OKLAHOMA CITY DRUG STORE MAN FIRES FROM DOORWAY

SHE BRANDISHES PISTOL

LENA HURT, 25, KNOWN TO POLICE DEPARTMENT

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3. (AP)—A young woman dressed in black was shot dead here today as she fled from a drug store holiday.

The druggist, J. H. Jackson, declared he shot her as she hurried from the place with about $10 of his money. She was identified by police as Lena Hurt, 25, who they said had been arrested previously on vagrancy and drunkenness charges.

Wearing a plain black silk gown and a fur neckpiece, the woman entered the store, near the business district on Main street, about 9 a. m.

"Something you wanted?" asked Jackson.

"You know what I want," she said she replied, producing a revolver. "Give me your money."

Jackson complied and the woman ran from the store. The druggist seized his pistol and followed, firing from the doorway.

Wounds Fatal to Alleged Prowler

FORT WORTH, May 3. (AP)—Abe Winthrop, 40, died last night of wounds inflicted early yesterday by Mrs. J. A. Murrell, 32, when he attempted to enter her son's sleeping quarters.

Mrs. Murrell fired when she saw a man climbing the stairs leading to an apartment-garage at the rear of the home where her son, John, 15, was asleep.

A few hours earlier a prowler entered the home of Miss Alene Strickland, Winthrop was charged with burglary of the Murrell and Strickland homes.

L. N. "Irish" Brashers of White Deer was here on business this morning.

Un-Handsome

The local man who won a prize for being the most unhandsome at a community gathering has our sympathy. He lost the prize and thus had two embarrassments to take home to wife. We advise him to appeal from the verdict.

Architecture

And there are a lot of us who are not architecturally suited to 10-gallon hats, but will have to be martyrs to the big occasion. Mrs. Pampan opines that big hats are more graceful than derbies, and a visitor adds that we should adopt no political symbol.

Those Whiskers

At any rate, we have not yet disposed of the whiskers issue. H. A. Neath says he would need just a week to sprout an oldtime disguise, while some of the young bloods want six months. And the barbers doubtless—and Gillette, too—should be heard from.

Those Who Worry

Times are getting better—for some people, in some lines. But you can't tell that to anyone separated from an income in the interest of economy. And conditions are the roughest to those who do not have to worry over where the funds for their salaries come from. The most expert economists are saying the least these days.

FRONTIER DAYS TALKED

BIG HATS AND PISTOLS ARE NUMEROUS AT AFFAIR

Cowboy whoops split the air and pistols cracked last evening at the Schneider hotel as 200 persons attended the Junior chamber of commerce banquet and talked of Pampa's first annual Frontier Days celebration of May 26-28.

L. R. Bruner, master of ceremonies at the "Big Hat" dinner, "shot" out the lights on one occasion and otherwise added realism to the occasion. The meal was delayed in starting by the unexpected arrival of more than 50 guests for whom there had been no reservations. The Frontier Days idea seems to have captured the fancy and support of the citizens.

Bruner, as a "radio" announcer, presented a Pampa "broadcast" of the type being given over W DAG each Tuesday evening from 5 to 6 o'clock to advertise Frontier Days.

I HEARD--

My front door being caved in about 1:30 o'clock this morning and immediately I grabbed a gun and made tracks for the door, only to find a number of Jaysees in cowboy regalia out on a serenade party. After singing they went merrily on their way to the homes of Bob Brashers, Julian Barrett, and others. Members of the serenading party were L. R. Bruner, G. C. Hubbard, Bob Fuller, Mason Gellately, Elmer Fite, Jack Horner, Lloyd Kerkencamp, and Charlie Capers.

Eob Thompson telling a bunch of the boys about his fishing trip Sunday and yesterday. Bob modestly said the fishing was pretty good and strolled over to a refrigerator near the front door and proceeded to show the gang one of the prettiest messes of bass anyone would want to see. "We have eaten most of them," Bob said.

Sheriff Lon L. Blansett giving Tom Barnes and John Hessey 24 hours to secure big hats or spend one hour in the county "hoos-gow." That will be the penalty assessed prominent Pampans who do not get under big hats for Frontier Days.

Missourian Wishes to See Celebration

T. D. Hobart, pioneer cattleman, has a letter from W. C. Polk, better known as Billy Polk, one of the early residents of the Panhandle. Mr. Polk says he received an invitation to Pampa's first annual Frontier Days Celebration May 26-28 and that he hopes to attend and meet old friends. He lives in Weston, Mo., now.

Mr. Polk's letter follows:

"My Old Friend—Mr. George H. Dirbeck of Pampa was telling me the other day of the great time you were counting on May 26-28. I had already received a card announcing the Frontier Days celebration.

I feel as one standing alone as one of the oldtimers of by-gone days of the Panhandle. You see, I went to Mobeetie in February 1881 and left there the summer of 1889. In March, 1890, I went to Childress and from there I came to Weston, Mo., in 1893. I find myself thinking of "all the oldtime friends. I recall so few but what have passed over the Great Divide. I assure you I would dearly love to be present at the celebration.

Here is greetings to the oldtimers of Mobeetie, Canadian and Miami. God bless them. I would like to clasp their hands once more and feel the great hand of friendship that binds to the past.

Sincerely,
BILLY POLK.

CAPTIVES OF BANDIT FREED

Youths' Car Commandeered By Oklahoma Robber After Gun Battle

EL RENO, Okla., May 3. (AP)—A desperado whose single-handed flurry of bank robbery and kidnaping kept this region in a turmoil released three youthful captives near Cordell, in western Oklahoma, today after a 100-mile drive.

Mrs. Ed White of near Banner, mother of two of the youths, was informed by her sons over the telephone that the man who took $1,280 from the bank and postoffice at Union City yesterday, only to abandon most of the loot, had released the boys near Cordell at 3:30 a. m.

The three youths, Elmer and Alvin White and their uncle Jim E. Wells, were returning to their homes. They told Mrs. White the robber got out of their car near Cordell and told them they were free to do as they wished. They said the bandit had not harmed them.

