Vice-President's Nomination and Prohibition Are Worrying Hoover

PRESIDENT TO USE STRENGTH FOR HARMONY

BROWN RECEIVES BLOW

'REGULARITY' WILL BE HARD FACTOR TO ASSURE

CHICAGO, June 11. (P)—The republicans are converging on Chicago for a national convention which will be draped heavily in the outward regalia of party regularity, but prey to an inward stirring of strange uncertainties.

The renomination of President Hoover is accepted everywhere as a foregone conclusion. That of Vice-President Curtis is not, although it still appears most probable. On that most-discussed platform issue, prohibition, there is a bewilderment and fidgety sensitiveness, with opinion veering toward a simply-worded plank, resubmitting the question, without recommendation, to the voters.

Hoover Men Wary

Talk of a possible stampede away from administration distresses the vice-presidency or on prohibition went swiftly tonight along the still sparsely populated hotel row on Michigan boulevard, center of the real maneuvering of many a past convention. Most of the Hoover leaders appeared entirely confident nothing would come of it, but they were at work earnestly to stamp out the flying sparks.

The convention that opens Tuesday...

Death by gunshot wounds at his own hand brought an untimely end Saturday to the career of Holman Kennedy, above, 37-year-old Clarendon bank cashier and president of the Panhandle Bankers association.

BANK CASHIER KILLS HIMSELF AT CLARENDON

Holman Kennedy Is In Suicide On Saturday

CLARENDON, June 11. (SP)—Holman Kennedy, 37, cashier of the Donley County State bank here and president of the Panhandle Bankers' association, died today of a self-inflicted gun wound.

Kennedy early this afternoon sauntered into the Buntin funeral parlor here, greeted and attendant with "Hello, Thomas, how are you?" whipped out an automatic and sent a bullet through his brain.

There is no known reason for the act, friends and relatives said.

In a letter to his wife, the bank cashier named the pall bearers for his funeral, which will be held Sunday at his home at 4 p. m.

Mr. Kennedy was popular in banking circles throughout West Texas. He had been cashier of the Donley County State bank since early in 1924.

Besides his widow, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kennedy, longtime residents of Clarendon, and a daughter, Jo Ellen, survive him.

The banker inflicted the wound about 12:55 p. m. and died at 2:10 p. m. without regaining consciousness. The wound was behind the right ear. He had been noticeably worried for several days, and had been out of town for a short time before returning today. He walked to the funeral home after leaving his car at a garage to be washed.

In a note to his wife, he asked a quick funeral and named the following pallbearers: Sam Dyer, Forest Taylor, Clyde J. Douglas, C. C. Powell, H. B. Kerbow, Meredith Gentry.

Fort Worth & Denver Northern Suspends Rail Laying Because of Rain.

Delayed a day by Friday night's half-inch rain, which left the roadbed soft, the rail-laying crew on the new Fort Worth & Denver Northern line from Childress will complete its last couple of miles Monday—unless another rain falls.

When rail-laying is resumed, the steel will be placed all the way to the station site, with the false-work on the underpass being used temporarily. The crew crossed the LeFors concrete paving late Thursday, proceeded about a quarter of a mile before nightfall.

It will be June 20 before ballasting is completed and the new rail line in readiness for traffic, it was said yesterday at the main offices of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, which will lease and operate the railway.

Construction of the 110-mile line from Childress to Pampa has been achieved in record time. Work began early this year. The line holds the distinction of being the only rail project under construction in the United States at present, railroad men declared. Approximate cost is $4,000,000.

A special train of railroad officials will be the first to go over the new rails.

The train, setting out from Fort Worth, will include in the passenger list Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington system lines; E. P. Bracken, executive vice-president of the Burlington system lines; Bruce Scott, vice-president and general counsel for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and for the Colorado and Southern railways, and A. W. Newton, chief engineer, C. B. & Q. all of Chicago.

Two officials from Denver will be on the special train. They are Robert Rice, vice-president and general manager of the Colorado Southern, and R. C. Gowdy, chief engineer.

It is likely that the entire general staff of the Fort Worth and Denver will join the party, including John A. Hulien, vice-president; J. D. Farrington, general manager; J. H. Barwise, general counsel; H. H. Durston, executive general agent, and L. M. Hogsett, general freight agent.

'I NOMINATE'

He will be the words of Joseph C. Sterling, (above) of California at the republican national convention when he places the name of Herbert C. Hoover before the delegates. He says his nomination address will be just a plain common sense address.

STERLING OUT ON RECORD OF HIS SERVICES

Governor Is Proud Of Financing Of State

WACO, June 11. (P)—Governor R. S. Sterling, opening his campaign for reelection here tonight, promised that if he is returned to the chief executive's office he will give a continuation of what he termed "honest government, responsible government, and businesslike government" to the state.

His address was devoted wholly to a review of accomplishments of his administration.

"The governor's office is the biggest business job in this state or any other state," Governor Sterling said. "I have treated it as a huge business task and conducted its affairs in a businesslike manner."

He said the platform of his candidacy "is the record of accomplishments and conduct of my administration."

After a record of "two years ago I told the people of Texas that if elected governor I would manage the state's business on a businesslike basis," he said. "The indelible record bears witness that this has been done."

Phase of the government over which the chief executive has a controlling influence.

Discussing state finances, he said his administration faced a deficit of approximately $4,500,000 at the outset. He said appropriation bills passed in 1931 to finance the state government for the ensuing two years, together with the prospect of shrinking tax collections, raised the estimate of the deficit to $11,300,000 by the close of the biennium August 31, 1932.

