Bankers Donate $1,000 to Historical Museum Before Adjournment

CITY IS PRAISED FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF VISITORS

Success of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society's drive to match a state appropriation of $25,000 for a museum building at Canyon was virtually assured today when the Panhandle Bankers' association voted a gift of one thousand dollars to the project.

Less than $2,000 remains to be raised by July 1, it was stated by Prof. L. F. Sheffield, field secretary of the organization. Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian, chairman of the building committee, could scarcely restrain a cowboy yell of triumph when the vote was taken. He made a stirring appeal for the gift. T. D. Hobart, who also spoke on the subject, thanked the bankers for their generosity. He is president of the historical society.

Money to Spare
The project was presented in the form of a recommendation by E. E. Finley, who read the resolutions committee's report. It was the dean of Panhandle bankers, Judge J. C. Paul of Amarillo and Panhandle, who made the motion and spoke in favor of it. The treasurer, Thos. E. Nott of Memphis, reported that the organization had a balance approximating $4,000.

In the election of officers, L. B. Steel of Dalhart was raised from vice-president to president. C. A. Gibner of Spearman, retiring secretary, was made first vice-president. Frank Paul of Panhandle was elected second vice-president. DeLena Vicars, vice-president of the local First National bank, was chosen secretary.

I HEARD--

J. S. Wynne says that the barbecue served at the White Deer Land camp last night was the best he had ever eaten. Albert Combs and Ole Peavee arrived late but bragged on the cooking.

Tom Connally of Clarendon says that he may be laid but he can still sock a golf ball. He shot a 42 in the first round yesterday afternoon over the first nine at the Country club. He beat all the youngsters around.

M. K. Brown says that he had found a way to keep the rose bushes back of the White Deer Land company building from dying. He is going to erect a rail around the bushes and send all the tobacco juice splitters around from the front of the building and let them spit around the roots and kill the bugs. There are some beautiful specimens in the rose garden.

APPEALS COURT MAY DECIDE TOMORROW ON BORGER RECALL ELECTION, MANDAMUS WRIT

Six Months May Be Allowed City For Case

AMARILLO, June 14 (AP)—Borger's recall election controversy was taken under advisement here late yesterday by the seventh court of civil appeals after a hearing on an appeal from a mandamus issued by Judge E. J. Pickens in 84th district court ordering the city commissioners to call the election for last Saturday. The city officials had won a temporary writ of prohibition last Friday, heading off the election until the hearing.

A decision date was not set by the court, although Wednesday is the regular day for proceedings. If the appeals court grants the writ, Borger officials will have six months in which to present a case showing why a recall vote should not be held. If they are overruled and if the temporary writ against the lower court judge is dissolved, the commissioners face possible contempt of court penalties and also the task of calling the special city election immediately.

The city commissioners, through City Attorney Joseph H. Aynesworth, said they carried out only enough of Judge Pickens' mandamus to avoid contempt of court, but denied that they intended to call the election Saturday.

EQUALIZATION OF TAX VALUES AIM OF PLAN

Proposals by Thomas O. Kirby, W. E. Ginn, and others to change the boundaries of road precincts in the county in order to obtain greater valuations for precincts 1, 3 and 4, were temporarily disapproved by county commissioners yesterday.

It was County Judge S. D. Stennis' opinion that if the precincts were changed at this time, voters of Phillips camp would be deprived of voting privileges in elections this summer and fall. Commissioners expressed doubt that the precincts could be changed at this time. The question of whether re-districting could be done at any time, or only in August, was discussed. Members of the court declared they did not want to take any action which would rob voters of suffrage rights.

Commissioner M. M. Neuman of McLean said that re-districting now would not have any effect upon taxes next year, and that postponing action on the matter until August would insure voters an opportunity to cast their rightful ballots. Opposition to changing the precinct boundaries at this time was expressed by Commissioners New- man, Lewis O. Cox, and H. G. McCleskey. However, they indicated that they might consider the matter from all angles later.

Mr. Kirby pointed out that the valuation of precinct 3 is $800,000, and that of precinct 2, about $200,000. He said precinct 3 has 250 votes. Mr. Kirby would place the south part of precinct 2 including Phillips camp in precinct 3. Commissioner Cox was strongly opposed to any plan to re-precinct the county. His attitude was representative of that of a number of taxpayers who were present to hear proceedings.

This morning County Attorney Sherman White told the commis-

Republicans Carry Through Cut And Dried Program in 2 Hours—Wets Are Busy—Plank Re-Written

By CECIL B. DICKSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 14.—Republican convention followers of Charles G. Dawes disregarded his protest today and secretly planned a stampede for him as republican vice-presidential nominee.

The Dawes talk was spreading rapidly about the convention floor as delegates assembled together for the first time. Texas took the initiative in the movement. Despite the stamped plans, friends of the veteran Chales Curtis still maintained his renomination was assured.

President Hoover was keeping hands off officially but significance was attached to the fact that almost every cabinet member here has declared for renomination of Curtis and will go through on that basis.

Texans Influential

So far had the campaign for Dawes progressed today that 20 to 25 states were claimed for him. Texas delegates obtained the consent of Arkansas to place the former vice-president in nomination. Illinois, home state of Dawes, still has to consider the vice-presidency but of course, it is for Dawes should he be advanced.

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 14.
While most of its leaders struggled behind the scenes with their troubles over prohibition and the vice-presidency, the republican convention met today and organized in a quiet and dignified session of less than two hours.