After abandoning a stolen motor car at most of the loot under the cover of a posse near Yukon yesterday, the robber commandeered the youth's motor car and holding them captives, outdistanced pursuers.

Perjury Charge Against M'Lean Youth Is Filed

Acting upon orders of Judge W. R. Ewing, John Sturgeon, acting district attorney, filed a charge of perjury against Lewis Pepper, McLean youth, yesterday afternoon as he rose from the witness chair in the trial of George H. (Boss) Johnson.

When Mr. Sturgeon finished cross-examining Pepper, the court ordered the jury taken from the room, and instructed Mr. Sturgeon to file perjury charges against him for the sheriff to take him into custody. Cooper was a prisoner in the county jail this morning. He expected to make bond today.

Marion Reynolds, defense attorney, objected to the conduct of the court in ordering the jury from the room on the ground that it was "unusual."

Pepper was questioned lengthily by the grand jury, as were Hulian Cooper and Hubert Phillips, state witnesses, also. The judge asked the grand jury to take action on the case yesterday.

Pepper testified that a five-dollar check given Johnson by Cooper was a wager on the Pampa-Amarillo football game last fall and not for whiskey. The testimony of Cooper and Phillips was intended to refute this.

Secretary of Treasury Hit by Democrat

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—The House Ways and Means committee today closed all hearings on cash payment of the soldiers' bonus and will meet behind closed doors Thursday to begin consideration of the $2,000,000,000 new money plan.

The bonus hearing was converted today into a dispute over whether Secretary Mills had influenced the incorporation of a provision in the tax bill under which the Secretary of the Treasury would profit by revaluation of his father's estate. Representative Patman (D., Tex.), a leading advocate of full payment of the bonus, charged before the Ways and Means committee that the secretary would get millions and said the action would amount to an "inside burglary of the treasury."

Democrats and republicans on the committee came alike to the defense of Mills.

Acting Chairman Gripp said the secretary declined to comment on the provision because he would be a beneficiary under it. Treadway (R., Mass.), Doughton (D., N. C.) and Chindblom (R., Ill.) joined in behalf of the secretary.

Patman was attempting to refute the arguments of Mills and Eugene Meyer, chairman of the federal reserve.

Football Game Is Issue at Trial in Which Man Is Sentenced to Year and Day

The big football game between Pampa and Amarillo last Oct. 17, as the lawyers called it, was one of the principal issues yesterday in the trial of George H. (Boss) Johnson of McLean who was given a year and a day in prison on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor.

One of the issues the jury had to decide was whether Hubert Phillips and Hulian Cooper, state witnesses, drove to Johnson's farm near McLean on Oct. 16 to buy whiskey or to bet on the football game, and whether the $5 check given Johnson by Cooper was given as a wager on the football game or as payment for a gallon of whiskey.

Cooper and Phillips testified that they drove to Johnson's house to buy the whiskey. Cooper stated on the witness stand that he gave the check in payment for the whiskey. He said he bought the liquor from Johnson. Phillips corroborated Cooper's testimony.

Huge Goodyear Tire Will Arrive Here Wednesday

An automobile tire 12 feet high and four feet wide that weighs more than half a ton, will be in Pampa from 9:30 Wednesday evening until 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

The giant $5,000 tire is towed by a special bus equipped with a public address system, and is touring the entire United States. It was built at the factory at Akron, not merely as a novelty but as an engineering and experimental development looking years into the future.

Government engineers were going to build the tire much larger but had to stay within a 12-foot limit on account of low bridges, railroad underpasses and other obstruction on the roads.

Putnam Would Let Negroes Vote

HOUSTON, May 3 (AP)—Frank Putnam of Houston, prohibition repeal candidate for governor, issued a statement today suggesting that the state government make no further effort to bar negroes from the party primaries.

Putnam referred to the decision of the United States supreme court yesterday setting aside the election law in question. "The decision of the United States supreme court," Putnam said, "should be accepted in good faith by Texas democrats."

Texas maintains an expensive system of public schools to train colored youth for citizenship. No further effort should be made to deprive them of citizenship.

Mrs. W. H. Brady of White Deer was a Pampa shopper yesterday. "I should be accepted in good faith by Texas democrats. Thirty thousand negro votes cast in November, 1928, gave Texas' electoral vote to Hoover. Hereafter qualified negro voters should be welcomed into the democratic party primaries, where most of them will naturally prefer to go. Their minority interest in state and local government should be recognized."

PUBLIC FORUM

I have studied children for the past ten years and I find that, in my opinion, about 3 per cent have bad habits; about 1 per cent are unhealthy; about one per cent are dilatory and don't try to learn. At the present time 85 per cent make poor grades because they are under-nourished. If children go to school feeling badly, do you expect them to make good grades?

I understand there were about 20 children whipped during the last week in one of our schools because they did not make passing grades. I have investigated each child and find that most of them go to school hungry. Some do several hours work after school trying to help feed themselves and their families. And, after they do this, they go to school without any breakfast and knowing there won't be anything for lunch but boiled potatoes seasoned with a small piece of fat meat. Yet your teachers expect them to make their grades. My opinion is that the parents should take the blame for not being financially able to provide for their families as they should and give them the proper food. It is not right to whip a child for not making his grades. First investigate the reason the child has failed. It would be just as reasonable for any one to go out to a cow lot to milk, and because the cow did not give the desired amount of milk because of scant and improper feeding, to take the spite out on the cow. It would be just as unreasonable for a teacher to whip a child for something the parents are indirectly responsible for.

Do the teachers stop to inquire why the child has not studied? Do they stop to think why one child is not as brilliant as another? Do they vary from their set of formulas for child instruction? No, they do not. Instead, they punish the less fortunate pupils for not bringing their grades up to the standard in order that their record as instructors may be more prominent. To have pupils on an honor roll or have Grade A and B pupils is quite an honor.

In my opinion, if teachers and public instructors would consider their pupils' future and the impressions made on children's minds by early training at school, as well as at home we would have a much more successful educational system and much more cooperation from parents than we have today.

