs. M. E. Pulaski of Miami shopped in the city yesterday.

Mrs. E. R. Sunkel of Kingsmill was on a shopping trip to Pampa yesterday.

Oldtime Pictures Are on Display

One guess is as good as another when it comes to the pictures on display in the window at Fatheree Drug No. 4 where Clyde Fatheree has a number of oldtime pictures belonging to T. D. Hobart and M. K. Brown. The pictures show gatherings as far back as 1894.

There is one picture of the first July 4 celebration ever held in Pampa. Another picture shows Pampa's first school and the 11 pupils and teacher. A picture showing three Gray county citizens reclining at ease with a number of "dead soldiers" on the ground is taking the eye of many and many are the guesses being made.

The old guns on display are also worth seeing. There are guns of ancient vintage and new makes.

E. L. King Specializes in Beautifying and Improving Homes and Business Houses

Awnings Make Your Store a Desirable Place To Trade

Roll-top doors have been installed in Pampa in many buildings by Mr. King. "There is a convenience and efficiency of operation about roll-top doors that you can't get any other way," says Mr. King. "We have installed many of them in Pampa and have a big list of boosters for that type of door."

Mr. King will be glad to discuss your awning problems any time. His years of experience with awnings will be valuable in helping you select those most suitable for your home or business.

E. L. King, Pampa contractor, has probably done more for the beautification and comfort of Pampa homes and business houses than another man in Pampa. Building specialties including awnings, Roll-Top Doors, metal weather strips, etc. keeps Mr. King and his employes busy practically all of the time.

He has been working for years in the improvement of homes . . . making them better and more comfortable by the installation of weather strips. The dust, which is always sifting into the homes, and the cold winds of winter find it difficult to enter houses that have been properly weather stripped.

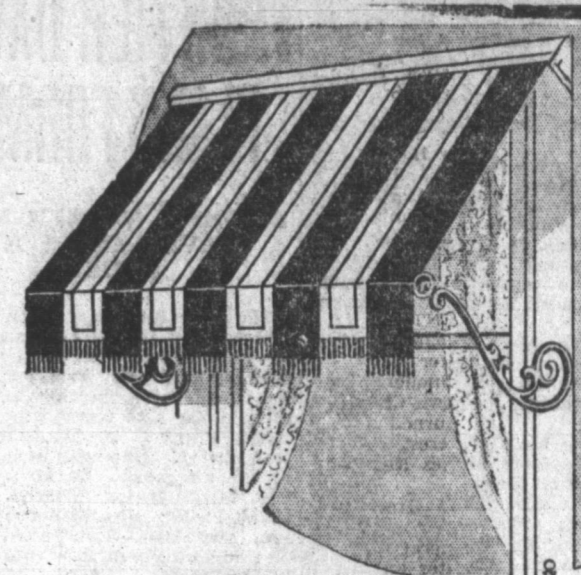

For the last three years Mr. King has been placing awnings, bright contrasting colored ones, soft blending colored ones, plain colored ones, and hundreds of styles and designs on Pampa homes and Pampa business houses.

Now is the right time to have awnings placed on your home or business building. When you start to modernize, start on the outside; is the answer of the clever decorators and wise architects everywhere. The first impressions of your home are made from the outside. Hundreds of people see your home from the outside who may never enter its doors. If your home looks neat and cheerful from the outside there is sure to be cheerfulness inside.

Business houses, which are bidding for business all the time, can improve their outward appearance often times 100 per cent by the installation of attractive awnings. People like to go in stores which have an inviting appearance from the outside. The outward appearance of a store creates an impression that is lasting and makes that impression more often than any other thing about the store.

The low cost of awnings this year is no indication of their true value. Awnings have taken a decided drop in prices along with other commodities. Only a few years ago these awnings could not have been bought wholesale for the price at which they are installed now.

Awnings this year are more beautiful than ever before. They are designed in harmony or in beautiful contrast. They are colored by the fastest and most permanent dyestuffs obtainable. They are strengthened by a firmly twisted two-thread yarn and shrunk to fit. They are woven alike on both sides, thus accomplishing a colorful effect which is equally attractive inside and out.

Awnings Make Your Home More Attractive

MARLAND, HEADING NEW FIRM, SEES SHORTAGE OF OIL SOON

PONCA CITY, Okla., May 25 (AP)—The opinion that the supply of oil which can be produced in the next five years from fields now known and developed in the United States "will equal the demand during the period" was expressed today by E. W. Marland, who has organized a new oil company.

