

YOUNG RIDER IS HURT

Greatest Old Settlers Reunion in Panhandle History Taking Place

OLDTIMERS IN HIGH GLEE AS FRIENDS COME

MARK HUSELY AMONG NEW ARRIVALS IN CITY

MANY FORMER RANGERS

PIONEERS GENEROUS IN PRAISE OF BIG EVENT

Oldtimers from every section of the Panhandle flocked into Pampa today. They literally filled the lobby of the Schneider hotel this morning.

One hundred men and women who came to the Panhandle before 1890 registered before noon. This figure brought the total for Thursday and Friday to 236. Yesterday's attendance of 136 pioneer residents had a marked effect upon today's. When the news spread over the morning.

WILL MAKE PICTURE

Panhandle pioneers will be photographed in a group Saturday morning at 9 a. m. All men and women of the old days are urged to assemble on the south side of the Schneider hotel at that time. It will be a panoramic picture.

Plains that Pampa was the mecca for Frontiersmen many an old-timer began preparing to come to Pampa today or tomorrow. Never before in the Panhandle has there been as great a reunion of pioneers as there was yesterday and today, and that is the unanimous opinion of the old-timers themselves.

Husely Arrives

One of the first men to register this morning was Mark Husely, who came to Mobeetie in 1874. With him were Mrs. Husely and his daughter, Miss Isabel Husely. Mr. Black's father was commissary sergeant.

Another pioneer present was George Black of Groom who came to Mobeetie with his parents in 1875 with the soldiers. Mr. Black's father was commissary sergeant.

John B. Williams of Laketon, Out for Commissioner

John B. Williams, farmer of the Laketon community, today announced his candidacy for commissioner of precinct No. 1.

Mr. Williams has lived in Gray county 20 years. His farm is two and one-half miles east of Laketon. Mr. Williams feels that he is acquainted with the needs of his own precinct and of the county. He has made a special study of road problems, and believes that, if elected, he will be able to dispose of highway matters in an economical manner. Mr. Williams favors the practice of more economy by the commissioners court than has been the custom in the last few years. He believes that the court should zealously guard the county funds, and expend them in a highly frugal manner.

Mr. Williams was born in Dallas county where his father was one of the first settlers. He will appreciate the vote and influence of voters.

Small Boy Is Injured at Camp

Wayne Reeves, small son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Reeves of the Phillips camp suffered a compound fracture on his right leg yesterday when he fell from the running board of a truck at his home. The child ran to meet his father who was driving the truck. He jumped on the running board but lost his footing. A rear wheel passed over the child's leg, badly mangled it. The father stopped the machine as soon as the child fell, as he had been watching the boy. The wheel stopped on the injured limb.

What Throngs!

What a crowd of oldtimers, and cowhands, cowgirls, and spectators! There's western flavor in everything around Pampa. It's a fine beginning, folks, and it's going to grow bigger and bigger in the next few years.

Just a Start

We want to serve notice right now that next year one of the plains Indian fights should be reenacted as a night feature. What a spectacle it would be to have Indians—real Indians—attacking a small band of men in a buffalo wallow. Done in virtual darkness, just enough spotlights and bursts of gunfire to show outlines of the fighters, it would be very interesting, really historical, and not too long. Remember, not many men took part in some of the battles of the plains, but there were plenty of Indians.

Write to Us

All you visitors be thinking of what would make Frontier Days bigger and better. Write to the Pampan of The NEWS and we will print your suggestions. This celebration is just beginning; you can make it something you can enjoy. Pampa wants you to come back. This celebration is for the entire Panhandle. Your presence means its success or failure. We are mighty, mighty, happy that you came, and believe we'll be looking for all you oldtimers and newcomers next year.

The Childress INDEX says

"Quannah has broken into the city class—a 600-gallon still was located and seized there by officers a few days ago." But we note the chamber of commerce did not make any brags about the fact.

All you cowboys who bite the dust remember this: You are biting some of the best sod to be found in this great Lone Star state.

There's one difficulty about shooting verbal bullets at President Hoover—his hide is toughened to the attack because he has been blamed for the depression so long.

With gasoline buggies congesting the streets and crowding Old Dobbin off the highways, we won't blame his offspring for getting tough with humans who are responsible for it all.

WEATHER

OKLAHOMA: Fair, cooler in extreme portion tonight; Saturday partly cloudy.

WEST TEXAS: Cloudy tonight and Saturday, probably thunder-showers in west portion.

—AND A SMILE
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (P)—Even safe blowers can have compassion on the needy. A gang pried open the strong box in a laundry office but when they found the only money it contained was the contributions of the employes to the community chest they left the money there.

TROUBLES BESET BONUS ARM'S "MARCH"

Frustrated in their efforts to commandeer a train at East St. Louis, Ill., for their journey to Washington, D. C., the "bonus army" of 400 World War veterans was transported to Washington, Ind., by trucks and automobiles supplied by East St. Louis merchants. Top photo shows the "marchers" resting up between skirmishes with railroad officials who refused them freight car transportation. At the right, two of the crusaders sit up their "stump." Recruited in Portland, Ore., the "army" plans to carry its demand for full and immediate bonus payment to congress. A new deadlock threatened the "army" at Washington, Ind., where the B. & O. railroad massed 70 special police and detectives to prevent the veterans from boarding trains at any cost.

ALL MEN INDICTED FOR GRAY COUNTY CONSPIRACY CLEARED QUICKLY BY JURY YESTERDAY

U. S. Witnesses Are Condemned by Judge

AMARILLO, May 27. (SP)—Arriving at the verdict on the first ballot five minutes after beginning deliberations, a jury in U. S. district court here last night cleared all defendants in the Gray county conspiracy case.

Of sixteen original defendants, only six names were given to the jury, the rest having been freed by instructed verdicts of not guilty. Those cleared by the jury were E. S. Graves, Roy Albritton, Scott Rheudasil, Herman Wachendorf, O. C. Williams, and Ben Bolton. In his charge to the jury, Judge James Wilson instructed acquittals for Welder Wilson, Granville Parrish, William J. Bass, and Murph Smith. Earlier in the trial, C. E. Pipes, Scott Vincent, O. T. Smith, Lee Banks, Arthur H. Cornett, and Louis Baker had been cleared. The verdict, however, was returned in blanket form exonerating all of the men named in the indictment.

Judge Wilson in his lengthy charge condemned what he called "utter lack of credence" of many federal witnesses.

KIWANIANS OF AMARILLO ARE GUESTS TODAY

Twenty-four Kiwanians from Amarillo were the guests of the Pampa club today. Short talks were made by Roy Cullum, Henry Ansley and Mason King. President Cullum of the Amarillo club presented a large bouquet of flowers to President Pete Post and the club members.

Several "old-timers" were special guests. Jack and Dick Benton entertained with several songs with guitar accompaniment. Miss Myrie and Johnnie Gillespie sang several songs. They were accompanied on the piano by John Sturgeon. Mr. Sturgeon also sang several songs.

Dr. Tom Martin gave a report of the work done this year for under privileged children. Tonsillectomies have been performed for 18 children since Jan. 1, 1932. Eight more will be cared for next week.

Tuesday night at 8 o'clock the club will have a special meeting at the Schneider hotel dining room and present certificates to 62 Pampa Junior policemen.

Brice Murphy, 13, Struck by Car as Horse Runs Away

ANIMAL SHOT TO STOP PAIN AFTER MISHAP

Brice Murphy, 13, suffered a broken leg and painful bruises on the head and body, when the horse he was riding was struck by an automobile near the bridge on Mary Ellen street about 9 o'clock last night. All four of the horse's legs were broken, its stomach was crushed and it was necessary to kill the animal. The horse belonged to W. L. Brummett of White Deer, who works at the Texas garage.

MANY INJURIES ARE SUFFERED AT BIG RODEO

Wiry Livestock Is Hard For Men To Handle

Thrills and spills, but not too many of the latter, are greeting the thousands who are attending the rodeo contests at Harvester park afternoon and night during the Frontier Days celebration. It is estimated that nearly 9,000 rodeo fans sat in the blistering sun yesterday afternoon and the cool wind last night to see man and beast fight it out for supremacy.

In most instances man won, but there were several who had tough battles and succumbed. Four contestants were taken to local hospitals yesterday for minor or serious injuries. The bulldozing and steer riding events proved to be the most hazardous of the entire performance. Two contestants were injured in each event.

Dick Farmer of Sweetwater is in the hospital suffering from a broken leg. He was bulldozing one of the tough Brahmas last night when the accident occurred. Clarence Olson, local boy, suffered a broken wrist in the steer riding event. His big Mexican steer was a thousand pounds of mad energy. Stephenson's ambulance stays at the park.