Patman Asserts Propaganda Used Against Bonus

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Representative Patman (D., Tex.) charged before the House Ways and Means committee today that a flood of "inspired propaganda" had been loosed in the country against the cash bonus payment.

A leading sponsor of the $2,000,000 new money outlay, Patman opened rebuttal testimony before the committee. He said 98 per cent of the American Legion membership favors the payment. Patman presented huge newspaper advertisements against the bonus.

"I have tried to find who is paying for them but cannot," he said. "The newspapers will only say they received $75 for printing it."

Patman also said pressure had been brought on Legion posts to prevent them from favoring cash redemption of the bonus certificates.

Soldier Shot to Death in Strange Way at Field

SAN ANTONIO, May 3 (AP)—A revolver shot claimed the life of Elbert Carmack, Randolph field soldier, early today as he was making the watch rounds at Duncan field with C. E. McMahan, civilian watchman.

McMahan said Carmack visited him shortly after 4 o'clock this morning and complained of being cold. McMahan said he went inside a watchman's house where Carmack warmed himself beside a fire. Then they left to make one of the watch rounds.

The watchman said Carmack questioned him about the .45 caliber pistol McMahan carried in his belt. McMahan said he felt the gun slip from his belt as he was fastening a gate. A few seconds later he said he heard a shot. He said he saw the soldier slumped against his automobile. Carmack was dead when an ambulance arrived to take him to the hospital.

Challenge And Defiance

This study in geographical contrast has a deep significance. In a large sense the curving lines across the map mark out a fundamental division of thought among party leaders. Through the effort they spent and the great success they attained for Al Smith in Massachusetts and the populous centers of Pennsylvania, the step Roosevelt leaders were attempting to say, in effect, to the east and south: "Roosevelt has no pulling power in the east or in the large cities. If you insist upon nominating him, you must do so at your own peril, and your country precincts must expect to carry the load in the election."

If the western and southern politicians now continue in the course they have adopted—as most of

POLITICS at random

BY BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

One of the most graphic ways of analyzing the Democratic presidential situation is to spread out a map of the United States, and observe what a striking pattern of sectional rivalry has been traced by the events of recent weeks. Roughly the shadow cast by the movement for Franklin D. Roosevelt, now blankets west and south, with edgings that lap over into the rural regions elsewhere, but skirt sharply around the great cities.

The corresponding outline of the anti-Roosevelt strength, as it appears since the April 26 primaries, encompasses the east and northeast, reaching south as far as Maryland and spilling over westward into the metropolitan sections of Pennsylvania.

There are some gaps. In the east, Roosevelt has Maine and New Hampshire, and he claims rural upstate New York. In the south and west, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Virginia are standing out for favorite sons. These exceptions do not greatly mar the symmetry of the general picture, however, especially since no one knows how many of the gaps may prove extremely unstable and temporary character.

FOUR CHILDREN FOUND TO BE PHYSICALLY PERFECT

EXAMINATIONS TO CONTINUE THRU FRIDAY

PARENTS ARE URGED TO HAVE CHILDREN TESTED

Of the 16 pre-school children of the Baker school district who were given thorough physical examinations yesterday at the Methodist church, four were declared to be physically free of remedial defects. These were Betty Ann Jenkins, Frances M. Deering, Gene Lunsford, and Bobby Lee Jones.

Pre-school children of Sam Houston district are being examined today. Tomorrow will be Horace Mann day; Thursday, Woodrow Wilson day; Friday, Merten, Hoover, and Kingsmill day.

Nationwide importance is placed on examinations such as those given in Pampa, and they are in keeping with point 5 of the Children's Charter which says "for every child health protection from birth through adolescence, including: Periodical health examinations and, where needed, care of specialists and hospital treatment; regular dental examinations and care of the teeth; protective and preventive measures against communicable diseases; the insuring of pure food, pure milk, and pure water."

The aim of the examinations is to help give all children an equal start at the beginning of their school career, to encourage their parents to make every effort to have the children physically perfect. The movement is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher associations of all schools in the Pampa independent school district, and the dentists and physicians are giving their services without charge.

Among points considered are speech, posture, skin, eyes, teeth, gums, nose, tonsils, adenoids, ears, heart, pulse, lungs, abdomen, hernia, genitals, feet, and thyroid and other glands.

Women who assisted with the examinations yesterday were Mesdames J. W. Crowe, Henry Cox, A. A. Day, M. V. Jenkins, M. D. Dwight, W. B. Murphy, Claude Lard, E. Cassaday, and Hilliard.

THREE SMART FROCKS IN ONE

This jumper dress, which Heim designs of blue and white tweed, may be worn in town, in the country, or on the beach. Worn without a blouse its bare back offers a chance for a sunbath. Worn with the jacket it is ready for town.

By DIANA MERWIN (Associated Press Fashion Editor)
PARIS (AP)—The jumper dress—a three-in-one frock ready for town, country and beach wear—has stormed fashion's fortress. It consists of a wool skirt, suspender straps and a brief blouse put together in a manner reminiscent of a small girl's playtime frock.

Worn with a long sleeved blouse of sheer dimity or printed crepe and finished with a little jacket it is ready for town wear. Accompanied by a long or short sleeved bright colored sweater or a crisp linen shirt it may journey to the golf links.

Designed with a bib front to match the skirt and worn without any blouse at all it becomes a beach lounging suit with a back as bare as any modern bathing suit.

Its practicality is as great a factor in its popularity as its chic and it has proved a favorite both with smart Parisians and American buyers. These jumper frocks generally are made of wool, cut with a skirt loose enough for active sports topped with a pair of straps which suggest a workman's overalls.

Their blouses are cut on a dozen different designs of a score of different materials. Some of them have huge peasant puff sleeves, and still others long straight sleeves, and others short cap sleeves.

Crepes printed with daisies, dots and geometric designs; striped, checked and printed linens; cross-barred dimities, dotted swiss, and knitted and woven wools are the various fabrics used for the different blouse designs.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The lesson-sermon subject was "Everlasting Punishment" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 1.

The golden text was from Galatians 6:1, "Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness."