It heard its keynote, Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, lambast the democrats and praise a long line of republicans from Lincoln to Hoover. It cheered its heroes moderately and raved in preoccupied silence as the temporary slate of convention officials was put through in rapid order. Its half-filled galleries got hardly a thrill from the whole show.

Booze Advanced

The west and dry issue was brought officially to the notice of the assembled representatives of republicanism but hardly anyone on floor or in galleries knew it. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler sent his famous repeal resolution to the desk for reference to the platform committee, without asking that it be

Many Pampans will go to Hoover tonight to eat barbecue chicken with all the trimmings for 50 cents. The Hoover 4-H club is giving the barbecue to raise money to send a club member to the short course at College State next month.

George W. Briggs, manager of the Board of City Development, telephoned Hoover this morning that at least 50 people would attend from Pampa. The ladies were anxious to know so that they would have enough fowls barbecued for everyone.

There will be a brief entertainment program following the supper. Both Hoover and Pampa artists will perform. Cars will leave the city hall at 7 o'clock and there will be plenty of room for those who do not have cars.

The good will committee of the Board of City Development and the junior chamber of commerce, Travis Lively, chairman, will be in charge of the trip.

Democrats in the house, Dickinson said, followed Mr. Hoover for a time last fall because they had no program of their own but finally they broke away. The Republican keynoter said the result was the wrecking of the economy bill and a flouting of the party's own lead- ers.

"Ghost of 1896" The relief proposal by Speaker Garner of the house which already had been lambasted by the chief executive as a "pork barrel" measure was assailed by Dickinson. He charged also that measures sponsored by the democrats threatened to debase the dollar. It raised, he said, the "ghost of 1896."

The organizing of farmers into co-operatives for the marketing of their products was termed the out- standing accomplishment of the farm board which has been the butt of much criticism, the greater part of which is unjust.

The board was also given credit for bolstering the price of wheat and cotton through stabilization ef- forts. The profit to the farmer as a result was estimated at between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000.

Local Baptists Go To Amarillo

Many local Baptists left this morning for Amarillo to attend a mission and evangelistic conference as well as a meeting of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union, aux- iliary to the Palo Duro association. DAMAGE SUIT STARTS

W. B. Keenan's suit for damages against the LeFors Petroleum com- pany and the Prairie Oil & Gas company was started in 114th dis- trict court yesterday.

Mr. Keenan alleged that oil from earthen tanks owned by the LeFors and Prairie companies, washed down the river and burned down his house. He also claimed that he suffered injuries when the house burned. He is asking damages in the amount of $8,000.

contention that the democrats were badly divided on the issue, despite their criticism of the republican stand.

He said in the senate alone there were 1,010 votes for increases, or against decreases, by democrats dur- ing consideration of the last tariff measure for increases.

There has been, he continued, more recent illustrations of the "avidity with which the democrats pur- sue high tariff rates."

"The generously supported duties on copper, coal, oil and lum- ber," Dickinson said, referring to import levies which were placed in the recently completed tax measure.

MARCHERS ARE HELPED

EL CENTRO, Calif., June 14 (AP)—An "army" of 3,000 bonus marchers, headed for Washington from Southern California, has encountered friends so far on its trek to urge immediate payment of a bonus to world war veterans.

Fifteen tons of watermelons were given the men at Brawley. A min- istrel show and vaudeville performance given by the "army" last night netted $106.30. News from Phoenix, Ariz., informed the veter- ans that the state of Arizona and Veterans' organizations would feed them when they arrived.

dealer. Mr. Connolly deplored the fact that Panhandle wheat, even with premiums paid in Minneapolis for protein content, is so cheap that the farmers are facing a serious crisis in trying to raise it. He said the problem was heightened this year by the light crop and then prospect that the Panhandle will raise about 20 million bushels in contrast to a normal crop of nearly twice that amount.

Less Wheat—Low Price

He said the nation's crop would be about 411 millions, compared to 787 million bushels last year. But that the price keeps falling. He decried the federal farm board in phrase and figure, calling attention to un- businesslike practices, high salaries, setting up competition with firms which through taxation help support their rivals, and attempts to defy the law of supply and demand.

The bankers adjourned after thanking the city for "royal enter- tainment," which included a barbe- que and dance last night, and many visitors remained for a round of golf at the country club.

BIRD-BANDING has proved many startling facts, and many that were entirely unsuspected. By placing small metal bands on the legs of captured birds, with numbers corresponding to records of dates and locations, much valuable information has been learned regarding the migration habits of birds. The north and south mi- grations have been a known fact for years, but the east and west cross-country flights, as in the case of the pintail duck, was a sur- prising discovery.

One month is all it costs a family of average size to use this salt that never cakes or hardens. GRAFTERS AREN'T AMERICA

Nothing is much odder than the way in which the past couple of years have turned the average American into a sort of combination of Jeremiah and Job.

None of the jealous and suspicious Europeans have been able to say as many bad things about us as we have been saying about ourselves lately.

For example: the Lindbergh tragedy brings to the surface a horrible nest of human vultures, heartless chislers, cheap publicity-hounds and other vermin, and we promptly conclude "This is what our America is breeding in these times."

True enough; but we forget the lonely central figures in the affair, who showed such magnificent bavery, such noble character through it all.

Then we turn to the recent exposures of municipal corruption in New York, and wag our beards sadly over the revelations of crookedness, incompetence and moral obtuseness in high places; and we remark sadly that this is the sort of mess America makes of municipal politics.

That is very true—and yet America also bred Samuel Seabury, who exposed the whole business.