"By executive veto of $3,621,897 of these appropriations and other economies, supplemented by the imposition of taxes on cement, cigarettes sulphur, and natural gas, each of which helped hold down taxes on real property, the deficit was reduced to a negligible sum and soon will be wiped out," Governor Sterling said.

He said he favored the submission to the people of the proposed constitutional amendment to exempt all homesteads to the extent of $3,000 assessed valuation from all state taxes.

"Forward Step"

"I shall always be proud that under my administration, this onward step was taken in lightening the tax burdens on Texas homes," the Governor said.

He recounted work of the special senate committee that investigated alleged abuses of the fee system of remunerating county officers; and results of the inquiry. He said "the

TIRE THIEVES ARE BUSY ON FRIDAY NIGHT

A gang of tire thieves that operated in Pampa Friday night stole a half-dozen tires and made unsuccessful attempts to take others at several residences in the city.

The thieves used tools in Mrs. Pearl Fish's car to remove two Riverside tires with tubes and rims from her Dodge sedan. J. O. Phelps offered a $5 reward for the recovery of two Goodyear tires, tubes and rims stolen from his 1926 Model Buick at 436 North Russell. Mr. Phelps recently moved here.

Mrs. Claud Campbell reported the loss of a Ford wheel, tire and tube. It was stolen at 428 North Russell. John B. Hessey, county superintendent, lost a Firestone tire, tube, and rim that was taken from his car parked on the drive-way of his home on Mary Ellen.

Car Is Halted

Several residents reported that the thieves drove up to their house and stopped. J. H. Blythe, city tax collector and assessor, said that he heard a car stop near his house on North Cuyler. He said the machine squeaked loudly when it stopped. Yesterday morning, Mr. Blythe found a light bulb at the entrance of his garage about 40 feet away. The thieves apparently intended to steal the tires, and removed the light bulb in case some members of the family had appeared. They failed to find anything they could take and left. Reports of other residents whose places were visited by the thieves were similar to Mr. Blythe's.

TO BE HOSTS

B. E. Finley, above, president of the Pampa First National Bank, and DeLea Vickers, vice-president, will greet bankers of the Panhandle as they arrive for the annual convention opening Monday.

HAUSNER AND PLANE FOUND ADRIFT IN SEA

CRAFT LEFT AFLOAT AND IN SOUND CONDITION

IS WEST OF PORTUGAL

FLIER HAD BEEN LOST AND HOPE SENT VERY LOW

NEW YORK, June 11. (AP)—An aviator, believed to be Stanislaus Felix Hausner, was picked up from the derelict monoplane in which Hausner attempted a non-stop flight to Europe, the Radio Marine corporation learned tonight in a message relayed from the steamship Circé Shell by the liner Leviathan.

The message, intercepted by the corporation's Chatham, Mass., station said:

"Airman rescued from derelict red Bellanca monoplane 7085. Monoplane left tall up in 42:41:18 north, 20:04 west drifting southeast about one knot.

"Airman asks any passing vessel endeavor salvage airplane, apparently in good condition."

The number of Hausner's monoplane, a Bellanca, was 7085. It was a flaming red machine.

The position given in the message which was intercepted by the Leviathan is about 500 miles due west of Topolobampo, the Circle Shell, a British tanker, is on its way to Curacao, Dutch West Indies, having sailed recently from Hamburg, shipping records here showed.

Hausner, a 31-year-old amateur pilot of 10 years' experience, left Floyd Bennett field here at 7:46 a. m. central standard time, June 3.

He skillfully lifted the plane, the reconditioned "Santa Maria Rosa," from the 3,500 foot concrete runway and headed seaward with the announced intention of flying to saw, Poland, on a good will flight. He carried enough gasoline for about 52 hours of flight but said, if necessary, he would land in London or in Paris.

Shamrock Man Enters Campaign For Legislature

To the voters of legislative district 122—

There are three kinds of productive activity in this legislative district that yield the wealth that nature has stored in the earth—farming, stockraising and oil production. If these three flourish, the grocer, the dry goods man, the baker, the banker, the mechanic, and all other businesses, including also the railroad, will prosper in the same pace.

That's almost too simple a truth to state to thinking people and pay the printer for.

But it seems that it needs to be told. We commonly do too much damage by overlooking the obvious things.

Nature has a terrific whiphand in her possession over against these

Fred Thompson Is Hurt in Accident

Fred Thompson of the Thompson Hardware company suffered painful bruises on the face and head Thursday night near Hedley when the automobile in which he and Jimmie Weir were riding collided with another machine. Both vehicles were damaged. Mr. Weir was not injured. Occupants of the other car were slightly injured.

Mr. Thompson was en route to visit relatives at Nogdoches for several days. Mr. Weir was to accompany him home. Despite the bruises, Mr. Thompson was able to be up yesterday.

Wichita Falls Candidate Will Be Heard Today

B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls, candidate for congressman-at-large in place 2, who addressed an audience at the east entrance to the city hall last night, will teach the class at the La Nona theater this morning and will appear during the same hour before the men's Bible class at the First Christian church. The public is invited to hear him at either place.

In his address last night, Mr. Sartin advocated lower taxes, lower living expenses, full payment of soldier's compensation certificates by issuing new currency certificates direct to soldiers, taking control of federal reserve system from "Wall street banker domination," tariff protection of farmer and independent oil operator, "bread, not booze for returning prosperity," strong anti-trust laws to curb mergers and monopolies, no more Mexican and foreign immigration to the U. S. for a 10-year period.

Mr. Sartin declared that he opposed independent mergers and combines, repeal of the 18th amendment, and cancellation of European war loans.

Mr. Sartin was born on a farm in Kentucky and worked his way through college. He was county judge two terms. He is a thirty-second degree Mason, a Legionnaire member of the Forty and Eight.