Lester Saunders of Logan, N. M., sustained leg and back injuries while steer riding. Tom Hogan of Tulsa was the other casualty victim. His nose was broken bulldozing.

Ginger Is Tough

Ginger, one of Lon Blarcese's prides, was one of the toughest propositions in the bronc riding event. Although the smallest horse in the string, Ginger bucked, sun-fished, rolled, and kicked like a veteran. Ace High, Gunpowder, No Name and Grapevine were other terrors.

Jonas DeArmand had considerable difficulty with Gunpowder, who rolled with him once and then came up bucking. Leo Moore of Fort Worth and Shorty Creed, Savilon, N. M., two more well known riders were almost bucked off. Most of the broncs broke fast and then started bucking. The stock is excellent but the riding better. Every man entered is a tophand and it takes an exceptional horse to throw his rider.

Lean, long-earned Brahma calves broke like lightning from the chute. Only the most skillful riders got their rope over the calves' neck. Many were the misses in both afternoon and evening performances. Tying was weak in most instances, but was attributed to the wiriness of the stock. J. Snively of Pawhuska won the event in 25.2 seconds.

Barback bronc and steer riding thrilled the crowds. Riders took spills and came up laughing. Others lay still with the wind knocked out of them by the fall. The stock galloped around the arena and the pickup men had plenty of work.

Tricky Mule

Jimmie Nesbit of Tucson, Ariz., and Fort Worth, stole the show with his trick mule and antics. Jimmie will be remembered in Pampa for his witty remarks and the big chances he took to give the large crowds their laughs. His mule is one of the best trained in the country.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lester and daughter Hester left this morning for Huntsville to attend the graduation exercises at the Huntsville state teachers college.

Postal Windows Will Be Opened An Hour Monday

Monday being Memorial day and a legal holiday, the Pampa postoffice will be closed all day except for one hour.

Because there is no window service Saturday afternoon a Sunday, the postal staff decided to open the windows for one hour—9 to 10 a. m.—on Monday. The registry, parcel post, stamp, and general delivery windows will be raised during the interval. In addition, patrons of carrier service will be able to get their mail by calling at the postal savings window during the hour.

Therefore anyone wishing to receive carrier or general delivery mail, to register packages, buy stamps, or mail or receive packages must call during the appointed hour Monday. No money order and postal savings business will be transacted, however. Box mail will be handled as usual.

FOUR PERSONS DRUNK

Four persons were arrested on charges of being in an intoxicated condition at the rodeo last night. One of these was a rodeo hand. It took him only an hour to recover and he was able to compete in the contests last night. One of the four arrested was a woman who became noisy while telling the hands how to ride horses, bulldog steers, etc.

Frontier Days Program Will End Saturday

8 p. m.—Fourth rodeo performance.
Saturday's Program
10 a. m.—Big parade, featuring the old and the new.
1 p. m.—Parade of rodeo personnel downtown.
2 p. m.—Fifth rodeo performance, Harvester stadium.
8 p. m.—Final rodeo performance, Harvester stadium.
11:30 p. m.—Prevue at La Nora theater.

ANOTHER PARADE WILL SHOW CONTRASTS TOMORROW

Pampa's first annual Frontier Days celebration, which opened impressively Thursday with an interesting parade and continued through last night with rodeo performances, oldtime dancing, and a fiddling contest, was resumed with new features today.

Hundreds of additional out-of-town visitors were arriving for the big free barbecue, the rodeo performance at 2:30 p. m., and the junk car race at 4:30 p. m. at Harvester stadium. Despite the cool night, several thousand persons saw the thrilling night rodeo under the spotlights. The cowhands adjusted themselves to the conditions and repeated the skilled feats they first revealed in the afternoon.

The bronc barback and saddle rides have been exceptionally skillful, and men have defied their steeds despite many wild rides. A number of horses have dislodged their riders, however, by the simple expedient of falling down and rolling. Steer riding has been perhaps the most thrilling of all exhibitions. The big Brahmas are fast and it is almost impossible to remain on some of them. Those who saw this series of stunts last night were unanimously in the opinion that the sight was "better than Cheyenne."

Some very good roping and fair time have been seen in calf roping, but the deer-like, leaping Brahma calves are exceedingly difficult to throw. Some of them rear up and fight the cowboys until they are tripped or bodily lifted and hurled to the ground. Lighting will be improved and the program speeded up for tonight's rodeo program at 8 p. m. The out-of-town delegations will swell the crowd for this event, and Saturday is expected to be the biggest day of all. Pampa people are especially urged to see tonight's performance.

Saturday's program will include another long parade, charged to show in vivid contrast the old and the new. The hundred and fifty rodeo entrants will compete for final honors and the cash prizes in performances at 2 and 8 p. m.

Mrs. O. C. Pipes was called to Plainview this morning by the death of a relative.

M. J. Warminski of White Deer was looking after interests here Thursday.

NEgro and White Man in Robbery

A white man and a negro comprised a hold-up team that robbed A. E. Hamilton of $9 in currency at the rear of a local hotel last night.

The negro struck Mr. Hamilton in the face with a revolver and then held a gun pointed at his victim while the white man rifled his pockets and took his money.

The night police force investigated the hold-up. No arrests had been made at noon today.

Class Donates To Fund for Museum

CANYON, May 27. (SP).—Three hundred fifty dollars was added to the building fund of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society here today when the senior class of the West Texas State Teachers college presented Dr. J. A. Hill, who is a member of the Historical society building committee, a check for that amount. Herman Troutman of Dallas, president of the class, presented the gift.
Less than $4,000 remains to be raised in order to insure the building of the society's museum which must be underway before August 31 in order to secure the benefit of the $25,000 appropriation made by the last Texas legislature.

They have been picking "ideal" college men lately. The way for them to remain in the estimation of the fair co-eds is to say in college where dad's bank account will support them in the manner to which the girl friends are accustomed.

Visitors' Pictures Are Shown in City

About one hundred pictures of oldtimers are on display this week at Foster's new studio on N. Cuyler. Some of the oldest persons in this section are included. Most of the pictures are recent, but some of them were made many years ago.

How It Happens

How easy it is for expenses to mount, be justified, and soon become regarded as inevitable and necessary. We call it progress, and much of it, yet when it takes twice as much work to earn a dollar now as it did when expenses were hiked, it follows that to maintain the expenditures measures in deflated dollars is impossible.

Good Investment

No expenditure of tax money is more justified than that we spend for the schools. But school costs must be, like other costs, scaled according to the value of a dollar and the ability of the taxpayers to pay. Colorado taxes according to a survey commission which has just made its report, have doubled while school enrollments have increased but 30 per cent in the last 20 years. Teachers' salaries have increased 27 per cent, which is not too much considering modern demands upon them. School debts have jumped 164 per cent. Administrative and housing costs have advanced remarkably. Other governmental departments have likewise increased their expenditures beyond the parallel of per capita growth.

About Booms

You can build a fine standard of living upon extravagance—until the accounting comes. But on the rebound those who once lived extremely well are forced into unemployment. More

PERSONALS

Mrs. H. A. Powell is at Pampa hospital for treatments.
Mrs. A. W. Gill of Miami was a Pampa shopping visitor here yesterday.
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hagood of Happy were in the city today attending the celebration.
Miss Bernice Larsh has gone to Okla. City and Ardmore for a visit before going to Norman, where she will attend the University of Oklahoma.
Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shackleton last night were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Frough and children of Amarillo, Misses Marie Hogan, Letty Bowers, Lucile Palmer and L. N. Bowers, all of Wheeler.
Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar are expecting Mr. Hunkapillar's sister, Mrs. E. B. Part of Oklahoma City to arrive Saturday. She will attend a part of the Frontier Days celebration and will remain during Sunday.
Moderation, fewer booms, less employment—these are not built upon extra extravagance, and any person who urges extravagance as a cure for economic ills is an enemy to society. Temporary and emergency construction programs are not, properly used, to be termed as extravagance, although the distinction is slight.