Next we get discouraged over the dilly-dallying of Congress in a time of national emergency, and we reflect that the republic is producing some fearfully inept statesmen these days.

Do we read of the silly antics of the empty-headed rich who have more money than brains? Why can't we remember such men as William Turner of Chicago, the wealthy bachelor who has been living in modest circumstances and using most of his income to feed some 3,000 school children daily?

The chislers, the easy-money boys, the grafters and the rest—they're simply vermin clinging to a sound body. They must be exterminated, and their presence is a disgrace. But they aren't America. Let's never forget it.

Hand-writing on the economic horizon but they desisted from shouting a warning when the prosperity-mad populace howled them down.

Constructive One would have to travel a long way to hear better speeches than were made by Melvin Rouff of Houston, W. B. Lee of Spur, and C. A. Jay of Dallas on current financial problems of general interest.

Down To Business There have not been as many anecdotes at this convention as one expects of other meetings. These bankers get down to brass tacks and do not mince words.

Most Deplorable Conservation of gas resources of the Panhandle again is prevented by litigation. Ratable taking is fair from a marketing standpoint, but it is even more vital from the standpoint of giving each land

They must lend money or close shop. They are cautiously optimistic, realizing that public confidence must start the long trip back to normalcy. They declare this country has had a gay picnic in public and private spending, and that paying the fiddler is not a pleasant task.

Charges Surveyed

The Texas Bankers association is making a survey of service charges with the idea of making them uniform. Some banks do not make such charges, but it is predicted in banking circles that eventually all banks will be compelled to do so.

Good Old Days

We remember that a few years ago banks advertised with such slogans as "Let us do your bookkeeping for you—write checks."

and royalty owner his fair share of the value of the fuel. Gas reserves will be drained to the enrichment of a few and impoverishment of many unless something is done about it.

Wilson Sent To Budget School County commissioners today voted to send County Auditor R. C. Wilson to the budget school at Lubbock, June 24, and to pay his expenses.

Pioneers About Either bankers early learned to know the pioneers or the pioneers the bankers—at any rate, Pampa's pioneers in large numbers attended the sessions.

FOR RESUBMISSION CHICAGO, June 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania delegates to the republican convention voted, 49 to 13, today for resubmission of the prohibition question to state conventions and immediate modification of the Volstead act.

Jobs Are Needed For Elderly Men

The chamber of commerce is handling the employment situation during the time the Pampa Welfare Board is closed and Manager George W. Briggs is anxious to place a number of elderly men at some kind of yard work.

Mr. Briggs believes that now is the time to cut weeds that have become a nuisance since the recent rains. There are many yards and vacant houses weedy grown. They detract from the beauty of the city and civic pride should be uppermost.

The "railway work will soon end and there will be plenty of men for all kinds of work but at the present time Mr. Briggs is anxious to place some men who are unable to do heavy work.

and there is an American governor who enjoys a large degree of the elderly sultan, is religious head of the people, but the Princess Dayang, his adopted daughter, and Princess Tahirah, former co-ed at the University of Illinois, wield much influence in civic affairs.

American officials say there is jealousy among followers of the women and sometimes there is difficulty in determining jurisdiction.

Princess Dayang, posthumous daughter of the sultan's brother and predecessor, was adopted by the childless present ruler several years ago. She recently tried to enhance her prestige by putting in a claim at Washington for sixteen islands scattered in the Sulu Sea and around British North Borneo.

This was disallowed because title to the island had been settled by treaties among the Moros, Great Britain and the United States after Spain surrendered her claims to America in 1899.

Princess Dayang's full name is Dayang Dayang Hadji Pandao. She backed the United States in 1915 when the sultan had to give up pretensions to temporal sovereignty.

Princess Tahirah married Tahil, a dau. soon after returning from college. She failed in 1927 to have her husband supersede the American governor of the province. A minor uprising followed and Tahil was jailed. She now presides over a court which adjudicates domestic cases.

DAMAGE SUIT STARTS

W. E. Keenan's suit for damages against the LeFors Petroleum company and the Prairie Oil & Gas company was started in 114th district court yesterday.

Mr. Keenan alleged that oil from certain tanks owned by the LeFors and Prairie companies, washed down the river and burned down his house. He also claimed that he suffered injuries when the house burned. He is asking damages in the amount of $8,000.

"GHOST OF 1896"

The relief proposal by Speaker Garner of the house which already had been lambasted by the chief executive as a "pork barrel" measure was assailed by Dickinson. He charged also that measures sponsored by the democrats threatened to debase the dollar. It raised, he said, the "ghost of 1896."

The organizing of farmers into co-operatives for the marketing of their products was termed the outstanding accomplishment of the farm board which has been the butt of much criticism, the greater part of which is unjust.

The Board was also given credit for bolstering the price of wheat and cotton through stabilization efforts. The profit to the farmer as a result was estimated at between $200,000,000 and $5,000,000,000. Credit for substantial betterment through the Smoot-Hawley tariff by Dickinson was accompanied by the

PRECEDED BY THEATER PARTY HELD AT LA NORA

An informal line party at La Nora theater, a beautiful mid-afternoon tea in the home of Mrs. Siler Faulkner, a delicious barbecue in the basement of the Methodist church, and a semi-formal dance at the Schneider hotel—these are the features which filled the afternoon and evening hours Monday for women attending the convention of the Panhandle Bankers' association.

An entertainment committee composed of Mrs. A. H. Doucette, chairman, Mrs. Siler Faulkner, Mrs. C. H. Walker, and Mrs. Lynn Boyd, worked untiringly in efforts to make the visit of the Panhandle women a pleasant one. Other local women also assisted, including the wives of local bank officials, some of whom attended the entertainments, and others of whom greeted the visitors at the business sessions, and assisted in other capacities.