LOSSES ARE MOUNTING

Prowlers Are Active At Many Homes Here

City police were investigating yesterday. No arrests had been made. Chief J. I. Downs said plans were under way to afford residents more thorough police protection. Since the police force was decreased, city officers have centered their activities on eliminating thefts, burglaries, and robberies in the business district, and few have been reported in the last six months. Chief Downs said that the size of the

Mistaken Identity And Alibi Are Shown

ALPINE, N. J., June 11. (AP)—The fabric of an outwardly promising inquiry fashioned from the suicide of a Morrow servant girl appeared to be crumbling tonight in the hands of the Lindbergh murder investigators.

Information supplied by a loyal friend, the Morrow butler, discredited any link between Miss Violet Sharpe, the waitress who drank a deadly poison, and Ernest Brinkner, an ex-convict, on the night of March 1 when the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped.

Further, police found an Ernest Miller and Miss Catherine Miners who identified themselves as Miss Sharpe's companions on an automobile ride that night. Their joint statements, coupled with an alibi from Brinkner, tended to clear both him and Miss Sharpe of any suspicion whatsoever.

"A chap named Miller," said Inspector Harry Walsh of the police, "22 years old of Closter, N. J., has told us that he was the Ernie who went riding with Miss Sharpe the night of March 1. He remembers the ride very well and everything that happened on it and says he cannot understand why she kept it a secret from us."

I HEARD--

That J. B. Barrett, farmer in the Pampa community, got himself into a lot of trouble last week while overhauling his combine. Mr. Barrett, although having worked on combines for about 20 years, got the cycle of the combine in "backside-forwards" and you can guess the result. "Yep, he sure tore the machine apart."

That several Pampa wives have been calling George Limerick, manager of the La Nona and Rex theater to find out who "Helen" is and what she meant writing cards to their husbands. George started to play innocent but got one old boy in trouble because he used to live where the cards were mailed from. The cards are advertising a movie.

HOPKINS WON'T RUN

AUSTIN, June 11. (AP)—W. K. Hopkins, 33-year-old Texas state senator of Gonzales, today requested the democratic executive committee not to consider him as a candidate for his party's nomination for governor.

'BETTER CITIZENSHIP ARMY' IS BEING MOBILIZED HERE TO RAISE FUNDS FOR BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scout program must be maintained and will be carried on by the people of Pampa, according to A. A. Hyde, area leader and council president, and C. H. Walker, general in charge of the Better Citizenship Army, an organization being mobilized to raise the funds to carry on the new year's program in addition of paying for the expenses of operation the last few months, when no funds were in hand and the work had to be continued.

NOTICE—It is not the intention of this newspaper to cast reflection upon the character of anyone knowingly and if through error it should, the management will appreciate having attention called to same, and will gladly and fully correct any erroneous statement made.

WITH WHEAT HARVEST NEAR, we call attention again to our annual custom of making a picture of the first load of wheat to arrive in Pampa. Local dealers are asked to call the Pampa when the first load arrives.
Appearances are that load
No. 1 may arrive earlier than usual this year, although continued rains might delay cutting.

Downstate wheat has been cut and shocked, the combine not having gained great favor where the fields are small.
One hundred and fifty miles south, the grain is golden and dry and is ready to cut. Nearer home, the grain is rapidly turning but there is a distinct greenish tinge.
Wheat is still king of the crops on these north plains, though the price is, with surpluses in sight despite the drought in some states, still very unsatisfactory. The federal farm board, condemned and defended bitterly, claims credit for having helped the wheat growers one year but certainly there can be no credit for anyone under present conditions. The cost of government interference is, in the absence of any legislation going to the heart of abuses in marketing, lamentably expensive. Setting up competition to private traders is not an efficient way of curing market malpractices.

News for Burglars

Drastic economy often furnishes good news for prowlers who welcome police department personnel slashes. The news soon circulates when a city is inadequately policed. It is becoming obvious that night prowlers have picked Pampa for a series of depredations. Thieving, most of it minor, is becoming a nightly occurrence. Little thefts soon become bigger ones if not curbed.

Pampa's police department has been reduced in the interest of economy and the reduction was in harmony with a general public demand. It was another "noble experiment" and we are not criticizing the city for trying it. We do make the observation, however, that it is time to give the burglars a little news of a less hospitable nature. The "force" must be increased until it can stop the night raids, even though gradual reduction of the personnel may be possible when the situation is in hand.

Policing is a costly proposition. Most cities average one or more officers per thousand population. Catching burglars is not an activity which tends to pay for the cost of policing through fines. Protection of life and property is a fundamental duty of government. We trust the city commission will provide this protection, and that the citizens will regard the step as a necessity, not an extravagance.
And the citizens, moreover, can cooperate by making successful burglaries more difficult. The alternative is for drastic economy lovers to sit up nights with their shotguns.

Unhappy Politics

Unhappy, indeed, are the politicians who aspire to attract the favor of voters in this vast state. The lengthy ballot for congressman-at-large positions has complicated matters tremendously for all but the best known candidates.
And there are other candidates who have real problems.
Judge A. B. Martin of Plainview and Amarillo, candidate to succeed himself in his appointive post of associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo, remarked that he had about 46 counties and 120,000 persons to contact in some manner before the primary. That is no small task for even a man of his admitted ability, and he is conscientious enough to desire to give most of his time to his work, not his campaign. Other candidates are similarly embarrassed.

Commissioner Terrell of the railroad commission is fortunate in having a name which is so well and favorably known in Texas politics that it is said to be worth 100,000 votes. That is a handicap for Lee Satterwhite, despite the latter's once quite liberal and still substantial fame in this state.