VICIOUS BLACK THUG HITS CITIZEN WHO DISCOVERS HIM SNOOPING AMONG AUTOMOBILES

(As it would have been written in 1885.)
A most vicious and cowardly attack was made upon the person of one of our most prominent citizens by a daring Blackamoor while the Rodeo was in progress at Harvester Park yesterday afternoon.
It appears that O. L. Wilson who was appointed as a Special Deputy to guard the horseless carriages parked outside the Rodeo grounds from Thugs and Undesirables, caught the Negro red-handed in the act of searching one carriage after another. When interviewed by a representative of the NEWS as the paper went to press today, Mr. Wilson said he was of the opinion that the Negro was not a resident of the Flats, negro section of our fair city, but possibly came from Amarillo or Borger, or came to Pampa from a distant city for the malicious purpose of preying upon the Property of respectable citizens of our countryside.
When Mr. Wilson saw the plunderer going through the carriages, he at once resolved to do all in his power to bring the wretch to Justice. At first he queried the negro as to why he was in the carriage, and the shameless brute falsely replied, "dis am mah cah!" Quick as a flash Mr. Wilson then asked him what the make of the car was, and of course the villain was unable to answer. During all this time the black was getting out of the car and when he finally alighted upon the turf, Mr. Wilson looked in the car to see if he had taken anything of value. As soon as Mr. Wilson turned his back, the fiendish Black struck Mr. Wilson in the mouth and fled.
The cowardly blow had a telling effect and it was several minutes before Mr. Wilson recovered from a short lapse of consciousness. When he did, the constabulary was notified and a diligent search of the premises ensued, but to no avail because the son of Cain had fled.
However, our sheriff declared

ANIMAL--

that they gave him the horse to ride. He said he did not know where they got the horse. The other two boys were also riding horses, Brice said.
"My horse was hard to guide and I got lost from the other boys," he explained. "Pretty soon he started running and I couldn't stop him. He ran faster and faster and couldn't stop when we got nearly to the bridge. Then he ran out in front of the car." Witnesses of the accident said the impact threw Brice over the car to the pavement.
The front part of the machine was badly bent. Officers exonerated the driver of the car of any blame for the accident.

INJURIES--

Pat Henry of Rush Springs, Okla., known throughout the southwest as the cowboy poet, handed the crowd plenty of thrills with his trick riding. One minute he would be on one side of his horse and the next under it crawling to the other side with the horse at a gallop. He also gave an exhibition of trick roping from horseback.
The Johnson brothers, Howard and Junior, juvenile trick roping champions showed the crowds how to control ropes.
There will be performances, this afternoon and tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night. The finals will be Saturday night.
Because of the large entry list, it has been necessary to split the entrants into two sections with half performing in the afternoon and the rest at night. The performers yesterday afternoon will perform tonight while last night's entries are performing this afternoon.

that he hoped to prevent such outrages from occurring in the future. He said a sharp eye would be kept upon all negroes of the attacker's description. He said such offenders of the law should be brought implacably to justice.

MANY VISITORS CAME TO THIS SECTION BETWEEN 1890-1900

There are many oldtimers in Pampa who are not wearing badges but who came to the Panhandle between 1890 and 1900 and that is a long time ago. They registered at the Schneider hotel and their names will be kept like all the other oldtimers.
Among those who came between 1890 and 1900 are:
Tom Tux Buster, Pampa, 1891; C. V. Talley, Miami, 1895; Leo Paris, Miami, 1896; F. P. Reid, Pampa, 1897; Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Lippold, Ochiltree, 1900; W. H. Peters, Pampa, 1891; W. S. MAGNOLIA TEAM IS STILL ONE RUN BETTER THAN LEFORS

LOCALS HAVE BAD SCARE IN LAST INNING

MAGS GET FOUR HITS AND THREE RUNS IN SIXTH

The Magnolia "Mags" continued to hold the one-run jinx over the LeFors baseball team. Yesterday afternoon was the third time this season that the Pampa nine had defeated LeFors by the slim margin. Yesterday's score was 6 to 5. Previous scores were 12 to 11 and 2 to 1.

Cason, Magnolia rookie, seemingly had the game won 6 and 2 and was coasting along in the ninth inning when LeFors started a rally and came within one run of tying the score. LeFors' outburst in the ninth was 10 and 7 and made less errors but the old jinx couldn't be scared away.

A walk, an error, and two hits gave the "Mags" their big scare in the closing inning. Meeks, the pitcher, went out but Baldwin was safe on Weathered's second error. Freshour walked and Stewart struck out. Newsome, big centerfielder, then his his second double of the game to score Baldwin and Freshour. Pulliam then lifted a single over hit to short who threw to Weeks, second which scored Newsome. Hips at second but Weeks dropped the ball. Pulliam's aid over the sack and before he could get back, Weeks had recovered the ball and tagged him.

The Magnolias had their big inning in the sixth when they scored three runs on four clean hits. Weeks and Weathered hit singles and Shriver and Warren doubled. The only way the LeFors pitcher could get the side out was to fan the batters and he succeeded in whiffing two.

Shriver was the only member of the Magnolias to get two hits, and both of his wallops were doubles. Cahill and Warren also contributed doubles. The "Mags" only got seven hits off the delivery of Clemons and Meeks. Johnnie Weeks pulled the prize play of the game, when he went behind second to scoop up a grounder with his bare hand and throw to Weathered on second to get the base runner. Weathered was unable to complete the double play because of the fast runner. Weathered also had a big day on eight chances but made two errors.

Little Jimmie Baldwin got three of the LeFors 10 hits off Cason, Newsome and Pulliam contributed two each. Both of Newsome's wallops went for two bases. Baldwin, Flynn and Earnest also added doubles to the list. Baldwin and Romine played good games for LeFors. They accepted 12 chances between them with only one error chalked up on the list.

The Magnolia nine will be at home to the Skellytown Oilers Sunday afternoon while LeFors will be playing the Texaco Stars of Amarillo.

Score:

Magnolias..... 6 7 4
LeFors..... 5 10 2
Batteries: Magnolias—Cason and Lister; LeFors, Clemons, Meeks and Pulliam.

Walker Barely Beats Uzcudun

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—If Mickey Walker fails to get that match with Ernie Schaaf as early in the outdoor season as he expected, he can blame it on Paulino Uzcudun, rock-ribbed old warrior from the Pyrenees.

By the slimmest of margins and, partly at least, because of an illegal punch at the end of the eighth round, Walker squeezed out a ten-round decision over Paulino last night.

The punch that turned the sympathies of the crowd to the veteran Spaniard and the tide of battle toward Walker came after the bell had ended the eighth round. Paulino was partly at fault for he landed a left hook to the body just after the bell. But he dropped his hands and stepped back and, as he did, Walker swung a right that split the Spaniard's left eyebrow wide open.

That blow beat Paulino for Walker opened the cut with the first punch in the ninth round and, blinded by the flow of blood, Paulino could do little from then on but step forward into Walker's lefts to the head.

Walker, if he had won decisively, was to have been matched immediately with Schaaf but now he probably will have to give Paulino a return match first.

Odd Fellows to Tackle Hoover in Third Contest

The Pampa I. O. O. F. ball team will play the rubber game with Hoover Sunday afternoon in Hoover. The teams have each won a game in the three-game series. Hoover won the opening game in Pampa. Pampa took the game in Hoover in 10 innings.

Dillman will probably be in the box for the Pampa team with either Chastain or Acklam hurling for Hoover. The boys but up a good brand of ball as has been displayed in the two previous encounters. Hoover has only been beaten once this year and the I. O. O. F. boys only twice.

American Net Aces Will Meet Australia Next

PHILADELPHIA, May 27 (AP)—The first day's play in the Davis cup finals in the North American zone today brings together members of the Australian and United States teams in two singles matches on the courts of the Philadelphia Country club.

In the first match Francis X. Shields will oppose Harry Hopman, Australia's No. 2 star.

Then comes the battle of the two ranking players of the contesting nations—Bill Johnston Crawford, hailed as a worthy successor to the great Norman Brookes, against slim, dour-faced Ellsworth Vines of California, who last year won his first national championship.

The doubles will be played tomorrow, with Winner Allison of Texas and John W. Van Ryn of Philadelphia, representing the United States, and Crawford and Hopman, the likely Australian players.

The last two singles matches will be played Monday.

The winner of the tie will meet Brazil in the inter-zone final at Forest Hills, L. I., the second week in June.

BAD PITCHES ARE SHUNNED BY 'BIG TRAIN'

WALTER SAYS PENNANT 'PLAY DEMANDS CONTROL'

By The Associated Press

One bad pitch a game can very easily cost a good team a pennant, said Walter Johnson recently in explaining his preference for moundsmen with tight control.

As if to bear out his boss' contention, General Alvin Crowder of the Washington Senators tossed one up Texas and John W. Van Ryn of Philadelphia, representing the United States, and Crawford and Hopman, the likely Australian players.

The last two singles matches will be played Monday.

The winner of the tie will meet Brazil in the inter-zone final at Forest Hills, L. I., the second week in June.

Tommy Paul Is Feather Champ

DETROIT, May 27 (AP)—Tommy Paul, game little warrior from Buffalo, N. Y., today wears the National Boxing association's belt emblematic of the featherweight championship.

He won it handily last night by outfighting Johnny Pena, rugged New York thoroughbred of the 15-round final bout of a tournament to fill the vacancy left when Bat Batalino outgrew the division.

In his dressing room after the fight, the new champion said he would defend his title here in September against Fidel La Barba.