Included in the service was the following passage from the Bible (Psalm 136): "For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous; but the way of the ungodly shall perish."

The lesson sermon also embraced the following citation from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (page 36):

"Divine Science reveals the necessity of sufficient suffering, either before or after death, to quench the love of sin. To remit the penalty due for sin, would be for Truth to pardon error. Escape from punishment is not in accordance with God's government, since justice is the handmaid of mercy."

Says Conditions Abroad Improving

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP)—Former Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board, just returned from a five weeks' business tour of Europe, says he believes conditions abroad are better because public confidence is being gradually restored.

As a stimulant for public confidence in America to help bring such improvement as he saw in Europe, Mr. Legge urged government economy, particularly the abolition of needless bureaus.

"Chicago," he said, "has been moving in the right direction with changes in governmental expenditures. That is restoring confidence locally, we need the same things on a national scale."

A. C. Matthews of Kingsmill, a 31st district court petit juror, this week, reported for service this morning.

Many Boys Are in Court Training Cotton States League Starts

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 3. (AP)—The Cotton States league—embracing Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas—bolstered by major league assistance this year, was launched on its 1932 season today. The opening games brought Port Arthur, to Baton Rouge, Pine Bluff to El Dorado and Vicksburg to Monroe.

Before leaving here for the opener at Monroe, league president Frank A. Scott said that with the reduced salary limit, cheaper players and limiting clubs to five rosters each, he expected the league to experience a successful season.

Captain Flash Enloe and Parks Brumley of last year's squad were the only missing members in yesterday's practice. Those two stars graduate. Midget Woodward will captain the squad this year and play on the forward line.

Bill Kelley, Hoot Fullingim, Wayne Kelley, Jess Patton, Mills Marbaugh, Gerdis Schmidt, Robert Woodward, and Reg Brown are among the members of the old guard back again.

CLEVELAND IS BEST OF WEST LEAGUE CLUBS

PECKINPAUGH'S TRIBE CLOSE BEHIND SENATORS

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer.

With the year's first inter-sectional warfare only two days away, Cleveland again shapes up as the West's best bet to break into the Eastern club's monopoly on American League laurels.

Roger Peckinpaugh's tribe was running a strong second today, only one game behind the Washington Senators after winning nine straight against western opposition. The Indians, who have been winning largely on sheer offensive power, will make their eastern debut against the Athletics Thursday at Philadelphia. Two big innings that netted all their runs gave the tribe a 6 to 5 victory over St. Louis yesterday.

The leading Senators handed Vernon (Lefty) Gomez his first reverse of the year in slugging out a 10 to 3 decision over the Yankees. Joe Cronin led the way with a homerun, a double and a triple.

Jimmy Fox's homerun in the eleventh inning broke up a mound duel and gave the Athletics a 3 to 2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove was credited with the win.

Sad Sam Jones collapsed after allowing only four hits in eight innings, the Detroit Tigers scored five runs in the ninth and beat out Chicago, 5 to 3.

National League Fans were treated to a pair of superb pitching performances by Sylvester Johnson of St. Louis and Steve Swetonic of Pittsburgh. Swetonic allowed only three hits in blanking the aspiring Chicago Cubs, 2 to 0, while Johnson let the Cincinnati Reds down with four to win, 2 to 1.

Dazy Vance's tight pitching and Glenn Wright's timely hitting gave Brooklyn a 3 to 1 victory over the Giants. Wright tripled with two on in the eighth to break a deadlock.

The Phillies went on another tight pitching rampage behind Ed Holley's seven-hit pitching to subdue the League leading Boston Braves, 7 to 2.

SHOVELS

Following some of his fights, a few unkind critics have said that the business shown above would suit Jack Sharkey as regular employment. The Boston Gob these days, however, seems to be in the humor to put up one of his good fights when he meets Max Schmeling in June for the heavyweight title. Jack posed while doing a little excavating for the new outdoor stadium on Long Island, New York, where the bout will be staged.

BY ALAN GOULD

Mr. Lawson Robertson seems to be an excellent voice for another Olympiad. Man and boy, athlete and coach, Mr. Robertson has seen these events come and go for a quarter-century. He ran the sprints in Athens learned to speak three French phrases fluently in Paris and reported on sherry and eggnog to inspire America's only flat-race winner in the games at Amsterdam.

Not only is he a man of seasoning and experience, but he comes naturally by an Irish sense of humor. When he took the floor, therefore, at the meeting of the American Physical Education association, he was prepared to dwell upon the origin of the Olympics in Ireland 3,000 years ago, at a time when all the leading broad-jumper hopped across Ireland in three jumps and a javelin tosser, after one mighty heave, leaped on horseback to pursue and grab the spear before it came to earth.

"Tipperary finally won the meet," concluded Robbie, "but the North of Ireland is still claiming the championship."

Robbie Remembers

Turn now to the modern Olympics with Mr. Robertson his throaty baritone well conditioned, his imagination keen and his words fluent. To Mr. Edward J. Storey, secretary of the A. P. E. A., I am indebted for the following substance of Greece.

"At Athens in 1906," Mr. Robertson examined the old discus, a relic of former Olympic games, and found it to weigh 14 pounds. The inscribed record of the old days gave 90 feet as the distance. There is necessarily some question as to this since the official discus now weighs only 4 1/2 pounds.

"The next Olympics were held in London in 1908 and were characterized by the advent of the first cheering section. A feature of the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm was the reception of the American team at the dock, where a group of Swedes were led by a former American-trained coach in singing 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'

Single Lapse

In 1920 the scene changed to Antwerp. Sportsmanship had gained and except for an occasion where a United States boxer resented a judge's decision and socked him on the jaw, closely followed by the coach to the coach to the referee's mid-section, the games were a big success. In 1924 the Frenchmen were hosts at Paris. A good time was had by all. Of course in all these years America had been winning by very wide margins. Sportsmanship is easy when you are ahead.

"The next Olympics were held in 1928 at Amsterdam. Our athletes had the idea they had to do as well as to get up in the morning, get a hair cut and shave and win first, second and third places in all events. Contrary to all expectation we only won one running event, the 400 meters, which was taken by Ray Barbuti of Syracuse.