Colorado-Gulf Road Builder

Heard: A lot of fellows talking about the road-building ability of one C. H. Walker of Pampa. The local man has not been particularly well known for it since moving here, there being no need, but the fact is that he was once president of the Colorado-to-Gulf Highway association and is popular over the whole route. The long concrete ribbon which makes up much of the highway is a monument to road-building efforts in the counties along that route.

On Majority Rule

Majority rule is not always palatable, however necessary.
Suppose the majority of voters should wish to abolish the Eighteenth amendment—it follows that the constitution is as flexible as the mass will of the electorate. Those of us who have always advocated temperance cannot overlook the fact that prohibition, once accomplished, is not "locked up" in the constitution forever. Although amending the constitution is very, very difficult and repeat even more so, it cannot be assumed that the majority will always be of the same mind. The point to which we are writing is that temperance is what is most desired under present conditions. Compulsion has not been satisfactory and will never be without general temperance. The most lamentable thing about prohibition has not been the rise of bootlegging, for that was expected: it is the dropping of temperance campaigns and concentrating of all attention on "You must!"

Drunkenness has declined in this section and many others, but respect for a prohibition law that does not prohibit has lessened respect for other laws. Abandonment of crusades for personal temperance and self-denial has been replaced with tirades against peddlers of booze.
Selling, not drinking, has received all the abuse and condemnation. There is the same possibility for temperance today that there was in saloon days.

Temperance is still a national goal. Drinking is more dangerous than ever before because of faster travel.
Prohibition without general temperance will continue to prove unsatisfactory. The new generation of voters knows of the evils of the saloon only by reading and hear-say.
Do not forget that prohibition was to have been the way toward national temperance. Temperance is the goal, prohibition an experiment in methods to attain that goal. Those who assumed that prohibition laws alone would solve the temperance problem were and are sorely mistaken. Moreover, it is necessary though regrettable to have to concede that many persons who desire temperance are doubtful of the ability to compel it by law.

Budgeting is Taught

Budget-making institutes will be held under auspices of the West Texas chamber of commerce in Lubbock June 24 and Breckenridge June 27. During budgets is the new science of the new economy in public administration. President Wilbur C. Hawk has struck a popular chord in placing emphasis upon the subject and in providing a means of learning what it is all about. Public expenditure committees from 125 towns are expected to attend the conferences. State laws involved will be thoroughly discussed. At the request of Mr. Hawk, we print herewith the objectives of the public expenditure committees:

"To sponsor and urge in all affiliated communities
the creation of a public expenditure committee, dedicated to preparation of local governmental budgets and affiliated with the central committee of the West Texas chamber of commerce in working on state and federal problems.

"It shall be the duty of the central committee to outline to the local committees a definite budget procedure and give to the local committees every possible staff and clerical assistance in preparation of data for local budgets and it is recommended that the central committee conduct an institute on budget making to which each local committee may send its secretary.

"To develop a state-wide organization on the reduction of public expenditures.

"To memorialize the Texas Legislature and the United States Congress to reduce public expenditures rather than impose new taxes.

"Work to secure more economical form of county government as may be provided for in the enactment of a home rule measure for county government.

"Work for reorganization of the state administrative machinery providing same will save at least a million and a half dollars annually.

"Work for the reorganization of the judiciary providing same will save $500,000 annually.

"To sponsor more orderly auditing and tax collection procedure."

WASHINGTON—Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, selected by democrats of the Lone Star state to manage the campaign of John N. Garner for President, is silent around Washington when asked about his candidature.

SAM RAYBURN

He's as reticent as "Mr. Speaker" himself when conversation shifts to Chicago and the democratic national convention.

But it's different when Rayburn gets back to Texas among the "home folks." He really talks then—publicly and privately—about Garner and his chances with freedom and frankness.

For example, in Houston a few days ago, he said:

"Garner will be second choice of more delegates at Chicago than any other candidate. . . . At this blackest hour, they believe that in this rugged son of the soil they see another Jackson, and in this hour the people are crying out, 'O, for an hour of Andrew Jackson.'"

It's necessary, too, to go to Texas to find out the extent of plans underway to obtain the nomination for Garner.

Optimistic Over Chances

"During the past three months," Rayburn told the "home folks," "I have talked with leading democrats from every state in the Union. They have told me of conditions within their state. For instance, a new Englander told me, 'Tell the people of Texas I go to the convention at Chicago solely because I want to cast a vote for John Garner.'"

And then a bit triumphantly he added:
". . . In the great state of California our man won handsomely. . . . With California's 44 and Texas 46
we have more votes already cast than Harding or Davis
had. . . ."

Silent At Capital

But back in Washington Rayburn is silent.
Nothing in the way of a comment or statement comes from the rooms of the interstate and foreign commerce committee where Rayburn has his offices. There he'll talk to you at any time about freight rates and the like.

But about Garner's chances of getting the nomination
—never.

THE JUNKERS RETURN

Newspapers in Paris have been discovering a revival of the old spiked-helmet, 1914 brand of German imperialism lately.

With Von Papen sitting in the chancellery at Berlin, with the stiff-necked, die-hard Junker aristocracy laying strong hands on the government and with grotesque Hitler rising behind like a black cloud, it is quite evident that the French editors are just about right.

Germany is turning once more to the class that led it up to and into the war. And in that fact there is an indication of the woeful way in which the world at large has failed to handle an acute problem.

The imperialism that guided German policy under the Hohenzollerns was not peculiar to Germany, of course. Every large European nation was more or less infected. But Germany seems to have had the worst case, and the things that happened from 1914 to 1918 proved rather clearly that that imperialistic attitude, and the actions which it gives rise to, are extremely dangerous to the world's well being.