Brooklyn got its batting order mixed up and lost a run that would have won went on to beat the Giants, anyway, 3 to 2, in twelve rounds.

Pittsburgh made it three straight from Cincinnati, 3 to 2, and went into fifth place.

Fields' Eyesight May Be Ruined

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—Jackie Fields, 25-year-old world's welterweight champion, is suffering from impaired vision which may endanger his ring career.

This was exclusively learned by The Associated Press after reports were first circulated that Fields had been taken to a hospital in Chicago for a suspected appendicitis case. Dr. Harry S. Gradle, an eye specialist, is in charge. Dr. Gradle, while insisting that Fields' trouble may be temporary, said today a detached retina is always suspected whenever a blur occurs in the vision.

Fields' trouble is in his right eye. After boxing five rounds with a negro sparring mate Tuesday, the welterweight champion first complained of impaired vision and was sent to the hospital.

Fields' impending ring contests, including a title match with young Corbett, Fresno, Calif., southpaw at San Francisco June 25, are up in the air. His bout with Teddy Yaroz, in Pittsburgh next Tuesday night has been cancelled.

CANNIBALS IN FIRST DIVISION AFTER WINNING

LONGVIEW OUTFIT HAS THRIVED IN NEW QUARTERS

By The Associated Press

The "never say die" spirit enabled the Longview Cannibals, newest addition to the Texas league, to vault into the first division yesterday. Two runs behind at the start of the last half of the twelfth, the savages tallied thrice to defeat Fort Worth, 5 to 4.

Bob Fuss' single with two men down was the deciding wallop and it spelled another setback for the aging Lil Stoner, who had retired one man after relieving Dick Whitworth with the score tied. Tom Conlan of Longview also had to have help in the twelfth but Bryan turned the kitties back without another run.

The rampant Dallas Steers meanwhile gained a half game on the equally rampant Beaumont Exporters by defeating Tyler again, 9 to 5, while two home runs against the Sports and Rip Radcliff got one. Washington and Benton clouted homers for the losers but they together did not drive in as many runs as the five Loopp accounted for.

Houston kept pace with Dallas by coasting to a 5 to 1 victory over San Antonio. The veteran Ray Moss limited the tribe to four singles.

The Expo ters planned to play a double header against Galveston today to make up for yesterday's idleness.

YALE'S CURTAILMENT FOR ATHLETIC PROGRAM SUDDEN

Less Competition and More Intramural Participation Is To Be Provided

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Yale's athletic right-about face caught the college sports world unawares today and left it astonished, and perhaps, mildly aghast as well.

Only scattering comment on old Eli's plan of sharp curtailment of intercollegiate competition in favor of intra-mural sports was available as most college heads preferred to take "time out" and study the report.

What comment there was, however, was distinctly favorable although here and there a glistening voice was heard.

The Yale plan, designed to go into effect in part at least in 1933 after the residential house plan is established, schedule to five games, all against major opponents; bring about an endowment fund to cover athletic expenses, and, at the same time, sharply cut those expenses; provide for free admission of undergraduates to all contests; and make all students, regardless of house teams under amateur coaching.

There were many other provisions in the plan drawn up by a survey committee and approved by President James Rowland Angell but those wear the most important.

WHY FRANCE LACKS GAME

PARIS (AP)—Despite complaints that game is scarce in France, 1,600,000 persons have taken out gun licenses, the fees totaling $15,000,000. Concerns supplying hunters estimate their business at $58,000,000 annually.

Bricks "Healthy Sign" To Garner

FEW HAVEN, Conn., May 27. (AP)—Bricks may be a healthier sign, Speaker John N. Garner terms them a "healthy sign."
 "The country is throwing a lot of bricks at us, but I don't mind that a bit," the speaker, one of the three leading candidates for the democratic presidential nomination, said in an interview published today in the Yale Daily News.
 "Do you know, I always have loved a good fight, and so all of the cartoons, editorials, letters and word of mouth attacks don't bother me. They rather please me. It's a healthy sign when people take so much interest in the affairs of the country."
 There is one thing that does bother him, the speaker said, and that is the large amount of "personal" mail he receives.

Murray Clamps on Martial Law

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 27. (AP)—Martial law in Oklahoma oil fields, lifted a week ago today, has been clamped down again by Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray to prevent the courts from interfering by injunction with enforcement of proration.
 Other than to denounce acting Governor Robert Burns for lifting martial law while he was in New York, Murray took no action until the Wilcox Oil and Gas company, a bitter foe of proration, filed a petition in the supreme court seeking a writ of prohibition to retain the state corporation commission from enforcing proration.

Four Persons Die In Ship Collision

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—The small steamer Grecian, rolling down from Boston to Norfolk, with a crew of 35, a cargo of general freight and no passengers, collided with the City of Chattanooga in dense fog and dangerous seas off Block Island early today and went to the bottom. Bodies of four victims were recovered.
 The master of the Grecian was among those saved.

BY ROBBIN COONS
 HOLLYWOOD — A separation that has nothing to do with the divorce courts always lends variety to the Hollywood scene—especially when the break divides a screen team as familiar as Wheeler and Woolsey, who have been together in all screen appearances save one.
 When Bert Wheeler left the other day for New York to make his way alone after a disagreement over a contract, according to the cigar-chewing Robert Woolsey, he dissolved a partnership that, dated back to their stage appearance in "Rio Rita," their work in the screen version made them a starting team in pictures, and they continued under joint contracts.
 Such disagreements seem to be the fate of most teams of the stage apparently more than of the screen. Weber and Fields, Gallagher and Shean, were two teams frequently disrupted and reconciled. Moran and Mack broke with each other several times, acquiring new partners as he went along.

Why They Separate
 Numerous teams have dissolved partnership on the screen, but seldom at their own desires. Screen teams are formed by the producing outfits, and dissolved, usually, by the same authorities, as was the case with Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, Karl Dane and George K. Arthur.
 Charles Murray and George Sidgwick have stuck together through thousands of feet of film, as a popular box-office combination. So have Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy—and may the day never come when these two decide to call quits!

They Stick Together
 Probably the longest-lasting theatrical team, McIntyre and Heath, belongs to the stage. If they worked in pictures, no doubt long ago they would have been separated, either because box-office returns on co-starring features would promise greater returns as individual stars, or because the team as such, after so many years, would run into the usual fate of teams—and stars.
 Woolsey is considering, by the way, forming a partnership with Harry Langdon, who is set to try the screen again.

Mrs. H. C. Charless and infant daughter were removed yesterday from Pampa hospital to the Charless home at 522 North Frost.

Osage County Realizes Dream of Seeing Wealth Restored To Hills

TULSA, Okla., May 27. (AP)—Dreams of wealth are returning to Osage country.
 Once more the full-blood brave of the Osage Tribe and his mixed blood kinsmen, still in possession of a share of the tribal holdings in the recently immensely rich oil regions of the reservation are letting their minds go with the idea of unlimited flow of liquid gold.
 The reason for this is the strike of Charles B. Peters last week in a formerly unexplored section of the hill country.
 Peters' drill brought in a well that flowed 5,000 barrels of oil on its initial test and has since increased its flow to more than 8,500 barrels a day.
 Better still, the gravity of the oil, by which its comparative value is gauged, at 41 is five points higher than the average for the Osage country.
 "During the World War," the operator explained, "the Osages tried to give the government two of its choicest drilling structures as naval oil reserves." Peters said. "When vast public lands, the government never formally accepted the land and did not use it. About two years ago the land was formally returned to the Indians. It is one of these structures that I obtained my leases and drilled."
 Although there are more than 6,000 wells in the Osage lands, some of them played out and were abandoned. There has been displayed an unusual interest in the Peters find because the structure from which the oil is flowing has not definitely been classified, and there is some question as to the exact extent of the pool that has been opened.
 Most of the Osage wells produce from the Wilcox sand or a silicious lime. Peters' records show the drill went past both structures. The higher gravity oil adds to the belief that a new structure has been discovered.
 If this is true, a renewal of drilling activities in the Osage appears assured with the return of more bountiful economic times. There will be on rush into the area and on "boom" such as would have occurred four or five years ago, even as at Oklahoma City, in East Texas or any of a hundred other oil discoveries.
 The big companies have hurriedly blocked up the available leases and there is little chance of the shoestring operator setting up a rig and going after the oil, as has been the case in so many new oil fields. Money for such ventures cannot be obtained as easily as in the past. Leases on reserved Osage lands are not plentiful and are not obtained as easily as when some poor farmer owns the wildcat or semi-wildcat land to be explored.
 Although only one well has been drilled in, and Peters says he is in no hurry to drill more now, desiring orderly, unburied recovery with the consequent extension of the life of the pool, already he has become of increased stature to the Osages.