"Noticeably the sportsmanship of all nations had improved and an outstanding event was the 800 meters of which Engelbarn of Germany pushed Lowe of England to a new Olympic record, after which they ran off the field arm in arm. This was only ten years after the war.

"The 1932 Olympics will be held at Los Angeles and most everyone is familiar with the many things that are being done in preparation. The only specific diet advised for the athletes is running water for the runners and spring water for the jumpers."

MIRACLE HAS HAPPENED--AND FORT WORTH LOSES GAME WITH SOUTHPAW SERVING BIG CURVES

DALLAS CELEBRATES UNDER KLEIGS WITH WIN

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Something resembling a miracle occurred yesterday in the Texas league pennant race. The Fort Worth Cats lost a ball game.

After winning seven straight, the League leaders were beaten by Galveston, 4 to 0. Glenn Darrow, a South with a sharp breaking curve and the ability to control it, allowed seven hits, the same as his mates got off Stoner and Terry of Fort Worth. The defeat was Fort Worth's fifth in 19 starts but they still paced the field.

The flood lights were turned on at Dallas last night and the Steers celebrated with a 3 to 1 decision over Houston, giving them two out of the three-game series. The Steers played powerful defensive ball behind the excellent hurling of Oscar Fuhr, the veteran Southpaw who pitched one of his finest games. He outdueted George Washington Payne and Elmer Hanson, Houston aces, who held Dallas to five hits but which were made with ducks on the pond.

Wichita Falls slipped a pennant notch when San Antonio beat them. The Indians started away two runs in the first and added three more in the fourth for a lead that proved insurmountable.

A slugfest between Beaumont and Shreveport went to the former, 11 to 6. The Exporters started their attack in the third inning and continued through to the ninth for a total of 13 hits. Shreveport collected eight hits. The Sports threatened in the seventh with a four-run rally.

The standout of the lot, on past performances, is the big Irish tackle from Yale, John Killecul, son of a wealthy New York contractor. Killecul, with a perfect fighting name, scales around 190. The others are Joe Uzdravins, a huge fellow from Northeastern university in Boston; John Rutherford, a Princeton tackle over six feet and a half tall, and Stengans S. Slater, a strapping big negro from the University of Michigan.

Four of outstanding college heavyweights are recognized here as exceptional prospects and the fifth, Jimmy Dee of Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, comes north with a fine reputation.

But just the same, most of the managers will be down front when the sturdy delegation from the colleges ranks swings into action at the opening of the annual national amateur championships in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. The tournament, bringing together the toughest youngsters in the land, provides the added incentive this year of a trip to the Olympic tryouts in San Francisco.

ROGERS TO TEACH FORT WORTH, Tex., May 3 (AP)—Jimmy Rogers, son of Will Rogers, has enrolled in the cowboy college at Circle K Ranch and will conduct polo classes there this summer. Homer Adams, who owns the ranch and conducts the school, said today.

College Boxers Called Soft by Fans of Game

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Fight managers shake their heads when they talk of college fighters and their chances of gaining fame as professionals, despite the recent success of Steve Hamas, Penn state alumnus.

"They lack something," they insist. "Not heart, maybe, but just general toughness. Education softens them, leaves them too gentle for the fight game."

HOW TO MAKE MATTRESSES IS SEEN BY CLASS

After a visit to the Ayer's Mattress factory the girls of the Home Economics III class were asked to write themes on their visits. This theme was selected for first place. The theme was selected for first place.

On Tuesday, April 26th, the home economics III girls and our teacher, Mrs. Massa, visited the Ayer's mattress factory.

The first thing that we learned was the steps in making a mattress. The first step was running the cotton through a machine that ginned it and made it clean and soft. This machine had a flat surface that turned around and around. The cotton was placed on it piece by piece, then through the machine, where it was blown into the ticking. It takes about five minutes to run enough cotton through the machine to make one mattress. The cotton that we saw put through last about one pound of dirt by going through this process but some loss much more.

After the cotton was blown into the tick, the end of the ticking was sewed up with a Singer sewing machine that was probably the first kind ever made. This machine used one thread and it tied it on knots so as to prevent it from pulling out.

The next step was that of beating the mattress with a large stick. This stick was a little longer than the mattress was wide and was about two inches in diameter. Mr. Ayer said that knowing when and where to beat the mattress was the much to do with the way the cotton puffed down.

The next step was to do the tufting and making the rolls on the sides. The first thing was to measure and rule off the lines with a needle. A row of tufts were put down the center so that it would not be heavier than the sides. The roll was made after the tufting was done. Some mattresses have imperial stitching on the sides which make them better and stronger but they are one dollar higher in price.

Some expensive mattresses were made by using a fill box. Slats are placed in the fill box or a layer of cotton and then cotton in layers on top of the cotton. A rocker beam is used to press it down. Then the tick is slipped on the end and the slats are slid out of the tick, leaving the cotton in layers. A roll is put around the mattress, then it is put back into the fill box and left for twelve hours. The mattress is then finished.

We next noticed the different grades of cotton. The best grade was very white and fluffy. The next grade was bolley cotton that had not been bleached, and the third best was lint that came off of the seeds after they had been ginned.

The standards for mattresses are 5 lines of tufting stitching for the width and 8 lines for length and 42 lines of imperial stitches. A standard mattress weight from 45 to 50 pounds.

We girls enjoyed the trip very much and we learned a lot about making mattresses.

INVITATIONS MAILED
The seniors started sending out the invitations for commencement exercises Monday.

Student Council Has Direction of Chapel Program

The program for this high school assembly April 27th was given under the direction of the Student Council, with the numbers announced by the president of the Council, Louise Walstead.

A group of students from Sam Houston school sang the solos, "The Elf of the Woods" and "The Summer Wind," which they will sing in a musical concert this week. After these solos, Dorothy Meers and Robert Daugherty played "Somebody Loves Me" and "Caroline Is Calling" on the violin and cornet, accompanied by Iva June Willie at the piano.