After the armistice in 1918 imperialism went reeling.
It is the fashion now to sneer at the "make the world safe for democracy" slogan of war days; but, really, there was a whole lot in it. At the end of 1918 a long step had been taken toward accomplishment of that ideal. If the right kind of program could have been followed, imperialism would have been dead forever.

But today, nearly 14 years after the armistice, the old imperialism is returning to Berlin; and it is impos-

Political Follies of 1932

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Congress has found a new use for itself. If it will stay in session it can provide issues, from day to day, for the presidential campaign. The campaign threatens to be somewhat short on controversial issues, as everyone knows.

Broadly speaking, that's one of the objects it has in staying in session as long as it has. Both the Democrats and the Republicans are busy making themselves
a record on federal unemployment relief.

The Power Bugaboo

That would have been an issue anyway, however.
You get a better idea of the possibilities when you observe how successfully the "power trust" issue has been revived. It had been just about forgotten, except by three or four of the western progressives, but now it's good for another few months' ride.

Prior to the conventions it isn't considered very good form to try to draw prospective candidates out on controversial issues, but afterward, if Congress were sitting continually, members of the opposing parties could daily demand declarations of the standard-bearers.

They might have done that as they debated the electricity tax, which is going to be applied to the consumers instead of the power companies.

Switching the Burden

It was really an extraordinary thing that happened in the Senate, when the conference committee switched the burden from the public utilities back to the private citizen's back, with subsequent confirmation by a Senate majority vote.

Some persons ordinarily given to conservative speech have described it as "high-handed," "contemptible" and "outrageous."

Conference committees are supposed to make a final bill out of a House bill and a Senate bill, compromising and ironing out differences until a product is obtained which will satisfy both branches. The conferences from each house are expected to hold out for the details voted by their colleagues as far as it is practical.

A Roar Goes Up

Least of all are they supposed to toss in any new ideas or any provisions that have been definitely rejected. So when the Senate conferees came back with a domestic electricity tax payable by the householder after the Senate had turned down that proposal it was only natural that a roar went up that the "power trust" had been moving its fingers into national legislation once more.

Senators Reed Smoot of Utah and David A. Reed of Pennsylvania both offered amendments which placed the electricity tax on the consumer and the Senate voted both those amendments down.

It imposed a 3 per cent tax upon energy sold by privately owned power companies, exempting municipal plants, with the clear and obvious intent of making the companies pay the levy.

Buyers Must Pay

It was argued that some of the tax might eventually be passed onto the consumers, but the power companies were opposed on the ground that it couldn't and it seemed that it certainly couldn't until various state regulating bodies had made provisions for including the tax in electricity bills. Instances were cited of power companies still making enormous profits.

But after the Senate had declared itself, Senators Smoot, Reed and Jim Watson of Indiana went with two Democratic senators to meet the House conferees and they all came out with a provision specifically taxing the electricity buyers, the tax to be collected by the vendor.

What made this all the more remarkable was that the House, in its own bill, had not inserted any electricity tax at all.

Blame Tax on Crisp

Smoot and Reed got away with it, although Howell
of Nebraska raised a point of order and, when overruled
by Vice President Curtis, forced a vote on the ruling.
Smoot and Reed said Congressman Crisp of Georgia, leading the House conferees, was responsible for the change. Crisp had argued that the tax on the utilities would ruin many of them and damage many investors.

The group which voted consistently against the consumers' tax was made up entirely of Democrats and Republican progressives.

In spite of general anxiety to rush through the tax bill, 33 senators voted against the ruling even though it would have prolonged final passage indeterminately.
The episode is bound to provide campaign fodder in some states.

sible to escape the conclusion that the world's blindness
and stupidity helped to revive it.

If a fairer, less vengeful peace could have been made,
if the victors had not gone beyond all reason in trying to squeeze gold out of the conquered, if a real worldwide disarmament program could have been accepted—
then the old Junker imperialism would not be getting a new lease on life.

What happened in 1914 was tragic proof that world statesmanship had been incompetent. The events of this year seem to be offering us another proof.

Tire Dealer Says Prices Certain To Advance Soon

Warned by the determination of the federal government to obtain $50,000,000 in income from the rubber industry in order to help balance the budget, many motor-car owners have become convinced that this will mean an early increase in the cost of automobile tires.

"From an industry that has many millions of dollars last year it is not reasonable to expect that this proposed federal tax can be taken out of profits that have not been made," one rubber manufacturer has pointed out. "It must be obtained from increased price of the product."

Consequently, many motorists have been looking to their tires, realizing that if they must be replaced soon, now is the best time to get new rubber before prices start to climb. It is pointed out by Walter Sill of Walter Sill Tire company, 402 W. Foster, general tire distributor in this city.

"With crude rubber selling far below the cost of production and with tire prices at absolute rock bottom, there is no chance that anyone may obtain tires later at a lower figure," he said. "On the contrary, it is practically certain that, when the proposed federal taxes are added to the present cost of tires, they will cost much more than they do today."

"Because of the fact that more drivers than ever before are in need of safer tires, especially to arrive at present-day speeds, we have scheduled our annual trade-in sale at this time. Starting on June 13, we will make unusually generous allowances for old tires that are turned in to us in exchange for new rubber. This sale is a regular annual event with us."

"Many motorists who have been wanting to get the new streamline jumbo tires on their cars will find that this will be an opportunity to do so most advantageously."

"Many drivers have been taking dangerous chances with old tires, because they have felt that by holding on to them a little longer, they might get new tires more cheaply," Mr. Sill added. "It is now a matter of economy, as well as safety, to get rid of old tires that have outlived their usefulness and replace them with new rubber, which may soon cost considerably more than it does today."