 On his frequent trips to the well site the reserved and proud Indians lessen their gravity as they step forward to shake his hand and call him friend.
 Their wealth has decreased mightily due to depletion of their wells, but they see in the discovery of the Peters well a return of their old time affluence.
 A more cautious race since they learned that there was a limit to their easy riches, the Osages will be more careful if they do receive once more greater incomes than at present, when a head-rig will bring in less than $500 a year, Peters believes.
 "Individually, some of them are spendthrifts, like some white men, but when in tribal council or acting as a body, the Osage Indians are shrewd and thoughtful. They look ahead, and if this strike develops as the Indians believe it will, they will be much better prepared than in former times to take care of what comes to them," Peters said.

HARVEST IS EARLY

QUANAH, May 27. (AP)—Wheat harvest in Hardeman county will be started about June 5, and should be in full swing by the 10th, according to leading wheat growers. The yield is variously estimated to average from 12 to 20 bushels, and some fields reported will thresh out 25 to 30 bushels per acre. Many combines will be used, although several threshing outfits are contracting fields in advance. Many farmers state they prefer paying the additional charge for threshing over the combine price and have the straw and are planning to do their own cutting and shocking and use their own labor on the threshers.

OLDTIMERS--

His half-brother, Paul Coe, who has lived on the same place at Mobeetie for 55 years. Mr. Coe has mustaches like Alfalfa Bill, and Dave Lard of Miami, another oldtimer present said that George looked like he had swallowed two squirrels and the tails had stuck in each corner of his mouth.

Women Folks Happy

Wives and daughters of the pioneers filled one corner of the lobby and as Judge Ewing said, "the women folks are having as good a time as the men." Judge Ewing, who was one of the first oldtimers to approve the Frontier Days celebration, is sort of an official host. He moved continuously through the crowd yesterday and today, encouraging conversation, starting reminiscences, and in general acting the part of a genial host.

Pioneer atmosphere on the occasion was lent this morning by Mrs. Raymond Harnah, Mrs. B. E. Finley, Mrs. Lee Ledrick and Mrs. McConnell, all of whom were dressed up in ancient costumes. Mrs. Harnah wore a Civil war costume 75 years old. She had on a light-green, very light green, silk skirt with many ruffles and tucks, a black dolman, a hand-made parakee hat that sat on the side of her head. Mrs. McConnell was wearing her wedding dress and a hat with a long blue plume. Mrs. Finley and Mrs. Ledrick wore costumes of about 1908.

Rangers Reunited

The hotel lobby was the scene of the reunion of two old Texas Rangers this morning. F. W. Hoffer of Miami and W. T. Melton of Anadarko, Okla., both of whom served under Capt. George Arrington, and in this connection, it was mentioned that John Arrington, son of the famous Ranger captain was present. He is a young man of about 35. Both Mr. Hoffer and Mr. Melton were members of the company. Mr. Hoffer was a Ranger from 1882 to 1893. Mr. Melton was a Ranger from 1882 for several years. Two of his brothers, A. B. and C. F. Melton of Mobeetie accompanied W. T. to Pampa today. C. F. was born at Mobeetie in 1881 and A. B. was born there in 1885.

One of the oldest men in the Panhandle, Uncle Dick Bussell of Canadian, 86 years old, came down with friends this morning. Uncle Dick uses crutches, but when he heard that all the oldtimers were coming to Pampa they couldn't keep him away, he said. Uncle Dick came to the Panhandle in 1874 as a buffalo hunter, and he slew hundreds of the great shaggy beasts.

Another buffalo hunter present was S. E. Hedgcoth of Kingsmill who had his own buffalo camp in the Panhandle in 1875. He had a crew of five men and they killed as many as 50 buffaloes in one day in '75. After that year, the great American herd broke into bunches. In '76 and '77 Mr. Hedgcoth and his men killed stragglers. Mr. Hedgcoth had a plot assigned to him by General McKenzie at Fort Sill, and he and his men hunted buffaloes on this land.

A cowboy who was an LX cowboy in the 1880's and still is a cowboy is Clem Johnson. Clem was kidded quite a lot this morning by his old-time compuncher buddies for his long hair. Clem still wears his hair like Buffalo Bill. He also has Alfalfa Bill, or walrus, mustaches. LX Boys Here

Another old LX cowhand was present this morning in the person of Dr. E. F. True of Amarillo. Dr. True is a veterinarian, or "horse doctor," as he jokingly referred to himself. He came to the Panhandle in 1878.

Among the women sitting in the lobby was Mrs. Marian Walstad who came to the Panhandle in 1886. She was born in Norway. Her daughters, Mrs. Archie King and Mrs. Lee Ledrick accompanied her to the Frontier Days reunion of oldtimers. Archie King from over on the river was also present. Long-time residents still tell of the time when Mrs. King, an expert cow girl, roped a bear when she was a girl. Since yesterday at noon more

CANNIBALS SELL GIRLS

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Reports from the Solomon Islands tell that tribes there are selling girls to traders with $40 as the top price. The drawback is that the girls come from cannibal tribes and are regarded as dangerous companions.

More than 100 oldtimers have registered at the Schneider hotel to bring the number of visitors who came to the Panhandle prior to 1890 up to 238. Amarillo, Clarendon, Miami, and Canadian were well represented in the list today. Dick Bussell of Canadian and Mark Fusaby topped the list of oldtimers today with their 1874 entry into the Panhandle. More are expected to arrive this afternoon, and tomorrow morning to take part in the final parade which will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Additional oldtimers are: Mrs. G. M. Black, Groom, 1890; Mrs. Fannie Shelton, Miami, 1877; Mrs. Jeff Johnson, Miami, 1890; Tom Graham, Wichita Falls, 1884; N. E. Ford, Amarillo, 1880; J. W. Twelve Thousand Fed at Barbecue

Twelve thousand or more persons were fed barbecued beef, buns, pickles, onions, and coffee this noon as a free feature of Frontier Days.

According to Earl Talley, who was in charge of the serving, the throngs "arrived in droves" from 11 a. m. to after 1 p. m. They ate 20,000 buns, 15 beeves and 2,000 pounds of other meat, 60 gallons of pickles, and 10 bushels of onions. Mr. Talley sat on a platform and with a megaphone directed Junior chamber of commerce members in the serving "Onions on chute No. 2," he would yell, and the vegetable would be carried to the spot. Mel B. Davis obtained the beeves and the Junior chamber paid for the rest.

Thousands of cars were parked south of the gridiron during the barbecue and remained during the afternoon rodeo. Prominent in the list of workers at the barbecue was John Puryear of Wellington, candidate for state representative.

SIDELIGHTS OF FRONTIER DAYS

Harm Sweeney of Amarillo, cattle inspector known throughout the Panhandle, made his first trip by plane today when he flew over in a ship piloted by J. Taylor to attend the Frontier Days celebration and barbecue. Mr. Sweeney was so air sick when he arrived here he could not eat any of the barbecue.

Miss Fannie May, high school English teacher, is operating an ice cream stand at the rodeo grounds. At first she merely stood behind her counter and waited for customers, but competition was so stiff on account of the fortune tellers, doll booths, etc., that she gradually acquired a megaphone pitch to her ballyhoo of "Ice cream!"

Miss Jacque Downs, who won the Miss North Plains beauty contest, is attending the rodeo night and day. She was wearing a riding suit of blue corduroy yesterday and today.

Uncle Charlie Woods who has lived in Wheeler county for about 50 years made it to Pampa today. Uncle Charlie lives down on Sweetwater.

Lon L. Blansett said he would make an extra effort to have the rodeo start on time tonight. The first event will start at 8:15 o'clock, he said.

The hearse driven in the parade by G. C. Malone yesterday was manufactured in 1904 and sold for $1,280. It was bought by G. M. Eakle of Amarillo. It was built of hand-sawed oak. Mr. Malone used to drive the hearse to Panhandle, Claude, Vega for funerals, on trips that required several days to make.

Visiting editors yesterday included J. C. Rothwell of the Berger Daily Herald and T. A. Landers of the McLean News. H. E. Castleberry of Mobeetie arrived today.

No one is enjoying the Frontier Days celebration more than Dorothy Ann Dilley, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Dilley. She attends the rodeos and barbecues in typical cowboy costume.

No well-cooked beef for Dr. E. F. True of Amarillo, pioneer Panhandle veterinarian. Dr. True likes blood in his meat... just enough to make it a dark pink meat. At the barbecue he was carrying around a bone 18 inches long covered with

LeFors Fiddler Is Winner of Contest

Will Rogers of LeFors won the old fiddlers contest last night at the Rex theater. He played two pieces to win the first cash prize. One of these "Waggoner." Second place was won by a Mr. David of Clarendon who played the "Arkansas Traveler."