The local women include Mrs. T. E. Simmons and Miss Leona Kinard, employees of the bank, and the following wives of bank employees and executives: Mesdames B. E. Finley, Leona Vicars, Edwin S. Vicars, E. O. Sneed, J. O. Gillham, E. Bass Clay, B. D. Robinson, C. M. Carlock, J. R. Henry, H. J. Lippold, P. C. Ledrick, Moudy Gillham, and Ralph Rittenhouse.

The dance, which climaxed the evening, was attended by about one hundred persons, all of whom were given gayly colored novelty caps. The Californians furnished the music.

The tea in the home of Mrs. Faulkner was an occasion of rare beauty. The home was decorated in a profusion of garden flowers, and from the French doors of the living room could be heard the enchanting strains of Hawaiian music played by the Girls Hawaiian orchestra. The young musicians, directed by Vern Springer, included Ruth Clay, La Vaca Collins, Vivian Smith, Martha Lee Clay, Ann Sweetman, and Anita Frasher.

Green tapers and pink roses gave added beauty to the table, laid with Dresden china, at which Miss Virginia Faulkner poured the faintest of sandwiches, flowers, decorated cake, and pink and green candies.

When it rains it pours

MORTON'S SALT

Although crowd surges out of the public auditorium of Cleveland, Ohio, to encounter one of the worst rainstorms in years.

For a month in all it costs a family of average size to use this salt that never cakes or hardens. Made with cube-shaped crystals, which tumble off one another instead of sticking together like the flake crystals of inferior salts, it pours every bit as freely in damp weather as it does in dry. Morton's Iodized Salt also protects children against simple goiter, a common cause of loss of appetite, lack of vigor and backwardness at school. Begin now to enjoy its convenience and protection!

When examined under a magnifying glass, each tiny crystal of Morton's Salt is found to be a perfect cube.

retary. The treasurer, Thos. E. Noel of Memphis, was re-elected.

Previously, the visitors had heard James Shaw, Texas banking commissioner, a resume of whose address appears on Page 6; Lyall Barnhart of Oklahoma City; and Tom F. Connally, Clarendon grain dealer.

Mr. Connally deplored the fact that Panhandle wheat, even with premiums paid in Minneapolis for protection, is so cheap that the farmers are facing a serious crisis in trying to raise it. He said the problem was heightened this year by the light crop and the prospect that the Panhandle will raise about 20 million bushels in contrast to a normal crop of nearly twice that amount.

Less Wheat—Low Price
 He said the nation's crop would be about 411 billions, compared to 780 million bushels last year but that the price keeps falling. He played the federal farm board in phrase and figure, calling attention to unbusinesslike practices, high salaries, setting up competition with firms which through taxation help support their rivals, and attempts to defy the law of supply and demand.

The bankers having returned, he thanked the city for "royal entertainment," which included a barbecue and dance last night, and many visitors remained for a round of golf at the country club.

Registration since yesterday included the following:

BEAUMONT EXPORTERS REGAIN FORM TO DEFEAT DALLAS

MURRAY FAILS IN 'IRON MAN' HURLING FEAT

EASTERLING HITS HOME RUN AS BASES ARE FULL

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Beaumont Exporters clicked last night.

The league leaders, after dropping three straight to Dallas, reversed matters by taking the fourth and final game of the series, 7 to 4. It left the Exporters three and one-half games in front of the third place Steers.

George Murray pitched good enough Saturday to beat the Exporters, 2 to 1. He tried to come back last night in a heroic effort to put his club within one and one-half games of the top. The sixth was the big blow-off. Paul Easterling hit a home run with the bases loaded. Reiber followed with another and Murray went to the showers.

At Tyler, George Siler's Sports defeated Houston in a doubleheader, 6 to 5 and 9 to 4. Bill Narlesky tried to save Houston by hitting three home runs, one in the first game and two in the second, but he couldn't stem the tide. Milt Steen-ger hauled Tyler to victory in the opener and George Hollerson was the mound hero in the nightcap.

Longview and Galveston split a doubleheader. Longview won the first, 4 to 1, but dropped the second, 3 to 0.

Dick Whitworth of Fort Worth and Joe Vance of San Antonio staged a real mound duel at Fort Worth. The former was in great form, allowing but two hits to win a 1 to 0 game. Van allowed four hits and pitched almost as well as his opponent.

This Game of GOLF

By O. S. KEELER

The British amateur golf championship, says George Duncan, is the hardest sporting event in the world for the favorite to win. This dictum has been a good deal repeated and not a little misunderstood. As often stated, the British amateur is said to be the hardest sporting event, or perhaps the hardest golf event in the world to win.

And debaters are always ready to take up the argument on the other side by pointing out the 1931 champion, Mr. Eric Martin-Smith—who went out completely in the first round of the 1932 tournament—and other players not at all well known (at least in America) who have captured the British amateur crown.

The trick in Mr. Duncan's opinion is in the word favorite. If you fancy the Black Scot is not near the truth you might run back over the list of these champions for thirty or forty years and see how often a favorite's name appears as champion—in the event you can remember who were the favorites.

However, you should not go back into the era in which John Ball won the amateur crown eight times. This appears to refute Mr. Duncan's statement or at any rate to bring it down to modern times. Mr. Ball and Mr. Hilton were always favored, when they started.