"Never in the past fifteen years have there been so many bargains in oil properties," the one-time powerful figure in the industry said in a statement pertaining to the set-up of his new organization through which he hopes to recoup his lost fortunes.

Marland revealed that the organization meeting of his concern was held yesterday. He is president; J. S. Alcorn, vice-president and director; H. L. McCracken, secretary-treasurer; and A. W. McCoy, I. G. Harman and G. R. Harman and G. R. Marland, directors.

The new company will operate in Kansas, Texas, and Oklahoma and plans to acquire interests "with other companies in the producing business where we are familiar with their properties and management."

Marland declared his company planned to obtain the consent of the various state commissions to go to the public for the capital needed, and had selected the mid-west firm, Skiles and Nixon of Wichita, Kan., to distribute Marland stock "for the reason I financed the old Marland company through New York investment bankers and found that they invariably insisted on injecting themselves into the board of directors and operating management."

Lightning Kills Farmer in House

SAN ANGELO, May 25 (AP)—J. C. Boatright, farmer north of Miles, was knocked from his house into the yard by a bolt of lightning that struck about 11:30 o'clock last night. Because streams were up, it was 4 o'clock this morning before he was brought to San Angelo for medical attention. He suffered cuts and bruises on the face and arms, and his arms were burned. He will recover. Apparently the bolt spun him through the door of the house which was considerably damaged.

MITCHELL—

send himself when he learned that his attorney in Amarillo had suffered a sprained hip in an accident. Mitchell addressed the jury twice, both speeches requiring about an hour for delivery. He did not take the witness stand in his own behalf. His wife, Mrs. Marie Mitchell, was the chief defense witness. She declared that the canned goods, clothing and other merchandise seized at the Mitchell home when she and her husband were arrested belonged to them. She said she canned the fruit and meats last summer.

Asks Many Questions

In his questions and arguments, Mitchell frequently mentioned W. O. Speegle, also under indictment for daylight burglary, who, the defendant said, lived with him. "Speegle brought clothing and other things to my house but if he stole them I did not know it," Mitchell asserted. The defendant strenuously cross-examined state witnesses. Sheriff Lon L. Blansett and Stanley Kretzmeier were chief witnesses for the state. District Attorney Raymond Alford who was called to Amarillo yesterday morning to testify in the liquor conspiracy trial, returned at noon and assumed charge of the questioning.

Over frequent objections of the defendant, the state in the afternoon introduced evidence intended to prove that merchandise stolen from the homes of Willard McAdams and Roy Ritter in the Grandview community was found at Mitchell's residence the night he was arrested. Mitchell contended that he was on trial for burglary; Kretzmeier's house and not McAdams' and Ritter's.

Other Charges

Mr. Alford said this morning the two other cases against Mitchell could not be tried this term of court, but would likely be transferred to 114th district court and be brought to trial during the current session. Speegle is in jail at Clararendon. Mitchell is charged with daylight burglary in Carson county, and his case is due to be called for trial at Panhandle during the next term of district court there.

About $5,000 worth of merchandise which Mitchell is charged with taking from Gray and Carson county homes was taken into custody at the defendant's house by Sheriff J. W. McCormick of Panhandle and Sheriff Blansett.

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP)—Lower prices on grains early today accompanied further moisture in domestic winter wheat territory. Tending to rally the wheat market, however, was word that France had increased her import quota and that shipments this week from Argentina had been curtailed sharply. Opening 1/4-1/2 down, wheat afterward recovered somewhat. Corn started unchanged to 1/4 off and subsequently held near the initial limits.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 25 (AP)—The cotton market today had an easier opening. Cables were considerably lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 2 points which was not a full response to the weakness of cables. The market continued to ease off after the start on moderate selling by recent buyers and in sympathy with an easier opening of the stock market. July dropped to 5.63 and October to 5.82, or 6 to 7 points below yesterday's close.

Toward the end of the first hour the market was a shade steadier and recovered two points from the lows.

It doesn't matter where you buy your Chesterfields—at your corner drug store or in Honolulu—you can depend on getting the same good cigarette all the time.

Wrapped in Du Pont Number 300 moisture-proof Cellophane—the best made—Chesterfields are always just right for smoking wherever you buy them.

Chesterfields are as pure as the water you drink . . . and just as fresh as when they left the machines that made them . . . You can depend on a Liggett & Myers product.