Athene Brewer then played piano solos, "It Happened in Monterey" and "Here Comes the Sun." Florence Dodson sang two humorous readings, one of these being a clever impersonation of a speaker before a high school audience.

Tap dances were given by Joyce Smith, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Frank Keehn before Charles West made a short talk on the necessity of cooperation in our school life.

As special selections by the orchestra, "Pampa High School Blues" was followed by solos, "Whisper Your Mother's Name," "Treasure Untold," and "I'm Sorry We Met," which were sung by Dick Benton, who played his own guitar accompaniment.

Principal C. E. Cary, introduced by Principal L. L. Sone, and made a brief talk explaining the purpose of selling each year the poppies that are made by the disabled veterans. He said that the poppies are sold in memory of the world war dead and that the money goes to the support of the disabled veterans. His purpose in making the talk was to acquaint the students with the reason the poppies are sold and to encourage people to buy them.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM
May 15—Commencement sermon at the First Christian church.
May 13—The A. A. U. W. club women are giving a reception for the Senior girls and their mothers at the Schneider hotel.
May 20—The commencement exercises at the First Baptist church.

Former Head of Firm Is Indicted
SAN ANTONIO, May 3 (AP)—Kenneth Wimer, former head of Wimer-Richardson and company here, was placed under bond aggregating $1,000 here on five indictments returned against him by the grand jury in District Judge Anderson's court.

The indictments, each containing two counts, were returned Saturday by the grand jury.

One alleged that Wimer fraudulently embezzled and misapplied and converted to his own use the sum of $50 May 10, 1929, and fraudulently took from possession of Wimer-Richardson and company the sum of $50 May 10, 1929.

Dates and sums mentioned in the other indictments which were identical were: June 4, 1929, $100; June 8, 1929, $70; June 22, 1929, $60, and September 18, 1929, $75.

Tips on CONTRACT

The holder of three aces has an irresistible temptation to double a slam effort, but success at such a contract is a feat of Joseph I. Spector of Bridgeport, Conn.

His triumph was due to a wrong guess by the doubler as to the order in which to lead his aces. Here was the hand:

Slam Against Three Aces BY TOM O'NEIL

The bidding was: south one heart, west pass; north one no trump; east pass; south three spades to force commanding partner to keep on at least until a game contract was reached; west pass; north five spades; east pass; south six spades; west double all passes. Most players would bid the higher ranking unit first.

West led the ace of hearts from the shortest of his three suits headed by aces, and then guessed wrong. Had he led the ace of diamonds the contract would have been set.

The longer clubs in dummy should have been a warning against the possibility of a ruff of the ace of clubs by south. West, however, led the ace of clubs and the slam was made.

Spector after trumping the club ace exhausted opponents of trumps, discarded the diamonds from the north hand on the hearts in his own, ruffed two diamonds of the south's last diamond on the king of clubs.

Former Champ, Now Blind, Has Many Memories

NEW ORLEANS, May 3 (AP)—From behind the black curtain of blindness Pete Herman sits in his small cabaret in the Vieux Carre and reflects on the days when he was heavyweight champion of the world. His gloves have been on the hook 11 years and the fight fans, a flock left, have forgotten Pete Herman, accused of one time the greatest of little men of the ring.

From 1914 to 1922, he hammered his way to fistic fame and fortune but lost both in his battle to save his eyesight, knocked out by punishment with his blind man's cane and thinks.

He will tell you he was christened Peter Gualotta and was a bootblack in a barber shop when the fight urge struck him. He spent his lunch hours in the Royal Athletic club training and he practiced the attention of a fight promoter.

He was used as a preliminary fighter until 1914 when he was matched with Abe Kabakoff in an eight-round bout in Memphis. He won this match as a skinny, 110-pound kid. Soon after he was entered in a bout in New Orleans against Joe Wagner and won easily.

From this start, he went from bout to bout. Three times he was matched against Kid Williams, the heavyweight champion, and in the third bout in 1917, Herman retreated from the kid's head.

"My eye trouble started right after that," explains Pete.

He tells of losing his title in 1920 to Joe Lynch in Madison Square Garden as his hardest luck. In a return fight in 1921, Herman reentered his title from Lynch at Ebbets field in Brooklyn.

Miami and Hoover Have Good Teams

Hooey and Miami also have baseball teams that will be heard from this season. Sunday afternoon Hoover went to Miami and played the "snappiest" ball game of the season to win 6 to 5. It was a pitcher's duel all the way through with Kivehlin fishing up the shots for Miami and Jack Benton doing the hurling for Hoover.

Cunningham did a good job of holding Kivehlin, while Hates, Saltzman was doing the receiving from Benton. Everybody was a star. Hits were scarce and fielding was tight. Miami will play a return game at Hoover May 15.

Plans are under way to organize a league in this territory and both times would make good competition.

Roosevelt May Ask Rule Change

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—The New York TIMES states that supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt are considering an attack on the rule which requires a two-thirds vote to obtain the presidential nomination at a Democratic national convention.

Discussing the move, which may be made at the convention which opens in Chicago June 27, it was said, friends of the governor have obtained a legal opinion that the convention may at any time decide by a vote of the majority to abandon the two-thirds rule and substitute by a majority vote.

Oxen Coming for Big Celebration

Amos and Andy will be in Pampa for the big frontier days celebration May 25-28. The information was released this morning by T. D. Hcbarth following an interesting visit with Dick Cann and his son, Parker Cann of Glazier, owners of Amos and Andy who visited in Pampa over the weekend.

Amos and Andy in this case happen to be a couple of oxen that are pioneers of the Panhandle. Mr. Cann has had the team for many years and has them well trained. At the present time they are sojourning near Cheyenne, Okla., cooperating with the Cheyenne and Arapahoe celebration April 19 where they were highlights.

The two oxen will draw an old prairie schooner in the big parades to be staged during the celebration.

"There's a Death Message for This Man, we must catch him when he comes through here"

His mother had died suddenly. His family was perplexed about notifying him, for he was "somewhere on the way to California." Just where, nobody knew.