The Pampa entry, Mr. Vincent won third place by playing "Listen to the Mockingbird," and "Dixie." There were three entrants in the contest.

pink meat. He was also hunting salt. Dr. True expressed scorn for moderns who like their meat well-cooked. "I've et many a hunk almost raw meat," he declared.

First Library Is Organized in 1907

One of the first efforts to develop Pampa culturally was the formation of the first library association in 1907. The first mention of such a board was made by Mrs. Will Bendler, Mrs. Nels Walberg, and Mrs. Sam Rider in the old White House Lumber yard. A short time later a group of 18 or 20 persons met at the school house to make definite plans for the library.

Book showers were held and money was earned by giving plays and conducting spelling bees. The library was located in the First National bank building, and members took time about caring for it. When there was no longer a place to house the library, the books were given to the schools and churches.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: JOSEPH THE DREAMER.

Scripture Lesson: Gen. 37:1-11.

1. And Jacob dwelt in the land of his father's sojournings, in the land of Canaan.

2. These are the generations of Jacob. Joseph, being seventeen years old, was feeding the flock with his brethren; and he was with the sons of Bilhah, and with the sons of Zilpah, his father's wives; and Joseph brought the evil report of them unto their father.

3. Now Jacob loved Joseph more than all his children, because he was the son of his old age; and he made him a coat of many colors.

4. And his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren; and they hated him, and could not speak peaceably unto him.

5. And Joseph dreamed a dream, and he told it to his brethren; and they hated him yet the more.

6. And he said unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed:

7. For, behold, we were binding sheaves in the field, and lo, my sheaf arose, and also stood upright; and, behold, your sheaves came round about, and made obeisance to my sheaf.

8. And his brethren said to him, Shalt thou indeed reign over us? or shalt thou indeed have dominion over us? And they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words.

9. And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it to his brethren, and said, Behold, I have dreamed yet a dream; and, behold, the sun and the moon and eleven stars made obeisance to me.

10. And he told it to his father, and his father rebuked him, and said unto him, What is this dream that thou hast dreamed? Shall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth?

11. And his brethren envied him; but his father kept the saying in mind.

Golden Text: Take thought for things honorable in the sight of all men.—Rom. 12:17.

Time: Joseph born, B. C. 1752.

Joseph's dream, B. C. 1736.

Place: Born at Haran in Mesopotamia. Joseph spent his boyhood at Hebron.

Introduction

A company of Boston authors once voted on the most perfect story in all literature, and their choice fell on the story of Joseph. Though true and not fiction that story contains all the elements of ideal romance. The plot is beyond praise in the skill of its unfolding, the conclusion is truthful and inspiring, and its truth is not only stranger than fiction, but far more beautiful.

Our lessons for four Sundays will study the successive scenes in the drama of Joseph's life. The account is interesting and instructive also because Joseph is one of the few prominent Bible characters of whom nothing bad is said. Jonathan is another. But with most of the leading characters of the Bible that honest volume has some fault to find, relating some of their sins or follies. We have just seen an example of this in the story of Jacob, the tricky yet the devout, the Supplanter yet the Striver with God. These characters of mingled good and evil come very close to us, being so like ourselves yet it is made delightful to come across such a person as Joseph, in whom we can see nothing to forgive.

Joseph and Jesus

And Joseph, in many aspects of his life, reminds us much of Jesus Christ—as much, perhaps, as a mere mortal could remind us of the God-man. We shall have occasion, as we go on, to point out many of these aspects. It is the business of every Christian life to remind men of Christ, so that they may take knowledge of them that they have been with Jesus; and Joseph gives us many hints of how this is to be done.

"In its way this story is probably unsurpassed. Its vividness of narrative is extraordinary. It contains scenes of great pathos: in the delineation of character, it exhibits strength and simplicity of portraiture. Joseph's career is dramatic in its vicissitudes. Throughout all the events of his chequered life, God's overruling Providence is seen to be guiding him. He is led by the discipline of sorrow and misfortune to the position in which he is ultimately to prepare a home for his father and his brethren. His generous magnanimity recompenses with complete forgiveness the men who had basely plotted his death. The story of Joseph was deservedly a favorite among the Israelites."—Dean Herbert E. Ryle.

Joseph's Childhood

Joseph was born in Haran while Jacob was sojourning there during his twenty years out of the land of Canaan. He was the son of Rachel whom Jacob loved and the one whom he wished to marry, and did marry after Leah had practiced the deception on him by giving him Leah first. He was a little fellow, only six years of age, when he came to Canaan. They had scarcely arrived in Canaan when his mother died upon the birth of Benjamin.

Jacob's Family

"Now Israel loved Joseph more than all his children." More than all his other children. Benjamin was too young to be thought of in this connection, the passage dealing with the relation of the older sons to Joseph. "Because he was the son of his old age." Jacob was ninety-two years old (Becher) when Joseph was born. Benjamin was born six years later, and he, in Gen. 44:20, is called the son of Jacob's old age. "And he made him a coat of many colors." Literally, "tunic of palms," that is a tunic with sleeves reaching to the hands and also to the feet, the ordinary tunic being sleeveless and short. Persons of distinction wore them, and they were bestowed, as here, to indicate special affection. They were embroidered in gay colors, and with figures of animals, whence arose the idea of coats of many

CALLED IN KIDNAPING INQUIRY

Bronx, N. Y., where Dr. John F. Condon ("Jafste") delivered $50,000 to the supposed abductors of the Lindbergh baby, was the scene of the first actual grand jury investigation into the kidnaping and killing of the child. Here Max Rosenhan (left), restaurant proprietor, and Milton Gaglio (right), both of whom accompanied Dr. Condon to the Lindberghs' Hopewell, N. J., home on one occasion, are shown after they had testified at the grand jury inquiry.

Parking grounds around Harvester park reminded one of the football season this afternoon when more than 2,500 people saw the rodeo.

had much to do with the strife and hatred which made life so difficult for Joseph and brought much sorrow into his own heart. It is not similar lack of wisdom a sad factor in the disharmony of many of our modern homes? Children are different even when brought up in the same environment, as different as Jacob and Esau, as Joseph and his brethren. And it is natural that parents should have a different kind of regard for different traits. But their responsibility is for all, and how disastrous partiality can become is well illustrated in the lesson.

An Unforgiven Speech

A distinguished man, when past middle life, related an experience which occurred in his own home in his young manhood. At the breakfast table one morning, he and a younger brother had a sharp quarrel about some unimportant matter. He confessed that he was most unbrotherly in his words, speaking with bitterness. The brother rose and left the table and went to his business very angry. Before noon the younger brother died suddenly in his office. When, twenty years afterward, the older brother spoke of the occurrence, he said that it had cast a shadow over all his life. He could not forgive himself for his part in the bitter quarrel. He had never ceased to regret with sorrow that no opportunity had come to him to confess his fault and seek forgiveness, and reconciliation.

Wilcox Company Attacks Proration

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 27 (AP)—The H. P. Wilcox oil and gas company launched a new attack yesterday on the entire oil proration set-up of the Oklahoma corporation commission before the state supreme court.

Meanwhile, Governor W. H. Murray, in his press conference, said he doubted validity of the order of Lieutenant Governor Burns, as acting governor, lifting martial law in the state oil fields. Burns revoked the martial law edict of Governor Murray while the latter was in New York last week.

Following the press conference, the governor and lieutenant colonel Cicero Murray, his cousin who had been in charge of the military unit under the martial law edict, went into conference.

Announcement that the Wilcox company will seek a writ of prohibition from the state supreme court to halt enforcement of proration was made by W. L. Murphy, attorney for the company.

CENTRALIA, Ill., May 27 (AP)—Business with H. C. Gildehaus, operator of a gasoline filling station, is business and nothing else.

A prospective customer drove up yesterday.

"I'd give" said the visitor, "my right leg for some gasoline."

"O. K.," said Gildehaus, "give me the leg."

And what did the customer—a tourist—do but hand him his right wooden leg.

He got the gas and said he'd be back later to reclaim his leg.

INSTALLMENT TAXES

MALLEN, May 27 (AP)—The city of MalLEN has adopted the installment plan of tax payment.

The taxpayer can arrange his payments along practically the same lines as he can arrange his radio and automobile payments. He can work out an arrangement for weekly or monthly cash allotments or pre-dated checks.

NO RABBIT ROPING

ODESSA, May 27 (AP)—There will be no roping of wild jackrabbits at the American Legion rodeo here May 30 and 31. The event was ordered deleted after protests were received from a group of citizens of Denver, Colo., who claimed that it would be inhumane.

The protest was sent to Sheriff Reeder Webb and officials of the Earl S. Bailey post of the Legion.

When it rains it pours

Rain is an almost everyday occurrence in Old England. Here we see a group of Londoners crossing historic London Bridge.