Says Farm Board Losing Huge Sum

CHICAGO June 11 (AP)—Fred Uhlmann, vice-president of the Chicago Board of trade has estimated that taxpayers' money administered by the federal farm board has been lost at the rate of $1,000 a minute over a period of 900 business days. "The agricultural marketing act was passed about three years ago," Uhlmann said. "Assuming that the largest part of the $500,000,000 which was granted has disappeared, and on the assumption that there would be $50,000,000 left, there must have been a loss of $450,000,000. This in 900 business days would amount to a daily loss of $500,000. Granting the farm board worked eight hours a day, there would be an hour loss of $600,000, or about $1,000 a minute."

All residents of the Pampa territory who have lost saddles are requested to communicate with Sheriff Blanscet. CHECK THIS FACT ✓

This is our 7th Annual announcement of the original and only authentic Trade-in Sale known to the tire industry.

Due to the tremendous success of that first original General Tire Trade-in Sale in March, 1926, you have seen a constant procession of Trade-in Sales of all kinds during the past seven years—Trade-in Sales in every line of merchandise—furniture, jewelry, automobiles—and tire Trade-in Sales by the score. But General Tire still remains outstandingly first in this event.

It is our own original merchandising plan. That is why we have such pride in it. That is why we are determined that no one else shall ever equal or even approach the supreme values which we offer to the public during this one great tire sale of the year. The big Trade-in Sale!

You never saw a half-hearted General Tire Trade-in ad. You never saw a General Tire Trade-in ad with a tricky catch in it. General goes into its annual Trade-in Sale with the true spirit of tremendous value giving that justifies the confidence of all the car owners who wait for it.

SWEEPING Pre-tax TRADE-IN SALE

Congress is passing a tax that will increase tire costs 33 million dollars. All tires manufactured after bill is signed by President Hoover will bear this additional cost. But you can buy now and save money.* 65% of all cars today are running on smooth, dangerous rubber. To meet the necessity for new tires, safe driving and economy we now crash the gate with the biggest Trade-in Sale in our history—and the most timely one of all.

PRICES SLASHED With Big Extra Allowance for Your Old Tires

To get you to bring out those thrifty dollars and put them to work we are making an allowance for your old rubber so liberal that we will never be able to get our investment out of it until we have put money, time and materials in our repair shop, reconditioning, retreading, etc. in order to make them saleable as used tires. Even then we will take a licking on hundreds of used tires—selling them below what we allow—but we like it—we want to do business with hundreds of new customers in the next few days—during this sale we are going farther than ever before to make new friends and increase our business. We have to make hay while the sun shines.

* Public spirited citizens have no desire to avoid the tax that will be so necessary to balance the national budget. But remember these are tires which we purchased before the manufacturers' tax goes into effect and you get the benefit of our stock already on hand, not subject to tax, as long as they last.

$1.50 to $7.50 FOR EACH WORN TIRE ON YOUR CAR

We are selling you tires at the lowest prices you have ever seen them marked—no matter how old or how young you may be! Did you know that the price of rubber shipped from Singapore today is less than it would cost to pay the freight on mud from Mexico—that's a fact. Several years ago crude rubber was up to $1.20 a pound—today it is 3c a pound. With new rubber so low why take chances? Why try to get that last fifty cents or a dollar's worth of mileage out of your old tire. For every ten cents of mileage you have left, you may have ten dollars worth of trouble. We'll buy the trouble.

Clearance of Every Tire in Stock

Select from the complete line—everything included—nothing reserved. Tires of every size and type to fit every purse and purpose. Whether you want 4-ply, 6-ply or 8-ply tires, Dual Balloon, Blowout-Proof, Dual Grip Heavy Duty, Low Pressure Skid-Safe tires and Yale tires—they are all marked down with extra liberal worn tire allowances for this unparalleled event that shows you savings all the way up to 50%.

UNUSUAL INSTRUMENTS ARE TO BE PLAYED THIS AFTERNOON IN CONCERT AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Seldom has the public been offered such a variety of instrumental music in single concert as is presented by the Hanna Concert company in a musical program at the First Christian church this afternoon at 2:30. Using a large concert marimba, the quartet of players is able to produce a wide variety of effects from the mellow tone of the pipe organ to the surging rhythm of the military band. The cathedral chimes, a rare instrument composed of 81 tubular bells, has also met with universal approval because of its pleasing musical qualities. Cricket bells, sleigh bells and other rare and unusual instruments are also used by this unique company, making their concerts most enjoyable. This collection of instruments is the only one of its kind being used for concert work and is the result of years of search for they are extremely rare and cannot be duplicated. The company is composed of Brown Hanna, director, Karl Hanna, Victor Jacobs and LeRoy Hay. The concert is free.

Mrs. Al Lawson, president of the Pampa unit of the American Legion auxiliary, urged as the unit completed preparations for the observance of Flag day. The auxiliary women are endeavoring to have a more general display of the stars and stripes on Flag day this year than ever before and are asking all homes and business houses to fly the American flag on June 14.

Flag day this year will be the 155th birthday of "Old Glory," the flag having been authorized by congress on June 14, 1777, explained Mrs. Lawson. It was first flown from Fort Mifflin, on the present site of Rome, N. York, on August 3, 1777, and was first carried in a major battle at the Brandywine, September 11, 1777.

The act of congress which authorized the flag decreed that there should be a star and a stripe for each state, but when the number of states increased it became evident that there would be too many stripes so in 1818 congress established the flag in its present form, with a stripe for each of the original states and a star for every state.

BUDGET MAKING INSTITUTE TO BE HELD SOON IN TWO CITIES

STAMFORD, June 11. (SP)—Budget making institutes are being organized by the West Texas chamber of commerce to be held in Lubbock, June 24, and Breckenridge, June 27.

Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo, president of the regional organization announced the two institutes in the semi-monthly news-letter to the directors after tentative plans for the institute had been previously announced for Lubbock. The change to two institutes was made to make it more convenient for the 82 local public expenditures and taxation committees in as many West Texas cities to attend.

The purpose of the institutes is set out in the announcement from Hawk as follows: "With a view to being of the maximum service to our local public expenditures and taxation committees, and others interested, our central public expenditures and taxation committee is organizing two one-day institutes upon budget making in local units of government—cities, counties, and schools. "Uniform budget forms, and a standard method of procedure in the creation of budgets will be presented by competent authorities."

"We expect to have all of our directors attend; all members of the local public expenditures and taxation committees; all chamber of commerce secretaries, and others interested, including public officials, and chamber of commerce presidents."

Budget making in local units of government is the first work assignment given by the regional chamber's central committee on public expenditures and taxation which has as its general objective the reduction of public expenditures. With the committees created—the machinery set up—and with this assignment already made, the institutes are being organized to set the machinery in motion to accomplish definite results in budget making in West Texas cities, counties and school districts.

Veterans Search For Dynamite In Communist Zone

WASHINGTON, June 11. (AP)—The veterans army of more than 12,000 bonus seekers joined with police tonight in an effort to apprehend and deal swiftly with those secreting arms or explosives in the scattered encampments.

Discovery of dynamite charges complete with caps and fuses in the Anacostia flats receiving station three police, leaders and veterans alike on guard. The veterans' own secret intelligence unit actively combed the camp for radicals and other possible stores of explosives.

Meanwhile, a committee of the veterans left for Chicago to urge inclusion of a bonus-payment plan in the republican and democratic platforms. Other groups started for surrounding cities to recruit additional veterans in an effort to swell the total to 50,000.

A vote on whether to give formal consideration to the Patman resolution for immediate cash payment of the bonus will be taken in the house today. It is expected to favorably, a roll call on the legislation itself will be taken.

House leaders predicted today that branch would approve the bonus payment but its fate in the senate is doubtful. President Hoover has promised a veto.

Ferguson Talks To Small Group

CORSCIANA, June 11. (AP)—Former Governor James E. Ferguson spoke to the gubernatorial candidacy of his wife, former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, tonight before a crowd estimated at 3,000. Rains shortly before the address curtailed attendance.

Ferguson spent considerable time discussing his wife's platform after criticizing the work of the state highway commission. He asserted that the members should be removed. He said the commission had received $200,000,000 in the last five years and had "not built 100 miles of road in one stretch." He urged that the commission "should be made elective."

Discussing attacks on the Ferguson pardon record he said Governor R. S. Sterling had adopted the same policy by paroling convicts. Ferguson explained his plan to divide the gasoline tax between the schools and the highway department and for diminishing ad valorem taxes. He said the East Texas oil field had been administered badly, as oil had been stolen and now its price was up and everything else was down. He claimed that present proration legislation tended to perpetuate a monopoly.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION ON GAS CONSERVATION BELIEVED VITAL BY MANY ROYALTY OWNERS

Royalty owners in this section are in favor of a called session of the legislature to enact a law that will stand up regarding conservation of gas in the Panhandle field.

The Texas common purchaser act regulating gas pipelines, insofar as it applies to ratable takings of gas, was held invalid by three judges of the United States district court Wednesday in Austin.

It is the belief here that a law passed that would withstand the attacks of purchasers would pay for a called session of the legislature. Gas is being taken wholesale from the Panhandle field, draining gas property where drilling has yet to take place. Gas also is going to waste into the air and by other means.

Producers agree that action should be taken to protect the royalty owner in the gas field in general. Many laws have been made but the one just held invalid has been the only one that has met with the approval of most parties concerned.

J. M. McDonald, deputy supervisor of the oil and gas division of the railway commission for the Panhandle field, declared yesterday that some action will have to be taken immediately if the Panhandle gas field is to be saved. He says the railway commission will lead a fight to have legislative action taken to enact a bill that will stand before the courts in the country. Conservation must be established and the property owner get justice, Mr. McDonald declared.

The court held that the legislature was without power to impose authority with the railway commission to regulate pipelines, holding that such authority would amount to taking property without due process of law.

Plaintiffs in the case were Texoma Natural Gas company, Cities Service Gas company, North American Oil and Gas company and the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company. The court held that these were private pipeline carries.

POLITICS at random

By BRYON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

The national convention has been a fixture in American politics for exactly a century, and there seems no prospect of finding an acceptable substitute, although many would like to.

Despite all its noise and glamour, the average convention does little real work. More often than not, the candidate either is determined beforehand, as in the case of the republicans this year, or he actually is chosen by group of a dozen or so leaders, as may be the case with the democrats.

The platform, except for one or two controversial planks, is written long in advance at conferences of party chiefs, and in the end a very small coterie works out a compromise on the remaining controversies, and the convention accepts it.

There are exceptions, of course, but an analysis of political history would show that in nine out of ten conventions out of ten, 49 out of every 50 delegates might just as well have stayed at home for all the influence they have had on party decisions.

Speeches Cut and Dried
Even most of the important speeches which represent emotional highpoints of the convention proceedings are all cut and dried beforehand.

That is particularly true of the speeches of temporary chairmen called by long custom and the party "keynoters." These speeches often sound to the public ear like spontaneous outbursts of wisdom, but when they are examined closely it will be found that they contain little that is really new, and nothing that is really dangerous.

The truth is that the keynote speech is passed around among the leaders of all factors and revised over and over in cases where there is doubt as to the political effect.