They did know, however, he was motoring over a route selected by the Conoco Travel Bureau. So the death message was wired to Albuquerque, New Mexico, which was on that route.

The Continental office set every Conoco station attendant in Albuquerque looking for the traveler. All day Conoco men asked motorists their names. And finally the right man was found, the message delivered to him.

An unusual incident. Just one of many out-of-the-ordinary happenings, however, that have earned a Nation-wide reputation for the Conoco Travel Bureau and its services.

We do more than furnish road maps, help choose routes and supply other travel information. We look upon every Conoco Passport holder as a personal friend to be served in every way possible. Every Conoco station is a branch of the Conoco Travel Bureau, and every Conoco attendant is the traveler's well-informed friend.

If you are planning a motor trip, write us where and when you want to go. Or fill in convenient application at any Conoco station. We will send you a Conoco Passport, 1932 road maps and other travel information. Our service is absolutely free... maintained for the benefit of American motorists by Continental.

You Can't Marry

by Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: "Mrs. Townsend" George Revell Townsend is asked abruptly, and she realizes that danger threatens her efforts to keep her recent marriage to Eddie Townsend a secret. She recognizes her questioner as the doctor who gave first aid to Eddie before he was taken unconscious to the hospital, after the car in which he was driving George and her cousin Jenny had been crashed. George plans to say that Jenny was married and not herself, as they have the same name, to keep her employer from carrying out his threat of firing George if she marries. But this doctor may have learned the truth. He tells George that Eddie got a severe nervous shock in the smash, although he is a famous stage pilot. Eddie's nerve has so completely gone that he will have to take a holiday from flying, the doctor says. "What happened?" George asks, not admitting she is Mrs. Townsend.

Chapter 14 A SPY CALLS

THE doctor sat down. His bright, bold eyes held her ruthlessly. "What happened was that the driver turned and brought him back to the hospital. And as they were helping him out of the cab some planes went over and he fainted."

"He fainted?"

"Afterwards he begged the nurses to hide him, because if he was sent up again he would crash. He's been given a sleeping-draught and no doubt he'll get over this particular phase of terror. But Dalling thought it only fair to warn you that he won't be fit to fly again for a long time. If ever... I was coming up to town, so I said I'd call."

There was a long, dreadful pause. George put out her cigarette. Presently she heard her own voice. It was shrill and a little roughened.

"It's bad luck, isn't it? On—on his wedding day."

Another pause. She forced herself to look up. The doctor's calculating, too-familiar glance was wandering round the room, taking in the new leather chair, the new phonograph, the elaborate radio.

"It's good of you to have bothered to look in." Her voice was still a little uneven but she spoke very slowly and carefully. "I'm extremely grateful—and—and—Eddie's wife will be grateful; when she has got over the shock of hearing about Eddie."

"His wife?" The doctor abandoned his scrutiny of the room. He, too, seemed to speak very slowly and carefully. "Then you are not Mrs. Townsend? I've made a mistake?"

George moistened her lips.

"Yes, you've made a mistake," she said. "It was my cousin—the other Miss Revell that Eddie Townsend married."

"The young lady who went with him and me in the ambulance?"

George nodded. Her lips felt very stiff; they were steadily smiling.

"I ought to have told you at once," she added, "but I thought it might be better if I were the first to hear any bad news there might be. Jenny is—well, she's very inexperienced. Very easily alarmed."

She sat straighter on the big chair. Her voice was becoming more natural with every word. But she wished the man would not stare at her so keenly. He looked as though he were setting some trap. Why should he, though? What were her affairs to him?

"Where is Mrs. Townsend? May I see her?"

"She's not here just now. She's at the hotel where—where she expects Eddie to join her tomorrow." She gave the new curtain material a little push with her foot. Then she got up, slowly. "I was just putting the finishing touches to this had been wearing gloves! Or—or had she taken them off when she and this doctor-man tore her silk cape into strips to bandage Eddie's head? "Doctors do notice these things, you know."

Furious indignation mounted in her. The cad, coming here to spy on her and bait her—and walking off without even telling her his beastly name!

Deliberately, she whipped up her anger. So long as she was angry, she could pretend that she was not afraid. She could keep fear at the back of her mind...

The anger fell from her. Better face things. She would not at twenty-eight have been private secretary to Gratton Matching, at a salary of five thousand a year, if she hadn't always faced things.

Eddie's marriage was public knowledge. It was reported in the Record already. The Old Man read the Record. Anyway, all the papers would have it tomorrow.

She must tell him, of course, that the Miss Revell mentioned was Jenny. Jenny had already consented to that manoeuvre, if necessary. Loyal little soul, Jenny!

Suppose the Old Man didn't believe it?

If he didn't believe it, he would dismiss her. He would not employ a married woman worker. She would get a month's salary and she would go.

A month's salary wouldn't do more than pay her bank-overdraft. What about all the rest of the bills? What about the trousseau?

Eddie's savings were there but they would not support the two of them for very long. They would not even support Eddie alone for very long. And who was to know, who was to say how long Eddie must, somehow, be supported?

She flung up her chin. Take events by the throat, always the best way! She went to the phone and got the number of the house in Rochester Gate.

"Revell speaking," she said, mechanically. This was the signal for her to be switched through to the Old Man, in whichever room he might be. She waited tensely for the first grating rasp of his "Well, what d'you want?" But—

(Copyright, Julia Cleft-Addams.)

But—another voice answers, to her surprise. George starts her attempt, tomorrow, to convince Matching she is not married.

GAME

October of last year at Johnson's farm, testified that Cooper and Phillips gave the check as a wager on the Pampa football game to be played the next day. He said Johnson bet on Pampa, and Cooper and Phillips on Amarillo.

Johnson testifying in his own behalf, said he endorsed the check which was made payable to "cash," so that if it came back he would stand good for it. Pepper said he cashed the check at a nearby filling station and gave Johnson the money.

Testimony developed that the owner of the check brought it to justice court for payment. It was marked "no account." Johnson also declared that the check was given him as a wager on the football game. Both Phillips and Cooper lived in Pampa at the time the check was given.