When it costs but 10c a month to use Morton's Iodized Salt, why continue to put up with unknown brands that clog saltcellars in damp weather? Made with cube-shaped crystals, which tumble off one another instead of sticking together like the flake crystals of inferior salts, this famous salt pours just as freely on rainy days as on dry! And, best of all, it protects children against simple goiter, that cause of loss of appetite, lack of vigor and backwardness at school.

Clean as a whistle

MY, BOBBY, DID YOU EVER SEE SUCH FOAMY LATHER! I DON'T KNOW HOW I'D EVER GET YOU CHILDREN CLEAN WITHOUT KIRK'S COCO HARDWATER CASTILE!

PLEASE, MOTHER, CAN I HAVE A SHAMPOO? IT MAKES MY HAIR SO SOFT AND NICE.

SAVE PLENTY OF SUDS FOR ME, MOTHER. I SLID HOME ON MY EAR!

When, rough-and-tumble youngsters rub the dirt right into their skins—and they all do—it takes lots of good lather to get it out again! Ordinary soaps don't dissolve freely enough—especially if the water is the least bit hard. They give a stingy lather, leave a dirty, soapy film on skin and hair. What's needed is a special soap—and no soap softens and loosens dirt, in any water, like Kirk's Coco Hardwater Castile.

Oceans of lather—instantly!

Here's the difference: Kirk's is made from 100% pure coconut oil. It bursts into lather instantly—even in the hardest, coldest water. It rinses off completely—leaving skin and hair as fresh and clean as a spring morning. Body odors disappear like magic. Try it today—for hands, for bath, for a wonderful shampoo. And for economy! Of the four leading toilet soaps, Kirk's is half again larger, yet the price is the same! Avoid imitations. Look for the arrows.

Magnolia Gas and Lubricants Are Tested On Southwestern Tour

On a 3,500-mile tour of the Southwest, designed to test the performance of Magnolia fuels and lubricants under actual driving conditions, new Chevrolet, Plymouth, and Ford V-8 sedans, latest additions to the test fleet of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, arrived in Pampa this morning.

Filed by W. T. Ashcraft, John A. Howlett and E. D. Kruger, lubrication engineers on the Magnolia technical department staff, the test cars are making what is probably the most extensive motor vehicle test tour ever undertaken in the Southwest. The test cars, painted white with red wire wheels are lettered with blue signs stating their purpose, are specially equipped with scientific testing instruments which show accurately the performance of the cars and of the fuel and lubricants used under various climatic, road and speed driving conditions.

"As the pioneer oil producing and refining company in the Southwest, Magnolia was called upon to lubricate the first motor vehicles to be operated in this section of the United States," Mr. Ashcraft said in explaining the purpose of the tour. "Ever since the beginning of the automotive industry our company has kept pace with every advance in automotive engineering by producing fuels and lubricants, refined and blended with an exactness which assures maximum performance and economy."

Instruments with which these cars are equipped will reveal how Magnolia fuels and lubricants function in the new Ford, Plymouth and Chevrolet cars. Instrument readings, graphs, charts and other data compiled in this manner is turned over to Magnolia engineers and chemists for their use in designing Magnolia products to meet every requirement of present day motor vehicles.

While in Pampa the Magnolia test cars will make contact with dealers of the makes represented while the Magnolia lubricating engineers are available for consultation on questions of correct lubrication.

Scientific testing instruments are installed in the test cars. On the dash of each car is found a tachometer which shows motor speed in revolutions per minute, four oil temperature gages giving readings of oil temperatures in the crank case, at the oil pump outlet, in the transmission and in the differential, a special 100-mile precision speedometer and odometer and an automatic service recorder which makes a permanent daily record of the time the car is in operation and in-
Other testing instruments are mounted on a large panel board behind the driver's seat. On this instrument board are: a water temperature gauge taking readings from cylinder walls, an oil temperature gauge, a vacuum gauge registering from the intake manifold, a flow meter which registers the rate of gasoline flow and shows vapor lock, a fuel analyzer which shows when the carburetor is adjusted for maximum economy and best performance, a gasoline mileage tester and a potentiometer, with 9-point switch reveals temperatures in the cylinder head, cylinder walls, bearings and intake manifold. The test cars also carry hydrometers for testing the specific gravity of gasoline and oils and an air thermometer to show the temperature of the atmosphere.

The itinerary of the test tour includes the following cities and intermediate points in the order named: Dallas, Ft. Worth, Hillsboro, Waco, Temple, Austin, San Marcos, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Houston, Beaumont, Lake Charles, Shreveport, Texarkana, Little Rock, Fort Smith, Muskogee, Tulsa, Guthrie, Oklahoma City, Clinton, Amarillo, Pampa, Tucuman, Albuquerque, Socorro, Las Cruces, El Paso, Pecos, Midland, Big Springs, Sweetwater, Abilene, Albany, Breckenridge, Graham, Olney, Archer City, Wichita Falls, Bowie, Gainesville, Denison, Sherman, McKinney and Dallas.

Biggest Bull In World Is Dead

ODESSA, May 27.—Jumbo is no longer the largest Hereford bull in the world, for he is dead. Owned by John M. Gist, veteran breeder at Odessa, Jumbo gained the 3,709 pound mark before he was shipped to Fort Worth for slaughter. This huge piece of meat, measuring 14 feet from the tip of his nose to the root of his tail and six feet from the high point of his shoulder to the bottom of his hoof, carried more weight than any other Hereford bull in the world.

Kept in a double stall at the Gist Hereford farms, Jumbo attracted nationwide attention. Gist had been offered $1 per pound if he could get the bull to top the two-ton mark. Coming within 291 pounds of the goal, Jumbo started falling off, because of the excess weight placed on his hoofs.

Gist said he would attempt to raise another bull surpassing the record that Jumbo made. Other cattlemen over this section of the country are endeavoring to gain the distinction of raising such a Hereford, but so far have not come near the mark set by the veteran breeder.

ETHIOPIAN QUEEN SCORNS STYLISH PARISIAN FROCKS

DDIS ABABA (P)—Waldern Meun, piously party queen of Abyssinia, refuses to endorse all the westernizing reforms of Emperor Haile Selassie I. For example, she threw aside a complete wardrobe from Paris and wears instead the conventional dress for women of Ethiopia. This consists of balloon trousers tied at the ankles, a long silk tunic and a "chamma," or thin, shawl-like garment resembling the old Roman toga.

Windiest Day In Panhandle Was April 2, 1925

GOODWELL, Okla., May 27.—The interesting behavior of our Panhandle climate is but a matter of cold statistics, (or dry or dusty as you like it) in the office of the Panhandle Agricultural Experiment Station here. But a few odd facts are allowed to sift out now and then, according to H. H. Finzell, Director.

March may be, and is, the windiest month but the windiest day recorded since the establishment of the experiment station in 1923 was April 2, 1925 when the average velocity of the wind for 24 hours was 41.2 miles per hour. No day has so far been recorded without any wind but records as low as one mile per hour have been made. The windiest month on record was March 1927 with June 1925 and May 1927 running it a close race. August, of course, as any one could guess proved to be the dull month so far as any atmospheric excitement was concerned.

In a study made by Fennell the chief usefulness of wind, pumping water, does not necessarily increase with the velocity. According to data secured with a common type of windmill the amount of water pumped after the velocity of wind increases beyond a given figure was not greatly increased.

The injurious effects of wind on plant growth are not confined to the waste of moisture supply but may be partly the result of physical damage. Exposure to wind has been shown by Fennell's experiments to delay maturity and to decrease the yield in some cases as much as fifty percent, although additional supplies of moisture were provided to make up for the increased evaporation. Markedly beneficial effects may be expected with tender flowers and vegetables if windbreak protection of some effective sort is provided.

Farmer Making Sixtieth Crop

RUSK, May 25.—W. T. Linstron, who lives near Alto, is making his sixtieth crop.

Linstron was born in Sweden, March 3, 1841. After coming to America he traveled some years in the north before settling in Louisiana, where he made his first cotton crop, 21 bales. He came to Cherokee county in 1882 and has been out of it only one time since then.

Linstron says he has hauled cotton 30 miles and sold it for five cents per pound and still made money. In his earlier years he could pick 450 pounds of cotton per day. Last year he had to be content with picking 100 pounds per day.

Terraced Wheat Land Produces 4 Bushels More

Wheat planted on terraced land yielded 4.2 bushel more per acre than wheat on unterraced lands at the Federal erosion-control experiment farm at Bethany, Mo., says A. T. Holman, Bureau of the Agriculture Engineering, who has charge of the engineering experimental work. The average yields were 26.4 bushels per acre on the terraced area and 22.2 bushels on the unterraced area, the first season after the terraced areas, with steep and moderate slopes and with different kinds of crops, and include measurements of run-off water and of rainfall.