I really think George meant that the British amateur lately has become the toughest one for the favorite to win; for in the last decade I do not recall more than one outstanding favorite as winner. That was Bobby Jones in 1930.

Favorites For This Year
Now, Johnny DeForest, the 1932 winner, was not the outstanding favorite at the beginning of the recent affair at Muirfield. Nor was his opponent in the finals, Eric Piddian, though the latter had previously won the English amateur championship. Indeed, there seemed a dearth of favorites in the tournament, though the field of 235 entrants was ample enough.

That is what makes it so tough an event, for any one contender, favored or not. The unknown players slip through to win rather freely, because it is mathematically necessary for one competitor to survive no matter what happens.

Everybody naturally is primed for a favorite, and he rarely can get through eight matches and it takes that many—without running into some hot ones.

No Dub Wins
Still, we may as well remember another pronouncement—the British amateur champion is never a dub. I think that is a rather good dub could hardly live through those eight matches.

This we should by all means remember of the 1932 champion, Johnny DeForest, who played much golf a couple of years ago on our Pacific coast, and was rated as a good "club player" and who failed to qualify in our amateur championship at Merion in 1930, was runner-up in the British amateur in 1931, and winner in 1932.

I do not recall any other contender having done that, since the good old days when John Ball and Harold Hilton were cocks of the walk.

Earl Broom of Noletto was looking after interests here Monday.

MAGS TO PLAY CHARITY GAME

Crippled Children Are To Benefit When Locals Battle LeFors '66'

The first charity ball game of the season will be played Sunday afternoon at Magnolia field when the Magnolia "Mags" and the LeFors "66" go into action for the crippled children's fund of the Kiwanis club. Besides paying admission that will go to charity, baseball fans are due to see a real game.

Three times have the "Mags" and LeFors met this season. The Magnolias won two out of the three encounters. All three games were won by one-run margins. LeFors has been strengthened since the last encounter while the Pampa team has been weakened by the loss of two players. Manager Rusty Cahill will spend the week recruiting players to fill gaps.

Burke will probably get the call to hurl for the Magnolias. Freshour is expected to be Manager Eddie Pulliam's choice for mound duty.

The Kiwanis club is doing a great work among the crippled children of this community. Plans to handle the largest crowd of the season are being made.

Mickey Finds New Kind of Courage
Mickey Cochran, catcher for the Athletics. But the other night in Cleveland, Mickey discovered a new kind of bravery.

A large apartment building near the hotel where the team was staying caught fire, trapping one of the residents. Mickey was one of the first at the scene of the midnight conflagration. He found that his years of practice receiving Lefty Grove's high hard ones same in very handy, as the Mick caught four people dropped from ladders by volunteer life-savers.

Catches Ladies
Mickey in an interview after the fire, described it something like this:

"I'm standing in the hotel lobby when I hear an explosion. 'Jeez, I say, let's get outa here, it's the garage.' The building next door was a regular sheet of flame. We ran into a parking yard near the apartment block.

"We could hear dames screaming—see them hanging from windows. Three women in particular attracted our attention. They were hanging from a window. Their bodies were blackened by smoke. They were dressed in night cloths.

"We holiered up. 'Hang on, girls, we'll get a ladder.' 'Jeez, those kids were game. They hung there for 20 minutes. We found a ladder—a police ladder, I guess, and Cy (Tvan Peterman, Philadelphia newspaper man) and I shoved it up.

"The girls slid down the ladder and we caught 'em as they landed. They were black as soot. But by this time, we were watching firemen take down an old man. He was all burned and blackened around the face. He looked as if he was in pretty bad shape.

Gets Mad at Old Man
"Then we saw another old man crouched in a window on the fifth floor. He stuck his head out the window as far as he could and turned it away from the smoke which poured out. He was a smart old fella at that.

"I noticed something bulging under his coat. I thought maybe he was a cripple.

"A lot of us standing around wanting to help went and got a net. 'Jump up, we holiered up to the old fella.

"But the old guy wouldn't jump. He kept crouching there in the smoke. It began to look as if the wall might crash any minute. I got pretty mad at the old man.

"You old so and so,' I holiered, 'why the hell don't you jump?' 'Then firemen put ladders up and brought him down.

Clings to Fiddle
"Come on,' I said to him, 'we'll go over to the hotel and get you fixed up.' 'To hell with the hotel,' said the old guy. 'I'm going to stick around and watch the fire.' He was certainly a game old lad.

"Then we noticed that the thing which bulged under his coat was a violin case.

"Is that why you didn't jump?' I asked him.

"That why,' said the old man. I should jump into a bloomin' fire net and smash a Stradivarius fiddle worth $60,000, and registered at the musical library! Not me, brother!

Offers a Good Story
"I asked the old man what his name was. He said he was Demas Desnoyers and that he was a builder and that in 1886 he had worked on the construction of the hotel where we were stopping.