One of the most effective keynotes was delivered by Warren G. Harding, in the republican convention of 1916. It rallied the party after the big split of 1912, and offended neither wing. That was accomplished, and could have been accomplished, only after the most intensive and widespread blue-penciling.

The keynote really is a phrase-maker, rather than a source of party doctrine.

Conventions Cost Heavily
However little a convention really has to do, hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent on every one, money which in a year like 1932 either party needs badly for the ensuing campaign.

The chief return is supposed to come in renewed party enthusiasm, or in renewed party conviction, or in renewed party rallies. Yet how much good does all of this whooping-it-up really do?

This is what Ellihu Root said about it some time back at a private dinner: "With the extraordinary growth of news service in recent years the public in all civilized countries has been acquiring the habit of being informed from day to day about what is going on in the world and this habit has greatly changed the basis of political action by the great self-governing democracies."

"The American voters were formerly moved very largely by stump speeches and strongly partisan editorials. Today, as a rule, new elections are decided before the political campaign begins, and they are decided on the basis of the news which the voters have been reading from day to day since the last election."

Stirs Political Pulse
Of course, the real reason political conventions go on is because no one has been able to suggest anything better.

Judge Ewing Buys Local Residence

Judge W. R. Ewing of the 31st district court has bought the W. M. Craven residence at 423 North Somerville and will establish his residence there before the next term of court opens in September.

Judge Ewing has lived at Miami for many years, and will continue to maintain a residence there. He came to the Panhandle in 1887, stopping at Canadian. He was court reporter there before the next term of court opens in September.

Judge Ewing has been the owner of another residence in North Pampa for several years.

L. R. Cruise of Mobeetie was a Pampa visitor Thursday.

Conventions go on because no one has been able to suggest anything better. Even some of the states which have sought logically to substitute the primary are sliding back to the convention system. Whatever may be said against it, it has a thrill about it that stirs political pulse as nothing else can.

Burkett Urges Money Inflation

Joe Burkett, former state senator from West Texas—Eastland, Abilene-Big Spring district—a candidate for Congressman-at-Large, place Number 3, was in Pampa Saturday in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Burkett was not very optimistic about the immediate improvement of the financial situation, as he believes nothing of consequence can or will be accomplished until Congress makes provision for the immediate inflation of the currency.

"Money is our financial life-blood and, of course, business cannot flourish without a sufficient amount of circulating medium," he said. "There is not more than ten dollars per capita now in actual circulation, whereas, in 1929 when this panic started there was around $70 per capita in circulation. Money was gradually been withdrawn from circulation making it extremely scarce and outrageously high, while at the same time our commodity prices have gradually fallen in price until commodities are ruinously low, and means bankruptcy for the producer. It is absolutely impossible to pay high debts with cheap commodities. In 1929 and 1930 cotton was bringing 12 to 14 cents per pound, and the farmer netted about $40 per bale—now he nets about $10 per bale—therefore it will require four times as much cotton to pay his debts as formerly. Other things are in proportion. We should have at least four billion dollars new money in circulation."

COLLINS NOW WHIFFS TEXAS BAD MEN

In a "rough house," Ranger Rip Collins already has two strikes on Texas "bad men," if any throwing objects are handy. He's the same Collins who was bending curves for the St. Louis Browns last year. Collins, shown above in his head gear of his two professions, is spending a year with the famed man hunters to rebuild his physique for baseball.

SHARKEY HAS TRAINED WELL FOR CONTEST NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Unheralded and unsung, Max Schmeling's heavyweight title defense against Jack Sharkey in Madison Square Garden's big bowl on Long Island June 21 came down to the final week of preparation today still a mystery to the faithful, the promoters, and perhaps the fighters themselves.

SCHMELING HOLDS TO HIS NORMAL TRIM NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Unheralded and unsung, Max Schmeling's heavyweight title defense against Jack Sharkey in Madison Square Garden's big bowl on Long Island June 21 came down to the final week of preparation today still a mystery to the faithful, the promoters, and perhaps the fighters themselves.

Almost completely without benefit of hallyhoo, Sharkey has boxed himself down to a mere 205 pounds in his training camp at Orangeburg, N. Y., while the champion, at Kingston, N. Y., has paced himself along at the same even physical trim, 189 pounds, that he has maintained since he defeated Sharkey for the title on a foul in four rounds two years ago.

The critics are widely divided on the choice of a winner, despite the tremendous improvement in defensive punching power Schmeling displayed in knocking out Young Stribling in Cleveland last summer. Sharkey's increased weight around the shoulders "has added to his clouting powers, and he still is recognized as a great heavyweight when the mood is on him.

LACK OF PARENTAL INTEREST IN SCOUTING DEPLORED—BOYS ARE ADVANCED IN RANK HERE

Speakers deplored the lack of parental interest in their boys at a Boy Scout Court of Honor in the district courtroom in the city hall Friday night.

"If there is a scandalous trial in court, half the business men can leave their stores to attend, but when it comes to helping the boy become a man they can't get away," Judge Ewing declared.

Other speakers were the Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the Adobe Walls council, Mayor W. A. Bratton, Dr. C. H. Schulky, and others.

Four boys were recommended for the rank of Eagle Scout. They were Melvin Qualls, Tom Sweatman, Smith Wise, Jr., and Edward Scott, all of troop 15, Presbyterian church.

I am entering the race for state representative for the 122 legislative district. I am doing so because not a few friends insist that I have the ability, a fair share of common decency among men, and the "guts," for the task of a state representative and that therefore I ought to offer myself to the voters of this district for that duty.

I am talking to you producers who create the wealth of the district, and to my wives. If you think that my 13 years of farming have taught me some economic sense, like it must have done to you, you will probably vote for me.