On light porous soils at the experiment farm, level terraces have proved more effective than graded terraces in conserving both soil and moisture, because most of the water soaks into the ground instead of flowing away at the ends of the terraces. On heavy impervious soils, however, the level terraces sometimes may hold water long enough to cause damage to the crops growing in the terrace channel. On heavy soil types the graded terrace with a suitable fall best serves the three purposes of preventing erosion, conserving moisture and improving drainage.

From the facts developed in these erosion-control investigations the engineers hope to determine, under the different combinations of soil conditions, ground slopes, and crops, the types of terraces which result in the most profitable yields of crops and whether the better drained graded terrace is better than the level terrace, or vice versa, for conserving moisture from rainfall.

War on Prairie Dogs Is Started

LUBBOCK, May 27.—A campaign to exterminate pocket gopher and prairie dogs is being waged in South Plains counties by J. M. Hill Jr., of the United States biological survey, who has headquarters now in Lubbock.

Hill has mixed hundreds of pounds of grain and poison for these pests during the past year. He has worked all over the plains, through county agents and commissioners' courts.

Until the first of July Hill plans to work in and around Lubbock county. He reports a large number of prairie dog colonies in the county, one being over a five-section tract of land.

"Prairie dogs are pretty well worked out of Hockley and even in Cochran county, but they are bad in Lubbock," he said.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

Lucky indeed is the June bride who numbers a waffle iron among her wedding or shower gifts. The first thing for her to do is to master the art of making waffles and her fame will go abroad as a wonderful cook.

Almost everybody likes waffles and there are few others dishes that will be hailed with delight at any meal from breakfast to the after-theater party. They can be used as a main course or they may take the place of cake in the dessert. Chocolate waffles and ice cream, gingerbread waffles and whipped cream, rice waffles and creamed chicken or creamed fish, plain waffles and maple syrup or honey, waffles and crushed berries—these are just a few suggestions for varying the waffles and their ways of serving.

The crispness of waffles makes them an ideal bread or cake substitute for a late party meal since this quality makes them more easily digested than bread or cake.

It's "Emergency" Dish. A strong point in their favor lies in the fact that waffles must always be made at the last minute. This puts them in the first rank of "emergency" dishes, for the guest can never guess whether they were planned or not. No matter how simple the meal, waffles are considered a treat. There may be no dessert in the house and the ice cream may be picked up at the corner drug store on the way home, but if the hostess makes up a pitcher of waffle batter and the waffles are baked at the table the meal is sure to be a success.

The care of the iron is quite important because very often this determines the ease with which the baked waffles are removed from the iron. Never wash a waffle iron! The cast-iron must, of course, be seasoned before using, but after that preparation even this material should not be washed. After each baking wipe with soft crumpled paper and remove all crumbs with a stiff brush kept for the purpose. The directions which come with each particular make of iron will tell how to "condition" it and use the iron for baking.

Most irons do not require greasing, but if this is necessary an unsalted fat should be used. And now for the waffle batter. Waffle batter is known as a "pour" batter. This means that enough to pour in a stream and not drop by spoonful. For this reason:

It is the idea now that among the distinguished visiting golfers who will attract the close attention of the galleries at the British open at Sandwich, beginning June 6, will be the quiet little Japanese professional, Tommy Miyamoto, who toured the United States last winter, winding up at Pinehurst in the north and south open.

After the British open, I understand Tommy will return to America and play in our open tournament, where another foreigner will make his American debut. Or, more properly speaking, his North American debut; for he is Jose Jurado, the brilliant Argentinian who has played several times in Britain.

These two picturesque entries may be expected to go a long way at Fresh Meadow toward the realization of poyoped interest in our open championship, which was generally considered to be somewhat on the flat side in 1931, partly due, no doubt, to the first absence in a dozen years of Bobby Jones.

Francis Powers for one rates the Argentinian as a flamboyant golfer of the type to captivate the fans; and certainly his first appearance in one of the major tournaments north of the equator—they never have had one south of it—was calculated to inspire respect and admiration.

The little Jurado popped up unheralded four years ago at Sandwich, where the British open is played this year; turned in a card of 99 in one qualifying round; and at the end of the second round of the tournament was leading the field with a score of 145. Then he slipped, and Sir Walter Hagen steamed on to one of his perennial British victories.

Last summer at old Carnoustie, the little Jurado got into the British open again, and this time he and MacDonald Smith, a native of Carnoustie, looked like successive winners with half a dozen holes to play.

Tommy Armour was already in with his score; and where par golf would have matched or bettered it for the South American and the great Scot, neither could quite stick it in the closing chapters and Jurado finished a stroke back of Armour.

It seems that one Mungo Park, a British open champion of nearly half a century ago, set out rather late in life, after his golfing career had closed, upon a series of travels which ultimately led him to the Argentine, which country he found to his liking and settled there.

Mr. Powers has dug up a good story somewhere concerning the manner in which Jurado got into big-time golf.

Several Springfield, Mo., men, who were in Muleshoe on an investigation trip, announced they would return this fall and look the field over and in the event there can be secured sufficient acreage, they will build a tomato canning factory.

WOMAN HICCUPS FOR YEAR

A year ago last April Mrs. Ed Price, 30, of Russellville, Ark., started to hiccup and has been shaken by incessant hiccups ever since. Mrs. Price, left, has lost 60 pounds during the attack but maintains her cheerfulness. With her nurse, Lavada Lewis, right, she handles a huge correspondence from all over the country in which well-wishers offer cures ranging from prune juice to dynamite.

LABORATORY YIELDS NEW FACTS ON KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Its "Bulk" and Vitamin B Help Relieve Constipation; Also Has Blood-building Iron

New laboratory experiments demonstrate that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sufficient "bulk" to excise the intestines, as well as Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Now you can overcome common constipation by this pleasant "cereal way," and banish the headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

No need to worry along with pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Instead, just eat two tablespoonfuls daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—adequate for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Guaranteed pure and efficient. USE less than of high priced brands. 25 ounces for 25¢

Only two visible hazards now remain between Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the democratic nomination for president. One is the possibility that a political bombshell of one kind or another, or a major mistake in strategy, will suddenly damage the governor's present prestige beyond repair. The other is the possibility that the sentiment for other candidates can yet be merged into a dependable stop-Roosevelt union under a centralized command such as does not now exist. 'Bombshell' Rumored For a long time rumors have forecast some sort of bombshell development on the eve of the convention, produced by Roosevelt's enemies as a last resort. These rumors have suggested the possibility of a congressional inquiry into campaign funds. A resolution for that purpose is hanging fire in the senate. It was presented after some rather uncertain statements by 'Alfalfa Bill' Murray as to Roosevelt spending in the west. Nothing has come to light, however, which indicates that such an inquiry would yield anything important, and the fate of the inquiry resolution remains in doubt. The more common report is that early in June, Investigator Samuel Seabury, delving into the affairs of Mayor Walker of New York city, will ask the governor to remove Walker from office. This would be awkward, although not necessarily fatal, for Governor Roosevelt. Walker is a Tammany man, and he is a popular figure in his own town. The argument is that if Roosevelt removed Walker he would alienate so many New York democrats that he never could hope to carry his own state in November whereas if he refused or hesitated, that could be used to bolster the charge that he is weak and subservient to Tammany. There are other things which might happen, although at this moment there is no evidence that they actually will, or that Roosevelt might not be able in the end to turn them to his own advantage. Little Progress Made How to strengthen the second hazard in the governor's pathway—the opposition bloc in the convention itself—has been mulled over at length without visible progress. Only two or three of the favorite sons have any self-interest in the anti-Roosevelt movement because no more than that many retain any hope of the nomination. The union, if it ever is formed, must rest almost solely on a determination to eliminate Roosevelt without any agreement as to who is to be substituted. How many will take a last-ditch pledge of that kind? The only leader recorded as doing so is Alfred E. Smith, and there are many reasons for doubting whether a substantial number of others in key positions will follow where Smith leads. Speaker Garner, who will have the third largest vote, has said he would not be a party to a stop-any-body movement. Governor Ritchie of Maryland was quoted recently as saying he saw no reason why the candidate who appeared strongest when the convention met should not be nominated without a long deadlock. Some influential Missouri democrats expect their delegation to go to Roosevelt quickly, and there are evidences of Roosevelt strength in every one of the other favorite son delegations. This does not mean that a successful anti-Roosevelt bloc is among the impossibilities, but it does show that great difficulties stand in its way. Roosevelt Foes Firm One thing, however, must be remembered. Smith and those who actually have joined up with him against Roosevelt have enlisted for the war. No one expects them to cave in, and no one doubts their resourcefulness. If a way can be found to stop Roosevelt, they may be depended on to find it. See the rodeo tonight!