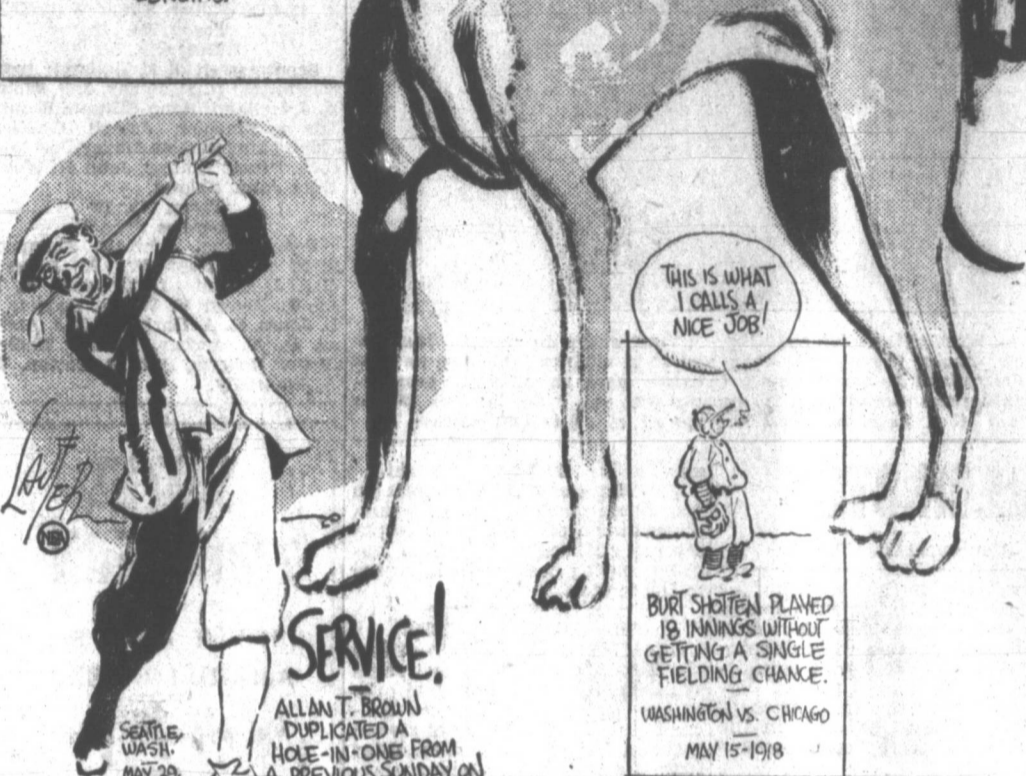

"Finally the old fella said, 'Listen, young man. This fire isn't such a hot story. Bring some of your newspaper friends around some time and I'll tell you a real yarn.' "Then he went back to look at the fire. Can you beat an old bird like that? And that is Mickey Cochran's story of the fire.

TEXAS STARS ARE ADVANCED IN NET MEET

BERKELEY BELL AND KARL KAMRATH IN TOURNAY

WILMINGTON, Del., June 14. (AP)—The Delaware state tennis championships moved into the second day today with most of the favorites already advanced to the third round.

Second day interest was centered largely on the two Brazilian Davis cup players, Ricardo Pernambuco and Nelson Cruz and on Berkeley Bell, Texas star, who were unable to get here in time for matches yesterday.

Favorites who advanced easily through the first and second rounds yesterday included Karl Kamrath, of the University of Texas.

Net Stars Sailing To England Today

NEW YORK, June 14. (AP)—John Van Ryn, Frank Shields, and Wilmer Allison sail for Europe tonight with one eye on the British championships at Wimbledon and the other on the inter-zone Davis cup finals at Austral.

Their Davis cup teammate, Ellsworth Vines, has been in England more than a week.

After the British championships, the Davis cup team will assemble for practice at Paris preparatory to the interzone finals July 22, 23 and 24.

New Drags Are Bought For Club

New-type drags have been placed on all the greens at the Country club golf course and they are a big improvement over the former ones. The new drags are light and small and made tough shape with sharp teeth.

The putting surface is raked rough away from the cup with the teeth down. The drag towards the hole is then smoothed with the curve and one of the best putting surfaces obtainable is the result.

Many visiting bankers who played the course yesterday afternoon despite the recent rains were lavish in praise of the new drags. Several of them plan to substitute the new drags on their home courses.

Teams Play 3 Hours 15 Minutes

By The Associated Press
Although only one game was scheduled in the Cotton States league, the principals in that event—Jackson and El Dorado—tried to make up for idle members by playing three hours and 15 minutes and banging balls all over the lot last night.

El Dorado put the game away in the eighth with a five-run rally and closed out with a 22 to 15 victory. Jackson used five pitchers, who walked 20 batters.

Red Sox Obtain New Material

BOSTON, June 14. (AP)—Engineering another trade in his efforts to mend the holes in his Red Sox nine, President Bob Quinn has sent Earl Webb, hard-hitting outfielder, to Detroit in exchange for Dale Alexander, big first baseman, and outfielder Roy Johnson.

No cash was involved in the deal. President Quinn said last night he believed it would give his last-place Red Sox additional hitting strength in the infield.

Always a great hitter, Webb's fielding kept him out of the majors several years. Last year, however, he found himself fielding sensationally, batting .333 and banging out 67 doubles to surpass George Burns' old record by four.

SCHMELING IS NEW FIGHTER

Sharkey May Be Surprised When He Gets Into Ring With Him.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 14. (AP)—A new Max Schmeling, in fighting style at least, will be unveiled for the gaze of the faithful and Boston's Jack Sharkey, in the new Madison Square Garden a week from tonight.

"If Sharkey thinks he's going to meet the sort of Schmeling he waited around for four rounds two days ago before fouting him, he's crazy," muttered Jim Corbett, a champion himself back in the gas-lit era of the heavyweights.

Most striking is the complete change in the German's ring style, his new knowledge of defense, and an expanded punching repertoire. No longer does Maxie ape the weaving, bobbing style of Jack Dempsey. Instead, he stands straight up, his left hand extended, jabbing in orthodox fashion, slipping punches with his head, countering hard and short with solid rights to the ribs and chin.