John Sturgeon, district attorney protem, directed the prosecution of the case. He was assisted by County Attorney Sherman White, Claude Williams of McLean and Marion Reynolds of Shamrock represented Johnson.

Johnson was tried last week on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor to three girls. A huge jury resulted. He is under another liquor indictment. He said he is 23 years old, and testified yesterday he rents a 450-acre farm near McLean.

J. R. Schooley of LeFors made a brief visit in the city yesterday.

COTTON IS FIRM

NEW ORLEANS, May 3 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady and Liverpool cables were somewhat better than due. Near months showed no change at the start but October was 3 points up, losing however, two points of this gain right after the opening.

The market gradually improved on shorts covering and trade buying, July trading up to 5.72, October to 5.95 and December to 6.05, or 7 points up from the opening figures and about seven points over the previous close.

Near the end of the first hour the market was quieter but steady and near the highs.

WHEAT UPWARD

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—Influenced by reports of dust storms in Kansas, wheat showed an upward trend early today. Liverpool confirmed purchases of wheat by Spain. Opening at 1-8 off to 1-2 up, wheat later rose all around. Corn started at 1-2 decline to a shade advance and subsequently held near the initial limits, with may establishing a new low price record since 1888.

New Spirit of Kitchen Will Be Reflected in Big Cooking School

WESTERN

There is a new spirit in the kitchen... a spirit of happiness chasing out the kitchen drudge. No longer does the modern housewife accept the older methods of cooking... methods which might ever so ably fit those former days; but are as inappropriate today as old-fashioned brown bread would be if served at an afternoon tea.

The new and modern cooking school to be conducted by Mrs. Leona Rusk, Ibrig and sponsored by The NEWS, has brought vivid, new spirit into the kitchen. Renewed joy in cookery has grown out of scientific study of the wonderful creative opportunities that food preparation offers in what Mrs. Ibrig calls her "Happy Kitchen."

Never did the market bring to the housewife such variety... such unlimited "raw material" for practical experiments in tasty foods. The cooking school will present the possibilities of these to local home makers and housewives.

"Every woman who keeps house" says Mrs. Ibrig, "love to please those who gather around her table with some new delicacy... some unusual little touch that heightens the joy of housekeeping... that brings back the ever elusive romance of home making. These schools have caught the modern trend the remaking of old into new. That is why I emphasize the 'Happy Kitchen' idea."

Don't miss the happy days in store for you during the Cooking School, to be held May 17-20 at the city auditorium.

Nothing can go further toward making your home more enjoyable than these wonderful demonstrations in the Happy Kitchen.

Elderly Man Is Held for Banditry

TAHOCA, May 3 (AP)—An elderly man accused of robbing the First National bank of O'Donnell has been identified by Oklahoma officers as Bill Tidwell, ex-convict wanted in Oklahoma for bank robbery.

Tidwell was released from the Oklahoma penitentiary last year after serving 14 years of a 30-year sentence for bank robbery. A number of years ago he violated a leave of absence and became a fugitive.

Tidwell, who is about 60 years old, had given his name to Tahoka officers as J. W. Bradshaw. He was arrested at Tatum, N. M., shortly after the O'Donnell robbery, April 14. He has been lodged in the Lubbock county jail for safe keeping.

Crude Oil Has Very Large Drop

TULSA, Okla., May 3 (AP)—Greatly reduced runs from Oklahoma fields and a new curtailment order for East Texas caused crude oil production for the United States to drop 89,202 barrels in the daily average last week, reports to the Oil and Gas Journal said.

Total United States production was 2,171,623 barrels daily, compared with a previous average of 2,260,834.

Oklahoma production was down to 398,715 barrels daily from 468,515, the previous average.

East Texas was at 334,894, compared with a previous average of 346,354 barrels. The average for the entire state was down 14,163 barrels to 837,559.

Kansas production dropped from 98,235 barrels to 94,635 daily.

California production dropped 4,000 barrels daily to average 515,500.

Eastern output increased 2,000 barrels to 120,000 daily.

Rocky mountain production was down 423 barrels a day to 85,848.

John R. Hyder of Borger visited in Pampa yesterday afternoon.

Good Will Vital

Aside from the Frontier Days theme, the banquet stressed good will and fellowship with people of the oil fields. Reno Stinson ably brought out this idea, pointing to the lack of friendship and acquaintanceship between the merchants and the oil field employees. He urged the Junior chamber to strive to make the oil field workers feel that Pampa is their home town. He said the E. C. D. was making excellent strides in this regard through the good will trips.

Jim Collins echoed this theme in a short talk on selling Pampa outside of Pampa. He advocated enthusiastic praise of Pampa by Panhandleans.

Judge W. R. Ewing amused the jangle throng with anecdotes and closed his talk by describing this vicinity as he saw it 30 years ago. Obviously, there was no Pampa at that time, and the judge termed the recent growth a Wonderland achievement. But Pampa, like the Panhandle, he termed "in the infancy of development." Judge Ewing is one of the original boosters for the Frontier Days celebration. He wrote his endorsement to The NEWS immediately after the subject was mentioned.

Need "Atmosphere"

Chairman Lon Rasmussen of Frontier Days urged all citizens to wear big hats and create the pioneer atmosphere. He said all committees would meet on Wednesday of next week to plan the advance ticket sale through which preliminary expense must be met. The hats are on sale at most stores. Tickets are to be offered in books at reduced prices.

President R. S. Brashers of the Junior chamber thanked the large number of women and visitors for their presence. Similarly good programs will be open to the public at regular intervals.

The girls in the chorus were Mildred Haggard, Mildred Holt, Louleen Conklin, Louise Smith.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why is this vital question so much avoided by other cigarettes?

EVER since Lucky Strike created that special process for purifying fine tobacco and told the full facts about cigarette smoking—the industry has been in an uproar. For Lucky Strike has dared to mention things that were considered "taboo" in the cigarette trade.

You may have noticed a striking avoidance generally of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it gives you the protection you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!