Today the German is ready for the fight that will mean vindication of the hollow victory by which he gained the title on a foul, or will drop him back to the foot of the title-ladder.

Mrs. J. W. Everly of White Deer was a Pampa shopping visitor yesterday.

Dr. V. E. von Brunow returned today from a business trip to Oklahoma City. He was accompanied by J. O. Lillybridge of Amarillo.

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams

SYNOPSIS: Prisoners on a lonely island, an unusual group of people seek for rescue. Subsequently by an unusual group of people, a rescue party is organized. The three start to look for the rescue party, hoping to find the gang's hidden headquarters. Meanwhile, Ashwood amuses himself observing the reactions of the prisoners to their predicament. He tells Nancy that they have all been selected carefully, and are good psychological material for study. Nancy asks who is paying her board money.

Chapter 14 RACKETS

There was a malicious gleam in the cripple's eyes as he watched a pelican wade at the edge of the beach.

"Perhaps we'd better take up one question at a time," he suggested to Nancy. "I happened, quite by accident, to see a splendid picture of you in the rotograph section of a Sunday newspaper just as I was making out my guest list. Beneath it was a caption to the effect that you were engaged to be married to one of America's wealthiest men. Since your fiancé established, so to speak, your financial standing, it occurred to me that you would be a welcome addition to our somewhat exclusive little circle.

"I am quite happy to say that Mr. Macomber, your fiancé, paid your board bill without undue protest."

Nancy sat very still for some moments, staring thoughtfully across the glittering water.

"Tell me, Mr. Ashwood," she asked at length, "why did you come down here yourself when you knew we would all be able to identify you in court if you are ever captured?"

"That Miss Wentworth, was part of my plan. My past efforts have been extraordinarily remunerative, but, being a restless spirit, I have become bored with them. This is my last racket, as the worthy Mr. Lucci would term it."

"When I first discovered the value of airplanes as part of every intelligent criminal's equipment," he went on, blandly, "I allowed my imagination to run riot upon the uses to which such a novel instrument might be put. This plan occurred to me. I hit the bit, and I spent the better part of six months finding a proper location for my guest house. At last I discovered this island, which is nothing short of ideal for the purpose. I purchased a portable house, with all the equipment, gasoline lighting plant, electric refrigerator and the like, and brought it here on a scow, where my men erected it. Very simple job it was, too.

"When the house has served its purpose, I shall disappear. My sanctuary awaits me. In it I have a grand piano, a modern radio and thousands of books, enough to last me until I die. There, comfortable, surrounded with the things I love, I shall meditate upon these days of roguery, browse contentedly through my library and, perhaps, write a book or two."

He smiled at her, a wide-mouthed, generous smile which contrasted strangely with his words and his actions. She found herself amazed beyond belief at the strange philosophy of this remarkable man. She wondered what he had suffered to give him this warped outlook upon life, but her intuition warned her that it would not be wise to probe too deeply.

"Ah, Mr. Lucci," he said, looking over her shoulder, "your presence this morning speaks wonders for your stamina. You'll pardon me, I'm sure, but that diagonal bandage gives your face an uncommonly raffish look. How are the other inmates?"

One-shot, his face crisscrossed with bandages and surgeon's plaster, grinned painfully.

"Crazy as ever, Limpy," he replied thickly. "Mallory's still in bed. Just saw the steward taking him a highball. Hamilton is back at his blasted solitary. Martin's sitting in a corner saying nothing while Williams tells him what's the difference between May and September wheat."

"How delightful!" commented the cripple.

Lucci looked at him in wonder. This was a strange bird. A little potty, maybe, but a racketeer such as gangland had never known before and would never know again.

"Listen, Limpy," he said abruptly, ignoring Nancy's presence, "I don't begrudge you this game one damn bit. You turned a nice deal and I'll lay my dough on the line without squawking. What I want to know is, will you play with me or against me when this is over?"

"I take it that you have a proposition?" Ashwood's voice held only the vaguest shade of interest.

"You said it! Listen. I control every money-making racket west of the Alleghenies. My muscle men are in on the graft in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Kansas City. In each of those cities my men act as the secretaries of my outfits and I get the dues, see? No dues; no protection. No protection; no business, see? I got organizers working right now in the East and in another six months there won't be a cleaner and dyer, a garageman or a milk dealer in the United States who ain't kicking in, see? And that ain't half."

"There are a few guys who are backing me," he continued earnestly, "but my gorillas will take care of them."

"I never been able to make out just what your racket is. I know that damn funny things happen every once in a while and when they do I hear talk about Limpy Ashwood. Are you the bird whose mob is bringing in all the diamonds from Antwerp?" He glared at the cripple challengingly.

"While a lawyer might object to that as a leading question," smiled Ashwood, "it is flattering, coming from you. I have been interested in the tax-free importation of diamonds on a fairly large scale."

"How'd you get them by the customs?" demanded the other, incredulously.

"At a prearranged spot off Nantucket lightship, my man on the steamer drops them overboard in a metal canister. One hour later the canister erupts a great quantity of chemical smoke. My amphibian, which at that moment is cruising in the vicinity, spots the smoke and picks up the container. Quite simple, eh?"

The battered gangster stared at him in undisguised admiration.

"How many men you got in your mob?" he inquired.

"Forty-four," replied the cripple carelessly, "scattered here and there around the world."

"That ain't many," stated the other disparagingly. "I got more than five hundred." He stopped and appeared to ponder. Then, as a sudden thought struck him: "Did you put over the 'alk express robbery' three months ago?"

"My men did," Ashwood admitted. "I did little more than to fly the plane. It happened that my regular pilot was ill."

"Fly the plane?" The gangster seemed puzzled. Then his face cleared in sudden understanding. "Sure. That's how you made your getaway! No wonder the bulls couldn't pick up your tracks. Now listen, Limpy, how about the two of us hooking up? We can make twenty millions apiece in the next year and that ain't boloney, either! Twenty millions, easy!"

The frail figure in the deck chair stirred uneasily. His eyes had become weary and old.

"I'm afraid not, Lucci. I don't want twenty millions. I have about all I want now. And so have my men. I've shared with them and when we are through our efforts here, we're going to break up as an organized unit. For my part, I'm going to retire."

He looked far into the northern sky, focusing his eyes intently.

"Of course," he added, "there's the ever-present element of uncertainty which makes this a stimulating profession. Plans are subject to change without notice. For instance, if I'm not mistaken, the crew of that airplane up there may have something to say about our immediate future."

Nancy and Lucci, followed the line of his pointing finger, saw a tiny dot in the morning sky. As they watched it, the faint pulsing drone of its motor came to their ears. The guard on the beach hastily dismantled his machine gun and carried it beneath the sheltering leaves of a palm. Another guard appeared, who began to do things to the breech of the gun. Three men dashed out of the service door of the house and raced down to the hangar. Presently the entire island shook to the thundering noise of the amphibian's engine. A man appeared at the hangar door, dressed in coveralls and helmet. He stood there, gazing alertly at the porch, as if awaiting some sign from the white-haired cripple.

adopted with only a few delegates voting at all.

Under pre-arrangement, the motion for adoption of rules was sent in by William G. Skelly of Tulsa, Okla.; that putting the credentials committee to work by Albert W. Jeffries of Omaha, Nebr., who was made the committee chairman; that for permanent organization by General James G. Harbord of New York; that appointing the platform committee by James R. Garfield of Ohio, agreed on weeks ago as chairman of that trouble-beset group.

The session ended just a hour and will meet again at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

VETERAN SUCCUMBS
LOCKHART, June 14 (P)—W. R. Smith, confederate veteran, died at his home here yesterday. He was 87.

DISEASE LURKS OVER VETERANS' CAMP

Fast growing into a sizeable metropolis is Washington's "Bonus City," shown above in a comprehensive general view. Here, huddled among their shacks, crude mess tables and field kitchens, the thousands of crusading war veterans have "dug in," determined to remain until Congress pays their service compensation certificates. Meanwhile, health authorities described the encampment as "the gravest health menace" in the history of Washington and took steps to arrest the spread of contagious disease.

sioners that in his opinion "the court is without authority to change the commissioners' precincts in such a manner as to cause an overlapping of election precincts with commissioners' precincts and that the order changing the commissioners' precincts should be made in the August term of the commissioners' court."

Mr. Writers further stated that the voters residing in the territory so changed or taken from one precinct and placed in another would lose their right of suffrage in elections that may be held in the district thus created or into which they are placed.

The county attorney said that he had reviewed numerous cases and that division of the county in to precincts was done in every instance in the August term of court. The statutes make it clear that division of the county into election precincts must be done in August, he said.

Mr. White submitted his opinion just before noon. Up to that time, consideration of the division proposal was confined to discussion, no action having been taken in regard to the matter.

HELP FOR MARCHERS
STAMFORD, June 14 (P)—When the Texas "bonus marchers" reach Washington, they will find the wherewithal for at least one full-sized dinner. A donation of several hundred dollars was wired Saturday from Stamford by ex-service stay-at-homes at that point and at Spur, and Jayton.

The money was raised in a three-day campaign under direction of Pat Murphy, vice commander of the Stamford American Legion post, and telegraphed to "Commander Waters, bonus expedition forces, care Mister Glasford, superintendent of police, Washington, D. C. along with the following wire:

"These donations, Spur, Jayton, Stamford, Texas, we will furnish jackrabbits enough to feed the boys till 1945 if necessary."

COTTON STEADY

NEW ORLEANS, June 14 (P)—Cotton had a more active opening today and although Liverpool cables were about as due, first trades here showed losses of 3 to 5 points due to selling based on expectations of better weather in the belt and anticipation of bearish consumption figures in a report due today. October eased an additional point, dropping to 5.24 or 6 points below yesterday's close.

Later the market ruled steadier and October rallied 3 points from the lows to 5.27 on rather good trade buying and a better undertone, notwithstanding an easier opening in stocks.

Near the end of the first hour the market was steady with fair trading.

WHEAT VALUES DROP

CHICAGO, June 14 (P)—Sharp breaks in wheat values here took place early today after sudden downturns in European quotations and reports of heavy selling at Liverpool. With stop loss orders dislodged, all deliveries of wheat and rye in Chicago outdid the season's bottom price record. Opening 1/4-1/2 lower, Chicago wheat futures continued to drop. Corn started 1/4-1/2 off and later held near the initial limits.

Do you inhale?

"Let sleeping dogs lie"

Why should smokers accept this old-fashioned notion of the cigarette trade?

BY this time you must be pretty well convinced of the fact that other cigarettes do not like to talk about inhaling.

And yet—this subject—so "untouchable" in cigarette advertising—is very close to your welfare. For you do inhale—well, do—knowingly or unknowingly, every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

"Let sleeping dogs lie" may be the cigarette trade's answer to us! But what's their answer to you? Do you inhale? Lucky Strike does not avoid this vital question. It meets the issue fairly and squarely—because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Lucky Strike's famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!
